STANLEY GOFF, J.D., M.A., B.A., A.A. (Attorney, Motivational Speaker, Reentry Consultant, Author)

Stanley Goff is a former inmate who was in and out of juvenile facilities and county jails, a former fugitive on the run for two years, who ultimately wound up serving a total of eight years in California state prisons for selling cocaine which stemmed from me serving two prison terms (One term from 1993 to 1995) and the (other term from 1996 to 2001). However, while he was incarcerated in 1996, and waiting for his 2001 release date, a change took place in his life. He decided that he no longer wanted to serve "life" on the installment plan and that he wanted to be a positive example for his then three-year old son. He started to take steps to self-educate himself while he was locked up. He read hundreds of social and politically-conscious books in order to increase his vocabulary, reading comprehension and general understanding of political and social issues in the United States and around the world. He also worked on his own criminal appeal and provided legal help to other prisoners, which sparked an interest inside him to study law. It was during this time period that he decided that he wanted to go to law school and become an attorney. However, this objective was going to be a difficult one, because the highest level of education that he had at that time was a G.E.D. with an extensive criminal history.

Upon his release from prison in December of 2001, He decided to enroll in college to increase his chance at successful reentry, be an example to others facing the same challenges and to pursue his goal of becoming an attorney.

He obtained an A.A. degree in Paralegal Studies from City College of San Francisco in 2004, a B.A. degree in Political Science from San Francisco State University in 2005 and an M.A. degree in Political Science from San Francisco State University in 2007. He then went on to obtain a Juris Doctorate degree from John F. Kennedy University in 2009. He passed the Feb 2013 California Bar Exam and he is now a practicing attorney. Stanley Goff is also a Motivational Speaker addressing reentry related issues such as the importance of post secondary education to those who are incarcerated, have been incarcerated or who are at risk of incarceration and he is the author of "Punishment Beyond the Crime" "The Non-Democratic Treatment of Ex-Felons in the United States." Stanley Goff has lectured to at-risk youth in San Francisco about the importance of staying away from crime, as well as given motivational speeches to parolees at Parole Orientation Meetings.

As a San Francisco native of Latin descent, I believe I can represent the diverse communities in San Francisco. While I was born and raised in Mission/Excelsior, I currently work with youth in the Western Addition and attend City College of San Francisco in the Sunset. I am presently on track to completing the Diversity and Social Justice certificate through City College's Administration of Justice department. Currently, I have completed coursework on racism, classism, ageism and ableism, with plans to complete classes on sexism, heterosexism, and transphobia this Fall. We live in one of the most diverse cities in the world and I look forward to representing all races, genders, disabilities, and sexual orientations.

Business and/or professional experience:

For the past three years, I have worked with high-risk youth in the Western Addition as Program Lead for San Francisco Magic Zone (formerly Opportunity Impact). I am also a student at City College of San Francisco where I have completed coursework in social justice and child development. I will complete my Associates degree in Liberal Studies with an emphasis in Social and Behavioral Sciences this upcoming spring. While incarcerated, I facilitated Reentry courses to men who were eighteen months away from being released back into society. I facilitated these courses for over two years around topics like goal setting, communication, cultural influences as well as several others. This process not only helped others transition back to society but also allowed me to address my own issues.

Civic Activities:

I'm presently apart of the Youth to teachers program which goal is to train young people from at risk neighborhoods to be teachers that return to the neighborhoods they grew up in understanding the culture and struggles of the youth themselves.
Volunteering: S.F Juvenile with Omega Boys Club, sharing my experiences and lessons I've learned incorporating the concept of life style addictions (C.G.A.), Bloom Justice cleaning and planting at Ella Hill, For the past two years Mo' Magic back pack giveaway, keep our youth prepared for a successful school year, participate yearly in National Night out.

5. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?
At this point my transition has been very positive. Two programs that I'd like to mention by name are Youth to Teacher Pathways and Project Rebound. Both were extremely helpful. Barriers I'd say how the average parolee is seen and defined in the news and in general. This closes doors on many.

6. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?
I believe we can help by empowering and educating our parolee's as well as the public. Working on programs that not only help a parolee find a job but address the issues that put him or her in prison in the first place. In turn understanding the problem a solution can be reached.

7. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?
I'd hope that the Reentry Council would achieve a system that promotes a safe and positive return to society as well as be willing to address any standing issues that may hinder that on a path to developing a system that can be duplicated around the country.

RE: Letter of Recommendation for Joseph Calderon

Dear Reentry Council Members,

I write to enthusiastically support Joseph Calderon's application for the San Francisco Reentry Council.

I have had the opportunity to see firsthand Mr. Calderon's enthusiasm for serving San Francisco students, as well as his ability to successfully manage a large and multifaceted summer project involving middle school students. He has a passion for working with diverse cultures and disenfranchised youth. He is very familiar with the complexities surrounding the reentry population, including substance abuse, socio-economic challenges and mental health issues. I am convinced Mr. Calderon would positively contribute to the work done by the Reentry Council of San Francisco.

As the elected Public Defender of San Francisco, I run an office of nearly 100 attorneys and 60 support staff members. My office represents more than 23,000 people each year who are charged with misdemeanors and felony offenses. Our programs include Drug Court, Behavioral Health Court, Clean Slate expungement services and a full service juvenile division. Our nonprofit MAGIC programs, BMAGIC and Mo' MAGIC, were founded to serve youth in Bayview-Hunters Point and the Western Addition, creating leadership, educational and career opportunities to help to reduce juvenile crime. Each year, we organize health fairs and backpack giveaways for the community that provide more than 4,000 backpacks filled with school supplies.

Over the last two years, Mr. Calderon has demonstrated a strong ability to efficiently work with youth and community members in the Western Addition. In my interactions with Mr. Calderon, he has consistently demonstrated integrity in his work performance. He facilitates academic support programs and various enrichment activities, including creative writing and a young men's group.

Mr. Calderon helped facilitate our mentor series, giving his middle school students the opportunity to meet with successful individuals in a variety of careers. Mr. Calderon and his Mo'MAGIC team organized the highly successful National Summer Learning Day. The event, which drew 700 students, featured educational activities spread throughout San Francisco's Civic Center park area. He has broad knowledge of San Francisco's resources for youth, as well as resources in neighboring counties.

Re: Letter of Reference for Joseph Calderon

Dear Jessica,

It is my pleasure to write this letter of reference on behalf of Joseph Calderon who is applying to serve on the SF Reentry Council. I have great respect for you and the dedication you have applied to your work in the SF community! I appreciate the opportunity to stay connected in this way.

I have known Joe for nearly three years now. A close friend of mine, who was an important and positive friend and mentor to Joe while he was incarcerated, asked that I connect with him when he was released and lend whatever support I could. Joe and my friend had been working together in a recovery group called Criminals and Gangmembers Anonymous.

Since our first meeting up to the present, I have experienced Joe's determination to live a productive life of personal growth and service to the community as unwavering. He has always exemplified the most important qualities it takes to manage life after incarceration; gratitude, humility, perseverance, courage and discipline.

Joe was willing to put himself on a public stage, within the first year of his release, for a CCWP fundraising event that focused on juveniles tried as adults. I was so impressed that he was able to face the understandable anxiety of telling his own story of being a very young person sentenced to a long prison stretch -- on stage to a crowd of folks -- because he truly understood the vital impact his experience carries in educating the public and prevent other young people from experiencing the same trauma.

Joe and I have remained in contact over the last three years. Although the road has not been without its bumps and frustrations, Joe has never lost his optimism and will to move forward doing what he loves; building a strong family, working with youth and

To Whom It May Concern:

It is with the utmost pleasure and enthusiasm that I am writing this letter in support of Mr. Joseph Calderon. I have known Mr. Calderon for over twenty years, as we grew up together in the Mission District. We shared similar paths as youth that included multiple run-ins with authority typical of what you would call "at-risk youth." Our paths diverged when, like so many young men of our generation, Mr. Calderon caught a felony case. Despite this, I can say that even back then he was always an intelligent, thoughtful person, with innate leadership qualities, that looked out for those of us that were younger than him. I found my way to higher education through sport and Mr. Calderon never reproached me for it, but instead encouraged that successful change.

Since his release we have reconnected and I have been impressed with all that he has managed to accomplish after his incarceration. However, his accomplishments began even before his release. He didn't waste his time in prison, but rather used it to reflect on the path he wanted for himself and his family. Most importantly, he did everything right to start down the path toward redemption. Everything that I have seen and heard from him since then has been in that direction. It's as if he is on a quest to make up for lost time with good deeds not just for his family and friends, but for society in general. We've talked at length about how while still incarcerated he began studying, as well as how he earned certificates for working on engines and electronics. He then went on to facilitate reentry groups that helped men get ready to adjust to life outside of prison. Those experiences have served him well, as he has been a model citizen since his release.

Since coming home, he's stayed out of trouble not because of luck or fate, but because of wise decisions made by an intelligent and mature man. He's grounded in a loving and supportive family, wife and children, he has a steady job and good friends. Additionally, he's poised to earn his Associates degree in liberal arts with an emphasis on social and behavioral science from City College of San Francisco. We've talked about his desire to transfer to a four-year university once he's done and I have no doubt that he will accomplish that goal. More impressively, I have been inspired by his work both volunteer and professional with incarcerated and "at risk" young men at the Omega Boys Club and Mo Magic respectively. I believe that he is truly making a difference in some of these young people's lives and they are lucky to have such a mentor. In fact, I've been so impressed that I have invited him to come speak to my students at the University of California, Santa Cruz because I think it will inspire them as well. Lastly, as a sign of his commitment to civic engagement, Mr. Calderon has begun seeking a position with the San Francisco Reentry Council -- something that I not only applaud, but wholeheartedly support!

Dear Honorable Supervisors:

I humbly submit this application for consideration for an appointment to the San Francisco Reentry Council.

I have great interest in the area of reentry, as I have navigated this transition personally; I know first hand the obstacles faced. I feel that if selected to serve as a member of this council, I would bring personal insight, proactive ideas, and a desire to participate fully in fulfilling the mission of this Council.

Having served multiple terms of incarceration over a 39 year period, I have successful maintained my current parole status for the past 18 months. I have moved from a residential treatment facility to independent housing and I have sustained gainful employment for over one year. I actively engage in opportunities that allow me to interact with offenders and the victims of crime, participating in workshops and trainings as available.

Within this packet, i have provided the following:

Section 1: The Completed Application
Section 2: A Current Resume
Section 3: Letters of Support

Please feel free to contact me with any questions. I appreciate your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

E.M. Kirkwood

7. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve? _____
Please see attached sheet

If necessary, please attach supplemental sheet(s) and/or attachments.

5. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

After a surprising and disappointing experience at my first P.A.C.T meeting my transition back to San Francisco continues to be smooth and meaningful. What has help me to make my transition back into the community is personal determination, and several ancillary factors. I left prison with a plan for my transition that included Walden House, and I did not attach any form of time line to my plan. I was able to voice my reentry concerns to the P.A.C.T. organizer which led to making a personal presentation before the reentry council, and gaining even greater focus and determination to see my plan through to fruition. I also had the guidance of a lifer that had made a successful transition back to San Francisco, and he not only talked the talk but walked the walk. Other than a couple of minor bureaucratic glitches I have not ran into any barriers in my transition back to San Francisco.

6. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

We need to become pro-active and reach out to the prospective client before he/she exits prison/jail. We need to start providing support and resource information before their release so when they are released they have a viable plan in place that is conducive to making a successful transition back into their community. This could equate to exiting the criminal justice system, and a lower recidivist rate. We go to prison/jail because of our inability to make the right choices an/or decisions in our lives, and even with longevity, education, and insight, vestiges of this inability will exit prison/jail with an unacceptable number of us. We exit prison/jail with issues that have us unwilling to deal with "the system" or anyone in a suit. But will more often than not listen to our peers, especially if it is felt that the individual has "been there-done that", has integrity, and has him/herself made a a successful reentry back into the community. We need to involve some of these successful individuals in the reentry process to support and guild those individuals exiting prison/jail. They should be given a probationary stipend, and when they complete their probation successful they should become a salaried part of the reentry process. Reentry should not be looked at as an event. It is not an event, it is a PROCESS, and can be a lengthy one for most.

7. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

It would take dedication, planning, hard work, and funding. But I would like to see The Reentry Council Of San Francisco be the first to implement a pro-active and innovative pilot program. It would be designed to effectively address the resource needs of persons exiting prison/jail to reside in San Francisco. A successful transition to San Francisco can be an exit out of the criminal justice system and can lower the recidivism rate.

To whom it may concern:

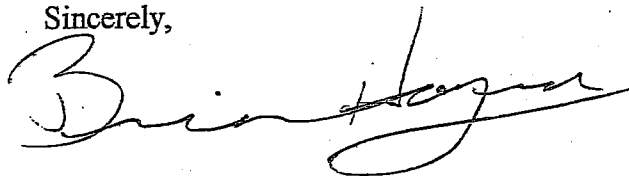

This letter is in reference to Ernest Kirkwood. I have known Mr. Kirkwood for several years inside and outside prison. He has been someone to whom I am able to look for moral support.

Having been released after more than three decades, I have found Mr. Kirkwood to be an inspiration for me and others who have been in prison for decades at a time, and then released.

Those of us who have served life sentences and are then released need someone to whom we can turn after everything has changed so much. We do appreciate those who try to help us, but when we have someone to whom we can turn who has been in our shoes, it makes our transition much easier.

Mr. Kirkwood will be an asset to any board, panel, or internship for which he is being considered.

Sincerely,

To whom it may concern:

I have known Ernest Kirkwood for a number of years. We first met at Soledad State Prison and quickly became good friends due to our individual commitments to achieve a new way of living, a new way of thinking, and a new way of relating in order to ensure that upon our releases we would be an asset to the communities in which we live. As time went, and we shared our goals and our dreams with one another, I saw too, Ernest conducting himself as a leader, and a beacon of change to other inmates in all his actions and words, no matter the race, creed, or color of the individual. Ernest went across these lines to share his message of change to all who were interested. Upon him being found suitable and released to Walden House San Francisco, he began writing me and expressing to me the level of recovery and hope that he had found, and too, wished for me to experience this upon my release. His encouragement lead to my decision and eventual action to follow in his footsteps. In that I see him as a mentor, a big brother, and the type of man to which would be an excellent representation to what is possible to all formerly incarcerated inmates. Today, with the help of Ernest's guidance, I am graduating Walden House shortly, am enrolled in college, and I see a path moving forward in this world for an ex-con like me who once was full of hatred and despair, and now, love and hope. In closing, the words don't exist to possibly describe my fondness and admiration for Ernest.

Dear Committee Members,

I write this recommendation in support of Earnest Kirkwood's application to serve on the board of the San Francisco Reentry Council. I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Kirkwood in May 2013. Mr. Kirkwood participated in a 40 hour restorative justice oriented program in which I served as the Lead Facilitator.

I believe that Mr. Kirkwood would be a strong, experienced, and thoughtful voice for reentry facilitation and concerns. In the short time I have known Mr. Kirkwood, it is obvious that he cares deeply for the well-being and successful reentry of formerly incarcerated men and women. His greatest asset is that he leads by example and through his own story of successful reintegration after decades of incarceration.

When Mr. Kirkwood was released from prison, he found the reentry services helpful, but overly-bureaucratic and difficult to negotiate. Fortunately, he was accepted into Walden House upon his release and has rebuilt his life after incarceration. However, his concern is that many people getting out of prison don't know about the resources available to them. Mr. Kirkwood is interested in offering educational services to incarcerated men and women before they are released. He presented on this topic to the Reentry Council in Spring 2012 and there was a favorable response wherein they did a presentation in Soledad regarding resources available to the reentry community. He'd like to establish this educational format in local Bay Area facilities.

Mr. Kirkwood doesn't just think about ideas, he collaborates and is a good listener and figures out the most effective way to bring those ideas to fruition. While in jail, he founded and co-created several programs for others to find insight and awareness for better healing, such as AA and anger management classes. Mr. Kirkwood wants to continue to assist in the provision of programs for newly released people's growth and development.

Mr. Kirkwood feels a seat on the reentry council is the next step for him. His past, his growth and his focus for a better way of life in and out of prison has expanded into the greater reentry population. He has the experience, passion, enthusiasm and skills to serve as a member of the San Francisco Reentry Council.

If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to recommend Ernest Kirkwood for appointment to San Francisco's Reentry Council. I have known Ernest for about a year, and can attest to his willingness to use his skills to help others. My case is different from reentry - Ernest helped me with a plumbing project. But through this interaction I had an opportunity to witness his willingness to take time out of his schedule to assist me (we did not know each other well at the time), his ability to teach me new skills rather than just do the work for me, and his openness to answering follow-up questions.

Through this rather unusual introduction, I got to know his convivial personality and had a chance to hear about his extensive work with reentry and reintegration while he was in prison. He has also educated me about the work of Walden House and I am impressed with the seriousness with which he approached his work with Walden house clients. Ernest and I share this interest in reentry; I volunteer with the Alliance for Change, a San Francisco non-profit which is building its re-entry support offerings for men released to San Francisco and Alameda Counties, so I appreciated his candor and depth of knowledge in this area.

I do hope you will appoint Ernest Kirkwood to join the Re-entry Council of San Francisco. I know both the Council and Ernest will benefit and grow from such a partnership.

Yours truly,

Rebecca Carter, PhD

San Francisco Reentry Council

To Whom It May Concern:

I write to strongly recommend Ernest Kirkwood for the Reentry Council. He has the passion, commitment, experience and knowledge to be an excellent member of the Council. While incarcerated, Ernest committed himself to the rehabilitation of men and boys behind bars by serving numerous functions, including founder, co-chair, executive member and as an active member of supportive organizations and committees. Since Ernest has been out of prison, he has continued to work day and night to assist those in the process of reentry through programs at Walden House, among others. He has voluntarily attended Council meetings and spoken during public comments. He is a contributing citizen of our community and I have a great deal of respect for him.

As a lawyer, criminal justice advocate and restorative justice facilitator for our neighborhood courts in San Francisco, I have worked for years on reentry issues in light of realignment. As you know, this is a complex issue that requires many levels of understanding and idea-generation. I can think of no better candidate than Ernest to fill one of the open slots for ex-offenders on the Council. I met Ernest at the Insight Prison Project Victim Offender Education Group Facilitator Training in May 2013. His honesty, curiosity and accountability moved many of the trainees, including myself, to new levels of awareness and ideas.

I am proud to call Ernest a friend and one thing that we have talked often about is how to stop the tide of recidivism in our State. Ernest is deeply passionate about the provision of services to people coming out of jail to start a fresh and crime-free life. He is bright, articulate and firmly committed to bringing awareness and education of reentry services to those being released from jail. He is also a good listener who understands what people are going through both in and out of the criminal justice system.

I highly recommend Ernest for the Reentry Council. Please contact me with any questions at 415 297 3046.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Dorsey Nunn, I am the Executive Director of Legal Services of Prisoners With Children (LSPC) and founding member of All Of Us Or None. I'm familiar with Ernest from a number of residual contacts and acquaintances.

A very dear friend spoke to me of Ernest's pending release and his seeking of resource contacts. Jerry Elster, a fellow member and organizer for All Of Us Or None, opened a dialogue about him. He was described as a man of integrity with great leadership skills. We met with Ernest and I was quite impressed with him. He didn't just talk about change but showed a genuine interest in being the change. The goal of "All Of Us Or None" is to strengthen the voices of people most affected by mass incarceration and the growth of the prison-industrial complex. I am convinced that Ernest will not waiver in his responsibility to the formerly incarcerated population and it pleases me to write this letter of reference.

I have only the greatest respect for Ernest and know he will serve us well in the capacity of the San Francisco Re-Entry Council. He always interacts with people with the greatest of compassion and empathy. He is respectful, trustworthy, and always willing to share his knowledge and experiences.

We at LSPC encourage you to allow Ernest to show the city of San Francisco what re-entry is really about. If you have questions or wish to discuss this recommendation, you may reach me at 415-225-7052, or by email at dorsey@prisonerswithchildren.org

To Whom It May Concern:

Please receive this letter of reference and high praise for Mr. Earnest Kirkwood. He is a model of what positive, successful re-entry can be. After decades in prison, Mr. Kirkwood returned to the community and by the grace of God, has done it right.

I met Mr. Kirkwood years ago, while serving as a Pastor and he was in Soledad. Over the years I found this man to be a gentleman, well received and respected by his peers. Through the lessons learned over a long prison sentence and by pulling himself up by the bootstraps, he has become a mentor and source of courage and inspiration for younger men. With the added education gained by an AA in Social and Behavioral Sciences, coupled with numerous Certificates of Completion, Mr. Kirkwood has acquired the skills to manage programs and train others to share the workload of producing justice.

Mr. Kirkwood is committed to Restorative Justice and to assisting persons paroled after long prison sentences successfully return to "the pursuit of life, liberty and happiness." He is extremely qualified to serve as a mentor and peer to others whose minds are fixed on uplift. I ask you to do all in your power to make him a part of the Re-entry Council.

Re: Ernest Kirkwood

To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to recommend Ernest Kirkwood, a person of great integrity, compassion and insight for Reentry Council of San Francisco.

My name is Jerry Elster, I am an organizer for All Of Us Or None, a project of Legal Services of Prisoners With Children (LSPC). I am on the Board of Director for Insight Prison Project (IPP), as well a Facilitator's Trainer. IPP's mission & goal is to transform the lives of those impacted by incarceration through programs designed to develop behavior inspired by insight, accountability and compassion and grounded in a restorative justice philosophy. It was in my capacity as a Facilitator's Trainer that I actually became acquainted with Ernest.

Ernest was an excellent student and picked up on the facilitators training curriculum quickly. It was evident that he'd done a lot of personal deep work prior to this training. He reflected insight, integrity, leadership and skills; all which are needed to facilitate the transforming life work that IPP does. It was truly a pleasure to work with Ernest.

Ernest proudly welcomes the opportunity to help out while many formerly incarcerated men and women balk from the responsibility of giving back to the community. His knowledge about the criminal justice system and its impact on the community, especially the African-American community, not to mention the limitless wisdom he's acquired over the years, will surely make him an asset for the San Francisco Re-entry counsel.

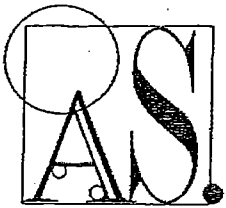

I have only the greatest respect for Ernest. He always interacts with people with the greatest compassion and empathy. He is respectful, trustworthy, and always willing to share his knowledge and experiences.

RE: Ernest Kirkwood

As the director of Project Rebound at San Francisco State University I have had the privilege of working with Mr. Kirkwood for more than a year. I have known Mr. Kirkwood to conduct himself in an exemplary manner including the ability to act in a mentor capacity to other students as they navigate the challenges of pursuing a college degree. Mr. Kirkwood continues to adhere to a rigorous academic curriculum, geared toward his completed matriculation into San Francisco State University (SFSU).

I find Mr. Kirkwood to be a hard-working self-starter who is always seeking to further develop his knowledge on subjects that initially seem challenging. He is also resourceful, creative and solution-minded. I found that he has great skill at seeking and finding alternatives for uncontrollable variables that tend to present difficult situations. He is very well organized, and always on time.

In closing, based on my experience in working with him, I can honestly say that Mr. Kirkwood would be a sound candidate for placement on the San Francisco Reentry Counsel.

To whom it may concern:

I am writing in support of Ernest Kirkwood as a candidate for the Reentry Council of San Francisco. I have had the pleasure of working closely with Earnest during an intensive Victim Offender Education Group training with Insight Prison Project.

Upon first meeting Ernest, I was struck with his natural insight, integrity, self- reflection and his ability to respond thoughtfully and critically. He is a rare combination of natural intelligence, deep empathy and broad perspective. Although Ernest has wonderful access to his emotions, he doesn't let his emotions be the only thing that influences his perspective. He is a deeply thoughtful and well informed individual.

Ernest has shared with me that his concern and focus towards reentry did not start when he became aware of the vacant seats on the reentry council. Nor did it start On January 12, 2012 when he exited prison to implement his own reentry plan after being locked up for over twenty-nine years. His concern and focus towards reentry started many years prior to his release from prison. It stated when he realized there were not any programs available that could help prepare an individual for his ultimate release and successful reentry back into the free world.

He believes, as do I, that the vacant seats on the Reentry Council designated for and filled by previously incarcerated persons will be highly effective and necessary in coming up with ways best utilize the city's resources to service people exiting prison/jail to reside in San Francisco.

If this council and actions are effective, he hopes play a part at reducing the recidivist rate....and exiting the criminal justice system.

I believe Ernest Kirkwood would be a valuable and worthy council member. In Ernest's words (and I think his experience and work record show), "I not only talk the talk.....I walk the walk and do the work".

I would welcome the opportunity to work with him in this capacity. Please feel free to contact me with any additional questions.

Sincerely,

Pursuant to Charter section 4.101 (a)1, please state how your qualifications represent the communities of interest, neighborhoods, and the diversity in ethnicity, race, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, types of disabilities, and any other relevant demographic qualities of the City and County of San Francisco:

For over three decades, I have served diverse economically challenged communities in the BAY AREA. For much of the last two decades, I have served in SF, beginning during the 90's with the SF Historical and Cultural Society, where I instituted a HOMEWORK, HOMEWORK PROGRAM. For the last decade, I have worked with the PUBLIC HOUSING youth, as a result (then) Mayor BROWN, and (then) State Senate Pres. Kevin Shelly, along with the SF Public Library awarded me an Unsung Hero Award. More recently, I have been doing Cultural Anthropological studies in the Tenderloin area. From such, I have developed several methodologies to assist criminally justice challenged individuals to overcome much of what is ailing them. Also, I have been extremely politically active where my company has made much of my income, and worked at the Elia Hill Hutch Center.

Business and/or professional experience:

In '86 I licensed Dupree Consults "we get results." My company has worked as a political, business and community relations consultant in various places in the U.S. i.e. Louisiana, Texas, Nevada, California. In the BAY AREA I have consulted as a GOTV (Get Out the Vote) specialist. I have worked with the Public Housing Tenant Association in the 90s, at one time producing a higher voter turnout percentage than any other single category during a previous mayoral race in the 90s. As of late, through my company, I have consulted and worked with many community, grass rooted groups, also served as a OFFICER DEPS/NISTA

Civic Activities:

From age 19 when I served as the (at that time) youngest Executive member as 2nd Vice President of the Daly City chapter of the NAACP, to serving at the Center for African Af. Am. Art and Culture (now the Af. Am. Cultural Center) and also as a committee board member of the Af. Am. Committee for the CA Museum of Oakland, I have been active in civic activities. I have also worked with residents of the Hispanic and Asian community and nearly all political groups. I am also proficient in French. It is my goal to always be as civically active as possible, as community study and work is my vocation.

To whom it may concern,

My name is Clarence Lumpsey, I have known Vanessa Banks for over 12 years now and she always helped me with information from food banks, to toys, back pack giveaways to help me with my grandchildren.

I met Vanessa at the worst peak off my life, being an ex- convict, I'm now detached off patrol ^{it been} ~~been~~ ~~it~~ twenty years, ten of those years, I was homeless on and off drugs.

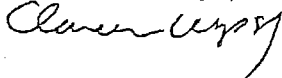

Vanessa informed me on my Redevelopment Displacement Housing Certificate, she also helped me fill out the application, it was a two year wait. I am no longer homeless I was awarded my places this year, 2013 due to a passionate member of my community taking time to help me.

I strongly support Vanessa Banks becoming a member of the San Francisco Re-entry Council and all other councils she will inform those who will listen to positive direction. I'm thankful of her services.

Sincerely,

Bay View Hunters Point Resident

2. The person appointed to Seat 2 must have expertise in providing services to individuals exiting the criminal justice system. Do you have experience or expertise in providing services to individuals exiting the criminal justice system? yes no If yes, please describe:
Since early 2010, I have worked as a Peer Advocate (Navigator) for the Navigator Project, which is based out of SF Pretrial Diversion Project, Inc. I have 3 years experience providing direct, supportive services to HIV + clients exiting SF County Jails.

Board of Supervisors Supplemental Application for Appointment to the Reentry Council

3. The person appointed to Seat 3 must have been released from custody within two years of his or her appointment. If you were released from custody within the last two years, on what date were you released? n/a

4. The person appointed to Seat 4 must have served multiple terms of incarceration. Multiple terms could include more than one term served in the same facility, or more than one term served in different facilities. Have you served multiple terms of incarceration? yes no

5. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?
I found it difficult to transition back into normal life. There are a lot of restrictions placed on people labeled "ex-offenders", which includes a lot of stigma. Thankfully, I had an awesome support team to fall back on; I'd find it nearly impossible to have to try to do it on my own and/or homeless!

6. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?
I feel that having a strong support network for the formerly incarcerated to access is crucial. This network should hopefully consist of family and friends of the client, but also include social workers and advocates, Doctors and Mentors.

7. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?
I hope the Reentry Council will achieve success rooting out the causes of failure for those reentering society. Once those roots are identified, I further hope the Council will make recommendations and take action to ensure that they are eliminated, so each person has a fighting chance to succeed!

It is a requirement that all appointees to Seats 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the Reentry Council have been an inmate in the San Francisco County Jail, a California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation facility, and/or a United State Bureau of Prison facility. Please answer all of the following questions.

1. Have you ever been an inmate of (check all that apply):

reviews on evidence-based practices to prevent recidivism in high risk offenders. In addition, I taught a non-credit course for the City College of San Francisco; all of my students were court mandated to attend due to Proposition 36, The Substance Abuse and Crime Prevention Act.

3. The person appointed to Seat 3 must have been released from custody within two years of his or her appointment. If you were released from custody within the last two years, on what date were you released? N/A

4. The person appointed to Seat 4 must have served multiple terms of incarceration. Multiple terms could include more than one term served in the same facility, or more than one term served in different facilities. Have you served multiple terms of incarceration? yes no

5. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers? I aged out of the system. I was truly tired of going back forth to jail. JVS worked with me to find a job paying a living wage, so I could adequately support my family. After I was on the job, my co-workers, whom happened to be medical professionals, encouraged me to go to college. College gave me hope, and I excelled. I was able to obtain a Masters Degree in Education with an emphasis in Adult Education. There were many barriers. The first barrier was it took me two years to find a decent job. The second barrier was I lived in public housing, which was drug infested and had a high level of criminal activity. The third barrier was there no place I could afford to live in San Francisco that was not drug infested. I felt hopeless because I could never own anything in the city I was born and raised.

6. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system? Provide them with encouragement opportunities to excel beyond what is expected, such as opportunities for living wages, home ownership, business entrepreneurship, degree completion, etc. Also, create more opportunities for the family to stay intact during drug treatment.

7. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve? I hope that they will address and improve the disproportionate rate of incarceration among Black people in San Francisco.

I was also instrumental in starting Alliance clubs both in the University of San Francisco, (The USF Alliance for Change), and at San Francisco State University (The Alliance for Change at SFSU). 5. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers? Establishing a support system before paroling helped me tremendously. They were able to assist with clothing and technological needs; they also spent time with me as I learned my way around the city by using bike paths and public transportation. Barriers were having no road map to inform me of what services are available in San Francisco. As I've found them, I have been able to document them for others, but I'm finding it difficult for some people to make a detailed life plan without knowing exactly what is available to them.

6. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system? More accurate assessments. Current assessment practices seem too generalized so that more specific personal needs get overlooked. We can also encourage transitional programs to adopt more flexible policies so as to best serve populations that they have not traditionally served; such as those who do not have substance abuse or gang issues, but who's greatest need is to reconnect with the community and have better access to their support systems.

7. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve? I hope that the Reentry Council will surpass ensuring reentry services and will ultimately assist in not only the economic, but emotional and psychological reintegration of formerly incarcerated people into the fabric of the community.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

My name is David Cowan, and I am interested in serving on the San Francisco Reentry Council as a formerly incarcerated member. I have attached my application and one support letter.

I have experience starting, running and facilitating a variety of programs inside of prison, as well as similar experience in the community. I work for the Prison University Project, which runs the college program in San Quentin and I am a co-founder and the Director of Reintegration for the Alliance for Change, a nonprofit that runs programming inside of San Quentin and assists men with their reintegration into the community upon release.

I hope to be of valuable service to the Council as well as learn much from it.

Thank you,

David Cowan

Dear Ms. Moore-Jordan:

I am writing to strongly recommend David Cowan for appointment to the Reentry Council of San Francisco. He has deep personal and professional experience in this field and a strong creative and organizational skill set that will enormously benefit the Reentry Council.

I have enjoyed working with David in a variety of professional circles, most notably:

- 1) Providing much needed professional support for the educational and rehabilitative programs at San Quentin State Prison.
- 2) Developing reintegration services for the Alliance for Change - a non-profit he co-founded in 2009.

While I was a fulltime volunteer with the Office of Community Partnerships at San Quentin, David was the primary support available for scheduling and logistics needs for the rehabilitative and educational programs at the prison. In addition to his regular job supporting the college program at San Quentin, David maintained and regularly improved the databases that coordinated over 100 secular programs, and freely offered assistance to maintain and update the religious program databases, as well. More importantly, he was known universally as a skilled, efficient and friendly resource who would bend over backward to make sure the programs continued to run and attendees had access to their classes every day. Upon his departure, his formal and informal duties were divided up among 2 full-time and 3 part-time clerks - a testament to the amount of work David was able to manage so well.

Little did I know at the time how deeply his involvement in rehabilitative programs at the prison ran. As I'm sure David can tell you himself, he thought strategically and critically about how to best serve the population inside San Quentin, particularly in preparation for and beyond each man's release. Dissatisfied with the effectiveness of existing classes and interventions, David and a few close friends, in collaboration a group of volunteers from local universities, designed their own curriculum and formed a cross-walled community of positive-minded men and women dedicated to being a force of growth and renewal in the communities in which they live and to which they would return. This community became the non-profit organization, Alliance for C.H.A.N.G.E. (Creating Hope and New Goals Ethically).

David embodies the type of community member his organization envisions. He is generous with his time and personal resources – he teaches men how to use a cell phone and the internet, he offers both informational and emotional support to newcomers through 1:1 and small group “adventures” on public transit and throughout the city, and he looks for opportunities to connect recently released people with employment opportunities. He also freely volunteers his time to community improvement projects such as refurbishing the transitional home he began his own journey in 2011.

David and I have worked together to translate this personal generosity into formal services offered by the Alliance for CHANGE's reintegration services. For example, we have instituted the Alliance's "Day 1" services including:

- 1) picking men up from the gate upon release from San Quentin and going out for a first breakfast
- 2) providing a phone (paid up for 1 month) on each person's first day out to ensure their safety and enable them to reconnect with distant family and celebrate this hugely emotional transition
- 3) transporting each man to his parole office and transitional house to make sure the important early check-ins happen on time
- 4) most importantly, providing emotional and logistical support during what can be a stressful and confusing day.

David has been and will continue to be a great resource for men transitioning from incarceration into the San Francisco Bay Area; his participation on the Reentry Council of San Francisco will broaden his ability to be a force for good in his community, and greatly expand the Council's ability to make effective, rational and responsive services available to the men and women who so greatly need them.

Sincerely,

Rebecca Carter, PhD

5. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

My transition was facilitated by the fact that I knew the director of a sober living environment which would provide housing a day after I was released. My transition was also greatly facilitated by having my fiancé there to assist me with moral, material, and logistical support (after 20 years of incarceration). Barriers that I've encountered are: lack of housing immediately following release (having to register as homeless because I am outside county of commitment and no family); not being provided resources to navigate around the city but yet expected to report to various locations at various times; not being able to visit my family despite my laudable programming on parole (full-time student at SFSU and part-time employed); no credit and background checks prevent housing opportunities; having a gap in my employment history (I was incarcerated at the age of 17 and released at 37).

6. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

Eliminating the "conviction" question on employment applications; forbidding parole agents to contact employers unless circumstances warrant such contact; provide material resources (transportation tokens, tools, food vouchers, etc.) while parolee establishes employment; implement "re-integration" programs as opposed to just "re-entry" programs.

7. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

A reduction in the recidivism rate, a reduction in substance abuse, a reduction in the crime rate in San Francisco, and the implementation of "re-integration" programs that will mend the relationship between offender and community and result in the aforementioned.

If necessary, please attach supplemental sheet(s) and/or attachments.

It is a requirement that all appointees to Seats 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the Reentry Council have been an inmate in the San Francisco County Jail, a California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation facility, and/or a United State Bureau of Prison facility. Please answer all of the following questions.

1. Have you ever been an inmate of (check all that apply):

San Francisco County Jail? yes

California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation* facility? yes

United States Bureau of Prisons facility? yes

California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) operates the facilities previously operated by the California Department of Corrections (CDC) and the California Youth Authority (CYA).*

2. The person appointed to Seat 2 must have expertise in providing services to individuals exiting the criminal justice system. Do you have experience or expertise in providing services to individuals exiting the criminal justice system? yes no If yes, please describe:

In addition to founding and successfully managing two Bay Area transitional housing facilities for formerly incarcerated men for over seven years, I also have an extensive background in case management, drug and alcohol counseling and mental health assessment of formerly incarcerated individuals, veterans and individuals with mental health diagnoses. Over the last 13 years I have networked and collaborated extensively with a majority of existing reentry service organizations in the greater Bay Area (i.e. Waldenhouse/HealthRight 360, CJ CJ, NOVA, SEOP etc.), as well as with the SF Adult Parole and Probation Department and Sherriff's Department.

Please see my resume for a more detailed breakdown of my professional background relevant for this appointment.

3. The person appointed to Seat 3 must have been released from custody within two years of his or her appointment. If you were released from custody within the last two years, on what date were you released? N/A

4. The person appointed to Seat 4 must have served multiple terms of incarceration. Multiple terms could include more than one term served in the same facility, or more than one term served in different facilities. Have you served multiple terms of incarceration? yes no

5. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

One of the most effective strategies in regard to my successful reintegration was to build professional relationships with miscellaneous community based organizations while I was still incarcerated. One organization that was particular helpful to me was the Northern California Service League, which provided me with necessary life skills and job-readiness training upon my release, which prepared me well for an immediate entry-level job. However, without the fair hiring policies that the City of San Francisco implemented for formerly incarcerated individuals like me, I would not have been able to find immediate employment, provide for my family, and begin to rebuild my professional resume. Last but not least, with the support of Project Rebound – a special admission and retention program for formerly incarcerated students at SF State University – I was able to earn a Bachelor's and a Master's Degree. Higher education provided me with the professional skills and theoretical background I needed to significantly increase my professional opportunities in today's competitive job market and to make meaningful contributions to my field of expertise.

Some of the barriers I have experienced include but are not limited to the ongoing impact of the stigma of incarceration, my lack of relevant technology and computer skills, and my initial lack of access to professional mentors. The social barriers I experienced were just as difficult to overcome as my professional barriers. I had to slowly learn how to build meaningful social connection with others and to develop cultural competence in a new and unfamiliar social environment, without helpful guidance from other individuals who may have lived through similar experiences.

6. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

It is important to actively create and facilitate more opportunities for currently incarcerated and formerly incarcerated individuals who are exiting the criminal justice system to have meaningful contact with formerly incarcerated individuals who have successfully mastered their own social and professional integration. These individuals are now in a unique position to function as role models, mentors and motivators who can provide still incarcerated or formerly incarcerated individuals with much needed social, emotional and professional support. Moreover, successfully reintegrated individuals have a clear understanding of the importance of positive working relationships between individuals currently on parole/probation and his/her law enforcement, probation or parole officers and in many cases also mental health care providers. Successful formerly incarcerated professionals are able to facilitate positive working relationships between all parties and to support open, respectful and constructive communication between all relevant entities with the goal of maximum fulfillment of parole/probation conditions necessary for successful reintegration. Positive working relationships have the potential to improve the overall attitude of parolees or individuals on probation toward law enforcement, probation and parole officers and they can significantly lessen possible distrust between those groups.

In my assessment, it is critically important to recognize that the needs of formerly incarcerated individuals in regard to successful reintegration are multi-faceted and may differ greatly depending on individuals' contexts, for instance length of overall incarceration and how constructively they used their time while incarcerated. Different starting points will require different reintegration approaches.

In addition to providing formerly incarcerated individuals with stable housing, jobs, and access to higher education, it is important to allow incarcerated individuals the opportunity to discover their individual potential for change, to find their voices, and to heal themselves and their communities by giving back and by being of service to others. I believe that meaningful contribution allows incarcerated individuals to become stakeholders in their communities – perhaps for the first time in their lives – and to move past their prison identity.

7. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

I hope that the Reentry Council will work as a team, representative of the communities we serve, to collaboratively analyze and address the reasons for the current revolving door recidivism with the common goals to increase public safety, to create a flexible and successful reentry model and to constructively influence relevant public policy. It is also my hope that the council will focus resources and support towards the majority of individuals who are willing and ready to change and become stakeholders in their communities and to develop more successful strategies to motivate the minority of individuals who are not.

DeAngelo A Cortijo

1. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

Every area of my life was impacted after my release. My family and old associates were unfamiliar and the environment was overwhelmingly different. The juvenile court imposed dozens of limitations on me, including GPS monitoring. It was difficult to adjust to the workforce which resulted in me hopping from job to job. During this time my grandfather passed which had a silently devastating impact on me, I was lonely because I did not possess interpersonal relationship skills. I was put on a long wait list for independent housing and struggled with gaining access to health care.

What helped me the most was the motivation to change my life and help others. The opportunity came when I was invited to Boston (see attachment) to attend a learning exchange to address correctional and reentry education. I was able to share my story and broaden my perspective on the Juvenile Justice System. I was subsequently invited as a guest speaker to Gate Way High School, San Francisco State University and Ella Baker Center. These experiences provided me with more motivation, hope and knowledge.

There are several barriers preventing me from autonomy:

- Housing
- Health Care
- Full Time Employment
- Safe Transportation
- Probation

2. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

Successful reentry starts with effective programs prior to release. The individual must also be fully committed to changing. We can aid successful transitioning by gaining community and governmental support in the following areas:

- Housing
- Counseling
- Health Care
- Employment
- life Skill classes
- Traveling

3. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

I hope the reentry council will gain the support of the community and develop effective strategies to unifying reentry/transitional organizations. I hope that the council can develop programs, gain funding and community input. The success of this council will play a factor in crime reduction, personal development and safer communities.

Dear TAY Advisory Board:

Please accept my nomination of DeAngelo Cortijo for the TAY Advisory Board. I am convinced that he can serve your organization's needs. Let me tell you what I know about DeAngelo.

DeAngelo served many years in prison as a young man. While inside, he worked to educate himself and to prepare for a law-abiding, contributing life. He has shared his five-year plan with me and I can see the diligence with which he works. As a full-time student at a local community college, DeAngelo continues efforts to educate himself. He continues to express interests in completing an undergraduate degree and then advancing to law school.

DeAngelo has the strength of character necessary to bring a positive influence to the lives of other young people. More importantly, he is showing that he knows how to disassociate himself from criminal lifestyles and criminal associations in order to set his life on course for a better future. I am convinced that those who listen to him will find him articulate and persuasive, capable of showing others how to transcend difficult circumstances and grow into community leadership.

I teach a course called The Architecture of Imprisonment at San Francisco State University and I will look forward to DeAngelo visiting my class as a guest lecturer, where he will speak with more than 60 students who are pursuing careers in criminal justice.

Please consider him for the prestigious role of as a youth leader for your organization.

Should you need further information, please contact me at once.

Sincerely,

Michael G. Santos

Citywide TAY Advisory Board
1390 Market St. 9th floor
San Francisco, CA 94103

To Whom It May Concern:

On behalf of the Ella Baker Center for Human Rights, we strongly recommend the selection of DeAngelo Cortijo to the Citywide TAY Advisory Board. Based in Oakland, the Ella Baker Center advances racial and economic justice to ensure dignity and opportunity for low income people and people of color. We are committed to breaking cycles of violence and poverty that are exacerbated by the criminal justice system.

DeAngelo is a bright, thoughtful, and driven young man that is committed to bettering his community and specifically advocating on behalf of his peers. On behalf of our organization, he has served as a media spokesperson on policies that harm youth in the juvenile justice system. Specifically, he has been an advocate for Senate Bill 61, a bill authored by Senator Leland Yee that aims to reduce and discourage the use of solitary confinement in local and state juvenile facilities. Drawing from personal experience, he has shared the importance of this policy with media outlets to educate the public on an important, but often ignored, issue.

DeAngelo has been able to transform his barriers and obstacles into hope and commitment for systemic change that will improve the lives of all youth. He is an eloquent and passionate speaker and a hard worker. We believe that his participation in the CTAB will further his leadership development and he will be a tremendous asset in advocating on behalf of transitional aged youth on the issues of health, education, housing, and employment. Please feel free to contact me at 510-285-8234 or Jennifer@ellabakercenter.org if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

DeAngelo A Cortijo

1. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

Every area of my life was impacted after my release. My family and old associates were unfamiliar and the environment was overwhelmingly different. The juvenile court imposed dozens of limitations on me, including GPS monitoring. It was difficult to adjust to the workforce which resulted in me hopping from job to job. During this time my grandfather passed which had a sifently devastating impact on me. I was lonely because I did not possess interpersonal relationship skills. I was put on a long wait list for independent housing and struggled with gaining access to health care.

What helped me the most was the motivation to change my life and help others. The opportunity came when I was invited to Boston (see attachment) to attend a learning exchange to address correctional and reentry education. I was able to share my story and broaden my perspective on the Juvenile Justice System. I was subsequently invited as a guest speaker to Gate Way High School, San Francisco State University and Ella Baker Center. These experiences provided me with more motivation, hope and knowledge.

There are several barriers preventing me from autonomy:

- Housing
- Health Care
- Full Time Employment
- Safe Transportation
- Probation

2. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

Successful reentry starts with effective programs prior to release. The individual must also be fully committed to changing. We can aid successful transitioning by gaining community and governmental support in the following areas:

- Housing
- Counseling
- Health Care
- Employment
- life Skill classes
- Traveling

3. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

I hope the reentry council will gain the support of the community and develop effective strategies to unifying reentry/transitional organizations. I hope that the council can develop programs, gain funding and community input. The success of this council will play a factor in crime reduction, personal development and safer communities.

Dear TAY Advisory Board:

Please accept my nomination of DeAngelo Cortijo for the TAY Advisory Board. I am convinced that he can serve your organization's needs. Let me tell you what I know about DeAngelo.

DeAngelo served many years in prison as a young man. While inside, he worked to educate himself and to prepare for a law-abiding, contributing life. He has shared his five-year plan with me and I can see the diligence with which he works. As a full-time student at a local community college, DeAngelo continues efforts to educate himself. He continues to express interests in completing an undergraduate degree and then advancing to law school.

DeAngelo has the strength of character necessary to bring a positive influence to the lives of other young people. More importantly, he is showing that he knows how to disassociate himself from criminal lifestyles and criminal associations in order to set his life on course for a better future. I am convinced that those who listen to him will find him articulate and persuasive, capable of showing others how to transcend difficult circumstances and grow into community leadership.

I teach a course called The Architecture of Imprisonment at San Francisco State University and I will look forward to DeAngelo visiting my class as a guest lecturer, where he will speak with more than 60 students who are pursuing careers in criminal justice.

Please consider him for the prestigious role of as a youth leader for your organization.

Should you need further information, please contact me at once.

Sincerely,

Michael G. Santos

Citywide TAY Advisory Board

To Whom It May Concern:

On behalf of the Ella Baker Center for Human Rights, we strongly recommend the selection of DeAngelo Cortijo to the Citywide TAY Advisory Board. Based in Oakland, the Ella Baker Center advances racial and economic justice to ensure dignity and opportunity for low income people and people of color. We are committed to breaking cycles of violence and poverty that are exacerbated by the criminal justice system.

DeAngelo is a bright, thoughtful, and driven young man that is committed to bettering his community and specifically advocating on behalf of his peers. On behalf of our organization, he has served as a media spokesperson on policies that harm youth in the juvenile justice system. Specifically, he has been an advocate for Senate Bill 61, a bill authored by Senator Leland Yee that aims to reduce and discourage the use of solitary confinement in local and state juvenile facilities. Drawing from personal experience, he has shared the importance of this policy with media outlets to educate the public on an important, but often ignored, issue.

DeAngelo has been able to transform his barriers and obstacles into hope and commitment for systemic change that will improve the lives of all youth. He is an eloquent and passionate speaker and a hard worker. We believe that his participation in the CTAB will further his leadership development and he will be a tremendous asset in advocating on behalf of transitional aged youth on the issues of health, education, housing, and employment. Please feel free to contact me at 510-285-8234 or Jennifer@ellabakercenter.org if you have any questions.

5. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

Benefits included: A) involvement in a transitional housing program that provided both housing and a structured substance abuse treatment program requiring participation 5 days per week; B) Exposure to a large network of previously paroled ex-offenders who acted as peer mentors helping me to navigate through the variety of challenges that came up relative to parole such as obtaining identification, opening a bank account, learning how to use electronic devices, public transportation, obtaining health insurance and simply how to shop for food or clothes, among many other basic daily needs; C) Immediate access to substance abuse programs; D) Immediate access to a process group that provided stability and a safe place to "air" my concerns.

Challenges included: A) Not having sufficient identification upon release from prison; B) No access to my prison medical and dental records for issuance to my new health care providers; C) No immediate means to utilize public transportation due to lack of resources; D) Little or no availability to sufficient clothing.

6. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

A) Provide peer mentors to shepherd new parolees into society; B) Provide continuing self-help programming including substance abuse treatment, stress management, meditation, yoga, anger management, managing healthy relationships and offer extended academic and vocational opportunities, etc.

7. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

I am hopeful that the Reentry Council will explore new and innovative ways of addressing the needs of both victims and offenders. I would like to see the Council offer greater understanding of the circumstances an ex-offender experiences while honoring and respecting the position of victims. This can be accomplished by employing restorative justice principles that provide a useful vehicle for healing our communities by acknowledging our relationship to one another. Offender accountability and victim participation are worthy long term goals that should reasonably be sought after by the Council

Attachment A

I am 44 yr. old African-American male and a recovering drug addict. I have given over 20 years of my life to drug addiction and the cycle of incarceration. At one time, I was a plague to the community and I have now chosen to stop the vicious cycle that I was in so that I can now become a part of the solution instead of a part of the problem. It is time for me to give back to the community that I have taken from for so long.

Attachment B

In the past, I have held positions as a cashier, bus person, a volunteer for veterans and an electrical apprentice. I am presently affiliated with creation and start-up of From Scratch Bakery.

Attachment C

I give support and encouragement to other addicts and people who wish to achieve a better life.

Attachment I-A

My transition back to San Francisco after being incarcerated has been very enlightening as far as the resources that are available to help me. What helped me the most was the support of my probation officer in helping me make the right decisions and putting forth the effort to assist me in any way that was within her power so that I could have the things I needed to turn my life toward a positive direction.

Although there are several barriers, one that stands out for me is housing that is conducive to my recovery. As a recovering addict, I need to stay away from people and places that revolve around the use of drugs. Yet, it seems that a majority of the housing available is right in the middle of the things that I want and need to stay away from to be successful.

I understand that it is my choice to participate in those activities but it must be understood that it is very stressful to have to face those things every time I walk out the door. That puts a lot of pressure on me especially when I have just been released. Another barrier that I would like to address is employment. My conviction record makes gaining employment a serious challenge. Combined with a sporadic work history, finding meaningful employment that will allow me to support myself becomes a major obstacle.

Attachment I-B

San Francisco has taken great steps in addressing the issue of transition for individuals exiting the jails and prisons. One of the first steps in transitioning back to society should begin while a person is still incarcerated. The reentry pod in the county jail is a very good beginning. One of the things that should be required is that a person, along with their case manager, develop a transition plan which details exactly what that person will be doing for the 3 to 6 months after release from custody.

Furthermore, I believe that a person should be entered into the reentry pod at least 90 to 120 days before they are released which is an adequate time for the individual to apply for and be accepted to needed services such as drug and housing. In doing so, a person has an immediate agenda when they are released.

I can also see that we need safe housing for those that have no place to go. It seems counterproductive to place a person right in the heart of everything that that person wants to stay away from when they are released. So I suggest that housing be found in an area that is more conducive to recovery and does not put unnecessary pressure on a person that is changing their life.

Income also is a major barrier when an individual is initially released which causes many to fall back into illegal means to get money. Such behavior leads back into full blown criminality and drug use with re-incarceration being the end result. We need to get businesses in the community involved to hire individuals with criminal backgrounds that can fill entry level positions.

Finally, one of the things that can be done to help people permanently exit the criminal justice system is to have extended case management and support after a person is discharged from parole or probation for 6 months to 1 year.

The reason for this is because once a person has discharged supervision, that person is no allowed to receive any more services through the reentry program which can be detrimental if a person has not reached a point of stability. It is surely an individual's responsibility to take advantage of the services provided and it should be the program's responsibility to offer extended services to those that need it. I look forward to engaging with the Reentry Council as a whole and I hope that we can come together to put a plan in place that will be successful.

Attachment 1-C

I hope that the Reentry Council will achieve a significant reduction in the recidivism rate and a lowering of the number of people that are addicted to drugs and crime in this city. It is also my hope that with a collaborative effort between formerly incarcerated individuals, elected officials and the community, we will be able to bring serenity to those who have chosen to no longer live a life of chaos and despair.
