City and County of San Francisco
John Arntz, Director

For Immediate Release

SAN FRANCISCO, Friday, April 21, 2023 – This Saturday, April 22, San Francisco will celebrate the 53rd Anniversary of Earth Day. The Department of Elections encourages voters to celebrate Earth Day by stopping postal delivery of their Voter Information Pamphlet (VIP) and instead, choose to read it online in future elections.

By law, the Department of Elections must mail the VIP to every local voter unless they opt to access it online. So far, only about 9% of San Francisco's over 500,000 registered voters have opted out of postal VIP delivery. For the last election, the Department printed over 460,000 copies of the 250-page VIP, using more than 172 tons of paper and costing over $1 million.

Voters who are ready to make the switch and stop postal delivery of their VIP can email SFVote@sfgov.org, call 415-554-4375, or log into sfelections.org/voterportal.

"We want to make sure all local voters know they have options when it comes to getting official election information," said Director John Arntz. "Reading the Voter Information Pamphlet online is not only very convenient, but it reduces costs and conserves resources. Multi-voter households can also opt out of VIP delivery for all but one recipient, making it easy to go green while still enjoying the benefits of a shared paper copy."

"This Earth Day let's choose a greener future by switching to the online Voter Information Pamphlet. It's easy, convenient, and eco-friendly," said Tyrone Jue, Acting Director of the San Francisco Environment Department. "You'll save trees, energy, and tax dollars, and help San Francisco lead the way in sustainability."

On Earth Day, the Department of Elections will join other San Franciscans in celebrating Earth Day at the County Fair Building in Golden Gate Park. Outreach staff will be there from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. to raise awareness about the digital version of the VIP and assist those who want to switch to reading it online in future elections.

Over the next few months, the Department of Elections will encourage city residents to make the switch to the online VIP via TV, radio, digital ads, through direct email notifications, and via social media. The Department's website will also prominently feature the "Go Green" message and will offer easy ways for voters to submit paper opt-out requests.

The Department will supplement its direct outreach efforts by partnering with local nonprofit organizations, the San Francisco Environment Department, the San Francisco Water Department, the San Francisco Public Library, and other city agencies to help deliver messages about the benefits of reading the Voter Information Pamphlet online.

RE: San Francisco Public Utilities Commission’s Quarterly Report to the Board of Supervisors on the Status of Applications to PG&E for Electric Service.

Dear Ms. Calvillo:

The attached quarterly report has been prepared for the Board of Supervisors (“the Board”) in accordance with Resolution No. 227-18, approved by the Board on July 10, 2018 (File No. 180693), adopted on July 20, 2018, and re-affirmed on April 6, 2021. Pursuant to Resolution No. 227-18, the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC) is required to “provide the Board a quarterly report for the next two years that identifies the following: status of all City projects with applications to SFPUC for electric service, including project schedules and financing and other deadlines; project sponsor and SFPUC concerns in securing temporary and permanent power, including obstacles that could increase costs or delay service to City customers; and the status of disputes with PG&E before the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) or in other forums.”

Updates in this quarterly report and memo:

1. Status of the Updated Wholesale Distribution Tariff Litigation – the City and County of San Francisco (“the City”) participated in a hearing at FERC regarding the issues that are obstructing City projects due to PG&E’s latest Wholesale Distribution Tariff. An initial decision is expected in August 2023.
2. Status of Projects Facing PG&E Obstruction – 80 active projects have experienced interconnection delays, arbitrary requests for additional and/or unnecessary information, or increased project costs; nine additional projects were released for retail PG&E Service; and no projects were energized.
3. Valuation Petition – the City submitted testimony on April 10, 2023.
4. Status of the City’s FERC Complaints Following Remands from the D.C. Circuit –
 - a. Grandfathering Remand Order – FERC denied PG&E’s rehearing request and affirmed the City’s position.
 - b. Voltage Remand Order – FERC confirmed that the City can seek damages and both parties are participating in settlement proceedings.

BACKGROUND AND STATUS OF WDT3 LITIGATION:

The SFPUC provides retail electric service from our Hetch Hetchy Power public utility (Hetchy) to over 4,000 accounts, relying on our Hetch Hetchy generation and other sources for supply. The City pays PG&E to provide transmission and distribution services regulated by FERC. The terms and conditions of the purchased distribution services are described in PG&E’s Wholesale Distribution Tariff (“WDT”).

In September 2020, PG&E filed an update to the WDT (“WDT3”) seeking to significantly increase wholesale distribution rates and amend the terms and conditions of service. The City, the California Public Utilities Commission, and other customers and agencies have intervened in the FERC proceeding to challenge many of PG&E’s proposed amendments to the WDT. Despite these challenges, under FERC rules WDT3 is now in effect. If FERC rejects any of PG&E’s proposed revisions, it can order PG&E to provide refunds to the City and its other wholesale customers.

For several months, the City and PG&E’s other wholesale customers (“intervening parties”) participated in settlement discussions with PG&E and reached a partial settlement agreement approved by FERC on June 2, 2022. The partial settlement largely concerned rate issues. The key non-rate issues outlined below remain unresolved and were litigated at FERC in the WDT3 proceeding.

	Infrastructure affected	Impact
Elimination of Service to Unmetered Load	Streetlights, traffic signals, bus shelters, ShotSpotter devices, emergency sirens, street furniture, news racks, and similarly small electric loads often located in the public right of way.	All unmetered load served by Hetchy will need to install primary equipment to connect to the PG&E-owned grid or accept PG&E retail service to continue to receive electric service and function.
Elimination of Service on PG&E’s network in downtown area	Downtown area (includes all of Market Street from Embarcadero through Civic Center.)	Connecting new loads or upgrades to existing loads connected to the PG&E-owned grid in SF’s downtown area will be prohibited.
Elimination of new Secondary connections	Most Hetchy municipal customers, like schools, public restrooms, libraries, parks, health clinics, firehouses, City department offices.	When existing facilities undergo renovations (like those for de-carbonization) they will need to install primary equipment to connect to the PG&E-owned grid or accept PG&E retail service to continue to receive electric service and function.

The City participated alongside other intervenors protesting PG&E in a hearing regarding these matters at FERC on March 9th to March 13th, 2023. All parties will submit opening briefs by May 3, 2023, and reply briefs by June 7, 2023. The Presiding Administrative Law Judge is expected to issue an initial decision by August 31, 2023. A final FERC decision is not expected, at the earliest, until 2024.

STATUS OF PROJECTS FACING PG&E OBSTRUCTION:

As the City continues its efforts in fighting for fair access to the grid and decreasing dependence on PG&E, important City projects are still being delayed by PG&E's obstruction. PG&E continues to impose unnecessary requirements on projects resulting in delays and additional costs. Since November 2018, the SFPUC has reported on 144 projects that have experienced obstruction by PG&E. The total cost impact (additional project costs and loss of revenue to the City) of PG&E's obstructions since October 2018 has been over $30M.

For the reporting period of January 2023 through March 2023, the SFPUC has identified 50 projects that have experienced interconnection delays, arbitrary requests for additional and/or unnecessary information, or increased project costs, as listed in Attachment A1, Projects with Active Applications. Since the last quarterly report, one new project has been added to the list and no projects have been energized. Updates and changes to projects since the previous quarterly report are detailed in Column P of Attachment A1.

With the implementation of WDT3, many new City projects are not eligible for service from the SFPUC and must apply to PG&E for retail service and pay the higher PG&E retail rates for electric service. The 30 projects that fall under this category, resulting in about $1 million of additional electric bill costs to City projects since April 2021, are listed in Attachment A2, Projects Released for Retail PG&E Service under WDT3. Nine projects were added in this quarter.

Attachment B contains a map providing the location of each project, marked with an icon indicating the type of service provided.

Attachment C contains a detailed report of each category of additional incurred costs and impacts to the City per project, such as redesign costs, construction and equipment costs, and additional staff time (these costs and impacts are also included in the 'Impacts' column of Attachment A1 and A2). The total cost impacts to the City for the 80 projects featured in this quarter's report is more than $15 million. Some of the projects in this report have initial application submissions dating back to 2016 and were featured in the first report in November 2018. Total costs do not include estimated costs for projects that are at a standstill, as those costs are still to be determined.

Please find attached the following documents related to this report:

- Attachment A1: List of projects with active interconnection applications to PG&E for electric service as of April 2023
- Attachment A2: List of projects that were released to receive PG&E retail service as of April 2023
- Attachment B: Map of projects with PG&E power connection delays as of April 2023
- Attachment C: Cost impacts

VALUATION PETITION:

On July 27, 2021, the City submitted a petition to the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) requesting a formal determination of the value of PG&E's electric assets in San Francisco. This petition serves as the initial step in what will likely be a lengthy process to acquire PG&E's local electric infrastructure to complete the City's transition to full public power. Owning the grid would allow the City to deliver clean, reliable, and affordable electricity throughout San Francisco. The City would have control over the investments to achieve reliability, climate goals, and equity in electric service and workforce development, while providing transparency and public accountability in rates, service, and safety.

On September 14, 2021, PG&E filed a motion asking the CPUC to exercise its discretion to decline to hear the petition, which the City vigorously opposed. On December 14, 2021, the CPUC held a prehearing conference ordering PG&E to appear before the Commission to show cause as to why the Commission should not proceed to hear the City's petition. At the hearing, PG&E and the City both addressed the scope of the proceeding, the proposed schedule, and other related matters. On June 24, 2022, the Assigned Commissioner issued a scoping memo and ruling outlining the scope of the issues to be addressed and the proceeding schedule.

In response to a request from the Commission, the City, PG&E, and the California Coalition of Utility Employees (CUE) filed briefs on August 23, 2022 to address the scope of the Commission's review of the acquisition under the Public Utilities Code Section 851, which requires that the Commission approve sales of utility assets, in the event the City condemns PG&E's assets in San Francisco. The briefs also addressed the timing, process and other matters associated with such review. All parties filed reply briefs on September 13, 2022.

PG&E filed a concurrent motion to dismiss or stay the petition until the City completes an Environmental Impact Review ("EIR"). The City filed a response opposing this motion on September 9, 2022, while CUE filed a response generally supporting PG&E's motion. PG&E filed a reply brief on September 20, 2022. City staff also conducted an ex parte meeting with staff from CPUC President Alice Reynolds' and Commissioner John Reynolds' offices on September 30, 2022 and discussed the purpose of the valuation petition and issues raised in briefs.

The parties filed opening briefs on the standards for just compensation on January 17, 2023, and reply briefs on January 31, 2023. A status conference was held on February 7, 2023, to discuss procedural matters. PG&E again argued that the EIR needs to be completed prior to determining valuation and separation costs. The City maintains that the valuation proceeding can continue without a completed EIR.

On April 5, 2023, PG&E filed a Motion for Memorandum Account and Allocation of Costs. PG&E seeks CPUC approval to track its costs in this proceeding for recovery from the City annually, starting with the $13 million it claims to have spent already. The City's opposition to PG&E's motion is due on May 5, 2023.

The City submitted its opening testimony on April 10, 2023. PG&E's opening testimony is due on October 13, 2023, and the City's rebuttal testimony is due on January 4, 2024. Hearings are likely to begin in the first quarter of 2024.

STATUS OF THE CITY'S FERC COMPLAINTS FOLLOWING REMANDS FROM THE COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA CIRCUIT:

PG&E's interpretation of Grandfathering and Municipal Load Definition: As we previously informed you, on November 21, 2019, FERC issued an order in the City's 2014 complaint and related cases rejecting the City's claim that all its load is eligible for service under the Federal Power Act without adding new electrical facilities because the City had been serving the same customers for decades. On December 20, 2019, the City filed a request for rehearing of FERC's order. On June 4, 2020, FERC issued an order on rehearing that, for the most part, affirmed its prior order. The City then filed petitions to review these FERC orders with the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit ("D.C. Circuit").

PG&E requiring primary service for small loads: On April 16, 2020, FERC issued an order dismissing the City's second complaint against PG&E in which the City claimed that PG&E violated its WDT by demanding primary service for small loads. FERC found that PG&E has the discretion to grant or deny a request for secondary service based on the specifics of each request. On May 18, 2020, the City filed a request for rehearing of FERC's order. On September 17, 2020, FERC issued an order on rehearing sustaining its dismissal of the complaint. The City filed petitions to review these FERC orders with the D.C. Circuit.

On January 25, 2022, the D.C. Circuit issued a single opinion that granted San Francisco's petitions for review of both FERC orders discussed above. The court vacated the FERC orders and remanded the cases for further proceedings, finding that FERC's orders "present a troubling pattern of inattentiveness to potential anti-competitive effects of PG&E's administration of its open-access Tariff."

FERC orders on remand: FERC has issued orders in both proceedings following the remands from the D.C. Circuit. Both FERC remand orders are favorable to the City and support the arguments the City made both before FERC and at the D.C. Circuit.

Regarding the grandfathering complaint and related proceedings, in a remand order dated October 20, 2022 ("Grandfathering Remand Order" or "FERC Order") FERC found that:

1. FERC's precedent on section 212(h) of the Federal Power Act ("FPA") applies to the WDT and grandfathers the class of the eligible SFPUC customers that were served by PG&E under the WDT on October 24, 1992.
2. Eligibility for grandfathered service under the WDT applies prospectively to that entire class of the SFPUC customers served prior to October 24, 1992 "even at points of service that were initiated after October 24, 1992 and that increased demand as compared to October 24, 1992."
3. For such grandfathered loads, the City does not need to demonstrate bona fide ownership or control of intervening facilities.

By this ruling, FERC specifically rejected PG&E's argument that grandfathering only applied to those specific points of delivery being served by PG&E on October 24, 1992, and adopted the City's broader view of the scope of grandfathering under the FPA. The effect of FERC's Order is that the class of customers being served by the SFPUC prior to October 24, 1992, are grandfathered. Therefore, while the SFPUC could serve a new police station, fire station, school, etc., without the need for intervening facilities, PG&E is still requiring primary service under the WDT³ and will not provide secondary service to new City loads.

As required by FERC, PG&E made two compliance filings to update its WDT and WDT Service Agreement to make them consistent with FERC's Grandfathering Remand Order. The City protested one of those filings as we disagree with the manner in which PG&E is implementing the grandfathering remand order. PG&E also filed a request for rehearing of the Grandfathering Remand Order at FERC.

On December 22, 2022, FERC denied PG&E's rehearing request. PG&E then filed a petition for review of FERC's Grandfathering Remand Order with the D.C. Circuit. On March 16, 2023, FERC issued an Order Denying Request for Reconsideration and Addressing Arguments Raised on Rehearing ("Rehearing Order"). In the Rehearing Order, FERC explained its reasoning for denying PG&E's rehearing request but did not make any substantial changes to the Grandfathering Remand Order. Both of those decisions are now on appeal, and the City has intervened in that appeal.

Regarding the City's primary/secondary voltage complaint, in a Remand Order dated December 14, 2022 ("Voltage Remand Order") FERC granted the City's complaint and set the matter for settlement proceedings and a hearing if necessary. FERC found that:

1. PG&E's "unofficial and unwritten 75 kW threshold for providing secondary service for San Francisco customers violates the filed rate doctrine." The "criteria by which PG&E determines service level must be included in its WDT."
2. There is "insufficient support in the record for the Commission to find that a 75 kW threshold is just and reasonable and not unduly discriminatory or preferential."
3. The record needs to be "further developed to determine the just and reasonable and not unduly discriminatory or preferential criteria for determining when primary service is required under the WDT."

On January 17, 2023, the City filed a request for clarification or, in the alternative, request for rehearing of the Voltage Remand Order. In its motion, the City asked FERC to confirm that the hearing on its complaint should address all the kinds of harm that the City has alleged it has suffered due to PG&E's WDT violations and is not restricted to facts related to loads the City interconnected to PG&E at primary voltages.

In an Order on Rehearing and Clarification dated March 23, 2023, FERC modified the Voltage Remand Order and clarified that the City "may at hearing present evidence of harm that is reflected in its complaint." As a result, the City can now seek damages from PG&E for loads that had to take retail service from PG&E after PG&E refused to provide service at secondary voltages.

PG&E'S ASSIGNMENT AND DOCUMENTATION OF COSTS FOR FACILITIES:

In January 2020, the City and PG&E participated in an evidentiary hearing before a FERC Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") in a dispute over service to an SFMTA substation at 6 Berry Street. The issues in that proceeding were: (i) whether PG&E is wrongfully charging the City for upgrades to its system; and (ii) whether PG&E's cost estimates lack sufficient detail. On July 2, 2020, the ALJ issued an initial decision in which the ALJ found for PG&E on the issue concerning the cost of upgrades and for the City on the issue concerning the cost estimates.

On January 28, 2022, FERC issued an order that largely affirmed the ALJ's initial decision, and the City filed a petition for rehearing with FERC. The City also filed a petition for review of the FERC Order at the D.C. Circuit.

On June 16, 2022, FERC issued an order on rehearing that largely affirmed its prior Order. However, in the Rehearing Order, FERC included language making it clear that its decision in that case would not impact its decision in the WDT3 protest in which the City has raised similar issues about PG&E overcharging the City for upgrades to its system. Considering the Order, the City withdrew its appeal of the 6 Berry decision to the DC Circuit. The City also withdrew a protest it had filed over WDT service to the Golden Gate Park Tennis Center in which the City had raised similar issues about PG&E overcharging for its facilities. These matters will now be addressed and decided in the WDT3 hearings.

UNMETERED LOAD:

As noted earlier, under WDT3 PG&E will no longer offer secondary service to the City and other wholesale customers. This includes service to the City's unmetered loads, which consist primarily of streetlights, traffic signal systems, and similar small, predictable municipal loads that are billed based on agreed-upon, FERC-approved usage formulas rather than metered usage. To continue to operate these City services, the City will either have to pay more for PG&E retail service or spend in excess of $1 billion for large primary equipment that is unnecessary for safety or reliability and perform City-wide disruptive construction.

On December 13, 2021, PG&E filed notices at FERC that would discontinue service to the City's unmetered load, effective January 31, 2022. The City protested and FERC issued an order suspending the effective date until July 12, 2022. The City and PG&E negotiated an interim tariff and service agreement waiver. Under this waiver agreement, the City will continue to serve its existing unmetered loads while PG&E and the City wait for a decision from FERC in the WDT3 proceeding.

Per the requirements of WDT3 that are now in effect, all new unmetered loads served from the PG&E-owned grid will be required to apply for PG&E retail service. These new unmetered loads are not part of the waiver agreement. Under PG&E's retail tariffs, PG&E will serve these new streetlights as unmetered load. All other new non-streetlight loads served from the PG&E-owned grid, such as traffic signals and bus shelters, will be required to be metered, at the City's cost.

As part of the waiver agreement, PG&E and the City have agreed that the prevailing party at FERC will be made "whole" at the conclusion of the FERC proceeding. This means that, should the City lose at FERC, we would have to pay PG&E the difference between the FERC distribution rates we had been paying for our existing, unmetered loads, and the PG&E retail rates the City should have been paying instead. Likewise, should the City prevail at FERC, PG&E will make the City whole by paying the City the difference between the higher PG&E retail rates and the lower wholesale rates the City should have been paying instead.

In addition, the wireless industry filed a protest at FERC regarding these changes and are seeking an interim solution similar to the waiver the City negotiated with PG&E. The City has licensed some of its streetlight poles and MUNI poles to wireless carriers to install antennas and related equipment. The City has been providing power to those facilities, which the SFPUC can no longer do under WDT3. The industry filed the protest because wireless carriers are concerned that the additional costs and delays that they will occur if they must obtain electric service from PG&E will hinder their efforts to roll out 5G service in San Francisco. The parties are now in settlement discussions supervised by a FERC Administrative Law Judge.

IN FLIGHT (Prior to July 2015)	N/A	N/A	No	186 kW/Yes		PG&E is requiring this site to be connected at primary even though it was previously designed for secondary. Installing primary switchgear would result in an additional ~$1M in costs. SF has proposed a solution that still connects at primary without incurring the excessive costs, but PG&E has denied this solution without providing any technical reason or safety concern.	No impacts update - project is still at a standstill. If no solution is reached, project will need to apply to PG&E retail.
2	112434942	3455 Van Ness Avenue - AWSS Pump Station No. 2	2	SFPUC - Water	Remove two existing services and replace with one secondary service	Delays caused by dispute over primary vs. secondary. 4	Several applications submitted	L Taraval - Streetlights	4	SFMTA	New unmetered secondary services (streetlights - over 20 locations)	Delays caused by PG&E being unresponsive. Now PG&E is causing further delays by requiring a redesign.	In construction	3/19/2019	4/27/2019	1/1/2020	No	N/A		Pedestrian and traffic safety is at risk as PG&E delays the energization of these streetlights. Delays continue as PG&E has canceled these applications which will cause redesign and change orders. PG&E has again required redesigns - cost impacts TBD. These delays will impact the construction schedule.	No impacts update.

(2-3 months) Additional project costs - $150k (2 interrupters, 2 #7 boxes, & installation), $275k (for upgrades to PG&E's system) Lost gross revenue to SFPUC due to delays: $1k Further delays may lead to possible funding issues. Further cost and funding impacts as PG&E has sent a request to true-up project costs a year after the project is energized. PG&E initially did not provide adequate documentation as to why the final costs are an additional ~$1M compared to PG&E's original estimate. After further discussion, this issue is in the process of being resolved.	No impacts update.

In construction	4/22/2020	7/16/2020	11/30/2020	Yes	N/A		Project delayed as PG&E canceled the original applications. Public safety is at risk as the traffic signal infrastructure is completed and are just awaiting energization. The public has been inquiring about signal activation status. The traffic signals are moving forward, but there are disagreements on whether or not unmetered holiday lighting can be added to these poles.	No impacts update.
9	Several applications submitted	Folsom Streetscape - Traffic Signals & Safety Streetlighting	6	SFMTA	New unmetered secondary services (several traffic signals)	Delays caused by PG&E cancelling applications and being unresponsive.	Ready for bid	7/23/2020	Various	Fall 2023	No	N/A		Delays continue as PG&E has canceled some applications which will cause redesign and change orders - costs impact TBD. These delays will impact the construction schedule.	No impacts update.
10	111729695	6 Berry Street - Substation	6	SFMTA	Upgrade existing primary service	Delays caused by PG&E being unresponsive, changing requirements, and being non-transparent with costs and design changes.	Energized (switchover completed in April 2023)	6/17/2016	12/12/2016	5/1/2017	N/A	3000 kW/Yes		SFMTA completed the conduit boring under the rails prior to PG&E's approval. As such, parties disagree on costs and design requirements. SFMTA incurred delay claims costs from contractor due to PG&E's failure to approve design and equipment submittals. (actual costs are still to be determined) PG&E delayed the de-energizing the existing to-be-demolished substation which caused delays to the construction schedule.	No impacts update. Energized - PG&E reviewing SF's request.	9/12/2018	2/6/2019	10/1/2018	N/A	10 MW/No		PG&E is currently reviewing SF's request to use 10 MW of reserved capacity that SF applied and paid for. If PG&E denies request, SF may incur additional costs or have to limit the tenants. PG&E is holding up the project by not explaining the discrepancies between its System Impact Study draft agreement to what SF had requested. PG&E has also requested an additional ~$5M from SF in an extremely late project true-up request. PG&E has yet to provide adequate justification for this amount.	No impacts update.

Temp. construction power service by PG&E at retail - $191k in lost gross revenue to SFPUC. $28k in additional power costs to the project due to PG&E's higher rates.	No impacts update.
17	122206857	270 6th Street - Gene Friend Rec Center	6	SFRPD	New primary service	Increased costs due to PG&E's primary requirements.	Service Agreement returned with payment by SFPUC. PG&E performing engineering/design.	8/16/2021		7/3/2023	Yes	348 kW/Yes	Additional project costs for primary service - $800k to $1 million for primary switchgear, in addition to PG&E-estimated total project cost to RPD of $287,997, for a total of $1 to $1.3 million. Accommodating primary service equipment and required clearances displaces critical site elements (storage and trash building cannot be in preferred location near street, service access to facility eliminated, and required utility space impinges on paved walking circuit and athletic court clearances). It also reduces the recreational value of park property. Further delays caused by PG&E pushing out the expected completion date of the final design by at least 3 months.	Impacts updated to include further delays caused by PG&E.
18	124458482	2814 Great Highway - Westside Pump Station	7	SFPUC	Remove one existing secondary service and replace with two (2) primary services. Due to PG&E's obstruction, the application has now changed to a relocation.	Delays caused by PG&E cancelling the original design and requiring SF to re-apply several times.	Project is in construction, but the electric portion remains unresolved. In lieu of the original dual primary power service project request, the current circumstances have SFPUC settling to relocate existing power service on site	8/8/2022 (application from 6/19/14 and 8/2/21 canceled)	9/7/2022	9/27/2022	N/A	2,023 kW/No (Revised/reduced, original request was for 3,673 kW)	Project delayed - cost impacts TBD. PG&E has already given SF notice that the project will be further delayed due to resource issues on PG&E's end. PG&E's proposed design in May 2022 required extensive trenching (10+ miles) for two new mainline connections. This work would delay the project significantly and PG&E never adequately explained why this new design requires substantially more work and costs than the original design. PG&E's estimates showed SF paying PG&E ~$40M, with the total construction costs being +$100M. Due to these excessive costs, SF has changed its application to a relocation of an existing secondary service. Since, PG&E no longer allows secondary, the service will be upgraded to primary, estimated costs $395,488.20; per PG&E in October 2022. SFPUC awaits the final design from PG&E for the existing power service relocation.	No impacts update.
19	124759770	3500 Great Highway - Oceanside Recycled Water	7	SFPUC	Increase in Contract Demand to existing primary service.	Delays caused by PG&E providing the System Impact Study late.	PG&E to perform System Impact Study.	10/4/2022	10/21/2022	11/29/2022	N/A	5,200 kW/No (Existing is 2,635 kW)	Delays caused by PG&E not providing the System Impact Study report on time.	Project added.

23	112819432	102 Santa Marina Street - College Hill Reservoir	9	SFPUC	New secondary service	Delays caused by PG&E cancelling the project while it is in still in construction.	Project is at a standstill.	4/27/2017	9/24/2018	11/15/2017	No	45 kW/Yes	PG&E canceled this project stating that it had not met the timeline for energization. However, PG&E caused a delay in relocation/re-arranging their trench route when there were existing utilities conflicting with their original design. If PG&E does not allow this project to connect, there will be a significant cost impact as construction of the secondary service connection is almost complete.	No impacts update - project is still at a standstill.

50	951 Antoinette Lane - Well Pump & Control Panel	N/A - South SF	SFPUC	Remove two existing services and replace with one secondary service	Delays caused by dispute over primary vs. secondary. Project moving forward with secondary.	Service Agreement returned with payment by SFPUC. PG&E performing engineering/design.	11/20/2020	N/A	12/6/2021	Yes	50 kW/Yes		Project delayed - project was in dispute from Feb. - April 2021 (1-2 months). Further delays caused by PG&E providing the final design at least 4 months later than initially indicated.	Impacts updated to include further delays caused by PG&E.

Notes:

1. Low-side metering is not the same as secondary service. Low-side metering requires extra equipment costs (i.e. an interrupter, approx. $75k). The SFPUC believes that many of these loads should be served with secondary service, but has compromised with PG&E to move projects forward.
2. Cost impacts related to lost revenue are estimates calculated off of projected load values.
3. Not all cost impacts are reflected here as increased facility and construction costs are still to be determined.
3. CO₂ emissions are calculated using estimated loads with PG&E's 2016 emissions factor.
4. Delay impacts are only calculated off of the time in which PG&E and SF were in dispute. (Other delays are not included)
5. Primary switchgear is estimated to cost an additional $500k.

SUBJECT: Taxi Permit Appeals at the Board of Appeals

Dear President Swig:

Thank you for a very productive meeting on March 23 with myself, San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency (SFMTA) Director of Taxi and Accessible Services, Kate Toran, and SFMTA Board of Directors (Board) Chair Amanda Eaken. We appreciate that you and Board of Appeals (BOA) Director Julie Rosenberg took the time to join us in person to discuss taxi appeals and Vice President Jose Lopez's letter dated January 9, 2023. I was particularly impressed with your depth of experience as a public servant in San Francisco and your approach to ensuring that vulnerable citizen's feel heard and understood throughout the hearing process. I share your commitment to ensuring that all participants are treated with dignity and respect throughout the hearing process. Based on the thoughtful suggestions raised at the meeting, I will ensure that the (SFMTA) develops and publishes on our website a Hearing Officer code of conduct and a description of due process rights written in language understandable to the general public.

I also want to respond in writing specifically to the matters raised in Vice Chair Lopez's letter and provide more context for my decision regarding taxi appeals and the Board of Appeals, which we also discussed at the meeting. My decision to discontinue the practice of allowing taxi-related matters before the BOA is part of a larger effort called Mobility Permit Harmonization, which was undertaken to standardize how permits are regulated across the various mobility permits that the SFMTA issues. One major standardization effort pertains to the appeals process. Prior to Permit Harmonization, staff discovered that each permit program had a unique hearing process, with different appeal deadlines. This created the possibility that a single operator with multiple permits across multiple modes would have a different regulatory scheme for each. Standardizing the appeals process across multiple modes provides greater clarity for all involved by eliminating potential confusion. Taxi permits are the only permit program administered by the SFMTA that have a second level of review beyond the SFMTA Hearing Section. At the time that I made the decision to end this practice, my rationale was to bring taxi permits into alignment with all other permits issued by the SFMTA.

The SFMTA has exclusive jurisdiction over taxi-related functions and regulation under the City's Charter. Pursuant to this authority, the SFMTA Board adopted Article 1100 of the Transportation Code, establishing the comprehensive regulatory scheme for the taxi industry. Amendments to Article 1100 may only be made by the SFMTA Board at a duly noticed public meeting. Members of the public have the opportunity to participate in this legislative process by making public comment.

The Transportation Code provides clear guidance to the Hearing Officer regarding the scope of their authority. When hearing an appeal of a taxi permit decision, the Hearing Officer's authority is limited to the regulations in Article 1100 of the Transportation Code. Specifically, a Hearing Officer's decision "may only uphold or overturn the action sought by the SFMTA and shall not set conditions, establish special circumstances, establish special remedies or impose other directives." Nothing in Article 1100 allows the Hearing Officer to excuse the statutory requirements applicable to permit holders based on non-statutory equitable considerations. If Hearing Officers are allowed to issue decisions that are inconsistent with the Transportation Code, such actions effectively undermine the SFMTA Board's policy-making authority, the ability of the public to participate in the legislative process, and the SFMTA Taxi Division's ability to apply the Transportation Code to regulate the industry. Accordingly, we believe that to the extent discretion is warranted in a particular situation, such enforcement discretion rests with the Taxi Division, not with the Hearing Officer.

I have full confidence in the SFMTA's hearing process and the ethical wall that is maintained between the SFMTA Hearing Section and the other divisions that issue and regulate mobility permits. Any appeals involving an SFMTA permit are heard by the Hearing Section, whose sole duty is to conduct fair, professional and unbiased hearings. Due process is a very important value to the agency, and it is an essential component of regulating all permits issued by the SFMTA. The Hearing Section is housed in a separate division from those that issue or regulate permits, with a separate director overseeing the division. That director has their own assigned Deputy City Attorney, who provides advice. There is also an ethical wall between advice attorneys at the Office of the City Attorney, ensuring that Hearing Officers are indeed independent. I appreciate your comments at our meeting regarding strengthening due process and ethical walls, and as I noted earlier, I am following up to ensure that the SFMTA posts a Hearing Officer code of conduct and a description of due process rights written in language understandable to the general public on our website.

We also discussed the critical aspect of maintaining the independence of Hearing Officers and specifically the express prohibition of ex parte communications. The hearing procedures in Section 1120 of the Transportation Code state that "[n]o person or agency may communicate directly or indirectly with a Hearing Officer at any time while a case is pending unless there is notice and an opportunity for the other party to participate." Both SFMTA staff and the Office of the City Attorney abide by this rule. In the instances you referenced, all communications sent to the Hearing Officers included the appellants and their representatives, providing them with the requisite notice and opportunity to respond. Requests for reconsideration are not typical, and only occurred in instances where the Taxi Division believed the Hearing Officer's decision exceeded their authority. In sum, the requests for reconsideration were made strictly in accordance with the rules of Section 1120.

As we discussed at our meeting, I paused the withdrawal of SFMTA's consent to allow taxi permit decisions to be heard by the BOA in order to reset the process and allow time for Board-to-Board communication. This pause had the desired outcome, allowing for our meeting to occur as well as providing Director Toran more time to hear from the taxi industry about this matter at public taxi outreach meetings.

At its April 18th meeting, the SFMTA Board voted to remove references to the BOA from the Transportation Code. This memorandum provides written confirmation that the SFMTA will discontinue the informal practice of allowing the BOA to hear appeals related to taxi permit decisions as of April 20, 2023. There are no taxi permit appeals pending before the BOA. Notwithstanding the end of the relationship between the SFMTA and the BOA, an aggrieved applicant or permittee will still have the ability to appeal an adverse permit decision to a neutral Hearing Officer as set forth in Article 1100 of the Transportation Code.

Thank you again for a very productive meeting, for providing helpful recommendations that we are working on implementing, and for the Board of Appeals' years of service hearing taxi permit decisions.

Sincerely,

RE: Letter of Inquiry Firearm Procurement

Dear Supervisor Stefani,

The San Francisco District Attorney's Office has a bureau of sworn criminal investigators (Bureau of Investigations) who are mandated by the Peace Officer Standard and Training (POST) to be proficient in the use of firearms. As such, District Attorney Investigators (DAI) are required to successfully qualify and train with their service weapons at least once a year. This mandate also requires that the District Attorney's Office purchase firearms for new investigators as well as ammunition for practice and qualifications, as needed. Since my office has a sworn law enforcement division, we are required to provide the investigators with proper equipment to do their jobs, including a firearm that is registered and owned by the office.

Our past practice of purchasing firearms or ammunition for the Bureau of Investigations included our Finance Division requiring a minimum of three quotes from three separate vendors for comparison purposes, seeking the lowest bid. During this process, the Bureau of Investigations conducts an intensive vetting process, which includes, but is not limited to, checking each vendor's business license through the State of California to ensure that the business is operating without violation and with a valid business license. We also check and review any public complaints and search sites such as the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms (ATF) Online, which provides verification that a business has a current Federal Firearms License (FFL). After reviewing the three quotes and receiving clearance from DAI regarding the vendors clearing all of these protocols, the Department will select the lowest bidder and then proceed to issue a purchase order (PO) for the firearms or ammunition. On a go forward basis, the Department will be procuring ammunition and firearms through a requisition process managed by the Office of Contract Administration (OCA).

Over the last decade, the District Attorney's Office has used multiple vendors to purchase firearms, ammunition, uniforms, and other miscellaneous equipment for exclusive use by our sworn investigators. These vendors include Dooley Enterprises, Galls LLC Quartermaster, LC Action Police Supply and the San Diego Police Equipment Company Incorporated. Between 2014 through 2018, the District Attorney's Office purchased and currently owns 25 Glock firearms purchased from LC Action and has not purchased firearms from LC Action since. As previously indicated, we will work through OCA on all ammunition and firearm purchases going forward and work to ensure that we continue to be in compliance with all Federal, State and local requirements for ammunition and firearm purchases.

Brooke Jenkins
District Attorney

I would like to thank you for your leadership on the issue of gun violence and for serving as an advocate both locally and nationally for the families that have lost loved ones. Thank you again for bringing this critical issue forward.

Sincerely,

RE: File #23-0321

In response to file #230321, the Mayor's Office of Housing and Community Development is providing the following information about the City's rent-relief program as requested.

1. The Board of Supervisors urges MOHCD to include within the administration of the City's rent-relief program a priority to assist tenants of small property owners with unpaid rent arising during the COVID emergency eviction controls.

Based on a review of program data, we estimate that 45% of payments between June 2021 and April 2023 were disbursed to smaller landlords. For comparison, 30% of payments went to Permanent Supportive Housing and other affordable units; and 19% went to known large-scale private property owners.

These percentages are based on a review of payments, with the caveat that property ownership can be difficult to track due to variations in property management or ownership structure, such as family trusts and LLCs. For example, not included in the percentages above: more than 5% of payments went to property management companies that can represent small, medium, or large property owners. Even with some degree of error, these numbers reflect the program's success in supporting both vulnerable tenants and small landlords throughout the city.

San Francisco's program accepts applications from tenants, not landlords. MOHCD is reviewing its engagement strategies to ensure that tenants living in buildings owned by small landlords know their options to apply for rental assistance. We will also support small landlords, through working with professional organizations and other resources, so that they understand the steps required on their end to receive rental assistance payments.

2. The Board of Supervisors urges MOHCD to provide information in multiple languages regarding its rent relief programs addressed to tenants, affordable housing organizations, and small property owners and to ensure equitable access to the program in all neighborhoods across the City including providing timely in-person assistance in multiple languages for those who are challenged in navigating the internet

The City's rental assistance program online application (<https://sferap.com>) is available in ten languages. All outreach and applicant-facing materials and communications are provided in the City's threshold languages (English, Spanish, Chinese, and Tagalog). The City partners with a network of community-based organizations (CBOs) who assist tenants with their applications. These CBOs provide in-language help at locations throughout the City, including western neighborhoods. CBOs help applicants without access to technology or with limited internet proficiency to submit an application and complete the entire application process.

The CBO providers for San Francisco's rent relief program are:

- Catholic Charities
- Compass Family Services
- Eviction Defense Council (EDC)
- Hamilton Families
- Homeless Prenatal Program (HPP)
- Homies Organizing the Mission to Empower Youth (HOMEY)
- La Raza Community Resource Center
- Mission Neighborhood Centers (MNC)
- Native American Health Center (NAHC)
- Young Community Developers (YCD)

A partial list of CBO partners who carry out outreach and application help includes: Bill Sorro Housing Program (BiSHoP), Causa Justa::Just Cause, Chinatown Community Development Center, Homeownership SF consortium of housing counseling agencies, Housing Right Committee, La Voz Latina del Tenderloin (Tenderloin Housing Clinic), Latino Task Force, Self-Help for the Elderly, and South of Market Community Action Network (SOMCAN).

3. That the Board of Supervisors requests that MOHCD provide a report to the Board of Supervisors regarding its policies and practices that advance the above priorities and to provide a month-by-month amount of federal, state, and local rent relief funds received by each landlord in San Francisco.

As requested, we are providing the attached report on the rental assistance payments to landlord/property management firm from June 2021 through February 2023 for local program dollars. During the pandemic, there was significant additional rent relief funding provided by federal and state budgets, and administered by the State Department of Housing and Community Development. For information on those State dollars, please contact Lorrie Blevins, Section Chief of Emergency Rental Assistance Program (ERAP), Division of Federal Financial Assistance at lorrie.blevins@hcd.ca.gov.

Subject: Issued: Controller's Office reports on results from comprehensive nonprofit wage and equity survey

Honorable Board of Supervisors,

The City Performance division of the Controller's Office is providing the results from a recent comprehensive nonprofit wage and equity survey as general information.

Please refer to the distribution e-mail below.

Office of the Controller
City & County of San Francisco

The City and County of San Francisco (City) contracts with over 600 nonprofit organizations to deliver $1.5 billion in essential services to San Francisco residents each year. Nonprofit organizations experience significant funding constraints and inflationary pressures that lead to many nonprofit workers earning very low wages. In the fall of 2022, the Controller’s Office fielded a survey to gather data on wages, demographics, and organizational characteristics from nonprofits who contract with the City to better understand the wage pressures faced by nonprofit contractors.

In total, 152 nonprofit organizations responded to the survey, with a “cohort” of 29 respondents providing more detailed position-level data for their workforce. Results reflect data about 16,000 workers within 13,200 full-time equivalent positions (FTEs).

Highlights

- The majority of the nonprofit workforce in surveyed organizations (an estimated 79%) receive wages under $40 per hour. Nearly 5,000 FTEs earn less than $25 per hour.
- The nonprofit workforce is incredibly diverse, particularly compared to other industries in San Francisco. Workers who are Black, Indigenous, and people of color (BIPOC) represent over 75% of the general workforce (meaning all staff excluding executives).
- Among organizations that provided worker-level data, the general workforce receives a mean wage of $28.72 per hour and the executive workforce has a mean wage of $77.47 per hour.

Key Findings

- Low wage workers are disproportionately Black, Indigenous, and people of color (BIPOC). Workers making less than $25 per hour are disproportionately Black or African American, and tend to be in jobs such as front desk staff, janitorial, childcare or youth workers, and other direct service roles including street ambassadors.

- Case Management is a key role that spans service areas and has high vacancy rates. Case management roles represent 8% of all positions among surveyed nonprofits, and these positions make up 29% of all vacancies in the cohort survey.
- Some operational or wage-related challenges may be better suited for department-specific interventions or other targeted approaches. The Controller's Office analyzed survey data to explore certain operational challenges, such as pay differentials for bilingual staff, among other issues. In many cases, the data did not show wage-related impacts broad enough in scope to require a Citywide intervention.

In the coming months, the Controller's Office plans to release a memo of recommendations related to the findings of this report.

Executive Summary

OVERVIEW

The City and County of San Francisco (City) contracts with over 600 nonprofit organizations to deliver $1.5 billion worth of essential services to San Francisco residents each year. Despite the magnitude of the City’s investment and the critical nature of the work, nonprofit organizations experience significant funding constraints and inflationary pressures that lead to many nonprofit workers earning very low wages. In the fall of 2022, the Controller’s Office fielded a survey to gather data on wages, demographics, and organizational characteristics from nonprofits who contract with the City to better understand the wage pressures faced by nonprofit contractors. The Controller’s Office used a two-tiered survey approach to gather data from 152 organizations:

General Survey: 123 Respondents

- Distributed to any nonprofit currently in contract with the City
- Gathered summary data about each organization’s budget and staff wages/demographics

Cohort Survey: 29 Respondents

- Distributed to a subset of organizations spanning service areas
- Gathered General Survey summary data plus position-level data for each respondent’s workforce

SURVEY RESULTS

Nonprofit Survey Data Shows:

152

Nonprofit contractors responded to the survey

22

Departments with which survey respondents have contracts

48%

Percent of respondents with an annual budget larger than $5M

79%

Percent of nonprofits funded by more than one department

Nonprofit organizations responding to the survey represent a mix of sizes and service areas, are funded by an array of City departments, and provide services in each neighborhood in San Francisco. Nonprofits with annual budgets under $2 million were the largest group, followed by organizations with annual budgets over $15 million.

Annual Budget Amount for All Respondents
n=152

Top services areas selected by the 152 respondents include: Youth Services (16%), Homelessness and Housing (16%), Behavioral Health: (13%), and Senior Services (10%). Respondents provide services all neighborhoods in San Francisco, though the highest proportion indicated they serve the Mission, Tenderloin, South of Market, and/or Bayview-Hunters Point Neighborhoods.

The survey gathered wage and demographic data for over 16,000 workers comprising over 13,200 FTEs. The majority of the workforce across respondent organizations earn less than $40 per hour and almost 5,000 FTEs make less than $25 per hour.

Examining the distribution of wage levels by service area and organization size provides additional context about where these low wage workers are concentrated. Workers making less than $25 per hour comprise a larger proportion of the workforce in large organizations (those with an annual budget of over $5 million). The graph below shows the service areas with the largest and smallest proportions of low wage workers. Organizations in the Workforce and Youth categories show at least 50% of their workforces earning under $25 per hour.

Wages of All Reported Full-time Equivalent Staff, n=13,206 FTE

Wage Ranges by Respondent's Annual Budget, n=13,206

Wage Ranges by Respondent's Primary Service Area (excerpted) n =13,206 FTE

The data also shows that the nonprofit workforce is incredibly diverse, particularly compared to other industries in San Francisco. Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC) workers represent over 75% of the general workforce (meaning all staff excluding executives). The executive workforce has a greater proportion of White employees than the general workforce.

Cohort survey responses include data for 5,174 workers spanning 14 job categories. The cohort workforce is similarly diverse, although the cohort has a greater proportion of Black or African American employees compared to the overall survey. The cohort general workforce (5,004 workers) has a mean wage of $28.72 per hour and the executive workforce (164 workers¹) has a mean wage of $77.47 per hour.

KEY FINDINGS AND ANALYSIS

1. Low Wage Workers are Disproportionately BIPOC

Workers making less than $25 per hour are disproportionately Black or African American.

Four job categories have lower-than-average mean wages in the cohort survey:

- Front Desk Staff
- Janitorial or Maintenance Staff
- Children/Youth-Focused Staff
- "Other Direct Service Staff"

Each of these positions has a different demographic distribution, but within most job categories, either Asian, Black,

Racial Distribution of Workers Earning under $25/hr Compared to Total Cohort Workforce

or Latino racial groups are overrepresented compared to the total cohort demographic distribution. Gender distribution varies between job categories. Although these highlighted positions have the lowest wages in the survey, wages across positions are low. The median wage across all workers in the cohort survey is $25.25. This means 50% of workers in the cohort make $25.25 per hour or less.

Job Category	Mean Hourly Wage	Number of Workers
Front Desk Staff	$22.03	281
Janitorial or Maintenance Staff	$24.52	269
Children/Youth-Focused Staff	$26.18	71
Other Direct Service: Ambassadors/Practitioners	$20.62	1,020
Other Direct Service: Food and Retail staff	$24.14	59
Other Direct Service: Miscellaneous Counselors	$25.28	242
Other Direct Service: all other roles	$22.32	121

Approximately 40% of the entire cohort workforce holds a job in one of these low-paying job categories and 38% of FTEs in the overall survey population make under $25 per hour. This is a large proportion of the surveyed workforce, and the finding is likely applicable beyond the survey population: a large proportion of the total City-funded nonprofit workforce likely earn very low wages. This means that Citywide investments into raising wages for low-wage workers, even if targeted at specific positions, would likely be costly. However, potential interventions could have wide-reaching positive equity impacts.

2. Case Management is a key role that spans service areas and has high vacancy rates.

Case Management is a key role across service areas, workers in this job category makes low wages for the services they perform, and data shows it may be difficult to hire and retain staff in these positions. Case Management positions make up 29% of all the vacancies in the cohort sample (133 FTE among 457 vacant FTE positions), despite only representing 8% of the total cohort workforce.

Number of Case Management Workers in Defined Wage Ranges

Workers in the Case Management category occupy jobs across a range of supervision levels. This translates to a range in wages from $21.00 per hour through over $55.00 per hour, with a mean wage of $29.45 per hour.

In the cohort data, most Case Management positions are in organizations that identified Homelessness and Housing as their primary service area. However, organizations with Case Management workers span an array of secondary service areas and 86% of Case Management employees in the cohort work for organizations that are funded by two or more City departments. This shows that Case Management does span programs across departments and service areas. This analysis suggests that efforts to address operational challenges in hiring and retaining Case Management staff will likely require a Citywide approach, rather than department-specific funding initiatives.

Investing in Case Management positions could also have positive equity impacts: workers in these roles are more likely to be Hispanic or Latino/a and female, compared to the overall cohort demographic distributions.

3. Some operational or wage-related challenges may be better suited for department-specific interventions or other targeted approaches.

Leveraging stakeholder insights from prior qualitative analysis, the Controller’s Office analyzed survey data to explore certain operational challenges, such as pay differentials for bilingual staff and whether part-time staff without benefits were being employed in order to save the cost of a full-time benefitted position. The Controller’s Office also explored issues arising in the cohort survey regarding significantly lower mean wages for executives in small organizations compared to large nonprofits, as well as the impact of unionization on worker wages. While there was insufficient evidence within survey data to suggest the need for a Citywide policy in these areas, these challenges could be appropriate for further analysis or targeted approaches within departments, service areas, or contracts.

CONCLUSIONS AND NEXT STEPS

In May 2022, the Controller’s Office released a memo exploring the wage pressures faced by nonprofit contractors providing essential services to San Francisco residents. That memo found that low wages across the sector leads to difficulty hiring and retaining staff, creating significant service impacts and gaps in the social safety net. Results from the survey may inform policy makers and stakeholders in several ways. Each issue is distinct and may require different strategies to address. The Controller’s Office plans to release a memo of recommendations related to the findings of this report in the coming months.

Equity Implications	System Implications	Sustainability Implications
The results of this survey could inform City strategies that specifically address the significantly low wages of the BIPOC workforce across the City’s nonprofit contractors.	The results of this survey could inform targeted City strategies that provide a critical lifeline for prioritized service areas, such as shelter and housing, behavioral health, or childcare.	The results of this survey could inform City strategies that consider overall nonprofit sustainability with broad and flexible approaches to funding.

Nonprofit Wage and Equity Survey Results

OVERVIEW

The City and County of San Francisco (City) relies on nonprofit organizations to deliver essential services to San Francisco residents. In Fiscal Year 2021-2022 (FY21-22), City departments funded a total of $1.5 billion in services delivered by over 600 nonprofit organizations across San Francisco.

The nonprofit sector serves vulnerable populations throughout the city, but these organizations experience significant funding constraints and inflationary pressures that lead to many nonprofit workers earning very low wages for essential work. In May 2022, the Controller's Office released a memo² detailing the wage pressures face by nonprofits, and how these pain points impact the services that nonprofits deliver. The memo drew primarily on qualitative data gathered through interviews and focus groups with City departments and nonprofit contractors.

To build on this previous work, the Controller's Office developed a survey to gather comprehensive quantitative data from an array of nonprofits who contract with the City. Through analysis of both organization-wide and employee-level demographic and wage data, the survey supports understanding of wage levels, variance in wages across organizations and service areas, and demographic trends in comparison to wage levels to inform policy solutions aimed at addressing inequitable or unsustainable wage levels among the City's nonprofit contractors.

Survey Approach

The Controller's Office gathered information from nonprofits through a two-tiered survey approach:

- General Survey: The Controller's Office distributed a general survey broadly to any nonprofit currently in contract with the City. The online survey gathered organizational data about budget levels and department funders, and gathered aggregated data about staff wage levels and demographics. A total of 123 nonprofit organizations responded to the General Survey.
- Cohort Survey: The Controller's Office identified and reached out to 50 organizations across a spectrum of service areas and organization size to provide worker-level data as part of a more in-depth survey. Among these, 29 provided responses, and this data is referred to as the Cohort Survey throughout this report. In addition to similar organizational data as was collected through the general survey, the online and Excel-based cohort survey gathered position-level data for the nonprofit's entire workforce, including wage levels, position titles, qualifications, and demographics of employees.

² <https://sfcontroller.org/sites/default/files/Documents/Auditing/Memo%20-%20Nonprofit%20Wage%20Analysis%20-%20FINAL%205.4.22.pdf>

The Controller’s Office administered both surveys during October and November 2022,³ and the survey data included in this analysis represents responses from 152 nonprofit organizations in contract with the City.

The two-tiered survey approach allowed the Controller’s Office to analyze robust and detailed worker-level wage and demographic data among a subset of organizations and use the comparisons between the cohort and the general survey to determine the generalizability of the conclusions drawn based on the cohort data and the potential impact of policies targeting nonprofit staffing.

The figure provides several comparisons between the nonprofits that responded to the survey and City contracting and payment data for FY21-22, some of which were used to ensure comparability and generalizability of survey data. The Controller’s Office matched survey respondents to City payment data for FY21-22 and estimates that the 152 respondents received approximately 60% of City spending on nonprofit contracts and grants during that year.

³ During the survey period, several departments were implementing budget initiatives approved in the FY22-23 budget. These increases may or may not be reflected in the data collected, depending on the status of contract changes during the time of survey collection.

CHARACTERISTICS OF SURVEY RESPONDENTS

About the Nonprofits: Characteristics of Respondent Organizations

The 152 nonprofit respondents represent a broad array of service areas, department funders, organization sizes, neighborhoods served, and other characteristics. The sample of respondents is generally representative of the spread of nonprofits who contract with the City.

About half of survey respondents have an annual operating budget of under $5 million, with the other half indicating an annual budget over $5 million. On average, respondents receive 51% of annual revenue from City contracts, and 58% of all FTEs are funded through these contracts.

Respondents selected all departments from which they receive funding. The distribution of responses is similar to that of City spending data, suggesting that the surveyed respondents generally reflect the array of the City's contractors overall. City spending data shows that top funding departments are the Department of Homelessness and Housing Services (HSH), the Department of Public Health (DPH), Human Services Agency (HSA), the Mayor's Office of Housing and Community Development (MOHCD), and the Department of Children, Youth, and Their Families (DCYF).

Nonprofit respondents selected primary service areas to indicate types of services provided to clients and the public. The greatest percentage of respondents selected Youth Services, Homelessness and Housing Services, or Behavioral Health Services as their primary area of service.

Annual Budget Amount for All Respondents
n=152

Departments Contracting with Surveyed Organizations

To better understand communities served by sampled nonprofits, the survey asked respondents to select all neighborhoods where they deliver services. Neighborhoods historically known for having a high concentration of Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC) and/or low-income communities were highly represented in neighborhoods served by nonprofit respondents. Alternatively, few respondents indicated park neighborhoods as a service area.

The neighborhoods most commonly selected by respondents:
Neighborhood	% of Respondents
Mission	47%
Tenderloin	43%
South of Market/Financial District/South Beach	39%
Bayview-Hunters Point	34%
Excelsior/Outer Mission	32%

The neighborhoods least commonly selected by respondents:
Neighborhood	% of Respondents
Golden Gate Park	7%
Treasure Island	7%
Presidio	8%
Noe Valley/Twin Peaks/West of Twin Peaks	9%
Pacific Heights/Presidio Heights/Marina	10%

Of the surveyed nonprofits, 29 respondents (19%) indicated that some or all employees at the organization are represented by a union. Twelve of the 29 unionized nonprofits participated in the cohort survey, which will allow a more detailed look at how union representation may impact wage levels and other factors.

Characteristics of Respondent Nonprofit Employees

Respondents reported a total of 16,051 employees (“head count”) occupying a total of 13,206 full-time equivalent (FTE) positions across the 152 nonprofit organizations. This section summarizes demographic and wage level data of this staff.

Worker Demographics among Survey Respondents

Nonprofits often provide services to underserved neighborhoods in San Francisco. The survey results suggest that City-funded nonprofits most frequently serve neighborhoods with high proportions of BIPOC individuals. Hiring BIPOC employees to serve communities with higher proportions of people of color allows for cultural congruency, improving the relationships between providers and communities receiving services.

Respondents provided summary data for gender and race/ethnicity demographics in two broad job categories: general employees and executive employees. The general staff category includes direct service, back office, janitorial, middle management positions, and more. The executive category includes roles such as executive director, chief officers, and executive-level finance positions.

The sample of respondents in both general and executive job categories is diverse, although White staff are overrepresented in the executive category as compared to other racial groups.

This is still in stark contrast to other industries demographic breakdowns in San Francisco, where White employees are the dominant racial group in most key industries. According to the American Community Survey, within key industries White employees make up at least 35% of the workforce, while Black/African American employees make up less than 10% of the workforce.⁴

Demographics of San Francisco Workers in Key Industries

Health Care and Social Assistance: 37% of workers are White, 42% are Asian, 14% are Latino/x, and 7% are Black or African American.

Finance, Insurance and Real Estate: 55% of workers are White, 30% are Asian, 9% are Latino/x, and 5% are Black or African American.

Professional, Scientific and Technical: 60% of workers are White, 29% are Asian, 8% are Latino/x, and 3% are Black or African American.

Similarly, the gender distribution of survey respondents differs from other sampled industries in San Francisco. Apart from one industry, Health Care and Social Assistance, all other sampled industries are heavily represented by male workers.⁵ In contrast, the sample of respondents in both general and executive categories is overwhelmingly female, with male workers being slightly more represented only in the executive job category.⁶

See Appendix B for more detailed results from the American Community Survey regarding race and gender demographics of workers across key industries in San Francisco.

Worker Wages among Survey Respondents

The May 2022 Controller’s Office memo on nonprofit wage pressures found that nonprofit workers that earn the lowest wages often perform front-line services. The general survey asked respondents to report summary counts of FTEs within pre-defined wage levels. Summary wage data provides insight into the overall wage trends among San Francisco nonprofits.

⁵ Ibid.

⁶ Some genders were too small to be able to meaningfully compare in our analysis. Trans Male and Trans Female were combined into Male and Female gender categories.

Unlike the cohort data, the general survey did not request detail on the exact wage for each employee or the types of positions that encompasses each wage level for all surveyed nonprofits. The cohort analysis that follows provides more detail on the types of positions and demographics of employees by wage level and organization size.

The general survey asked respondents to provide summary counts of full-time equivalent staff (FTEs) within pre-defined wage levels. Nearly 80% of the 13,206 identified FTEs earn less than $40 per hour. See Appendix B for a summary table showing regional mean wages across a variety of industries.

Examining the distribution of wage levels by service area and organization size provides additional context about where these low wage workers are concentrated. Looking at the proportion of staff in each wage level by primary service area shows that organizations with a primary service area of Workforce Development and Youth Services have at least 50% staff in the lowest wage level.

On the other end, organizations that primarily provide Childcare/Early Childhood Education services and Family Support services have 10% or less of staff in the lowest wage level, though organizations in these service areas have a large proportion of staff in the $25-$39.99 per hour wage range.

When comparing the breakdown of staff in each wage level by the organization size, survey data shows that organizations with annual budgets over $5 million have the highest proportion of staff in the lowest wage level compared to other wage groups.

The intersection of an organization’s size and service area may have an impact on wage levels. The figure below shows which service areas are most represented among small and large organizations. Among the survey respondents, Behavioral Health and Homelessness and Housing services have the highest proportion of organizations with an annual budget over $5 million. Alternatively, Arts and Culture and Youth Focused Services have the highest proportion of organizations with an annual budget under $5 million. Workforce development organizations, which have the highest proportion of workers in the under $25 per hour wage range, are split between the small (four organizations) and large (six organizations) categories below.

Putting Hourly Wages into Context

The table below shows an estimated conversation of the hourly wages discussed throughout this report into an annual salary assuming a worker is paid for 2,080 hours per year (or 40 hours per week, 52 weeks per year).

Hourly Wage Conversion
Under $25.00 per hour	Under $52,000 annually
$25.00-$39.99 per hour	Between $52,000 and $83,200 annually
$40.00-$54.99 per hour	Between $83,200 and $114,400 annually
$55.00 per hour or more	Over $114,400 annually

To contextualize these salaries, HUD compiles Area Median Income (AMI) tables for metropolitan areas across the country.⁷ In 2022 for the metropolitan area that includes San Francisco, the AMI for a single adult is $97,000 annually and $138,550 annually for a family of four. HUD also defines standard income levels for San Francisco for households considered to be low income (defined as 80% AMI). In 2022, the low-income threshold for a single adult was $77,600 per year and for a family of four was $110,850 per year.

COHORT SURVEY RESPONDENT CHARACTERISTICS

The cohort survey includes detailed worker information for 29 organizations selected to gather employee-level data from a diverse set of nonprofits that receive substantial funding from the City. As a group, organizations that responded to the cohort survey span seven service areas, receive funding from 12 departments, and receive approximately 25% of total funding the City spends on nonprofit grants and contracts annually. The surveyed cohort organizations are primarily large organizations with an annual budget of $5 million or more. Most organizations selected “Homelessness and Housing Services” as their primary service area.

Organizations could select multiple secondary services areas, and these selections show a more even distribution of cohort respondents, with Youth, Senior Services, Family Services, and other service areas as the top secondary service areas.

The cohort survey generated worker-level data on wages, demographics, and key position requirements. Cohort survey responses includes data for 5,174 workers spanning 14 job categories, as selected by respondents. The table below provides mean and median wages and the number of employees within each job category, sorted by the mean hourly wage.

Across general workers, the mean wage is \$28.72 per hour, or approximately \$59,700 per year. For executive workers, the mean wage is $77.47 per hour, or approximately $161,100 per year.

	Mean (per hour)	Median (per hour)
General n = 5,004 workers (4,501 FTE)	$28.72	$25.00
Executive n = 164 workers (161 FTE)	$77.47	$72.10

There are many more employees in large organizations in the cohort data than employees in small organizations. However, there are differences in mean wages within job categories between small and large organizations.

Among most roles, the mean wages of workers at large organizations are higher than the mean wages of workers within the same job category at small organization. The one exception is children/youth focused workers, where the mean wage is higher at small organizations. The table below excerpts the roles with the clearest differences in wages by organization size.

Job Category	Large Organizations		Small Organizations
	Mean Wage Per Hour	Number of Employees	Mean Wage Per Hour	Number of Employees
Administrative Staff	$40.18	610	$35.93	10

Program Delivery Staff	$31.36	775	$26.13	50

Data for the workers among cohort respondents’ general workforce shows Black or African American workers are the largest group when broken out by race, followed by Hispanic or Latino and White workers. Asian workers make up 18% of the general workforce identified in the cohort survey. All other racial groups were combined into an “Other” category because the groups were otherwise too small for analysis. The racial breakdown differs among the executives, where White executives are the largest group at 41%, with Asian executives at 22%, Hispanic or Latino/a executives at 17% and Black or African American executives at 15%.

Looking at the gender distribution, there are more women than men in both the executive and general workforces. Women are more represented among executives, comprising 61% of the executive workforce and 52% of the general workforce. A small proportion of workers are non-binary or another gender identity (no workers in the cohort had gender identity information indicating that they are trans men or trans women).

The survey also collected age and sexual orientation data. Age data showed that the largest groups of workers were aged 25-34 and aged 35-44, although workers aged 45-54 and 55-64 are almost equally represented.

Few organizations reported sexual orientation, meaning that the numbers of workers with sexual orientation data is too small for analysis and therefore omitted here.

Vacant Positions

Information about vacancies helps illustrate the potential service impacts that low wages or other operational challenges may have on the City's nonprofit contractors. The survey included several questions about vacant positions. General Survey respondents provided the total number of FTEs they employ when fully staffed and the FTE sum of vacant positions. Cohort Survey respondents provided position-level vacancy data. The Controller's Office used this data to calculate approximate vacancy rates by service area and by organization annual budget.

The table below shows the number of vacancies for each service area, sorted highest to lowest number of vacant FTEs. Childcare/Early Childhood organizations have the highest calculated vacancy rate, at 17.4%, with Medical/Physical Health organizations also high, at 17.0%. Highlighted vacancy rates are above the total estimated vacancy rate. This suggests that organizations providing those services may be facing hiring challenges, and that there may be gaps in delivery of these services. Homelessness and Housing Services and Behavioral Health Services have the highest count of vacant FTEs (447.7 and 278.9 respectively), and both are above the total estimated vacancy rate.

Homelessness and Housing Services	24	447.7	3,823.3	11.7%

Among organizations with vacancy data, the 78 organizations with budgets under $5 million annually have an estimated vacancy rate of 11.6% compared to a vacancy rate of 9.7% among the 72 organizations with annual budgets of $5 million and over. This suggests that small organizations may have more difficulty hiring than their larger counterparts, which may impact their ability to deliver services.

Position-level Vacancies

Of the 29 organizations that participated in the cohort survey, 27 provided data on the vacancies in their organizations. Vacancy data includes job titles, job categories, wage ranges, length of time vacant, and if the position requires bilingual skills, an advanced degree, or non-standard working hours. The vacancy data covers 457 FTEs. On average, reported positions have been vacant for 6.9 months. The median length of time vacant is four months. This suggests that once a position is vacant it remains vacant for several months, and a few roles have remained vacant for significantly more time.

The table below shows the number of vacant FTEs compared to the number of filled FTEs, and the resulting vacancy rate. Due to some job categories having few or no vacancies, the vacancy rate should be viewed as an estimate. The estimated vacancy rate within the cohort is 9.6%. The table is sorted by the number of vacant FTEs, and highlighted cells show the positions with the highest estimated vacancy rates. Notably, Adult Training and Case Management roles have very high vacancy rates.

Job Category	Number of Vacant FTEs	Number of Filled FTEs ⁹	Total FTEs	Calculated Vacancy Rate
Case Management	133.3	403.3	536.5	24.8%
Administrative	72.0	518.3	590.3	12.2%

Total	457.3	4,285.1	4,742.5	9.6%

⁹ Vacancy rates in this table are calculated based on the 27 organizations within the Cohort Survey that provided vacancy data.

Among the vacant positions, 32% of vacancies are budgeted at under $25 per hour or at wage ranges that cross the $25 per hour threshold (e.g., $23 - $28 per hour), similar to the 38% of the total survey population earning under $25 per hour.

Comparing the Cohort Survey and General Survey

It is important to note that the cohort dataset includes 1,020 Ambassadors/Practitioners in Workforce Development organizations who are very low wage and are primarily Black or African American and male. This impacts the summary data about cohort respondents.

If the group of 1,020 Ambassador/Practitioner workers are excluded, the same summary analysis shows that mean wages are higher by about $2.00 per hour and demographic trends across the workforce shift.

	Mean (per hour)	Median (per hour)
General (excluding Ambassadors/Practitioners) N = 3,984 workers (3,504 FTE)	$30.79	$27.21

Without Ambassadors/Practitioners, female workers comprise 61% of the general workforce (on par with the cohort executive workforce gender distribution) while male workers are 38% and non-binary workers are 1%. This is a shift from 53% female and 47% male in the cohort survey with Ambassadors/Practitioners included. Excluding this position category makes the cohort workforce more comparable to the demographics in the general survey population, which has 58% female workers and 27% male (many general survey respondents had employees with no gender data collected).

The charts about the overall cohort workforce above indicate that the largest racial group is Black or African American (31% of the workforce), but this race distribution also shifts when Ambassadors/Practitioners are excluded. Excluding the Ambassadors/Practitioners category leads to a more even division between Asian or Asian American, Black or African American, Hispanic or Latino/a, and White employees (22%-24% each with the remaining 8% in the Other racial groups category). This compares to the total survey population, which shows that Black or African American workers are 18% of the workforce and White, Asian and Latino workers each comprise 17% to 25% of the workforce.

The overrepresentation of the Ambassador/Practitioner employees may impact the demographic and wage comparisons outlined in the key insight sections below. However, while the impact of this group of workers on the summary data is considered when applying findings to the broader general survey population, these 1,020 workers are a critical part of the nonprofit workforce in San Francisco and so are an important component of understanding the findings presented here.

There are two additional ways the cohort and the general survey differ:

- The cohort includes more larger organizations than the general survey and has a greater proportion of organizations that provide Homelessness and Housing Services. That difference is taken into consideration when applying findings that are based on organization size to the larger survey population.
- There are also differences in racial composition of the executives in small organizations in the cohort and general surveys, limiting conclusions we can make about that group.

KEY FINDINGS AND POLICY INSIGHTS

The Controller’s Office analyzed worker-level wage and demographic data and organization-level data on service areas, organization budget and department funders in both the general and cohort surveys. Based on this analysis, three key findings emerged:

1. Low wage workers are disproportionately BIPOC, and this finding persists when exploring specific job categories within the cohort survey.
2. Case Management is a key role that spans service areas and has disproportionate vacancy rates compared to other positions.
3. Other operational or wage-related challenges may be better suited for department-specific or other targeted approaches.

Finding 1. Low Wage Workers are Disproportionately BIPOC

For the purposes of this analysis, we identified $25 per hour as a threshold to signify the lowest paid workers in the sector. When comparing demographics of workers making less than $25 per hour to demographics of the total cohort population, low wage workers are disproportionately Black or African American and small racial groups that filter into the “other” category. White and Asian staff are underrepresented in this wage group. This suggests that policy approaches designed to support low wage workers may have positive equity impacts.

In addition to identifying the demographic breakdown of low wage staff, the Controller’s Office also analyzed which jobs these low wage workers hold. Along with demographic and wage information, respondents provided a job title for each employee and classified them within one of 13 predefined job categories. The overall mean wage for all general workforce employees (meaning all employees excluding executives) in the cohort survey is $28.72 per hour. Comparing the mean wage in each job category to the general workforce mean wages shows which positions workers earning low wages typically occupy. This analysis highlighted the following job categories:¹⁰

Job Category	Mean Hourly Wage	Number of Workers
Front Desk Staff	$22.03	281
Janitorial or Maintenance Staff	$24.52	269
Children/Youth-Focused Staff	$26.18	71
Other Direct Service: Ambassadors/Practitioners	$20.62	1,020
Other Direct Service: Food and Retail staff	$24.14	59
Other Direct Service: Miscellaneous Counselors	$25.28	242
Other Direct Service: all other roles	$22.32	121

The following sections explore these lowest-wage job categories within the City-funded nonprofit workforce in more detail.

Front Desk Staff

Front Desk Staff serve in reception roles at administrative sites and program sites (such as at housing programs), and often provide direct service, such as deescalating crises. Front Desk Staff have a mean wage of $22.03 per hour: $6.69 per hour less per hour than the general workforce mean wage.

Looking at the demographics of this group, 53% (136 people) are Black or African American, despite Black workers only representing 30% of the total workforce. Front desk staff are also primarily female, with 65% of the reported staff being female, compared to 53% of the cohort workforce. Policies that target or support front desk staff will have disproportionate impacts on Black workers and on female workers.

¹⁰ Cohort respondents selected “Other Direct Service” for any staff that did not fall into another pre-defined category. The Controller’s Office used analysis of specific job titles to re-group these workers. In some cases, workers were moved to a different job category more aligned with their job title.

Janitorial and Maintenance Staff

Janitorial and Maintenance Staff provide cleaning and repair services, often at places where clients use services or live. Staff in this category make a mean wage of $24.52 per hour, which is $4.20 per hour less than the general workforce mean wage.

This job category is disproportionately Asian or Asian American and Hispanic or Latino/a. Asian staff represent 27% of the janitorial workforce while only making up 18% of the general cohort workforce. Similarly, Latino staff represent 32% of the janitorial workforce, compared to 21% of the general workforce. Janitorial Staff are also disproportionately male, at 78%, compared to 47% of the total cohort workforce. Policies targeted to Janitorial Staff could impact Asian or Asian American and Hispanic or Latino workers and men.

Asian or Asian American Workers in Janitorial Positions Compared to All Other Positions

Hispanic or Latino Workers in Janitorial Positions Compared to All Other Positions (n=4724)

Male Workers in Janitorial Positions Compared to All Other Positions

While job roles among nonprofit organizations cannot always be directly compared to City and County of San Francisco (City) positions, in some cases there are roles that are reasonably aligned. The Custodian/Porter role used by multiple City departments has a pay range of up to $35.83 per hour.

Survey Job Category	Survey Mean Wage	Comparable City Position	City Wage Range
Janitorial/Maintenance Staff	$24.52/hr	Custodian/Porter	$29.50/hr - $35.83/hr

Children/Youth-Focused Staff

The Children and Youth-Focused Staff category consists of teachers, childcare providers, mentors, education specialist working with youth, and other youth focused positions.

Children/Youth-Focused Staff positions have a mean wage of $26.18 per hour, a difference of $2.54 per hour from the general workforce mean wage. The number of workers in the category in our cohort is small, however there are two key takeaways from the demographic information: 40% percent of Children/Youth-Focused Staff are Hispanic or Latino compared to 21% of the total cohort. Additionally, 65% are women, compared to 53% in the total cohort workforce. However, with such a small sample size it's not clear that this difference is statistically significant.

Across the combined survey data (general and cohort), Childcare and Early Childhood organizations showed more workers in the $25 per hour to $40 per hour wage category than in the under $25 per hour category. This cohort data suggests that a large proportion of the workers in Childcare and Early Childhood organizations may be just over the $25 per hour threshold of that wage range. Policies that target Childcare and Early Childhood organizations or youth-focused workers could specifically impact Hispanic or Latino workers and female workers.

Other Direct Service Staff

Respondents used the "Other Direct Service" category when a position didn't clearly fit into any of the other job categories. Initial analysis showed that this miscellaneous job category was one of the lowest paid in the cohort dataset. To further understand this job category and better inform potential policy impacts, the Controller's Office used the provided job titles to divide this category into subcategories.

Ambassadors/Practitioners

Ambassadors and Practitioners are employed by three large homelessness and workforce development organizations. Workers in these positions are often former clients or have lived experience of homelessness and these roles are part of workforce development programs. The mean wage for these roles is $20.62 per hour and the workforce is disproportionately Black (55%) and male (81%).

Food and Retail Workers

This category includes those that work in food service, including food preparation and delivery, and retail, for organizations that have food distribution or retail programs. The mean wage for this role is $24.14 per hour and the demographic breakdown is aligned with that of the total cohort workforce. In comparison, the City includes such positions as Food Service Worker, Senior Food Service Worker, Assistant Cook and Cook. The wage ranges across these junior and senior roles span from $25.55 per hour to $41.56 per hour.

Miscellaneous Counselors

Counselor is a role that cohort respondents categorized into a variety of job categories, including Behavioral Health, Case Management, Program, and Other Direct Service. Miscellaneous Counselors only include workers with a job title that included “counselor” that were included by the respondent within the Other Direct Service category. Many Counselor jobs in this category are peer counselors or peer counselor supervisors. Wages for this category range from $18.00 per hour to $42.54 per hour, with a mean of $25.28 per hour. Black or African American employees are overrepresented in this job category, comprising 43% of Miscellaneous Counsellors compared to 30% of the total workforce population. The distribution of genders is aligned with that of the total workforce’s distribution.

Finding 1 Policy Considerations

Approximately 40% of the entire cohort workforce holds a job in one of these low-paying job categories and 48% of the total cohort workforce (46% of FTEs, excluding on-call employees) make under $25 per hour. This is a higher proportion than in the combined dataset, where 38% of FTEs make under $25 per hour. This is likely because the 29 cohort respondents trended towards large, homelessness organizations. Both large organizations and homelessness organizations have higher proportions of workers making under $25 per hour.

It is reasonable to assume that the survey data is applicable to the broader City-funded nonprofit workforce. With 38% of FTEs across survey respondents earning under $25 per hour, this means that low-wage workers make up a large portion of the workforce of all City-funded nonprofits. Given the scale, investments into raising wages, even if targeted at specific positions, would likely be costly. This also shows that these interventions could impact a large number of people and that the positive equity impacts could also be wide-reaching.

Vacancy data can help illuminate the potential service impacts of low wages. Low wages in general and the low wages in these specific positions do not appear to have significant impacts on nonprofits’ ability to hire low wage workers. While 38% of all FTEs earn less than $25 per hour, only 28% of the reported vacancies have a wage range under $25 per hour (an additional 4% have a wage range that bridges the $25 per hour threshold). Front Desk and Janitorial roles have similar vacancy rates to that of the entire dataset, while Other Direct Service jobs have lower vacancy rates.

Comparing the proportion of each service area’s workforce that makes under $25 per hour to the proportion of the workforce that occupies one of the low wage jobs helps us understand how the City may target policy approaches such as investments in lowest-wage workers.

Primary Service Area	Proportion of workforce in the four low-wage job categories	Proportion of workforce making under $25 per hour	Number of organizations in each service area
Behavioral Health	20%	33%	6
Family Support	37%	22%	1
Homelessness/Housing	41%	44%	11
Senior	6%	55%	3
Veteran	44%	30%	1
Workforce Development	79%	78%	3
Youth	40%	33%	4

Workforce Development respondents have the highest proportion of workers in the low wage job categories listed above (79% of their workforce falls into one) and the highest proportion of workers making under $25 per hour. This makes sense given that hiring Ambassador/Practitioner or peer support jobs is often part of these organization’s program models. Across most service areas, the proportion of the workforce that fall into a low wage job category and the proportion that make under $25 per hour are roughly comparable (typically less than a 15 percentage point difference). Veteran, Homelessness, Youth, and Family serving organizations all have 30%-44% of their workforces in one of the low-paying jobs identified above. Behavioral Health organizations have fewer in the low-wage job categories, at 20% of their workforce, but approximately a third of their workforce makes less than $25 per hour.

Senior Services is the one area where there is almost a 50 percentage point difference between the proportion of the workforce that falls into one of low wage job categories and the proportion of the workforce that make under $25 per hour. Most of their workers making under $25 per hour are in the “Medical” and “Program” job categories. On average, these job roles are above the mean wage, and so these low wage workers in senior services are not readily apparent in the summary data of wages by job category. This suggests that policy solutions that specifically target certain job roles may exclude low wage staff in other sectors.

Finding 2. Case Management is a key role that spans service areas and has high vacancy rates

In the Controller’s Office’s May 2022 memo, stakeholders identified Case Management as a key role that spans service areas and is low wage for the services they perform. As a result, they said it is difficult to hire and retain staff in these positions which impacts service delivery.

Cohort data indicates nonprofit respondents have a high rate of vacancies in Case Management roles compared to other job categories in the cohort sample. Case Management positions make up 29% of all the vacancies in the cohort sample \(133 FTEs among 457 FTE vacancies\), despite only representing 8% of the total cohort workforce.

Assuming this trend in vacancies carries across all City-funded nonprofits with Case Management positions, policy approaches that focus on this job role could support hiring and service delivery constraints felt by nonprofit organizations.

Characteristics of Case Management Workers

The cohort survey data includes 459 workers in the Case Management job category. Case Management workers hold many different roles spanning a range of levels, including Case Manager I – III, Specialists, Licensed Social Workers, Clinical Case Managers, etc. This translates to a large spread in wages. While case managers among cohort respondents earn more on average than the general workforce mean wage at $29.45 per hour, pay for this group ranges from a low of $21 per hour to a high of over $55 per hour. A quarter (25%) earn less than $26.19 per hour. The chart below illustrates this spread of wages, where most Case Management position wages cluster between $23.30 per hour and $32.50 per hour, with a few positions spread out across higher wage buckets.

Another impact on wages is the requirement that some Case Management employees have some type of advanced degree or licensure (such as being licensed in clinical social work - LCSW). This additional requirement translates to a small increase in pay: for positions that require an advanced degree, there is only about a $3.25 per hour difference in mean wages ($31.13 per hour compared to $27.89 per hour). Similar to other job categories, positions requiring bilingual skills see no difference in pay as compared to those without a bilingual requirement.

Case Management roles are typically specific to social service, medical and government sectors. A few sampled comparisons of positions across these sectors highlight a variance in pay and illustrate the challenge in hiring for very low wage positions. Degree or licensure requirements impact wage ranges across industries.

Position Title or Job Category	Degree or License Required?	Industry or Source	Wage Information
Case Management Staff	No	Cohort Survey (318 workers)	$27.89/hr Mean Wage
Health Worker I	No	City Position	$28.63/hr - $34.78/hr Wage Range
Social Worker I	No	City Position	$36.10/hr - $43.88/hr Wage Range
Case Management Staff	Yes	Cohort Survey (86 workers)	$31.13/hr Mean Wage

Social Work Supervisor	Yes	City Position	$46.51/hr - $56.53/hr Wage Range
Medical Social Worker ¹¹	Yes	Integrated Healthcare Facility	$45.8/hr - 61.83/hr Wage Range

Among positions listed above that require an advanced degree or licensure, there are significant differences in pay between the nonprofit survey respondents, the comparable City role, and the comparable healthcare role. There are few unlicensed case management roles in the private sector (e.g., at hospitals or assisted living facilities). Among City roles, entry level care coordination positions such as the Health Worker I may be comparable in pay to unlicensed nonprofit staff, though entry level Social Workers start $8 per hour above the nonprofit mean wage.

Demographics of Case Management Workers

Case Management demographics tend to be similar to the total cohort survey population demographics, but there are some key differences. Case Management staff are more likely to be Hispanic or Latino/a (30% compared to 21%) and less likely to be Asian or Asian American (11% compared to 18%). They are also more likely to be female at 66% of the Case Management workforce compared to 53% female in the total cohort workforce. They are less likely to be younger (under 25) and older (55 and older). See Appendix D for demographic charts.

Characteristics of Organizations with Case Management Positions

The majority (77%) of Case Management positions in the cohort survey data are with organizations that list Homelessness and Housing Services as their primary service area. However, since earlier work had found that Case Management is a role that spans service areas, organizations, and departments, the Controller's Office looked at Case Management roles by secondary service areas and department funders to verify that the conclusions drawn from the sample of case management roles in the cohort survey could be reasonably applied to the broader population of Case Management roles across City-funded nonprofits.

Percent of Cohort Respondents with Case Managers for Each Secondary Service Area (n = 20 organizations)

Respondents could select multiple secondary service areas, as applicable, after selecting one single primary service area. The Case Management roles in the survey are distributed across secondary service areas. Among organizations that employ Case Management roles, 30-40% selected each youth services, workforce development, senior services, and family support services as secondary service areas. Many selected “other” as a secondary service area and wrote in their own descriptions, which include legal aid, nutrition services, early childhood services and more.

A significant number of Case Management workers documented in the cohort survey (86%) work for organizations that are funded by two or more City departments. All primary funding departments¹² fund organizations that have Case Management workers. HSH, HSA, DPH, and MOHCD each fund at least 55% of organizations in the cohort that employ Case Management workers. Although respondents didn’t indicate which departments directly funded which roles, this suggests that Case Management roles span programs funded by all major funding departments in the City.

Behavioral Health Positions and Other Counselors

Behavioral Health positions and Counselor positions are similar to Case Management roles. Stakeholders have anecdotally expressed concerns about hiring and retaining staff in these roles as well.

¹² Department of Public Health (DPH), Department of Homelessness and Supportive Housing (HSH), Human Services Agency (HSA), Mayor’s Office of Housing and Community Development (MOHCD), Department of Children, Youth and Their Families (DCYF), Department of Early Childhood (DEC), Office of Economic and Workforce Development (OEWD)

Cohort respondents categorized Counselors into several different job categories, as reported above in the low-wage worker analysis.

Behavioral Health jobs tend to have higher wages than are seen in most other job categories, with a mean wage of $39.41 per hour and a median wage of $37.05 per hour. Similar to Case Management, Behavioral Health workers span a variety of roles and levels, which is reflected in the wage data. Among cohort respondents, Behavioral Health worker wages range from $20.48 per hour through $114.09 per hour.

The Controller's Office is in the process of conducting additional analysis in this area as part of a staffing analysis for Mental Health SF. Upon publication, that report will be linked here.

Finding 2 Policy Considerations

This analysis validates what was heard in qualitative reporting. Vacancy and wage data shows that although Case Management is not the category with the lowest wages, Case Management workers still receive a low wage for the complex and skilled work they do and that may contribute to the difficulty in hiring or retaining workers.

The demographic data suggests that policy approaches that target Case Management roles, that would support Hispanic or Latino/a and female workers.

Case Management roles span service areas, programs, and funders, and efforts to address operational challenges in hiring and retaining Case Management staff likely requires a City-wide approach, rather than department-specific funding initiatives.

Finding 3. Some operational or wage-related challenges may be better suited for department-specific interventions or other targeted approaches

The Controller's Office analyzed the survey data to identify insights that could help inform policy approaches related to challenges identified through the May 2022 memo. For each approach, there was insufficient evidence within survey data to suggest the need for a Citywide policy. However, these challenge areas could be appropriate for further analysis, policy development within departments, or targeted initiatives to support specific contracts or nonprofits most impacted.

Bilingual Staff

In research conducted for the May 2022 memo, organizations and departments identified that having bilingual direct service workers was a key need across program and service areas. This need was mentioned specifically in relation to Case Management positions and was posited as a potential reason why hiring Case Management roles was so difficult. One potential solution raised was ensuring that workers within job categories were paid more for their bilingual skills.

The Controller's Office analyzed vacancy data and pay data to evaluate if these qualitative observations were present in the data. We looked at pay data for bilingual compared to non-bilingual staff within job categories, service areas, and organizations. Overall, it appears that no matter how the data is crosstabulated there is no evidence that there are differences in pay for bilingual skills, that are based on those bilingual skills, for any job category or service area.¹³

This data may suggest a need or opportunity to implement a policy related to premium pay for bilingual skills. There is some evidence that there is difficulty hiring for bilingual positions. Looking only at direct service positions in the cohort’s vacancy data, 18% of vacant positions require bilingual skills while only 10% of filled positions do. However, when looking at specific roles, the data is less clear.

- Specifically analyzing Case Management roles, which have high rates of vacancy, bilingual requirements do not appear to have an impact on vacancy rates: 14.1% of filled positions require bilingual skills as do 14.9% of vacant positions.
- Among other positions, the job categories where a high proportion of vacancies require bilingual skills generally have few total vacancies.

This variability makes it difficult to draw conclusions about how targeting premium pay for bilingual skills could ease hiring challenges. Because the pay disparity does not result in clearly defined impacts, a City-wide approach may not be appropriate without further exploration within specific roles. Targeted analysis could help identify program-specific or department-specific needs.

Part-Time or On-Call Staff without Benefits

In the qualitative research conducted for the May 2022 memo, stakeholders raised a concern that some nonprofits may have had to employ part-time staff without benefits to make running their programs financially viable, and that it may lead to both equity concerns and operational challenges.

Analyzing the prevalence of these part time or on-call positions without benefits led to limited conclusions. First, the proportion of the total direct service workforce (all workers excluding administrative and executive staff) that fall into this category is relatively small at less than 10%. Second, because the number of jobs in this category were relatively few, it is difficult to subset this group to analyze by job category, service area, or organization size.

Taken together, survey data cannot help identify specific policy approaches to address this concern. However, it may be worth exploring within departments or service areas that have voiced these specific concerns.

Executive Pay in Small Organizations

There is a substantial difference in the mean wages of executives in small and large organizations (those with annual budgets of under $5 million compared to those with budgets of $5 million and over) within the cohort respondent group.

Small Organization Mean Executive Wage	Large Organization Mean Executive Wage

¹³ Job roles categorized as Behavioral and Program seem to pay staff with bilingual skills less than their non-bilingual counterparts, but this may be due to levels within a job category. See Appendix E for more details.

Within the cohort data, White executives at large organizations make more than executives of other racial groups. There were too few executives in small organizations to make wage comparisons by race. Across all organizations, small and large organizations had somewhat different racial distributions: White executives appear to be more highly represented among large organizations, as do Black and Latino executives, while Asian executives are more highly represented in small organizations.

This differs from the cohort dataset, where there were no White executives in the small organizations that provided data. Because of this difference, survey data does not provide conclusive evidence that executive wages differ significantly by race or that supporting small organizations in increasing executive pay would have wide-reaching positive equity impacts.

Despite the differences in executive race data between the cohort and general surveys, it is clear that the difference in executive wages by organization size is large and significant.

Departments and policy makers may want to consider this factor in light of potential compaction impacts if wages within other job categories are raised or the floor for low-wage workers is raised. Targeted analysis may support departments to understand wage compaction among small nonprofits, equity impacts of compaction, and impacts on executive pay.

Impact of Unionization on Wage Structures.

Survey respondents indicated if any portion of their workforce is unionized but were not asked to indicate which employees were in unions. In the total survey population, 123 organizations do not have a union while 29 do. Most of the organizations with unions (22) have budgets of over $5 million and 17 of the 30 provide either Behavioral Health Services or Homelessness and Housing Services.

To see if unionization is correlated with wage levels, the Controller’s Office analyzed wage data in the cohort survey, comparing wages within job categories of employees who work for an organization with a union to employees who work for an organization without a union. Because the majority of organizations with unions are large respondents, this analysis was done only on large organizations to isolate the impact of unions on wages separate from the impact organization size can have on wages.

There is some evidence that within specific job categories, workers at organizations that have unions have a slightly higher pay than those without unions. These categories are Behavioral Health workers, Front Desk Staff, and Site Supervisor related staff. The table below shows the comparison between mean wages for workers in organizations with and without unions.

Job Category	Mean Wage		Number of Large Orgs with Employees in this Category	Number of Employees in this Category
	Large Organizations without Unions	Large Organizations with Unions
Administrative	$42.11	$38.38	20	610
Behavioral	$37.07	$40.55	10	195
Front Desk	$20.98	$22.86	13	279
Site Supervisor	$29.64	$35.09	13	238

Among Behavioral Health Workers, Front Desk workers, and Site Supervisors, workers at organizations that do have unions make between $1.88 and $5.45 more per hour than their counterparts at organizations without unions. Among Administrative staff, this trend is reversed, with staff at organizations without unions making more than their counterparts at organizations with unions.

However, without better understanding of which employees are covered by unions, it is not clear whether the differences in pay are due to unionization, differing job levels between organizations, or other factors not captured in this survey data. This trend also appears to be most applicable to large Behavioral and Homelessness organizations, and because organizations did not report which specific roles or employees are covered by the unions it is not clear that the job categories where these wage differences appear are specifically covered by unions.

Additionally, unions are an operational consideration unique to each organization. Before making policy recommendations related to this data, departments funding nonprofits with unionized staff may want to explore how union agreements impact wage levels and/or may constrain any proposed targeted interventions related to wages.

Conclusions and Next Steps

In May 2022, the Controller's Office released a memo exploring the wage pressures faced by nonprofit contractors providing essential services to San Francisco residents. That memo found that nonprofit workers earning the lowest wages often perform difficult front-line services necessary for program operations. It further identified that low wages in these positions leads to turnover, difficulty retaining staff in critical positions, and difficulty hiring staff in competition with the private sector and government.

Nonprofit service providers and department funders both reported that these wage-related issues result in significant service impacts, including delays in turning over housing units for new residents, higher caseloads, decreased client engagement in services, and under-delivering on units of service. Unfilled positions leave gaps in the social safety net.

The May 2022 memo concluded that the wage issues faced by the City's nonprofit contractors are of a magnitude that standard inflationary increases to contracts will not address and will likely take several years of investment and multiple, complementary strategies to solve.

This report reflects an interest in better understanding the wage-related pressures faced by the City's nonprofit contractors with an equity lens. The findings here substantiate many of the qualitative findings of the May 2022 memo, and results from the survey may inform policy makers and stakeholders in several ways. Each issue is distinct and may require different strategies to address.

Equity Implications

System Implications

Sustainability Implications

Equity Implications

- Findings: The nonprofit workforce is incredibly diverse. Nonprofit organizations prioritize hiring staff that align to the communities they serve, and this is apparent in the demographic trends identified through the survey. However, this workforce has low wages compared to other sectors, and some of the lowest-wage roles within the survey population are also disproportionately BIPOC.
- Implications: The results of this survey could inform City strategies that specifically address the significantly low wages of the BIPOC workforce across the City's nonprofit contractors.

System Implications

- Findings: Survey findings identified that key roles such as Case Management span department funders and service areas and have high vacancy rates. Certain functions are essential to the delivery of a service. Gaps in staffing these key roles not only impair a nonprofit from delivering that particular service but may also impact the service delivery system as a whole. If a nonprofit that plays an essential role within a service delivery system cannot perform its part due to staffing limitations, other parts of the service delivery system suffer.

- Implications: The results of this survey could inform targeted City strategies that provide a critical lifeline for prioritized sectors or service areas, such as homelessness response system providers, behavioral health care providers or childcare or children’s services providers.

Nonprofit Sustainability Implications

- Findings: Though the findings above spotlight key roles with extremely low wages, it is important to consider that the mean wage used for comparison is a mean of wages across a sector that has had its salaries suppressed through restrictive funding models for decades. When comparing certain roles to the private sector or government positions, nonprofits are consistently below the market rate for related positions. A persistent inability to offer competitive salaries to hire and retain staff destabilizes the sector as a whole.
- Implications: The results of this survey could inform City strategies that consider overall nonprofit sustainability with broad and flexible approaches to funding.

Next Steps

In the coming months, the Controller’s Office plans to release a memo of recommendations related to the findings of this report. Additionally, the Controller’s Office will shortly release a complementary wage and staffing analysis of the Mental Health San Francisco program. That analysis pairs data from this survey with other data regarding civil service and nonprofit behavioral health services delivered as part of the Mental Health San Francisco initiative administered by the Department of Public Health. That report will speak more directly to the clinical, behavioral health, and medical roles not discussed in detail in this document.

Appendix A: Methodology

SURVEY DESIGN AND OUTREACH

In May 2022, the Controller's Office issued a memorandum on nonprofit wage pressures. The memo included the following recommendation:

"The City should gather robust data on wages across programs, organizations and sectors, including demographics of the current workforce and the leadership of organizations. A centralized survey of nonprofit contractors should be administered by the Controller's Office in the coming fiscal year to support enhanced analysis and planning for future wage-related initiatives."

In July 2022, the Controller's Office initiated this survey in alignment with the goals of this recommendation, with a goal to create a dataset with detailed information about City-funded nonprofits' wages, worker demographics, and overall financial information.

Survey Development and User Testing

The survey used a two-tiered approach and three survey instruments:

- General Survey: using an online survey instrument developed via Survey Monkey, the General Survey included 27 questions covering:
 - Organization service areas, neighborhoods served, and department funders
 - Organization budget range, proportion of budget covered by CCSF
 - Workforce headcount and number of FTEs; number of FTEs in each wage bucket
 - Proportion of general and executive workforce that are in gender and race/ethnicity category.
- Cohort Survey: using an online survey instrument developed via Survey Monkey with 11 questions, as well as an Excel spreadsheet, the Cohort Survey gathered the following information:
 - Survey Monkey: Organization service areas, neighborhoods served, and department funders
 - Survey Monkey: Organization budget range, proportion of budget covered by CCSF
 - Excel: Job title, job category, FTE, wage, benefits, age, race, sexual orientation, gender, and position requirements for each employee in the organization.
 - Excel: Vacancies, including FTE, job title and category, wage, and position requirements, for all vacant positions in the organization.
 - Cohort participants were given the option of submitting worker-level data on a pre-prepared excel template or on their own spreadsheet.

Nonprofit organizations provided user testing feedback throughout the survey development process, including validating the survey approach and testing the Survey Monkey tools and spreadsheet tool before issuance.

Outreach and Data Collection

Cohort Survey Outreach

The Controller's Office selected specific organizations to participate in the Cohort Survey in order to ensure a diverse sample of nonprofits spanning service areas, department funders, and annual budget sizes provided data. The Controller's Office created the Cohort Survey participant list by reviewing City financial system data, gathering recommendations from departments, including OEWD, HSH, DCYF, and DPH, and leveraging existing relationships with nonprofits.

The Controller's Office contacted 51 organizations; 34 responded with interest in participating, and 29 provided complete data by the survey deadline.

The data collection period was October 3, 2022 through November 11, 2022. During this time frame, several departments were implementing budget initiatives approved in July 2022. In particular, HSH was in process of applying planned wage increases to Front Desk workers within contracts for housing programs during the data collection period. These increases may or may not be reflected in the data collected, depending on the status of contract changes. Similarly, departments may have been in process of implementing contracted changes related to the broader Citywide cost of doing business adjustment during the survey period, and survey data may or may not include such changes.

General Survey Outreach

The goal of the general survey outreach was to gather as many responses as possible by disseminating the survey to all nonprofit organizations that contract with the City. The Controller's Office conducted outreach in three ways:

- The Controller's Office sent out the survey and reminders to a nonprofit distribution list.
- The Controller's Office distributed an outreach email to City departments that have a high volume of nonprofit contracts and requested they disseminate the survey to their portfolio of contracted nonprofits.
- The San Francisco Human Services Network (HSN), an advocacy group of nonprofit service providers, distributed the survey to its members and contacts.

The general survey data collection period was October 10, 2022 through November 11, 2022.

DATA CLEANING AND ANALYSIS

Cohort Survey Analysis

For each cohort organization, the Controller's Office combined the organization-level data from Survey Monkey with the worker-level data from the Excel spreadsheets so that each worker was also associated with all information about the organization they work for. The Controller's Office cleaned and validated the combined data for each of the 29 organizational respondents, formatted the data and uploaded each organization's cleaned results into R statistical software to form a primary dataset used for the entirety of the cohort analysis, where each row represented one worker.

Readers should consider the following information when interpreting the analysis and findings offered in the report:

- The denominator includes all workers with demographic information provided rather than all workers. Workers without information provided in a demographic category (i.e., "data not collected") were removed from the analysis of that demographic.
- The Controller's Office calculated both mean and median wages for each job category. The analysis excluded an extreme outlier (an executive with an hourly wage over $220 per hour) from the mean and median of the Executive job class.
- The Controller's Office used t-tests, clustered t-tests based on organization, and one-way ANOVA (analysis of variance) tests to test for significance in comparisons of wages between groups. Because the cohort is not a random sample of all nonprofit contractors, these statistical tests were used to direct the analysis and inform conclusions, but the Controller's Office did not form conclusions or insights solely based on these tests.
- We analyzed demographic distributions to determine whether workers within a job category had similar demographic representation to the total survey population, or if any race/ethnicities or genders were over or underrepresented. We compared the distributions within each job category to the total cohort survey distributions using chi-squared tests in R. Where any category is reported as under or overrepresented, the results were significant at the $<.05$ level.

Complete Survey Analysis

In order to merge the data from the Cohort Survey with the General Survey, first the Controller's Office used R to summarize the Cohort Survey data to match the format of the General Survey dataset. This included categorizing each worker into either a general or executive job category and categorizing each worker's wage into wage ranges that mirrored those ranges used within Survey Monkey for the General Survey. For each cohort organization, we then calculated:

- Total headcount and total FTEs
- Sum of FTEs in each wage range
- Proportion of general and executive workforces that fall into each gender and race/ethnicity category

The final dataset included data for each cohort and general survey respondent organization, where each row represents one organization. We exported data from R to Excel, and conducted a majority of the summary analysis included in the report using Excel.

Readers should consider the following information when interpreting the analysis and findings offered in the report:

- General Survey respondents provided a total head count and FTE sum for their entire workforce. The survey did not ask respondents to divide these figures between the executive and general workforces. Respondents provided demographic data in the form of percentages of the general and executive workforce that fall into each demographic category. Because of this, all demographic summary statistics reported in this document are averages of percentages. This means that each organization's workforce is weighted the same, regardless of how many employees each one has. This is a limitation of the dataset, and future survey collection efforts should request the number of employees in each demographic category rather than the percentages.

Applicability of Results

The Controller’s Office selected the Cohort Survey participants to target organizations across a range of budget sizes, service areas, and department funders while ensuring sufficient representation of organizations the City invests in at the highest levels (primarily organizations with budgets over $15 million and primarily organizations funded by the largest grant-making departments).

Because the Cohort Survey has characteristics of both a clustered sample and a convenience sample and had a 57% response rate, there is potential selection bias and non-response bias introduced that may impact the applicability of the survey results to both the total survey population and the broader nonprofit contractor population.

A clear example is that Homelessness and Housing organizations and organizations with budgets of $15 million or more are overrepresented in the cohort sample. To account for this potential bias when drawing conclusions, we compared the key characteristics of the cohort organizations or workers to the total survey population. Where characteristics differed, we had two methods for approaching applicability to the broader survey population:

- Conducting additional analysis, such as looking at department funders and secondary service areas in addition to primary service areas.
- Creating crosstabs to compare findings across characteristics such as organization budget size or primary service areas.

Where findings from the cohort survey could not be reasonably applied to the larger survey population, that is noted explicitly in the report.

To further clarify applicability of results, the table below compares results between cohort respondents and all respondents across a variety of measures.

Cohort Data Analysis: Workers by Primary Service Area

Average Percent of Operating Budget Funded by the City by Primary Service Area

The table below, sorted by number of organizations in each service area, shows the total FTEs reported for that service area, and highlights the service area percentages when the average percent of the operating budget funded by the City or the average percent of City-funded FTEs are above the overall average across all service areas.

The reported FTE in the table below represents the total FTE positions an organization has when fully staffed (14,458). This total differs from the reported number of currently occupied FTE positions at surveyed organizations (13,206).

The general survey gathered information on percent of FTE funded by contracts with the City when fully staffed. The cohort survey did not gather this information in the same way, and the 29 cohort respondents are not represented in the averages shown in the table.

SFUSD SCHOOL SAFETY OVERVIEW

The safety of our students and staff while participating in school activities is a top priority at SFUSD.

What we see in our schools is often a reflection of what is happening in our communities at large. Many of our students and families are facing a variety of challenges ranging from access to affordable housing, homelessness, increased economic stress, and community violence.

Many of these challenges are compounded by the residual impact of the pandemic. Educators and staff have noticed impacts from the pandemic in the way our children and youth are able to solve conflicts, respond to one another when harm occurs, and overall social skills development. Families and students furthest from access are disparately impacted, which has led to more complex social-emotional, physical, and mental health needs.

We are committed to emergency preparedness and readiness, timely and effective rapid response to incidents, and are actively strengthening our partnerships with City agencies, private, and philanthropic partners to implement preventative strategies to address the root causes of violence.

Please review the following for more information about the efforts at SFUSD to keep our students safe and well.

Emergency Preparedness and Readiness

SFUSD takes all threats of violence against a school site or the district seriously.

The district has a comprehensive crisis plan in the event of any emergency. Each school site is required by the California Department of Education (CDE) to have a Comprehensive School Site Safety Plan \(CSSP\), and must be updated and reviewed, discussed and approved by the School Site Council (SSC) every year. Sites must complete the plans for approval by the SFUSD B.O.E. by March 1st of each year, and each year, these plans are audited by the CDE.

These plans and security measures may include visitor check-in procedures, locked doors after the start of the school day, surveillance cameras, security aides, and other evidence-based prevention measures.

Matt Wayne, Ed.D.
Superintendent of Schools

555 Franklin Street, Room 301 | San Francisco, CA 94102
PH: (415) 241-6121 | Email: waynem@sfusd.edu

Emergency Response

When a threat of violence is made against a school site or the district (such as an active shooter threat) we follow protocols to respond and address the threat in coordination with the police department. Emergency response protocols can be found in site CSSPs.

In the event of an emergency at a school site and/or during school hours, SFUSD will activate an emergency operations center (EOC) to coordinate crisis response, communication, resource dispatching and tracking, and coordination and joint information activities across different public agencies and departments. EOC is a structure derived from the National Incident Management System.

If an emergency does occur at a school, we will notify parents as quickly as possible using a variety of means including text, email and phone call.

The means and immediacy of communication will depend on the scope of the event and on the potential or actual impact to the safety of the students. While it's difficult to describe all possible scenarios, this guide provides a framework to understand the district's level of notification and systems used to communicate with families. Not every incident will warrant a notification response. Every situation must be assessed based on multiple factors. SFUSD reserves judgment in each case.

Data and Monitoring

SFUSD maintains a tracker of known incidents where the San Francisco Police Department (SFPD) was notified by SFUSD staff or SFUSD affiliates to report an incident. The data is not comprehensive, and there is no longitudinal data available prior to SY 2021-2022. While there were 93 incidents reported in SY 2021-2022, 56 incidents were reported in SY 2022-2023 to-date. There were variations in the number of incidents logged in Fall vs Spring semester. There were more incidents in Fall 2021 than in Spring 2022, whereas there were fewer incidents in Fall 2022 than in Spring 2023.

Student behavioral issues and disciplinary records are reported and tracked by SFUSD's Student Information Systems (SIS) and are protected under the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act \(FERPA\). Student suspension and expulsion data can be found via DataQuest under Suspension Data reports.

Campus Security

In order to best protect students and staff, it is not our practice to publicly share specific school site security features or lack thereof (including security lockets and PA systems). However, as part of the 2016 Bond Program, $10 million was allocated for security upgrades. The District has conducted an inventory of each site to determine the presence of safety and security features and will continue to prioritize capital investments based on this inventory. By December 2023, all security locksets (Columbine locks) will be installed at school sites. The next large project that will commence is the standardization and installation of district standard PA systems at schools.

The Facilities Department is collecting information from all school sites regarding the existing conditions of secured and monitored door buzzers. This is the first step in the overall process to determine which sites need more thorough assessment. The goal is to have the list of sites that require assessment by the end of Spring 2023. At this point there is no implementation schedule for this project as there is no funding allocated for the project assessment phase.

Safe and secure schools is an emergent priority in SFUSD's Facilities Master Plan, which is being accelerated. SFUSD will use all resources available and move as quickly as possible to deliver program objectives in the first three years of the 10-year plan (2024-2027).

In addition to the efforts outlined above, SFUSD continues to audit security camera systems at school sites to determine replacement and repairs needed. With additional funds, SFUSD can invest in equipment, technology and systems to ensure security measures are in place to meet this priority, which include:

- Camera coverage and functioning servers.
- Intruder alarm systems.
- Secured main entry points (i.e., fencing or video intercom systems, door buzzers, or key card access).

Currently, funding is in place to install the security locksets at the sites where they are needed. We are in need of additional funding to ensure all school sites have PA systems, remote door access for high traffic entry points, and the wholesale upgrade and replacement of our security cameras and servers. Each Public Announcement system has an average cost of $500k. Installation at schools with outdated, or nonexistent, PA systems will cost at least $5 million. We intend to include this funding request in the proposal for a 2024 SFUSD General Obligation Bond.

Staff Training

SFUSD offers deescalation training, known as QBS Safety Care, to staff. QBS Safety Care is a crisis prevention intervention training program that teaches staff how to understand, analyze, and respond to unexpected or challenging student behavior. The training is open to all staff, and special education staff, paraeducators, and T10s are prioritized. The primary goal of Safety Care is to prevent harm and increase positive experiences for students and staff. This training instructs staff on useful strategies including reinforcement, verbal de-escalation, and safe physical management. To obtain Safety Care certification, staff must attend both days in full, successfully demonstrate required competencies, and pass a written exam.

SFUSD also manages a resource bank that includes resources that 300+ staff have joined and offer site-based training upon request.

Student Support and Crisis Response

SFUSD's Crisis Response Team coordinates a response to stabilize schools when incidents occur. We have central School Social Workers (SSWs) who go to schools to provide additional care and support with the goal of restoring a school community to baseline functioning in order to assist schools to return to normal routines as quickly and calmly as possible following a major disruption of the educational process.

SFUSD is experiencing a staffing shortage of school social workers and nurses. Vacancy trends are not unique to San Francisco. School districts statewide and nationally are experiencing staffing shortages, and school social workers are no exception. School social workers have to be certified and licensed to serve in SFUSD. While these are important standards, the requirements limit the pool of talent that we can attract, recruit, and place. Given the shortage, SFUSD places new hires at schools on a rolling basis. When making decisions about placement for new hires, SFUSD considers the following:

- School and student characteristics
- Whether or not there is existing school social worker or school nurse capacity on-site

Superintendent of Schools

- Language needs of the school community
- Experience in practicing social work for children and youth in a large, urban setting
- Prioritizing schools serving a diversity of focal student populations with high need (e.g. schools serving large populations of students with IEPs)

Prevention and Student Support

While statewide and national trends associated with staffing vacancies persists, we face constraints associated with implementation across all of our school sites. The District is looking to strengthen our partnership with City agencies to equitably serve students and families. SFUSD is adopting the following preventative strategies to foster positive school culture and climate, support students to navigate their social-emotional well-being, and mitigate conflict escalation:

- Coordinated Care Teams (CCT): Across the district, this integrated strategy consists of student and family support activities and coordination around student's success towards a safer and more equitable school culture and climate. Across the District, CCTs are working on creating safe Wellness spaces where students can drop in and check in with SSWs or mental health providers to access the support they need. These CCT teams also work on identifying students and families that need more access to services or care.
- Central Deployed Resources: To address the impact of staffing vacancies, SFUSD deploys central SSWs who go to schools to provide additional care and support, especially when there are crisis situations that occur at school sites.
- Targeted Support: Through two of our new programs, the Navigator and Middle School Wellness teams, central staff from SFUSD's Student and Family Services Division provide targeted services for our Middle Schools. These new programs greatly benefit our middle school students who otherwise would not have access to mental health services. Students receive 8-10 counseling and/or group sessions per semester. Students can be referred for a variety of reasons including, but not limited to: anxiety, depression, bullying, identity, trauma, anger management, stress management, body image, grief/loss, substance use, school/grade transitions, and relationships.
- SF Wellness Initiative: Through our partnership with the Department of Children, Youth, and Their Families (DCYF) and the San Francisco Department of Public Health, there is a Wellness Center in every SFUSD High School. We are working on expanding the Wellness Center model to middle schools.

- Say Something Anonymous Reporting System: A partnership with the Sandy Hook Promise Foundation. Students at schools that have implemented the program are able to report any type of serious concerns about students who may be struggling or potentially violent. The program has been launched in all high schools. Implementation is expected to be completed by SY 2023-2024, when all schools serving 6th-12th grade students (i.e. K-8, Middle and High Schools) will complete training.

Outside-of-school incidents

SFUSD only has jurisdiction if an incident occurs at school or is related to school activities. For incidents that occur outside of school grounds, off-school hours, and are not related to school activities, SFUSD is in coordination with city agencies such as SFPD, the Department of Children, Youth, and their Families (DCYF) to implement strategies to better support youth and their families.

Lastly, the SFUSD Student and Family Handbook outlines expectations for student behavior in school, and we want to ensure we are teaching students to model appropriate behavior when out of school as well. Engaging in any form of violence or a threatening manner will not be tolerated, and we want students to know there will be consequences even if such instances occur outside of school.

Members of the SFMTA Board and the SFCTA Commission

SAVE MUNI OPPOSES RICHMOND QUICK BUILD PROJECT

SaveMUNI, San Francisco's only independent transit advocacy organization, is writing to oppose SFMTA's Quick Build project on Geary Boulevard from 15th Avenue to 29th Avenue.

While dedicated lanes, where appropriate, can improve bus service, this project will do more harm than good. It should not go forward.

This project will remove up to 20 % of the parking on each block, which will have a devastating effect on small businesses along Geary which are still recovering from the impact of the Covid crisis. The harmful effect of this Quick Build on the Richmond district merchants far outweighs the minimal time savings for a small number of bus riders in the outer Richmond.

Instead of a misguided Quick Build project, SaveMUNI supports implementation of traffic signal prioritization for Muni buses which will improve transit times with minimal disruption to businesses along Geary Boulevard.

We look forward to a more collaborative public process to design for street safety, parking and bus lanes along Geary Boulevard in tandem with the extensive sewer and water line repairs that the San Francisco` Public Utilities Commission will be undertaking in the near future.

Sincerely,

Bob Feinbaum

Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen of San Francisco, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark designation for the theater. This amendment, requiring the Castro Theatre to preserve the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style", will tether this private business to an outdated and unviable business model.

Another Planet has outlined a thoughtful renovation plan that includes accessibility and ventilation upgrades, restoring the art deco ceiling and chandelier, preserving the interior murals, and transitioning the orchestra level into a tiered floor to maintain existing seated programming such as film, lectures and choral performances, while allowing the venue to also be used for standing room concerts, celebratory events, and other community-focused programming.

Opponents of the renovation plan would like it to be thought that they speak for all Castro Merchants, film-lovers, members of the LGBTQ community, or neighborhood residents. They do not speak for me, and I strongly believe they do not speak for the majority of the aforementioned groups they claim to represent.

The renovation plan has strong support among Castro Merchants, various film festivals, members of the LGBTQ community, and neighborhood residents, who are excited to see a treasured neighborhood landmark preserved for future generations. I have faith that Another Planet Entertainment will be excellent stewards of not only the Castro Theatre, but also the rich history it represents to cinephiles, the LGBTQ Community, and the neighborhood.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Respectfully,

Subject: Another Neighbor in Support of APE's Plans to Renovate the Castro Theater
Date: Wednesday, April 26, 2023 3:39:16 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

I'm a gay Castro resident who lives a few blocks from the Castro Theatre. I'm writing to express my strong support for APE's plans to renovate the theater. Moreover, I am writing to oppose moves to require that the sloped floor and fixed seats must remain.

The vitality of the Castro neighborhood is deeply personal for me. I moved to the Bay Area when I was 18 to find a welcoming community. When I finally had the opportunity to buy a home, I chose to do so in the Castro because of the strength of the neighborhood's LGBTQ community. I want to see the neighborhood adapt and thrive to continue to serve as a beacon for queer people around the world.

I am strongly opposed to the proposition that the theater's sloped floor and fixed seats must remain. My concern is that preventing adaptation of the space will result in continued underutilization that is harmful to the neighborhood and that leads to further deterioration of the historical building without a sustainable business model that can support reinvestment.

In my view it is incredibly important to allow standing-room, live music events at the theater. Why? We've all seen that people are increasingly staying at home to watch movies and TV in lieu of spending nights and weekends at the cinema. The trend is years in the making and undeniable. Standing-room, live music events are one form of entertainment that continues to draw large crowds, even as movie attendance shrinks. Accommodating more live music events at the theater would anchor the business plan financially and breathe additional vitality into existing businesses in the neighborhood.

While everyone knows that live music can also be performed in front of seated audiences, much of the music that speaks to young people, in general, and young queer people, in particular, is largely played to standing-room crowds. It's a magical experience that one cannot get staring at a screen on one's couch to rub shoulders, dancing in a venue to live music. It's why live music in standing-room venues is thriving while in person movies lose market share to streaming.

The next time I go to see the queer artist Christine and the Queens perform, I hope I don't need to leave the neighborhood to do so but can see him at the Castro Theater. I do not want to be told by film buffs who do not live in the neighborhood that I cannot. "Save the seats" is not a compromise and it's not being driven by the LGBTQ community or the neighborhood. Please don't encourage or force APE to endlessly negotiate with film buffs in the name of community engagement. These groups are a special interest with a point of view. This point of view does not entitle them to take over a private business by making the owners' plans for the use of their own building unviable. It also does not entitle them to block others' enjoyment of the theater by locking it in as a less flexible venue.

If the renovation moves forward as planned, the theater will continue to host seated events, including movie screenings, film festivals, and comedy shows. There will be movable seating and tiered floors that offer a wonderful viewing experience. APE has made real compromises to modify its original plans to ensure this. The space will be more versatile to be able to host a wider range of events, which is a genuine compromise and, speaking as a member of the community, exactly what I want to see.

Please stand with members of the LGBTQ community who want to see the theater thrive for future generations, looking ahead and adapting, and standing on its own feet as a profitable family-owned business. Thanks for your consideration of my point of view and that of my neighbors.

Best,
Steven Murphy

Dear Board of Supervisors,

My name's Bret, and my boyfriend and I live in the Castro area. The neighborhood is struggling – there are shuttered businesses everywhere you look. We desperately need more foot traffic in the area, and I believe APE's plans to make the Castro Theater a venue for film and music will be enormously beneficial. Just yesterday I saw that Berkeley's last remaining movie theater is at threat of shutting down, having operated at a loss since the pandemic. Rather than binding the Castro Theater to a faltering industry through fixed seating, we need flexibility to adapt.

It was also important to me to push back against the idea that the Castro community opposes APE. This does not reflect my experience at all. APE's renovation plans have broad support amongst queer residents and merchants in the Castro. I frankly don't know anyone who thinks landmarking the seats will be beneficial to our community. So I'm asking you: please support our neighborhood, support LGBTQ residents and businesses, and support vibrant film and music programming. Vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original “presence of seating” language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen of San Francisco, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark designation for the theater. This amendment, requiring the Castro Theatre to preserve the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style", will tether this private business to an outdated and unviable business model.

Another Planet has outlined a thoughtful renovation plan that includes accessibility and ventilation upgrades, restoring the art deco ceiling and chandelier, preserving the interior murals, and transitioning the orchestra level into a tiered floor to maintain existing seated programming such as film, lectures and choral performances, while allowing the venue to also be used for standing room concerts, celebratory events, and other community-focused programming.

Opponents of the renovation plan would like it to be thought that they speak for all Castro Merchants, film-lovers, members of the LGBTQ community, or neighborhood residents. They do not speak for me, and I strongly believe they do not speak for the majority of the aforementioned groups they claim to represent.

The renovation plan has strong support among Castro Merchants, various film festivals, members of the LGBTQ community, and neighborhood residents, who are excited to see a treasured neighborhood landmark preserved for future generations. I have faith that Another Planet Entertainment will be excellent stewards of not only the Castro Theatre, but also the rich history it represents to cinephiles, the LGBTQ Community, and the neighborhood.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Respectfully,

Jonathan Pan

Board of Supervisors,

As a long time owner of an anchor Castro business, concerned citizen of San Francisco, and member of the LGBTQ+ community I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre. I believe the city and neighborhood groups getting in the way of APE taking over the theater would be the single biggest mistake I've seen made in the Castro in the 20+ years I've worked in the neighborhood. If APE is to pull out of the project I believe it could be a death blow to a neighborhood already deeply troubled with vacancies and the issues that follow them.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark designation for the theater. Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen of San Francisco, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

I'm tired of seeing a neighborhood that is supposed to be a safe haven for LGBTQ flounder with closing businesses and sad states of affair with street safety. I'm tired of people that barely live in the area holding it hostage. Please help create an amazing place for young lgbtq+ folks to connect by allowing it to be a mixed-use venue per APE's plans. I have yet to meet a single queer person under the age of 50 in about 200 of my friends who want the theater to stay movie-only.

We just want it to be a fun place for our community to gather and a beacon of Civic pride! APE has done amazing things with all of the venues it has inherited.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Lastly, my husband and I purchased a home in the Castro last year and we're saddened to see San Francisco limp back to life while cities like NYC and others have bounced back in force. We attribute much of this to our politicians and board that have made SF a less desirable place to live and do business. This must change, and common sense must be restored.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen of San Francisco, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

I write to you as a San Francisco resident and voter, a proud member of the LGBT community and a supporter of APE's proposal for future of the Castro Theater. I want to see the Castro Theater as a vibrant venue that can host a wide range of events, enliven the neighborhood and contribute to our shared culture. I believe that APE's proposal is the best way to do this. I have a strong affection for the Castro Theater. I've seen films there as part of the SF Film Festival and Frameline. I've also seen my chorus brothers from the San Francisco Gay Men's Chorus perform there.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark designation for the theater. Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen of San Francisco, and resident of the Castro, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark designation for the theater. This amendment, requiring the Castro Theatre to preserve the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style", will tether this private business to an outdated and unviable business model.

Another Planet has outlined a thoughtful renovation plan that includes accessibility and ventilation upgrades, restoring the art deco ceiling and chandelier, preserving the interior murals, and transitioning the orchestra level into a tiered floor to maintain existing seated programming such as film, lectures and choral performances, while allowing the venue to also be used for standing room concerts, celebratory events, and other community-focused programming.

Opponents of the renovation plan would like it to be thought that they speak for all Castro Merchants, film-lovers, members of the LGBTQ community, or neighborhood residents. They do not speak for me, and I strongly believe they do not speak for the majority of the aforementioned groups they claim to represent.

The renovation plan has strong support among Castro Merchants, various film festivals, members of the LGBTQ community, and neighborhood residents, who are excited to see a treasured neighborhood landmark preserved for future generations. I have faith that Another Planet Entertainment will be excellent stewards of not only the Castro Theatre, but also the rich history it represents to cinephiles, the LGBTQ Community, and the neighborhood.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating” language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Respectfully,

Andrew Raffo

On a personal note, I appreciate the concern that Another Planet is a large company trying to make a profit, but we can look at what they have done to the Fox Theatre in Oakland. They not only preserved the history of the building, but also gave it new life. The Fox Theatre is one of my favorite places to see a live performance in the Bay Area, and I would love to see Another Planet have the opportunity to create something similar to bring new life to Castro Theatre and surrounding neighborhood.

Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned member of the LGBTQ+ community in San Francisco, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark designation for the theater. This amendment, requiring the Castro Theatre to preserve the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style", will tether this private business to an outdated and unviable business model.

Another Planet has outlined a thoughtful renovation plan that includes accessibility and ventilation upgrades, restoring the art deco ceiling and chandelier, preserving the interior murals, and transitioning the orchestra level into a tiered floor to maintain existing seated programming such as film, lectures and choral performances, while allowing the venue to also be used for standing room concerts, celebratory events, and other community-focused programming.

Opponents of the renovation plan would like it to be thought that they speak for all Castro Merchants, film-lovers, members of the LGBTQ community, or neighborhood residents. They do not speak for me, and I strongly believe they do not speak for the majority of the aforementioned groups they claim to represent.

The renovation plan has strong support among Castro Merchants, various film festivals, members of the LGBTQ community, and neighborhood residents, who are excited to see a treasured neighborhood landmark preserved for future generations. I have faith that Another Planet Entertainment will be excellent stewards of not only the Castro Theatre, but also the rich history it represents to cinephiles, the LGBTQ Community, and the neighborhood.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Respectfully,

Adrián Pérez Orozco

Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen of San Francisco, born in SF and current Castro resident, and member of the LGBTQ+ community, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark definition of the theater. This amendment, requiring the Castro Theatre to preserve the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style", will tether this private business to an outdated business model.

Another Planet has outlined a thoughtful renovation plan that includes accessibility and ventilation upgrades, restoring the art deco ceiling and chandelier, preserving the interior murals, and transitioning the orchestra level into a tiered floor to maintain existing seated programming such as film, lectures and choral performances, while allowing the venue to also be used for standing room concerts, celebratory events, and other community-focused programming. Queer music and art deserves a best-in-class venue in the Castro to further San Francisco's role as a haven for the LGBTQ+ community and its culture.

Opponents of the renovation plan would like it to be thought that they speak for all Castro Merchants, film-lovers, members of the LGBTQ community, or neighborhood residents. They do not speak for me, and I strongly believe they do not speak for the majority of the aforementioned groups they claim to represent. I believe you know that, too.

The renovation plan has strong support among Castro Merchants, various film festivals, members of the LGBTQ community and neighborhood residents, who are excited to see a treasured neighborhood landmark preserved for future generations. I have faith that Another Planet Entertainment will be excellent stewards of not only the Castro Theatre, but also the rich history it represents to cinephiles, the LGBTQ Community, and the neighborhood. They have a proven track record of supporting both the arts and its venues generally, and queer artists in particular.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Respectfully,

Alex Rafter

Dear Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen and proud resident of San Francisco for 23 years, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

I am worried that without this restoration, this private business will be forced to use an outdated and unviable business model. Simply said, we would be setting up the owners to fail and risk the future of the theater all together. It is heartbreaking to see the number of old theaters in SF that have closed or remained vacant for decades. We need to allow investments and modernization to preserve these gems. That includes changing the business model too.

Another Planet has outlined a thoughtful renovation plan that ensures continued success of the venue. The renovation plan has strong support among Castro Merchants, various film festivals, members of the LGBTQ community, and neighborhood residents, who are excited to see a treasured neighborhood landmark preserved for future generations. I have faith that Another Planet Entertainment, in partnership with the neighborhood, will be excellent stewards of not only the Castro Theatre, but also the rich history it represents to cinephiles, the LGBTQ Community, and the neighborhood.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Thank you for your time and for all you do!

Best,

The Castro, like many parts of San Francisco, has been hit hard with multiple business closures since the pandemic. Please do not seal the fate of the Castro Theatre by restricting its ability to stay relevant and viable. Another Planet's proposal will breathe much needed life into the Castro, benefiting members of our community and other Castro businesses.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen of San Francisco, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

I live in the Castro, just two blocks from the theatre at Noe and 17th St. I walk around the neighborhood daily and witness the Castro as a shell of its former self. I see empty businesses, streets littered with refuse, tents on sidewalks, and a liveliness that screams more of a neighborhood's struggle to survive than strength. By kneecapping the Castro theatre's flexibility to host events, you will be expediting the downward spiral of this neighborhood. Many of the opponents of this restoration plan do not live in the Castro, and they do not experience what our residents do. Let the theatre be restored and new money to flow into the businesses nearby. Let the Castro get its pulse back. Please allow APE's plan to continue as proposed.

Board of Supervisors,

I am a member of the LGBT+ community and deeply upset about how The Castro Theater revitalization has been handled. In order for The Castro Theater and neighborhood to survive another 100 years, modern changes must be made. Another Planet is willing to spend the money, time, and effort to revitalize the space for the LGBT+ community. Concerts, drag shows, LGBT+ movies, parties could all be held at The Castro Theater. The theater can continue to be a central event space for my community, yet the Board of Supervisors continue to obstruct. I am not shocked at the spiteful tactics Supervisor Preston and Supervisor Peskin have used to politicise this decision yet again with their phony landmark designation of seats. The fact that the Land Use Committee is continuing to pine over this decision and obstruct development in a much needed neighborhood is deeply disturbing. It's time for the BoS to step aside and allow Another Planet to bring the Castro Theater into the modern age so my community can continue to thrive in The Castro.

Opponents of the renovation plan would like it to be thought that they speak for all Castro Merchants, film-lovers, members of the LGBTQ community, or neighborhood residents. They do not speak for me, and I strongly believe they do not speak for the majority of the aforementioned groups they claim to represent.

The renovation plan has strong support among Castro Merchants, various film festivals, members of the LGBTQ community, and neighborhood residents, who are excited to see a treasured neighborhood landmark preserved for future generations. I have faith that Another Planet Entertainment will be excellent stewards of not only the Castro Theatre, but also the rich history it represents to cinephiles, the LGBTQ Community, and the neighborhood.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Respectfully,

Craig Foy

Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen of San Francisco, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark designation for the theater. This amendment, requiring the Castro Theatre to preserve the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style", will tether this private business to an outdated and unviable business model.

Another Planet has outlined a thoughtful renovation plan that includes accessibility and ventilation upgrades, restoring the art deco ceiling and chandelier, preserving the interior murals, and transitioning the orchestra level into a tiered floor to maintain existing seated programming such as film, lectures and choral performances, while allowing the venue to also be used for standing room concerts, celebratory events, and other community-focused programming.

Board of Supervisors,

As a concerned citizen of San Francisco, I write to you today to express my strong support for Another Planet Entertainment (APE) and their proposed restoration of the Castro Theatre.

Like I said on the call last Monday, as a resident of The Castro and a member of the LGBTQ+ Community, I support APE's proposed restoration and am against the fixed seating landmark designation.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark designation for the theater. This amendment, requiring the Castro Theatre to preserve the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style", will tether this private business to an outdated and unviable business model.

Another Planet has outlined a thoughtful renovation plan that includes accessibility and ventilation upgrades, restoring the art deco ceiling and chandelier, preserving the interior murals, and transitioning the orchestra level into a tiered floor to maintain existing seated programming such as film, lectures and choral performances, while allowing the venue to also be used for standing room concerts, celebratory events, and other community-focused programming.

Opponents of the renovation plan would like it to be thought that they speak for all Castro Merchants, film-lovers, members of the LGBTQ community, or neighborhood residents. They do not speak for me, and I strongly believe they do not speak for the majority of the aforementioned groups they claim to represent.

The renovation plan has strong support among Castro Merchants, various film festivals, members of the LGBTQ community, and neighborhood residents, who are excited to see a treasured neighborhood landmark preserved for future generations. I have faith that Another Planet Entertainment will be excellent stewards of not only the Castro Theatre, but also the rich history it represents to cinephiles, the LGBTQ Community, and the neighborhood.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Respectfully,

Christian Bellman

Subject: Castro Theatre: Support our Neighborhood - Reject Fixed Seating in Landmark Proposal
Date: Sunday, April 23, 2023 7:17:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Board of Supervisors,

My name is Casey McKerchie, I am a resident of District 8, live Mission/Dolores, and have called San Francisco home for ~12 years.

I support APE's proposal to renovate the Castro Theatre, and I oppose the amendment to landmark fixed seating in the orchestra section. This topic is important to me because I am LGBTQ, visit the neighborhood regularly, and deeply care about the long term health of our city.

No doubt each of you have read San Francisco Proposed Five-Year Financial Plan that was published earlier this year. As a reminder, the city is projecting revenue losses this year, miniscule growth in future years and expenses significantly outpace revenues for all years forecasted. We are projected to have ~500MM deficit by the end of fiscal '25, and >1.25B deficit by the end of '28. These losses must be addressed proactively. We must take action and move our city forward.

While the economic impact report for APE's proposal is not yet available, based on the public information available we can expect to see the following impacts:

Increased Tax Revenue directly from the theater

Increased Tax revenue from nearby businesses as a result of increased foot traffic

Increased SFMTA ridership

Increase in Jobs - both full time and contingent, from the theater itself and nearby businesses.

APE's plan is aligned with the City's long term strategy to achieve an equitable and vibrant economic recovery for businesses in neighborhood corridors.

I urge you to ask yourself the question, how does keeping the seats in the orchestra align with the city and my community's long term needs?

We must find a way to both honor our history and find ways to move forward as a community and city. I implore you to vote no on the amendment to landmark fixed seating in the orchestra section.

This restoration work, which would ensure the future of the building as a live events and film space, is imperiled by the Land Use and Transportation Committee's amendment to the landmark definition of the theater. This amendment, requiring the Castro Theatre to preserve the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style", will tether this private business to an outdated business model.

Another Planet has outlined a thoughtful renovation plan that includes accessibility and ventilation upgrades, restoring the art deco ceiling and chandelier, preserving the interior murals, and transitioning the orchestra level into a tiered floor to maintain existing seated programming such as film, lectures and choral performances, while allowing the venue to also be used for standing room concerts, celebratory events, and other community-focused programming.

Opponents of the renovation plan would like it to be thought that they speak for all Castro Merchants, film-lovers, members of the LGBTQ community, or neighborhood residents. They do not speak for me, and I strongly believe they do not speak for the majority of the aforementioned groups they claim to represent.

The renovation plan has strong support among Castro Merchants, various film festivals, members of the LGBTQ community and neighborhood residents, who are excited to see a treasured neighborhood landmark preserved for future generations. I have faith that Another Planet Entertainment will be excellent stewards of not only the Castro Theatre, but also the rich history it represents to cinephiles, the LGBTQ Community, and the neighborhood.

Please vote to replace the "raked floor and fixed seating in a 'movie palace' style" language in the amended landmark designation with the original "presence of seating" language proposed by the Historic Preservation Commission.

Respectfully,

I am a resident of District 7 in the Inner Sunset, and the Castro Theater is my favorite place in SF.

I've spent countless evenings at the Castro watching movies, live performances, and SF Sketchfest shows in a warm, safe, and magical space surrounded by my community. Spending hours in the theater at double or triple features or all day during the SF Silent Film Festival (with live music!) are some of my favorite experiences.

I am writing to the Land Use and Transportation Committee to express my support for the Draft Landmark Designation Ordinance for the Castro Theatre, with a request to update a specific phrase that will ensure the text of the ordinance accurately reflects the findings in the Landmark Designation Fact Sheet, which the Historic Preservation Commission approved on February 1, 2023.

The Landmark Designation Fact Sheet outlines the importance of the movie palace-style seating as a defining characteristic of the space as a historic cinema. Additionally, it demonstrates the significance of the orchestra configuration and the movie-palace seating for film heritage and LGBTQ intangible cultural heritage. With that in mind, I am requesting that the Committee clarify the language, updating “presence of seating” to the more accurate “fixed theatrical seating configured in movie-palace style.”

With this change, the Committee will protect the spirit of the venue that we hope to preserve, and ensure it continues to function as a cultural hub and community space.

Thank you,
Kristin Lipska

Dear Supervisor, Melgar:

Late Thursday, April 20, 2023, Felton Institute received a notification of a Tuesday, April 25, 2023 hearing at the Board of Supervisors, with a request that we appear at that hearing. This notification came as a surprise to us, as we were unaware you were scheduling a hearing specifically regarding our non-profit and we are unaware of what you refer to as an "operational impact of labor disputes." The last communication I received from you or your office was on March 2, 2023, when you sent us an email kindly acknowledging the receipt of the documents you had previously requested of us. We would expect that if you were planning to hold a hearing specifically about our organization, and requesting our participation, that you would notify us more than two working days in advance of that meeting being held.

Supervisor, my staff and I would be glad to participate in a hearing at the Board of Supervisors to discuss the work we do to serve many of San Francisco's most disadvantaged residents, as well as our relationship with our valued employees - including the discussions you appear to seek, surrounding union organizing activities. But of course, we'd want to be well-prepared for such a meeting. With respect, we can't effectively participate in tomorrow's hearing - there's simply not enough time to well prepare for it, especially given that we have received no notice from you about any specific issues you want us to address. (And personally, I'm scheduled for a set of medical appointments this afternoon, the result of which could lead to further appointments tomorrow and through this week.)

In order to have an effective discussion of any issues causing you concern, please reschedule this hearing to some point in the near future - perhaps a few weeks from now. In the interim, please direct your team to work with mine to collectively discuss what you'd like to cover in this hearing, so we can prepare the appropriate information, and well use the time we all spend at this hearing.

Finally, let me reiterate that some of Felton Institute's employees are union members. Felton has worked in partnership with the Unions representing our employees for more than 20 years of operations. We strongly believe and fully support our employees who are eligible pursue their right to join the union. As you may know, Felton Institute is in active discussions with SEIU 1021 at present, and we are working toward productive agreements.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Hello,

My name is Jessica Chizen, and I am a speech-language pathologist in San Francisco who cares immensely about people who stutter. My job is to help children who stutter, and their families, better understand stuttering, create more ease in communication, and educate others in their community about what it means to stutter. It is not my job as a speech therapist to "make stuttering go away." That is old news and no longer my priority. Instead, today I have the privilege of working with smart, courageous children and teens who stutter and help inspire overall communication confidence in a world where people who stutter are not always treated equally.

It is one small step that San Francisco declared Stuttering Awareness Week last year, and I ask the State of California to follow suit and do the right thing. We must show our communities that stuttering matters. Communication matters. Communication confidence matters.

Thank you,

Jessica Chizen

TO: STATE, CITY AND LOCAL OFFICIALS

NOTICE OF PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY'S REQUEST TO INCREASE RATES FOR A DAIRY BIOMETHANE PILOT PROJECT APPLICATION (A.23-04-005)

RECEIVED
BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
COUNTY OF MERCED
2023 APR 23 PM 4:16

Acronyms you need to know

PG&E: Pacific Gas and Electric Company

CPUC: California Public Utilities Commission

BY JA BOS-11

Why am I receiving this notice?

On April 5, 2023, PG&E filed a Dairy Biomethane Pilot Project application with the CPUC. In this application, PG&E is proposing approximately $8.7 million to support state-wide clean energy goals and the reduction of methane emissions. The proposals in this application are specifically to support a dairy biomethane pilot project in Merced. The costs included in the application are costs incurred by the project developer over and above the amounts initially authorized by the CPUC. If these additional project costs are determined by the CPUC to be reasonable, PG&E will reimburse the project developer.

Why is PG&E requesting this?

The dairy biomethane pilot project in Merced was selected by the CPUC's Dairy Pilot Project Selection Committee as part of the state's strategy to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, including methane. Legislation adopted in 2016 requires the state to reduce methane emissions from dairy sources and other livestock sectors by 40 percent by the year 2030. The dairy biomethane pilot project in Merced and others like it will significantly reduce greenhouse gas emissions from animal manure into the atmosphere by safely converting the emissions into biomethane for use in natural gas pipelines. PG&E is filing this application to initiate the CPUC's reasonableness review because the project is in PG&E's service territory and it is interconnected to PG&E's gas transmission system.

How could this affect my monthly gas rates?

Bundled gas customers receive transmission, distribution, and procurement services from PG&E. PG&E is proposing to recover the costs included in this application in gas rates over a one-year period beginning in either 2024 or 2025, depending on when the CPUC issues a final decision.

Based on rates currently in effect, the bill for a typical non-CARE residential customer averaging 33 therms per month would increase from $67.89 to $67.93, or 0.1%.

Actual impacts will vary depending on usage and are subject to CPUC regulatory approval.

How does the rest of this process work?

This application will be assigned to a CPUC Administrative Law Judge who will consider proposals and evidence presented during the formal hearing process. The Administrative Law Judge will issue a proposed decision that may adopt PG&E's application, modify it, or deny it. Any CPUC Commissioner may sponsor an alternate decision with a different outcome. The proposed decision, and any alternate decisions, will be discussed and voted upon by the CPUC Commissioners at a public CPUC Voting Meeting.

Parties to the proceeding may review PG&E's application, including the Public Advocates Office. The Public Advocates Office is an independent consumer advocate within the CPUC that represents customers to obtain the lowest possible rate for service consistent with reliable and safe service levels. For more information about the Public Advocates Office, please call 1-415-703-1584, email: PublicAdvocatesOffice@cpuc.ca.gov or visit PublicAdvocates.cpuc.ca.gov.

Increase traffic & create safety risks (Muni is NOT going to add more trains)

Adversely impact residential/neighborhood parking even more

Adversely impact the Local Eco-System

Increase unoccupied residential & commercial space resulting in derelict structures

Have a negative psychological impact on the Community

Put people out of work at Sloat Garden Center & potentially other local small businesses

If I were Carmignani and I ended up with traumatic brain injury like he did, I will sue City Hall; I will sue each and every single one of you for your negligence and incompetence. Heck, if your criminals sue while fighting police arrest and get millions of dollars while playing the victim, then Carmignani sure is a victim!

And feel free to take this up to head honcho pro-criminal Gavin Newsom and his right hand Rob Bonta. Go all the way up to Biden if you have to. I left the Dem party because the Dem party is no longer the party we all used to know with all this woke shit.

Bear spray or not, this is all of you public officials at the City Hall's fault. Your INACTION is disgusting! We have no recourse nor rights while the menace of society, that WE pay for for them to exist, get to do whatever, however, whenever, and to whom they want! There is NO excuse that we are left to fend for ourselves as these drug addicts shoot drugs blocking entries to homes and businesses while all of you have all the excuses in the world for your INCOMPETENCE. You add salt to injury when you continue to scapegoat those who are fighting back for their rights to their property and their place of business such as Carmignani and Collier Gwin! You are all DISGUSTING!

Brooke - I say you drop this charge against Carmignani and Gwin, and make a public announcement by accepting all of the negligence and tje shortcomings coming from the City Hall for why this is happening in the first place! That is how you will gain our respect! INSANE!

Property owners and business owners need to stop paying property taxes and business taxes until you all straighten your mess out at the City Hall and you start providing services to secure our rights as taxpayers!

Carmignani wrote, "Both my mother and I called 911 to report that three homeless individuals had set up an encampment at the entryway to her residence. My family has had prior interactions with these individuals, who have made repeated threats of violence to my family members. As a result, my mother did not feel safe leaving her home. Neither SFPD nor any of the city's various homeless service providers responded to our 911 calls that morning. Throughout that day, my mother and girlfriend informed me that these individuals were still in front of her house, had been openly consuming drugs, and had exhibited extremely aggressive behavior towards passersby."

RE: THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE BEHAVIORAL HEALTH COMMISSION MAY NOT PROVIDE A PLACE FOR ITS OWN REGULAR MEETINGS, WHILE ACTING ON BEHALF OF THE COMMISSION, AT A REGULAR MEETING HELD AT THE PLACE TO BE PROVIDED.

Honorable Chair Peskin:

As related in my correspondence of yesterday, another deadline has passed and the Behavioral Health Commission has not noticed a special meeting of its Executive Committee. Consequently, it is unlikely that any of its committees will be able to meet regularly on May 9 without violating Cal. Gov't Code § 54954(a). (I am informed that meeting space is unavailable at 1380 Howard St., which would allow for shorter notice.)

Deputy Director Marlo Simmons of Behavioral Health Services recently informed me that she had been advised by Deputy City Attorney Virginia Elizondo that the Executive Committee could pass a motion providing places for regular meetings of the Commission and its committees at a regular meeting held at the place to be provided for the Executive Committee thereby. This cannot be the law. If the Executive Committee could provide a place for regular meetings “retroactively” in this way, not only would the extent of the retroactivity be arbitrary and render this subdivision null in the extreme, but the Executive Committee’s decision would be meaningless for the following reason. If the provision of the place where the vote was taken as the place for regular meetings of the Executive Committee were voted down, then the very act of voting it down would be an action taken in violation of the Brown Act with the intent to deprive the public of information to which each member of the Executive Committee present for the action would know the public to be entitled under the Brown Act, namely the provision of a place for the regular meeting of the Executive Committee, because the action would be taken at a regular meeting, the place for which had not been provided pursuant to Cal. Gov't Code § 54954(a). The meeting could not then be conceived as special, because, even if the Commission had not provided the time of the meeting as the time for regular meetings of the Executive Committee on Dec. 17, 2022, the Executive Committee had regularly noticed all of its meetings at this time for the approximately the past year. Consequently, each member of the Executive Committee would be guilty of a misdemeanor under id. § 54959. Because the members present at the regular meeting of the Executive Committee at which this vote was taken would be voting misdemeanor guilt upon themselves if they voted the measure down, the vote would be meaningless; approval of the proposal would only mean that the members did not want to be guilty of misdemeanors. This cannot have been the intent of the legislature in approving the requirement in id. § 54954(a). “The law neither does not requires idle acts.” Cal. Civ. Code § 3532. Therefore, Cal. Gov't Code § 54954(a) cannot allow retroactive provision of a place for regular meetings at a regular meeting held at the place to be provided, and Virginia Elizondo must be mistaken.

The same action taken at a special meeting of the Executive Committee would entail no such problem, of course, because a positive vote would not be necessary to secure the legality of the meeting at which the vote was taken.

It must not be inferred from my earlier correspondence, dated Apr. 20, 2023, that the ability of the Executive Committee to act on behalf of the Commission in this area, with ratification by the Commission at the next regular or special meeting of the Commission, allows this result. If the Commission ratifies the action of its Executive Committee at a regular meeting of the Commission held at the place provisionally provided by the Executive Committee, it is not the same as the Executive Committee acting originally, on behalf of the Commission, at a regular meeting of the Executive Committee, held at the place to be provided thereby. In the latter case, as explained above, the place for regular meeting has no validity until the Executive Committee retroactively provides it. Consequently, if the proposal were defeated, the very defeat of it would be a violation of the Brown Act, bringing misdemeanor penalties on the members present. On the other hand, the Commission may ratify the provision of a place for regular meetings of the Commission at a regular meeting held at the place provisionally provided because it had been provided by the Executive Committee acting on behalf of the Commission. Rejecting ratification would not destroy the Executive Committee’s earlier and provisional provision. It would only mean, by revoking the earlier and provisional provision effective at the time of the vote, that the presiding officer would have to rule the remaining items on the agenda for the regular meeting held at the place only provisionally provided out of order for lack of compliance with Cal. Gov't Code § 54954(a). RONR (12th ed.) 10:26(1) (main motions).

RE: THE BEHAVIORAL HEALTH COMMISSION IS AGAIN POISED TO VIOLATE CAL. GOV'T CODE § 54954(a) IN ITS VERY EFFORT TO COMPLY THEREWITH .

Honorable Chair Peskin:

The Ralph M. Brown Act and the San Francisco Sunshine Ordinance both depend upon and incorporate parliamentary procedure. One of points where the two intersect is in the parliamentary rule that no main motion is in order that conflicts with federal, state, or local procedural law, RONR (12th ed.) 10:26(1), such as the Brown Act or the Sunshine Ordinance. If a main motion that is in conflict with either or both of these is not ruled out of order by the chair, and no member of the deliberative assembly raises a point of order as soon as the chair places the question before the assembly for debate and secondary motions, then nothing further may be done about it until the assembly finally either approves or rejects the main motion. Id. 23:5. If the assembly approves a motion that was in proposed violation of the Brown Act or the Sunshine Ordinance when it was introduced, then the motion is null, void, and subject to challenge on this basis through raising another point of order at any time that the motion remains in effect. Id. 23:6(c).

In this way, everything that occurs during an entire meeting may become subject to challenge, even years after the fact, because some procedural rule regarding that particular item or the meeting as a whole, such as a notice requirement, was not satisfied. Some rules, however, have even broader application than an entire meeting. Cal. Gov't Code § 54954(a), for instance, applies to an entire class of meetings of a legislative body, i.e., regular ones, which class may make up all the meetings that a legislative body ever has. This subsection relevantly requires that “[e]ach legislative body of a local agency . . . shall provide, by ordinance, resolution, bylaws, or by whatever other rule is required for the conduct of business by that body, the time and place for holding regular meetings. . . .” (The elided portions state, in effect, that times and places of regular meetings of advisory committees or standing committees must be provided by the top-level body that created them.) If no motion satisfying this section is passed, then all motions passed at all regular meetings of the legislative body in question are null, void, and subject to challenge therefor, subject to the rules described above.

There is still more. This rule has “chain effects” at the top level. A top-level legislative body (i.e., not a committee of another legislative body) may pass a motion providing times and places for regular meetings of itself and its advisory committees or standing committees, which motion is itself null and void because it was approved at a regular meeting that, while noticed correctly, was not the subject of a previous valid motion providing the time and place for regular meetings at which the later motion was passed. In this way, a notice failure or other problem affecting an initial motion made pursuant to Cal. Gov’t Code § 54954(a), left unchecked, may infect the validity of all of the final votes of a legislative body and all of its advisory committees and standing committees, going forward for years and across multiple changes of the time and place for regular meetings of the top-level legislative body, to say nothing of its advisory committees or standing committees, leaving every single one of their actions taken at regular meetings subject to challenge or reversal within the body. (Cal. Gov’t Code § 54960.1, the judicial invalidation provision, only reaches violations of certain sections, not including id. § 54954, and another section, id. § 54954.1, cannot sustain even internal invalidation on the basis of its violation, but actions taken in violation of id. § 54954(a) are indisputably subject to the sort of internal invalidation described above.)

How does one deal with the problem, then, of the Behavioral Health Commission, that has, as alleged in previous correspondence, repeatedly changed the place of its regular meetings in recent years without passing any motions pursuant to Cal. Gov’t Code § 54954(a), and whose minutes are allegedly only available for less than half of its 65-year history, nearly as long as the Brown Act and the provision in question itself have existed? How can one “bootstrap” the Commission, which is clearly in a state of rot, such that probably all of its resolutions passed in the last five years and beyond are null, void, and subject to internal invalidation for noncompliance with this section, to say nothing of further resolutions it may pass, if nothing is done?

The trick for getting the Commission back on the path of passing valid resolutions, assuming it has any to pass, is that Cal. Gov’t Code § 54954(a) only applies to regular meetings. Special meetings, which are governed by other provisions of the Brown Act, starting with id. § 54956, are not subject to this requirement. The presiding officer may call a special meeting at any old time and place, even, were it not for S.F. Admin. Code § 67.6(b), without the jurisdiction of the City and County, provided that the policy body satisfied the rigorous notice requirements of the Sunshine Ordinance for special meetings, id. § 67.6(f). Then, at such a properly-called special meeting of a top-level legislative body, it may pass a motion providing times and places for regular meetings of itself and those of its advisory committees and standing committees that it chooses to convene regularly pursuant to Cal. Gov't Code § 54954(a). There is nothing in this section that either says or implies that such a motion must be passed at a regular meeting. Indeed, such would be impossible for any top-level legislative body created more recently than 1953, the year the Brown Act, including a simpler version of this provision, was signed into law. An inaugural special meeting is therefore necessary in order to provide a time and place for regular meetings of each top-level legislative body subject to the Brown Act and the provision of this subsection (as well as each ad hoc committee of a legislative body with power to act on its behalf and created by the legislative body), and each of its advisory committees or standing committees that the top-level body determines to meet regularly. Indeed, this must be done each time that a top-level legislative body loses access, for whatever reason, to its time and place for regular meetings on notice short enough that it cannot hold another regular meeting at the location that it previously provided.

The current situation is that the Behavioral Health Commission has missed the deadline for noticing such a special meeting to be held prior to the regular meetings of the three of its standing committees on May 9, 2023, for which it established regular meeting times (but not places) pursuant to this section on Dec. 17, 2022, including its Executive Committee, which generally may pass the motion on behalf of the Commission, for ratification by the Commission at the Commission's next regular or special meeting.

Why cannot the Behavioral Health Commission do what needs to be done? Why can they not call a special meeting of its Executive Committee at which to pass a motion providing times and places for regular meetings of the Commission and its advisory committees or standing committees pursuant to Cal. Gov't Code § 54954(a)? Is the 15-day notice requirement of S.F. Admin. Code § 67.6(f) too onerous? This notice requirement is in another respect more lax than that for regular meetings, id. § 67.7(a), not requiring, for instance, that agendas include the actions proposed to be taken at the meeting. I even sent them the text of everything they needed to include on the agenda for such a meeting, and they apparently refuse to call it. What, they cannot call a meeting for the purpose of passing a single motion, and one required by law at that? As I have just explained, this motion is the root upon which everything else that the Commission may do in the future must rest.

Without this motion, everything else that the Commission does will, along with its past actions going back many years that cannot be helped without being repeated, be null, void, and subject to reversal by any Commissioner who cares to challenge it, even Commissioners who have not been appointed to the Commission as of yet. And furthermore, every regular meeting that the Commission holds until they pass this motion will subject every Commissioner present to the charge of official misconduct under S.F. Charter § 15.105(e) for failure, refusal, or neglect to perform a duty enjoined upon them by law, i.e., to pass the motion required by Cal. Gov't Code § 54954(a). Every other thing that they do, including items during which no action is taken, will involve this failure. Every action taken at every regular meeting will also subject every member of the Commission and each of its advisory committees or standing committees present for the action to misdemeanor guilt under id. § 54959 because they will be taking action in violation of the Brown Act with the intent to deprive the public of information that each member present for the action will know the public to be entitled under the Brown Act, namely, a motion pursuant to id. § 54954(a) passed in compliance with all other applicable laws.

This state of affairs will continue for just as long as the Commission refuses to take this step. It cannot do so at regular meetings of either itself or its Executive Committee. It has to call a special meeting, and it should do so by giving 15 days' advance notice, if the meeting is held other than at 1380 Howard St. (Even the status of the regular meetings previously held at 1380 Howard St. are suspect for violation of this section, and it would be better to provide the 15 days' notice even for a special meeting to be held at that address.) The only way to make a clean break is to start over again, as if the Commission had been newly formed, and hold the required pseudo-inaugural special meeting.

As if these were not reasons enough, it would be absurd that the Behavioral Health Commission, which is required by law and the San Francisco Mental Health Plan to “[r]eview and approve the procedures used to ensure citizen and professional involvement in all stages of the planning process . . .” S.F. Admin. Code § 67.14(a)(4) and Cal. Gov’t Code §§ 5604.2(a)(4) and 5651(b)(4), would not even obey laws which have been instituted to ensure citizen and professional involvement in its own meetings! It would furthermore be ridiculous that the Behavioral Health Commission, which is required under ¶ 3.B(3) of Attachment 13 of Exhibit A of the San Francisco Mental Health Plan and 42 C.F.R. § 438.608(a)(1)(iii) to form a Regulatory Compliance Committee “charged with overseeing [Behavioral Health Services’] compliance program and [Behavioral Health Services’] compliance with the requirements under the [San Francisco Mental Health Plan]. . . .” would show such contempt for compliance with the very laws to which it is subject!

Very truly yours,

/s/

Former Civic Center Whole Foods Employees

Say Store Didn't Close Just Because of Crime

By admin | April 26, 2023 | Uncategorized

25 APRIL 2023/SF RESTAURANTS, FOOD & DRINK/JAY BARMANN (sfist.com)

Much like Walgreens before them, Amazon-owned Whole Foods may be scapegoating San Francisco's petty crime problem and feeding into a narrative in order to avoid talking about the economics of the store they just shut down.

I don't think anyone will argue that opening up a "flagship" Whole Foods location at Market and Eighth streets was ever going to be anything but a major gamble. And it could be that the April 10 announcement that the store was closing "for the time being" was just that — maybe after some period of regrouping and perhaps some interior layout changes, and/or some sort of forced concessions from the city, it will in fact reopen.

But many of us have suspected that Whole Foods was using the same gambit as Walgreens did a couple years back, crying about the conditions of San Francisco's streets and the crime problem while, in actuality, making some shrewd business moves and cutting some dead weight.

The Chronicle has now spoken to a handful of former employees at the mid-Market store — on condition of anonymity because presumably some were given jobs at other stores — and they have painted a likely picture that Amazon/Whole Foods didn't really do their due diligence before opening this store. This is despite the fact that it had been planned for years, as part of the enormous Trinity Place project, before its March 2022 opening.

"If I had to guess, I'd say that no one from global or regional took the time to walk around the neighborhood [before opening the store]," says one former employee, speaking to the Chronicle. And, this person adds, "Sales weren't too great for the supposed flagship store of the region."

Employees cite multiple missteps on the part of the company, including the placement of a liquor section near the exit doors, and “hiring poorly trained guards who tended to escalate confrontations into violence.”

Yes, apparently someone OD'd in the Whole Foods restroom, but the pure fact that the store had unlocked or unattended restrooms in that neighborhood shows a high degree of naïveté, or just lack of local knowledge.

The Chronicle — the piece is co-bylined by former food critic turned columnist Soleil Ho and Nuala Bashiri, whose work often focuses on homelessness — suggests too that the store was just a poor fit for the immediate neighborhood, given the high level of poverty in the nearby Tenderloin and Sixth Street areas. But it was also one of the closest-situated, full-service grocery stores serving all of SoMa, which doesn't have a lot of grocery stores, and there are plenty of well-off people residing in new and expensive apartments and condos in SoMa who shop at Whole Foods — not to mention the 3,000 or so people living in Trinity Place, right above it.

Those people might order a lot of delivery, but they also might just not have wanted to shop at this store because of the stretch of Market and/or Eighth Street that they'd need to walk to get there. (The people who live upstairs? Who knows.)

The point is, many people noted how very empty this store felt a lot of the time — not overrun with crazed addicts, but actually just empty. Would Whole Foods have made the decision to curtail hours last fall, closing the place at 7 p.m., if they were doing gangbusters business and regularly had long lines at checkout at 7 or 8 p.m.? That was also framed as a decision about “safety.”

The great gentrification wave on Mid-Market that city leaders promised back when Twitter was given their infamous tax break never really happened. Things certainly look different, in spots, with the Line hotel/Serif condos between Fifth and Sixth, the mall across the street that will soon be home to IKEA, and the now six-year-old, Kelly Wearstler-designed Proper Hotel a block up. But UN Plaza is still a hub of drug and stolen-goods sales, and the pandemic brought with it more inequality, more desperation, and a worsening fentanyl crisis.

Governor Gavin Newsom announced Friday that he's deploying the National Guard and CHP to the Tenderloin, to “disrupt the drug supply.” But, regardless, if anything shifts people's perceptions of SF's streets, or if the reality of conditions on the streets change, this Whole Foods location might remain a poor business decision in a city that already has eight locations with another on the way at Geary and Masonic.

And maybe, possibly, it'll just reopen and at some point, like the CEO of Walgreens did in January, we'll be hearing Whole Foods execs admitting that maybe they “cried too much” about crime.

TO: Budget and Appropriations Committee members and full Board of Supervisors members

My concern is regarding the proposed Earthquake Safety and Emergency Response Bond for $310 million to be on the November 2028 ballot.

My concern is not the seismic retrofit for police and fire stations.

My concern is not spending ESER bond funds on the Emergency Firefighting Water System also known as AWSS.

My concern is how the SFPUC spends those ESER bond funds.

The SFPUC has spent ESER bond funds on constructing new cisterns on the Westside.

It takes 2 fire engines to use a cistern; one to pump the water out of the cistern and one to put out the fire.

Cisterns do not automatically refill.

The SFPUC has used ESER bond funds for a Flexible Water Supply System.

But, the hoses weighed 350 lbs and were too difficult to lift.

And, most recently, there has been a so-called drinking water AWSS which relies on Lake Merced which is not drinking water.

AWSS was transferred from the Fire Department to the SFPUC by then - Mayor Gavin Newsom.

This was to balance the City's budget.

DCA John Roddy handled the City Attorney aspects of the transfer.

I'm opposed to ESER bond funds going to the SFPUC to fund its misguided policies.

A solution would be to transfer AWSS engineering to DPW and AWSS administration to a new department under the City Administrator.

SFBOS

My name is Aaron Goodman and I am a resident of D11, and I strongly support the need to fund immediately the climate bond being discussed in the agenda packet.

Thank you for not approving the GO Bond Schedule at the last meeting of the Budget and Appropriations Committee. We need to put a Climate Bond on the ballot in 2024 to begin seriously and substantially funding the implementation of our city's Climate Action Plan. With major construction, and proposed demolition of sound buildings in multiple large scale sites in SF, there is a need to address carbon impacts up front, we lost trees, we have water impacts, and equity issues across the city.

We can't wait. The most recent IPCC report said that if we act NOW we can fend off the worst and secure a livable, sustainable future for us all. This does not mean just trying to prepare for the inevitable next disaster. It means doing all we can to reduce the actual cause of climate change. That means funding transit changes that reduce car use, considering alternatives from the public on proposed projects and solutions that counter climate impacts in multiple ways with singular actions.

San Francisco must do its part to reduce our emissions, primarily from buildings and auto impacts and lacking investment in LLV and local transportation. We need to make sure that there is money to take these actions, and that people who cannot afford them are not left behind.

I insist that you look for solutions! Find the way to include a Climate Bond for the ballot in 2024 we all do not have time to waste or ignore the changes we are seeing today.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

A majority of California transit agencies including SFMTA, BART, Caltrain, AC Transit, etc., are heading toward a daunting fiscal cliff as federal COVID relief funding runs out while ridership regrows more gradually. This operating funding shortfall could lead to deep cuts to transit service, potentially triggering a spiral of decline with closed stations, infrequent service, and no weekend transit.

As a person who lives car-less in San Francisco, I rely on the frequency and quality of transit services throughout the Bay Area and support multi-year funding for a world-class public transit system in order to commute and see friends and family.

Can you send a letter to our state legislature budget chairs? The letter should highlight the importance of finding new funding for transit operations to the state's climate, equity and housing goals.

Here's a template that includes both a sample letter and a sample memo previously approved by Berkeley City Council. You can edit and modify this template to submit a letter to Chair Skinner and Chair Ting.

I believe that a strong public transit system is vital to creating healthy communities and an equitable, economically vibrant and climate friendly future. I appreciate your attention to this matter.

Bryan Hromatko, San Francisco Resident

Garrett, Danielle, and Supervisors:

I've read your respective pieces in the Chronicle and Standard regarding the new SFPD Community Ambassadors. I am posing some questions for discussion:

1) In the Standard, former Supervisor Gordan Mar is quoted as saying that using ambassadors before were not cost effective or impactful. If that is correct, what is the reasoning for trying again and what has changed from before?

2) In the PDF for the SFPD Community Ambassador Program, the retired officers are limited working to 960 hours per fiscal year. That tells me these are Retired Annuitant positions to satisfy laws regarding working after retirement.

I think it is typical that SFPD retirees make $100K-$200K per year in retirement. I am guessing that suspected criminals make $0-$30K per year. I am not here to say a retired San Francisco employee shouldn't have a "side hustle". However, if crime may be a result of income disparity (3 times to infinity, in my example between the two groups) and because I think the duties for Community Ambassadors are trainable, would it be more beneficial to hire from the community (in place of retirees) for full-time positions with full benefits to raise up a potentially at-risk group instead?

3) Are there provisions within the program to track the impacts of this program and to revise and/or discontinue?

4) In pieces from NBC and KTVU, SF Sheriff were granted overtime to work private businesses to deter crime and alongside SFPD. While I understand that businesses pay for the OT and the theory is that police are accepted as a greater deterrent than private security, an officer on OT may make $100/hour compared with $20-$30/hour for private security. When discussing low police staffing, is an officer working OT for a private business considered unavailable for City work? Could we empower private security with more legal protections when stopping criminal behaviors? Also, I believe the Sheriff was quoted as saying that Chinatown businesses that cannot afford their services could band together to collect enough money to pay for an OT Sheriff. Has policing become pay for protection?

Hope you all have a wonderful week.

Sherman

Hello Mayor Breed, District Supervisors, SFCTA and SFMTA

The first week of the Mayor's compromise plan under which the Great Highway is open to cars Monday through Friday until noon is now behind us. Aside from a couple of Critical Mass-like stunts by the no-compromise zealots, and a few issues with signage and the timing of the gate closures, the new arrangement seemed to go smoothly and to accommodate all interests.

However, the point of the compromise arrangement is to allow drivers to use the Highway during the week, when they are taking kids to school, traveling to and from jobs, etc. There seems to be little rhyme or reason to closing the Highway so early on Fridays, forcing people who are trying to get home to start their weekends to be caught up in the traffic mess that the closed Highway brings. Friday also tends to be "getaway" day, with many folks trying to leave town (including many who want the Highway closed to drivers), and cutting off this access route makes little sense. Indeed, the traffic conditions reverted to "horrendous" this first Friday once the Great Highway was closed, just as the work week was winding down.

That said, I ask that you adjust the closure hours so that the Great Highway is available to drivers through Friday's evening commute. Keep in mind, once it's dark, no one is using it but vehicles. Rather than closing it at noon on Fridays, let the closure wait until 6:00 a.m. on Saturday, consistent with Monday's 6:00 a.m. reopening.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Ely Moldavsky

Thank you to the Mayor and the Board of Supervisors for stepping up enforcement of existing laws. Now, I'd like to see our elected officials and DPH work together to ensure that the city is meeting demand for recovery programs.

Residential treatment on demand must be available the same day to those who need it. To make this possible, the city needs to:

- Add funding for 24/7 intake centers
- Fund more residential treatment and step-down beds
- Add abstinence-based recovery options to the continuum of care

These changes will not be possible without addressing operational inefficiencies at DPH, including streamlining contracts with service providers and requiring outcome-based contracts.

It also must happen in conjunction with continued and sustained law enforcement and lack of tolerance for drug dealing on our streets. Our streets aren't a road to recovery. Letting people decline on the street isn't compassionate —when we allow people to deteriorate, our entire city deteriorates.

I would advocate to forced treatment, not asking addicts to decide if treatment is needed or not. They cannot make decision because they are under the influence of drugs. City can get SFPD, social workers, and medical professional to assess and if they feel addicts can make decision, fine, let them, otherwise, force the treatment.

My name is Frank Welte, and I am a Senior Accessible Media and Braille Specialist at the LightHouse for the Blind and Visually Impaired, located at 1155 Market Street, directly across the street from U.N. Plaza in San Francisco. I am blind, and I have worked at the LightHouse since May, 2011, and I have worked at our current location since we moved into our new headquarters building in May, 2016. I don't feel safe walking about the neighborhood around U.N. Plaza with my guide dog. I understand there is rampant crime, including violent crime, in the area. As a blind person, I feel particularly vulnerable. The sidewalks and even the stairs down to the Civic Center BART station are not infrequently soiled by garbage, human urine and feces, used drug paraphernalia and other biohazards, which I could step in or which could be ingested by my Seeing Eye Dog, Harmonie. It is not uncommon to encounter people loitering in the BART station stairway right in front of the LightHouse building. A couple of times, there were so many people sitting around in the stairway that I felt like I was walking down the center aisle at a crowded theater on opening night. I've probably walked right by people selling drugs or doing drugs. I often hear people talking in a loud, incoherent way that makes me suspect they are either experiencing a psychiatric crisis or they are high on drugs. Over time, the amount of such activity that I have observed ebbs and flows, sometimes better, sometimes worse, but never really resolved.

Our community has urged you to close the open-air drug markets that are devastating our city by the end of 2023. Thank you to the Mayor and the Board of Supervisors for stepping up enforcement of existing laws. Now, I'd like to see our elected officials and DPH work together to ensure that the city is meeting demand for recovery programs.

Residential treatment on demand must be available the same day to those who need it. To make this possible, the city needs to:

- Add funding for 24/7 intake centers
- Fund more residential treatment and step-down beds
- Add abstinence-based recovery options to the continuum of care

These changes will not be possible without addressing operational inefficiencies at DPH, including streamlining contracts with service providers and requiring outcome-based contracts.

It also must happen in conjunction with continued and sustained law enforcement and lack of tolerance for drug dealing on our streets. Our streets aren't a road to recovery. Letting people decline on the street isn't compassionate—when we allow people to deteriorate, our entire city deteriorates.

I occasionally hear of people who claim that “cracking down” on the homeless population is inhumane and a violation of their civil liberties. Is it humane to let people continue to languish in a prison of mental torment or slavery to narcotics? Is someone caught in such a predicament really free in any meaningful definition of that term? We need to step in and intervene, even if, and perhaps especially when, the individuals don’t realize the extent of their captivity. If a parent allowed a dependent child to live in such conditions, that parent would be subject to intervention by child protective services and even be subject to criminal charges for child abuse or neglect. The same is true for the caregivers of vulnerable older adults or for the owners of abused animals. Why is our response to the addiction/mental health crisis in San Francisco seemingly not being treated with that same level of moral clarity and civic resolve?

Let me be clear that I don’t question the commitment of any of you who are receiving this message as to your dedication to finding a just, humane, timely and permanent solution to this crisis. I do want you to know that you needn’t fear taking bold steps to stop the suffering on the streets. The people who will come to thank you the most will be the people who presently believe they are being oppressed by your interventions.

Sincerely,

Frank Welte

Residential treatment on-demand must be available the same day to those who need it. As an example for why I am so shocked: one of my neighbors is addicted to drugs and was evicted from his house. I begged him to get help for his addiction and he said he tried, but there are no spots available. How can we provide "safe injection" sites but no treatment? Now he is left to add to

The problem of homeless people, littering out streets and making life less safe for us all - particularly for himself.

To make this possible, the city needs to:

- Add funding for 24/7 intake centers;
- Fund more residential treatment and step-down beds;
- Add abstinence-based recovery options to the continuum of care;
- Require programs to demonstrate positive outcomes as a condition of receiving a renewal of funds.

Dear Board of Supervisors,
I am pleased to share a resolution in support of the local and national Reparations Movement as passed by the Higher Education Action Team (HEAT), a diverse advocacy group supporting City College of San Francisco. We acknowledge the leadership of San Francisco and California in this challenging effort.
Thank you for your commitment in this matter.
Michael Adams, on behalf of HEAT.

REPARATIONS RESOLUTION
BY HIGHER EDUCATION ACTION TEAM (HEAT) AT CCSF.

Whereas, the existence of systemic racism continues throughout all sections of life, including educational systems, and

Whereas, the participants of HEAT (Higher Education Action Team), a group especially dedicated to the survival of City College of San Francisco, continue to advocate for Chancellors and Boards of Trustees to adequately address and support the ongoing needs of African American and other students of color, and

Whereas, HEAT has grave concerns over the ongoing disruption and lack of support for Reparations and what this means for State and Federal legislation that is so crucial to ensure adequate funding for community college students, and

Whereas, current legislation is important as a first step towards supporting The California Reparations Task Force and The National Medical Task Force, and

Whereas, both of these task forces rely on the educational support for students provided by community colleges, and

Whereas, these educational foundations are especially necessary for students to gain comprehensive advancement into such fields as medicine and nursing which are so vitally needed for the health and well being of their communities, and

Whereas, City College of San Francisco has historically been a vital asset in the education of African American students, and

Whereas, the continued attacks against and dissolution of programs at CCSF is devastating, depriving its many students of color vital educational opportunities, and attacks their future for viable economic opportunities in addition to supporting general well-being, therefore

Be it resolved, that we the members of HEAT endorse all efforts of local, state and national governments and educational institutions which lead to the correction of historic and present wrongs against] African Americans.

(This Resolution/Proclamation was passed at the April 7th, 2023 HEAT meeting.)

I support the SFPD Full Staffing Act!

Message Dear Mayor Breed and Supervisors,

I support Supervisor Dorsey's proposed Charter Amendment, the SFPD Full Staffing Act.

Defund policy was informed by fraud and is illegitimate.

Thank you.
