I am 36 years old cis-gender heterosexual first generation Chinese American a large population of San Francisco. One of the highest recidivism rates and incarceration rates is among AAPI groups in San Francisco.

Business and/or Professional Experience:

I was incarcerated at the age of 17, was sentenced to serve 26 years-to-life, of which I served 16 years before being commuted by Governor Jerry Brown in 2018. During my incarceration I worked as a state certified addiction counselor which I served for over five years helping folks address their substance abuse issues.

Since paroling I've been pursuing my bachelors degree, working in a non-profit organization in Oakland and supporting reentry individuals in Los Angeles called API RISE. On campus, I am part of the Underground Scholars Policy Fellowship where we were successful in obtaining $4 million continuous funding to support Underground Scholars activities throughout all UC Campuses in supporting system impacted individuals and formerly incarcerated individuals gain access to higher education.

In addition to my academic activities, I also work full-time with Asian Prisoner Support Committee where I assist formerly incarcerated individuals in developing leadership skills, job readiness and mentorship. I assist interns in obtaining housing, job opportunities and vocational training.

Most recently I got hired by the Possibility Lab at the Goldman School of Public Policy helping to drive voter registration at the Santa Rita Jail by working with the Alameda County Public Defenders office.

Civic Activities:

Most recently, I completed the Safety and Justice Challenge Fellowship with the San Francisco District Attorney's office by helping to identify the problems and solutions to address the housing crisis reentry individuals face in San Francisco. At the conclusion of our fellowship we presented our findings and recommendation to the San Francisco District Attorneys office along with other community stakeholders.

Board of Supervisors Supplemental Application for Appointment to the Reentry Council

4. The person appointed to Seat 3 must have been released from custody within two years of his or her appointment. If you were released from custody within the last two years, on what date were you released? _____

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

I have a lot of friends who paroled in San Francisco and one of the biggest issues has been obtaining long-term housing. The transitional housing like healthright 360 are not conducive for individuals because it is located at the Tenderloin district where there is rampant drug use and prostitution. For individuals who have not been exposed to that for decades or long duration can be very triggering.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

Providing more funding to CBOs who are on the ground working with individuals on a day to day basis who knows best what the needs are in the reentry population.

1. Provide long-term housing
2. Provide work force education and tools - like free laptops and cellular phones - partnering with orgs like EveryoneOn to do it
3. Provide vouchers for California ID and birth certificates
4. Expand food support via vouchers

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

At the very least, provide the funding and investment in programs that are supportive of a successful reentry for individuals.

If necessary, please attach supplemental sheet(s) and/or attachments.

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?
Programs really helped me transition and helped me stay out of trouble. The barriers was my environment and my reputation with the police. The police harrassed me often and were always trying to blame something on me to arrest me. Being a part of mission neighborhood center's, precita center was the difference. They gave me programs to attend, a place to go, employment oppurtunities and helped me with my needs.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?
By providing successful programs and education that meets them at their level. A lot suffer from mental health as well and having the proper support would be all the difference they need in order to succeed. If others feel supported and left out, they are more likely to succeed upon reentry.

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?
Make the appropriate changes we as a community need to help our in custody community succeed and thrive upon their reentry.

If necessary, please attach supplemental sheet(s) and/or attachments.

I am a 43 cis Afro-Latino Man who grew up in the Mission District. Growing up in a low income household volted me into manhood at a young age and as many young men and women who grow up in the streets of our city I had to make decisions and choices for my safety and to support myself economically. My experience as a kid growing up poor in San Francisco has allowed me to experience things that now guide my commitment to our young people and our community at large.

Business and/or Professional Experience:

Currently I work for Five Keys as an Ambassador at a SIP hotel. Through my job I get to assist people who are starting their reentry process after being homeless in this city. My job allows me to interact with people who are looking for new beginnings and who come from so many different circumstances that have landed them in the most vulnerable of circumstances. I also do consultant work with Calle 24 as their outreach coordinator, with them I engage with vendors and other people who are experiencing hardships. I ensure that we are reaching the right population and that we are doing so in a manner that is respectful. With my work at calle I am able to interact with people who are experiencing difficulty getting a job and are trying to continue on their path of reentry. I also work with unidos en salud as a logistics coordinator where I support the site with logistics to provide testing and vaccines to our community.

Civic Activities:

I volunteer with Horizons unlimited on an on call basis where I get to support and serve as a role model to young people who are on the verge or already system involved. This volunteer work is one of the ones that is closest to my heart as I get to support young people who are going through some of the experiences I went through. If I am able to give guidance to just one young person and help influence their life choices then all of the circumstances I once experiences would be worth it. I believe all people deserve the chance to create a new life for themselves, all they need is the right support system to ensure they can be succesful.

I also did outreach with Arriba Juntos in the past and was working with system involved youth and TAY.

Programs such as the ones I mentioned before are paramount in the reentry journey of our community members.

5. The person appointed to Seat 4 must have served multiple terms of incarceration. Multiple terms could include more than one term served in the same facility, or more than one term served in different facilities. Have you served multiple terms of incarceration? yes no

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?
My experience was made easier by the community support system I have but as far as resources provided by my P.O they were no existent. Affordable housing is extremely difficult for anyone in SF but in particular for those who are coming back home. I was not offered any resources or guidance as to where I could go from my P.O. It has been the community and my support system who has been supporting me in the housing process.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?
strong support systems that are wholistic and well rounded. Housing support, job guidance, recovery maintenance, training jobs that lead to long term careers. Also, long term therapy provided for reentry clients will go a long way for reentry individuals to find success in their new beginning.

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?
I hope that our voices are heard and that they influence the way in which reentry is supported. I also hope that it will influence in the way P.O support reentry clients. Often times the P.O is only looking for violations and looking for a reason to send people back as opposed to giving resources and support so that people can find sustained success.

If necessary, please attach supplemental sheet(s) and/or attachments.

I did not receive critical information from those in authority after being released at 850 Bryant. If the probation officers would have given more information about all the Reentry programs that support folks with rehabilitation and reduce recidivism. The lack of follow through and support from Probation Officers was the biggest barrier to transitioning back into society.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

In order to properly support folks coming out of the prisons and jails, the City needs to offer a seamless transition with housing, educational and economic opportunities.

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

I hope Reentry Council will hear the collective knowledge of formerly incarcerated folks and actually apply our suggestions.

Business and/or Professional Experience:

My current position with YCD as a Life Coach for Reentry Services is directly related to the Reentry Council. I also am working with individuals ages 18-24 to provide them critical life skills to help prevent reoffending. The program includes job readiness training (interview practice, resume building), financial literacy (the basics of credit and budgeting), and behavior modification through self-reflection and understanding the impact their behavior may have had on direct and/or indirect victims. Also to encourage program participants to feel they are part of their community, we engage in the beautification of different neighborhoods. Beautification includes trash pick-up with a zero waste focus, painting, and other janitorial type activities.

I would definitely include the beautification as my relevant civic activities.

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?
After being incarcerated for 5 years my biggest barrier was adjusting to an environment that was completely different in regards to technology and values. I was very lucky in the sense that I participated in a behavior modifying program called Life Connections while incarcerated that helped me to reframe my thinking so I felt more ready to be a part of regular society.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?
Resources are critical for people being released from prison and jails. Specifically, housing is especially difficult, if not impossible, if you don't have family to help you. Incentivized behavior modification programs are huge to helping people permanently exit the criminal justice system.

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?
I hope that Reentry Council will help to make programs like the one I participated in and am trying to put into place currently more widespread which will in turn reach and help more people. These programs help people from reoffending which in turn makes the City a better place.

It was a struggle but also a blessing. I was able to get support from SFAPD, Positive Directions and Mentoring Mens Movement just to name a few. As a collective they were able to guide me thru the road blocks such as Addiction, homelessness, life skills , housing and re entry back into society.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?
By reaching out and providing support thru our stories and experiences. Keeping the door open thru support and mentorship. Walking the same steps with them just as it was with us when we came home. I hope to continue the work I have already started. Having served on the Re entry for the past two years, I feel that it is a must to help finish what we have already started. As a formerly incarcerated Black woman I know and understand that the experiences of incarcerated people across all demographics is not a monolith. However, from personal experience, the justice system has added to the systemic barriers.

What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

As a Black woman, transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated was a journey that had to be constantly revisited due to my constant search for self love in an unforgivable society. Being formerly incarcerated has been like a stain you can not remove.

How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

To ensure people transition from prisons and jails more successfully there must be holistic resources to meet all needs of incarcerated individuals. In the United States, 33% of all prison admissions nationwide are due to parole violations. Therefore, post conviction, people are still resorting to crime. So, there is a strong need for programs in and out of jails and prisons to ensure individuals are equipped with the skills, habits, and resources to support their transition. In the Bay Area, there is a current drug epidemic and housing crisis. So, now more than ever must pre and post conviction resources be geared to the constant threat of substance abuse and housing instability. On the other hand, there is a serious need for more educational resources for incarcerated people. Across the nation there is a 43% reduction in recidivism for inmates who are involved in educational programs while incarcerated. Therefore, there is a strong correlation to education and success transitions. Not only does education equip individuals with knowledge and skills for more competitive employment opportunities, but it saves cities and states tax dollars that can be reallocated for other resources.

What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

If appointed to this seat, I hope to contribute to the great work the Reentry Council does on a daily basis. In addition, I hope to be a voice for the voiceless in the city of San Francisco. Being formerly incarcerated is an experience that only those who have been through it can understand. However, in many instances, people who have never been in contact with the justice system are the ones who continuously make decisions for those who have. With that, I hope that the Reentry Council can provide real life examples and experiences to decision makers to better benefit those incarcerated. If resources are being allocated, people with real life experiences should be the voice of reason on what resources that need. Additionally, I hope the Reentry Council can put a dent in recidivism rates in San Francisco by providing holistic resources that meet the needs of the both currently and formerly incarcerated people.

To ensure people transition from prisons and jails more successfully there must be holistic resources to meet all needs of incarcerated individuals. In the United States, 33% of all prison admissions nationwide are due to parole violations. Therefore, post conviction, people are still resorting to crime. So, there is a strong need for programs in and out of jails and prisons to ensure individuals are equipped with the skills, habits, and resources to support their transition. In the Bay Area, there is a current drug epidemic and housing crisis. So, now more than ever must pre and post conviction resources be geared to the constant threat of substance abuse and housing instability. On the other hand, there is a serious need for more educational resources for incarcerated people. Across the nation there is a 43% reduction in recidivism for inmates who are involved in educational programs while incarcerated. Therefore, there is a strong correlation to education and success transitions. Not only does education equip individuals with knowledge and skills for more competitive employment opportunities, but it saves cities and states tax dollars that can be reallocated for other resources.

What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

If appointed to this seat, I hope to contribute to the great work the Reentry Council does on a daily basis. In addition, I hope to be a voice for the voiceless in the city of San Francisco. Being formerly incarcerated is an experience that only those who have been through it can understand. However, in many instances, people who have never been in contact with the justice system are the ones who continuously make decisions for those who have. With that, I hope that the Reentry Council can provide real life examples and experiences to decision makers to better benefit those incarcerated. If resources are being allocated, people with real life experiences should be the voice of reason on what resources that need. Additionally, I hope the Reentry Council can put a dent in recidivism rates in San Francisco by providing holistic resources that meet the needs of the both currently and formerly incarcerated people.

Pursuant to Charter, Section 4.101(a)(1), please state how your qualifications represent the communities of interest, neighborhoods, and the diversity in ethnicity, race, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, types of disabilities, and any other relevant demographic qualities of the City and County of San Francisco:

I am a San Francisco resident, born and raised. I've grown up seeing my community and other communities struggle. I have been through a lot in my life where my expertise can help in a great way. I would connect to the communities more because I have experienced, and lived many trials and tribulations. The people would like to see at least 1 or 2 folks that can truly understand what communities, neighborhoods, and different races actually go through. I will reflect the interests and contributions of people of all races, ethnicities, ages, sexes, gender identities, sexual orientations, and types of disabilities. I am honest and will always be honest with my decision making.

Business and/or Professional Experience:

I work for Legal Services for Prisoners with Children. I'm a Policy Advocate. LSPC organizes communities impacted by the criminal justice system and advocates to release incarcerated people, to restore human and civil rights, and to reunify families and communities. We build public awareness of structural racism in policing, the courts, and the prison system, and we advance racial and gender justice in all our work.

We believe in public safety, and that it is achieved when all people have voice, communities thrive and our society is just.

We believe in the equality of all people, regardless of race, sex, gender, sexual identity, national origin, religion, physical or mental ability, and age.

We believe in and fight for the leadership of people most impacted by the prison industry.

I have also done work inside Contra Costa Juvenile Hall teaching the youth Self Advocacy

Civic Activities:

I have been working on Fair Chance Housing, trying to end mass homelessness in the city of Alameda. We are now trying to spread Fair Chance Housing world-wide so folks around the world will have a chance at Fair Chance Housing. I have been working on a few bills to pass through this year's Legislation cycle. One of the bills I have been working on is AB 1816 authored by Assembly Member Bryan. (Reentry Housing and Workforce Development)

This bill would require the department to score applicants to the program competitively according to specified criteria. The bill would require recipients of funds from the program to use those funds for, among other things, long-term rental assistance in permanent housing, incentives to landlords, and innovative or evidence-based services to assist participants in accessing permanent supportive housing. The bill would require the department to distribute funds allocated by executing contracts with awarded entities for a term of 5 years, subject to automatic renewal.

Currently this bill is not yet on the Governor's desk but this bill will be making its way soon!

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?
My experience transitioning back to San Francisco was kind of hard. I did have a few people that were with non-profits that kind of helped me get on my feet. The first few months was rough, I was homeless, couldn't feed myself, no one would hire me because of my background. What helped me was Brother Malik in Bayview Hunters Point gave me a chance. He gave me a job and I never looked back.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?
We can help folks transition from prisons and jails more successfully by putting them in a program that also pays them. If they are homeless we should come up with a solution to house those folks in a area where they won't be triggered. We can help folks exit the criminal justice system by checking up on them meaning lets provide mentors to folks. Support goes a long way! We need to support folks mentally, physically, and emotionally!

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?
I am hoping the Reentry Council will achieve a huge change by decreasing the count in jails,prisons,etc. I am also hoping that we can genuinely help folks that needs the support we can give them. I would love for us to put an end to a repeated cycle! I will give it my all to ensure folks are getting and receiving the tools they need to succeed when exiting the jail or prison and eventually exiting the criminal justice system.

Application for Boards / Commissions / Committees / Task Forces INSTRUCTIONS AND APPLICATION

San Francisco is a diverse City and County with a wide range of people and issues affecting it. In order to take advantage of the extensive experience and knowledge available throughout our communities, various Boards/Commissions/Committees/Task Forces have been established to bring that knowledge together. These groups and their membership requirements are established by legislation approved through the local, state, and/or federal government.

In addition to setting up the purpose and goals of the various groups, the governing legislation outlines the type of person - in terms of desirable skills and/or knowledge - who can contribute their knowledge and perspective. In this manner, a group of San Franciscans, who are representative of the City and County, can be active participants in addressing issues affecting the entire City and County.

If you are interested in serving the City and County of San Francisco, the following procedures are provided:

1. A list of vacancies and expected vacancies, with their qualifications, can be found at the Office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, at the San Francisco Main Public Library, and online on the Board of Supervisors' website (<http://www.sfbos.org/vacancy>). I am a formerly incarcerated forty-year-old African American woman. I am also a survivor of a violent crime. I carried with me the trauma of the crime for over two and a half decades. As a direct result of untreated RTS and PTSD, I began to self-medicate and disassociate myself from this by engaging in criminal conduct. This led to several arrests and convictions by local, state, and more recently Federal authorities. I did contribute to the recidivism rate with my actions. I have since undergone treatment and I'm currently in outpatient therapy to process through PTSD and any other cognitive behaviors that negatively affect my actions. I am recently released from custody for one and half years and I am currently working with SF Goodwill as a career advisor over reentry. My job is to help justice-involved clients gain access to employment, and job training, via workforce development programs. I help to understand and remove barriers to employment after incarceration that clients will face.

Business and/or Professional Experience:

Currently my job is to help justice-involved clients gain access to employment, and job training, via workforce development programs. I help to understand and remove barriers to employment after incarceration that clients will face. I work with referrals from Adult Probation, CDCR, US Probation, Pretrial, Young Adult Court, and all outside community based organizations that serve justice involved individuals. I hope clients obtain a job, then a better job that often leads to a career. I hope to remedy the over 43,000 barriers a formerly incarcerated individual face when returning home from jail or prison. I help that individual obtain some form of stability via employment. I have a background in working with reentry individuals through out SF City and County. I am a certified Community and Mental Health Outreach Worker. My experience includes Transition Clinical Network, Alameda Health System and CCSF. My education consist of an Asscoicate's degree in public health and several certificates in the CHW field as well as the post prison health worker field.

Civic Activities:

My civic duties include but are not limited to working with underserved populations adversely affected by incarceration. Program management of after-school programs. Behavioral mentoring and intervention. I am a registered voter. 6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?
My experience started off rough. I was literally released from prison and had no pre-release information or classes due to the pandemic. I had barriers to housing, mental health treatment, limited access to food, education svcs, health care, clothing and financial literacy. I did not know what resources were available to me. Trying to gain stability thru employment, I had multiple job offers rescinded due to my background check

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?
By providing pre-release information and accurate resources. By helping to remove barriers such as housing, food, access to a liveable wage, job readiness training, financial literacy, and access to health care. We can help people permanently exit, by providing equal access to affordable education and a liveable wage. Also by not penalizing individuals twice for mistakes they made that led to incarceration.

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?
I hope the RC will continue to facilitate changes within policy to help reform laws of systematic oppression and prison reforms. I hope the RC will continue to be a voice in reentry and help formerly incarcerated persons transition successfully by providing access to information and community resources.

Plowshares within the same population in their transitional facility with Veterans coming out of Jail and Prison.

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

Getting clean and sober was first and foremost! Definitely being on ankle monitor, the support of my probation officer Christina, therapist Erin, and Case Manager, Rhiannon. Distancing myself from everyone I knew that used. Barriers are dope and dealers are everywhere around this City.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

Get them to work and in recovery from the help of people that have been there! Having safe spaces and the right people around those exiting the justice system will give them hope and direction that they too can succeed.

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

I hope the Re-Entry Council will hold this City accountable for the mess it has become in open drug markets. Developing more safe spaces for people re-entering society from incarceration, and establishing programs involving people who are currently walking this path to success. These people need to see for themselves there is hope and a way out to a better life, and I want to be a part of showing them in support and guidance.

Application for Boards / Commissions / Committees / Task Forces INSTRUCTIONS AND APPLICATION

San Francisco is a diverse City and County with a wide range of people and issues affecting it. In order to take advantage of the extensive experience and knowledge available throughout our communities, various Boards/Commissions/Committees/Task Forces have been established to bring that knowledge together. These groups and their membership requirements are established by legislation approved through the local, state, and/or federal government.

In addition to setting up the purpose and goals of the various groups, the governing legislation outlines the type of person - in terms of desirable skills and/or knowledge - who can contribute their knowledge and perspective. In this manner, a group of San Franciscans, who are representative of the City and County, can be active participants in addressing issues affecting the entire City and County.

If you are interested in serving the City and County of San Francisco, the following procedures are provided:

1. A list of vacancies and expected vacancies, with their qualifications, can be found at the Office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, at the San Francisco Main Public Library, and online on the Board of Supervisors' website (<http://www.sfbos.org/vacancy>). Please review this list for positions of interest.
2. Submit an application (http://www.sfbos.org/vacancy_application)
(List all of the appropriate seat number(s) and/or category/categories for which you qualify. We request applications be received ten (10) days before the scheduled hearing.)

3. If the seat(s) you are applying for is vacant and requires the Board of Supervisors' confirmation, the Rules Committee may schedule your application for review. Applicants should expect to appear before the Rules Committee to speak on their qualifications and answer questions during a public hearing.

If a recommendation is made by the Rules Committee, the recommendation is forwarded to the Board of Supervisors for approval. It generally takes approximately 15 days from the date the Rules Committee makes their recommendation, for the individual to become officially appointed.

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

The primary barriers I experienced transitioning back to San Francisco was sustainable employment at a wage that enabled me to live in the City. Additionally, the exposure to the open air drug dealing and using made it considerably more difficult for me to stay in recovery, on track, and stay out of custody. The Success Center, Adrian Maldonado at the Minna Program, and Steve Adami from APD have helped considerably.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

Mandated treatment and alternative sentencing programs which are abstinence based and provide opportunities, such as job placement, while holding participants accountable for their actions and decisions.

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

I hope that the Reentry Council will work to change the current Harm Reduction Model within the City so we can create a new model for other cities to follow to end open air drug use and sales and reduce the overdose epidemic while helping people regain their lives and making our communities safer for everyone.

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

I transitioned back to Alameda County upon being paroled in April of 2000. I continued to experience self-inflicted challenges while making progress towards my goals. I feel what helped me the most was believing in myself and creating a roadmap and/or GPS to get where I wanted to go. Barriers included background issues, lack of emotional regulation, and truly accepting everything is not always what it seems. It has been a journey.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

I feel people transitioning from prisons or jails need to be part of programming that creates a sense of urgency to reconnect the dots of their life in addition to relevant life skills workshops that address deficient areas of need while building the person's confidence back up. Further, relearning behaviors that are "socially acceptable" and being presented opportunities to practice changed habits.

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

I hope the Reentry Council identifies ways to enhance programming and positively impact outcomes for previously incarcerated individuals.

I managed and created programs Reentry Pod and all In Custody Programs within county jails for 4 counties.

Board of Supervisors Supplemental Application for Appointment to the Reentry Council

4. The person appointed to Seat 3 must have been released from custody within two years of his or her appointment. If you were released from custody within the last two years, on what date were you released? _____

5. The person appointed to Seat 4 must have served multiple terms of incarceration. Multiple terms could include more than one term served in the same facility, or more than one term served in different facilities. Have you served multiple terms of incarceration? yes no

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?

I was a young mother and had to find work while taking care of my 4 year old son and expecting another child. I sought help via community programs and various workforce programs to get on track. My barriers were the fact that I had a felony on my record and at that time many places were not hiring felons, especially with limited work experience. I found the help from my community was my biggest asset.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?

Fund more programs that deal with the whole person in a healing aspect. Incarceration is a trauma and should be dealt with as such. It is my belief that true reentry starts with feeling supported and wanted by their communities.

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?

My hope is that we as a council come together and address the barriers within the system that keep people from being successful in their exit. Housing, substance abuse, family reunification and employment are keys to successfully reintegrating.

If necessary, please attach supplemental sheet(s) and/or attachments.

6. What was your experience transitioning back to San Francisco after having been incarcerated? What helped you? What were the barriers?
I released to Fivekeys Homefree transitional program. What helped was the resources of Homefree, I was able to work with my casemanager and others who work for FiveKeys. Who helped me to understand how to technology. Since Finding self-help groups for women. Majority are for men, or have long waiting list. Basic cooking classes/meal prep.

7. How can we help other people transition from prisons and jails more successfully? How can we help people permanently exit the criminal justice system?
By having it stream lined, showing them how to use what is basics. Not a big transitional program, keeping them small, so that one on ones can happen more. Having more resources for women like what Fivekeys/Homefree offers. I believe more people will be more successfully. You have to walk with, so people adjust slow, some fast. I was scared to do a Lifer Meeting by myself full of men. I have been locked up with women over 10 yrs

8. What do you hope that the Reentry Council will achieve?
By bring in more resources for women and transgenders. Most of us have been victims to men. So putting us in groups with men, its hard for us to be their let alone talk. Because we be feeling of PTSD. More Trauma informed groups, and healing. More job opportunitys that have learn able skills. Housing that is not with Homeless off the street. We need our own housing not inter mixed.

Dear Sir/Madam:

It is my pleasure to write this letter of recommendation for and about Tiffany Holmes to be appointed to the San Francisco Reentry Council.

I have worked in criminal justice for over 42 years. I worked in the San Francisco Sheriff's department for thirty-two years as a law intern, lawyer, and the Sheriff's Program Administrator. I also worked for the Chief Probation Officer as her Director of Education and Community Restoration Programs for the San Francisco Adult Probation Department for over four years. I have directed and supervised hundreds of line staff, managers, and contractors within those agencies.

I first met Tiffany when I visited CCWF approximately 4 years ago while she was incarcerated. I sat in on the group that she co-founded called Felons against Drunk and Distracted Drivers. After observing that groups and having the opportunity to meet with Tiffany and hear about her painful journey, I was incredibly moved and impressed by her clear commitment in putting restorative justice into tangible and impactful action. I have personally observed that Ms. Holmes can work with a diverse group of professionals from peace officers to case managers with equal humanity and professionalism.

Ms. Holmes became a resident at Five Keys Home Free upon her release, a program which is reentry housing for criminalized survivors of domestic violence and has been an outstanding member of the Home Free community. Ms. Holmes goes the extra step for all within the Home Free community both clients and staff alike which contribute greatly to a positive and healthy living and work environment. Ms. Holmes has a unique and important ability to integrate compassion, consistency and understands the importance of accountability which is a rare but critical combination for criminal justice reform. Tiffany's reentry experience would add tremendous value as a Reentry Council member as she is profoundly committed to assisting others with their self-determination. Moreover, Ms. Holmes brings personal and professional gender and trauma centric expertise into her approach which, frankly, is needed more in our reform movement and approaches.

I unequivocally recommend that Ms. Holmes for an appointment to the Reentry Council as her exemplary skills and humanity will contribute greatly to the goal, objective, and mission of the San Francisco's Reentry Council.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have further questions.

Sincerely,

To Whom it May Concern;

Please accept this letter of recommendation on behalf of Tiffany Holmes. My name is Steve Good, and I am the CEO of Five Keys Schools and Programs. Five Keys provides educational programs, reentry housing, transitional employment and services for the unsheltered. Five Keys currently employs over 500 full-time formerly incarcerated individuals.

I am writing this letter in support of Tiffany to be appointed to the Reentry Council. I've had the pleasure to observe her in action and hear her story. I agree with my colleagues and many of our partner agencies who consistently sing nothing but High Praise for Tiffany's work ethic, integrity, and professionalism – core values that would translate directly in service on the Reentry Council.

I first met Tiffany when she became a resident at Five Keys Home Free, a program which is reentry housing for criminalized survivors of domestic violence. It's a first of its kind program in the nation that helps to restore dignity and hope for women who suffered terrible injustice as a consequence of an unjust criminal justice system.

Tiffany's reentry experience is one that I know she hopes others can have. It certainly hasn't been an easy road to travel, but she has done exceptionally well given the challenges. She is now a valued employee of The Pretrial Diversion Program, working in the San Francisco County jails. Tiffany helps others despite the very tense conditions the jail provides, not to mention she started during COVID. Tiffany is highly regarded by the Sheriff's Department staff, Five Key staff, and the Pretrial Diversion Program.

It is with full enthusiasm that I support Tiffany for an appointment to the Reentry Council. Should you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at 415-652-9130.

Respectfully,

Executive Summary

In 2008, San Francisco voters overwhelmingly approved a City Charter Amendment (section 4.101) establishing as City policy for the membership of Commissions and Boards to reflect the diversity of San Francisco’s population, and that appointing officials be urged to support the nomination, appointment, and confirmation of these candidates. Additionally, it requires the San Francisco Department on the Status of Women to conduct and publish a gender analysis of Commissions and Boards every two years.

The 2019 Gender Analysis of Commissions and Boards includes more policy bodies such as task forces, committees, and advisory bodies, than previous analyses, which were limited to Commissions and Boards. Data was collected from 84 policy bodies and from a total of 741 members mostly appointed by the Mayor and Board of Supervisors. These policy bodies fall under two categories designated by the San Francisco Office of the City Attorney.¹ The first category, referred to as “Commissions and Boards,” are policy bodies with decision-making authority and whose members are required to submit financial disclosures to the Ethics Commission. The second category, referred to as “Advisory Bodies,” are policy bodies with advisory function whose members do not submit financial disclosures to the Ethics Commission. This report examines policy bodies and appointees both comprehensively as a whole and separately by the two categories.

The 2019 Gender Analysis evaluates the representation of women; people of color; lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, and questioning (LGBTQ) individuals; people with disabilities; and veterans on San Francisco policy bodies.

Key Findings

Gender

- Women’s representation on policy bodies is 51%, slightly above parity with the San Francisco female population of 49%.
- Since 2009, there has been a small but steady increase in the representation of women on San Francisco policy bodies.

Race and Ethnicity

- People of color are underrepresented on policy bodies compared to the population. Although people of color comprise 62% of San Francisco’s population, just 50% of appointees identify as a race other than white.
- While the overall representation of people of color has increased between 2009 and 2019, as the Department collected data on more appointees, the representation of people of color has decreased over the last few years. The percentage of appointees of color decreased from 53% in 2017 to 49% in 2019.
- As found in previous reports, Latinx and Asian groups are underrepresented on San Francisco policy bodies compared to the population. Latinx individuals are 14% of the population but make up only 8% of appointees. Asian individuals are 31% of the population but make up only 18% of appointees.

Source: SF DOSW Data Collection & Analysis.

Race and Ethnicity by Gender

- On the whole, women of color are 32% of the San Francisco population, and 28% of appointees. Although still below parity, 28% is a slight increase compared to 2017, which showed 27% women of color appointees.
- Meanwhile, men of color are underrepresented at 21% of appointees compared to 31% of the San Francisco population.
- Both White women and men are overrepresented on San Francisco policy bodies. White women are 23% of appointees compared to 17% of the San Francisco population. White men are 26% of appointees compared to 20% of the population.
- Black and African American women and men are well-represented on San Francisco policy bodies. Black women are 9% of appointees compared to 2.4% of the population, and Black men are 5% of appointees compared to 2.5% of the population.
- Latinx women are 7% of the San Francisco population but 3% of appointees, and Latinx men are 7% of the population but 5% of appointees.
- Asian women are 17% of the San Francisco population but 11% of appointees, and Asian men are 15% of the population but just 7% of appointees.

Additional Demographics

- Out of the 74% of appointees who responded to the survey question on LGBTQ identity, 19% identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, nonbinary, queer, or questioning, and 81% of appointees identify as straight/heterosexual.
- Out of the 70% of appointees who responded to the question on disability, 11% identify as having one or more disabilities, which is just below the 12% of the adult population with a disability in San Francisco.
- Out of the 67% of appointees who responded to the question on veteran status, 7% have served in the military compared to 3% of the San Francisco population.

Proxies for Influence: Budget & Authority

- Although women are half of all appointees, those Commissions and Boards with the largest budgets have fewer women and especially fewer women of color. Meanwhile, women exceed representation on Boards and Commissions with the smallest budgets and women of color reach parity with the population on the smallest budgeted Commissions and Boards.
- Although still underrepresented relative to the San Francisco population, there is a larger percentage of people of color on Commissions and Boards with both the largest and smallest budgets compared to overall appointees.
- The percentage of total women is greater on Advisory Bodies than Commissions and Boards. Women are 54% of appointees on Advisory Bodies and 48% of appointees on Commissions and Boards. However, the percentages of people of color and women of color on Commissions and Boards exceed the percentages of people of color and women of color on Advisory Bodies.

Appointing Authorities

- Mayoral appointments include 55% women, 52% people of color, and 30% women of color, which is more diverse by gender and race compared to both Supervisorial appointments and total appointments.

I. Introduction

Inspired by the 4th UN World Conference on Women in Beijing, San Francisco became the first city in the world to adopt a local ordinance reflecting the principles of the U.N. Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination (CEDAW), an international bill of rights for women. The CEDAW Ordinance was passed unanimously by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and signed into law by Mayor Willie L. Brown, Jr. on April 13, 1998.² In 2002, the CEDAW Ordinance was revised to address the intersection of race and gender and incorporate reference to the UN Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Race Discrimination. The Ordinance requires City Government to take proactive steps to ensure gender equity and specifies “gender analysis” as a preventive tool to identify and address discrimination. Since 1998, the Department on the Status of Women has employed this tool to analyze the operations of 10 City Departments using a gender lens.

In 2007, the Department on the Status of Women conducted the first gender analysis to evaluate the number of women appointed to City Commissions and Boards. The findings of this analysis informed a City Charter Amendment developed by the Board of Supervisors for the June 2008 Election. This City Charter Amendment (Section 4.101) was overwhelmingly approved by voters and made it city policy that:

- The membership of Commissions and Boards are to reflect the diversity of San Francisco’s population,
- Appointing officials are to be urged to support the nomination, appointment, and confirmation of these candidates, and
- The Department on the Status of Women is required to conduct and publish a gender analysis of Commissions and Boards every 2 years.

The 2019 Gender Analysis examines the representation of women; people of color; lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, and questioning (LGBTQ) individuals; people with disabilities; and veterans on San Francisco policy bodies primarily appointed by the Mayor and the Board of Supervisors. This year’s analysis included more outreach to policy bodies as compared to previous analyses that were limited to Commissions and Boards. As a result, more appointees were included in the data collection and analysis than even before. These policy bodies fall under two categories designated by the San Francisco Office of the City Attorney. The first category, referred to as “Commissions and Boards,” are policy bodies with decision-making authority and whose members are required to submit financial disclosures to the Ethics Commission, and the second category, referred to as “Advisory Bodies,” are policy bodies with advisory function whose members do not submit financial disclosures to the Ethics Commission. A detailed description of methodology and limitations can be found at the end of this report on page 23.

II. Gender Analysis Findings

Many aspects of San Francisco’s diversity are reflected in the overall population of appointees on San Francisco policy bodies. The analysis includes 84 policy bodies, of which 823 of the 887 seats are filled leaving 7% vacant. As outlined below in the summary chart, slightly more than half of appointees are women, half of appointees are people of color, 28% are women of color, 19% are LGBTQ, 11% have a disability, and 7% are veterans.

Appointee Demographics	Percentage of Appointees
Women (n=741)	51%
People of Color (n=706)	50%
Women of Color (n=706)	28%
LGBTQ Identified (n=548)	19%
People with Disabilities (n=516)	11%
Veteran Status (n=494)	7%

However, further analysis reveals underrepresentation of particular groups. Subsequent sections present comprehensive data analysis providing comparison to previous years, detailing the variables of gender, race/ethnicity, LGBTQ identity, disability, veteran status, and policy body characteristics of budget size, decision-making authority, and appointment authority.

A. Gender

On San Francisco policy bodies, 51% of appointees identify as women, which is slightly above parity compared to the San Francisco female population of 49%. The representation of women remained stable at 49% from 2013 until 2017. This year, the representation of women increased by 2 percentage points, which could be partly due to the larger sample size used in this year’s analysis compared to previous years. A 10-year comparison shows that the representation of women appointees has gradually increased since 2009 by a total of six percentage points.

Source: SF DOSW Data Collection & Analysis.

Figures 3 and 4 analyze Commissions and Boards. Figure 3 showcases the five Commissions and Boards with the highest representation of women appointees as compared to 2015 and 2013. The Children and Families (First Five) Commission and the Commission on the Status of Women are currently comprised of all women appointees. This finding has been consistent for the Commission on the Status of Women in 2015 and 2017. While the Ethics Commission has 100% women appointees, much more than 2015 and 2017, its small size of five appointees means that minimal changes in its demographic composition greatly impacts percentages. This is also the case for other policy bodies with a small number of members. The Library Commission and the Commission on the Environment are fourth and fifth on the list at 71% and 67% women, respectively, with long standing female majorities on each.

Source: SF DOSW Data Collection & Analysis.

Out of the Commissions and Boards in this section, 23 have 40% or less women. The five Commissions and Boards with the lowest representation of women are displayed in Figure 4. The lowest percentage is found on the Board of Examiners where currently none of the 13 appointees are women. Unfortunately, demographic data is unavailable for the Board of Examiners for 2017 and 2015. Next is the Building Inspection Commission at 14%, which is a decrease of female representation compared to 2017 and 2015. The Oversight Board of Community Investment and Infrastructure, Fire Commission, and Sunshine Ordinance Task Force also have some of the lowest percentages of women at 17%, 20%, and 27%, respectively. Unfortunately, the Sunshine Ordinance Task Force did not participate in previous analyses and therefore demographics data is unavailable for 2017 and 2015.

Source: SF DOSW Data Collection & Analysis.

In addition to Commissions and Boards, Advisory Bodies were examined for the highest and lowest percentages of women. This is the first year such bodies have been included, thus comparison to previous years is unavailable. Figure 9 below displays the five Advisory Bodies with the highest and the five with the lowest representations of women. The Workforce Community Advisory Committees has the greatest representation of women at 100%, followed by the Office of Early Care and Education Citizen’s Advisory Committee at 89%. The Advisory Bodies with the lowest percentage of women are the Urban Forestry Council at 8% of the 13-member body and the Abatement Appeals Board at 14% of the 7-member body.

B. Race and Ethnicity

Data on racial and ethnic identity was collected for 706, or 95%, of the 741 surveyed appointees. Although half of appointees identify as a race or ethnicity other than white or Caucasian, people of color are still underrepresented compared to the San Francisco population of 62%. The representation of people of color has increased since 2009 but has decreased following 2015. The number of appointees analyzed increased substantially in 2017 and 2019 compared to 2015, and these larger data samples have coincided with smaller percentages of people of color. The percentage decrease following 2017 could be partially due to the inclusion of more policy and advisory bodies, as the representation of people of color on Commissions and Boards dropped only slightly from 53% in 2017 to 52% in 2019.

The racial and ethnic breakdown of policy body members compared to the San Francisco population is shown in Figure 7. This analysis reveals underrepresentation and overrepresentation in San Francisco policy bodies for certain racial and ethnic groups. Half of all appointees are white, an overrepresentation by more than 10 percentage points. The Black and African American community is well represented on appointed policy bodies at 14% compared to 5% of the population of San Francisco. Characterizing this as an overrepresentation is inaccurate given the representation of Black or African American people on policy bodies has been consistent over the years while the San Francisco population has declined over the same period.³ Furthermore, the most recent nationwide estimate for the Black or African American population is 13%, which is nearly equal to the 14% of Black or African American appointees present on San Francisco policy bodies.⁴

Considerably underrepresented racial and ethnic groups on San Francisco policy bodies compared to the San Francisco population are individuals who identify as Asian or Latinx. While Asians are 31% of the San Francisco population, they only make up 18% of appointees. While the Latinx population of San Francisco is 14%, only 8% of appointees are Latinx. Although there is a small population of Native Americans and Alaska Natives in San Francisco of 0.4%, none of the surveyed appointees identified themselves as such.

The next two graphs illustrate Commissions and Boards, and Advisory Bodies with the highest and lowest percentages of people of color. As shown in Figure 8, the Commission on Community Investment and Infrastructure remained at 100% from 2017, while the Juvenile Probation Commission has returned to 100% this year after a dip in 2017. Next is the Health Commission, Immigrant Rights Commission, and Housing Authority Commission at 86%, 85%, and 83%, respectively. Percentages of people of color on both the Health Commission and the Housing Authority Commission increased following 2015, and have remained consistent since 2017.

Source: SF DOSW Data Collection & Analysis.

There are 23 policy bodies that have 40% or less appointees who identified a racial and ethnic category other than white. Although the Public Utilities Commission has two vacancies, none of the current appointees identify as people of color. The Historic Preservation Commission and Building Inspection Commission are both at 14% representation for people of color. The Building Inspection Commission had a large drop from 43% in 2015, with the percentage of people of color decreasing to 14% in 2017 and remaining at this percent for 2019. Lastly, the War Memorial Board of Trustees and City Hall Preservation Advisory Commission have 18% and 20%, respectively.

In addition to Commissions and Boards, Advisory Bodies were examined for the highest and lowest percentages of people of color. This is the first year such bodies have been included, thus comparison to previous years is unavailable. All members of the Workforce Community Advisory Committee are people of color. People of color comprise 80% of the Sugary Drinks Distributor Tax Advisory Committee, and 75% of appointees on the Children, Youth and Their Families Oversight and Advisory Committee, the Golden Gate Park Concourse Authority, and the Local Homeless Coordinating Board. Out of the five Advisory Bodies with the lowest representation of people of color, the Ballot Simplification Committee and the Mayor’s Disability Council have 25% appointees of color, and the Abatement Appeals Board has 14% appointees of color. The Urban Forestry and the Pedestrian Safety Advisory Committee have no people of color currently serving.

C. Race and Ethnicity by Gender

White men and women are overrepresented on San Francisco policy bodies, while Asian and Latinx men and women are underrepresented. While women of color continue to be underrepresented at 28% compared to the San Francisco population of 32%, this is a slight increase from 2017 which showed 27% women of color. Meanwhile, men of color are 21% of appointees compared to 31% of the San Francisco population.

Source: SF DOSW Data Collection & Analysis.

The following figures present the breakdown for appointees and the San Francisco population by race and ethnicity and gender. White men and women are overrepresented, holding 27% and 23% of appointments, respectively, compared to 20% and 17% of the population, respectively. Asian men and women are both greatly underrepresented with Asian women making up 11% of appointees compared to 17% of the population while Asian men comprise 7% of appointees and 15% of the population. Latinx men and women are also underrepresented, particularly Latinx women, who are 3% of appointees and 7% of the population, while Latinx men are 5% of appointees and 7% of the population. Black or African American men and women are well-represented with Black women comprising 9% of appointees and Black men comprising 5% of appointees. Pacific Islander men and women, and multiethnic women also exceed parity with the population. Although Native American men and women make up only 0.4% of San Francisco’s population, none of the surveyed appointees identified themselves as such.

D. LGBTQ Identity

Lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, and questioning (LGBTQ) identity data was collected from 548, or 75%, of the 741 surveyed appointees, which is much more data on LGBTQ identity compared to previous reports. Due to limited and outdated information on the population of the LGBTQ community in San Francisco, it is difficult to adequately assess the representation of the LGBTQ community. However, compared to available San Francisco, larger Bay Area, and national data, the LGBTQ community is well represented on San Francisco policy bodies. Recent research estimates the national LGBT population is 4.5%.⁵ The LGBT population of the San Francisco and greater Bay Area is estimated to rank the highest of U.S. cities at 6.2%,⁶ while a 2006 survey found that 15.4% of adults in San Francisco identify as LGBT⁷.

Of the appointees who responded to this question, 19% identify as LGBTQ and 81% identify as straight or heterosexual. Of the LGBTQ appointees, 48% identify as gay, 23% as lesbian, 17% as bisexual, 7% as queer, 5% as transgender, and 1% as questioning. Data on LGBTQ identity by race was not captured. Efforts to capture data on LGBTQ identity by race for future reports would enable more intersectional analysis.

E. Disability Status

Overall, 12% of adults in San Francisco have one or more disabilities, and when broken down by gender, 6.2% are women and 5.7% are men. Disability data for transgender and gender non-conforming individuals in San Francisco is currently unavailable. Data on disability was obtained from 516, or 70%, of the 741 appointees who participated in the survey. Of the 516 appointees, 11.2% reported to have one

F. Veteran Status

Overall, 3.2% of the adult population in San Francisco has served in the military. There is a considerable difference by gender, as male veterans are 3% and female veterans are 0.2% of the population. Data on veteran status was obtained from 494, or 67%, of appointees who participated in the survey. Of the 494 appointees who responded to this question, 7.1% have served in the military. Like the San Francisco population, there is a large difference by gender, as men comprise 5.7% and women make up only 1.2% of the total number of veteran appointees. Of participating appointees, 0.2% of veterans are trans women. Veteran status data on transgender and gender non-conforming individuals in San Francisco is currently unavailable.

G. Policy Bodies by Budget

This report also examines whether policy bodies with the largest and smallest budget sizes and other characteristics are demographically representative of the San Francisco population. In this section, budget size is used as a proxy for influence. Although this report has expanded the scope of analysis to include more policy bodies compared to previous reports, this section of analysis was limited to Commissions and Boards with decision-making authority and whose members file financial disclosures with the Ethics Commission. The purpose of this analysis is to evaluate the demographics for the spectrum of budgetary influence of policy bodies with decision-making authority in San Francisco.

Overall, appointees from the 10 largest budgeted Commissions and Boards are 55% people of color, 41% women, and 23% women of color. Appointees from the 10 smallest budgeted Commissions and Boards are 54% people of color, 52% women, and 32% women of color. Although still below parity with the San Francisco population, the representation of people of color on both the largest and smallest budgeted policy bodies is greater than the percentage of people of color for all appointees combined (50%). For women and women of color, their representation meets or exceeds parity with the population on the 10 smallest budgeted bodies. However, it falls far below parity for the 10 largest budgeted bodies. The representation of total women and women of color is greater on smaller budgeted policy bodies by 27%, and 39%, respectively.

H. Comparison of Advisory Body and Commission and Board Demographics

The comparison of the two policy body categories in this section provides another proxy for influence, as Commissions and Boards whose members file disclosures of economic interest have greater decision-making authority in San Francisco than Advisory Bodies whose members do not file economic interest disclosures. The percentages of total women, LGBTQ people, people with disabilities, and veterans are larger for total appointees on Advisory Bodies. However, the percentages of women of color and people of color on Commissions and Boards slightly exceeds the percentages of women of color and people of color on Advisory Bodies.

Source: SF DOSW Data Collection & Analysis.

I. Demographics of Mayoral, Supervisorial, and Total Appointees

Figure 24 compares the representation of women, women of color, and people of color for appointments made by the Mayor, Board of Supervisors, and by the total of all approving authorities combined. Mayoral appointments are more diverse, and consist of more women, women of color, and people of color compared to Supervisorial appointments. Mayoral appointments include 55% women, 30% women of color, and 52% people of color, while Supervisorial appointments are 48% women, 24% women of color, and 48% people of color. The total of all approving authorities combined average out at 51% women, 28% women of color, and 50% people of color. This disparity in diversity between Mayoral and Supervisorial appointments may be due in part to the appointment section process for each authority. The 11-member Board of Supervisors only sees applicants for specific bodies through the 3-member Rules Committee or by designees, stipulated in legislation (e.g. “renter,” “landlord,” “consumer advocate”), whereas the Mayor typically has the ability to take total appointments into account during selections, and can therefore better address gaps in diversity.

III. Conclusion

Since the first gender analysis of Commissions and Boards in 2007, the representation of women appointees on San Francisco policy bodies has gradually increased. The 2019 Gender Analysis finds the percentage of women appointees is 51%, which slightly exceeds the population of women in San Francisco.

When appointee demographics are analyzed by gender and race, women of color continue to be underrepresented on San Francisco policy bodies compared to the San Francisco population. Most notably underrepresented are Asian women who make up 17% of the population but only 11% of appointees, and Latinx women who make up 7% of the population but only 3% of appointees. Additionally, men of color are underrepresented relative to their San Francisco population, primarily Asian and Latinx men.

Furthermore, when analyzing the demographic composition of larger and smaller budgeted Commissions and Boards, women are underrepresented on those with the largest budgets, and overrepresented or reach parity with the population on smaller budgeted Commissions and Boards. These two trends are amplified for women of color appointees. Women comprise 41% of total appointees on the largest budgeted policy bodies, which is 8 percentage points below the population, and women of color comprise 23% of total appointees on the largest budgeted policy bodies, 9 percentage points below their San Francisco population. Comparatively, women are 52% of total appointees on the smallest budgeted policy bodies, and women of color are 32% of appointees, which is equal to the San Francisco population. However, the issue of largest and smallest budgeted policy bodies does not seem to impact the representation of people of color. People of color make up 55% of appointees on the largest budgeted policy bodies and 54% of appointees on the smallest budgeted policy bodies compared to 50% of total appointees. Nonetheless, these percentages still fall below the San Francisco population of people of color at 62%.

In addition to using budget size as a proxy for influence, this report analyzed demographic characteristics of appointees on Commissions and Boards who file disclosures of economic interest and have decision-making authority, and appointees on Advisory Bodies who do not file economic interest disclosures. Over half (54%) of appointees on Advisory Bodies are women, while 48% of appointees on Commissions and Boards are women. Although 48% is only slightly below the San Francisco population of women, women comprise a decently higher percentage of appointees on Advisory Bodies compared to Commissions and Boards.

This year's report features more data on LGBTQ identity, veteran status, and disability than previous gender analyses. The 2019 Gender Analysis found a relatively high representation of LGBTQ individuals on San Francisco policy bodies. For the appointees that provided LGBTQ identity information, 19% identify as LGBTQ with the largest subset being gay men at 48%. It is recommended for future gender analyses to collect LGBTQ data by race and gender to provide additional intersectional analysis. The representation of appointees with disabilities is 11%, just below the 12% population. Veterans are highly represented on San Francisco policy bodies at 7% compared to the veteran population of 3%.

Additionally, this report evaluates and compares the representation of women, women of color, and people of color appointees by the Mayor, Board of Supervisors, and by the total of all approving authorities combined. Mayoral appointees include 55% women, 30% women of color, and 52% people of color, which overall is more diverse by gender and race compared to both Supervisorial appointees and total appointees.

This report is intended to advise the Mayor, Board of Supervisors, and other appointing authorities, as they select appointments for policy bodies of the City and County of San Francisco. In spirit of the 2008 City Charter Amendment that establishes this biennial Gender Analysis report requirement and the importance of diversity on San Francisco policy bodies, efforts to address gaps in diversity and inclusion should remain at the forefront when making appointments in order to accurately reflect the population of San Francisco.

IV. Methodology and Limitations

This report focuses on City and County of San Francisco Commissions, Boards, Task Forces, Councils, and Committees that have the majority of members appointed by the Mayor and Board of Supervisors and that have jurisdiction limited to the City. The gender analysis reflects data from the policy bodies that provided information to the Department on the Status of Women through digital and paper survey.

Data was requested from 90 policy bodies and acquired from 84 different policy bodies and a total of 741 appointees. A Commissioner or Board member's gender identity, race/ethnicity, sexual orientation, disability status, and veteran status were among data elements collected on a voluntary basis. Data on lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, or questioning (LGBTQ) identity, disability, and veteran status of appointees were incomplete or unavailable for some appointees but are included to the extent possible. As the fundamental objective of this report is to surface patterns of underrepresentation, every attempt has been made to reflect accurate and complete information in this report. Data for some policy bodies was incomplete, and all appointees who responded were included in the total demographic categories. Only policy bodies with full data on gender and race for all appointees were included in sections comparing demographics of individual bodies. It should be noted that for policy bodies with a small number of members, the change of a single individual greatly impacts the percentages of demographic categories. As such, these percentages should be interpreted with this in mind.

The surveyed policy bodies fall under two categories designated by the San Francisco Office of the City Attorney document entitled List of City Boards, Commissions, and Advisory Bodies Created by Charter, Ordinance, or Statute.⁸ This document separates San Francisco policy bodies into two different categories. The first category includes Commissions and Boards with decision-making authority and whose members are required to submit financial disclosures with the Ethics Commission, and the second category encompasses Advisory Bodies whose members do not submit financial disclosures with the Ethics Commission. Depending on the analysis criteria in each section of this report, the surveyed policy bodies and appointees are either examined comprehensively as a whole or examined separately in the two categories designated by the Office of the City Attorney.

Data from the U.S. Census 2013-2017 American Community Survey 5-Year Estimates provides a comparison to the San Francisco population. Figures 26 and 27 in the Appendix display these population estimates by race/ethnicity and gender.

Dear Members of the Rules Committee,

Rules committee: Please do not appoint Ricci Wynne to the Re-Entry Council!

Rules Committee: File # 221000
Please place in correspondence file

Please do not appoint Ricci Wynne to the Re-Entry Council!. He is trying to get attention with engaging in hurtful self promotion with respecting the dignity and confidentiality of those who likely are experiencing the worst moment of their lives. He is unable to working collaboratively, is divisive and attention seeking. We need serious people to do this work, who are compassionate and interested in solutions not just internet exposure. He is a very abusive person. San Franciscans need compassionate people who focus on the work and not on publicity on this committee.

Thank you for your consideration

To whom it may concern:

I am honored to write in support of Andra Gadson's application to the re-entry panel in recognition of the contribution he makes daily to the mission of Success Centers. I first met Andra in 2018, when he was employed at Asian Neighborhood Design, which Success Centers managed. AND has since merged with Success Centers and he became our employee.

In recognition of his skills, Andra's role with Success Centers has grown. Initially, Andra was responsible for providing counseling and case management services to trainees in our Green Construction Program. The program serves approximately 70 trainees annually including youth and young adults, as well as adult women and men who have faced multiple life difficulties including homelessness, being part of the re-entry population, or in recovery from substance abuse, among many others. They comprise a challenging group who Andra skillfully supported to help them remain focused on their career goals. Many of them would never be able to complete the program without the daily support, encouragement and role modelling he provided with his consistent presence.

Andra was next promoted to supervisor in the Pit Stop program where he was charged with helping newly released members of the re-entry population to learn janitorial skills. He successfully focused on teaching workforce maturity skills to enable participants to transition to other employers. This position ended when the city terminated funding for the program.

In his newest role with Success Centers, Andre will manage a team of credible messengers working with TAY youth in the community and youth in long-term detention at YGC. He is clearly a natural helper, gifted at making connections to people in stressful circumstances, able to conceptualize his work on multiple levels, and committed to the highest standards for himself and his work.

Education, Employment & Art

I have worked with Andra in staff trainings and have witnessed his commitment to continuing to learn and further develop his skills. I fully support his application to the panel. I believe he will make insightful contributions while using the opportunity to further his professional growth. I cannot think of a stronger candidate for this position.

Thank you for the opportunity to present this recommendation.

Sincerely,

Liz Jackson-Simpson

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

This letter is written in regards to Jermila McCoy, candidate for membership on the San Francisco Reentry Council. In my capacity as the clinical director of the Community Assessment Services Center (CASC), I have had the opportunity to work closely with Ms. McCoy through her positions at Goodwill Industries. Ms. McCoy is a passionate advocate for justice-involved clients, going above and beyond to serve her community. She is proactive in finding creative solutions to the many employment barriers that clients exiting the criminal justice system face, understanding from her lived experience how important employment stabilization is to successful reentry. Ms. McCoy demonstrates an astounding work ethic, whether as a career advisor, or more recently as a program manager for Goodwill. In my collaborations with Ms. McCoy, I have found her to be dedicated to the complex work of reentry services and believe she would be an excellent addition to the San Francisco Reentry Council.

Sincerely,

To the Reentry Council:

I'm writing to endorse Jermila McCoy for a seat on the Reentry Council. Jermila works for Goodwill's Mission Advancement team and was recently promoted to the Manager of Reentry Services. She oversees all of Goodwill's reentry programming. Jermila and her team provide mentorship, support, supportive services, career advising, and job placement and retention services to clients that were formally incarcerated or impacted by the justice system.

Jermila is just an amazing example of resilience. Being in reentry herself, she knows the barriers and what clients are experiencing. She is an amazing person, role model, and mentor. I could not be happier with her work to date, she runs a dedicated team, and always puts the needs of the people we serve first.

Please consider her candidacy, and let me know if you have any questions. I could not recommend Jermila more highly.

Best,
