12 CHAPTER 107A:

13 AFRICAN AMERICAN ARTS AND CULTURAL DISTRICT

14 SEC. 107A.1. FINDINGS.

15 The African American Arts and Cultural District (the "District") within the Bayview Hunters
16 Point neighborhood is a robust, economically vital area that adds to the rich cultural tapestry of San 17 Francisco. In establishing the District, the City acknowledges the importance of recognizing the 18 neighborhood's history and preserving the legacy and traditions uniquely born in the Bayview Hunters 19 Point. The District will recognize and memorialize the unheralded African American experience in San 20 Francisco, and will help to preserve and increase the depth and impact of the African American legacy
21 in the City.

22 Bayview Hunters Point, more than any other neighborhood in San Francisco, reflects the 23 transformational journey of southern Blacks and their contributions to the City. In 1940, San 24 Francisco's Black population was less than 1%. Seeking opportunity in the early years of World War
25 II, African Americans moved to San Francisco in record numbers, filling key jobs at the shipyards.

1 Many found their first employment opportunities at the bustling Hunters Point Naval Shipyard.
2 By the end of the war, San Francisco's African American population had increased by 660%, and by 3 1950, African Americans made up about 25% of the population in the Bayview Hunters Point
4 neighborhood. This neighborhood was one of the City's earliest socially and ethnically integrated 5 neighborhoods after the Jim Crow era, 1877-1965, and served as the launch pad for the integration of 6 other neighborhoods in the City. The influence of African Americans from this neighborhood helped 7 San Francisco move beyond a legacy of ethnic isolation and social barriers.

8 After the war, African Americans faced significant unemployment and discrimination from 9 white residents and businesses, and local government agencies. By the 1960s, over half of Bayview
10 Hunters Point residents were African American; this transformation was met with many challenges and 11 resistance. The San Francisco Housing Authority assumed responsibility for the homes constructed by 12 the Navy in Bayview Hunters Point. Shortly thereafter, this area experienced a downward spiral in 13 living conditions and economic opportunity through lack of investment. Political, social, and economic 14 stressors pressured the neighborhood in subsequent years and threatened to unravel the 15 neighborhood's fabric. These conditions did not break the spirit of the residents. It strengthened the 16 resolve of these residents as they fought and succeeded in battles for access, representation, and 17 accountability.

18 By the 1970s, after the closing of the Shipyard, the poverty rate in Bayview Hunters Point was 19 20%, and the systemic mishandling of public housing made bad situations worse. Despite worsening
20 conditions, in the 1980's, African Americans still comprised nearly 80% of the population of Bayview
21 Hunters Point, and the neighborhood retained one of the City's highest rates of homeownership. A 22 cohort of African American leaders formed over time and demanded change, better housing and living 23 conditions, quality schools, open spaces, and access to jobs. Those community leaders continue to 24 shape the Bayview Hunters Point neighborhood to this day.

1 The ongoing out-migration of African Americans who once lived in San Francisco has shrunk
2 the City's African American population from its highest point of 13.4% in 1970, to 6.1% in 2010, and 3 an estimated 4% in 2018. In spite of this decline, African American culture remains a distinct gem in 4 the Bayview Hunters Point neighborhood. The neighborhood is socioeconomically diverse and 5 inclusive. With African American residents making up 28% of the neighborhood, it still boasts the 6 highest concentration of African Americans within San Francisco. There is still a strong presence of 7 African American culture as is evidenced by business owners, religious congregations, public arts, and 8 native musicians.

9 This culture reflects a long history. The neighborhood's cultural and artistic traditions began 10 to take root well before the neighborhood shifted demographically. The southern migrants came with 11 traditions, history, and aspirations handed down from one generation to the next. Over time, 12 businesses along 3rd Street began to slowly change and become a reflection of the neighborhood.
13 Community-based organizations formed to address specific unmet needs and demand investments that 14 benefited the neighborhood. The result was an incredible blend of southern Black traditions with a 15 distinctive West Coast vibe, with community locales such as the Bayview Community Center, Sam
16 Jordan's Bar, the Jazz Room, and the Bayview Opera House, that are now historic institutions. Today, 17 the influence of African Americans can be found throughout the neighborhood. Community buildings, 18 streets, parks and open space, and art honor African American leaders and the African American 19 experience.

20 The legacy of African Americans in Bayview Hunters Point is now in jeopardy. As the African 21 American population decreases, approaching pre-World War II levels, community institutions and the 22 neighborhood culture are threatened. The establishment of the District aims to help retain Bayview 23 Hunters Point institutional memory for this and future generations, and to ensure that the legacy and 24 transformative contributions of African Americans is not forgotten or overwritten.

1 The story of the Bayview Hunters Point neighborhood continues to unfold and this story of 2 transformation must be preserved while looking to the future. As the Hunters Point Naval Shipyard is 3 transformed into a dynamic new neighborhood, San Francisco must not overlook the contributions of 4 those who transformed the neighborhood in the past. To that end, the District will serve to (1)
5 acknowledge the importance of the neighborhood's history, (2) preserve the legacy, cultural assets, 6 arts, and traditions uniquely born in Bayview Hunters Point, (3) create a community-led and 7 transparent initiative, driven by Bayview Hunters Point stakeholders, (4) incubate homegrown
8 entrepreneurship and artistic expressions, and (5) create an environment susceptible to sustainable 9 businesses and economic vitality to improve quality of life for all residents.

25 economic, and other solutions and strategies to support the District. The CHHESS Report shall discuss

LEGISLATIVE DIGEST

[Administrative Code - African American Arts and Cultural District]

Ordinance amending the Administrative Code to establish the African American Arts and Cultural District in the Bayview Hunters Point neighborhood; to require City departments to submit written reports and recommendations to the Board of Supervisors and the Mayor describing the cultural attributes of the District, and proposing strategies to acknowledge and preserve the cultural legacy of the District; and to establish the African American Arts and Cultural District Community Advisory Committee to advise the City on the same matters; and affirming the Planning Department's determination under the California Environmental Quality Act.

Existing Law

The Board of Supervisors has recognized five neighborhoods with distinct cultural heritage as "cultural districts" in San Francisco. Chapter 107 of the Administrative Code outlines the process by which the Board intends to create new cultural districts in the future.

Amendments to Current Law

The proposed ordinance would establish the African American Arts and Cultural District in the Bayview Hunters Point neighborhood. The ordinance sets forth the geographic boundaries of the neighborhood and describes the neighborhood's rich cultural history, including the contributions of African American residents and businesses to the neighborhood's character.

The ordinance requires several City departments to prepare and submit reports to the Mayor's Office of Housing and Community Development by July 9, 2019. The reports will assess the assets and needs in the District, and will recommend programs, policies, and funding sources that could benefit the District and preserve its cultural legacy. The ordinance requires six City departments to prepare reports: the Historic Preservation Commission, the Office of Economic and Workforce Development, the Arts Commission, the Department of Public Works, the Planning Department, and the Human Rights Commission. After these reports are complete, the Mayor's Office of Housing and Community Development will prepare a Culture, History, Housing, and Economic Sustainability Strategy Report (CHHESS Report). The CHHESS Report will include a demographic and economic profile of the District, including past, current, and future trends; analyze and record the District's cultural heritage; identify areas of concern that could inhibit the preservation of the District's unique culture; and propose legislative, economic, and other solutions and strategies to support the District. By October 8, 2019, the Mayor's Office of Housing and Community Development will submit the report to the Board of Supervisors for the Board's consideration and possible approval. The Mayor's Office of Housing and Community Development will prepare additional progress reports every three years thereafter.

The ordinance also establishes the African American Arts and Cultural District Community Advisory Committee, a seven-member advisory body with members nominated by the District 10 Supervisor and appointed by the Board of Supervisors. The Committee will advise the Board of Supervisors, the Mayor, and the Mayor's Office of Housing and Community Development regarding strategies to support and preserve the culture and heritage of the African American Arts and Cultural District, and will provide input to City departments in the preparation of the reports described above.
