As a professional female working within the nonprofit sector with a national conservation organization and a technology manager; I embody a very diverse group of women seeking to represent their interests in participating in the neighborhood development and community open space access planning within the beautiful city of San Francisco. I believe that as the city continues to experience spectacular population growth and job access, the residents and community must make strides towards providing greater access to safe and practical open space options for all residents and particularly developing inclusive open space accessible for women of all ages and ethnicities that is secure and allows for flexible, inclusive use. I feel a strong connection to the vast open space and park access the sunset district provides and hope to facilitate increased communication among community members and local business on how to better engage with these resources and plan for community growth.

Business and/or professional experience:

I have been working for over 3 years with The Trust for Public Land, a nationally recognized conservation organization whose work has supported the protection and planned community use of open space and park development for over 40 years. As the Philanthropy Operations Manager I have direct experience on developing complex analytical systems that monitor and manage the diverse work of the organization. I have a deep respect for the mission of the organization and strive to incorporate my passion for parks and community space into my private life by being an active resident in the sunset district 4 neighborhood that is home to some of the most beautiful natural resources in the city, Golden Gate Park and Ocean Beach. Prior to my current role, I worked for the National Trust for Historic Preservation in Washington DC and became involved in working with the preservation community and that also included the protection of historic open space in addition to structures. I have a diverse public service background of 15 years in other arts and related nonprofit organizations. I truly enjoy public service and the mission of the organizations I've worked with and I look forward to participating with a committee that engages the community to support these and other great future projects.
