R. James Slaughter

Jamie Slaughter is a partner of the Keker & Van Nest law firm in San Francisco. Keker & Van Nest is a sixty lawyer litigation firm that devotes its practice exclusively to complex civil and criminal litigation.

In its January 2005 edition, The American Lawyer named Keker & Van Nest the "Litigation Boutique of the Year," singling out the firm for litigation success in high stakes matters. "Keker & Van Nest lawyers handle cases of national importance... Not only do they win consistently, they do so while working in an environment that is a model for the legal industry in the areas of diversity and pro bono."

Jamie has extensive experience in complex civil and white collar criminal matters. He has successfully represented companies (large and small) and individuals in breach of contract, fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, trade secret, copyright, trademark, and right of publicity cases. He has also represented individuals in matters with the Securities and Exchange Commission and Department of Justice, and numerous national law firms in professional negligence cases.

Jamie has tried, arbitrated, and mediated cases in state and federal courts in California, New York, Delaware, and around the country. He has spent substantial time protecting the interests of the leading designer and publisher of video games against copyright, trademark, and right of publicity challenges, including defeating multiple preliminary injunction motions that sought to prevent his client from releasing popular and highly anticipated games.

Jamie has a long-standing commitment to his community, both in and out of his law practice. Within his practice, he provides pro bono legal services for a number of clients, including the family of a young boy who was accidentally shot to death in a products liability trial against the gun manufacturer. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of Legal Services for Children, the Bay Area's leading non-profit that represents children in all manner of proceedings in state and federal courts. Jamie is also a board member of the San Francisco Municipal Railway Improvement Corporation. He previously served by Mayoral appointment on the San Francisco Taxicab Commission.

Jamie graduated from Yale College in 1991 and received his law degree from Yale Law School in 1997. Between college and law school Jamie was a political consultant, working on campaigns in the Bay Area and throughout California. Following law school, Jamie served as a law clerk for the Honorable Kim McLane Wardlaw of the United States District Court, Central District of California (now on the Ninth Circuit) and the Honorable Martin J. Jenkins of the United States District Court, Northern District of California (now on the California Court of Appeal).

Jamie lives in San Francisco with his wife and two sons.
