[Commending Shanghai Pride Week as China's first gay pride festival, and recognizing its organizers and the Chinese Government]

Resolution commending Shanghai Pride Week as China's first gay pride festival, and recognizing its organizers and the Chinese Government for their role in its actualization.

WHEREAS, Shanghai Pride Week took place the week of June 7 to 14, 2009 as China's first gay pride festival; and,

WHEREAS, Shanghai Pride Week symbolizes the steady growth and progress of the LGBT community in China; and,

WHEREAS, Homosexuality was frequently charged under "hooliganism" laws in China until 1997, and was described officially as a mental illness until 2001; and,

WHEREAS, The essential role of the Chinese government in allowing the realization of Shanghai Pride Week marks forward progress in acceptance towards LGBT Chinese citizens; and,

WHEREAS, Official statistics from China estimate the number of gay men and women to be around 30 million, or just under 3% of the population; and,

WHEREAS, The main organizers of Shanghai Pride, Tiffany Lemay and Hannah Miller, are two American women who have lived in Shanghai for a few years; and,

WHEREAS, They worked in collaboration with an international team including Dylan Chen, Kenneth Tan, Henry Rahardja, Charlene Liu, John Wheeler and Phil Osbourne; and,

WHEREAS, Shanghai Pride was organized with their hope to offer Shanghai's gay population the chance to be a little more visible and to know that they are welcomed and accepted; and,

1 WHEREAS, Shanghai Pride was organized with their hope to offer Shanghai's gay 2 population the chance to be a little more visible and to know that they are welcomed and 3 accepted; and,

4 WHEREAS, Shanghai Pride was commended in the China Daily state newspaper as 5 "sending a strong signal to the 1.3 billion Chinese about greater acceptance and tolerance";
6 now, therefore, be it
