1. Applicant: Universal Life Corral LLC (Rachel Ryan) (415) 613-6924
raquelbradley@gmail.com
2. Business name & address: The Stud, 1123 Folsom Street San Francisco, CA 94103
3. Mailing address: 101 28th Street #5 San Francisco, CA 94131
4. License type: New 90, switching from an existing 48
5. Proposed hours: 5 pm-2 am Monday-Friday, 11 am - 2 am Saturday-Sunday
6. The application was filed in-person on June 4, 2025
7. Posted a Public Notice of Application for Ownership Change in front window of premises for 30 days; served by mail the Notice of Intention to Engage in the Sale of Alcoholic Beverages (ABC-207E) to all neighbors within a 500-foot radius of the premises; signed and submitted Affidavit of Posting and Declaration of Service by Mail
8. The Stud is an LGBTQ cultural institution that has provided a place for community and creative expression for almost 60 years. It offers the neighborhood a place to enjoy art, performance, music, dancing and socializing. As an events-driven space, the Stud already offers live entertainment 5 days a week, so we are excited to switch over to a license that aligns with our business model.

Since reopening last year, we have maintained a solid working relationship with the Entertainment Commission to make sure that we operate in compliance with the decibel limits posted in our Entertainment Permit, and have finally obtained building permits from the city to start doing some renovations that will include soundproofing. We employ professional security and technical staff who monitor noise levels inside of the business, and remind patrons to keep down noise levels outside. Having security staff stationed outside the business should also help reduce crime on the block, and we will participate in daily cleaning of the sidewalks surrounding the building.

Other bars, restaurants and retail establishments will also benefit from The Stud's continued presence in SoMa — many people travel from across the Bay Area and beyond to visit our historic bar, and will be looking for other places in the neighborhood to check out while they are here. We also have good neighbor relationships with other local businesses including Rocco's, Decant, and NoshBox, and hope that our location on Folsom Street continues the symbiotic dynamic that many bar-and-restaurant-neighbors enjoy. We are especially excited about the new establishment of an Entertainment Zone along Folsom, and look forward to continuing to work with Soma West CBD and Supervisor Dorsey to help uplift many of the struggling businesses in our neighborhood as we honor Folsom Street's long history as an LGBTQ entertainment district.

One of the things that makes the Stud so special is that we are truly committed to the ethos of the sign that hung above our entrance: "Everybody is Welcome at the Stud." Many of the bars and clubs in San Francisco can be very cliquey and only cater to niche communities, whereas the Stud has always served a wide spectrum of people. And finally, we are open to hearing feedback from law enforcement, but hope that our many years of good standing in SoMa will enable us to move forward with this new license.
