LEGISLATIVE DIGEST

[EMT Certificate Fee Increase.]

Ordinance amending the San Francisco Business and Tax Regulations Code by amending Section 249.8 to increase fees for Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) certificates, and making environmental findings.

Existing Law

The current fee for an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) Certificate is $34. That $34 fee is charged when applying for an initial EMT Certificate and when renewing a current EMT Certificate.

Amendments to Current Law

The proposed ordinance would increase fees to reflect actual costs and to collect a required pass-through fee for the California Emergency Medical Services Authority (EMSA). Also, the proposed ordinance would set different fees for an initial EMT Certificate and for renewal of a current EMT Certificate. Under the proposed ordinance, the fee for an initial EMT Certificate would be $145 and the bi-annual fee to renew a current EMT Certificate would be $107.

Background Information

In September 2008, Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger signed Assembly Bill 2917, known as "EMT 2010," to reform emergency medical services in California. Among other things, EMT 2010 requires local Emergency Medical Services Agencies to collect a $75 fee from each initial EMT applicant and a $37 bi-annual fee from certified EMTs, and pass through those funds to the EMSA to use to establish a centralized online EMT registry system. The fees in the proposed ordinance include these amounts required under EMT 2010, as well as increases to cover the increased costs to the City in providing EMT Certificate services.
