RE: File 230167

President Peskin and Members of the Board of Supervisors:

I am returning File No. 230167 unsigned. San Francisco does not need another legislated task force. We need action. That's why I issued Executive Directive 23-01 in February of this year – to provide clear direction to departments to reduce permitting times by at least 50% by early next year. By creating a new task force and legislating other mandates, this ordinance adds additional bureaucracy in a permitting process that is already overly complicated. Instead, the leadership of these departments will continue to operate under the guidance of my Executive Directive 23-01 and implement these reforms now rather than wait even longer for recommendations from conversations that are duplicative in nature.

Instead of creating a new task force, we should work together to pass ordinances to remove barriers to approving and permitting housing and opening small businesses. I am working with many Supervisors to do just that, and I look forward to collaborating on policies that will actually make a difference for our City.

Sincerely,

London Breed

Asterisks (* * * *) indicate the omission of unchanged Code subsections or parts of tables.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco:

Section 1. California Environmental Quality Act.

The Planning Department has determined that the actions contemplated in this ordinance comply with the California Environmental Quality Act (California Public Resources Code Sections 21000 et seq.). Said determination is on file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors in File No. 230167 and is incorporated herein by reference. The Board affirms this determination.

Section 2. Findings.

(a) Officers and employees of the City must treat all permit applicants in an ethical, fair, expeditious, and courteous manner. If the Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, and the Department of Public Works determine to prioritize certain types of permits over others, they should do so in an open and transparent way with the input of departmental staff, oversight commissions, and the public.

(b) Requiring an open and transparent process of determining permit prioritization will reduce the possibility of favoritism or the appearance of impropriety between City officials and permit applicants and increase public confidence in the fairness and equity of departmental policies and procedures.

(c) Departmental permit review performance will improve with goal setting, data analysis, and increased coordination between permit review departments.

Section 3. Article III, Chapter 4, of the Campaign and Government Conduct Code is hereby amended by revising Section 3.400, to read as follows:

SEC. 3.400. PERMIT APPLICATION PROCESSING.

(a) EQUAL TREATMENT OF PERMIT APPLICANTS. It shall be the policy of the Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, the Department of Public Works and the officers and employees of such departments to treat all permit applicants the same regardless of the relationship of the applicant and/or the applicant's representatives to any officer or employee of the City and County and regardless of whether the applicant hires a permit consultant to provide permit consulting services. Intentional preferential treatment of any permit applicant and/or the applicant's representatives by any officer or employee of the Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, or the Department of Public Works shall subject the officer or employee to disciplinary action for official misconduct.

(b) APPLICATION PRIORITY. It shall be the policy of the Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, the Department of Public Works and the officers and employees of such departments to review, consider, and process all applications, revisions, corrections and other permit-related material in the order in which that type of material is received unless there is a written finding of a public policy basis for not doing so, such as the involvement of public funds in the project for which the permit is sought, or the response to a delay caused by an earlier procedural error in processing the permit or another permit for the same project. Absent such a finding, any officer or employee of the Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, or the Department of Public Works who intentionally fails to review, consider, and process all applications, revisions, corrections, and other permit-related material in the order in which that type of material is received shall be subject to disciplinary action for official misconduct. The Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, and the Department of Public Works shall each adopt written guidelines for determining when there is a public policy basis for processing permit material out of order and shall periodically review such guidelines ~~as provided in subsection (c) of this Section 3.400~~. For purposes of this ~~s~~*S*ection 3.400, and any corresponding written guidelines, expediting of work consisting primarily of disability access improvements for real property shall qualify as a public policy basis for processing permit material out of order, on a priority basis.

(c) PERIODIC REVIEW AND COORDINATION OF PERMIT PRIORITIZATION GUIDELINES. The Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, and the Department of Public Works shall review and update their respective permit prioritization guidelines as provided in this subsection (c).

(1) Interdepartmental Permit Prioritization Task Force Review of Permit Prioritization Guidelines.

(A) Establishment of Permit Prioritization Task Force. There is hereby established an interdepartmental Permit Prioritization Task Force ("Task Force") consisting of five members. Four members of the Task Force shall be appointed by the Director of the Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Director, the Public Works Director, and the President of the Board of Supervisors, respectively. All such appointees shall be City employees and shall serve at the pleasure of their appointing authority; the appointee of the President of the Board of Supervisors shall be an employee or official of the Board of Supervisors. The appointing authorities for the Task Force shall make their initial appointments no later than 60 days after the effective date of the ordinance in Board File No. 230167, creating the Task Force. The Director of the Permit Center or the Director's designee shall also be a member of the Task Force and shall serve as chair of the Task Force. The Permit Center shall provide administrative support to the Task Force.

(B) Powers and Duties of Task Force. The Task Force shall recommend permit prioritization guidelines for the Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, and the Department of Public Works to the respective department heads and oversight commissions. The Task Force shall create a recommended ~~endeavor to align the respective departments' guidelines to achieve a common~~ Citywide list of ~~the~~ prioritized permits and project types and shall use that list to recommend changes to the departments' respective permit prioritization guidelines, ~~types of permits each department will prioritize. Each department shall have discretion to designate department-specific priority permits.~~ The permit prioritization guidelines shall include a goal for the amount of time required for the department's review of each priority permit type.

(2) Department and Commission Review and Approval of Permit Prioritization Guidelines. The Building Inspection Commission, the Planning Commission, and the Public Works Commission shall approve the permit prioritization guidelines and any changes to such guidelines for the department each commission oversees. The department heads and oversight commissions shall consider the Task Force's Citywide list of prioritized permits and project types and the Task Force's recommendations in making modifications to the department's prioritization guidelines. Each department shall retain discretion to designate department-specific prioritized permits.

(3) No later than June 30, 2024, the Task Force shall approve the recommended Citywide list of prioritized permits and project types, make recommendations to t~~T~~he Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, and the Department of Public Works for updates to their respective prioritization guidelines, and each such department and oversight commission shall approve any modifications to its prioritization guidelines ~~shall complete the first review of their existing prioritization guidelines pursuant to this subsection (c) no later than December 31, 2023~~.

(4) Ongoing Review of Prioritization Guidelines. Following the first review process required by subsection (c)(3) of this Section 3.400, the Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, and the Department of Public Works shall review their prioritization guidelines prior to June 30, 2026 and no later than June 30 every other year thereafter and, with commission approval, make any changes deemed necessary or appropriate. The Director of the Permit Center may reconvene the Task Force by providing notice to the appointing authorities of the Task Force members, upon determining that it is in the public interest to modify the recommended Citywide list prioritized permits and project types and/or to recommend modifications to one or more of the departments' prioritization guidelines.

(5) Data Collection and Reporting. The Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, and the Department of Public Works shall collect data on the processing time for each permit type included in their respective permit prioritization guidelines. On an annual basis at least 60 days prior to the reporting deadline to the Mayor and Board of Supervisors specified in this subsection (c)(5), such departments shall each transmit to the Director of the Permit Center data concerning the department's average processing time for each prioritized permit type in the previous calendar year. The departments may separately report the average time the department is awaiting a response from the permit applicant per prioritized permit type, where such data is available. Where data is available, such departments shall also include data concerning the impact of prioritization on permit types that are not prioritized. Alternatively, the departments may provide the Director of the Permit Center direct access to their electronic permitting systems so that the Director may gather the required data. *The Director of the Permit Center shall compile such data and transmit an annual report to the Mayor and the Board of Supervisors no later than June 30, 2025*4*, and every year thereafter no later than June 30.*

(6) Sunset. This subsection (c) shall expire by operation of law, and the Task Force shall terminate, on June 30, 2030, unless extended by ordinance. No later than January 1, 2030, the Director of the Permit Center shall submit a recommendation to the Board of Supervisors and the Mayor concerning reauthorization of this subsection (c). In the event that this subsection expires, the City Attorney shall cause it to be removed from the Campaign and Governmental Conduct Code and shall renumber the subsections of this Section 3.400 to conform to the removal of subsection (c).

(*c*d) PERMIT PROCESSING CODE OF CONDUCT. No later than 60 days after the effective date of this Article, the Ethics Commission shall adopt a code of conduct for permit processing (the "Permit Processing Code of Conduct") containing ethical guidelines for permit applicants, permit consultants, and officers and employees of the Department of Building Inspection, the Planning Department, the and Department of Public Works. The Permit Processing Code of Conduct shall be posted in a conspicuous place in each department, and a copy shall be distributed to each officer of the City and County who makes or participates in making decisions related to permit applications.

Section 4. Effective Date. This ordinance shall become effective 30 days after enactment. Enactment occurs when the Mayor signs the ordinance, the Mayor returns the ordinance unsigned or does not sign the ordinance within ten days of receiving it, or the Board of Supervisors overrides the Mayor's veto of the ordinance.

Section 5. Scope of Ordinance. DEPARTMENT Financial Services | AGENDA NO. 6
MEETING DATE May 23, 2023

Public Hearing: Adopt Retail Water Rates for FYE 2024 through FYE 2026

Project Manager: Matthew Freiberg

Summary of Proposed Commission Action:	Public Hearing to consider and adopt a new three-year schedule of rates for retail water service in San Francisco and suburban areas to be effective with meter readings on or after July 1, 2023. This action constitutes the Approval Action for the Project for the purposes of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) pursuant to San Francisco Administrative Code section 31.04(h). The Planning Department has determined that this action is exempt from the CEQA. If the item is approved, the Commission will rely on that determination to make its decision.
Background:	Executive Summary San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC) staff developed the proposed water rates in conformance with the requirements of the San Francisco Charter, at section 8B.125, and the California Constitution, at Article XIII-D (Proposition 218). The rates proposal is the result of a year-long process that involved policy review, economic analysis, and public outreach. This work has been guided by the governance of a project charter and overseen by a project steering committee that included the General Manager, the SFPUC Executive Team and a staff working group from across the organization. As required by the Charter Section 8B.125, the rate proposal was developed with the support of an independent rate consultant that completed a cost-of-service analysis and rate design, consistent with the requirements of Proposition 218. The results of the study were also presented to the Rate Fairness Board. The findings of the study are summarized in the consultant's report titled the 2023 SFPUC Water and Wastewater Rate Study (2023 Rate Study). The 2023 Rate Study is comprised of three main components: a revenue requirement analysis, cost of service analysis, and rate design. After completing this rigorous process, and considering the recommendations of the independent rate consultant, SFPUC staff has determined rate increases are necessary to maintain revenue sufficiency and to meet operational goals. Over the next three years, Fiscal Year Ending (FYE) 2024 through FYE 2026, staff proposes to raise rates such that the average single family water bill increases by an average of 6% annually, as referenced in Table 1.

APPROVAL:

COMMISSION SECRETARY Donna Hood

Notes: Assumes 5/8" meter size and 4.8 CCF (centum (hundred) cubic feet or 748 gallons) monthly water usage. Bills are calculated excluding any drought surcharge that has been applied to the current variable charge.
Due to changes in cost allocations to customer classes and rate components as part of the cost-of-service analysis and rate design, bill increases will not exactly match the changes in rate revenue requirements in year one of the rate implementation. Bill increases will track with the proposed rate revenue requirements in all other years.

Overview of 2023 Water and Wastewater Rate Study

As required by the San Francisco Charter, the SFPUC retains an independent rate consultant at least every five years to evaluate the cost of service of the retail water and sewer systems and to recommend appropriate rate structures. The rate study is an engineering and financial exercise that explains the basis and rationale for proposed water rates, supported by a cost-of-service analysis, and provides an administrative record to satisfy the legal requirements of California's Proposition 218 and the Charter.

The previous water and wastewater rate study was completed in 2018 and supported rates for the four-year period beginning FY 2018-19 through FY 2021-22. The proposed rates of the next three years support the ongoing operations and maintenance costs, payments of debt service, and implementation of the SFPUC capital improvement program.

The SFPUC selected the consulting team of McGovern McDonald Engineering and Raftelis Financial Consulting as the independent rate consultant through a competitive Request for Proposals process. Staff and the independent rate consultant have been working on the 2023 SFPUC Water and Wastewater Rate Study since summer 2022. Staff have coordinated internally with the Water Enterprise leadership, Business Services, External Affairs, the General Manager's Office, and the Rate Fairness Board to receive input and management direction on a wide range of topics, including the impact of the drought and customer water conservation on the SFPUC's finances, capital financing forecasts, residential tiers, fixed/variable cost recovery, non-residential customer classes, as well as analysis of customer affordability.

This report presents the outcome of the 2023 Rate Study, highlighting each major task and outcome. This rate study is the basis for proposed water and sewer rate increases resulting in an 8.4% average annual increase, over the next three years, on the single family residential combined monthly bill as noted below in Table 2.

Retail Water Rate Change Rationale
The Water Enterprise has made significant progress on seismic improvements and upgrades to its water infrastructure through the Water System Improvement Program (WSIP). With the funding provided by rate increases approved in prior years, the SFPUC seismically upgraded reservoirs, replaced pipelines, and added new, modernized facilities. The cost of WSIP investments in the regional system is shared with the SFPUC's 27 wholesale customers. As of March 2022, approximately 99% of WSIP projects are complete, but additional capital projects are planned. These and other bond-funded capital projects are projected to increase debt service costs 14% over the next three years from $328.4 million in Fiscal Year Ending (FYE) 2023 to $373.7 million in FYE 2026. In addition, gradual increases in operating expenses are also projected to follow long term inflationary growth of 3% annually. Capital costs are significant drivers of rates; approximately 79% of every new dollar generated by the rate increase will cover water capital needs, either the payment of debt service or cash-funding of capital projects.

Historic Water Demand
As can be seen in Figure 1 below, retail water use held relatively constant following the conservation gains from 2014 -2016 drought with very little rebound. Water use has subsided again with the current drought and changes in demand characteristics due to the COVID-19 pandemic, with retail customers reducing their annual water use by 8.0% in 2023, compared to 2020. The revenues that would have been lost due to this level of conservation have been largely offset by drought surcharges that were authorized by the Commission the prior rate approval.

As of March 2023, retail customers have increased water usage by 4.1%, on a 12-month rolling basis, from their low point in 2022, but past experience and uncertainty around future water sales projections require a prudent approach to be taken in forecasting future demand.

Projected Water Demand

SFPUC projects a slight near term rebound in future water demands as the City recovers from COVID-19. However, over the longer-term, water use is projected to decline for a variety reasons: hardened water conservation customer behavior post-drought; replacement to more efficient water fixtures; better management of leaks; sensitivity to increasing water rates (price elasticity).

The shaded areas on Figure 1 illustrate the uncertainty in projected demand given the multiple unknowns that are being accounted for in projected water demand. While our financial plan was developed applying usage as shown in the dashed line plot, future water demands could possibly be higher or lower. If demands are higher than projected, SFPUC could implement lower rates than are recommended in this report. However, the financial plan accounts for the chance that water sales continue to decline. Our recommendations will allow the Water Enterprise to continue to meet SFPUC's financial obligation even with lower than projected water sales.

Independent Consultant – 2023 SFPUC Water and Wastewater Rate Study

SFPUC staff has worked closely with the independent rate consultant to analyze the current revenues and revenue requirements of the Water Enterprise, conducted a detailed review of the Enterprise's cost of service, and reviewed the current rate design. The Rate Study's recommended changes to retail water rates are designed to:

- Provide sufficient revenues for the operations, maintenance, and repair of the enterprise, consistent with industry best practices;
- Provide sufficient revenues to improve or maintain financial condition and bond ratings at or above levels equivalent to highly-rated utilities of each enterprise;

- Conform to all SFPUC financial policies;
- Meet requirements and covenants under all bond indentures; and
- Set rates based on cost of service and in compliance with State law.

The independent consultant has determined that rate increases are necessary to fund the projected operating and capital costs of the Enterprise. Detailed information on the projected revenue requirements, cost of service analysis, and rate design can be found in the 2023 Rate Study report, which is has been provided as an attachment to this report and which is available online at sfwater.org/rates.

Water Enterprise Revenue Requirements

The 2023 Rate Study compared the forecasted revenues of the utility to its forecasted operating and capital needs. Included in this forecast are the Water Enterprise's Commission approved FYE 2023 and FYE 2024 Budget, 10-Year Capital Plan, and 10-Year Financial Plan. This revenue requirement analysis determines if current rates are adequate to cover the projected annual operating and capital expenditures while meeting the enterprise financial obligations and SFPUC financial policies. This analysis identified that revenues under existing rates would be insufficient to fund the Enterprise's expected financial obligations.

If rates remained the same, the Enterprise would be unable to generate sufficient revenues to pay all projected costs and to meet debt service coverage and reserve targets. Holding rates at their current level would result in a failure to meet our debt service coverage target by FYE 2026, fund balancing dropping below the 90-day operating reserve by FYE 2027, and fund balancing being completely exhausted by FYE 2028. Based on the 2023 Rate Study analysis, the SFPUC is proposing a three-year adjustment to retail water rates increasing Water Enterprise revenues by 5% in FYE 2024, 5% in FYE 2025, and 5% in FYE 2026[1].

Cost of Service Analysis

The 2023 Rate Study completely updated the cost-of-service analysis for the Water Enterprise. The cost-of-service analysis serves as a rational basis for distributing the full costs of SFPUC's services to each customer class in proportion to the demands placed on the system. The analysis includes:

- A more detailed analysis of the allocation of costs to enterprise functions
- An update on demand assumptions for each customer class
- Detailed breakdown of costs to support cost of service analysis
- Revised system peaking assumptions based on recent customer demands
- Updated allocation of costs to each customer class

[1] Due to changes in cost allocations to customer classes and rate components as part of the cost-of-service analysis and rate design, bill increases will not exactly match the changes in rate revenue requirements in year one of the rate implementation. Bill increases will track with the proposed rate revenue requirements in all other years.

Rate Design

Water rate design analysis determines how the costs are recovered from each customer through specified water rates. The focus of this process is to achieve cost recovery and substantiate that customers are paying their fair and proportionate share of system costs. This is achieved by calculating rates for each customer class based on the respective customer classes system demands and the costs allocated to that class based on the cost-of-service analysis.

Rate Structure
The SFPUC's water rate structure consists of two components: (1) a monthly service charge based on meter sized (fixed) and (2) a commodity charge which is based on water volumetric charges derived from metered water usage (variable).

1. Fixed monthly service charges for residential and non-residential customers vary by meter size
2. Variable charge for residential customers is comprised of a two-tier, inclining block rate structure, while non-residential customers are charged a uniform commodity rate specific to their customer type

Proposed Rates
The Staff recommendation is to maintain the current water rate structure, but with updated rates that reflect the updated costs of service allocations, as shown in the attached report and resolution.

Affordability

Ratepayer affordability is a policy priority of the Commission and is a part of the Ratepayer Assurance Policy. Staff have performed analyses and developed recommendations for ways to support ratepayers who may be burdened by their utility bills. The SFPUC approved a level of service goal in 2012 to keep the average single family combined bill under 2.5% of the San Francisco median household income.

Using Census data, staff were able to identify and analyze the demographics of customers paying more than 2.5% of the median household income on water bills. This analysis found that of the approximately 160,000 who directly pay their water bills, approximately 17,000, or 11%, are "cost-burdened" with greater than 2.5% of their household income dedicated to their utility bill. These cost-burdened households are more likely to be families and women-led households, people of color, to be linguistically isolated (having no one over the age of 14 who speaks English well or very well), to be over 65, and/or to live in the southeast part of the city.

This analysis was used to inform changes to the existing Customer Assistance Program (CAP) in April 2023. In addition, staff are currently evaluating new affordability policies that take into consideration the bill impact of low-income customers as well as households earning the median income.

	Rate Fairness Board The proposed retail water rates have been presented to and discussed by the Rate Fairness Board (RFB) at eight public meetings over the past year, and more recently in more than 30 community outreach meetings to neighborhood groups, chambers of commerce, and environmental associations. The RFB's presentation on the proposed rates is also being presented at this May 23rd Commission meeting. Public Outreach and Education The SFPUC Communications Team has been engaged in important communication, outreach, and education on the water and wastewater rates proposal. The Team has reached out to more than 400 organizations to describe SFPUC services, why rate increases are needed, and what the impact will be on their monthly bill. Between February and May of 2023 we have offered stakeholder briefings to more than 30 organizations; invited more than 400 organizations and their members to attend three virtual town hall meetings; and launched a multi-lingual public marketing campaign that includes ads in four languages to educate the public about the rates proposal, invite them to the town hall meetings, and direct them to extensive information on a dedicated rates web page. We also created a one-stop-shop web page with information about how customers can save on their bill which includes information on discount programs, grants, rebates, and incentives. In addition, the team has engaged in multiple forms of communication to reach our ratepayers through the use of bill inserts, emails, physical flyers, social media, and targeted marketing using print, digital, and broadcast outlets. Special attention has been provided to BIPOC communities and people for whom English is a second language. This includes direct emails to 92,000 customers, geo-targeted Google ads, Facebook video ads, and ads with Univision, Sing Tao, and Fil-Am Radio. Public Notice & Rate Adoption Process In compliance with the notice requirements of California's Proposition 218, the SFPUC issued the attached official notices to customers and property owners informing them of the proposed rate changes and their right to submit a written protest against the proposed rates. The notice also informed customers and property owners that if the SFPUC receives written protest from a majority of affected property owners and customers the proposed rate increases will not take effect. Additionally, the notice informs customers that under California Government Code section 53759, there is a 120-day statute of limitations for challenging any new, increased, or extended fee or charge. Pursuant to Charter Section 16.112, a Notice of Public Hearing on the establishment of a schedule of rates was published in the official newspaper on April 12, 13, 14, 16, and 19, 2023 and posted on the SFPUC website and at the San Francisco Public Library, for a public hearing on May 23, 2023, with possible Commission action on this date. If approved by the Commission, these rates would take effect July 1, 2023, unless rejected by the Board of Supervisors, as provided in Charter section 8B.125.

Environmental Review:	On May 8, 2023 the San Francisco Planning Department determined the Project to be statutorily exempt from environmental review under the CEQA section 21080(b)(8) and the CEQA Guidelines section 15273 (Rates, Tolls, Fares, and Charges) (Case No. 2023-004066ENV), related to the establishment, modification, structuring, restructuring, or approval of rates, tolls, fares, or other charges. The exemption determination can be found here: https://sfpuc.sharefile.com/d-scf9d27e30321428a947c1215c95166ea This action constitutes the Approval Action for the Project for the purposes of the CEQA pursuant to San Francisco Administrative Code section 31.04(h).
Results of Inaction:	A delay or denial in approving this agenda item will result in no water rate changes for retail customers as of July 1, 2023. Delay or denial of the proposed rates will adversely impact the SFPUC's ability to meet projected revenue requirements for the Water Enterprise. SFPUC will be required to either defer capital projects, which will negatively impact the Enterprise's ability to continue to provide services to our customers or return to the Commission with an updated rate proposal that will need to be larger to account for the loss of revenue from delaying the implementation of rates.
Recommendation:	SFPUC staff recommends that the Commission adopt the attached resolution.

Section 6 - Drought Surcharge

If the Commission, at a publicly noticed meeting, adopts a resolution declaring a stage of water delivery reduction in accordance with the Retail Water Shortage Allocation Plan (i.e., Stage 1, Stage 2 or Stage 3), the following schedule of drought surcharges shall be applied to retail water rates as of the date of the Commission resolution or any effective date designated by the Commission. For residential customers, the surcharges shall be based on the assumption that the overall demand reduction is split evenly between Tier 1 and Tier 2. Each nonresidential customer shall incur the percent drought surcharge uniformly. The overall required surcharge is based on the final formula: surcharge ($ per ccf) = Water Revenue Shortfall from reduced flow/ Reduced Water Flow.

Water Shortage Contingency Plan Stage	Target Water Usage Reduction	Drought Surcharge on Volumetric Water & Wastewater Rates
Stages 1 - 3	5%	Up to 5%
Stage 4	5-18%	Up to 18%
Stage 5 - 6	18-32%	Up to 32%

The drought surcharges shall remain in effect until the Commission, at a publicly noticed meeting, adopts a resolution rescinding the water delivery reduction.

Section 7 – Effective Date

The rates for FYE 2024 set forth herein shall be effective for water meter readings made on or after July 1, 2023 or as soon thereafter as possible. The rates for FYE 2025 shall be effective for water meter readings made on or after July 1, 2024. The rates for FYE 2026 shall be effective for water meter readings made on or after July 1, 2025, and shall remain in effect until repealed, modified or superseded.

San Francisco Water Power Sewer
Services of the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission

Proposed Water and Sewer Rates for Fiscal Years Ending 2024-2026

Every day, the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC) generates clean energy, delivers high-quality water to 2.7 million Bay Area customers, and protects the environment and public health by treating wastewater and stormwater for San Francisco residents and businesses. Our work is almost exclusively funded by the rates that customers pay. Our systems work 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. We are a not-for-profit public utility whose rates reflect the true cost of operating, maintaining, and upgrading our water and sewer systems. To continue delivering the services that San Franciscans depend on, the SFPUC is proposing water and sewer rate increases, effective July 1, 2023.

Your Rates Pay For:

- 24/7 Operations
- Routine Maintenance and Emergency Repairs
- Infrastructure Improvements
- Conveyance and Treatment
- Environmental Monitoring
- Watershed and Land Management
- Community Programs

Your Dollars at Work

Water and sewer systems are critical to public health. The SFPUC is committed to providing customers with safe, reliable, and affordable drinking water and a combined sewer system that reduces flooding and protects the environment from pollution. These systems require ongoing maintenance and upgrades. Many parts of the SFPUC water system are nearly 100 years old, and the oldest parts of the sewer system date back to the Gold Rush. We need to continue to maintain and upgrade aging systems to prevent breaks, meet regulatory requirements, improve seismic safety, and adapt to storms as the climate changes. Your dollars pay for essential services and projects that protect public health.

Our Public Rate Setting Process

The SFPUC is committed to a transparent public rate setting process guided by the principles set forth in our Ratepayer Assurance Policy. As required by the San Francisco Charter, an independent rate consultant has completed a cost-of-service study. The rate study findings provide the basis for our rate proposal, which goes through an extensive public approval process. That process includes the Rate Fairness Board, comprising SFPUC customers and other appointees. The Rate Fairness Board holds public meetings and provides recommendations to ensure affordability, stability, and fairness.

Interested customers and other parties can provide comments on the proposed rates at the Rate Fairness Board and Commission hearings. To learn more about our rates package, rate setting process, and upcoming meetings, visit sfpuc.org/2023Rates.

Proposed Rates Schedule

The SFPUC is proposing to update the sewer rate structure and to update water and sewer rates effective July 1, 2023. The SFPUC's combined sewer system treats both wastewater and stormwater runoff. The new rate structure would split the sewer portion of bills into two parts: a wastewater component and a stormwater component. This new structure would not change the total amount of revenue collected by the SFPUC, but it would more scientifically and equitably allocate the existing costs of managing wastewater to ratepayers. This new structure would be gradually phased in over seven years.

The proposed new rate schedule represents an average monthly bill increase of $12.69 each year for the average single-family residential household in San Francisco (about 8.3% per year).

The following sections describe these bill components for residential and non-residential customers. Our website has examples of an average single-family monthly bill, as well as a bill calculator where you can develop personalized bill estimates. Visit sfpuc.org/2023Rates for the bill calculator and other useful information.

Bills contain two core elements: fixed charges that cover shared costs relevant to all customers and volumetric rates based on the amount of water used or wastewater produced.

Monthly Fixed Charges

Service charges are the same every month, regardless of water consumption.

Water service charges vary by meter size. Water service charges recover fixed costs, like customer service and billing, maintenance of water meters, and facilities used to provide water for fire protection that benefits all SFPUC customers.

Sewer service charges are the same for all sewer customers. Sewer service charges recover a portion of fixed costs associated with customer service and billing, which are the same for all SFPUC customers.

Stormwater service charges would be assessed on a three-tiered structure for residential customers, based on the total assessor's parcel size, with smaller parcels being charged a lower rate that gradually increases for larger parcels. Non-residential, mixed-use, and large residential parcels (over 6,000 square feet or with more than six dwelling units) would be charged based on their total permeable and impermeable surface area. Permeable surfaces, like planters and lawns, can absorb water except in large storms. Impermeable surfaces, like driveways and roofs, direct more water to — and impose more costs on — the sewer system. Stormwater charges recover the cost of stormwater-specific infrastructure and the stormwater portion of the combined system.

Fire sprinkler service charges are for properties with fire sprinklers or standpipes. These charges are calculated to recover costs for customer service, billing, and maintenance specific to private fire meters.

Volumetric Rates: Residential Customers

Residential water rates are billed based on metered water usage and have two tiers. For single-family properties, the first four units of water per month are billed the first-tier rate, and any additional units are billed the second-tier rate. For multi-family residential properties, the first three units of water per dwelling unit per month are billed the first-tier rate, while any additional units of water are billed the second-tier rate. The second tier is a higher unit rate to reflect the additional costs needed to reliably serve high-volume users 24/7.

Residential wastewater rates are billed based on the estimated volume of water that returns to the sewer system. The default volume for single-family residences is 90% of water usage; the default for multi-family residences is 95% of water usage. All discharge units of wastewater are billed at the same rate.

Volumetric Rates: Non-Residential Customers

Non-residential water rates are billed based on metered water usage. There are no tiers for non-residential customers.

Non-residential wastewater rates vary based on the volume of pollutants present in the discharge of various customer types. As a result, the rates shown in the table have four parts: a volumetric charge based on 90% of the customer's billed water consumption and three strength charges based on the concentration of pollutants in a customer's wastewater discharge. The concentrations are based on the type of business operated at the service address. Visit our website at sfpuc.org/2023Rates to look up the pounds of pollutants per unit of wastewater for your business type.

Temporary Drought Surcharge

A drought surcharge is a temporary charge that is levied only when the SFPUC Commission puts the SFPUC Water Shortage Contingency Plan into effect, requesting that customers reduce water usage. When implemented, the drought surcharge increases the volumetric water and wastewater rates for all customer types up to the percentages shown in the table on the right. These percentages are calculated to recover costs based on reduced billed volumes.

As an example, if the Commission declares a Stage 1 drought, asking customers to reduce water consumption by 5%, the SFPUC will analyze the forecasted reduced billed volumes and set a water and wastewater drought surcharge of up to 5%. For water, this 5% temporary surcharge would be applied to both tier rates for residential water customers and to the volumetric rate per unit for non-residential customers. For sewer, this surcharge would be applied to the volumetric rate per unit of wastewater discharge for residential and non-residential customers, as well as the rate per pound of pollutants for non-residential customers.

The SFPUC may set the percentage surcharge lower than shown on the table below to ensure that rates do not exceed the costs of providing water and wastewater services to customers.

Water Shortage Contingency Plan Stage	Target Water Usage Reduction	Drought Surcharge on Volumetric Water & Wastewater Rates
Stages 1 - 3	5%	Up to 5%
Stage 4	5-18%	Up to 18%
Stage 5 - 6	18-32%	Up to 32%

RE: CEQA Statutory Exemption Request
Retail Water and Wastewater Rates Fiscal Year End 2024-2026

Dear Ms. Moore,

The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC or Commission) proposes to adopt retail water and wastewater rate schedules for fiscal year end (FYE) 2024 through FYE 2026. SFPUC recommends that the proposed adoption of the retail water and wastewater rate schedules by the Commission is statutorily exempt from the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) under Public Resources Code Section 21080(b)(8) and CEQA Guidelines Section 15273 (Rates, Tolls, Fares, and Charges) related to the establishment, modification, structuring, restructuring, or approval of rates, tolls, fares, or other charges.

BACKGROUND

In accordance with Section 8B.125 of the Charter of the City and County of San Francisco, the SFPUC retained an independent rate consultant, McGovern McDonald Engineering and Raftelis Financial Consulting, which prepared the 2023 SFPUC Water and Wastewater Rate Study (2023 rate study). The 2023 rate study determined that the projected revenues under existing retail water rates, together with other revenues of the Water Enterprise, will be insufficient to meet the revenue requirements of the SFPUC Water Enterprise as projected in the Water Enterprise 10-Year Financial Plan.

SFPUC staff has also determined, based on the 2023 rate study, that wastewater rate increases are necessary to maintain revenue sufficiency and to meet operational goals. The 2023 rate study determined that the wastewater service revenues under existing rates will be insufficient to meet revenue requirements of the Wastewater Enterprise as projected in the Wastewater Enterprise 10-Year Financial Plan. SFPUC also proposes the following wastewater rate design changes:

- Bifurcate the sewer rates into two components, one associated with the collection and treatment of wastewater, and a second related to the collection and treatment of stormwater.
- Phase in the implementation of the stormwater charges over a seven year period.

The proposed retail water and wastewater rate increases are shown in Attachment 1: Proposed Water and Sewer Rates for Fiscal Years Ending 2024-2026.

If the Commission, at a publicly noticed meeting, adopts a resolution declaring a stage of water delivery reduction in accordance with the Retail Water Shortage Allocation Plan (i.e., Stage 1, Stage 2 or Stage 3), the following schedule of drought surcharges would be applied to retail water rates. For residential customers, the surcharges would be based on the assumption that the overall demand reduction is split evenly between Tier 1 and Tier 2.

Table 1: Drought Surcharge

Water Shortage Contingency Plan Stage	Target Water Usage Reduction	Drought Surcharge on Volumetric Water and Wastewater Rates
Stages 1-3	5%	Up to 5%
Stage 4	5 – 18%	Up to 18%
Stages 5-6	18 – 32%	Up to 32%

The drought surcharges would remain in effect until the Commission, at a publicly noticed meeting, adopts a resolution rescinding the water delivery reduction.

SFPUC is also proposing a Stormwater Credit Program, which would provide a reduction to the stormwater component of the SFPUC sewer service bill for customers who manage stormwater on their property using green infrastructure. The stormwater credit will be based on the area of a customer's property that contributes stormwater to green infrastructure facilities. SFPUC would calculate the total amount of the credit that would appear on the customer's monthly utility bill as a percentage discount off of the stormwater charge, according to Table 2 below.

Table 2: Stormwater Credit

Drainage Management Area	Simplified Residential Stormwater Rate Tiers			Monthly Credit (% of Stormwater Charge)
	Tier 1	Tier 2	Tier 3
	Impermeable DMA (sq ft)
Ground Level	100-200	200-400	300-600	15%
	>200	>400	>600	25%
Roof	400-600	600-900	800-1,200	40%
	>600	>900	>1,200	60%

Adoption of the action is scheduled for the public hearing before the Commission on May 23, 2023.

CEQA COMPLIANCE RECOMMENDATION

Public Resources Code Section 21080(b)(8) and CEQA Guidelines Section 15273 (Rates, Tolls, Fares, and Charges) Subsection (a)(1-5) provides a statutory exemption from CEQA for the establishment, modification, structuring, restructuring, or approval of rates, tolls, fares, or other charges by public agencies for the purposes of:

1. Meeting operating expenses, including employee wage rates and fringe benefits,
2. Purchasing or leasing supplies, equipment, or materials,
3. Meeting financial reserve needs and requirements,
4. Obtaining funds for capital projects, necessary to maintain service within existing service areas, or
5. Obtaining funds necessary to maintain such intra-city transfers as are authorized by city charter.

Proposed Water and Sewer Rates for Fiscal Years Ending 2024-2026

Every day, the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC) generates clean energy, delivers high-quality water to 2.7 million Bay Area customers, and protects the environment and public health by treating wastewater and stormwater for San Francisco residents and businesses. Our work is almost exclusively funded by the rates that customers pay. Our systems work 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. We are a not-for-profit public utility whose rates reflect the true cost of operating, maintaining, and upgrading our water and sewer systems. To continue delivering the services that San Franciscans depend on, the SFPUC is proposing water and sewer rate increases, effective July 1, 2023.

Your Rates Pay For:

- 24/7 Operations
- Routine Maintenance and Emergency Repairs
- Infrastructure Improvements
- Conveyance and Treatment
- Environmental Monitoring
- Watershed and Land Management
- Community Programs

Your Dollars at Work

Water and sewer systems are critical to public health. The SFPUC is committed to providing customers with safe, reliable, and affordable drinking water and a combined sewer system that reduces flooding and protects the environment from pollution. These systems require ongoing maintenance and upgrades. Many parts of the SFPUC water system are nearly 100 years old, and the oldest parts of the sewer system date back to the Gold Rush. We need to continue to maintain and upgrade aging systems to prevent breaks, meet regulatory requirements, improve seismic safety, and adapt to storms as the climate changes. Your dollars pay for essential services and projects that protect public health.

Our Public Rate Setting Process

The SFPUC is committed to a transparent public rate setting process guided by the principles set forth in our Ratepayer Assurance Policy. As required by the San Francisco Charter, an independent rate consultant has completed a cost-of-service study. The rate study findings provide the basis for our rate proposal, which goes through an extensive public approval process. That process includes the Rate Fairness Board, comprising SFPUC customers and other appointees. The Rate Fairness Board holds public meetings and provides recommendations to ensure affordability, stability, and fairness.

Interested customers and other parties can provide comments on the proposed rates at the Rate Fairness Board and Commission hearings. To learn more about our rates package, rate setting process, and upcoming meetings, visit sfpuc.org/2023Rates.

Proposed Rates Schedule

The SFPUC is proposing to update the sewer rate structure and to update water and sewer rates effective July 1, 2023. The SFPUC's combined sewer system treats both wastewater and stormwater runoff. The new rate structure would split the sewer portion of bills into two parts: a wastewater component and a stormwater component. This new structure would not change the total amount of revenue collected by the SFPUC, but it would more scientifically and equitably allocate the existing costs of managing wastewater to ratepayers. This new structure would be gradually phased in over seven years.

The proposed new rate schedule represents an average monthly bill increase of $12.69 each year for the average single-family residential household in San Francisco (about 8.3% per year).

The following sections describe these bill components for residential and non-residential customers. Our website has examples of an average single-family monthly bill, as well as a bill calculator where you can develop personalized bill estimates. Visit sfpuc.org/2023Rates for the bill calculator and other useful information.

Bills contain two core elements: fixed charges that cover shared costs relevant to all customers and volumetric rates based on the amount of water used or wastewater produced.

Monthly Fixed Charges

Service charges are the same every month, regardless of water consumption.

Water service charges vary by meter size. Water service charges recover fixed costs, like customer service and billing, maintenance of water meters, and facilities used to provide water for fire protection that benefits all SFPUC customers.

Sewer service charges are the same for all sewer customers. Sewer service charges recover a portion of fixed costs associated with customer service and billing, which are the same for all SFPUC customers.

Stormwater service charges would be assessed on a three-tiered structure for residential customers, based on the total assessor's parcel size, with smaller parcels being charged a lower rate that gradually increases for larger parcels. Non-residential, mixed-use, and large residential parcels (over 6,000 square feet or with more than six dwelling units) would be charged based on their total permeable and impermeable surface area. Permeable surfaces, like planters and lawns, can absorb water except in large storms. Impermeable surfaces, like driveways and roofs, direct more water to — and impose more costs on — the sewer system. Stormwater charges recover the cost of stormwater-specific infrastructure and the stormwater portion of the combined system.

Fire sprinkler service charges are for properties with fire sprinklers or standpipes. These charges are calculated to recover costs for customer service, billing, and maintenance specific to private fire meters.

Volumetric Rates: Residential Customers

Residential water rates are billed based on metered water usage and have two tiers. For single-family properties, the first four units of water per month are billed the first-tier rate, and any additional units are billed the second-tier rate. For multi-family residential properties, the first three units of water per dwelling unit per month are billed the first-tier rate, while any additional units of water are billed the second-tier rate. The second tier is a higher unit rate to reflect the additional costs needed to reliably serve high-volume users 24/7.

Residential wastewater rates are billed based on the estimated volume of water that returns to the sewer system. The default volume for single-family residences is 90% of water usage; the default for multi-family residences is 95% of water usage. All discharge units of wastewater are billed at the same rate.

Volumetric Rates: Non-Residential Customers

Non-residential water rates are billed based on metered water usage. There are no tiers for non-residential customers.

Non-residential wastewater rates vary based on the volume of pollutants present in the discharge of various customer types. As a result, the rates shown in the table have four parts: a volumetric charge based on 90% of the customer's billed water consumption and three strength charges based on the concentration of pollutants in a customer's wastewater discharge. The concentrations are based on the type of business operated at the service address. Visit our website at sfpuc.org/2023Rates to look up the pounds of pollutants per unit of wastewater for your business type.

Temporary Drought Surcharge

A drought surcharge is a temporary charge that is levied only when the SFPUC Commission puts the SFPUC Water Shortage Contingency Plan into effect, requesting that customers reduce water usage. When implemented, the drought surcharge increases the volumetric water and wastewater rates for all customer types up to the percentages shown in the table on the right. These percentages are calculated to recover costs based on reduced billed volumes.

As an example, if the Commission declares a Stage 1 drought, asking customers to reduce water consumption by 5%, the SFPUC will analyze the forecasted reduced billed volumes and set a water and wastewater drought surcharge of up to 5%. For water, this 5% temporary surcharge would be applied to both tier rates for residential water customers and to the volumetric rate per unit for non-residential customers. For sewer, this surcharge would be applied to the volumetric rate per unit of wastewater discharge for residential and non-residential customers, as well as the rate per pound of pollutants for non-residential customers.

The SFPUC may set the percentage surcharge lower than shown on the table below to ensure that rates do not exceed the costs of providing water and wastewater services to customers.

Water Shortage Contingency Plan Stage	Target Water Usage Reduction	Drought Surcharge on Volumetric Water & Wastewater Rates
Stages 1 - 3	5%	Up to 5%
Stage 4	5-18%	Up to 18%
Stage 5 - 6	18-32%	Up to 32%

Periodically the SFPUC undertakes rate studies to ensure the rates customers are charged reflect the true cost of providing our services. Adjustments are then proposed to ensure all customers are treated fairly, uninterrupted services are provided, strict environmental regulations can be met, and the financial stability of our assets and systems are maintained long-term.

Revised Notice of Public Hearing on Proposed Water and Sewer Rates

S.F. Public Utilities Commission Meeting
Revised Hearing Date: Tuesday, May 23, 2023 at 1:30 p.m.
San Francisco City Hall, Room 400
1 Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett Place

This is the second notice regarding these proposed water and sewer rates.
The meeting date for the rate hearing has been rescheduled to May 23, 2023, at 1:30 pm. No other changes have been made to the proposed rates.

In accordance with Article XIII D, Section 6, of the California Constitution (also known as Proposition 218), you have the right to submit a written protest against the proposed water and sewer rates. The proposed rate increases will not take effect if the SFPUC receives written protests from a majority of the affected property owners and customers.

Written protests must be mailed to the SFPUC Commission Secretary at the address below or hand delivered to the Commission Secretary at the May 23, 2023 Commission public hearing in order to be counted.

Protests may not be delivered electronically or verbally. Any written protest must: (1) state that the identified property owner or customer is in opposition to the proposed rates increase; (2) provide the location of the identified parcel (by assessor's parcel number, street address, or customer account); and (3) include the name and signature of the person submitting the protest.

Although oral comments at the public hearing will not qualify as a formal protest unless accompanied by a written protest, the SFPUC welcomes input from the community during the public hearing on the proposed water and sewer rates. Only one protest may be registered per property.

Mail Protests to:
SFPUC Commission Secretary
525 Golden Gate Avenue, 13th Floor

1. Executive Summary

1.1. Background

Section 8B.125 of the San Francisco Charter states that the SFPUC shall "retain an independent rate consultant to conduct rate and cost of service studies for each utility at least every five years." The SFPUC last conducted a water and wastewater cost of service study in 2018, which established the basis for the SFPUC's existing water and wastewater retail rates currently in effect in FY 2023.

The SFPUC engaged McGovern McDonald Engineers (MME) and Raftelis (sub-consultant to MME) in 2022 to conduct this water and wastewater cost of service study to establish a proposed three-year water and wastewater retail rate schedule for FY 2024-FY 2026. Water and wastewater rates for wholesale customers are not within the scope of this study. The major study objectives are to:

- Develop multi-year financial plans for the SFPUC's Water Enterprise and Wastewater Enterprise that sufficiently fund operations and maintenance (O&M) expenses, debt service payments, and capital expenditures while adequately funding reserves and achieving debt coverage requirements.
- Conduct cost of service analyses that establish a clear nexus between the cost to serve retail water and wastewater customers and the rates charged to customers, per Proposition 218 and industry standards.
- Review the SFPUC's existing retail water and wastewater rate structures to ensure that proposed rates achieve the financial and policy objectives of the agency.
- Develop and introduce a stormwater charge to recover costs associated with wet weather flows and treatment.
- Develop a three-year water and sewer rate schedule for retail customers that are fair, equitable, and compliant with Proposition 218 requirements.

1.2. Process and Approach

The study is informed by the SFPUC's policy objectives, current retail water and wastewater rates, as well as the legal requirements in California (namely, Proposition 218). The resulting cost of service analyses and rate design process considers all these factors and follows four key steps, outlined below, to derive proposed rates that fulfill the SFPUC's policy objectives, meet industry standards, and align with Proposition 218.

Step 1: Revenue Requirement Calculation

The rate-making process begins by determining the revenue requirement for the base year, also known as the test year or rate-setting year. The base year for this study is FY 2024 (July 1, 2023 to June 30, 2024). The revenue requirement should sufficiently fund the utility's O&M costs, annual debt service, capital project expenses, and reserve funding as projected in the SFPUC's budget and 10-Year Financial Plans.

Step 2: Cost of Service Analysis

The annual cost of providing the utility service, or the revenue requirement, is then distributed among customer classes commensurate with their cost burden on the system. A cost of service analysis involves the following steps:

- Functionalize costs – Expenses are categorized into system functions such as supply, treatment, and pumping for water and primary treatment, secondary treatment, and solids handling for wastewater.

- Allocate costs to cost components – The functionalized costs are then allocated to system cost components such as water supply, base delivery, and extra capacity for water and flow, chemical oxygen demand, and total suspended solids for wastewater.
- Develop unit costs – Unit costs for each cost component are determined using appropriate units of service such as the number of customer accounts, equivalent meter units, water use, and wastewater flows.
- Distribute cost components – The cost components are allocated to each customer class by applying unit costs to each customer class in proportion to each class's units of service.

Step 3: Rate Design and Calculation

After allocating the revenue requirement for each system to its corresponding customer classes, the rate design and calculation begins. Rates do more than simply recover costs; within the legal framework and industry standards, properly designed rates should support the SFPUC's policy objectives while adhering to cost of service principles. In addition to being a financial instrument, rates help communicate policy objectives to customers. The rate design process also includes a customer bill impact analysis.

Step 4: Report Preparation and Rate Adoption

The final step in a cost of service and rate study is to develop a formal report in preparation for the rate adoption process. The report documents the rate study results and presents the methodologies, rationale, justifications, and calculations used to derive the proposed rates. A thorough and methodical report serves two important functions: it derives the rates and shows the nexus to costs and communicates the rate adoption process to customers and other important stakeholders.

1.3. Retail Water Rate Study Summary

Existing Retail Water Rates

The SFPUC's current water rates for retail customers in FY 2023 have been in effect since July 1, 2021. Retail water customers are billed monthly and currently are subject to the following rates and charges:

- A Fixed Monthly Service Charge that varies based on meter size
- A Private Fire Service Fixed Monthly Service Charge that varies based on service size (these charges apply only to customers with a dedicated private fire service connection such as a fire sprinkler system, standpipe, or other private fire service)
- Variable Charges per 100 cubic feet (CCF) of water delivered that vary based on customer class
- Drought Surcharges: Drought Surcharges are effective only when the Commission adopts a resolution declaring Stage 1, Stage 2, or Stage 3 of the Retail Water Shortage Allocation Plan to be in effect. Drought Surcharges are assessed as a percentage of Variable Charges and were set to 5% of Variable Charges in FY 2022 and FY 2023, but were formally rescinded effective May 2023.[1]

[1] At the time the financial plan analysis was conducted, it was anticipated that Drought Surcharges would remain in effect through FY 2024. Since the analysis was completed, however, the Commission formally rescinded Drought Surcharges effective May 1, 2023 due to significant recent improvement in drought conditions. SFPUC staff conducted a sensitivity analysis indicating that the Water Enterprise will continue to be able to meet its goals and financial obligations, even with the removal of Drought Surcharges in FY 2024.

Proposed Water Enterprise Financial Plan

Water Enterprise Financial Plan Overview

MME and Raftelis prepared a water utility financial plan model in Microsoft Excel to project the SFPUC Water Enterprise's revenues, expenses, cash flows, reserve balances, and debt coverage over a multi-year period. Although proposed retail water rates developed in this study are for the next three fiscal years only (FY 2024 to FY 2026), the financial plan extends out ten fiscal years through FY 2033 to ensure that a longer-term planning horizon is accounted for in the rate-setting process. Note that the water financial plan projections developed for this study correspond to, and are aligned with, the SFPUC staff's own 10-Year Financial Plan, which is updated on an annual basis as part of staff's on-going financial management processes.

Status Quo Water Enterprise Financial Plan

A status quo cash flow analysis was first conducted to evaluate whether existing retail water rates can adequately fund the Water Enterprise's various expenses over the next ten years. This provided a baseline scenario from which to evaluate the need for any proposed rate increases. Under the status quo scenario (i.e., no rate increases), the Water Enterprise is projected to fully deplete its cash reserves in FY 2028 (Figure 1-1) and fail to meet its debt coverage target beginning in FY 2026 (Figure 1-2). This demonstrates the insufficiency of existing rates to support the Water Enterprise's financial needs over the next ten years.

SFPUC staff evaluated various revenue adjustment scenarios before arriving at the proposed and planned revenue adjustments (i.e., overall annual rate increases) shown below in Table 1-1. Note that although this report includes ten-year financial projections, SFPUC staff is only recommending that the Commission consider adoption of three years of proposed rates (i.e., FY 2024-FY 2026). All revenue adjustments beyond FY 2026 are for planning purposes only. All revenue adjustments are assumed to become effective at the beginning of each fiscal year in July.

With the addition of revenue adjustments, the Water Enterprise's reserve balance (see Figure 1-3) is projected to meet the minimum required level in all years and debt coverage (see Figure 1-4) is projected to meet the target level in all years. Reserves are projected to be drawn down gradually to fund near-term capital needs. The proposed financial plan demonstrates a multi-year plan that generates sufficient revenue to support the Water Enterprise's financial needs and meet the SFPUC's official financial policies.

Water Cost of Service Analysis

Raftelis performed a water cost of service analysis for FY 2024 in accordance with industry-standard principles outlined by the American Water Works Association in its Principles of Water Rates, Fees, and Charges: Manual of Water Supply Practices M1, Seventh Edition. The cost of service analysis evaluates each customer class's cost burden on the water system, and then proportionally allocates the overall retail rate revenue requirement to each customer class. A comparison of the proposed cost of service to the current cost of service[2] is shown in Table 1-2.[3] Most customer classes experience a relatively minor distributional impact from the proposed cost of service allocations due to changes in Water Enterprise cost structure, customer water use patterns, and methodological refinements made since the prior water cost of service study in 2018.

Proposed Retail Water Rates

All proposed rates shown are consistent with the SFPUC's existing retail water rate structure. No changes to the existing system of Drought Surcharges are proposed as part of this study. Current and proposed/projected water rates are shown in Table 1-3. Note that SFPUC staff is only recommending that the Commission consider adoption of the three years of proposed rates through FY 2026. All rates shown beyond FY 2026 are projections for planning purposes only. Proposed FY 2024 rates were established based on the results of the water cost of service analysis. Proposed and projected rates in FY 2025 to FY 2028 were established by increasing all proposed FY 2024 rates by the proposed and projected revenue adjustments (shown previously in Table 1-1). All rates are proposed to become effective on July 1 of each fiscal year.

[2] The current cost of service in Column B of Table 1-2 represents the amount of revenue each customer class is projected to generate in FY 2024 based on existing water rates.

[3] Retail water rate revenue from customers with rates based on contracts with the SFPUC, as well as all drought surcharge revenue, is excluded from Table 1-2, as these revenues are outside the scope of the water cost of service analysis.

1.4. Retail Wastewater Rate Study Summary

Existing Retail Wastewater Rates

The SFPUC's current wastewater rates for retail customers in FY 2023 have been in effect since July 1, 2021 and are shown in Table 1-4. The rates shown include:

- A Fixed Monthly Service Charge that is the same for both residential and non-residential customers
- Variable Charges per 100 CCF of discharge that vary based on whether the customer is residential or non-residential
- Chemical Oxygen Demand (COD) per pound in 100 CCF of discharge that is charged to non-residential users. Residential users have this charge included in their volumetric charges.
- Total Suspended Solids (TSS) Charges per pound in 100 CCF of discharge that is charged to non-residential users. Residential users have this charge included in their volumetric charges.
- Oil and Grease (OG) Charges per pound in 100 CCF of discharge that is charged to non-residential users. Residential users have this charge included in their volumetric charges.

The SFPUC does not currently have separate stormwater charges. The SFPUC does have a monthly sewer service attributable to runoff charge for properties who do not have water and wastewater service agreements (Table 1-5). The current sewer rates shown in Table 1-4 recover the cost of providing both wastewater and stormwater service for most accounts, with a smaller amount being collected by the sewer service attributable to runoff charges shown in Table 1-5.

Wastewater Enterprise Financial Plan Overview

The MME and Raftelis team prepared a wastewater financial plan model in Microsoft Excel to project the SFPUC Wastewater Enterprise's revenues, expenses, cash flows, reserve balances, and debt coverage over a multi-year period. Although proposed retail sewer rates developed in this study are for the next three fiscal years only (FY 2024 to FY 2026), the financial plan extends out ten fiscal years through FY 2033 to ensure that a longer-term planning horizon is accounted for in the rate-setting process. Note that the financial plan projections developed for this study correspond to, and are aligned with, the SFPUC staff's own 10-Year Financial Plan, which is updated on an annual basis as part of staff's on-going financial management processes.

Status Quo Wastewater Enterprise Financial Plan

A status quo cash flow analysis was first conducted to evaluate whether existing retail water rates can adequately fund the Wastewater Enterprise's various expenses through FY 2033. This provided a baseline scenario from which to evaluate the need for any proposed rate increases. Under the status quo scenario (i.e., no rate increases over the next five years), the Wastewater Enterprise is projected to deplete its cash reserves by FY 2025 (Figure 1-8) and fail to meet its debt coverage requirements (per existing bond covenants) beginning in FY 2026 (Figure 1-9). This demonstrates the insufficiency of existing rates to support the Wastewater Enterprise's financial needs over the next five years.

Proposed Wastewater Enterprise Financial Plan

SFPUC staff evaluated various revenue adjustment scenarios before arriving at the proposed and planned revenue adjustments (i.e., overall annual rate increases) shown below in Table 1-6. Nine percent revenue adjustments are proposed annually in FY 2024-FY 2026. Because this study developed proposed rates for the next three years only (FY 2024-FY 2026), the revenue adjustments shown in FY 2027 through FY 2033 are for planning purposes only and will be reevaluated as part of the next rate study. All revenue adjustments are assumed to become effective at the beginning of each fiscal year on the first of July.

Table 1-6: Proposed Wastewater Enterprise Revenue Adjustments

Line	Fiscal Year	Proposed Revenue Adjustment	Effective Date	Notes
1	FY 2024	9.0%	7/1/2023	Proposed
2	FY 2025	9.0%	7/1/2024	Proposed
3	FY 2026	9.0%	7/1/2025	Proposed
4	FY 2027	10.0%	7/1/2026	For Near-Term Planning Purposes Only
5	FY 2028	10.0%	7/1/2027	For Near-Term Planning Purposes Only
6	FY 2029	10.0%	7/1/2028	For Long-Term Planning Purposes Only
7	FY 2030	9.0%	7/1/2029	For Long-Term Planning Purposes Only
8	FY 2031	9.0%	7/1/2030	For Long-Term Planning Purposes Only
9	FY 2032	5.0%	7/1/2031	For Long-Term Planning Purposes Only
10	FY 2033	5.0%	7/1/2032	For Long-Term Planning Purposes Only

With the addition of revenue adjustments, the Wastewater Enterprise's reserve balance (see Figure 1-10) is projected to meet the minimum required level (per the SFPUC's Fund Balance Reserve Policy) each year. Debt coverage (see Figure 1-11) is projected to meet the SFPUC's required level (per the SFPUC's Debt Service Coverage Policy) in all years per the SFPUC's bond covenants. The proposed financial plan demonstrates a five-year plan that generates sufficient revenue to support the Wastewater Enterprise's financial needs and meet the SFPUC's official financial policies.

Sewer Cost of Service Analysis

MME and Raftelis completed a sewer cost of service analysis for FY 2024 in accordance with industry-standard principles outlined by the Water Environment Federation's Manual of Practice No. 27, Financing and Charges for Wastewater Systems. The cost of service analysis evaluates each customer class's cost burden on the sewer system, and then proportionally allocates the overall retail rate revenue requirement to each customer class.

As part of the cost of service analysis, sewer costs were split between the wastewater related costs for sanitary sewer service and stormwater related costs for the collection and treatment of runoff from properties. Currently, stormwater-related costs are recovered as part of wastewater rates. By splitting these costs, SFPUC will be able to enhance the equity in its rate structure by establishing a stormwater change in addition to its wastewater rates. Under this new methodology, all customers will be billed for the total flows that they contribute to SFPUC's combined sewer system. Table 1-7 shows the overall FY 2024 Wastewater Enterprise cost of service is $389,190,725. Wastewater costs represent 77.5% and stormwater costs represent 22.5% of the total.

Table 1-7: Summary of FY 2024 Cost of Service for Wastewater and Stormwater

Line	Service	Total $	% of Total
1	Wastewater	$301,471,528	77.5%
2	Stormwater	$87,719,197	22.5%
3	Total	$389,190,725	100.0%

A comparison of the proportional share of each wastewater customer class contributes to the FY 2024 cost of service as compared to the current cost of service is shown in Table 1-8. Despite the shift in stormwater costs out of the wastewater rates, the proportionate share of costs for each customer class remains relatively unchanged, as shown in Column C and Column D.

Proposed Retail Wastewater Rates

The rates presented by MME and Raftelis in Section 8, are designed to recover the FY 2024 wastewater portion of the sewer revenue requirement of $301,471,528 as well as the FY 2024 stormwater portion of the sewer revenue requirement of $87,719,197. This change would result in significant bill impacts on customers for parcels with large impermeable surface areas. The SFPUC's Ratepayer Assurance Policy principles of Affordability and Predictability suggests that major rate structure changes should take place over a few years instead of all at once. The SFPUC proposed sewer rates - which are discussed further in Section 9 - are phased in so that by FY 2030 they will fully recover the cost allocation as defined in Section 8. To phase in rates, wastewater rates will continue to include, albeit on a decreasing level each year, a portion of stormwater-related costs. The proposed wastewater rates for FY 2024 through FY 2026 as well as the projected rates for FY 2027 and FY 2028 are shown in Table 1-9.

2. Introduction

The SFPUC is a public agency of the City and County of San Francisco that provides water, wastewater, and municipal power services to San Francisco. The SFPUC is responsible for the maintenance, operation, and development of three utility enterprises: the Water Enterprise, the Wastewater Enterprise, and the Power Enterprise. The SFPUC's enterprises are operated and managed as separate financial entities with separate enterprise funds.

2.1. Water Enterprise Overview

The SFPUC is the largest water purveyor in Northern California, serving a population of nearly 2.7 million people in over 30 cities. Customers are divided into three categories: retail customers in the City and County of San Francisco, wholesale agencies on the San Francisco Peninsula, in the South Bay, and parts of the East Bay, and retail customers outside of San Francisco. About one-third of the SFPUC's water supply is served to retail customers, the remaining two-thirds is served to wholesale customers. Source water comes from three systems including: (1) the Hetch Hetchy system (Hetch Hetchy, Lake Lloyd, and Lake Eleanor Reservoirs), (2) the Alameda Reservoirs (Calaveras and San Antonio), and (3) the Peninsula Reservoirs (Crystal Springs, Pilarcitos, and San Andreas) (Figure 2-1). The SFPUC delivers roughly 190 MGD of water, with approximately 130 MGD to wholesale customers and 60 MGD to retail customers based on Fiscal Year (FY) 2022 flows.

2.2. Wastewater Enterprise Overview

The Wastewater Enterprise provides wastewater and stormwater collection, treatment, and disposal services for the City. The collection system consists of approximately 900 miles of sewer system lines throughout the City. The SFPUC treats both sanitary sewer and wet weather flows in its three water pollution control plants (Southeast Treatment Plant, Oceanside Treatment Plant, and the North Point Wet Weather Facility), which discharge effluent to the San Francisco Bay and Pacific Ocean (Figure 2-2). The combined sewer system reduces pollution in the San Francisco Bay and Pacific Ocean by managing wet weather flows and urban runoff that would otherwise discharge to the Bay and Ocean untreated. Dry weather flows, including street runoff, receive full secondary treatment at either the Oceanside or Southeast Wastewater Treatment Plants. Wet weather flows receive either secondary treatment at Oceanside or Southeast facilities, or primary treatment at the North Point wet weather facilities.

The collection system is a combined wastewater and stormwater system. Historically, customer wastewater rates have been collected to recover both the wastewater and stormwater incurred costs. In this analysis, stormwater charges are separated from wastewater rates. The SFPUC treats approximately 60 to 70 MGD during dry weather and 115 to 180 MGD during wet weather events.

2.3. Water and Wastewater Rate Study Overview

Section 8B.125 of the San Francisco Charter states that the SFPUC shall "retain an independent rate consultant to conduct rate and cost of service studies for each utility at least every five years." The SFPUC last conducted a water and wastewater cost of service study in 2018, which established the basis for the SFPUC's existing water and wastewater retail rates currently in effect in FY 2023.

The SFPUC engaged McGovern McDonald Engineers (MME) and Raftelis (sub-consultant to MME) in 2022 to conduct this water and wastewater cost of service study to establish a proposed three-year water and wastewater retail rate schedule for FY 2024 - FY 2026. The major study objectives are to:

- Develop multi-year financial plans for the SFPUC's Water Enterprise and Wastewater Enterprise that sufficiently fund operations and maintenance (O&M) expenses, debt service payments, and capital expenditures while adequately funding reserves and achieving debt coverage requirements.
- Conduct cost of service analyses that establish a clear nexus between the cost to serve retail water and wastewater customers and the rates charged to customers, per Proposition 218 and industry standards.
- Review the SFPUC's existing retail water and wastewater rate structures to ensure that proposed rates achieve the financial and policy objectives of the agency.
- Develop and introduce a stormwater charge to recover costs associated with wet weather flows and treatment.
- Develop a three-year water and sewer rate schedule for retail customers that are fair, equitable, and compliant with Proposition 218 requirements.

The study results are documented within this report. Note that proposed rates cannot be implemented until formally adopted by the SFPUC's Commissioners after a public hearing. Proposition 218 requires that the SFPUC must mail to its water and wastewater retail customers a public hearing notice detailing any proposed rate changes no fewer than 45 days before the public hearing. The notice includes a customer's right to protest the rate proposal. The SFPUC mailed out public hearing notices to customers on April 7, 2023 in advance of a public hearing scheduled for May 23, 2023.

2.4. Financial Policies

The study was informed by the following key financial policies adopted by the SFPUC. Each policy pertains to both the Water Enterprise and Wastewater Enterprise.

Reserves

The SFPUC's Fund Balance Reserve Policy states that operating and capital budgets will be proposed such that reserves total a minimum of 25% of annual O&M expenses (i.e., approximately 90 days of O&M expenses).

Debt Coverage

The SFPUC's Debt Service Coverage Policy states that budgets, rates, and financial plans shall be adopted such that "Indenture Coverage shall be at least 1.35x" and that "Current Coverage shall be at least 1.10x." Note that debt coverage requirements per the SFPUC's bond covenants are less stringent (1.25x for Indenture Coverage and 1.00x for Current Coverage). The two debt service coverage tests are calculated as follows:

$$Indenture\ Coverage = \frac{(Annual\ Revenues - Operating\ Expenses) + Unappropriated\ Fund\ Balance}{Annual\ Debt\ Service}$$

$$Current\ Coverage = \frac{(Annual\ Revenues - Operating\ Expenses)}{Annual\ Debt\ Service}$$

3. Water Financial Plan

3.1. Overview of the Financial Planning Process

The primary goal of the financial planning process is to identify the total amount of retail water rate revenue required on an annual basis to support the Water Enterprise's financial needs. MME and Raftelis prepared a water utility financial plan model in Microsoft Excel to project the SFPUC Water Enterprise's revenues, expenses, cash flows, reserve balances, and debt coverage over a ten-year period through FY 2033. However, financial plan projections presented in this section extend out through the next five fiscal years only (through FY 2028). Note that the water financial plan projections developed by MME and Raftelis for this study correspond to, and are aligned with, the SFPUC staff's own 10-Year Financial Plan, which is updated on an annual basis as part of staff's on-going financial management processes.

The critical steps in developing a water utility financial plan include:

- Projecting Billed Water Connections and Water Use (Demand Forecast): The demand forecast projects the "units of service" subject to each rate/charge, including the number of metered water connections, private fire service connections, and water use. Projections are based on factors such as customer account growth and projected changes in customer water demand patterns.

- Projecting Retail Water Rate Revenues at Existing Rates: This step in the financial planning process determines how much retail rate revenue will be generated annually if there are no rate increases. The level of rate revenues at existing rates is compared to projected expenditures to determine the annual funding shortfall that must be met by the appropriate combination of rate revenue increases or external debt financing.

- Projecting Miscellaneous Non-Rate Revenue and Wholesale Water Rate Revenue: Miscellaneous non-rate revenue items can include interest income from cash reserves, grants, capacity fee receipts, and miscellaneous ancillary fees. Miscellaneous non-rate revenues assist in closing the annual funding shortfall and reduce the revenue requirement from rates (i.e., the level of amount of rate revenue that must be earned from customers). Wholesale water rate revenue is also projected and incorporated into the financial plan.

- Projecting Operating and Maintenance Expenses and Existing Debt Service: This step in the financial planning process projects the O&M expenses that will be incurred to provide utility service as well as required debt service payments on existing debt obligations.

- Determining a Capital Financing Strategy: In many utilities, the key driver of the annual funding shortfall is projected CIP expenditures. In this step in the financial planning process, the utility determines the optimal mix of annual rate revenue increases and external debt financing to cover the funding shortfall. An outcome of this process is the identification of rate-revenue-funded CIP expenditures, required debt proceeds, and projected debt service costs.

- Identifying Cash Reserve and Debt Service Coverage Targets: In addition to having sufficient revenues to pay for projected costs, utilities must also maintain prudent cash reserves and meet both contractually obligated and target debt service coverage requirements. The water revenue requirement from rates must include the cost of meeting both cash reserve and debt service coverage targets.

- Determining Annual Revenue Requirement from Rates: The final outcome of the financial planning process is the determination of the annual amount of rate revenue that must be recovered from customers to pay for all projected costs and meet financial targets.

3.2. Financial Plan Components

Existing Retail Water Rates

The SFPUC's current water rates for retail customers in FY 2023 have been in effect since July 1, 2021 and were developed in the 2018 Water and Wastewater Cost of Service Study. Retail water customers are billed monthly and currently are subject to the rates and charges described below (and shown in Table 3-1):

- Fixed Monthly Service Charges: Each metered water connection is subject to a Fixed Monthly Service Charge based on the meter size each monthly billing period. Larger meter sizes are subject to higher charges because larger meters burden the water system with greater capacity-related and maintenance-related costs.

- Private Fire Service Fixed Monthly Service Charges: Each dedicated private fire service connection[6] is subject to a Fire Service Fixed Monthly Service Charge based on service size each monthly billing period. Larger service sizes are subject to higher charges because larger services burden the water system with greater capacity-related costs.

- Variable Charges: Variable Charges are assessed per 100 CCF of water delivered within a monthly billing period. Residential Variable Charges are based on an inclining two-tier rate structure. Single Family Residential customers are charged at a lower rate for the first four CCF per month and a higher rate for all additional water use. Multiple-Family Residential customers are charged at a lower rate for the first three CCF per dwelling unit per month and a higher rate for all additional water use. Non-residential potable water customers are subject to a uniform rate per CCF for all usage. Non-potable customers receiving untreated water service are subject to a different uniform rate per CCF that excludes treatment and other potable-specific costs.

- Drought Surcharges: Drought Surcharges are in effect when the Commission adopts a resolution declaring Stage 1, Stage 2, or Stage 3 of the Retail Water Shortage Allocation Plan. Drought Surcharges are assessed as a percentage of Variable Charges and are based on a formula designed to recover the retail revenue shortfall due to reduced water sales during drought. Current surcharges are limited to up to 10% for Stage 1, up to 20% for Stage 2, and up to 25% for Stage 3. Stage 1 Surcharges of 5% were in effect in FY 2022 and FY 2023, but were formally rescinded effective May 2023.

[6] Private fire service connections include fire sprinkler systems, standpipes, and other private fire services.

Projected Water Units of Service

Projected units of service include the number of metered water connections by meter size (Table 3-2), private fire connections by service size (Table 3-3), and water use in CCF by customer class (Table 3-4). The number of metered water connections and private fire service connections is estimated from detailed account-level monthly billing data for FY 2022. As the service area is largely built out, the majority of growth is assumed to be redevelopment resulting in no net gain in service connections. Therefore, no change in the number of accounts or connections is assumed through FY 2028. Projected water demand by customer class is based on detailed demand forecasts incorporated into SFPUC staff's 10-Year Financial Plan. SFPUC staff's detailed water demand forecast is based on assumptions regarding population change, job growth, price elasticity (with respect to water rates), conservation trends, and changes in customer water use characteristics. Water demand is projected to increase by approximately 1.1% per year on average through FY 2028 relative to FY 2022 water demand, although demand does fluctuate from year to year. Overall demand is projected to decrease in FY 2024 due to reductions in wholesale water use, and in FY 2027 due to reductions in retail water use, for example.

Water Enterprise Revenues at Existing Rates

Retail water rate revenues from Fixed Monthly Service Charges, Fire Service Fixed Monthly Service Charges, Variable Charges, and Drought Surcharges were projected for FY 2023 to FY 2028 based on existing rates and projected units of service (Table 3-5). Annual revenue from Fixed Monthly Service Charges and Fire Service Fixed Monthly Service Charges was calculated by multiplying the existing charge (from Table 3-1) by the number of connections for each meter size (from Table 3-2) and service size (from Table 3-3) by 12 monthly billing periods per year. Annual Variable Charge revenue was calculated by multiplying the current charge per CCF (from Table 3-1) by projected annual use in CCF (from Table 3-4).

Drought Surcharge revenue was calculated by multiplying projected Variable Charge revenue from potable retail customers by 5% in FY 2023 and FY 2024 only, under the assumption that no drought stage (and accompanying Drought Surcharges) will be in effect beginning in FY 2025 through FY 2028.[7] Note that a small number of suburban retail customers are subject to unique water rates based on historic contracts with the SFPUC rather than the adopted rates in Table 3-1. The retail water rate revenue projections in Table 3-5 include adjustments to account for the unique rates paid by customers with these historic contracts.

In addition to revenues produced by retail water rates, the Water Enterprise receives revenues from different sources including wholesale water sales, interest income, miscellaneous one-time charges, and others. These other revenues were projected annually through FY 2028 (Table 3-7). Other revenues including Customer Assistance Program (CAP) Use of Revenues,[8] Wholesale Water Sales, Federal Bond Interest Subsidies, Power Enterprise State Revolving Fund (SRF) Loan Reimbursements, Programmatic Revenues (which include retail water rate revenue from the Treasure Island Development Authority and other revenues associated with the SFPUC's headquarters building at 525 Golden Gate Avenue), and Capacity Fees are based on detailed projections from SFPUC staff's 10-Year Financial Plan. Rental income, Water Service Installation Charges, and Other Non-Operating Revenue are based on the adopted budget in FY 2023 and FY 2024 and escalated annually thereafter based on SFPUC staff's forecasted changes in the Consumer Price Index (Table 3-6). Interest earnings are based on the adopted budget in FY 2023 and FY 2024 and projected thereafter by multiplying the assumed annual interest rate on cash reserves (Table 3-6) by the average of the beginning and ending projected Water Enterprise reserve balance each year.

[7] At the time the financial plan analysis was conducted, it was anticipated that Drought Surcharges would remain in effect through FY 2024. Since the analysis was completed, however, the Commission formally rescinded Drought Surcharges effective May 1, 2023 due to significant recent improvement in drought conditions. SFPUC staff conducted a sensitivity analysis indicating that the Water Enterprise will continue to be able to meet its goals and financial obligations, even with the removal of Drought Surcharges in FY 2024.

[8] CAP use of revenues represents the use of Water Enterprise lease and rental income anticipated to offset bill adjustments to customers enrolled in SFPUC's Customer Assistance Program. It is included in the financial plan as a negative revenue rather than an operating expense.

Water Enterprise O&M Expenses

The Water Enterprise's O&M expenses primarily consist of personnel costs, administrative overhead costs, and other operating costs associated with water production, treatment, and delivery. Programmatic expenses[9] are also considered part of the Water Enterprise's O&M expenses. O&M expense projections are based on the FY 2023 and FY 2024 adopted budgets and take into account both annual inflationary and execution factor assumptions.

Before accounting for execution factors, budgeted O&M expenses in FY 2024 were increased annually by inflationary assumptions (from Table 3-8) to establish preliminary O&M projections through FY 2028 (Table 3-9, Lines 1-11). All inflationary assumptions are consistent with the SFPUC staff's 10-Year Financial Plan. Benefits inflation is based on the City and County of San Francisco's Proposed Five-Year Financial Plan for FY 2022 through FY 2026.

[9] Programmatic expenses include expenses associated with the SFPUC's headquarters building at 525 Golden Gate Avenue, a drought response program, a neighborhood stewardship program, Treasure Island maintenance, and other expenses associated with specific programs.

SFPUC staff conducted an analysis of actual versus budgeted Water Enterprise O&M expenses in prior years, which provided the basis for execution factor assumptions (Table 3-9, Lines 13-22). Execution factors represent the percentage of budgeted expenses actually incurred each year. Adjusted O&M expense projections (Table 3-9, Lines 24-34) were calculated by multiplying the preliminary O&M expense projections by the corresponding execution factors. Financial plan projections presented in the following sections incorporate the adjusted O&M expense projections, inclusive of execution factors.

Water Enterprise Debt Service

Table 3-10 shows existing and proposed Water Enterprise debt service through FY 2028. The Water Enterprise's existing debt service includes principal and interest payments associated with outstanding revenue bonds and State Revolving Fund (SRF) Loans. Proposed debt service projections are based on detailed projections from SFPUC staff's 10-Year financial plan and are associated with planned revenue bond issuances to fund the Water Enterprise CIP. Proposed debt service projections assume three new revenue bond issuances through FY 2028 ($361.25 million in FY 2023, $360 million in FY 2025, and $360 million in FY 2027). Total issuance amounts include assumed interim financing costs associated with commercial paper. All proposed debt service was estimated based on a 5% interest rate, 30-year term, and 30 months of capitalized interest (which effectively delays debt repayment by 30 months but results in an overall increase in total debt service payments).

Water Enterprise Funding for Capital Expenditures

Table 3-11 shows the annual revenue budgeted as a funding source for capital expenditures, as approved in the SFPUC's FY 2024 10-Year Capital Improvement Plan. The revenue sources include capacity fees (i.e., one-time fees assessed to new development/intensified redevelopment), local revenue (i.e., Retail water sales), and regional revenue (i.e., a proportional allocation between Retail water sales and Wholesale water sales). The amounts shown do not represent annual spending on capital projects, but rather the amount of revenues appropriated each year through the SFPUC's budget process as a funding source for pay-as-you-go (i.e., cash funded) capital projects to meet the long-term capital replacement needs of the Water Enterprise.

Status Quo Water Enterprise Financial Plan

To evaluate the need for future year rate increases (referred to as "revenue adjustments"), MME and Raftelis first developed a status quo financial plan. The status quo financial plan assumes that current FY 2023 retail water rates remain unchanged over the multi-year planning period. The status quo financial plan (Table 3-12) combines projected revenues under existing rates (from Table 3-5 and Table 3-7[10]), O&M expenses (from Table 3-9), debt service (from Table 3-10), and funding for pay-as-you-go capital expenditures (from Table 3-11) to project net revenue (revenue less O&M expenses), net cash flow (net revenue less debt service and funding for pay-as-you-go capital expenditures), reserve balances (for the entire Water Enterprise), and debt coverage.

Reserve balance projections (Table 3-12, Lines 55-58) are based off the Water Enterprise's beginning fund balance in FY 2023 (as of July 1, 2022) and projected net cash flow thereafter. Debt coverage (Table 3-12, Lines 62-65) is shown based on the "Current Coverage" test only, which is significantly more stringent than the "Indenture Coverage" test. Net revenues used to calculate debt coverage (Table 3-12, Line 63) exclude specific revenues and expenses, which are legally restricted from being used to pay for debt service or are not considered SFPUC operating expenses. Additionally, net revenues used to calculate debt coverage include fund balance budgeted as revenue, which is in alignment with SFPUC staff's 10-Year financial plan. Projected reserve balances and debt coverage under the status quo financial plan are also shown in graphical format in Figure 3-1 and Figure 3-2 over an extended timeframe through FY 2033 to provide a longer-term financial outlook. See Appendix A for supporting financial plan projections beyond FY 2028.

In the absence of any revenue adjustments, the Water Enterprise's reserve balance is projected to fall below the minimum level (per the SFPUC's Fund Balance Reserve Policy) beginning in FY 2027. Furthermore, reserves are projected to be fully depleted in FY 2028. Debt coverage is projected to fall below the SFPUC's target level (per the SFPUC's Debt Service Coverage Policy) in FY 2026 – FY 2033. More significantly, debt coverage is projected to fall below the required level per the SFPUC's bond covenants beginning in FY 2027. The status quo financial plan is insufficient to meet the Water Enterprise's financial needs through FY 2033. This demonstrates a clear need for near-term revenue adjustments to increase retail water rate revenues and ensure that the Water Enterprise's financial needs are met.

Proposed Water Enterprise Financial Plan

The Water Enterprise must increase its revenues from retail water rates to adequately fund its O&M expenditures, meet required debt coverage, and maintain sufficient reserve funding in the near term. SFPUC staff evaluated various scenarios using its 10-Year Financial Plan Model before arriving at the proposed and planned revenue adjustments (i.e., overall annual rate increases) shown below in Table 3-13. The proposed revenue adjustments ensure the Water Enterprise meets all its financial policies throughout the entire ten-year planning period, with some buffer in case of unexpected expenditures or revenue reductions. All revenue adjustments are assumed to become effective at the beginning of each fiscal year in July. Note that although this report includes financial projections over a ten-year period, SFPUC staff is only recommending that the Commission consider adoption of three years of proposed rates (i.e., FY 2024 - FY 2026).

The proposed financial plan (Table 3-14) was developed using the same calculation methodology outlined in the previous section for the status quo financial plan (from Table 3-12). The key difference is the inclusion of additional retail water rate revenue (Table 3-14, Lines 7-15). The additional revenue from the proposed adjustments is calculated based on current revenue from retail water rates, exclusive of revenue from contract customers (which are subject to unique rates stipulated in each contract). The proposed revenue adjustments are projected to generate an additional $52 million in annual retail water rate revenue relative to current rates by FY 2026.

With the addition of the proposed and planned revenue adjustments, the Water Enterprise's reserve balance is projected to meet the minimum level (per the SFPUC's Fund Balance Reserve Policy) each year. Debt coverage is projected to meet the SFPUC's required level (per the SFPUC's Debt Service Coverage Policy) in all years. Projected reserve balances and debt coverage under the proposed financial plan are also shown in Figure 3-3 and Figure 3-4 over an extended timeframe through FY 2033 to provide a longer-term financial outlook. See Appendix A for supporting financial plan projections beyond FY 2028. The proposed financial plan demonstrates a multi-year plan that generates sufficient revenue to meet the SFPUC's official financial policies.

Note that SFPUC staff and Raftelis opted for a levelized approach to capital planning for the purpose of setting rates to avoid any rate spikes across years during the study period. The proposed financial plan results in fund balances above the minimum reserve amount to provide added contingency given the uncertainty in future capital spending needs in any given year, and to ensure sufficient cash on hand once Drought

Surcharges are no longer in effect. Under the proposed financial plan, reserves are projected to be gradually drawn down to provide funding for capital needs.

4. Water Cost of Service Analysis

This section details the water cost of service (COS) analysis performed for the Water Enterprise. The COS analysis allocates the overall retail water rate revenue requirement to customer classes based on their cost burden on the water system. As stated in the American Water Works Association (AWWA) M1 Manual, "the costs of water rates and charges should be recovered from classes of customers in proportion to the cost of serving those customers." To develop retail water rates that comply with Proposition 218 and industry standards while meeting other goals and objectives of the SFPUC, we follow the COS methodology outlined below.

4.1. Water Cost of Service Methodology

The framework and methodology used to develop the COS analysis and to apportion the revenue requirement to each customer class is informed by the processes outlined in the M1 Manual. COS analyses are tailored specifically to meet the unique needs of each water system. However, there are five distinct steps in every COS analysis to recover costs from customers in an equitable and defensible manner:

1. Revenue requirement determination: The first step in the COS analysis is to determine the revenue required from rates, which is determined directly from the results of the proposed financial plan presented in the previous section.
2. Cost functionalization: Expenses are categorized based on their associated function in the water system. Functions include water supply, treatment, storage, transmission, distribution, customer service, etc.
3. Cost component allocation: Functionalized expenses are then allocated to cost components based on the associated burden on the water system. Cost components include raw water supply, base delivery, extra capacity, meters, customer service, etc. The revenue requirement is allocated accordingly to each cost component and results in a total revenue requirement for each cost component.
4. Unit cost development: The revenue requirement for each cost component is divided by the appropriate units of service to determine the unit cost for each cost component.
5. Revenue requirement distribution: Unit costs for each cost component are used to distribute the revenue requirement to customer classes based on each class's proportional use of the water system.

4.2. Water Revenue Requirement Determination

A COS analysis allocates the rate revenue requirement for a single rate-setting year, typically referred to as the "test year." In this study, the test year is FY 2024 (i.e., the first year of the proposed three-year rate schedule). Table 4-1 shows the total retail water rate revenue requirement for FY 2024 (Line 24), which is equal to the sum of revenue requirements (Lines 1-5), revenue offsets (Lines 7-18), and adjustments (Lines 20-22).

Revenue requirements (Lines 1-5) include the sum of FY 2024 O&M expenses, debt service, and pay-as-you-go funding for CIP per the proposed financial plan (from Table 3-14). Revenue offsets (Lines 7-18) include all other revenues per the proposed financial plan (from Table 3-14), as well as Contract Rate Revenue and Drought Surcharges. Total revenue offsets (Line 18) are applied as a funding source for the overall revenue requirement (Line 5) to effectively reduce the total rate revenue requirement (Line 24). Finally, an adjustment is added (Line 21) to account for contributions to reserves, which is equal to FY 2024 net cash flow per the proposed financial plan (from Table 3-14). The total retail rate revenue requirement (Line 24) is the total revenue to be recovered by Fixed Monthly Service Charges, Fire Service Fixed Monthly Service Charges, and Variable Charges in FY 2024, inclusive of additional revenue from the 5% proposed revenue adjustment.

4.3. Water Revenue Requirement Functionalization

The next step of the COS analysis is to allocate the total retail rate revenue requirement to the following water system functions:

- Surface Water Supply: relating to the SFPUC's primary raw surface water supplies, including Hetch Hetchy and the Alameda and Peninsula watersheds
- Alternative Water Supply: relating to water resources planning efforts for future alternative water supply sources
- Groundwater: relating to the San Francisco Groundwater Supply Project
- Recycled Water: relating to the Harding Park Recycled Water Project and Pacifica Recycled Water Project
- Water Conservation: relating to water conservation, outreach, and efficiency programs
- Pumping: relating to transport of water across elevation gradients
- Transmission: relating to the potable water transmission system
- Distribution: relating to the delivery of potable water from storage facilities to the end user
- Storage: relating to potable water storage tanks and reservoirs

- Treatment: relating to the treatment of water to potable standards
- Water Quality: relating to water quality testing
- Meters: relating to water meters (including maintenance and replacement)
- Hydrants / Alternative Water Supply System (AWSS): relating to fire protection provided by hydrants on both the primary potable water distribution system and the Alternative Water Supply System
- Private Fire Service: relating to private fire service connections
- Customer Service: relating to meter reading, billing, customer call center services, and other customer service functions
- Indirect – General: relating to general administration and overhead, as well as any activities not directly attributable to one of the above functions
- Revenue Offsets: relating specifically to any other revenues not attributed to any of the above functions

To allocate the retail water rate revenue requirement to the above functions, the following functional allocation bases were first established (see Table 4-2):

- O&M Functional Basis: SFPUC staff conducted a detailed analysis of the Water Enterprise's FY 2024 budgeted operating and programmatic expenses. Expenses were evaluated at the departmental level and allocated across the various functions based on the best available information provided by each department's management. Most departments allocated costs based on the percentage of staff time devoted to each functional activity. See Appendix B for detailed functional allocations.
- Debt Functional Basis: SFPUC staff conducted a detailed analysis of the Water Enterprise's existing revenue bond debt service over the next five years (FY 2024-FY 2028). The debt service for each revenue bond series was individually allocated based on the functions of the associated capital projects funded by each bond series. See Appendix C for detailed functional allocations.
- CIP Functional Basis: SFPUC staff conducted a detailed analysis of the Water Enterprise's planned CIP projects (both local and regional) over the next five years (FY 2024-FY 2028). Each capital project was allocated on an individual basis to one or multiple functions. See Appendix D for detailed functional allocations.
- Wholesale Revenue Functional Basis: SFPUC staff conducted a detailed analysis of wholesale customers' share of the Water Enterprise expenses over the next five years (FY 2024-FY 2028). This functional allocation basis is required to accurately allocate projected wholesale water sales revenue, which constitutes over 40% of total Water Enterprise revenues. See Appendix E for detailed functional allocations.
- Federal Bond Interest Subsidy Functional Basis: The Water Enterprise's federal bond interest subsidy is associated with three specific outstanding revenue bonds and one SRF Loan. A specific functional allocation basis was developed to accurately allocate this subsidy across the various functions. The debt service for each of the three associated revenue bonds and one SRF Loan was individually allocated based on the associated functions of the capital projects funded by each bond/loan. See Appendix F for detailed functional allocations.
- Indirect Functional Basis: This functional allocation basis is not based on detailed analysis of expenses. It simply represents a 100% allocation to the "Indirect – General" function.

» Revenue Offset Functional Basis: This functional allocation basis is not based on detailed analysis of expenses. It simply represents a 100% allocation to the "Revenue Offsets" function.

Table 4-3 shows the allocation of the FY 2024 retail water rate revenue requirement to each function. Each component of the rate revenue requirement in Lines 1-25 (from Table 4-1) is allocated based on the seven functional allocation bases (from Table 4-2). The total amount associated with each component (in Table 4-3, Column A, Lines 1-25) is distributed to each function based on the corresponding functional allocation basis percentages (from Table 4-2). This results in the overall allocation of the total retail water rate revenue requirement to each function (in Table 4-3, Column A, Lines 27-46)

O&M expenses, debt service, funding for pay-as-you-go CIP, wholesale water sales, and the federal bond interest subsidy are all allocated based on the functional allocation basis that clearly corresponds with each component. Contract rate revenue, programmatic revenues, and drought surcharges all include rate revenues excluded from the scope of this COS analysis and are therefore most appropriately allocated on an indirect functional allocation basis. Capacity fees are typically used to fund capital projects and are therefore allocated based on the CIP functional allocation basis. All other revenue offsets are simply allocated based on the Revenue Offsets functional allocation basis. The contribution to reserves is allocated based on the CIP functional allocation basis, as reserve funding is generally most attributable to future capital funding.

4.4. Water Revenue Requirement Allocation to Cost Causation Components

The next step in the COS analysis is to allocate the functionalized retail water rate revenue requirement to various cost components. Cost components (also known as cost causation components) represent different cost categories that are used to characterize and distribute costs to each customer class. Some cost components directly correspond to a single function. The cost components include:

- Raw Water Supply: costs associated with obtaining water supplies prior to treatment
- Base Delivery: costs associated with providing water under average water demand (i.e., base demand) conditions
- Extra Capacity: costs associated with providing water during peak water demand conditions
- Customer Service: costs associated with meter reading, billing, customer call center services, and other customer service functions; directly corresponds to the "Customer Service" function
- Meters: costs associated with meter maintenance and replacement; directly corresponds to the "Meters" function
- Private Fire Service: Costs associated with fire protection provided by private fire service connections; directly corresponds to the "Private Fire Service" function
- Revenue Offsets: directly corresponds to the "Revenue Offsets" function

Systemwide Peaking Factors

Peaking factors are used to allocate costs associated with certain functions between the Base Delivery and Extra Capacity cost components. Table 4-4 shows the system-wide peaking factors used to develop this cost component allocation basis. Base demand represents average daily demand during the year, which is normalized to a factor of 1.00 (Column A, Line 1). SFPUC staff provided maximum day deliveries each year for the last five calendar years (2018-2022). The system-wide Max Day peaking factor (Column A, Line 2) represents the average of the ratio of maximum day demand to average day demand each year over the last five calendar years. Costs allocated on a "Max Day" basis in the next section are distributed to the Base Delivery and Extra Capacity cost components based on the percentages shown in Columns B and C of Line 2. These percentages are calculated based on the following equations. Columns are represented in these equations as letters and rows are represented as numbers. For example, Column C, Line 2 is shown as C2.

$$Base\ Delivery: B2 = A1\ \div A2\ \times 100\%$$

$$Max\ Day: C2 = 100\% - B2$$

Table 4-4: Water System Peaking Factors

Line	Description	(A) Systemwide Peaking Factor	(B) Base Delivery	(C) Extra Capacity	(D) Total
1	Base	1.00	100.0%		100.0%
2	Max Day	1.32	75.7%	24.3%	100.0%

Preliminary Allocation of Revenue Requirement to Cost Components

Table 4-5 shows the allocation of each function to the various cost components on a percentage basis in Lines 1-17. Many functions are fully allocated to a single cost component that clearly corresponds. However, other functions are allocated to cost components on the following bases that require further explanation:

- The Alternative Water Supply, Groundwater, and Recycled Water functions are allocated fully to the Base Delivery (distribution) cost component rather than the Raw Water Supply cost component because these functions do not benefit non-potable customers (who are subject to Raw Water Supply but not Base Delivery costs).
- The Water Conservation function is allocated fully to the Extra Capacity cost component because conservation efforts are primarily aimed at reducing peak demand rather than average day demand.
- The Pumping, Transmission, Distribution, Storage, and Treatment functions are all allocated on a "Max Day" basis to the Base Delivery and Extra Capacity cost components based on the systemwide peaking factors shown in Table 4-4. This is because infrastructure associated with these functions is typically sized to meet maximum day water demand conditions. Therefore, associated costs are most appropriately allocated between the Base Delivery and Extra Capacity cost components based on ratio of peak to average demand.
- The Water Quality function is allocated fully to the Base Delivery cost component, as water quality testing costs typically do not vary per unit of potable water delivered.
- The Hydrants/AWSS function is allocated to the Meters cost component to ensure that all water system users support fire protection provided by hydrants.

Table 4-5 also shows the allocation of the functionalized rate revenue requirement (from Table 4-3) to each cost component in Lines 19-37 based on the percentage allocations for each function in Lines 1-17. Costs allocated to the Indirect – General cost component are proportionally reallocated to all other cost components (except Revenue Offsets) in Lines 39-41. The Indirect – General cost reallocations in Line 41 are added to the initial cost component allocations in Line 37 to determine the preliminary allocation of the retail water rate revenue requirement to each cost component in Line 43. This preliminary allocation is subject to adjustments in the following section.

Units of Service

FY 2024 units of service must be determined to calculate adjustments to the preliminary cost component allocations and to develop unit costs. The development of units of service is shown in Table 4-6 through Table 4-8 on the following pages. Units of service associated with Treasure Island, Non-Paying Municipal, Recycled Water, Upcountry/Hetch Hetchy, and Wholesale customers are excluded, as the COS analysis only pertains to customers subject to the proposed retail water rates developed within the study scope.

Meters and Equivalent Meter Units

Table 4-6 shows the number of water meters and equivalent meter units associated with each customer class. Equivalent meter units are necessary to apportion meter-related costs by meter size, as larger meters can impose greater demands on the system and are more expensive to install, maintain, and replace than smaller meters. Meter capacity ratios (Column A, Lines 17-28) are first calculated by dividing meter capacity (Column A, Lines 2-13) by 20 gallons per minute (gpm), which is the safe maximum flow through a standard 5/8-inch meter. Meter capacity ratios are then multiplied by the number of water meters at each meter size to determine equivalent meters units (Columns B-H, Lines 17-28). Equivalent meters in this study are based on AWWA-rated safe operating capacities and are calculated to represent the potential demand on the water system relative to the base 5/8-inch meter size.

Fire Connections and Equivalent Fire Demand Units

Table 4-7 shows the calculation of equivalent (or potential) fire demand associated with fire hydrants and private fire service connections. Each connection size has a fire flow demand factor similar to the meter capacity ratio of a water meter. The diameter of the connection (in inches) is raised to the power of 2.63 (per the Hazen-Williams equation and AWWA M1 Manual) to determine the fire demand factor (Column A). The fire flow demand factor is multiplied by the number of connections by size (Column B) to calculate equivalent fire demand units (Column C). Total equivalent fire demand is shown for fire hydrants and private fire service connections in Lines 3 and 15 respectively.

Water Use and Max Day Extra Capacity

Table 4-8 shows FY 2024 water use in CCF by customer class and the calculation of Max Day Extra Capacity requirements in CCF per day. Max Day extra capacity requirements are used to allocate Extra Capacity costs based on customer class-specific water use patterns during peak demand periods. Average daily water use (Column C) is simply annual water use (Column B) divided by 365 days. Max Month factors (Column D) represent the ratio of maximum month water use to average month water use for each customer class/tier in FY 2019.[11] Max Day factors (Column E) represent the ratio of maximum day water use to average day water use and are estimated by multiplying the Max Month factor for each customer class/tier (Column D) by the ratio of the systemwide Max Day factor (1.32 per Table 4-4) to systemwide Max Month factor (estimated at 1.10). Max Day capacity (Column F) is equal to average daily water use (Column C) multiplied by the Max Day factor (Column F). Max Day Extra Capacity (Column G) equals Max Day capacity (Column F) less average daily water use (Column C). Note that the Max Day Extra Capacity calculations pertain to the potable water system only. Therefore, no Max Day Extra Capacity requirements are attributed to non-potable water use.

[11] Max Month factors were evaluated for FY 2019 and FY 2022. FY 2019 factors were used due to anomalous impacts of COVID-19 on water use patterns in FY 2022. FY 2019 was determined to be the most representative recent year of water use data.

Fire Protection Extra Capacity Analysis

Fire hydrants and private fire service connections are allocated a portion of Extra Capacity costs. Table 4-9 and the formula below show the methodology (per the AWWA M1 Manual) used to calculate Max Day Extra Capacity associated with fire protection. The calculations are based on assumptions regarding the duration and flow rate in gallons per minute (gpm) associated with representative fires for which the system is designed to provide capacity:

Max Day Requirements (CCF/day) = Duration of Fire (hrs) × Water Use Rate (gpm) × 60 mins/hr ÷ 748.05 gallons/CCF

Table 4-9: Fire Protection Extra Capacity Requirements

Line	Fire Protection Extra Capacity	(A) Duration of Fire (Hours)	(B) Water Use Rate (gpm)	(C) Max Day Extra Capacity (CCF/Day)
1	Representative Fire #1	4	4,000	1,283
2	Representative Fire #2	3	3,000	722
3	Total Fire Protection Peaking Requirements			2,005

Table 4-10 shows the allocation basis used to distribute Extra Capacity costs among retail water use not used for fire protection, fire hydrants, and private fire service based on the proportion of Max Day Extra Capacity requirements in CCF per Day. Max Day Extra Capacity for retail water use not used for fire protection (Column A, Line 1) was calculated previously in Table 4-8. Total Max Day Extra Capacity attributable to fire protection (from Table 4-9) is distributed between fire hydrants (Column A, Line 2) and private fire service connections (Column A, Line 3) based on the proportion of equivalent fire demand units associated with each (from Table 4-7, Column D, Line 3 and Line 15). The percentage of Max Day Extra Capacity attributed to each category provides the Extra Capacity cost allocation basis in Column B.

Table 4-10: Max Day Extra Capacity Cost Allocation

Final Adjusted Allocation of Revenue Requirement to Cost Components

Table 4-11 shows the final adjusted allocation of the retail water rate revenue requirement to the various cost components. The final adjusted allocation to each cost component in Line 5 ultimately provides the basis for FY 2024 rate calculations shown in the following sections. The final adjusted COS allocations in Line 5 equal the sum of the components shown in Lines 1-4, which are described in further detail below:

1. Preliminary Cost of Service Allocation (Line 1): The preliminary allocations to each cost component were previously developed in Table 4-5. The Indirect - General cost component is excluded because all General costs were previously reallocated to other cost components.

2. Reallocation of Fire Hydrant Extra Capacity to Meters (Line 2): Extra Capacity costs associated with providing fire flow for fire hydrants are reallocated to the Meters cost component to recover hydrant-related fire protection costs from metered connections. Approximately 5.17% of Extra Capacity costs are reallocated to the Meters cost component (per Table 4-10, Column B, Line 2). Note that this reallocation results in a shifting of costs between cost components but does not change the total rate revenue requirement.

3. Reallocation of Private Fire Extra Capacity to Private Fire Service (Line 3): Extra Capacity costs associated with providing fire flow for private fire protection are reallocated to the Private Fire Service cost component to recover the associated costs from customers with dedicated private fire service connections. Approximately 2.83% of Extra Capacity costs are reallocated to the Private Fire Service cost component (per Table 4-10, Column B, Line 3). Note that this reallocation results in a shifting of costs between cost components but does not change the total rate revenue requirement.

4. Reallocation of Extra Capacity to Meters (Line 4): It is a common practice for public water utilities in California to recover a portion of Extra Capacity costs from fixed charges to improve revenue stability. Approximately $5.2 million of the Extra Capacity cost component is being allocated to the Meters cost component. Public water utilities in California typically recover approximately 20-25% of rate revenues from fixed charges, compared to the SFPUC which is projected to recover approximately 15% of retail water rate revenues from fixed charges. The allocation of Extra Capacity costs to the Meters cost component will provide a degree of revenue stability without adversely affecting customer affordability (as higher fixed charges tend to disproportionately impact bills for low use residential customers).

4.5. Water Unit Cost Development

The next step of the COS analysis is to calculate unit costs for each cost component, which are used in the final step of the COS analysis to distribute the retail water rate revenue requirement to each customer class. Table 4-12 shows the development of unit costs for each cost component, which are calculated by dividing the final adjusted COS allocation in Line 14 (from Table 4-11) by the total units of service in Line 10 (from Table 4-6 through Table 4-8). Units of service associated with Treasure Island, Non-Paying Municipal, Recycled water, Upcountry/Hetch Hetchy, and Wholesale customers are excluded from the unit cost calculations, as the COS analysis only pertains to customers subject to the proposed retail water rates developed within the scope of this study. The units of service applied to each cost component are as follows:

- Raw Water Supply Units of Service: total retail water use in CCF
- Base Delivery: total retail water use in CCF (excluding non-potable)
- Extra Capacity: total Max Day Extra Capacity in CCF per day associated with retail water use not used for fire protection
- Customer Service: total number of annual bills, estimated by multiplying total retail water connections (including private fire service connections) by 12 monthly billing periods per year
- Meters: total number of equivalent meter units multiplied by 12 monthly billing periods per year
- Private Fire Service: total number of equivalent fire demand units associated with private fire service connections multiplied by 12 monthly billing periods per year
- Revenue Offsets: total retail water use in CCF

4.6. Water Customer Class Revenue Requirements

Table 4-13 shows the distribution of the total FY 2024 retail water rate revenue requirement to each customer class under the proposed COS (Column A). Costs were distributed to each customer class by multiplying the unit costs for each cost component by the corresponding units of service associated with each customer class (from Table 4-12). The current COS in Column B represents the amount of revenue each customer class is projected to generate in FY 2024 based on existing water rates. The difference between the total proposed COS (Column A, Line 9) and current COS (Column B, Line 9) is the proposed 5% revenue adjustment in FY 2024. Note that retail water revenue from contract rates and Drought Surcharges is excluded from Table 4-13.

Columns C-E provide a comparison of the proposed versus current COS in percentage terms. Most customer classes experience a relatively minor distributional impact from the proposed COS allocations. Private fire service customers' cost allocation decreases largely due to the refinement of the methodology used to allocate fire-related extra capacity costs relative to the prior cost of service study in 2018. Non-potable customers' cost allocation increases primarily because the updated O&M expense functionalization allocates more costs to the Surface Water Supply function relative to the prior study.

5. Water Rate Design

5.1. Water Rate Design Overview

This section details the proposed retail water rate calculations. FY 2024 proposed rates are calculated directly from the unit costs developed in the COS analysis. Proposed and projected rates in FY 2025-FY 2028 are calculated by increasing proposed FY 2024 rates by the annual revenue adjustments from the proposed financial plan. SFPUC staff and Raftelis evaluated the need to modify the existing rate structure but determined that no changes will be proposed as part of this study. Raftelis also analyzed residential water use data to ensure that the existing residential tier allotments (four units per month for Single Family Residential and three units per month per dwelling unit for Multiple-Family Residential) are reasonable. The proposed rates shown are consistent with the SFPUC's existing retail water rate structure. Note also that no changes to the existing system of Drought Surcharges are recommended as part of this study.

Table 5-1 indicates which cost components are collected by each charge type to develop proposed retail water rates in FY 2024. Fixed Monthly Service Charges are designed to recover a share of Customer Service costs and all Meters costs. Private Fire Fixed Monthly Service Charges are designed to recover a share of Customer Service costs and all Private Fire Service costs. Variable Charges are designed to recover all remaining cost components, including Raw Water Supply, Base Delivery, Extra Capacity, and Revenue Offsets. Note that Untreated Water Variable Charges are exempted from Base Delivery and Extra Capacity costs, which only pertain to the potable water system.

5.2. Water Rate Calculations

Proposed FY 2024 Fixed Monthly Service Charge Calculation

Fixed Monthly Service Charges are designed to recover costs associated with the Customer Service and Meters cost components. The Meters cost component includes costs to repair or replace meters and include a portion of Extra Capacity costs as allocated in Table 4-11. Table 5-2 shows the detailed calculation of Fixed Monthly Service Charges in FY 2024 based on Customer Service and Meters unit costs (from Table 4-12). Customer Service costs do not vary by meter size. Therefore, the Customer Service unit cost is applied uniformly to all proposed charges regardless of meter size (Column B). Because Meters costs vary by meter size based on meter capacity, AWWA capacity ratios in Column A (from Table 4-6) are used to differentiate Meters charges by meter size. The Meters charges (Column C) are calculated by multiplying the Meters unit cost (from Table 4-12) by the corresponding meter capacity ratio (Column A). Proposed charges (Column D) equal the sum of Columns B-C, and are compared to current FY 2023 charges in Columns E-F.

Proposed FY 2024 Private Fire Fixed Monthly Service Charge Calculation

Private Fire Fixed Monthly Service Charges are designed to recover costs associated with the Customer Service and Private Fire Service cost components. A Private Fire Service unit cost was calculated previously in Table 4-12, but is further refined into two components in Table 5-3 below. Private Fire Service costs associated with backflow administration do not vary based on service size, as do all other Private Fire Service costs associated with Extra Capacity. Therefore, a "Backflow Administration" unit cost is calculated (Column C, Line 1) by dividing direct backflow administration costs (Column A, Line 1) by annualized private fire service connections (Column B, Line 1). All remaining Private Fire Service costs (Column A, Line 2) are divided by annualized equivalent fire demand units associated with private fire service connections (Column B, Line 2) to determine a "Private Fire Extra Capacity" unit cost (Column C, Line 2).

Table 5-3: Private Fire Service Unit Cost Differentiation

Line	Private Fire Service Cost Component	(A) FY 2024 COS Allocation	(B) Units of Service	(C) Unit Cost	(D) Unit Description
1	Backflow Administration	$62,852	121,656	$0.517	Annualized Private Fire Service Connections
2	Private Fire Extra Capacity	$1,605,461	6,378,232	$0.252	Annualized Private Fire Service Equivalent Fire Demand Units
3	Total	$1,668,313

Table 5-4 shows the detailed calculation of Private Fire Fixed Monthly Service Charges in FY 2024 based on Customer Service, Backflow Administration, and Private Fire Extra Capacity unit costs. Customer Service and Backflow Administration costs do not vary by service size. Therefore, Customer Service unit costs (from Table 4-12) and Backflow Administration unit costs (from Table 5-3) are applied uniformly to all proposed charges regardless of service size (Columns B-C). Because Private Fire Extra Capacity costs vary by service size based on equivalent fire demand, fire demand factors in Column A (from Table 4-7) are used to differentiate Private Fire Extra Capacity charges by service size. The Private Fire Extra Capacity charges (Column D) are calculated by multiplying the Private Fire Extra Capacity unit cost (from Table 5-3) by the corresponding fire demand factor (Column A). Proposed charges (Column E) equal the sum of Columns B-D, and are compared to current FY 2023 charges in Columns F-G.

Proposed FY 2024 Variable Charge Calculation

Variable Charges are designed to recover costs associated with the Raw Water Supply, Base Delivery, Extra Capacity, and Revenue Offsets cost components. An Extra Capacity unit cost was calculated previously in Table 4-12, but is further refined into unique "unit rates" in Table 5-5 below. This provides a basis to differentiate potable Variable Charges by customer class and tier. Max Day Extra Capacity in CCF per day in Column B (from Table 4-8) is multiplied by the Extra Capacity unit cost per CCF per day in Column C (from Table 4-12) to determine the Extra Capacity cost allocation for each customer class and tier in Column D. The Extra Capacity cost allocation in Column D is then divided by FY 2024 water use in CCF in Column A to establish unique Extra Capacity unit rates for each customer class and tier in Column E.

Table 5-6 shows the detailed calculation of Variable Charges in FY 2024 based on Raw Water Supply, Base Delivery, and Revenue Offsets unit costs (from Table 4-12) and Extra Capacity unit rates (from Table 5-5) in Columns A-D. Proposed charges per CCF (Column E) equal the sum of Columns A-D, and are compared to current FY 2023 charges in Columns F-G. Potable water charges are differentiated based on Extra Capacity unit rates only, which reflect differences in peak water demand patterns between residential and non-residential customers. Untreated Water charges are exempt from Base Delivery and Extra Capacity costs, which only pertain to the potable water system.

Proposed Retail Water Rate Schedule (FY 2024 – FY 2028)

Table 5-7 shows current FY 2023 retail water rates and proposed/projected water rates for FY 2024 to FY 2028. Note that SFPUC staff is only recommending that the Commission consider adoption of three years of proposed rates through FY 2026. All rates shown beyond FY 2026 are projections for planning purposes only. Proposed FY 2024 rates were calculated in Table 5-2, Table 5-4, and Table 5-6. Proposed and projected rates in FY 2025-FY 2028 were calculated by increasing all proposed FY 2024 rates each year by the proposed and planned revenue adjustments in Table 3-13. All rates are proposed to become effective on July 1 of each fiscal year and are rounded up to the nearest cent to ensure adequate revenue recovery.

5.3. Water Customer Bill Impacts

Sample monthly water bill impacts are shown for single family residential customers in Figure 5-1, multiple-family residential customers in Figure 5-2, and non-residential customers in Figure 5-3. The bill impacts compare current FY 2023 monthly water bills with proposed FY 2024 monthly water bills at varying levels of monthly water use. These examples assume meter sizes of 5/8-inch for single family residential and non-residential customers. Multiple-family residential bills assume a one-inch meter and ten dwelling units. The varying levels of water use correspond to the 10th percentile, 25th percentile, median, 75th percentile, and 90th percentile of monthly water use for each customer class based on an analysis of FY 2022 account-level billing data. Note that all bills exclude Drought Surcharges to provide a direct comparison of current versus proposed rates, even though Drought Surcharges equal to 5% of Variable Charges were effective through April 2023 before being formally rescinded effective May 2023.

6. Wastewater Financial Plan

6.1. Overview of the Financial Planning Process

The primary goal of the financial planning process is to identify the total amount of retail wastewater rate revenue required on an annual basis to support the Wastewater Enterprise's financial needs. MME and Raftelis prepared a wastewater utility financial plan model in Microsoft Excel to project the SFPUC Wastewater Enterprise's revenues, expenses, cash flows, reserve balances, and debt coverage over the next ten fiscal years (through FY 2033). Note that the financial plan projections presented in the body of this report extend through the next five fiscal years (through FY 2028). However, graphical representations of the financial plan are presented for the period FY 2023 – FY 2033. Also note that the wastewater financial plan projections developed by MME and Raftelis for this study correspond to, and are aligned with, the SFPUC staff's own 10-Year Financial Plan where possible, which is updated on an annual basis as part of staff's on-going financial management processes.

The critical steps in developing a wastewater utility financial plan include:

- Understanding the Existing Rate Structure and Billing Methodology: This initial step in the financial planning process lays the foundation for the development of a demand forecast and the projection of rate revenues at existing rates that accurately reflects customer usage characteristics and Wastewater Enterprise cost recovery procedures.

- Projecting Wastewater Units of Service (Demand Forecast): The demand forecast projects the "units of service" subject to each rate/charge, including the number of wastewater service connections, volumetric wastewater discharges, and the strength loadings of the wastewater discharges. Projections are based on factors such as customer account growth, projected changes in customer water demand patterns, and associated wastewater discharges.

- Projecting Wastewater Rate Revenues at Existing Rates: This step in the financial planning process determines how much rate revenue will be generated annually if there are no rate increases. The level of rate revenues at existing rates is compared to projected expenditures to determine the annual funding shortfall that must be met by the appropriate combination of rate revenue increases or external debt financing.

- Projecting Miscellaneous Non-Rate Revenue: Miscellaneous non-rate revenue items can include interest income from cash reserves, grants, capacity fee receipts, and miscellaneous ancillary fees. Miscellaneous non-rate revenues assist in closing the annual funding shortfall and reduce the revenue requirement from rates (i.e., the level of amount of rate revenue that must be recovered from customers).

- Projecting Operating and Maintenance Expenses and Existing Debt Service: This step in the financial planning process projects the O&M expenses that will be incurred to provide utility service as well as required debt service payments on existing debt obligations.

- Determining a Capital Financing Strategy: In many utilities, the key driver of the annual funding shortfall is projected CIP expenditures. In this step in the financial planning process, the utility determines the optimal mix of annual rate revenue increases and external debt financing to cover the funding shortfall. An outcome of this process is the identification of rate revenue funded CIP expenditures, required debt proceeds, and projected debt service costs.

- Identifying Cash Reserve and Debt Service Coverage Targets: Utilities must not only have sufficient revenues to pay for projected costs, but they must also maintain prudent cash reserves and meet both contractually obligated and target debt service coverage requirements. The sewer revenue requirement from rates therefore must include the cost of meeting both cash reserve and debt service coverage targets.

- Determining Annual Revenue Requirement from Rates: The final outcome of the financial planning process is the determination of the annual amount of rate revenue that must be recovered from customers to pay for all projected Wastewater Enterprise costs and meet financial targets.

6.2. Financial Plan Components

Existing Retail Wastewater Rates

The SFPUC's currently effective FY 2023 wastewater rates are shown in Table 6-1. The rates shown include:

- A Fixed Monthly Service Charge that is the same for both residential and non-residential customers
- Variable Charges per 100 CCF of discharge that vary based on whether the customer is residential or non-residential
- Chemical Oxygen Demand (COD) per pound in 100 CCF of discharge that is charged to non-residential users. Residential users have this charge included in their volumetric charges.
- Total Suspended Solids (TSS) Charges per pound in 100 CCF of discharge that is charged to non-residential users. Residential users have this charge included in their volumetric charges.
- Oil and Grease (OG) Charges per pound in 100 CCF of discharge that is charged to non-residential users. Residential users have this charge included in their volumetric charges.

In addition to the current wastewater rates, the SFPUC currently assesses a monthly service charge to a small number of non-metered parcels to account for the runoff generated from these properties (see Table 6-2). Therefore, the current wastewater rates shown in Table 6-1 recover the cost of providing both wastewater and stormwater service.

Table 6-1: Current Wastewater Enterprise Rates

Line	Customer Class	Current Rate
1	Residential Wastewater
2	Monthly Service Charge	$5.21

Wastewater Billing Methodology

The volumetric wastewater rates paid by SFPUC customers reflect the volume of their billed wastewater discharges and their assumed strength loadings for chemical oxygen demand (COD), total suspended solids (TSS), and Oil and Grease (OG). The $/CCF volumetric rate paid by residential customers combines the costs the SFPUC incurs to treat both the volume and strength loadings of residential customers (Line 3 in Table 6-1). In contrast, non-residential customers pay a separately identified amount per CCF and dollars per pound ($/lb) components for the volume of billed discharges (Line 7 in Table 6-1) and strength loadings (Lines 8 – 10 on Table 6-1).

The SFPUC's billing system assigns all wastewater customers to one of 11 strength loading groups based on their Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Code. For example, a residential hotel with no eating facilities with a SIC Code of 7014 is assigned to strength loading Group 2. Similarly, a nursing facility with a SIC Code of 8050 is assigned to strength loading Group 3. With very few exceptions, residential customers are assigned strength loading Group 4. The SIC Codes and their loading groups are shown in Appendix G. This information is used to calculate the monthly volumetric bill paid by each wastewater customer. Table 6-3 shows the SFPUC's strength loading associated with each group.

Wastewater Units of Service (Demand Forecast)

Table 6-4 through Table 6-8 summarize the projected wastewater discharge volumes and strength loadings for FY 2023 – FY 2028. The information shown Table 6-4 through Table 6-8 provides a foundation for the projection of revenues at existing rates, the allocation of costs to customer classes, and the determination of wastewater rates. These unit of service projections shown in Table 6-4 through Table 6-8 are based on actual historical recorded values for FY 2022 as obtained from the SFPUC's billing system. The FY 2022 units of service were projected forward using the following methodologies:

- Projected Customer Accounts (Table 6-4): There is no projected customer account growth during the financial planning period. This reflects that fact that the City of San Francisco is virtually 100% built out.

- Projected Discharge Volumes (Table 6-5): Discharge volumes in FY 2022 reflected the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic coupled with the effects of prolonged drought conditions on customer water usage. Beginning in FY 2023 customer wastewater discharge volumes are projected to return to historical norms for each type of customer.

- Projected Discharge Strength Loadings (Table 6-6 through Table 6-8): Projected strength loading is directly correlated to projected discharge volumes.

Projected Wastewater Revenues at Existing Rates

Table 6-9 shows a detail of projected rate revenues for the period FY 2023 – FY 2028 assuming that existing wastewater rates remain unchanged. The projection of revenues at existing rates, when compared to projected expenditures, allows for the quantification of the funding gap that must be filled by rate revenue increases, external debt financing, or some other form of funding. The revenues shown in Table 6-9 were calculated by multiplying the projected units of service for each year by the existing wastewater rates.

Projected Wastewater Non-Rate Revenue Offsets

In addition to revenues produced by retail sewer rates, the Wastewater Enterprise has several sources of miscellaneous non-rate revenues that offset the amount of rate revenue that must be collected from retail sewer customers.

Table 6-10 provides a detailed projection of these miscellaneous revenues for the period FY 2023 – FY 2028. They include Other Retail Charges earned from providing retail sewer service to communities located outside of the City of San Francisco (Lines 2 and 3). They also include Operating Revenues from providing wastewater collection services to local sewer utility districts (Line 7), interest income (Line 8), and Federal Bond Interest Subsidy revenue (Line 9). Programmatic Revenue includes revenues from specific Wastewater Enterprise programs (Lines 15 – 18), which include wastewater rate revenue from the Treasure Island Development Authority and other revenues associated with the SFPUC's headquarters building at 525 Golden Gate Avenue. In addition, the Wastewater Enterprise also earns significant Non-Debt Capital Revenue from capacity charges (Line 22).

Projected Rate Funded CIP Expenditures

Table 6-11 shows the annual revenue budgeted as a funding source for capital expenditures, as approved in the SFPUC's FY 2024 10-Year Capital Improvement Plan. The revenue sources include capacity fees (i.e., one-time fees assessed to new development/intensified redevelopment) and local revenue (i.e., Retail Sewer sales). The amounts shown do not represent annual spending on capital projects, but rather the amount of revenues appropriated each year through the SFPUC's budget process as a funding source for pay-as-you-go (i.e., cash funded) capital projects to meet the long-term capital replacement needs of the Wastewater Enterprise.

Projected Debt Service Expenditures

Table 6-12 shows existing and proposed Wastewater Enterprise debt service through FY 2028. The Wastewater Enterprise's existing debt service includes principal and interest payments associated with outstanding revenue bonds, State Revolving Fund (SRF) Loans, and Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act (WIFIA) Loans.

Proposed debt service projections are based on the SFPUC Capital Financing Team's planned revenue bond issuances to fund Wastewater Enterprise CIP. The proposed debt service projections assume four new revenue bond issuances through FY 2028 ($658,750,000 in FY 2023; $607,500,000 in FY 2024; $825,855,000 in FY 2026; and $736,610,000 in FY 2027). Total issuance amounts include assumed interim financing costs associated with commercial paper. All proposed debt service was estimated based on a 5% interest rate, 30-year term, and 30 months of capitalized interest. The capitalized interest delays the payment of debt by adding the interest that would be accrued to the principal. This results in a lag in the timing of the proposed debt service.

Projected Wastewater Operations and Maintenance Expenses

The Wastewater Enterprise's O&M expenses primarily consist of personnel costs, administrative overhead costs, and other operating costs associated with wastewater and stormwater collection, conveyance, treatment, and disposal. Programmatic Expenses[12] are also included in the Wastewater Enterprise's O&M expenses. O&M expense projections are based on the FY 2023 and FY 2024 adopted budgets and take into account both annual inflationary and execution factor assumptions.

Before accounting for execution factors, budgeted O&M expenses in FY 2024 were escalated annually by inflationary assumptions (from Table 6-13) to establish preliminary O&M projections through FY 2028 (Table 6-14, Lines 1-14). All inflationary assumptions are consistent with the SFPUC staff's 10-Year Financial Plan. SFPUC staff conducted an analysis of actual versus budgeted Wastewater Enterprise O&M expenses in prior years, which provided the basis for execution factor assumptions (Table 6-14, Lines 16-25). Execution factors represent the percentage of budgeted expenses actually incurred each year. Adjusted O&M expense projections (Table 6-14, Lines 27-40) were calculated by multiplying the preliminary O&M expense projections by the corresponding execution factors. Financial plan projections presented in the following sections incorporate the adjusted O&M expense projections, inclusive of execution factors.

[12] Programmatic expenses include expenses associated with the SFPUC's headquarters building at 525 Golden Gate Avenue, Treasure Island operating costs, and the cost of other specific programs such as low impact development and the Youth Employment and Environment Program.

Status Quo Financial Plan

To evaluate the need for future year rate increases (referred to as "revenue adjustments"), MME and Raftelis first developed a status quo financial plan. The status quo financial plan assumes that current FY 2023 retail water rates remain unchanged through FY 2028. The status quo financial plan (Table 6-15) combines projected revenues under existing rates (from Table 6-9), miscellaneous revenues (from Table 6-10), O&M expenses (from Table 6-14), debt service (from Table 6-12), and funding for pay-as-you-go capital expenditures (from Table 6-11) to project net revenue (revenue less O&M expenses), net cash flow (net revenue less debt service and funding for pay-as-you-go capital expenditures), reserve balances (for the entire Wastewater Enterprise), and debt coverage.

Reserve balance projections (Table 6-15, Lines 59-62) are based on the Wastewater Enterprise beginning fund balance in FY 2023 (as of July 1, 2022) and projected net cash flow thereafter. Debt coverage (Table 6-15, Lines 66-69) is shown based on the "Indenture Test," which allows for unappropriated fund balance to contribute toward debt service coverage. Additionally, net revenues used to calculate debt coverage (Table 6-15, Line 67) exclude specific revenues and expenses, which are legally restricted from being used to pay for debt service or not considered SFPUC operating expenses. This is in alignment with SFPUC staff's 10-Year Financial Plan. Projected reserve balances and debt coverage under the status quo financial plan are also shown in graphical format in Figure 6-1 and Figure 6-2.

In the absence of any revenue adjustments, the Wastewater Enterprise's reserve balance is projected to fall below the minimum level (per the SFPUC's Fund Balance Reserve Policy) and is fully depleted beginning in FY 2026. Debt coverage is projected to fall below the SFPUC's required level (per the SFPUC's Debt Service Coverage Policy) in FY 2026. More significantly, debt coverage is projected to fall below the required level per the SFPUC's bond covenants in FY 2027 and FY 2028. The status quo financial plan is therefore insufficient to meet the Wastewater Enterprise's financial needs through FY 2028. This demonstrates a clear need for revenue adjustments over the next five fiscal years to increase retail sewer rate revenues and ensure that Wastewater Enterprise's financial needs are met.

Proposed Wastewater Enterprise Financial Plan

The Wastewater Enterprise must increase its revenues from retail sewer rates to adequately fund its operating and capital expenditures, meet required debt coverage, and maintain sufficient reserve funding over the next five years. SFPUC staff evaluated various scenarios using its 10-Year Financial Plan Model before arriving at the proposed and planned revenue adjustments (i.e., overall annual rate increases) shown below in Table 6-16. The proposed revenue adjustments ensure the Wastewater Enterprise meets all its financial policies throughout the entire ten-year planning period, with some buffer in case of unexpected expenditures or revenue reductions or the removal of the Drought Surcharge. All revenue adjustments are assumed to become effective at the beginning of each fiscal year in July. Note that although this report includes proposed rates over a five-year period, SFPUC staff is only recommending that the Commission consider adoption of the first three years of proposed rates (i.e., FY 2024-FY 2026).

The proposed financial plan (Table 6-17) was developed using the same calculation methodology outlined in the previous section for the status quo financial plan (from Table 6-15). The key difference is the inclusion of additional retail wastewater rate revenue (Table 6-17, Lines 9-17). The additional revenue from revenue adjustments is calculated based on current revenue from retail wastewater rates, exclusive of revenue from contract customers (which are subject to unique rates stipulated in each contract). The proposed revenue adjustments are projected to generate an additional $208.7 million in retail wastewater rate revenue relative to current rates by FY 2026.

With the addition of the proposed and planned revenue adjustments, the Wastewater Enterprise's reserve balance is projected to meet the minimum level (per the SFPUC's Fund Balance Reserve Policy) each year through FY 2028. Debt coverage is projected to meet the SFPUC's required level (per the SFPUC's Debt Service Coverage Policy) in all future years. Projected reserve balances and debt coverage under the proposed financial plan are also shown in graphical format in Figure 6-3 and Figure 6-4. The proposed financial plan demonstrates a five-year plan that generates sufficient revenue to meet the SFPUC's official financial policies.

Note that SFPUC staff and the MME and Raftelis team opted for a levelized approach to capital planning for the purpose of setting rates to avoid any rate spikes across years during the study period. The proposed financial plan results in fund balances above the minimum reserve amount to provide added contingency given the uncertainty in future capital spending needs in any given year, and to ensure sufficient cash on hand once Drought Surcharges are no longer in effect. In future years, the ten-year plan shows the enterprise fund balance gradually approaching the minimum target for O&M and the minimum debt coverage in the out years (Figure 6-3).

7. Sewer Cost of Service Analysis

This section details the sewer cost of service (COS) analysis performed for the Wastewater Enterprise. A COS analysis distributes a utility's revenue requirements from rates (costs) to each customer class based on their proportionate share of total system sewer demand. The COS analysis completed by Raftelis for the Wastewater Enterprise follows industry standard cost allocation principles as presented in the Water Environment Federation's Manual of Practice No. 27, Financing and Charges for Wastewater Systems (WEF Manual No. 27).

As part of the cost of service analysis in this study, sewer costs[13] were split between the wastewater related costs for sanitary sewer service and stormwater related costs for the collection and treatment of runoff from properties. Currently, stormwater-related costs are recovered as part of wastewater rates. By splitting these costs, SFPUC will be able to enhance the equity in their rate structure by establishing a stormwater change in addition to the wastewater rates. Under this new methodology, all customers will be billed for the total flows that they contribute to SFPUC's combined sewer system.

7.1. Sewer Cost of Service Methodology

The framework and methodology used to develop the COS analysis and to apportion the revenue requirement to each customer class is informed by the processes outlined in WEF Manual No. 27. COS analyses are tailored specifically to meet the unique needs of each customer class's use of the sewer system. However, there are five distinct steps in every COS analysis to recover costs from customers in an equitable, and defensible manner:

- Revenue Requirement Determination: The first step in the COS analysis is to determine the revenue required from rates, which is determined directly from the results of the proposed financial plan presented in the previous section.

- Cost Functionalization: Expenses are categorized based on their associated function in the wastewater system. Functions include primary treatment, secondary treatment, disinfection, pumping/lift stations, collection, biosolids handling, etc.

- Cost Component Allocation: Functionalized expenses are then allocated to cost components based on the associated burden on the wastewater system. Cost components include flow (the volume of wastewater discharges), and strength loading characteristics such as COD and TSS. The revenue requirement is allocated accordingly to each cost component and results in a total revenue requirement for each cost causation component.

- Unit COS Development: The revenue requirement for each cost component is divided by the appropriate units of service to determine the unit COS for each cost component.

- Revenue Requirement Distribution: Unit costs for each cost component are utilized to distribute the revenue requirement to customer classes based on each class's proportional use of the wastewater system.

[13] The term sewer is used when referring to both wastewater and stormwater expenses, revenues, and charges.

7.2. Sewer Revenue Requirement Determination

A COS analysis allocates the rate revenue requirement for a single rate-setting year, typically referred to as the "test year." In this study, the test year is FY 2024 (i.e., the first year of the proposed three-year rate schedule). Table 7-1 shows the total retail sewer rate revenue requirement for FY 2024, divided between operating and capital cost components (Line 19). The total revenue requirement is equal to the sum of revenue requirements (Lines 1-5), revenue offsets (Lines 7-13), and adjustments (Lines 15-17).

Revenue requirements (Lines 1-5) include the sum of FY 2024 O&M expenses, debt service, and pay-as-you-go funding for CIP per the proposed financial plan (from Table 6-11). Revenue offsets (Lines 7-13) include all other revenues per the proposed financial plan (from Table 6-17). Total revenue offsets (Line 13) are applied as a funding source for the overall revenue requirement (Line 5) to effectively reduce the total rate revenue requirement (Line 19). Finally, an adjustment is added (Line 16) to account for contributions to reserves, which is equal to FY 2024 net cash flow per the proposed financial plan (from Table 6-17). The total retail rate revenue requirement (Line 19) is the total revenue to be recovered by sewer rates and charges in FY 2024, inclusive of additional revenue from the 9% proposed revenue adjustment.

7.3. Sewer System Cost Functionalization

The assignment of costs to functional categories is a critical step in the COS process. It answers the question, what sewer system utility functions are supported by (i.e., paid for) the rate revenue provided by customers? The total retail rate revenue requirement to the following sewer system functions are:

- Headworks: relating to removing large inorganic materials from the influent streams entering the SFPUC's wastewater treatment plants
- Primary Treatment: relating to the sedimentation process that removes suspended organic solids from sewage
- Secondary Treatment: relating to the process of removing soluble organic material from sewage through biological processes and secondary settling
- Solid Handling: relating to the process used to reduce and stabilize the volume of sludge produced
- Pumping/Lift Stations: relating to the process of pumping from a lower elevation to a higher elevation as sewage moves through the sanitary sewer collection and conveyance system
- Stormwater: relating to surface water runoff that is generated from both permeable and impermeable surfaces during wet weather events (rainfall). Stormwater enters the sewer collection system and is conveyed to the SFUC's wastewater treatment plants
- General Collections: relating to the system of pipes that collect and convey customer wastewater discharges and stormwater flows caused by wet weather events
- Interceptors: relating to large diameter sewer pipes that aggregate customer wastewater discharges and stormwater flows caused by wet weather events before delivery to the SFPUC's wastewater treatment plants
- Customer Service: relating to meter reading, billing, customer call center services, and other customer service functions
- Bureau: relating to costs that are directly associated with SFPUC administrative activities
- Indirect - General: relating to general administration and overhead, as well as any activities not directly attributable to one of the above functions
- Revenue Offsets: relating specifically to any other revenues not attributed to any of the above functions

To allocate the retail wastewater rate revenue requirement to the above functions, the following functional allocation bases were first established (see Table 7-2):

O&M Cost Functionalization Basis: The FY 2024 Wastewater Enterprise O&M revenue requirement is $210,538,166 (Line 5 in Table 7-1). The FY 2024 O&M revenue requirement was assigned to functions based on a detailed SFPUC staff analysis of approximately 350 O&M budget operating and programmatic expenses. Expenses were evaluated at the departmental level and allocated across various functions based on the best available information provided by each department's management. Most departments allocated costs based on the percentage of staff time devoted to each functional activity. Details of the cost functionalization are shown in Appendix I.

Capital Cost Functionalization Basis: The total FY 2024 capital cost revenue requirement is $220,781,707. This amount reflects the revenue requirement associated with existing debt service payments, rate-funded CIP, and the change in cash reserves (Line 19 of Table 7-1). Capital costs were allocated to functions using the following methodology:

- Existing Debt Service: This portion of capital costs was allocated to functions by identifying the specific capital assets paid for by past SFPUC debt issues. The SFPUC staff reviewed a total of 12 past revenue bond issues, seven state revolving fund loans, and two existing loans associated with WIFIA. The result was the direct allocation of existing debt service to the functions it was used to finance.

- Rate-Funded CIP and Change in Cash Reserves: This capital cost component was allocated to functions based on the specific functions that will be performed by the capital projects included in the SFPUC's 10-year CIP plan for the period FY 2024 – FY 2033.

Functionalization Basis for Non-Rate Revenue Offsets: The FY 2024 non-rate revenue offsets total $42,129,148. This amount is detailed in Table 7-1, Lines 8 -12 and includes Other Retail Charges, Operating Revenues, Programmatic Revenues, and a Drought Rate Offset. With the exception of the Drought Rate Offset, all of the items were functionalized in a manner similar to the overall outcome of the O&M cost functionalization process. The Drought Rate Offset was functionalized based on the combined functionalization of both O&M and capital costs. Table 7-2 shows the functional allocation percentages for the FY 2024 revenue requirement.

Consolidated Revenue Requirement Functionalization

Table 7-4 shows the consolidated functionalization of the FY 2024. The FY 2024 O&M revenue requirement allocated to each function in Table 7-4 was determined by multiplying the O&M revenue requirement show in Line 5 of Table 7-1 by the percentage allocations summarized in Column B of Table 7-2. These same percentage allocations can be seen in Line 5 of Table 7-4.

The FY 2024 capital cost revenue requirement allocated to each function in Table 7-4 was determined by multiplying the capital cost revenue requirements shown in Lines 3 and 4 of Table 7-1 by the percentage allocations shown in Columns C and D of Table 7-2, respectively. The change in cash reserves is being used to cash fund capital projects and is also multiplied by Column D. The outcome of this capital cost allocation process, when expressed on a percentage basis, can be seen in Line 13 of Table 7-4.

The FY 2024 non-rate revenue offset allocated to each function in Table 7-4 was determined by multiplying the non-rate revenue offset show in Line 13 of Table 7-1 by the percentage allocations summarized in Column E of Table 7-2. These same percentage allocations can be seen in Line 2 of Table 7-4.

The final revenue requirement of $389,190,725 shown in Column N, Line 25 of Table 7-4 matches Line 19 of Table 7-1 and several other preceding tables in this report.

7.4. Sewer Cost Component Allocations

The allocation of costs to cost causation component answers the question, what types of customer demands are met by different functional components of the sewer system? Cost causation components on the SFPUC's sewer system include a flow component for the volume of customer wastewater discharges and for storm runoff generated from properties, as well as strength loading components for COD, TSS, and oil and OG. Considering that SFPUC operates a combined sewer system that treats both wastewater and stormwater, the cost allocations were conducted in two steps.

- First, the split of wet weather to dry weather flows were evaluated; this is the first step of splitting costs between wastewater related expenses and stormwater related costs.
- Second, the remaining dry weather related expenses were allocated to cost causation components. This provided the basis for allocating wastewater related expenses to flow and strength cost drivers.

Determination of Wet Weather Flows (Stormwater Flows)

The SFPUC has historically recovered stormwater-related costs through wastewater rates. In this study, the stormwater related portion of the sewer cost of service has been calculated to enable the split of the sewer rates into wastewater rates and stormwater charges. To allocate costs between wastewater and stormwater service, the projected volume of dry weather flows (customer wastewater discharges and dry weather infiltration) and stormwater flows must be determined for a "typical" year. The analysis required to determine wet weather flows included the following key steps as shown in Table 7-5 for the period FY 2020 – FY 2022:

Identification of Wet Weather Days (Line 1): This reflects the number of days designated as experiencing wet weather flows at the Oceanside Wastewater Treatment Plant (FY 2020 and FY 2022) or the number of days with precipitation in excess of 0.10 inches from recorded weather data (FY 2021).

Estimation of Customer and Non-Customer Treatment Plant Influent (Lines 8 – 11): This shows the estimate of customer and non-customer flows to the SFPUC's treatment plants. Approximately 16,704 million gallons (67.4%) of influent flows at the wastewater treatment plans are estimated to be associated with customer wastewater discharges (Line 10) and 8,093 million gallons (32.6%) of the flows are estimated to be from non-customer sources (Line 11).

Estimation of Non-Customer Wet Weather Flows and Dry Weather Infiltration (Lines 13 – 19): Of the non-customer influent of 8,093 million gallons (Line 11), 4,353 million gallons (17.6%) is estimated to be from flows on wet weather days and 3,740 (15.1%) is associated with dry weather infiltration (Line 17).

Flows on Wet Weather Days Excluding Customer Flows (Lines 21 – 24): In order to isolate infiltration on wet weather days -which includes some daily infiltration and pure stormwater flows- the customer flows on wet weather days of 1,368 (Line 23) is subtracted from the total wet weather flow of 4,352 million gallons (Line 22). This results in wet weather infiltration (daily infiltration and stormwater flows) of 2,984 million gallons (Line 24).

Determination of Pure Stormwater Flows (Lines 26 – 31): This section of the analysis shows the final derivation of the estimate of 10.8% of SFPUC treatment plant influent being associated with "pure" stormwater flows. By definition, this means that 89.2% of all remaining flows are not associated with stormwater.

The outcome of the above analysis indicates that 89.2% of wastewater flows entering the SFPUC's wastewater treatment facilities were dry weather-related and that 10.8% were created by stormwater.

Allocation to Cost Causation Components

The wastewater utility industry typically uses one of two basic cost-allocation approaches when allocating wastewater costs to billable constituents (i.e., flow, COD, TSS, and OG). These are the Design Basis Cost-allocation Method and the Functional Cost Allocation Method. [14] The Design Basis Cost-Allocation Method (sometimes called the Capital Cost Allocation Method) is used in this study to proportionally allocate capital costs based on industry design standards for each functional area to cost components based on the relative costs borne by the utility to construct or repair capital assets[15]. The Functional Cost Allocation Method (sometimes called the Operation and Maintenance Cost Allocation Method) allocates O&M functional costs based on the drivers of costs as they relate to flows and loads.

The allocations presented in the 2018 Rate Study served as the starting point for this analysis. The allocations in the 2018 Rate Study were based on a 2014 functional allocation completed by MME for the rate study prior to the 2018 Rate Study. The allocations were then updated based on the changes that have been made to the facilities and customer uses that have impacted the combined sewer system[16] over the last ten years. The SFPUC is in the process of undergoing major wastewater improvements based on the needs identified in the Sewer System Improvement Program (SSIP). Where appropriate, the percentages allocated to the flow and strength components were reevaluated considering these on-going capital improvements and customer use changes.

The allocations to each cost causation component were conducted in a multi-step evaluation. First costs were allocated more generally to flows and loads. Flows were distributed between wastewater (dry flows) and stormwater (wet flows), and loads were split between COD, TSS, and OG. To allocate the flow component of operating costs and non-rate revenues between dry flows and wet flows, the total allocation to flow for each function was multiplied by the wet and dry weather flow allocation that was calculated in the previous section (Table 7-5). The flow component for capital costs as well as the cost components were based on the specific design standards and operations of each functional group.

The following sections provide a description of each functional area and a summary of the considerations that went into assigning the allocation factors for each function to cost causation component. The final allocation factors used in the analysis are presented in Table 7-6 through Table 7-8.

Headworks:
The Headworks is the first treatment process in the wastewater treatment plant. The Headworks has several treatment functions. These include screening grit, rags and large debris, flow metering, and typically influent pumping. The Headworks are designed to accommodate all influent flow. Following the Design Basis Cost-Allocation Method for capital cost allocations, the percentage allocated to flow reflects the expected capital expenditures for accommodating flow. Headworks system components such as bar screens and grit collection facilities are TSS based, so this proportionate share of the cost allocation of the headworks is appropriately based on TSS. The 2018 values are 86.5% for flow and 17.5% for TSS. Since that time, the Headworks has been upgraded to include a new Head Cell grit screening system and a new odor control system. The Headworks is where the odors and hazardous air emissions are first released in the treatment process. Air and odor emissions come from the strength components (COD, TSS, and OG). The strength components of COD and OG were not included in the 2018 allocations but have been added here to reflect Headworks screening and air emissions and odor control. Percentages of 2% for COD, 14% for TSS, and 1% for O/G that reflect the estimated capital expenditures spent on each strength component at the Headworks. A similar breakdown can be expected of the O&M expenditures.

The Headworks are sized to accommodate peak wet weather flows. Further, the SFPUC headworks includes back-up pumps in case of pump failure. These pumps also convey wet weather flows. The proportion of costs associated with the wet weather flows allocated towards the sizing and back-up pumps is 10% of total flows. The resulting cost allocation for wet weather is roughly 8% of the total allocation for the Headworks (10% of the total allocation to flow). Historical wet weather and dry weather flow splits are used to allocate the flow component of the O&M costs between them using the Functional Cost Allocation Method.

Primary Treatment:
After sewer flows are screened in the headworks facility, they go through primary treatment, where suspended solids and organic matter are removed through settling and oil and grease is floated to the top and skimmed off. As previously discussed in the example, flows determine overall sizing and volume of the primary settling tanks because the tanks must be sized large enough to slow the velocity of the wastewater flow and to settle out the suspended solids.

Approximately 75% of capital cost for primary treatment is typically attributed to the settling tanks, so a 75% allocation is given to flow. The purpose of the primary tanks is to settle out and skim off the solids (i.e., TSS, and OG). Therefore, the costs for the rakes and skimmers and associated sludge pumps can be attributable to strength. Costs for the racks/skimmers/sludge pumps are typically 20% of the total capital cost of the primary tanks. In addition, the primary tanks at both the Southeast Plant and the Oceanside Plant are covered to contain odors. An odor control system treats the air emissions associated with the COD and OG strength components. This study has similar allocations to the 2018 study, reflecting odor control improvements, and resulting in an allocation of 75% flow, 20% TSS, 2% COD, and 3% O/G.

Primary tanks are typically sized with some allowance to accommodate peak wet weather flows. Typical design ratios for overflow rates for dry weather versus wet weather flows in primary tanks are approximately 1,200 gallons per day per square foot (gpd/sf) versus 1,400 gpd/sf . This is an increase of approximately 10% and is the basis of the wet weather allocation.

The O&M costs for the primary process include electrical power for sludge raking (TSS) and primary sludge pumping (TSS), chemical addition (TSS), and chemical and electrical use for the odor control facilities (COD). Related operational costs for handling flow include the operation and maintenance of the gates and valves and associated SCADA and control system. In addition, the primary tanks are designed to remove roughly 70% of the TSS and 30% of COD. The 2018 study reported an O&M allocation of costs of 40% flow and 60% TSS for primary treatment. This cost allocation is updated to reflect odor control and improvements to sludge raking resulting in an allocation of 55% TSS, 5% COD, and 40% to flow. Finally, historically recorded wet weather and dry weather flows are used to allocate the flow component of the O&M costs between wet and dry weather in this analysis (Table 7-5).

Secondary Treatment:
Secondary treatment is where biodegradable organic matter is removed. The secondary treatment process requires aeration of the flow in one set of basins followed by a second set of clarification basins to settle out biomass. The secondary process is designed to meet the plant's discharge requirements for TSS and COD removal. Both the secondary treatment process at the Southeast Wastewater Treatment Plant (SEP) and at the Oceanside Wastewater Treatment Plant are High Purity Oxygen Activated Sludge (HPOAS) processes. Both plants have conventional aeration basins (pure oxygen) followed by final clarifiers.

The design and sizing of the aeration tanks, which is the first set of secondary treatment basins, and the aeration equipment costs are directly controlled by the organic loading and the COD associated with that organic loading and flow. Structural and equipment costs (i.e., channels and gates) are attributable to the flow component. The flow component must also be managed in this process to allow for the required hydraulic retention time. Therefore, the Aeration Basins are sized based on hydraulic retention time (HRT), solids retention time (SRT), and oxygen feed concentrations to meet the COD design loading treatment requirement. The costs for the aeration basins in the 2014 Study are 95% derived from COD and 5% derived from flow. This study maintains this allocation.

The aeration basins are followed by the secondary clarifiers. The secondary clarifiers are the greatest expense of the secondary system after the aeration basins. The secondary clarifiers are designed primarily based on flow, as their purpose is to settle the TSS out the mixed liquor. The secondary sludge pumping equipment is sized for the waste activated sludge and return activated sludge (COD & OG). The 2014 allocations were 32% COD, 8% TSS, and 60% flow. This study maintains these allocations, with the addition of OG to reflect the proportional cost contributions of OG from the sludge pumping equipment.

The secondary allocation is a combination of the proportional costs of the aeration process and secondary clarifiers. The ratio of costs between the aeration system and the secondary clarifiers, including sludge pumping, is estimated to be roughly 60% and 40% respectively The blended cost allocation for the secondary process, including the aeration basins and the clarifiers, is 25% to flow, 70% to COD, 3% to TSS, and 2% to OG[17]. This results in an increase from the 2018 stud in the strength allocations, reflecting water conservation efforts. A similar breakdown can be expected of the O&M expenditures.

Wet weather flows do not significantly impact the sizing of the secondary treatment process due to several reasons. First, the design of the secondary treatment process is such that a wide range of flows, including peak flows due to diurnal variability, is accommodated without significant cost adjustments. The secondary system is also designed with the ability to take tankage out of service for routine maintenance, so the additional capacity with all tanks in service can also be deployed during wet weather conditions. Also, the SFPUC wet weather flows are dampened in the Storage/Transport system. Therefore, no allowance is given to wet weather flows for the secondary system for the Capital Cost Allocation. Historically recorded wet weather and dry weather flows are used to allocate the flow component of the O&M costs between wet and dry weather in this analysis (Table 7-5).

[17] Example calculation for COD: 0.6*95% +0.4*32%=70%

It is recommended that consideration be given to separating out the aeration and secondary clarification processes during the next scheduled rate study due to their relatively different rationale and cost allocation results. Nutrients are an increasing regulatory concern in the Bay, consequently putting more of a focus on the secondary treatment system operation.

Solids Handling/Digesters:
Solids that are settled from both the primary and secondary clarifiers are treated in the solids handling and treatment facilities. Both the Oceanside Plant and the Southeast Treatment Plant use sludge digestion to handle and to treat the biosolids. The Southeast Treatment Plant has recently completed a major rebuild of the solids handling and digestion process and implemented a new state-of-the-art thermal hydrolysis process (CAMBI Process). The overall solids handling system includes primary and secondary sludge thickening, CAMBI Digestion Process (SEP), Conventional Anaerobic Digestion (OSP), Sludge Dewatering, Truck Transfer Station, and Trucking. These facilities all are designed based solely on the solids loadings as measured by COD, TSS, and OG. The solids handling facilities are not significantly impacted by wastewater flow. Therefore, the capital cost allocation using the Design Basis Cost Allocation Method for the solids handling/digesters is 100% to strength. The O&M cost allocation using the Functional Cost Allocation Method is also 100% to strength. The percentages of 55% COD, 40% TSS, and 5% OG reflect the allocations that are reasonably assigned to the solids handling/digester system to capital and O&M cost expenditures based on the influent wastewater characteristics.

Disinfection and Effluent Discharge:
Disinfection is the final treatment step before discharging the treated wastewater into receiving waters, or in the case of the Southeast Treatment Plant, San Francisco Bay. The Oceanside Treatment Plant does not disinfect due to ocean discharge. Ultraviolet light (UV) disinfection is used at the Southeast Treatment Plant. Average day monthly flows are the parameter for determining the size of UV system to achieve the required contact time. Therefore, both capital and O&M cost allocations are attributed 100% to flow. The hypochlorite feed system handles peak wet weather flows. Historically recorded wet weather and dry weather flows are used to allocate the flow component of the O&M costs between wet and dry weather.

Pumping/Lift Stations:
Lift and pumping stations convey wastewater and storm water from one area to another. Sizing and design are based solely on flow. Therefore, flows are the basis for both the capital and O&M allocation costs for pumping/lift stations. The capacity of the pumping/lift stations is based on the design 5-year wet weather event. Historically recorded wet weather and dry weather flows are used to allocate the flow component of the O&M costs between wet and dry weather.

Collection System:
The collection system is a system of underground pipes that move sewage to the headworks of the treatment plants. The sizing of the collection system piping, pumping, and other system components is based solely on flow. Therefore, 100% of the capital cost allocation is based on flow. The pipe sizes are increased to accommodate peak flows because San Francisco has a combined collection system that collects and combines wastewater with wet weather stormwater flows. The incremental capital cost of 20% is associated with upsizing for accommodating wet weather flows.

Using the Functional Cost Allocation Method for allocation of the O&M costs, rags (TSS) and OG are the primary O&M expense for the collections system. That includes eliminating roots and rag and grease build-up in order to keep the wastewater flowing freely in the collection system piping. This is a large O&M expense with regard to the collection system. The O&M allocation reflects this. The estimated O&M costs, including accepting and responding to customer complaints of system backups due to TSS and OG related issues are (TSS 20%, O/G 20% and Customer Service 10%). The remaining O&M flow allocation is split based on the historically recorded wet weather and dry weather daily average flows.

Interceptors:
San Francisco collects both dry weather and wet weather flows. Large interceptors (Transport/Storage Boxes) have been built to accommodate wet weather flows. Therefore, the percentage allocation for both capital and O&M for the interceptors is 100% flow. Although they were built with the goal to partially treat wet weather flows during wet weather events, the T/S Boxes also include design accommodations to transport dry weather flows on a daily basis. For the capital cost allocation, the 70% allocation to wet and 30% allocation to dry flows, reflect the estimated wet and dry weather expenditure split. Historically recorded wet weather and dry weather flows are used to allocate the flow component of the O&M costs between wet and dry weather.

Table 7-6 shows the allocation of estimated FY 2024 O&M costs to cost causation components. The percent allocations shown in Lines 1–13 reflect the outcome of the cost causation factor allocation analysis discussed above. These percentage allocations are then multiplied by the total FY 2024 O&M revenue requirement for each function as determined in Table 7-4. Note that the total FY 2024 O&M costs identified in Line 4 of Table 7-4 match the total O&M costs shown in Column J, Lines 16–27, in Table 7-6.

Table 7-7 shows the allocation of estimated FY 2024 capital costs to cost causation components. The percentage allocations shown in Lines 1 – 12 reflect the outcome of the cost causation factor allocation analysis discussed above. These percentage allocations are then multiplied by the total FY 2024 capital cost revenue requirement for each function as determined in Table 7-4. Note that the total FY 2024 capital costs identified in Line 12 of Table 7-4 match the total capital costs shown in Column J, Lines 15–26, in Table 7-7.

Table 7-8 shows the allocation of estimated FY 2024 non-rate revenue offsets to cost causation components. The percentage allocations shown in Lines 1-13 reflect the outcome of the cost causation factor allocation analysis discussed above. These percentage allocations are then multiplied by the total FY 2024 non-rate revenue offset for each function as determined in Table 7-4. With the exception of primary treatment and general collections, the allocations match those used for O&M costs. For primary treatment and general collections, the allocations are similar to those used for capital costs. Note that the total FY 2024 non-rate revenue offsets identified in Line 24 of Table 7-4 match the total capital costs shown in Column J, Lines 16–27, in Table 7-7.

7.5. Sewer Unit COS Development

Customer Contributed Units of Service

The units of service are used in the allocation of costs to customer classes and the eventual determination of proposed FY 2024 rates and charges as part of the rate design process. This process involves developing estimates, in consultation with SFPUC staff, of the projected FY 2024 contributed units of service (i.e., customer wastewater discharges flowing to the treatment plants), billed units of service, return flows, strength loadings, and infiltration volumes, originally shown in Table 6-4 through Table 6-8. Table 7-10 shows the volume and strength loading inputs used to determine the units of service for FY 2024 prior to the allocation of flows from dry water infiltration. Key points of Table 7-10 include:

Projected Flow (Column C): The SFPUC's wastewater billing system calculates the projected flow volumes shown in Column C of Table 7-10 by applying a return flow factor to each customer's billed water consumption. Therefore, the projected flow volumes shown in Column C include a return flow adjustment made by the billing system. The return flow factor assumed for Single Family Residential is 90% and Multifamily Residential customers is 95%. The return flow factors for non-residential customers are based on the SIC Code assigned to each customer in the billing system.

Weighted Average Strength Loadings (Column D-F): The concentration (mg/L) of the strength loadings shown in Columns D, E, and F reflected the aggregate weighted average of each customer type (e.g., Single Family Residential, Municipal, Nonresidential/Commercial) based on their strength loading assignment (see Wastewater Strength Loading Groups).

Wet Weather Flows (Line 13): The strength loading of wet weather flows shown on Line 13 were estimated based on an analysis of treatment plant influent data for the three-year period FY 2020 - FY 2022.

Strength Loading Pounds (Columns G-I): The pounds of strength loadings were determined based on the projected flow volumes in Column C by the weighted average strength loadings for each customer class as shown in Columns D-F.

Allocation of Dry Weather Infiltration to Customer Units of Service

After determining the test year units of service summarized in Table 7-10, the next step in the COS process is to determine how dry weather infiltration volumes loadings should be allocated to each customer class.

There is no industry standard approach for the allocation of infiltration in every situation. Methods for allocating infiltration to customer classes range from relying entirely on the proportionate share of contributed volume from each customer class (100% volume) to relying entirely on the proportionate share of customer accounts/wastewater service connections (100% accounts). For this study, 25% of dry weather infiltration volumes were allocated based on customer accounts and 75% of dry weather infiltration volumes were allocated based on customer volumes.

Table 7-11 shows a summary of the allocation of dry weather infiltration to each wastewater customer class. Note that no strength loadings were assigned to dry weather infiltration volumes (see Line 14 of Table 7-10). This is because there was no data available to appropriately assign dry weather infiltration strength loadings. Therefore, there is no change in the pounds of COD, TSS, or OG allocated to each customer class due to dry weather infiltration.

As shown in Line 1 of Column B in Table 7-11, the estimated FY 2024 volume of dry weather infiltration is 5,026,950 CCF. Of this amount, 3,770,213 (75%) is allocated to customer classes based on the volume of wastewater projected to be contributed by each customer class (Column C, Line 1). The remaining 1,256,738 CCF of dry weather flow (25%) is allocated to customer classes based on number of accounts projected for each customer classes (Column D, Line 1).

Column B, Lines 7–14 of Table 7-11 show the volume of wastewater projected to be contributed to each customer class before the allocation of dry weather infiltration. For example, the projected volume of wastewater for Single Family Residential customers is 5,745,781 (Column B, Line 8). After allocating flows from dry water infiltration to Single Family Residential customers based on their proportionate share of projected FY 2024 contributed volumes and accounts, the estimated total flow contribution assigned to Single Family Residential customers is 7,547,512 CCF as shown in Column B, Line 17. Note that the amount of strength loading pounds projected for each customer classes is the same both before and after the allocation of dry weather infiltration (Columns C, D, and E, Lines 7-23). As noted previously, this is due to the fact that no strength loadings were assigned to dry weather flows infiltration.

7.6. Sewer Customer Class Revenue Requirements

As discussed previously in Section 7.2 (Table 7-1, Line 19), the total FY 2024 sewer revenue requirement for the Wastewater Enterprise is $389,190,725. The calculated wastewater service-related revenue requirement is $301,185,528 or 77.5% of the total. The calculated stormwater service-related revenue requirement is $87,719,197 or 22.5% of the total. This report section discusses the derivation of these service-related costs and the specific revenue requirement for each wastewater customer class.

Unit Cost of Service Calculation

Having established the units of service for each customer class (Table 7-11), the next step in the wastewater COS process is to calculate the revenue requirement for each customer class. To allocate costs to customer classes, a unit COS is calculated for each cost causation component.

A starting point in the unit COS calculation process is to summarize the allocated FY 2024 COS as shown in Table 7-12. Line 1 of Table 7-12 corresponds to the amounts presented in Line 1 of Table 7-9. Lines 2 and 3 of Table 7-12 correspond to Lines 2 and 10 of Table 7-9, respectively. Administrative costs totaling $30,648,196 (Column I, Line 4) were identified in the process of assigning costs to functions. These costs were allocated to each cost causation component as shown in Line 8 of Table 7-12. Specifically, administrative costs were allocated to each cost causation component shown in Columns B-H based on their proportionate share of the of the FY 2024 revenue requirement. The total allocated revenue requirement sums to $389,190,725 (Line 4 and Line 7) which matches the overall rate revenue requirement developed in the financial plan and shown in several proceeding tables.

Table 7-12 also shows the unit COS calculation for each cost causation component. The unit COS is calculated by dividing the revenue requirement for each cost causation component (Line 7) by the units of service (Line 20). The value of $7.04 per CCF shown in Line 22 of Column B reflects the cost of providing service for all types of sewer flows on the SFPUC system. This includes dry weather flows consisting of customer wastewater discharges and dry weather infiltration (Column C) and wet weather flows from stormwater (Column D). The value of $5.84 per CCF shown in Line 22 of Column C is used in the calculation of the revenue requirement for each wastewater customer class. The value of $12.56 per CCF shown in Line 22 of Column D is used in the calculation of the stormwater revenue requirement. A detail of the unit COS calculation for flow, COD, TSS, OG, and customer billing is shown in Appendix J.

Wastewater Portion of Sewer Revenue Requirement

The wastewater portion of the sewer revenue requirement allocated to each customer class is calculated by multiplying the customer class units of service for each cost causation component by the total system unit COS for each cost causation component. Lines 2 -7 of Table 7-13 show the units of service for each customer class for each cost causation component. The unit cost of service shown in Line 11 was derived in Table 7-12.

The customer class revenue requirements are shown in Table 7-13, Lines 15 – 20. The total wastewater revenue requirement for each customer class is the sum of the flow portion of the revenue requirement, each strength portion of the revenue requirement (COD, TSS, and OG), and the total customer service portion of the revenue requirement. The resulting aggregate wastewater portion of the FY 2024 sewer revenue requirement is $301,471,528 as shown in Column K, Line 21 of Table 7-13. This is 77.5% of the $389,190,725 total sewer revenue requirement shown, for example, in Column K, Line 7 of Table 7-12.

Wastewater Portion of Sewer Revenue Requirement versus Revenues at Existing Rates

Table 7-14 provides a summary comparison of how the FY 2024 wastewater customer class revenue requirements compare to the level of revenue earned from existing rates. For all wastewater customer classes, the FY 2024 cost to serve (Column B), is less than the amount earned from existing rates. This is because the SFPUC's current wastewater rates recover the cost of both wastewater and stormwater services. The calculated FY 2024 wastewater revenue requirement excludes stormwater-related costs. However, the proportion of costs incurred between classes has remained at a similar level, as shown in Column D and Column E.

Stormwater Portion of Sewer Revenue Requirement

The stormwater portion of the sewer revenue requirement is calculated by multiplying the units of service for each cost causation component by the unit cost of service. Line 9, Column F of Table 7-15 shows the calculated FY 2024 stormwater related costs of $87,719,197 which is 22.5% of the total FY 2024 Wastewater Enterprise revenue requirement of $389,190,725. The units of service shown in Line 2 of Table 7-15 were originally presented in Line 19 of Table 7-12. No allocation of dry weather infiltration costs or customer service costs were included in the stormwater revenue requirement.

8. Sewer Rate Design

8.1. Sewer (Wastewater and Stormwater) Rate Design Overview

This report section shows the calculation of FY 2024 rates for each wastewater customer class. The rates are an outcome of the comprehensive analysis of customer flows and strength loadings completed as part of the wastewater COS process described in Section 7 of this report. The rates are designed to recover wastewater service-related costs of $301,471,528 (see Line 1 of Table 7-16) and stormwater service-related costs of $87,719,197 (see Line 2 of Table 7-16) for the projected FY 2024 total sewer revenue requirement of $389,190,725.

8.2. Wastewater Rate Calculations

Monthly Service Charge

Table 8-1 shows the calculation of FY 2024 monthly service charge. The cost components recovered in the monthly service charge include the cost of dry weather infiltration and the cost of customer service, each of which are allocated on the basis of accounts. The proposed monthly service charge is calculated by dividing the total revenue requirement (Column B plus Column C) by the total number of bills (Column E). This results in a monthly service charge of $4.85 per bill which is $0.36 less than the current monthly service charge of $5.21 per monthly.

Residential Commodity Rates

Table 8-2 shows the calculation of COS FY 2024 residential commodity rates. This rate is calculated by taking the FY 2024 revenue requirement for each residential class (Column B) and dividing it by the billed units (Column C). This results in a rate of $13.45/CCF which is $2.52 less than the current residential commodity rate of $15.97/CCF. A detail of the components of the FY 2024 revenue requirement shown in Lines 1 and 2 in Column B was presented in Table 7-13, Columns D-G, Lines 15 and 16. The projected FY 2024 billed units shown in Column C of Table 8-2 are based on the projected FY 2024 billable wastewater discharge volumes presented in the FY 2024 Column of Table 6-5.

Non-Residential Commodity Rates

Table 8-3 shows the calculation of FY 2024 non-residential commodity rates which consist of components for flow and strength (COD, TSS, OG). The rate is derived by taking the total flow or strength related revenue requirement Billed units refers to the total CCF of non-residential billed wastewater discharges as well as the billed pounds of COD, TSS, and OG. For example, the volumetric $/CCF rate is determined by dividing the FY 2024 revenue requirement (Colum D, Lines 1-4) by the projected billed units (Column E, Lines 1-4). The projected $/lb. rate for COD is determined by diving the FY 2024 revenue requirement (Column B, Lines 9 and 10) by the projected billed units (Column C, Lines 9 and 10). A similar process is followed for the $/lb. rates for TSS and OG.

With the exception of the $/lb. rate for COD (Columns D and E, Line 9 and 10 of Table 8-3), each billing component declines as compared to current rates. The increase in the dollar per pound ($/lb.) rate for COD is primarily due to the large investment in treatment plant digester technologies made by the SFPUC.

8.3. Stormwater Charge Overview

The Wastewater Enterprise has historically recovered stormwater-related costs through wastewater rates. In this study, a separate stormwater revenue requirement was calculated so that the SFPUC can implement stormwater specific charges. As discussed in Section 7, the projected FY 2024 stormwater service-related costs are $87,719,197 (see Line 2 of Table 7-16). The stormwater rates presented in this section of the report are "full cost" (or COS based) rates that are designed to recover all the projected FY 2024 stormwater specific costs.

New Stormwater Charge Structure

The SFPUC has elected to implement a stormwater charge beginning in FY 2024 that features a "Simplified" structure for residential customers and a "Standard" structure for non-residential customers. Residential customers are defined as having a maximum of six dwelling units and a maximum lot size of 6,000 square feet. Under the Simplified rate structure, residential customers who meet this definition will be assessed a flat monthly charge in one of three Simplified Residential Tiers (SRT), based on parcel size. This flat charge is based on the average amount of permeable and impermeable area for parcels within each tier. These averages are based on a GIS analysis of all parcels in the City of San Francisco. Customers who do not meet the residential criteria are charged under the Standard rate structure based on their actual square footage of permeable and impermeable area. It is worth noting that any parcel area that does not drain to SFPUC's combined sewer will be excluded from the calculation of billable area[18]. Table 8-5 summarizes this rate structure.

Table 8-5: New Stormwater Charge Structure

2	SRT1 (1 - 1,700 square feet parcel size)	Monthly Flat Charge

Stormwater Charge Calculation

Table 8-6 shows the calculation of the FY 2024 stormwater unit COS (dollar per thousand square feet per month or $/KSF/mo.). The total billable permeable and impermeable areas shown in Column B are based on a geospatial analysis of areal imaging that was prepared for SFPUC. The total billable areas are then multiplied by a runoff coefficient (Column C) that was determined by SFPUC by calculating the runoff generated from impervious area and various pervious surfaces. The pervious surface analysis included multiple vegetation and soil conditions. For the purpose of setting up the stormwater charge, it was determined that 100% of precipitation would run off from impermeable surfaces, while 10% of precipitation would run off from the typical permeable surface in the city. To normalize the unit cost calculation, the billable areas were multiplied by the runoff coefficient (Column B * Column C) to calculate the effective permeable and impermeable areas. The total revenue requirements (Column E) were then divided by the effective area to calculate the rate on a dollar per square foot per year basis. The rate was then converted to dollar per thousand square feet per month (Column G).

[18] Excluded area includes land that drains to a lake, pond, or to the Bay; submerged portions of waterfront parcels; and areas that are managed by their own stormwater management system under a separate permit.

Table 8-6: FY 2024 Stormwater Unit COS Calculation

(A) Surface	(B) Area (Sq. Ft.)	(C) RO Coeff	(D=B*C) Effective Area	(E) Revenue Collection	(F=E/D) Rate ($/Sq. Ft./Yr)	(G=F*1,000/12) Rate ($/K Sq. Ft./Mo)
Impermeable Area	521,418,549	1.00	521,418,549	$82,576,137	$0.16	$13.20

Total	846,171,832		553,893,878	$87,719,197

Having established the unit COS for all permeable and impermeable surfaces, the next step in the development of the stormwater charge is to calculate the revenue requirement for each customer type and each tier. The percentage of the total effective permeable and impermeable areas for each class and tier is calculated and shown in Column D and Column E of Table 8-7 and are based on the effective areas originally shown in Column D of Table 8-6. These percentages are then used to determine the portion of the revenue requirement that is allocated to each class and tier. The total permeable revenue requirements (Column F) and impermeable revenue requirements (Column G) in Table 8-7 are equal to the revenue collections in Column E of Table 8-6. Table 8-7 shows a summarized version of this calculation.

The third step in the calculation of the stormwater charge is the development of dollar per thousand square foot per month unit costs for both permeable and impermeable areas. Table 8-8 shows this calculation which is a more detailed version of the information previously provided in Table 8-7 and Table 8-6. The permeable charge is the permeable revenue requirement (Column B) divided by the permeable area (Column E) and multiplied by 1,000 and divided by 12 to create a monthly charge. The impermeable charge is derived in the same manner (Column C divided by Column F * 1,000 *12).

The fourth step in the calculation of the stormwater charge is the development of the differentiated monthly fixed charge for each residential tier in the Simplified portion of the stormwater charge structure. This calculation requires the use of average residential parcel size estimates as developed by the SFPUC. Table 8-9 shows this calculation. The impermeable monthly charge (Column D) is derived by multiplying Columns B and C and dividing by 1,000. The permeable monthly charge is the permeable unit rate multiplied by the assumed permeable area and divided by 1,000. The total monthly charge is the sum of the impermeable monthly charge and the permeable monthly charge.

8.4. COS Sewer Bill Impacts

Several examples are presented in this section to illustrate the bill impacts for different users of the proposed rate structure. The bills shown in each figure include the impact of proposed FY 2024 sewer rates, which include a monthly sewer service charge, a stormwater charge, and volumetric wastewater rates without a phase-in period for the stormwater charge.

Table 8-1 presents FY 2024 bill impacts for Single Family Residential customers assuming the Simplified Residential Tier 2 charges without a phase-in.

Figure 8-2 presents the FY 2024 impacts for multifamily apartments assuming the Standard stormwater charge for a medium-sized apartment building with 43 sq. ft. of permeable area and 4,008 sq. ft. of impermeable area and 71.2 CCF of discharge.

Figure 8-3 shows the FY 2024 impacts for non-residential customers assuming the Standard stormwater charge with 22,924 sq. ft. of permeable area and 141,018 sq. ft. of impermeable area.

9. Proposed Sewer Rates

9.1. Introduction

The rates presented by MME and Raftelis in Section 8 are designed to recover the FY 2024 wastewater service-related costs of $301,471,528 and the FY 2024 stormwater service-related costs of $87,719,197. This change would result in significant bill impacts on customers with parcels that have large impermeable surface areas. The SFPUC's Ratepayer Assurance Policy principles of Affordability and Predictability suggests that major rate structure changes should take place over a few years instead of all at once. The SFPUC proposed sewer rates include a phase in of the stormwater charges to full stormwater cost recovery in FY 2030. From FY 2024 – FY 2029, wastewater rates will continue to include, albeit on a decreasing level each year, a portion of stormwater-related costs, as shown in Table 9-1. The proposed sewer rates for FY 2024 through FY 2026 as well as the projected rates for FY 2027 and FY 2028 are shown in Table 9-2.

9.2. Phase-In Revenue Requirement Projection

Table 9-1 shows the revenue requirements from Section 8 of this report and the re-allocation of the stormwater costs between FY 2024 and FY 2029. Key items shown on this table include:

Stormwater Phase-In Percentage (Line 1): This is the percentage of the annual stormwater related costs that will be collected through wastewater rates each year of the phase in period.

Adjusted Wastewater Total (Line 5): This is annual revenues to be collected through wastewater rates after the addition of a portion of the stormwater related costs.

Adjusted Stormwater Total (Line 10): This is the annual revenue to be collected through stormwater charges after a portion of costs have been shifted to wastewater.

The overall required surcharge is based on the final formula: surcharge ($ per ccf) = Water Revenue Shortfall from reduced flow/ Reduced Water Flow.

Water Shortage Contingency Plan Stage	Target Water Usage Reduction	Drought Surcharge on Volumetric Water & Wastewater Rates
Stages 1 - 3	5%	Up to 5%
Stage 4	5-18%	Up to 18%
Stage 5 - 6	18-32%	Up to 32%

The drought surcharges shall remain in effect until the Commission, at a publicly noticed meeting, adopts a resolution rescinding the water delivery reduction.

Section 6 – Billing Rates for Sewer Customer Charges

The following schedules of customer charges to be paid by all dischargers to the City's Sewer System are hereby adopted and imposed.

Schedule A. Residential Wastewater

This schedule shall apply to Single Family and Multi-Family Residential wastewater customers. The charges under this schedule are based upon the typical strengths for Domestic Wastes, as determined by the General Manager. All Residential wastewater users shall be charged on the basis of discharge units in accordance with the schedule of charges as follows:

	Current	Proposed
	FYE 2023	FYE 2024	FYE 2025	FYE 2026
	Current	Effective July 1, 2023	Effective July 1, 2024	Effective July 1, 2025

Volume per Discharge Unit[1]	$15.97	$16.91	$17.80	$18.72

[1] Discharge Unit = 1 CCF of wastewater = 748 gallons

A discharge unit shall be based on the customer's metered water use multiplied by the flow factor and represents the quantity of metered water use returned to the sewage system as wastewater. By default, residential single-family customers are assumed to have a flow factor of 90% and multi-family residential customers are assumed to have a flow factor of 95%. Customers whose usage of water varies from typical patterns may apply for an adjusted flow factor.

Schedule B. Non-Residential Wastewater

Users other than Residential wastewater users charged under Schedule A of this Resolution (i.e. Non-Residential), shall be charged the cost for each parameter according to the following:

	Current	Proposed

A discharge unit shall be based on the customer's metered water use multiplied by the flow factor and represents the quantity of metered water use returned to the sewage system as wastewater. By default, non-residential customers are assumed to have a flow factor of 90%. Customers whose usage of water varies from typical patterns may apply for an adjusted flow factor.

Those users whose parameter loadings of COD, TSS, and O/G are not based on periodic sampling shall be charged on the basis of standard parameter loadings established by the General Manager for each SIC code in accordance with applicable state and federal laws and regulations, and as summarized in the table below.

Schedule C. Standard Stormwater

This schedule shall apply to all non-residential parcels, mixed use parcels, lots without wastewater service, residential parcels greater than 6,000 square feet of net parcel area and/or having more than 6 dwelling units, and/or any other parcels which do not meet the eligibility criteria for Schedule D. Net parcel area is the gross parcel area recorded with the San Francisco Assessor's Office less any excluded area that does not drain to the SFPUC combined sewer system. The designation of a parcel as non-residential or residential will be based on the presence of wastewater accounts billed under Schedules A and B, above.

Parcels meeting the criteria of the standard stormwater charge will be assessed on a per 1,000 square foot basis for all permeable and impermeable area on their property as follows:

	Current	Proposed
	FYE 2023	FYE 2024	FYE 2025	FYE 2026
	Current	Effective July 1, 2023	Effective July 1, 2024	Effective July 1, 2025

Impermeable Area per 1,000 square feet	N/A	$1.89	$4.11	$6.72

Permeable and impermeable areas are determined for each parcel using geospatial analysis. Customers may submit evidence of their measured areas if they believe the data for their property should be modified.

In the event that multiple accounts share one Parcel, the charge will be calculated for the total parcel area and the shared equally by the number of accounts. The shares charged to each account may be adjusted with written agreement of all account holders on a Parcel.

Schedule D. Simplified Residential Stormwater

This schedule shall apply to Single Family and Multi-Family Residential wastewater customers with 6,000 square feet or less net parcel area and with 6 or fewer dwelling units as recorded in the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission's billing records. Net parcel area is the gross parcel area recorded with the San Francisco Assessor's Office less any excluded area that does not drain to the SFPUC combined sewer system. The designation of a parcel as non-residential or residential will be based on the presence of wastewater accounts billed under Schedules A and B, above.

The charges under this schedule are based upon the average permeable and impermeable square footage of parcels within each tier group and the respective rate for parcel area as shown in Schedule C, as determined by the General Manager.

	Current	Proposed
	FYE 2023	FYE 2024	FYE 2025	FYE 2026
	Current	Effective July 1, 2023	Effective July 1, 2024	Effective July 1, 2025
Stormwater Charge per month
Tier 1: 0 – 1,700 square feet parcel area	N/A	$2.31	$5.04	$8.24

Tier 3: 3,301 – 6,000 square feet parcel area	N/A	$5.41	$11.79	$19.27

In the event that multiple wastewater accounts share one Parcel, the charge will be calculated for the total parcel area and the shared equally by the number of accounts. The shares charged to each account may be adjusted with written agreement of all account holders on a Parcel.

Section 7 – Drought Surcharge

If the Commission, at a publicly noticed meeting, adopts a resolution declaring a stage of water delivery reduction in accordance with the Retail Water Shortage Allocation Plan (i.e., Stage 1, Stage 2 or Stage 3), the following schedule of drought surcharges shall be applied to retail water rates as of the date of the Commission resolution or any effective date designated by the Commission. For residential customers, the surcharges shall be based on the assumption that the overall demand reduction is split evenly between Tier 1 and Tier 2. Each nonresidential customer shall incur the percent drought surcharge uniformly. The overall required surcharge is based on the final formula: surcharge ($ per ccf) = Wastewater Revenue Shortfall from reduced flow/ Reduced Wastewater Flow.

Water Shortage Contingency Plan Stage	Target Water Usage Reduction	Drought Surcharge on Volumetric Wastewater Rates
Stages 1-3	5%	Up to 5%
Stage 4	5 – 18%	Up to 18%
Stages 5-6	18 – 32%	Up to 32%

The drought surcharges shall remain in effect until the Commission, at a publicly noticed meeting, adopts a resolution rescinding the water delivery reduction.

Section 8 – Effective Date

The rates for FYE 2024 shall be effective for water meter readings made on or after July 1, 2023 or as soon thereafter as possible. The rates for FYE 2025 adopted pursuant to the resolution shall be effective for water meter readings made on or after July 1, 2024. The rates for FYE 2026 adopted pursuant to the resolution shall be effective for water meter readings made on or after July 1, 2025, and shall remain in effect until repealed, modified or superseded.

RE: CEQA Statutory Exemption Request
Hetch Hetchy Power Rates Fiscal Year 2023-2024

Dear Ms. Moore,

The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC or Commission) proposes to adopt rates for Hetch Hetchy power service in Tuolumne County for fiscal year (FY) 2023-2024. SFPUC recommends that the proposed adoption of the rates for Hetch Hetchy power service by the Commission is statutorily exempt from the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) under Public Resources Code Section 21080(b)(8) and CEQA Guidelines Section 15273 (Rates, Tolls, Fares, and Charges) related to the establishment, modification, structuring, restructuring, or approval of rates, tolls, fares, or other charges.

BACKGROUND

The objective of the proposed rate changes for FY 2023-2024 is to bring Hetch Hetchy power retail rates closer to cost-of-service levels. SFPUC is proposing to increase electricity rates for the following Hetch Hetchy power service customers in Tuolumne County by 50 percent in FY 2023-2024: United States Forest Service, Moccasin Hetch Hetchy Water and Power Employee Housing, and California Department of Fish and Wildlife. This proposed increase seeks to balance the charter-required goal of bringing rates to cost of service while keeping the impact on customers incremental.

London N. Breed Mayor
Newsha K. Ajami President
Sophie Maxwell Vice President
Tim Paulson Commissioner
Anthony Rivera Commissioner
Kate H. Stacy Commissioner
Dennis J. Herrera General Manager

The proposed rate changes are provided in the table below.

Tuolumne County Hetchy Power Customer	FY 2022-23	FY 2023-24
US Forest Service	$0.05/kWh	$0.075/kWh
Moccasin Hetch Hetchy Water and Power Employee Housing	$0.035/kWh	$0.0525/kWh
CA Department of Fish and Wildlife	$0.035/kWh	$0.0525/kWh

The new rates would become effective July 1, 2023. Rates effective July 1, 2023 will remain effective until revised.

Adoption of the action is scheduled for the public hearing before the Commission on May 23, 2023.

CEQA COMPLIANCE RECOMMENDATION

Public Resources Code Section 21080(b)(8) and CEQA Guidelines Section 15273 (Rates, Tolls, Fares, and Charges) Subsection (a)(1-5) provides a statutory exemption from CEQA for the establishment, modification, structuring, restructuring, or approval of rates, tolls, fares, or other charges by public agencies for the purposes of:

1. Meeting operating expenses, including employee wage rates and fringe benefits,

2. Purchasing or leasing supplies, equipment, or materials,

3. Meeting financial reserve needs and requirements,

4. Obtaining funds for capital projects, necessary to maintain service within existing service areas, and

5. Obtaining funds necessary to maintain such intra-city transfers as are authorized by city charter.

Summary of Proposed Commission Action:	Public Hearing to adopt San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC) Power Enterprise schedules of rates for Hetch Hetchy power service to customers in Tuolumne County charged per lease and/or tenant agreements to be effective for meter readings on or after July 1, 2023. This action constitutes the Approval Action for the Project for the purposes of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) pursuant to San Francisco Administrative Code section 31.04(h). The Planning Department has determined that this action is exempt from the CEQA. If the item is approved, the Commission will rely on that determination to make its decision.
Background:	2022 SFPUC Power Rates Study As required by the San Francisco Charter Section 8B.125, the SFPUC engaged an independent rate consultant, NewGen Strategies & Solutions, for the 2022 SFPUC Power Rates Study (Study). The consultant documented the analyses and recommendations from the Study for both Power business lines, Hetch Hetchy Power and CleanPowerSF, in the 2022 Power Rates Study Final Report. On May 24, 2022, the SFPUC Commission adopted Hetch Hetchy Power Electric Rates and Charges for FY 2022-23 and FY 2023-24 in Resolution 22-0095. This 2022 power rate adoption focused on almost all retail power rates, and it was understood a few power rates required further action in the future. This agenda item seeks to formalize a variety of other SFPUC power rates for services provided to retail customers in Tuolumne County power service locations, where electricity rates are addressed in lease or tenant agreements.

COMMISSION SECRETARY Donna Hood

Tuolumne County Hetchy Power Lessee/Tenant Utility Rates

In addition to providing retail electric service to customers via our electric billing system, Hetch Hetchy Power also provides power utility service to a variety of customers in Tuolumne County under lease and/or tenant agreements. Hetch Hetchy Power provides power utility service and charges for electricity to the following three customer groups in Tuolumne County through such agreements.

United States Forest Service

There are critical Hetch Hetchy Water and Power facilities located within the Stanislaus National Forest of the United States Forest Service in Tuolumne County. The SFPUC entered into the most recent agreement (CS-1401) with the United States Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, Stanislaus National Forest, referred to as the US Forest Service, in June 2022 to continue a cooperative, dedicated effort to address source water quality and watershed protection.

Per the agreement, the SFPUC continues to provide housing for the US Forest Service personnel for several months of the year. Hetch Hetchy Power provides electricity at the Camphouse at Cherry Valley Dam and charges electricity usage to the US Forest Service for those months.

Hetch Hetchy Power currently charges the US Forest Service for electricity at the rate of $0.05 per kilowatt hour, equivalent to the schedule of rates adopted in Resolution 15,095 in 1955 for the sale of electric energy at Moccasin, California except for those occupied by City employees and for school use of the children of such City employees.

Moccasin Hetch Hetchy Water and Power Employee Housing

The SFPUC operates the Hetch Hetchy Water and Power system, from the O'Shaughnessy Dam located on the Tuolumne River in Yosemite National Park to the Bay Area. In Moccasin, the Tuolumne County town where the Hetch Hetchy Water and Power Division is headquartered, the SFPUC houses employees who work for the SFPUC on the Hetch Hetchy Water and Power system in or near Moccasin. Tenants pay rent to the SFPUC for their housing.

Resolution 00-0097 adopted in April 2000 requires all SFPUC housing tenants in Moccasin to pay for metered utilities and other services at rates established by the SFPUC in the resolution "until such time as a 'weather retrofitting' program is completed on each unit at which time full market rates shall be charged."

A memorandum in November 2006 notified Moccasin tenants of the electricity rate at $0.035 per kilowatt hour, and represents the rate currently charged.

California (CA) Department of Fish and Wildlife

CA Department of Fish and Wildlife, formerly known as CA Department of Fish and Game, is a partner of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and is a state agency governed by the CA Fish and Game Commission.

The SFPUC signed a 20-year lease with Fish and Game effective July 1952 for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a fish hatchery at Moccasin Creek, extending the lease for additional 20 years effective July 1972 in Resolution 72-0350 and another 20 years effective July 1992 in Resolution 92-0208. From 2012 when the 1992 lease expired until January 2021 when the standard agreement R2040004 was entered , CA Department of Fish and Wildlife had been leasing on a month-to-month basis under the same terms and conditions as the 1992 lease.

In a letter in February 2019, SFPUC Customer Service notified the Department of Fish and Game of its power utility rate change from $0.01 per kilowatt hour to $0.035 per kilowatt hour effective March 2019 per the lease agreement entered on July 1, 1992, which stated: "Lessee shall pay for electrical energy used for domestic purposes at the greater of either the rate of one cent ($0.01) per kilowatt hour or a rate approved by the Public Utilities Commission for similar facilities at Moccasin camp." Comparable Moccasin residential housing billing rate is $0.035 per kilowatt hour effective 2006, and represents the rate currently charged.

FY 2023-24 Tuolumne County Hetchy Power Lessee/Tenant Utility Rates Proposal

A key outcome of the Study was bringing Hetchy Power retail rates closer to cost-of-service levels starting Fiscal Year 2022-23. To implement this policy, Staff also began reviewing the other Hetchy Power utility rates noted above. To continue the path of bringing all SFPUC power rates closer to cost of service, Staff proposes Hetchy Power electricity rates for the following groups in Tuolumne County to increase by 50% in FY 2023-24 as follows:

US Forest Service	$0.05/kWh	$0.075/kWh
CA Department of Fish and Wildlife	$0.035/kWh	$0.0525/kWh

This proposed increase seeks to balance the charter required goal of bringing rates to cost of service while keeping the impact on customers incremental. With proposed FY 2023-24 rates, revenues are projected to total about forty-one thousand dollars from these customers, an increase of approximately fourteen thousand dollars from current effective rates. Staff plans on continuing to propose annual rate changes for these customers to incrementally bring rates to cost of service; FY 2023-24 proposed rates are at about 35% (US Forest Service) and 25% of the cost of service (Moccasin Hetch Hetchy Water and Power Employee Housing and CA Department of Fish and Wildlife) of the FY 2023-24 residential customer class effective rate.

Staff also proposes to keep the current flat dollar-per-kilowatt-hour rate structure in FY 2023-24. Staff will continue to further evaluate these customers' usage profiles, along with employees' housing attributes and weather retrofitting, to standardize rate structures in advance of the next Power rate study in 2027.

Public Outreach and Education

SFPUC's Rate Fairness Board has been the primary public venue to discuss proposed SFPUC rate changes, and staff proposed FY 2023-24 Tuolumne County Lessee/Tenant Hetchy power rate changes to Rate Fairness Board on Friday, April 28, 2023. SFPUC Financial Services staff also sent an email notice to Hetch Hetchy Water and Power Division Manager and Business Service Manager on April 21, 2023 of proposed rates.

Once rates are formally adopted, SFPUC will communicate the rate changes to customers via letter.

	Public Hearing Notice Pursuant to Charter Section 16.112, a Notice of Public Hearing on the establishment of a schedule of rates was published in the official newspaper on April 26, 27, 28, 30 and May 3, 2023, and posted on the SFPUC website and at the San Francisco Public Library, for a public hearing on May 23, 2023 with possible Commission action on this date. As a good utility practice, Hetch Hetchy Water and Power Division delivered notices on May 2, 2023 to its tenants of the public hearing on May 23, 2023. In addition, Customer Service Bureau mailed notices on May 3, 2023 to the United States Forest Service and California Department of Fish and Wildlife of the public hearing on May 23, 2023. If approved by the Commission, these rates and charges will be subject to rejection by the Board of Supervisors (BOS), as provided in Charter section 8B.125, within 30 days following notification to the BOS. Absent BOS rejection, these proposed Tuolumne County Lessee/Tenant Hetchy Power Utility Rates will become effective July 1, 2023 and will remain effective until revised. Board of Supervisors Review Pursuant to Charter Section 8B.125, Commission action adopting rates and charges, including provisions for future periodic adjustments, is subject to rejection by the BOS within 30 days of submission to the BOS.
Funding and Costs:	There are no additional costs to adoption of the Hetchy Power Tuolumne County Lessee/Tenant power rates.
Environmental Review:	On May 8, 2023 the San Francisco Planning Department determined the Project to be statutorily exempt from environmental review under the CEQA section 21080(b)(8) and the CEQA Guidelines section 15273 (Rates, Tolls, Fares and Charges) (Case Number 2023-004022ENV), related to the establishment, modification, structuring, restructuring, or approval of rates, tolls, fares, or other charges. The exemption determination can be found here: https://sfpuc.sharefile.com/d-secfceb7b1a854cc0a20edf50dde91d1a This action constitutes the Approval Action for the Project for the purposes of the CEQA pursuant to San Francisco Administrative Code section 31.04(h).

Result of Inaction:	A delay or denial in approving this agenda item will result in no Hetchy Power rate changes for various Tuolumne County Lessee/Tenant agreements as of July 1, 2023, delay bringing all Hetch Hetchy Power rates on a path to cost of service, and lower projected revenues for the Power Enterprise as of July 1, 2023.
Recommendation:	SFPUC staff recommends that the Commission adopt the attached resolution.

Honorable Ahsha Safai
1 Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett Place, Room 244
San Francisco, Ca. 94102

Dear Supervisor Safai:

Thank you for your letter of inquiry dated April 19, 2023, requesting information about funding, resources, and services in District 11 communities of Oceanview, Merced Heights, Ingleside, and Lakeview from 2013 through 2023.

The mission of the San Francisco Department of Public Health (SFDPH) is to protect and promote the health and well-being of all San Franciscans. The SFDPH is an integrated health department with two primary roles and two major divisions to fulfill its mission.

> Population Health Division (PHD) – addresses public health concerns, including consumer safety, health promotion and prevention, and the monitoring of threats to the public's health. PHD implements traditional and innovative public health interventions. PHD staff inspect restaurants, promote improved air and water quality, track communicable diseases, and educate San Franciscans about the negative health impacts of tobacco. PHD staff also promote pedestrian safety, participate in an ambitious campaign to eliminate new HIV infections, and provide technical assistance to small neighborhood markets to increase healthy food options for residents.
> The San Francisco Health Network (SFHN) – a network of top-rated clinics, hospitals and programs operated by SFDPH. SFHN connects San Franciscans to quality health care, regardless of immigration status or lack of health insurance. SFHN direct service providers consist of Zuckerberg SF General (ZSFG); Laguna Honda Hospital (LHH); Primary Care (PC); Behavioral Health Services (BHS); Jail Health Services (JHS), Whole Person Integrated Care (WPIC), Home Health (HH); and Dental Care. Every year, SFHN serves more than 100,000 people through SFHN clinics and hospitals.

The SFDPH provides services to thousands of San Franciscans in the field, at our service sites, and through contracted providers. The response below provides information regarding SFDPH funding, resources and services, provided across both divisions, that are located in Oceanview, Merced Heights, Ingleside and Lakeview communities. Additionally, we have provided the number of SFHN patients who reside in these communities (zip codes 94112 and 94132). It is important to note that many residents may choose to access services outside of their neighborhood, e.g., near their place of work. Residents of the Oceanview, Merced Heights, Ingleside and Lakeview communities may access DPH resources and services that are located within other District 11 neighborhoods (e.g., the Excelsior) and citywide. More information about SFDPH services and programs, including a map of SFDPH primary care and behavioral health service sites, can be found in the SFDPH Annual Report for FY21-22.

SFDPH Resources and Services in Lakeview, Oceanview, Merced Heights and Ingleside Communities

SFDPH provides direct care to residents of Lakeview, Oceanview, Merced Heights and Ingleside communities through the San Francisco Health Network (SFHN), which includes the OMI Family Center, located in Ingleside.

- SFDPH provides more than $8 million in funding to seven programs/service sites located directly in the communities of Lakeview, Oceanview, Merced Heights and Ingleside.
- SFDPH currently provides funding for an additional 12 programs located in District 11 near the Lakeview, Oceanview, Merced Heights, and Ingleside communities.
- In the last two years, approximately 10,000 residents of zip code 94112 and approximately 1,700 residents of zip code 94132 received SFDPH primary care or specialty care services.

San Francisco Health Network (SFHN) Patients

The San Francisco Health Network (SFHN) is the City's only complete care system. The following table shows the number of SFHN clients served whose home residence is listed in zip code 94112 and 94132. Patients may seek services across multiple sections of the SFHN.

JEANINE R. NICHOLSON
CHIEF OF DEPARTMENT

LONDON N. BREED
MAYOR

SAN FRANCISCO FIRE DEPARTMENT
CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO

May 24, 2023

Honorable Connie Chan
Supervisor
City & County of San Francisco
#1 Dr. B. Goodlett Place, Room 244
San Francisco, CA 94102

Dear Supervisor Chan:

In response to your Letter of Inquiry dated April 11, 2023, regarding SFFD's emergency response times, the Fire Department submits the following responses to your questions:

1) What is the mitigation plan to reduce the impact traffic calming measures have on emergency vehicle response times, and how will dispatch distances with response time increases be addressed?

The SFFD continues to work with SFMTA to reduce the impact traffic calming measures have on emergency vehicle response times and are examining the following mitigation measures that we hope will provide relief:

a) Collaboration and communication: Improving effective communication channels between the SFFD, SFMTA, and community members is crucial. Meetings between SFFD and SFMTA with open discussions on SFMTA's desired upcoming street changes and their potential effects on each agency's ability to service the public, PRIOR to soliciting input from the community or other City staff, are paramount. Regularly scheduled meetings, preliminary site plan review, and apparatus simulations can help improve coordination and ensure that everyone understands the challenges and potential solutions related to emergency response in areas with traffic calming measures.

b) Signal preemption and priority: Implementing signal preemption systems throughout San Francisco will allow emergency vehicles to navigate through traffic signals quickly and safely by giving them priority over other drivers. This would be achieved through the expansion of SFMTA's signal preemption system. Opticom is the City's traffic signal control system which detects approaching vehicles (e.g., buses and fire engines) and adjusts signal timing as needed to hold a green light, allowing traffic to safely clear the way for the SFFD.

c) Pre-planning and optimization of designated primary response routes: The SFFD should work closely with SFMTA to pre-plan primary routes and optimize response strategies based on the specific road network and traffic calming measures in place. Pre-planning can help identify and maintain the most efficient routes for emergency vehicles to minimize delays.

d) Emergency vehicle access points to special lanes: Designated access points at strategic locations would allow emergency vehicles to bypass certain traffic calming measures or gain quick access to fire lanes, bike lanes, or transit-only lanes. SFMTA should coordinate these access points with SFFD's input to ensure secure and efficient use.

e) Improved signage and markings: Clear and prominent signage can help alert drivers to the presence of traffic calming measures and provide guidance on how to yield or give way to emergency vehicles. Additionally, clearer road markings (paint on pavement) and visual cues (signs and posts) can help SFFD apparatus drivers navigate safely through areas with traffic calming measures.

f) Public education and awareness: Conducting public education campaigns would help raise awareness among residents and road users about the importance of allowing emergency vehicles unimpeded access. This can include educating residents about parking regulations, yielding to emergency vehicles, and the potential impact of traffic calming measures on response times.

g) Continuous evaluation and adaptation: It's essential for the SFFD and SFMTA to continually monitor and evaluate the impact of installed traffic calming measures on emergency response times. This ongoing assessment can help identify areas for improvement and prompt adjustments to traffic calming measures or emergency response strategies as needed.

In regard to the increase in ambulance travel distance, the period beginning in late February 2020 skewed the historical data because of 2020's COVID Shelter-In-Place policy which resulted in a significant drop in call volume. Because the streets were relatively empty of traffic, ambulances were more likely to be at their post and therefore could easily and quickly respond to calls. Call volume has dramatically increased since 2020 along with compounding delays at hospitals because of staff shortages and the return of traffic congestion. The confluence of these factors means that there were less ambulance units available per call in 2022, more units had extended wait times at hospitals, and ambulances had more difficulty responding through slowed traffic.

Data shows that the increases in call volume were greatest in the downtown area, thereby pulling a majority of ambulances to service that area. Doing so amplified the probability that an ambulance would be either posted downtown or responding from a hospital, increasing the distance for calls to the outer locations of The City where call volume was also increasing.

After continued advocacy, the SFFD was approved in 2021 for 60 additional FTEs to the ranks of the EMS Division, bringing the total number of personnel dedicated to working on its ambulances to 260. Additionally, the EMS Division is working to expand its fleet of ambulances to 65 from 53. Increasing the number of ambulances improves in-service times since one crew does not need to wait for an ambulance to return prior to going in service.

Data reveals that even with 260 EMS FTEs, call volume has already risen past what could be reasonably addressed with SFFD staffing alone. There is a continued reliance by the Local Emergency Medical Services Agency (LEMSA) on private ambulances, which are inconsistent in the number of units they provide to fill the gap.

2) How will the corridor-level analysis that began in March 2023 specifically help address this issue, and what is the scope and timeline of the analysis to be published?

It is SFFD's expectations that using a "corridor focus" approach will help provide a better understanding of which combination of street changes and traffic calming measures more negatively affect response times. Phase 1 analysis was only able to evaluate one specific street change or calming measure for each segment, whereas Phase 2 will compare two similar nearby streets where only one of the two streets has undergone multiple changes.

Fehr & Peers' "corridor focus" approach involves examining how emergency vehicle travel outcomes have changed along corridors that saw specific streetscape changes. They will first identify "test" corridors of interest, such as streets where car travel lanes were removed. Then, for each "test" corridor, they will identify a corresponding "control" corridor that is as similar as possible to the test corridor, but which did not receive the same treatment. Next, they will identify relevant emergency vehicle trajectories – segments of trips that traveled along all or part of the test or control corridors and then divide these trajectories into four (4) groups:

1. Trips on the test corridor, before the streetscape change was installed
2. Trips on the test corridor, after the streetscape change was installed
3. Trips on the control corridor, before the streetscape change was installed on the test corridor
4. Trips on the control corridor, after the streetscape change was installed on the test corridor

By examining how travel outcomes differed and changed across the four groups, Fehr & Peers can isolate the effect of the streetscape change on emergency vehicle trip speeds. They will do so using the so-called difference-in-differences (DID) method. The timeline for completion of the study is July 2023.

The three (3) pairs of corridors selected for Phase 2 are:

1) 7th St (Folsom to Townsend) & 9th St (Mission to Brannan)
2) Fell St (Steiner to Shrader) & Oak St (Steiner to Shrader)
3) Leavenworth St (McAllister to Post) & Larkin St (McAllister to Post)

3) Beyond the proposed further analysis of the causes for delay in emergency response times indicated in your analysis, how are specific traffic calming factors related to emergency response times?

Traffic calming measures are designed to reduce vehicle speeds and improve safety areas with high pedestrian activity. While these measures can be beneficial for overall road safety, they impact emergency response times. Below are some ways traffic calming measures affect our emergency response:

1. Increased travel time: Traffic calming measures such as speed humps, no turns on red, or narrowed roadways can slow down vehicles. Emergency response vehicles, like ambulances, fire engines, and trucks, need to slow down significantly or navigate these obstacles cautiously, resulting in longer travel times to reach their destinations. For example, a fire engine would need to significantly slow down twice to drive over each hump due to the weight of the apparatus and it having two axels, while a fire truck would need to slow three times because it has three separate axels. Total stopping and starting at each hump adds 20-30 seconds to an emergency response.

2. Restricted access: Some traffic calming measures, like road closures or one-way streets, limit access to certain areas. This can force emergency vehicles to take longer alternative routes, causing delays in reaching their destinations.

3. Reduced visibility: Traffic calming measures such as parked cars, planters, or landscaped islands can obstruct the view of emergency vehicles and impede their progress. This can also make it more difficult for drivers to identify and react to emergency vehicles, leading to more delays.

4. Altered traffic patterns: Traffic calming measures often aim to redirect traffic flow or discourage certain routes, thus spreading the congestion everywhere. As a result, emergency response vehicles may need to navigate even more congested roads, leading to delays.

5. Pedestrian and cyclist priority: Many traffic calming measures are installed to prioritize the safety of pedestrians and cyclists by providing designated crossing areas (raised crosswalks at intersections or mid-block) or protected bike lanes. While this may improve safety for pedestrians and cyclists, these measures require emergency vehicles to slow, yield, or navigate around these road users, while causing additional delays to those persons in their homes and businesses.

It's important to note that the impact on emergency response times can vary depending on the specific traffic calming measures implemented, the design of the road network, traffic conditions, and the efficiency of emergency response systems in the area. The SFFD works with the SFMTA to mitigate some of these effects and to find alternative strategies to ensure timely response in areas with or without traffic calming measures.

If you have further questions or concerns, do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Jeanine R. Nicholson

Response to Inquiry from Supervisor Safai regarding data on City Investments in the Lakeview, Oceanview, Merced Heights, and Ingleside Communities from 2013-2023

Dear Supervisor Safai,

The Office of Economic and Workforce Development received your Letter of Inquiry (LOI) dated April 11, 2023 requesting information demonstrating how the City and County of San Francisco, and OEWD specifically, is equitably distributing funding, resources, and services to communities in need, specifically in District 11's Lakeview, Oceanview, Merced Heights, and Ingleside communities between 2013 and 2023.

Our office has compiled all data and information responsive to this request from the following OEWD divisions: Economic Recovery and Regeneration (ERR), the Office of Small Business (OSB), Workforce Development (WF), and Community Economic Development (CED).

Economic Recovery and Regeneration

ERR currently runs a program called Action Awards. One group located in District 11 received a $5,000 grant (all Action Awards are $5,000) to support a community driven project described below.

Of the 77 total applications received for the Summer 2022-23 Action Awards round, five came from District 11, and one was selected as an awardee: Gambier Lego Garden which is located at the intersection of Burrows and Gambier Streets near McClaren Park.

The Gambier Lego Garden project, which is ongoing, involves connecting neighbors on Gambier Street (four blocks long), and revolves around the Gambier Lego Garden, but is not confined to it. Gambier Lego Garden is at the end of Gambier Street, kitty-corner to the entrance to McLaren Park. Initially it was a steep corner of bare dirt with huge concrete block steps that sat vacant for years collecting trash and other junk pieces of concrete.

A small number of neighbors on Gambier Street began the slow project of cleaning it up and creating three small gardens: an herb garden, a fairy garden and a native plant garden. The COVID-19 pandemic slowed the group down, but the Action Award helped re-energize and expand the neighborhood group. The Action Award has levered Gambier Lego Garden as a magnet to bring more neighbors together not only for gardening work and clean up, but to socialize and cultivate broader connections. Neighbors gather for regularly-scheduled work days (weather permitting) followed by picnicking and visiting. The group has also hosted paid "teen days" to do landscaping and garden planting.

Legacy Business Program
Priority Areas for the Legacy Business Registry

- Last year in March 2022, the Legacy Business Program analyzed the geographic spread of the Registry and made a strategic shift to address inequities. We are currently prioritizing application review from businesses located in and around Bayview, Excelsior, Inner and Outer Sunset, Portola, Visitation Valley, and other neighborhoods where we don't have as many registered Legacy Businesses. When we receive an application from a business in an underrepresented neighborhood, we will expedite it for review and approval by the Small Business Commission.

Rent Stabilization Grant

- The purpose of the Rent Stabilization Grant (sf.gov/information/rent-stabilization-grant) is to provide an incentive for landlords to enter into long-term leases with Legacy Businesses. The grant helps maintain San Francisco's cultural identity and fosters civic engagement and pride by assisting Legacy Businesses to remain in the city. Grants are provided to landlords, but in many instances are shared with the Legacy Businesses as rent reductions.

Legacy Business Grant

Kate.Sofis@sfgov.org

- The Office of Small Business received $400,000 from the Board of Supervisors in the 2021-22 budget for grants to Legacy Businesses. The Office of Small Business created a new "Legacy Business Grant" with a simpler application, easier review process, and more equitable grant distribution than the former Business Assistance Grant. The new Legacy Business Grant was not dependent on the number of FTEs like the Business Assistance Grant because FTEs had decreased during the coronavirus pandemic for many businesses that were most in need of financial assistance. The Office of Small Business conducted an analysis on the potential structure of the new Legacy Business Grant and selected a grant allocation based on business type and property ownership. The grant differentiated between renters, property owners, for-profit businesses, and nonprofit organizations, resulting in four categories of grantees: For-Profit Renters; For-Profit Property Owners; Nonprofit Renters; and Nonprofit Property Owners.

San Francisco Music and Entertainment Venue Recovery Fund ("Venue Fund")

Established in March 2021, the San Francisco Music and Entertainment Venue Recovery Fund ("Venue Fund") provides financial support to San Francisco-based live music and entertainment venues in order to prevent their permanent closure due to the pressures of the COVID-19 pandemic. The fund is administered by the Office of Small Business.

- No grants were paid in in Lakeview, Oceanview, Merced Heights, Ingleside, Excelsior, or D11.

Workforce Development

In 2019, the Workforce Development division made an investment for the first neighborhood job center in the OMI as the neighborhood was experiencing one of the highest unemployment rates in the City, a rate that is 40 percent more than the citywide average and disproportionately affected communities of color.

During our community listening session for our 2020 RFP, we heard from District 11 residents on disparities they were facing and how workforce investment can assist in addressing inequities. Since 2020, we have increased our investment in the OMI neighborhood to include a Satellite Job Center and Community Resource Hub to address the impacts the pandemic has caused on diverse communities living in District 11. In addition, through our last large procurement, we were able to fund programming to support Transitional-Age-Youth with paid work experience through our Young Adult Workforce portfolio.

Together, the Job Center and Satellite Job Center connect individuals to provide employment services including – resume building, job application assistance, interview prep, connection to employment opportunities, employment resources, and wraparound services. And the Community Resources Hub provides a range of services by bringing resources directly into the community. Services being provided include connecting residents to workforce programs, family relief funds, housing, food pantry and vouchers, learning hubs, healthcare, COVID-19 testing/vaccinations. Funding is reflected below.

MONTAGUE DEROSE AND ASSOCIATES, LLC

Memorandum

To:	Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco
From:	Montague DeRose and Associates, LLC, Municipal Advisor to and on behalf of the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco Finance Staff
Date:	May 19, 2023
Subject:	2023 Wastewater Enterprise Bond New Money and Refunding Sale Report $530,565,000 Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2023 Series A (SSIP) (Green Bonds) $278,155,000 Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2023 Series B (Non-SSIP) $165,660,000 Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2023 Series C (Refunding-SSIP) (Green Bonds)

Background:

The Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco (the "Board of Supervisors") has adopted various ordinances which have authorized the issuance of new money Wastewater Revenue Bonds and Wastewater Revenue Refunding Bonds in order to finance, and refinance, the costs of capital projects benefiting the Wastewater Enterprise (together, the "Authorizing Legislation"). The most recent of this Authorizing Legislation was Ordinance No. 110-22, passed on June 14, 2022.

Pursuant to the Authorizing Legislation, on April 19, 2023, the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (the "SFPUC") issued $530.565 million of the Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2023 Series A (SSIP) (Green Bonds), $278.155 million of the Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2023 Series B (Non-SSIP) and $165.660 million of the Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2023 Series C (Refunding-SSIP) (Green Bonds). The 2023 Series A Bonds were issued to refund commercial paper and fund capital projects benefiting the SSIP. The 2023 Series B Bonds were issued to refund non-SSIP commercial paper and fund non-SSIP capital projects, as well as refund a portion of the SFPUC's outstanding 2013 Series B bonds for debt service savings. The 2023 Series C Bonds were issued to refund the outstanding 2018 Series C Bonds, which were subject to a mandatory put on October 1, 2023.

Per the Authorizing Legislation, within 30 days of a new money or refunding bond issuance, the SFPUC must file with the Clerk of the BOS the following:

a. New Money Bond Sale Report showing the results of the sale of the bonds, including (a) principal amount sold and method of sale, (b) true interest cost, (c) final maturity, (d) the facilities constructed and/or improved, and (e) a statement about the remaining bonding authorization under the applicable financing budget ordinance.

b. Refunding Bond Savings Report that reflects at least a 3% net present value debt service savings, together with a copy of the final Official Statement for the refunding bonds.

The SFPUC has requested that Montague DeRose and Associates, LLC, who served as co-financial advisor to the 2023 Wastewater Revenue Bonds, prepare this combined New Money Bond Sale and Refunding Bond Savings report for purposes of complying with the requirements set forth in Ordinance No. 110-22.

New Money Bond Sale Report:

As noted, the SFPUC issued $530.565 million of the 2023 Series A Bonds and $278.155 million of 2023 Series B Bonds on April 19, 2023. SFPUC WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE AND MAJOR FACILITIES

The SFPUC Wastewater Enterprise operates and maintains the City's combined sewer system, which collects and treats both sewage and stormwater. The map in Figure 1-1 shows the location of key facilities (as described below) and the urban watershed boundaries which encompass the major drainage areas of San Francisco.

The system consists of approximately 1,011 miles of sewer lines that collect sanitary sewage from homes and businesses and stormwater runoff; large transport/storage box facilities; 31 pump stations that transport sewage and stormwater; and three treatment plants that discharge treated water into the San Francisco Bay and Pacific Ocean. San Francisco has eight distinct urban watersheds: five on the Bayside (North Shore; Channel; Islais; Sunnydale; and Yosemite) and three on the Westside (Richmond; Sunset; and Lake Merced). The three treatment plants treat sewage and stormwater based on whether the collection point is located on the Bayside or the Westside. The Oceanside Water Pollution Control Plant is not connected to the Bayside treatment systems, and the Southeast Water Pollution Control Plant and North Point Wet Weather Facility are not connected to the Westside treatment system. See "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE."

The Bonds are not secured by a legal or equitable pledge of, or charge, lien or encumbrance upon, any of the property of the SFPUC or any of its income or receipts, except the Net Revenues of its Wastewater Enterprise. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS."

The 2023ABC Bonds will be issued under a Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, dated as of April 1, 2023 (the "Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture"), by and between the SFPUC and U.S. Bank Trust Company, National Association, as trustee (the "Trustee"). The Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture supplements the Indenture, dated as of January 1, 2003, by and between the SFPUC and the Trustee, as successor trustee (the "Original Indenture") (as amended and supplemented, including as supplemented by the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, the "Indenture").

The 2023ABC Bonds are being issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 173-20, adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the City (the "Board of Supervisors") on September 29, 2020, and Ordinance No. 110-22, adopted by the Board of Supervisors on June 14, 2022, and under a resolution adopted by the SFPUC governing body (the "Commission") on March 28, 2023.

See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Authority for Issuance of Revenue Bonds and Other Obligations Payable from Net Revenues."

Purpose

The 2023A Bonds are being issued to (i) refund approximately $400.9 million principal amount of and interest on Commercial Paper Notes (as defined herein) issued to finance certain capital projects benefiting the Wastewater Enterprise from the SFPUC's Sewer System Improvement Program (the "SSIP"), (ii) finance certain capital projects benefiting the Wastewater Enterprise from the SSIP, (iii) fund capitalized interest with respect to the 2023A Bonds through October 1, 2025, and (iv) pay the costs of issuance of the 2023A Bonds.

The 2023B Bonds are being issued to (i) refund certain outstanding wastewater revenue bonds of the SFPUC, (ii) refund approximately $156.9 million principal amount of and interest on Commercial Paper Notes issued to finance certain capital projects benefiting the Wastewater Enterprise, (iii) finance certain capital projects benefiting the Wastewater Enterprise, (iv) fund capitalized interest with respect to a portion of the 2023B Bonds through October 1, 2025, and (iv) pay the costs of issuance of the 2023B Bonds.

See "PLAN OF FINANCE," "ESTIMATED SOURCES AND USES OF FUNDS" and "GREEN BONDS DESIGNATION AND CLIMATE CERTIFICATION."

The SFPUC and the Wastewater Enterprise

The SFPUC is a department of the City responsible for the maintenance, operation and development of three utility enterprises. See "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION."

The Wastewater Enterprise provides sewage and stormwater collection, treatment and disposal services to residential, commercial and industrial customers in San Francisco, as well as three municipal sewer service providers that serve residents and businesses in northern San Mateo County. The Wastewater Enterprise's services are provided through (i) a combined system that collects sewage and stormwater, (ii) three wastewater treatment plants and (iii) effluent outfalls to the San Francisco Bay and Pacific Ocean. See "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE."

The other two enterprises of the SFPUC deliver retail water services to San Francisco and wholesale water to users in three other Bay Area counties, and power, mainly hydroelectric, for City government operations and to other users. The revenues of these other two enterprises are not available for, and do not secure, payment of the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds, including the 2023ABC Bonds.

Security for the 2023ABC Bonds

Under the Indenture, the SFPUC has irrevocably pledged the Net Revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise to the punctual payment of principal of, premium, if any, and interest on the Bonds, which consist of any parity revenue bonds, notes and obligations issued under the Indenture, including the 2023ABC Bonds, and Parity Loans, subject to the flow of funds contained in the Indenture. The 2023ABC Bonds and all other Bonds are secured by a parity lien on Net Revenues. Under the Indenture, Parity Loans are treated as "Bonds" for certain purposes and are therefore secured by a pledge of Net Revenues on a parity with the 2023ABC Bonds. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS" and "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE."

The Indenture defines "Net Revenues" as all "Revenues" less all "Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Enterprise" (each as defined herein). Revenues are generated principally from the sewer service charges to customers for the sanitary wastewater and stormwater collection, treatment and disposal services of the Wastewater Enterprise. Wastewater rates are set by the SFPUC, subject to rejection by resolution of the Board of Supervisors. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges."

The SFPUC is not obligated to pay the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds from any source of funds other than Net Revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise. The SFPUC has no taxing power. The General Fund of the City is not liable for the payment of the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds, and neither the credit nor the taxing power of the City is pledged to the payment of the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds. The Bonds are not secured by a legal or equitable pledge of, or charge, lien or encumbrance upon, any of the property of the City or of the SFPUC or any of its income or receipts, except Net Revenues. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS."

No Reserve Account for 2023ABC Bonds

No Reserve Account will be established for the 2023ABC Bonds.

Outstanding and Future Parity Bonds and Other Indebtedness

Parity Bonds. The SFPUC has previously issued 14 series of outstanding parity revenue bonds, which were outstanding in the aggregate principal amount of approximately $2.162 billion as of March 14, 2023. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Outstanding Parity Revenue Bonds."

The Indenture permits, upon the satisfaction of certain conditions, the issuance of additional bonds secured by a pledge of Net Revenues (the "Additional Bonds") on a parity with the Outstanding Bonds and the 2023ABC Bonds. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Additional Series of Bonds."

Parity Loans. Under the Indenture, the SFPUC may enter into loan agreements with the State of California (the "State") and any board, department or agency thereof, or the federal government and any board, department and agency thereof, to finance certain categories of projects relating to the facilities of the Wastewater Enterprise. These loans (referred to herein as the "Parity Loans") are payable from Net Revenues on a parity with the Bonds. In accordance with the Fifth Supplemental Indenture, dated as of September 14, 2017, Parity Loans are treated as "Bonds" for certain purposes under the Indenture. See "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE."

As of the date of this Official Statement, the SFPUC has entered into seven SRF Loans (as defined herein) with the State. These SRF Loans constitute "Parity Loans" under the Indenture. The maximum aggregate amount that may be disbursed under such existing SRF Loans is approximately $400.5 million. The SFPUC has also applied for three additional SRF Loans (as defined herein). See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Parity Loans" and "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE."

WIFIA Bonds. The SFPUC has also issued two parity Bonds under the Indenture to evidence its repayment obligation to the United States Environmental Protection Agency (the "EPA"), acting by and through the Administrator of the EPA (the "WIFIA Lender"), under the WIFIA Loan Agreements (as defined and further described herein). Pursuant to the BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement (as defined and further described herein), the WIFIA Lender agreed to make the BDFP WIFIA Loan to the SFPUC in an amount not to exceed $699,242,023 to finance eligible costs of the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project plus certain eligible expenses. Pursuant to the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement (as defined and further described herein), the WIFIA Lender agreed to make the STPI WIFIA Loan to the SFPUC in an amount not to exceed $513,861,981 to finance eligible costs of the Southeast Treatment Plant Improvements Project plus certain eligible expenses. The WIFIA Bonds (as defined and further described herein) are payable from and secured by a pledge of Net Revenues on a parity with the Bonds. As of the date of this Official Statement, the SFPUC has made one draw on the BDFP WIFIA Loan and the principal amount of the BDFP Bond is $122,282,824.93. The SFPUC has also applied for an additional WIFIA loan to finance certain Wastewater Enterprise capital improvement projects. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYBLE FROM NET REVENUES – Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act Loans" and "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE."

THE 2023AB BONDS

General

The 2023AB Bonds will be dated as of their date of delivery and will accrue interest from their date of delivery at the rates per annum set forth on the inside cover pages of this Official Statement. Interest on the 2023AB Bonds will be calculated based on a 360-day year composed of twelve 30-day months. Interest on the 2023AB Bonds is payable on April 1 and October 1 each year, commencing October 1, 2023. The 2023AB Bonds will mature on the dates and in the principal amounts set forth on the inside cover pages of this Official Statement. The 2023AB Bonds will be issued in fully registered form in denominations of $5,000 or any integral multiple of $5,000. Under the Indenture, the record date with respect to the payment of principal of and interest on the 2023AB Bonds is the 15th day of the month immediately preceding an interest payment date, whether such day is a Business Day.

Securities Depository and Book-Entry System

The 2023AB Bonds will be issued in fully registered form, registered in the name of Cede & Co., as nominee for The Depository Trust Company ("DTC"), New York, New York, as the Owner of the 2023AB Bonds. So long as DTC, or its nominee, Cede & Co., is the Owner of the 2023AB Bonds, all payments on the 2023AB Bonds will be made directly to DTC. Disbursement of such payments to the DTC Participants will be the responsibility of DTC, and disbursement of such payments to the Beneficial Owners of the 2023AB Bonds will be the responsibility of the DTC Participants. See "APPENDIX E – SECURITIES DEPOSITORY AND THE BOOK-ENTRY SYSTEM."

Redemption

Optional Redemption of 2023A Bonds. The 2023A Bonds are subject to redemption prior to their stated maturity, at the option of the SFPUC, from and to the extent of any source of available funds, as a whole or in part, on any date on or after October 1, 2032, at a redemption price equal to 100% of the principal amount of the 2023A Bonds to be redeemed, plus accrued interest thereon to the date fixed for redemption, without premium. See "– Selection of 2023AB Bonds for Redemption."

Optional Redemption of 2023B Bonds. The 2023B Bonds are subject to redemption prior to their stated maturity, at the option of the SFPUC, from and to extent of any source of available funds, as a whole or in part, on any date on or after October 1, 2032, at a redemption price equal to 100% of the principal amount of the 2023B Bonds to be redeemed, plus accrued interest thereon to the date fixed for redemption, without premium. See "– Selection of 2023AB Bonds for Redemption."

Selection of 2023AB Bonds for Redemption. If 2023AB Bonds are to be optionally redeemed in part, the SFPUC shall direct the maturities, or portions thereof, to be redeemed, and, if less than all of the 2023AB Bonds of a particular maturity are to be redeemed, the 2023AB Bonds shall be redeemed by lot within any such maturity. Whenever less than all of the 2023AB Bonds of any one tenor and maturity are called for redemption and those 2023AB Bonds are redeemable by lot, the Trustee will select the 2023AB Bonds of the tenor and maturity to be redeemed from the Outstanding 2023AB Bonds of that tenor and maturity, by lot or by any other manner the Trustee deems fair and equitable. For purposes of such selection, 2023AB Bonds will be deemed to be made up of $5,000 portions of principal, any of which may be redeemed separately.

Notice of Redemption for 2023AB Bonds. Notice of redemption will be mailed by the Trustee at least 30 days but not more than 60 days prior to the redemption date to DTC (so long as the DTC Book-Entry System is used). The actual receipt by the owner of any 2023AB Bonds of notice of such redemption is not a condition precedent to redemption, and failure to receive a redemption notice or any defect in a redemption notice will not affect the validity of the proceedings for the redemption of such 2023AB Bonds or the cessation of the accrual of interest on the date fixed for such redemption. See "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE – GENERAL REDEMPTION PROVISIONS – Notice of Redemption" and "APPENDIX E – SECURITIES DEPOSITORY AND THE BOOK-ENTRY SYSTEM."

Rescission of Notice of Redemption for 2023AB Bonds. The SFPUC may, at its option, prior to the date fixed for redemption in any notice of redemption of 2023AB Bonds, rescind and cancel such notice of redemption by written request to the Trustee and the Trustee will mail notice of such cancellation to the recipients of the notice of redemption being cancelled.

Effect of Redemption for 2023AB Bonds. When notice of redemption has been duly given as described above, and moneys for payment of the redemption price are held by the Trustee, the 2023AB Bonds so called for redemption will, on the redemption date designated in such notice, become due and payable at the redemption price specified in such notice; and from and after the date so designated, interest on the 2023AB Bonds so called for redemption will cease to accrue, those 2023AB Bonds will cease to be entitled to any benefit or security under the Indenture, and the Owners of those 2023AB Bonds will have no rights in respect thereof except to receive payment of the redemption price thereof. The Trustee will, upon surrender for payment of any of said 2023AB Bonds, pay such 2023AB Bonds at the redemption price, together with accrued interest thereon. All 2023AB Bonds redeemed will be cancelled upon surrender and no 2023AB Bonds will be issued in place thereof.

Defeasance

The obligations of the SFPUC and the pledge, lien, covenants and agreements of the SFPUC made or provided for in the Indenture as to any 2023AB Bonds will be fully discharged and satisfied and will no longer be deemed outstanding thereunder if certain conditions set forth in the Indenture are satisfied. See "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE – DEFEASANCE."

THE 2023C BONDS

This section describes certain terms of the 2023C Bonds during the Initial Term Rate Period (as defined herein) only. For a complete description of the 2023C Bonds following the Initial Term Rate Period, see "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE."

General

The 2023C Bonds will be dated as of their date of delivery and will accrue interest from their date of delivery. Interest on the 2023C Bonds will be calculated on the basis of a 360-day year composed of twelve 30-day months. The 2023C Bonds will bear interest from their date of delivery to October 1, 2029 (the "Initial Term Rate Period"), at the rate set forth on the inside cover pages for the 2023C Bonds (the "Initial Term Rate"). The 2023C Bonds are subject to mandatory tender for purchase during the Initial Term Rate Period on October 1, 2029 (the "Initial Mandatory Tender Date") (see also "—Mandatory Tender of 2023C Bonds"). If insufficient funds are available for the purchase of all 2023C Bonds that are required to be tendered for remarketing on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date, then the 2023C Bonds will bear interest at 6% per annum for the first 79 days following and including the Initial Mandatory Tender Date (also referred to in the Indenture as a "Failed Tender Date"), and thereafter at 8% per annum until such 2023C Bonds are redeemed or remarketed in accordance with the Indenture.

Interest on the 2023C Bonds is payable on April 1 and October 1 of each year, beginning October 1, 2023. The 2023C Bonds will mature on the dates and in the principal amounts set forth on the inside cover pages of this Official Statement. The 2023C Bonds will be issued in fully registered form in denominations of $5,000 or any integral multiple of $5,000.

Under the Indenture, the record date with respect to the payment of principal of and interest on the 2023C Bonds is the 15th day of the month immediately preceding an interest payment date, whether or not such day is a Business Day.

Securities Depository and Book-Entry System

The 2023C Bonds will be issued in fully registered form, registered in the name of Cede & Co., as nominee for DTC, New York, New York, as the Owner of the 2023C Bonds. So long as DTC, or its nominee, Cede & Co., is the Owner of the 2023C Bonds, all payments on the 2023C Bonds will be made directly to DTC. Disbursement of such payments to the DTC Participants will be the responsibility of DTC, and disbursement of such payments to the Beneficial Owners of the 2023C Bonds will be the responsibility of the DTC Participants. See "APPENDIX E – SECURITIES DEPOSITORY AND THE BOOK-ENTRY SYSTEM."

Redemption of 2023C Bonds During Initial Term Rate Period

Optional Redemption During Initial Term Rate Period – 2023C Bonds. The 2023C Bonds are subject to redemption at the option of the SFPUC during the Initial Term Rate Period in whole or in part on any date on or after April 1, 2029, at a redemption price equal to the principal amount of the 2023C Bonds, or portions thereof, to be redeemed plus accrued but unpaid interest to the date fixed for redemption.

Mandatory Sinking Fund Redemption – 2023C Bonds. The 2023C Bonds maturing on October 1, 2048, and payable from the 2023C Bonds Sinking Fund Account, are further subject to redemption prior to their stated maturity, from the 2023C Bonds Sinking Fund Account, on any October 1 on or after October 1, 2043, by lot within any such maturity if less than all of the 2023C Bonds of such maturity and tenor be redeemed, upon payment of the principal amount thereof and accrued interest thereon to the date fixed for redemption, without premium.

The Trustee, on or before September 30 of each year (commencing on or before September 30, 2043), will deposit in the 2023C Bonds Sinking Fund Account from the Principal Fund moneys in an amount sufficient to call and redeem or to pay at maturity, as the case may be, the principal of 2023C Term Bonds in the following respective principal amounts on the next succeeding October 1 in each of the following years.

2045	30,390,000
2046	31,630,000

† Maturity.

Selection of 2023C Bonds for Redemption. Subject to DTC's procedures relating to the selection of bonds for redemption (see "APPENDIX E – SECURITIES DEPOSITORY AND THE BOOK-ENTRY SYSTEM"), whenever less than all of the 2023C Bond of any one maturity and tenor of any Series are called for redemption and such 2023C Bonds are redeemable by lot, the Trustee will select the 2023C Bonds of such maturity and tenor to be redeemed from the Outstanding 2023C Bonds of such maturity and tenor, by lot or by any other manner in which the Trustee deems fair and equitable. For purposes of such selection, 2023C Bonds will be deemed to be composed of $5,000 portions of principal and any such portion may be redeemed separately.

Notice of Redemption for 2023C Bonds. Notice of redemption will be mailed by the Trustee at least 30 days but not more than 60 days prior to the redemption date to DTC (so long as the DTC Book-Entry System is used). The actual receipt by the owner of any 2023C Bond of notice of such redemption is not a condition precedent to redemption, and failure to receive a redemption notice or any defect in a redemption notice will not affect the validity of the proceedings for the redemption of such 2023C Bonds or the cessation of the accrual of interest on the date fixed for such redemption. See "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE – GENERAL REDEMPTION PROVISIONS – Notice of Redemption" and "APPENDIX E – SECURITIES DEPOSITORY AND THE BOOK-ENTRY SYSTEM."

Rescission of Notice of Redemption for 2023C Bonds. The SFPUC may, at its option, prior to the date fixed for redemption in any notice of redemption rescind and cancel such notice of redemption by written request to the Trustee and the Trustee will mail notice of such cancellation to the recipients of the notice of redemption being cancelled.

Effect of Redemption for 2023C Bonds. When notice of redemption has been duly given as described above, and moneys for payment of the redemption price are held by the Trustee, the 2023C Bonds so called for redemption will, on the redemption date designated in such notice, become due and payable at the redemption price specified in such notice; and from and after the date so designated, interest on the 2023C Bonds so called for redemption will cease to accrue, said 2023C Bonds will cease to be entitled to any benefit or security under the Indenture, and the Owners of said 2023C Bonds will have no rights in respect thereof except to receive payment of the redemption price thereof. The Trustee, upon surrender for payment of any of said 2023C Bonds, will pay such 2023C Bonds at the redemption price, together with accrued interest thereon. All 2023C Bonds redeemed will be cancelled upon surrender and no 2023C Bonds will be issued in place thereof.

Mandatory Tender of 2023C Bonds

The 2023C Bonds are subject to mandatory tender for purchase during the Initial Term Rate Period on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date at an amount equal to the principal amount of the 2023C Bonds to be purchased plus accrued interest to the date on which such 2023C Bonds are required to be tendered (the "Purchase Price").

Pursuant to the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, the Trustee shall give notice by mail to the Owners of the 2023C Bonds not less than 30 days prior to the Initial Mandatory Tender Date that (i) such 2023C Bonds are subject to mandatory tender for purchase on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date at the Purchase Price and (ii) if an amount of money sufficient and available to pay the Purchase Price of all of the 2023C Bonds is on deposit with the Trustee on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date, all of such 2023C Bonds will be deemed to have been properly tendered for purchase and will cease to bear interest. Receipt of such notice by any Owner of such 2023C Bonds is not a condition precedent to the mandatory tender for purchase of the 2023C Bonds on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date, and failure to receive any such notice or any defect in such notice will not affect the validity of the proceedings for the mandatory tender for purchase of such 2023C Bonds.

No assurance can be given that the SFPUC will have sufficient funds on hand on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date for the 2023C Bonds to pay the Purchase Price of the 2023C Bonds on such date. Failure by the SFPUC to pay the Purchase Price of the 2023C Bonds on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date would not constitute an Event of Default under the Indenture but would increase the amount of interest payable by the SFPUC on the 2023C Bonds. See "RISK FACTORS – Payment of the 2023C Bonds on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date."

Defeasance

The obligations of the SFPUC and the pledge, lien, covenants and agreements of the SFPUC made or provided for in the Indenture will be fully discharged and satisfied as to any 2023C Bond and such 2023C Bond will no longer be deemed outstanding thereunder if certain conditions set forth in the Indenture are satisfied. See "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE – DEFEASANCE."

As a result of the deposit and application of funds as provided in the 2013B Escrow Agreement, the 2013B Refunded Bonds will be defeased pursuant to the Original Indenture and the Third Supplemental Indenture as of the date of issuance of the 2023B Bonds.

The Refunded 2018C Bonds were issued pursuant to, and will be refunded in accordance with, the terms of the Original Indenture, as supplemented by the Eighth Supplemental Indenture, dated as of August 1, 2018 (the "Eighth Supplemental Indenture"), by and between the SFPUC and the Trustee. A portion of the proceeds of the 2023C Bonds (the "2018C Escrow Proceeds") will be delivered to U.S. Bank Trust Company, National Association, as escrow agent (the "2018C Escrow Agent"), under that certain Escrow Agreement, dated as of April 1, 2023 (the "2018C Escrow Agreement"), by and between the SFPUC and the 2018C Escrow Agent. The 2018C Escrow Agent will deposit the 2018C Escrow Proceeds in accordance with the 2018C Escrow Agreement in an irrevocable escrow fund (the "2018C Escrow Fund") for the benefit of the owners of the Refunded 2018C Bonds to be invested in the Initial Government Securities (as defined in the 2018C Escrow Agreement and referred to herein as the "2018C Initial Government Securities"), with any remaining amounts (if any) held in cash. The 2018C Initial Government Securities, together with earnings thereon, plus the amounts held in cash (if any), will be used to redeem the Refunded 2018C Bonds on July 18, 2023 (the "Refunded 2018C Bonds Redemption Date"), at the redemption price of 100% of the principal amount of the Refunded 2018C Bonds, together with interest accrued thereon to the Refunded 2018C Bonds Redemption Date. As a result of the deposit and application of funds as provided in the 2018C Escrow Agreement, the Refunded 2018C Bonds will be defeased pursuant to the Original Indenture and the Eighth Supplemental Indenture as of the date of issuance of the 2023C Bonds.

Sufficiency of the deposits in each of the irrevocable 2013B Escrow Fund and 2018C Escrow Fund for the purposes described in the previous paragraphs will be verified by AW Smith, LLC, Rockford, Minnesota (the "Verification Agent"). See "VERIFICATION OF MATHEMATICAL ACCURACY."

GREEN BONDS DESIGNATION AND CLIMATE CERTIFICATION

The 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds are being designated by the SFPUC as "Green Bonds." The purpose of designating the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds as "Green Bonds" is to allow investors to invest directly in notes and bonds that finance the cost of environmentally beneficial projects ("Green Projects"). For purposes of such determination, the SFPUC considers the projects included in the SSIP to be Green Projects. See "PLAN OF FINANCE," "ESTIMATED SOURCES AND USES OF FUNDS," and "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM."

The Climate Bonds Initiative (the "CBI") is an international, investor-focused non-profit organization working to focus the global bond market on climate change solutions through the development and promotion of an efficient green bond market. The CBI has established and manages the Climate Bonds Standard (the "Climate Bonds Standard") under which the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds have been certified upon verification from Sustainalytics (as defined and further described below). All projects funded by the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds have been certified under the Climate Bonds Standard Water Sector Criteria. The certification of the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds reflects only the views of the third-party verifier report approved by the Climate Bonds Standard Board. The explanation of the significance of this certification may be obtained from the CBI. The SFPUC has provided a third-party verified report to the Climate Bonds Standard Board, including information concerning prior and anticipated capital project expenditures related to the SSIP (some of which does not appear in this Official Statement). As part of the certification process, the SFPUC retained Sustainalytics U.S., Inc., a subsidiary of Sustainalytics Holding, B.V., Netherlands (collectively, "Sustainalytics"), to provide a third-party verification that the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds are aligned with the Climate Bonds Standard.

The certification of the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds as "Climate Bonds" by the CBI is based solely on the Climate Bonds Standard and does not and is not intended to make any representation or give any assurance with respect to any other matter relating to the 2023A Bonds, the 2023C Bonds or any SSIP project, including but not limited to this Official Statement, the transaction documents, the SFPUC or the management of the SFPUC.

The certification of the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds by the CBI is addressed solely to the SFPUC and is not a recommendation to any person to purchase, hold or sell the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds and such certification does not address the market price or suitability of the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds for an investor. The certification also does not address the merits of the decision by the SFPUC or any third party to participate in any SSIP Green Project and does not express and should not be deemed to be an expression of an opinion as to the SFPUC or any aspect of any SSIP project (including but not limited to the financial viability of any SSIP Green Project) other than with respect to conformance with the Climate Bonds Standard.

In issuing or monitoring, as applicable, the certification, the CBI has assumed and relied upon and will assume and rely upon the accuracy and completeness in all material respects of the information supplied or otherwise made available to the CBI. The CBI does not assume or accept any responsibility to any person for independently verifying (and it has not verified) such information or to undertake (and it has not undertaken) any independent evaluation of any Green Project or the SFPUC. In addition, the CBI does not assume any obligation to conduct (and it has not conducted) any physical inspection of a SSIP Green Project. The certification may only be used with the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds and may not be used for any other purpose without the CBI's prior written consent.

The certification does not and is not in any way intended to address the likelihood of timely payment of interest when due on the 2023A Bonds, the 2023C Bonds and/or the payment of principal at maturity or any other date.

The certification may be withdrawn at any time in the CBI's sole and absolute discretion and there can be no assurance that such certification will not be withdrawn. The SFPUC has not undertaken to contest any such withdrawal or to provide notice thereof.

The CBI is not a licensed broker-dealer or a nationally recognized statistical ratings organization. Certification by the CBI is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities, and such certification may be subject to revision or withdrawal, including, without limitation, if the SFPUC's future capital expenditures from the proceeds of the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds vary from the anticipated expenditures reviewed by the CBI. The SFPUC will undertake reasonable efforts to ensure that any adjustment of capital expenditures or other actions taken with respect to the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds will not result in revision or withdrawal of the CBI's certification; however, there can be no guarantee that such adjustment or other action or a future revision to the CBI's criteria for certifying bonds will not result in a withdrawal or revision of the CBI's certification. The SFPUC expects to post information reflecting the expenditure of the proceeds of the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds on its website.

The Indenture does not restrict the use of proceeds of future issuances of Bonds to the financing of Green Projects and in the future the SFPUC may issue Additional Bonds which are not designated as green bonds or certified by the CBI.

The repayment obligations of the SFPUC with respect to the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds are not conditioned on the completion of any particular project or the satisfaction of any condition relating to the status of the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds or the certification of such bonds by the CBI. The SFPUC assumes no obligation to ensure compliance with any legal or other principles of green bonds, as such principles may evolve over time. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS."

The terms "Climate Bond" and "green bonds" are neither defined in, nor related to the Indenture, and their use herein is for identification purposes only and is not intended to provide or imply that a holder of the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds is entitled to any additional security other than as provided in the Indenture. The SFPUC has no continuing legal obligation to maintain the Climate Bond certification of the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds.

The designation of the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds as "Green Bonds" does not imply that such obligations are entitled to any particular advantageous treatment under the Code.

United Nations Sustainable Development Goals

Impacts from SSIP projects financed by the SFPUC's Green Bonds are also aligned with several United Nations Sustainable Development Goals ("UN SDG"). By reference to the International Capital Market Association ("ICMA") "Green and Social Bonds: A High-Level Mapping to the Sustainable Development Goals" (June 2020), the projects refinanced by the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds primarily aim to address the following goals: 3 (Good Health and Well-being), 6 (Clean Water and Sanitation), 9 (Industry, Innovation and Infrastructure), 11 (Sustainable Cities and Communities), 13 (Climate Action), and 14 (Life Below Water).

As promulgated by the ICMA and most recently updated in June 2021, the "Green Bond Principles" have four core components (Use of Proceeds, Process for Project Evaluation and Selection, Management of Proceeds, and Reporting), each of which are further described below.

Use of Proceeds

A portion of the proceeds of the 2023A Bonds will (i) finance certain capital projects benefiting the Wastewater Enterprise from the SSIP and (ii) refund a portion of the Commercial Paper Notes that were used to finance certain capital projects benefitting the Wastewater Enterprise from the SSIP. A portion of the proceeds of the 2023C Bonds will refund the Refunded 2018C Bonds. Such proceeds of the 2023A Bonds will be, and proceeds of such Commercial Paper Notes and Refunded 2018C Bonds have all been, expended on projects the SFPUC considers to be "Green Projects." All such projects related to the SSIP, which achieves the following goals:

- Provide a compliant, reliable, resilient and flexible system responsive to catastrophic events;
- Integrate grey and green infrastructure to manage stormwater and minimize flooding;
- Provide benefits to impacted communities;
- Modify the system to adapt to climate change;
- Achieve economic and environmental sustainability; and
- Maintain ratepayer affordability.

These SSIP projects include, but are not limited to, the following:

Wastewater Treatment Projects:

- Replacing existing, aged, and failing solids handling facilities with new state-of-the art Biosolids Digester Facilities
- Improving the level of screening and grit removal in existing facilities
- Replacing and integrating a facility-wide distributed control system
- Condition assessment and rehabilitation of building structures
- Replacing mechanical and electrical equipment
- Seismic retrofitting

Sewer Collection System Improvement Projects:

- Enhancing conveyance in the Channel and Islais Creek watershed to provide reliability and redundancy, and increase capacity to manage storm events
- Rehabilitating and replacing interceptors, tunnels, pump stations, force mains and transport/storage boxes
- Rehabilitating combined sewer discharge structures and preventing backflow of bay water through combined sewer discharges due to sea level rise

Stormwater Management/Flood Control Improvement Projects:

- Green infrastructure (bioretention planters for stormwater runoff, permeable paving)
- Flood resilience (analysis of flooding risks, stormwater detention and conveyance concepts, flood barriers)
- Hydraulic and drainage sewer improvements in flood prone neighborhoods
- Advanced rainfall and operational decision systems (automated real time forecasts with increased accuracy)

Additional information on the SSIP may be found under "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM."

Management of Proceeds

The proceeds of the Commercial Paper Notes to be refunded with the proceeds of the 2023A Bonds and the proceeds of the Refunded 2018C Bonds to be refunded with the proceeds of the 2023C Bonds have all been expended on projects the SFPUC considers to be "Green Projects."

Green Bond Reporting

As part of the certification process, the SFPUC will provide a post-issuance verification of compliance to the CBI. The SFPUC publishes annually a project spending and management of proceeds report (the "Green Bond Report") for all outstanding green bonds issued by the SFPUC. The Green Bond Report will include projects financed and refinanced by proceeds of the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds and will be made available at https://sfpuc.org/about-us/reports/debt-management-and-disclosure-reports. The information available on such website is not incorporated by reference into this Official Statement and should not be relied upon in making an investment in the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds.

SECURITY FOR THE BONDS

Pledge of Net Revenues

General. Under the Indenture, the SFPUC has irrevocably pledged the Net Revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise to the punctual payment of principal of, premium, if any, and interest on the Bonds, which consist of any parity revenue bonds, notes and obligations issued under the Indenture, including the 2023ABC Bonds, and Parity Loans. This pledge is subject to the flow of funds contained in the Indenture, as described below. See "– Flow of Funds."

The facilities comprising the Wastewater Enterprise have not been pledged or mortgaged and do not otherwise secure payment of the Bonds.

Pursuant to Section 5451 of the California Government Code, the pledge of, lien on and security interest in Net Revenues and certain other funds granted by the Indenture is valid and binding in accordance with the terms thereof from the time of issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds; the Net Revenues and such other funds will be immediately subject to such pledge; and such pledge will constitute a lien and security interest which will immediately attach to such Net Revenues and other funds and will be effective, binding and enforceable against the SFPUC, its successors, purchasers of the Net Revenues, creditors, and all others asserting rights therein to the extent set forth and in accordance with the terms of the Indenture irrespective of whether those parties have notice of such pledge and without the need for any physical delivery, recordation, filing or other further act. Such pledge, lien and security interest are not subject to the provisions of Article 9 of the California Uniform Commercial Code.

For definitions of capitalized terms used herein and not otherwise defined, see "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE – THE INDENTURE – DEFINITIONS; EQUAL SECURITY: CERTIFICATES AND OPINIONS."

Limited Obligation. THE SFPUC IS NOT OBLIGATED TO PAY THE PRINCIPAL OF, PREMIUM, IF ANY, OR INTEREST ON THE BONDS EXCEPT FROM NET REVENUES OF THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE. THE SFPUC HAS NO TAXING POWER. THE GENERAL FUND OF THE CITY IS NOT LIABLE FOR THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF, PREMIUM, IF ANY, OR INTEREST ON THE BONDS, AND NEITHER THE CREDIT NOR THE TAXING POWER OF THE CITY IS PLEDGED TO THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF, PREMIUM, IF ANY, OR INTEREST ON THE BONDS. THE BONDS ARE NOT SECURED BY A LEGAL OR EQUITABLE PLEDGE OF, OR CHARGE, LIEN, OR ENCUMBRANCE UPON, ANY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE CITY OR OF THE SFPUC OR ANY OF ITS INCOME OR RECEIPTS, EXCEPT NET REVENUES.

Wastewater Enterprise. The Indenture defines "Enterprise" (referred to in this Official Statement as the "Wastewater Enterprise") as the whole and each and every part of the municipal sanitary waste and storm water collection, treatment and disposal system and auxiliary or related facilities of the SFPUC, including all of the presently existing system of the SFPUC for the collection, treatment and disposal of sanitary waste and storm water and all future additions, betterments, and extensions to the system or any part thereof.

Net Revenues. The Indenture defines "Net Revenues" as all Revenues, less all Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise.

The Indenture defines "Revenues" as all gross revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise, including all charges received for and all other income and receipts derived by the SFPUC from the operation of the Wastewater Enterprise, or arising from the Wastewater Enterprise, including connection and installation charges, but excluding:

(a) any money received by or for the account of the SFPUC from the levy or collection of taxes;

(b) moneys received from the State of California and the United States of America and required to be deposited in restricted funds;

(c) refundable deposits made to establish credit;

(d) advances and contributions made to the SFPUC to be applied to construction;

(e) moneys received constituting casualty insurance proceeds with respect to all or any part of the Wastewater Enterprise (which shall be received and disposed of pursuant to the Indenture) and moneys received constituting other insurance proceeds;

(f) moneys received from the sale or disposition of all or any part of the Wastewater Enterprise (which shall be received and disposed of pursuant to the Indenture);

(g) moneys received upon the taking by or under the threat of eminent domain of all or any part of the Wastewater Enterprise (which moneys shall be received and disposed of pursuant to the Indenture);

(h) proceeds from Bonds issued by the SFPUC or proceeds from loans or other indebtedness obtained by the SFPUC; and

(i) moneys or securities received by the SFPUC as gifts or grants the use of which is restricted by the donor or grantor.

The term "Revenues" also includes (i) all interest or other income (excluding profits or losses from the sale or disposition of Permitted Investments or other securities owned by or on behalf of the SFPUC) derived from the deposit or investment of any moneys in any fund or account established under the Indenture (excluding any Rebate Fund and any escrow fund pledged for the payment of defeased bonds) or in any fund or account of the Wastewater Enterprise and legally available to pay Debt Service, and (ii) any other moneys, proceeds and other amounts that the SFPUC determines should be "Revenues" under the Indenture.

The Indenture defines "Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Enterprise" (referred to in this Official Statement as the "Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise") as the reasonable and necessary costs of operating and maintaining the Wastewater Enterprise, calculated on the basis of generally accepted accounting principles, including (among other things) salaries and wages, fees for services, costs of materials, supplies and fuel, reasonable expenses of management, legal fees, accounting fees, repairs and other expenses necessary to maintain and preserve the Wastewater Enterprise in good repair and working order, and reasonable amounts for administration, overhead, insurance, taxes (if any), and the payment of pension charges and proportionate payments to such compensation and other insurance or outside reserve funds as the SFPUC may establish or the Board of Supervisors may require with respect to employees of the SFPUC, as provided in the Charter.

However, the term "Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise" excludes in all cases (a) depreciation and obsolescence charges or reserves therefor, (b) amortization of intangibles or other bookkeeping entries of a similar nature, (c) costs of capital additions, replacements, betterments, extensions or improvements to the Wastewater Enterprise, which under generally accepted accounting principles are chargeable to a capital account or to a reserve for depreciation, (d) charges for the payment of principal of and interest on any revenue bonds or other indebtedness issued before or after the date of the Indenture for Wastewater Enterprise purposes and (e) such costs as are scheduled to be paid by the SFPUC from moneys other than Revenues, such moneys to be clearly available for such purpose.

Flow of Funds

The Indenture provides that all Revenues must be paid into the Revenue Fund, which must be maintained in the City treasury. Moneys in the Revenue Fund, including earnings thereon, are required by the Indenture to be applied for the following purposes and only in the following order of priority:

(a) payment of Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise;

(b) payment of Bonds, Parity Loans, Policy Costs and amounts due as reimbursement under any Letter of Credit Agreement, as provided in the Indenture; and

(c) any other lawful purpose of the SFPUC.

Net Revenues deposited in the Revenue Fund, as described in (b) above, will be applied to pay interest and principal on the Bonds (which include Parity Loans) and to make deposits to the Bond Reserve Fund if the amounts therein are less than the Required Reserve. See "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE."

The Indenture defines "Refundable Credits" as (a) with respect to a Series of Bonds issued as Build America Bonds under Section 54AA of the Code, the amounts which are payable by the federal government under Section 6431 of the Code, which the SFPUC has elected to receive under Section 54AA(g)(1) of the Code, and (b) with respect to a Series of Bonds issued as Build America Bonds under any other provision of the Code that creates a substantially similar direct-pay subsidy program, the amounts which are payable by the federal government under the applicable provisions of the Code, which the SFPUC has elected to receive under the applicable provisions of the Code.

The Indenture defines "Build America Bonds" as any bonds or other obligations issued as Build America Bonds under Section 54AA of the Code, or under any other provision of the Code that creates a substantially similar direct-pay subsidy program.

The Indenture provides that all of the Refundable Credits received by the SFPUC shall be deposited immediately upon receipt in the Interest Fund, and such Refundable Credits are irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the interest on the Bonds issued as Build America Bonds, and the Refundable Credits shall not be used for any other purpose while any of the Bonds issued as Build America Bonds remain Outstanding.

Rate Covenants

Sufficiency of Revenues. The SFPUC has covenanted in the Indenture that it will, to the fullest extent permitted by law, establish, fix and prescribe prior to the commencement of each Fiscal Year, rates, fees and charges in connection with the sanitary waste and storm water collection, treatment and disposal services and facilities furnished by the Wastewater Enterprise so as to yield Revenues at least sufficient, after making reasonable allowances for contingencies and error in the estimates, to pay the following amounts:

(a) the interest on and principal of the Bonds (which include Parity Loans) as they become due and payable (but not including any interest for which moneys have been deposited in the Interest Fund from the proceeds of any Series of Bonds or from any other source);

(b) all other payments required for compliance with the terms of the Indenture and of any Supplemental Indenture providing for the issuance of Additional Bonds pursuant to the Indenture;

(c) all other payments to meet any other obligations of the SFPUC which are charges, liens or encumbrances upon, or payable from, Revenues; and

(d) all current Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise (but not including such Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise as are scheduled to be paid by the SFPUC from moneys other than Revenues, such moneys to be clearly available for such purpose).

Debt Service Coverage. In addition to the requirements set forth under "– Sufficiency of Revenues" above, the Indenture provides that the SFPUC will, to the fullest extent permitted by law, establish, fix, and prescribe, prior to the commencement of each Fiscal Year, rates, fees and charges in connection with the sanitary waste and storm water collection, treatment and disposal services and facilities furnished by the Wastewater Enterprise, which are reasonably expected to be at least sufficient to yield during such Fiscal Year Net Revenues (together with any fund balances of the SFPUC which are available for payment of Debt Service, but excluding the Bond Reserve Fund), equal to 1.25 times the Annual Debt Service payable in such Fiscal Year.

The SFPUC may make adjustments from time to time in such rates, fees and charges and may make such classification thereof as it deems necessary, but is obligated not to reduce such rates, fees and charges below those in effect unless the Revenues resulting after such reduced rates are put into effect will at all times be sufficient to meet the requirements described in this section, "Rate Covenants."

So long as the SFPUC has complied with its obligations described under "– Sufficiency of Revenues" above and the first paragraph under this "– Debt Service Coverage" subsection, the failure to yield the amount of Revenues as described under "– Sufficiency of Revenues" above, or the failure of Net Revenues to equal 1.25 times Annual Debt Service as set forth in the first paragraph under this "– Debt Service Coverage" subsection at the end of a Fiscal Year, will not constitute a default or an Event of Default under the Indenture so long as the SFPUC has complied with its obligations described under "– Sufficiency of Revenues" above and the first paragraph under this "– Debt Service Coverage" subsection at the commencement of the succeeding Fiscal Year.

"Annual Debt Service" is defined in the Indenture as the sum of principal and interest on all Outstanding Bonds (including Parity Loans) as computed for the twelve-month period ending June 30 to which reference is made, and calculated by the SFPUC using the following assumptions:

(a) in determining the principal amount due for such twelve-month period ending June 30, payment will (unless a different subsection of this definition applies for purposes of determining principal maturities or amortization) be assumed to be made in accordance with the amortization schedule established for such debt, including any Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payments or any scheduled redemption or payment of Bonds on the basis of Accreted Value, and for such purpose, the redemption payment or payment of Accreted Value will be deemed a principal payment and interest that is compounded and paid as Accreted Value will be deemed due on the scheduled redemption or Payment Date of such Capital Appreciation Bond, but excluding Excluded Principal.

(b) if any Outstanding Bonds constitute Variable Rate Indebtedness, the interest rate will, as of the date of calculation, be: (i) the greater of (a) the average SIFMA rate over the past 3 years times 150% or (b) 4 percent or (ii) if, designated in writing by the SFPUC in the Supplemental Indenture authorizing such Bonds (which the SFPUC must certify, in the case of obligations interest on which is not excluded from gross income for federal income tax purposes under the Code), a fixed rate of interest reasonably determined by the SFPUC for obligations with similar duration, which interest rate has been certified by a Qualified Financial Advisor as reasonable concurrent with the execution and delivery of such Supplemental Indenture.

(c) if Defeasance Obligations have been deposited with and are held by the Trustee or another fiduciary to be used to pay principal and/or interest on specified Bonds, or any amounts have been deposited in the Interest Fund from the proceeds of any Series of Bonds or from any other source to pay interest on such Bonds, then the principal and/or interest to be paid from such Defeasance Obligations or from the earnings thereon, or from such amounts in the Interest Fund, shall be disregarded and not included in calculating Annual Debt Service.

(d) in determining the amount of interest coming due during any twelve-month period ending June 30 on any Series of Bonds that are issued as Build America Bonds or obligations issued under any future program similar to Build America Bonds, amounts equal to the Refundable Credits the SFPUC is scheduled to receive during each twelve-month period ending June 30 will be deducted from such interest.

"Excluded Principal" means each payment of principal of Bonds with a remaining term, on the date of calculation, of not greater than 60 months that the SFPUC intends to pay from the proceeds of Bonds or Parity Loans, other bonds, notes or other obligations of the SFPUC or moneys other than Net Revenues.

See "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE."

The SFPUC has determined that the principal of the 2021AB Notes qualify as "Excluded Principal" under the Indenture. As a result of this determination, the principal of the 2021AB Notes have been and will be excluded from the calculation of Annual Debt Service for purposes of the rate covenant described above and the requirements for issuing Additional Bonds under the Indenture. See "– Additional Series of Bonds – Indenture Requirements" and "– Refunding Bonds" and "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISONS OF THE INDENTURE."

Pursuant to federal sequestration legislation passed by Congress in 2011 and 2013, federal subsidy payments for direct pay bonds, including Build America Bonds, have been reduced (by formula) from the original funding subsidy level of 35% of interest costs on direct pay bonds, including Build America Bonds. The current sequestration reduction rate of the federal subsidy payment for Build America Bonds is 5.7%, which rate will remain in effect through September 30, 2030, unless changed by legislation; refundable credits sought by the SFPUC for its Build America Bonds will be reduced by this percentage. This reduction will increase the SFPUC's net interest cost. The SFPUC can give no assurance regarding the level of subsidy payments or changes in the sequestration rate, if any, in the future. In Fiscal Years 2020-21 and 2021-22, the SFPUC received approximately $3.5 million and $3.5 million, respectively, in Refundable Credits for the Wastewater Enterprise.

No Reserve Account for 2023ABC Bonds

The Indenture requires that the Bond Reserve Fund be established with the Trustee and funded in an amount equal to the "Required Reserve," if any, applicable to each series of Bonds. If the Required Reserve for a Series of Bonds is greater than zero, the Indenture requires the establishment of a bond reserve account (each, a "Reserve Account") within the Bond Reserve Fund for such Series of Bonds, and requires the deposit in that bond reserve account of an amount equal to the Required Reserve for the related Series of Bonds.

The Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture does not require the establishment of a Reserve Account for the 2023A Bonds, the 2023B Bonds or the 2023C Bonds. The Reserve Account established for the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2010 Series B Bonds (the "2010B Bonds") do not secure the 2023ABC Bonds. No Reserve Account has been established for the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2013 Series A and 2013 Series B (collectively, the "2013AB Bonds"), the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2016 Series A and 2016 Series B (collectively, the "2016AB Bonds"), the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2018 Series A, 2018 Series B and 2018 Series C (collectively, the "2018ABC Bonds"), the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco Wastewater Revenue Notes, 2021 Series A and 2021 Series B (collectively, the "2021AB Notes"), the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2021 Series A and 2021 Series B (collectively, the "2021AB Bonds") or the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2022 Series B (the "2022B Bonds").

Additional Series of Bonds

The Charter and the Indenture authorize the issuance of Additional Bonds payable from Net Revenues on a parity with Outstanding Bonds and the 2023ABC Bonds, upon satisfaction of the conditions set forth therein.

The SFPUC expects to issue Additional Bonds, which may include Bonds evidencing obligations to repay the WIFIA Lender in connection with additional WIFIA loans, to finance the costs of additional improvements included in the SSIP and other portions of the Wastewater Enterprise's capital program. See "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM – Program Budget and Funding Sources," "FINANCING PLAN FOR WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM" and "RISK FACTORS – Costs of SSIP Projects; Timely Completion of SSIP Projects."

Charter Requirements. Under the Charter, the SFPUC may issue revenue bonds (including Additional Bonds) relating to the Wastewater Enterprise without voter approval in the following circumstances, among others:

(a) to issue revenue bonds (including Additional Bonds) approved by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members of the Board of Supervisors for the purpose of reconstructing, replacing, expanding, repairing or improving the Wastewater Enterprise;

(b) to issue bonds (including Additional Bonds) approved by an affirmative vote of three-fourths of the members of the Board of Supervisors if the bonds are to finance buildings, fixtures or equipment which are deemed necessary by the Board of Supervisors to comply with an order of a duly constituted state or federal authority having jurisdiction over the Wastewater Enterprise; and

(c) to issue refunding bonds which are expected to result in net debt service savings to the City on a present value basis, calculated as described in the SFPUC's Debt Management Policies and Procedures.

The Charter also generally authorizes the SFPUC to issue revenue bonds upon the approval of a majority of the voters voting on the proposition at a general or special election.

Notwithstanding any other provision of the Charter or of any ordinance of the City, the Board of Supervisors may, in connection with the issuance of additional bonds as described under paragraph (a) above, take any and all actions necessary to authorize, issue and repay such bonds, including, but not limited to, modifying schedules of rates and charges to provide for the payment and retirement of such bonds, subject to the following conditions:

(a) Certification by an independent engineer retained by the SFPUC that:

(1) the projects to be financed by the additional bonds, including the prioritization, cost estimates and scheduling, meet utility standards; and

(2) that estimated net revenue after payment of operating and maintenance expenses will be sufficient to meet debt service coverage and other indenture or resolution requirements, including debt service on the bonds to be issued, and estimated repair and replacement costs.

(b) Certification by the City Planning Department that facilities under the jurisdiction of the SFPUC funded with such bonds will comply with applicable requirements of the California Environmental Quality Act ("CEQA").

Indenture Requirements. The Indenture provides that Additional Bonds secured on a parity with the Bonds may be issued for any lawful purpose if no Event of Default has occurred and is continuing under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture and no event has occurred which, but for the passage of time or the giving of notice, would constitute an Event of Default under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture. Prior to the issuance of such Additional Bonds, the SFPUC is required to file with the Trustee, among other documents, the following:

(a) a Certificate of the SFPUC setting forth for each of the next three Fiscal Years estimates of (A) Revenues, (B) Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Enterprise and (3) Net Revenues; and

(b) a Certificate of the SFPUC demonstrating that (1) the ratio of (A) Net Revenues for the most recent Fiscal Year for which audited financial statements are available, or any consecutive twelve calendar month period during the eighteen calendar month period prior to the issuance of such additional Series of Bonds, to (B) Annual Debt Service for the current Fiscal Year, calculated as of the date of sale of, and including such additional Series of Bonds, will not be less than 1.25:1; or (2) the ratio of (A) Net Revenues projected by the SFPUC for each of the next three Fiscal Years as determined in the Indenture, and including in such projections amounts projected to be received from any adopted rate increases and fund balances of the SFPUC which are projected to be available for the payment of Debt Service (but excluding the Bond Reserve Fund), to (B) Annual Debt Service in each of such three Fiscal Years, calculated as of the date of sale of and including such additional Series of Bonds, will not be less than 1.25:1 in each of such Fiscal Years.

See "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE – THE INDENTURE – DEFINITIONS; EQUAL SECURITY: CERTIFICATES AND OPINIONS" and "– ISSUANCE OF ADDITIONAL SERIES OF BONDS."

The Indenture provides the SFPUC with flexibility as to the nature and terms of any Additional Bonds issued with a lien and charge on Net Revenues on a parity with the Outstanding Bonds. Such Additional Bonds may: mature over any period of time; bear interest at a fixed, variable or zero rate; be in any denominations; be in any form (including registered, coupon or book-entry); include or exclude redemption provisions; be subject to optional or mandatory tender for purchase; be sold at such price or prices; be further secured by any separate and additional security; and otherwise include such additional terms and provisions as the SFPUC may determine, consistent with the Indenture and applicable provisions of the Charter.

Additional Parity Loans

Pursuant to the Charter, the SFPUC can incur indebtedness, including additional State and federal loans, without voter approval, but subject to Board of Supervisors' approval. In addition, the Indenture permits the SFPUC to enter into Parity Loans or loans on a subordinated lien basis relative to the Bonds, as determined by the SFPUC.

Under the Indenture, the SFPUC may only enter into additional Parity Loans if no Event of Default has occurred and is continuing under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture (and no event has occurred which, but for the passage of time or the giving of notice, would constitute an Event of Default under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture).

In addition, in connection with the execution and delivery of such Parity Loans, the SFPUC is required to deliver a Certificate to the Trustee setting forth, for each of the next three Fiscal Years after the delivery of the Parity Loans:

(a) the Revenues and Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise and Net Revenues; and demonstrating that the estimated Net Revenues (together with any fund balances of the SFPUC which are available for Debt Service, but excluding the Bond Reserve Fund), in each of such three Fiscal Years is at least equal to 1.25 times the Annual Debt Service.

Pursuant to the State's Revolving Fund Loan program (the "SRF Loan Program"), the SFPUC has entered into seven revolving fund loans that fund certain capital projects of the Wastewater Enterprise (each an "SRF Loan") with a maximum principal amount authorized to be disbursed thereunder of approximately $400.5 million. The SFPUC has applied for three additional SRF Loans and plans to apply for additional SRF Loans over the next several years to obtain long-term financing for a portion of the SSIP. However, the SFPUC can give no assurance that it will receive additional SRF Loans. The SRF Loans constitute "Parity Loans" under the Indenture. The SFPUC may also enter into additional WIFIA loans constituting "Parity Loans." See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Parity Loans" and "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE."

Refunding Bonds

City Charter Requirements. The Charter allows refunding bonds to be issued without voter approval if such refunding results in net debt service savings on a present value basis, calculated as provided by ordinance.

Indenture Requirements. The Indenture provides that Additional Bonds may be issued to refund any Bonds without meeting the test for the issuance of Additional Bonds described above, if the SFPUC delivers to the Trustee (among other documents) a certificate of a Qualified Financial Advisor to the effect that after giving effect to the application of the proceeds of the additional Series of Bonds, either (i) Annual Debt Service will not be increased in any Fiscal Year (excluding Debt Service on the Outstanding Bonds to be refunded) in an amount in excess of 5% or (ii) the Average Annual Debt Service for the Bonds of such additional Series will be equal to or less than the Average Annual Debt Service on the Bonds to be refunded (during the period from the issuance of the additional Series to the last maturity date of the Outstanding Bonds to be refunded).

Subordinate Obligations; Obligations Not Payable from Revenues

The Indenture permits the SFPUC to authorize and issue bonds, notes, warrants, certificates or other obligations or evidences of indebtedness, the principal of or interest on which would be payable either (i) from Net Revenues after and subordinate to the payment from Net Revenues of the principal of and interest on the Bonds, or (ii) from moneys which are not Revenues. The SFPUC may issue bonds or incur other indebtedness secured by a pledge of Net Revenues on a basis subordinate to the pledge thereof securing the Bonds without limitation.

Investments

The Indenture provides that moneys in all funds and accounts held by the Trustee under the Indenture shall be invested upon receipt in Permitted Investments as directed by the SFPUC and all accounts funds and accounts held by the City Treasurer (the "City Treasurer") shall be invested in Legal Investments. "Legal Investments" means any bonds, notes, certificates of indebtedness, bills, acceptances or other securities in which the City Treasurer may legally invest the SFPUC's funds. For information regarding the investment of moneys held in the various funds and accounts of the SFPUC, see "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Investment of SFPUC Funds."

OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES

Authority for Issuance of Revenue Bonds and Other Obligations Payable from Net Revenues

The Charter authorizes the SFPUC to issue revenue bonds and commercial paper notes and to incur other obligations payable from or secured by a pledge of revenues. The 2023ABC Bonds are being issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 173-20, adopted by the Board of Supervisors on September 29, 2020, and under a resolution adopted by the Commission on March 28, 2023. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Additional Series of Bonds," "– Additional Parity Loans" and "– Refunding Bonds."

(3) All of such amount will be refunded by the 2023C Bonds.
(4) Issued under the Eleventh Supplemental Indenture in connection with the BDFP WIFIA Loan. See "– Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act Loans."

The 2021A Notes mature on October 1, 2025, and the 2021B Notes mature on October 1, 2026. Although the 2021A Notes and the 2021B Notes are secured by a pledge of Net Revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise, the SFPUC does not expect that Net Revenues will be sufficient to pay the principal of the 2021A Notes or the 2021B Notes at maturity. The SFPUC intends to pay interest on the 2021A Notes from Net Revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise and to pay principal of the 2021A Notes from the proceeds of one or more draws under the BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement or from the proceeds of additional notes, revenue bonds or other revenue secured obligations (referred to herein as the "Take-Out Obligations") to be issued by the SFPUC on or prior to the maturity of the 2021A Notes. The SFPUC intends to pay interest on the 2021B Notes from Net Revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise and to pay principal of the 2021B Notes from the proceeds of one or more draws under the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement or from the proceeds of Take-Out Obligations to be issued by the SFPUC on or prior to the maturity of the 2021B Notes. Disbursements under the BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement and the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement are subject to various conditions (as further described herein). If the SFPUC is unable to fully draw under the BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement or the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement or issue Take-Out Obligations, no assurance can be given that the SFPUC will have sufficient funds on hand to pay the principal of the 2021A Notes and/or the 2021B Notes on their respective maturity dates. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act Loans" and "RISK FACTORS – Access to Capital Markets." In accordance with the Indenture, the principal amount of the 2021A Notes and the 2021B Notes was designated by the SFPUC as Excluded Principal. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Rate Covenants" and "– Additional Series of Bonds – Indenture Requirements" and "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE."

The 2018C Bonds are subject to mandatory tender for purchase on October 1, 2023. All of the 2018C Bonds will be refunded by the 2023C Bonds on July 18, 2023.

Additional Bonds

General. The SFPUC intends to issue Additional Bonds under the Indenture to finance select capital program projects, including SSIP projects. See "WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM," "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM" and "FINANCING PLAN FOR WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM."

Parity Loans

The SFPUC has entered into seven SRF Loans with the State. These SRF Loans constitute "Parity Loans" under the Indenture. The SFPUC has also applied for three additional SRF Loans and plans to apply for additional SRF Loans with the State over the next several years to obtain long-term financing for a portion of the SSIP. Such SRF Loans are low-cost loans provided and administered by the State Water Resources Control Board on a project-by-project basis. The State's SRF Loan Program provides favorable terms to the SFPUC, including up to 30-year amortizing loan terms which commence one year following project completion, an interest rate on each SRF Loan that is equal to one-half of the true interest cost for the State's most recent general obligation bond issue at the time such loan is entered into, and repayment of the SRF Loans on a parity with the Bonds rather than on a basis senior to the Bonds. The SRF Loan Program offers loans to applicant entities based on available moneys and placement on a statewide priority list. SRF Loan Program moneys are disbursed on a cost-incurred basis pursuant to disbursement requests submitted by the SFPUC under the SRF Loan documents. Although placement on the priority list is a necessary condition to receiving SRF Loan Program moneys, such placement does not create an obligation on the part of the applicant to accept SRF Loan Program moneys.

In connection with the SFPUC's Wastewater Enterprise, the following table sets forth the SRF Loans that the SFPUC has entered into pursuant to the State's SRF Loan Program, the SRF Loan commitment amount, the disbursement amount requested and received as of March 1, 2023, the interest rate, the estimated/actual project completion date and the estimated loan repayment commencement date.

(1) SRF Loan Program moneys are disbursed on a cost-incurred basis pursuant to disbursement requests submitted by the SFPUC.

(2) SRF Loans amortize over a 30-year term commencing one year following completion of the project. The North Point Facility Outfall Rehabilitation Project was completed on July 19, 2018; however, loan repayment for such project commenced February 28, 2019.

(3) Actual project completion date for the Lake Merced Green Infrastructure Project, Southeast Treatment Plant 521/522 and Disinfection Upgrade Project, Southeast Treatment Plant Primary/Secondary Clarifier Upgrade Project and North Point Facility Outfall Rehabilitation Project; repayment schedules have been established and repayments have commenced for these projects. Projected project completion date for the Southeast Water Pollution Control Plant Biosolids Digester Facilities Project, OSP Digester Gas Utilization Upgrade Project, and Southeast Plant New Headworks (Grit) Replacement.

In December 2021, the SFPUC applied for two additional SRF Loans to finance the Wawona Area Stormwater Improvement Project (the "Wawona Project"), estimated to cost approximately $45 million, and the New Treasure Island Wastewater Treatment Project (the "Treasure Island Project"), estimated to cost approximately $202.2 million. On October 3, 2022, the State Water Resources Control Board approved proposed changes to the Clean Water State Revolving Fund Intended Use Plan for State Fiscal Year 2022-23, which includes a list of projects that the Division of Financial Assistance anticipates funding (the "2022-23 Fundable List"). The 2022-23 Fundable List includes, among others, full funding for the Wawona Project ($40 million loan and $5 million grant), and partial funding in the amount of $65 million for the Treasure Island Project ($50 million loan and $15 million grant). Inclusion on the 2022-23 Fundable List does not, however, constitute a financing commitment, a guarantee that sufficient funds from the anticipated sources of funds will be available, or a determination of eligibility. Any such funding would take the form of a loan from the State Water Resources Control Board to the SFPUC, constituting a Parity Loan. The SFPUC is working with the State Water Resources Control Board to obtain approval of the SRF applications for these projects and negotiate loan terms. If approved by the State Water Resources Control Board, the SFPUC anticipates that SRF Loans for the Wawona Project and the Treasure Island Project will close in Fiscal Year 2024-25.

The SFPUC has also applied for a WIFIA loan to potentially provide partial funding to the Wawona Project and the Treasure Island Project. For more information, see "– Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act Loans – Master Agreement and First Draw WIFIA Loan" below.

In December 2022, the SFPUC applied for an additional SRF Loan to finance the Folsom Stormwater Improvement Project (the "Folsom Project"), estimated to cost approximately $282 million. The SFPUC anticipates that the State Water Resources Control Board will release the list of new projects selected for State fiscal year 2023-24 (the "2023-24 Fundable List") in spring 2023. Inclusion on the 2023-24 Fundable List would not, however, constitute a financing commitment, a guarantee that sufficient funds from the anticipated sources of funds will be available, or a determination of eligibility. Any such funding would take the form of a loan from the State Water Resources Control Board to the SFPUC, constituting a Parity Loan.

The SFPUC has covenanted in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture not to enter into state loans payable on a basis senior to the Bonds.

Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act Loans

Biosolids Digester Facilities Project. In July 2018, the SFPUC entered into the WIFIA Loan Agreement, dated as of July 27, 2018 (the "Original BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement"), with the EPA, acting by and through the WIFIA Lender, pursuant to which the WIFIA Lender agreed to make a loan to the SFPUC in an amount not to exceed $699,242,023 to finance eligible costs of the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project to be located at the Southeast Treatment Plant (the "BDFP WIFIA Loan"). The BDFP WIFIA Loan does not constitute a "Parity Loan" under the Indenture. Instead, to evidence its repayment obligation pursuant to the BDFP WIFIA Loan to the EPA, the SFPUC issued a parity Bond under the Ninth Supplemental Indenture, dated as of July 27, 2018 (the "Ninth Supplemental Indenture"), between the SFPUC and the Trustee. In June 2020, the SFPUC and the WIFIA Lender agreed to make administrative revisions to the Original BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement and to enter into a new loan agreement (the "Revised BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement"). The Original BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement has been terminated and is no longer in full force and effect, and the Ninth Supplemental Indenture has been surrendered and cancelled by the SFPUC and the WIFIA Lender. Pursuant to the Revised BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement, the BDFP WIFIA Loan bears interest at a fixed rate of 1.45% and will mature no later than April 1, 2059. To evidence its repayment obligation pursuant to the BDFP WIFIA Loan to the EPA, the SFPUC issued a parity Bond (the "BDFP Bond") under the Eleventh Supplemental Indenture, dated as of June 12, 2020, between the SFPUC and the Trustee. As of the date of this Official Statement, the SFPUC has made one draw on the BDFP WIFIA Loan and the principal amount of the BDFP Bond is $122,282,824.93.

No payment of principal or interest on the BDFP WIFIA Loan is anticipated to be made prior to April 1, 2026. Prior to April 1, 2026, interest on the BDFP WIFIA Loan is expected to accrete and will be added to the outstanding principal balance of the BDFP Bond. From April 1, 2026, through April 1, 2043, only interest is expected to be payable on the BDFP WIFIA Loan. Principal of the BDFP WIFIA Loan is expected to be amortized commencing on April 1, 2043, and to continue through the final maturity date of the BDFP WIFIA Loan.

Southeast Treatment Plant Improvements Project. In June 2020, the SFPUC entered into the WIFIA Loan Agreement, dated as of June 12, 2020 (the "STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement" and, together with the Revised BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement, the "WIFIA Loan Agreements"), with the EPA, pursuant to which the WIFIA Lender agreed to make a loan to the SFPUC in an amount not to exceed $513,861,981 to finance eligible costs of the Southeast Treatment Plant Improvements Project (the "STPI WIFIA Loan" and, together with the BDFP WIFIA Loan, the "WIFIA Loans"). Pursuant to the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement, the STPI WIFIA Loan bears interest at a fixed rate of 1.45% and will mature no later than April 1, 2062. The STPI WIFIA Loan does not constitute a "Parity Loan" under the Indenture. Instead, to evidence its repayment obligation pursuant to the STPI WIFIA Loan to the EPA, the SFPUC issued a parity Bond (the "STPI Bond" and, together with the BDFP Bond, the "WIFIA Bonds") under the Tenth Supplemental Indenture, dated as of June 12, 2020, between the SFPUC and the Trustee. As of the date of this Official Statement, the SFPUC has not yet drawn on the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement and no principal amount of the STPI Bond is currently outstanding.

No payment of principal or interest on the STPI WIFIA Loan is anticipated to be made prior to April 1, 2032. Prior to April 1, 2032, interest on the STPI WIFIA Loan is expected to accrete and will be added to the outstanding principal balance of the STPI Bond. From April 1, 2032, through April 1, 2043, only interest is expected to be payable on the STPI WIFIA Loan. Principal of the STPI WIFIA Loan is expected to be amortized commencing on April 1, 2043, and to continue through the final maturity date of the STPI WIFIA Loan.

WIFIA Bonds. The BDFP Bond is and the STPI Bond will be payable from and secured by a pledge of Net Revenues on a parity with the Bonds.

The WIFIA Loan Agreements permit the SFPUC to draw under the respective WIFIA Loans from time to time, provided that such loans must be disbursed no later than one year following the substantial completion date of each project as set forth in the respective WIFIA Loan Agreements (May 1, 2024, for the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project, and July 26, 2027, for the Southeast Treatment Plant Improvements Project). Each draw is subject to the satisfaction of conditions, including without limitation, the delivery to the EPA of financial projections evidencing that the SFPUC will be able to satisfy its rate covenant for the current fiscal year and each of the next 10 fiscal years.

If an event of default occurs under a WIFIA Loan Agreement, the EPA may elect to suspend future disbursements of such WIFIA Loan, to terminate the capitalized interest period (thus causing interest to be payable on a current basis), to require the payment of a default interest rate (equal to such WIFIA Loan rate plus 200 basis points) and to institute legal action to enforce the provisions of such WIFIA Loan Agreement. However, the EPA cannot take any action, in law or in equity, which would affect the application of the Net Revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise or to accelerate the payment obligations under such WIFIA Bond except pursuant to the EPA's rights as a parity Bondholder under the Indenture.

No reserve account was established to secure the WIFIA Loans.

Conditions to Disbursements under WIFIA Loan Agreements. The ability of the SFPUC to obtain disbursements from the EPA under the WIFIA Loan Agreements is subject to several conditions, including the payment of certain fees, if applicable, and the delivery of certain documentation, including an updated financial plan, copies of financing and project documents, proof of insurance required under the respective WIFIA Loan Agreements and a requisition that contains certain representations of the SFPUC as of the disbursement date. The EPA is permitted to refuse to disburse amounts under the WIFIA Loan Agreements if the SFPUC fails to expend the proceeds of the 2021A Notes or the 2021B Notes on eligible costs and to deliver the appropriate documentation in connection with such expenditures.

In addition, the EPA is permitted to refuse disbursement upon the occurrence and continuance of certain events of default under the WIFIA Loan Agreements or the occurrence and continuance of events that would be an event of default with the passage of time and/or giving of notice. Such events include, among others (i) failure of the SFPUC to diligently pursue work on the applicable project or to achieve substantial completion of the applicable project by July 26, 2029, with respect to the STPI WIFIA Loan, or by May 1, 2026, with respect to the BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement; (ii) a default by the SFPUC under any of the principal contracts relating to the applicable project and the SFPUC fails to cure such default or replace the contract; (iii) the occurrence of a Bankruptcy Related Event (as defined in the WIFIA Loan Agreements) with respect to the counterparty to any of the principal contracts relating to the applicable project, unless such contract is replaced; (iv) abandonment of the applicable project by the SFPUC; (v) failure of the SFPUC to operate the applicable project for a continuous period of at least 180 days unless the cessation in operations is excused pursuant to the respective WIFIA Loan Agreements; (vi) a covenant default under the respective WIFIA Loan Agreements; (vii) misrepresentations made by the SFPUC under the respective WIFIA Loan Agreements or a document delivered in connection with the respective WIFIA Loan Agreements, (viii) acceleration of parity debt or a default under documents relating to the SFPUC's parity debt; (ix) one or more judgments for the payment of money that in the aggregate exceed $50 million or would cause a Material Adverse Effect (as defined under the WIFIA Loan Agreements) are rendered against the SFPUC, and such judgment(s) are unpaid for a period of 30 consecutive days or for which an action has been legally taken by a judgment creditor to attach or levy upon the SFPUC's assets for the enforcement of such judgment(s); (x) the SFPUC fails to maintain its existence; (xi) a Bankruptcy Related Event (as defined under the WIFIA Loan Agreements) with respect to the SFPUC occurs; (xii) the respective WIFIA Loans or documents related to the respective WIFIA Loans are no longer valid; (xiii) failure to comply with the rate covenant set forth in the Indenture; (xiv) failure by the SFPUC to construct the respective projects consistent with government approvals or good engineering practices or failure to comply with applicable federal or local law; (xv) occurrence of a Material Adverse Effect (as defined in the WIFIA Loan Agreement), or an event or condition that could reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect; or (xvi) failure to comply with certain other provisions of the WIFIA Loan Agreement (such as the maintenance of insurance).

Master Agreement and First Draw WIFIA Loan. In addition to the BDFP WIFIA Loan and the STPI WIFIA Loan, the SFPUC has applied for another WIFIA loan from the EPA to finance certain Wastewater Enterprise capital improvement projects in the amount of approximately $791.3 million. The SFPUC expects to enter into a master loan agreement (the "WIFIA Master Agreement") with the EPA in April 2023. Subject to the terms of the WIFIA Master Agreement, the SFPUC intends to enter into a series of loans, with the first loan anticipated to be executed (the "First Draw WIFIA Loan Agreement") in April 2023 for approximately $369.3 million (the "First Draw WIFIA Loan") to partially finance six capital improvement projects (including, among others, a portion of the Wawona Project and the Treasure Island Project for which the SFPUC has applied for SRF Loans as described under "– Parity Loans."). The SFPUC does not expect that the First Draw WIFIA Loan will constitute a "Parity Loan" under the Indenture. Instead, the SFPUC expects to issue a parity Bond under the Indenture to evidence its repayment obligation pursuant to the First Draw WIFIA Loan to the EPA. The SFPUC expects that the terms and provisions of the WIFIA Master Agreement and the First Draw WIFIA Loan Agreement will be comparable to the terms and provisions of the Revised BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement and the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement, as described above.

Contingent Payment Obligations

The Wastewater Enterprise has no interest rate swaps, caps or hedges or other contingent payment obligations payable from Net Revenues. The Wastewater Enterprise may in the future, however, incur contingent payment obligations payable from Net Revenues. Such contingent payment obligations may be payable on a parity with the Bonds if the conditions for the issuance of parity debt under the Indenture are met. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Additional Series of Bonds," and "– Additional Parity Loans."

Subordinate Debt and Interim Funding Program

No Limits on Subordinate Debt. The SFPUC may issue bonds or incur other indebtedness secured by a pledge of Net Revenues on a basis subordinate to the pledge thereof securing the Bonds, without limitation.

Interim Funding Program. The SFPUC has established an Interim Funding Program (the "Interim Funding Program") (formerly known as the "Commercial Paper Program") to fund construction costs relating to Wastewater Enterprise capital projects.

The Interim Funding Program is authorized for the Wastewater Enterprise in the amount of $750 million. Of this amount, $675 million is authorized for the SFPUC to issue commercial paper notes (the "Commercial Paper Notes") secured by five bank credit facilities, as set forth below:

Credit Facility	Bank	Amount	Stated Expiration Date
Letter of Credit	Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corporation, acting through its New York Branch	$150 million	March 7, 2024
Letter of Credit	Bank of America, N.A.	$150 million	April 24, 2023[(1)]
Revolving Credit and Term Loan Agreement	TD Bank, N.A.	$75 million	July 6, 2027
Revolving Credit and Term Loan Agreement	State Street Bank and Trust Company	$200 million	October 13, 2023
Letter of Credit	Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corporation, acting through its New York Branch	$100 million	May 31, 2027

(1) The SFPUC expects to enter into an amendment to a reimbursement agreement with Bank of America, N.A., extending the stated expiration date of the letter of credit, on or around April 21, 2023.

The remaining $75 million of the Interim Funding Program is in the form of a bank revolving credit agreement with U.S. Bank National Association (the "U.S. Bank Credit Facility"), with a stated expiration date of July 18, 2024. The revolving credit agreement permits the SFPUC to make draws directly on the bank, with the SFPUC's payment obligation evidenced by a tax-exempt revolving note (the "Revolving Notes").

The Commercial Paper Notes and the Revolving Notes are payable from Net Revenues, and are secured on a parity lien basis with each other. The Commercial Paper Notes and the Revolving Notes, collectively, are secured on a basis subordinate to the payment of debt service on the Bonds (including the Parity Loans and the WIFIA Bonds).

As of March 28, 2023, the SFPUC had approximately $556.1 million principal amount of Commercial Paper Notes outstanding and no outstanding principal balance on any of the Revolving Notes. Approximately $400.9 million principal amount of and interest on the Commercial Paper Notes will be refunded with proceeds of the 2023A Bonds, and approximately $156.9 million principal amount of and interest on the Commercial Paper Notes will be refunded with proceeds of the 2023B Bonds.

Other Subordinate Obligations Payable from Net Revenues

The SFPUC completed the construction of a 13-story office building at 525 Golden Gate Avenue in San Francisco to house the administrative offices of the SFPUC's three utility enterprises and moved into the building in 2012. Total project costs were approximately $202 million and were financed with land and property sale proceeds, fund balances, grants and the proceeds of certificates of participation (the "2009 Golden Gate COPs"), representing interests in a City General Fund lease, executed and delivered in two series (one of which constitutes Build America Bonds) on October 7, 2009, in the aggregate principal amount of $167,670,000. Pursuant to a memorandum of understanding between the City and the SFPUC, the SFPUC will reimburse the City General Fund for all debt service in connection with this City financing (net of Refundable Credits received). The final maturity date on the 2009 Golden Gate COPs is November 1, 2041. As of March 1, 2023, the principal amount outstanding of the 2009 Golden Gate COPs was $129.6 million. The SFPUC allocates such payment obligations internally among its three utility enterprises based on percentage usage. The Wastewater Enterprise is currently responsible for 18.88% of such obligations, payable from Net Revenues on a basis subordinate to the payment of principal of and interest on the Bonds.

Revenue Bond Oversight Committee

On November 5, 2002, San Francisco voters adopted Proposition P, an ordinance that established the Public Utilities Revenue Bond Oversight Committee ("RBOC") to report publicly to the Mayor, the SFPUC and the Board of Supervisors regarding the expenditure of revenue bond proceeds on the repair, replacement, upgrading and expansion of the Wastewater Enterprise, the Water Enterprise, and the Power Enterprise (each as defined herein).

The RBOC has seven members appointed as follows: two by the Mayor, two by the Board of Supervisors, one by the City Controller, one by the Bay Area Water Users Association under the auspices of the Bay Area Water Supply and Conservation Agency. The seventh member is the City's Budget Analyst or their representative. The work of the RBOC is funded by 1/20th of 1% of the gross bond proceeds of new money revenue bond issuances or sales to the extent permitted by law. The RBOC's current term expires on January 1, 2025.

The RBOC may, by majority vote of all its members, prohibit the issuance or sale of authorized SFPUC revenue bonds which have yet to be issued or sold if, after reviewing materials provided by the SFPUC and conducting its own independent audit, and after consultation with the City Attorney, the RBOC determines that revenue bond proceeds have been or are being spent on purposes not authorized by the authorizing bond resolution or otherwise in a manner amounting to an illegal expenditure or illegal waste of such revenue bond proceeds. The SFPUC may appeal such a decision to the Board of Supervisors within 30 days. The Board of Supervisors may overturn such a decision by the RBOC by a two-thirds vote of all members of the Board of Supervisors with evidence from the SFPUC of corrective measures satisfactory to the Board of Supervisors or may remand the decision to the RBOC for further consideration. To date, the RBOC has not prohibited the issuance or sale of any authorized SFPUC revenue bonds.

THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION IS PROVIDED FOR CONVENIENCE ONLY. THE GENERAL FUND OF THE CITY IS NOT LIABLE FOR THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF, PREMIUM, IF ANY, OR INTEREST ON THE 2023ABC BONDS, AND NEITHER THE CREDIT NOR THE TAXING POWER OF THE CITY IS PLEDGED TO THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF, PREMIUM, IF ANY, OR INTEREST ON THE 2023ABC BONDS. General. San Francisco is the economic and cultural center of the San Francisco Bay Area and northern California. The limits of San Francisco encompass over 93 square miles, of which 49 square miles are land, with the balance consisting of tidelands and a portion of the San Francisco Bay (the "Bay"). San Francisco is located at the northern tip of the San Francisco Peninsula, bounded by the Pacific Ocean to the west, the Bay and the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge to the east, the entrance to the Bay and the Golden Gate Bridge to the north, and San Mateo County to the south. Silicon Valley is about a 40-minute drive to the south, and the Napa-Sonoma wine country is about an hour's drive to the north. The City estimates San Francisco's population in fiscal year 2021-22 was 804,534.

The San Francisco Bay Area consists of the nine counties contiguous to the Bay: Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano and Sonoma Counties (collectively, the "Bay Area"). The economy of the Bay Area includes a wide range of industries, supplying local needs as well as the needs of national and international markets. Major business sectors in the Bay Area include technology, retail, entertainment and the arts, conventions and tourism, service businesses, banking, professional and financial services, corporate headquarters, international and wholesale trade, multimedia and advertising, healthcare and higher education. The California State Supreme Court is also based in San Francisco.

The COVID-19 pandemic materially adversely affected the City's population, finances and operations. Many aspects of the City's future finances and operations and the local economy have been and may continue to be materially adversely impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. To date, City economic and tax revenue losses associated with the COVID-19 pandemic have been significant. While COVID-19 case rates have significantly declined, vaccination rates have increased, certain emergency orders have been lifted, and the national and local economy has been improving, the situation is still developing and the resulting impact on the City's local economy, population, finances and operations remains unknown. For information regarding the impact of COVID-19 on the SFPUC, see "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments."

San Francisco has historically been a major convention and tourist destination. However, the COVID-19 pandemic has significantly adversely impacted, and may continue to adversely impact tourism and convention activities in San Francisco. According to the San Francisco Travel Association, a nonprofit membership organization ("SFTA"), approximately 17.1 million tourists visited San Francisco in calendar year 2021, approximately 11.8 million tourists visited San Francisco in calendar year 2020 and approximately 26.3 million tourists visited San Francisco in calendar year 2019. SFTA also estimates that total spending, including spending from conventions, trade shows and group meetings, was $3.69 billion in calendar year 2021, $2.85 billion in calendar year 2020 and $10.29 billion in calendar year 2019.

San Francisco is also a leading center for financial activity in California. The headquarters of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District and the Eleventh District Federal Home Loan Bank are located in San Francisco.

San Francisco benefits from a highly skilled, educated and professional labor force. The City estimates the per-capita personal income of San Francisco for fiscal year 2020-21 was $173,097. The San Francisco Unified School District ("SFUSD"), which is a separate legal entity from the City, operates 73 elementary schools, 13 middle schools, 17 high schools, 47 early education schools, and 3 County and Court schools. Higher education institutions located in San Francisco include the University of San Francisco, California State University – San Francisco, University of California – San Francisco (a medical school and health science campus), UC College of the Law, San Francisco (formerly University of California Hastings College of the Law), the University of the Pacific's School of Dentistry, Golden Gate University, City College of San Francisco (a public community college), the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, and the Academy of Art University.

San Francisco International Airport ("SFO"), located 14 miles south of downtown San Francisco in an unincorporated area of San Mateo County, is owned by the City and is operated by the San Francisco Airport Commission (the "Airport Commission"), and is the principal commercial service airport for the Bay Area and one of the nation's principal gateways for Pacific Rim traffic. As discussed above, the COVID-19 pandemic has significantly adversely impacted tourism and travel in the San Francisco Bay Area. In fiscal year 2021-22, SFO served approximately 34.9 million passengers (compared to approximately 13.7 million passengers in fiscal year 2020-21, 40.5 million passengers in fiscal year 2019-20 and 57 million passengers in fiscal year 2018-19) and handled 545,335 metric tons of cargo (compared to 471,793 metric tons in fiscal year 2020-21, 490,073 metric tons in fiscal year 2019-20 and 564,485 metric tons in fiscal year 2018-19). San Francisco is also served by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District ("BART," an electric rail commuter service linking San Francisco with the East Bay and the San Francisco Peninsula, including SFO), Caltrain (a conventional commuter rail line linking the City with the San Francisco Peninsula), and bus and ferry services between San Francisco and residential areas to the north, east and south of San Francisco. San Francisco Municipal Railway ("Muni"), operated by the San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency ("SFMTA"), provides bus and streetcar service within San Francisco (although since fiscal year 2019-20, telecommuting resulting from emergency stay-at-home orders caused ridership into and within San Francisco to decline significantly compared to pre-pandemic levels). The Port of San Francisco (the "Port"), which administers 7.5 miles of Bay waterfront held in "public trust" by the Port on behalf of the people of California, promotes a balance of maritime-related commerce, fishing, recreational, industrial and commercial activities, and natural resource protection.

Government. San Francisco is a city and county chartered pursuant to Article XI, Sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the Constitution of the State of California and is the only consolidated city and county in California. Voters approved the City's current Charter at the November 1995 election. The City is governed by a Board of Supervisors elected from 11 districts to serve four-year terms, and a Mayor who serves as chief executive officer, elected citywide to a four-year term. The City's original budget for fiscal years 2022-23 and 2023-24 totals $14.0 billion and $13.9 billion, respectively. The General Fund portion of the original proposed budget is $6.8 billion in fiscal year 2022-23 and $6.9 billion in fiscal year 2023-24, with the balance allocated to all other funds, including enterprise fund departments, such as the Airport Commission, SFMTA, the Port Commission and the SFPUC. According to the City's Controller, at the start of fiscal year 2022-23, total net assessed valuation of taxable property in San Francisco was approximately $328.5 billion.

THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION

General

The SFPUC is a department of the City responsible for the maintenance, operation and development of three utility enterprises: the Wastewater Enterprise, the Water Enterprise and the Power Enterprise (which is a component of Hetch Hetchy Water and Power). The SFPUC's enterprises are operated and managed as separate financial entities with separate enterprise funds.

- The Wastewater Enterprise provides wastewater and stormwater collection, treatment and disposal services for the City.

- The Water Enterprise provides drinking water to retail customers in San Francisco, to certain retail customers outside San Francisco and to wholesale customers in three other Bay Area counties (the "Water Enterprise").

- Hetch Hetchy Water and Power operates dams (including O'Shaughnessy Dam), reservoirs (including Hetch Hetchy Reservoir), hydroelectric generation and transmission facilities and water transmission facilities from Hetch Hetchy Valley to the connection with the Water Enterprise (collectively, the "Hetch Hetchy Project"). In addition, Hetch Hetchy Water and Power provides hydroelectric, solar and other power for municipal and public infrastructure, services and facilities (the "Power Enterprise"). CleanPowerSF ("CleanPowerSF"), managed by the Power Enterprise, is a Community Choice Aggregation program.

The revenues of the Water Enterprise, the Power Enterprise and CleanPowerSF are not available for payment of the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Pledge of Net Revenues."

Organization, Purposes and Powers

Wastewater Enterprise. The Wastewater Enterprise's collection and treatment system consists of a combined sewer collection system conveying sewage and stormwater flows within San Francisco to three water pollution control plants, also located within San Francisco. Treated effluent flows are then discharged through deep-water outfalls into the San Francisco Bay and Pacific Ocean. The Wastewater Enterprise also currently provides sewage treatment service on Treasure Island pursuant to contract, and operates an onsite sewage and stormwater reclamation and treatment facility at the SFPUC headquarters at 525 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California. See "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE."

Water Enterprise. Nearly 2.7 million people rely on water supplied by the SFPUC to meet their daily water needs through its Water Enterprise. The SFPUC serves as the retail water supplier for San Francisco and is responsible for water deliveries to residents and institutions within San Francisco city limits, as well as to a number of retail accounts outside of San Francisco city limits. In addition, the SFPUC sells water to 27 wholesale customer entities in San Mateo, Alameda and Santa Clara Counties under contractual agreements.

The revenues of the Water Enterprise are not "Revenues" under the Indenture and do not secure the payment of the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS - Pledge of Net Revenues."

Hetch Hetchy – Water and Power Operations. Hetch Hetchy Water and Power operates the dams (among them O'Shaughnessy Dam being the largest), reservoirs (among them Hetch Hetchy Reservoir being the largest), hydroelectric generation and transmission facilities and water transmission facilities from Hetch Hetchy Valley to the connection with the Water Enterprise, which provides water for distribution through the Water Enterprise and hydroelectric, solar and other power for municipal and public infrastructure, services and facilities of the City. The Power Enterprise, which is a component of the Hetch Hetchy Project, was created in 2005 as a separate system within Hetch Hetchy Water and Power. The Power Enterprise provides electric power to meet the municipal requirements of the City, including power to operate municipal streetcars and electric buses, street and traffic lights, municipal buildings and other City facilities, including SFO. Additionally, the Power Enterprise provides power to the Modesto Irrigation District and Turlock Irrigation District, located in the central valley of California, and to certain commercial customers consistent with prescribed contractual obligations and federal law and to certain retail customers in San Francisco. CleanPowerSF, managed by the Power Enterprise, is a Community Choice Aggregation program, pursuant to which the SFPUC pools the electricity demands of CleanPowerSF customers, including certain of the City's residents and businesses, for the purpose of buying electricity on behalf of such customers. CleanPowerSF provides San Francisco with new clean energy alternatives at competitive rates.

In September 2019, in connection with the bankruptcy of Pacific Gas & Electric Company ("PG&E") and PG&E Corporation, the City submitted a non-binding indication of interest to purchase substantially all of PG&E's electric distribution and transmission assets needed to provide retail electric service to all electricity customers within the geographic boundaries of San Francisco. PG&E emerged from bankruptcy on July 1, 2020. The City subsequently submitted a second non-binding indication of interest in September 2020. The City remains interested in acquiring these assets from PG&E, and on July 27, 2021, submitted a request to the California Public Utilities Commission to establish the value of PG&E's assets the City intends to acquire. A transaction has not been consummated, and the City and the SFPUC are unable to predict whether a transaction will be consummated or the final terms thereof if consummated.

The revenues of the Power Enterprise and the revenues of CleanPowerSF are not "Revenues" under the Indenture and do not secure the payment of the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Pledge of Net Revenues."

Commission Members

Under the Charter, the SFPUC is given exclusive charge of the operation and management of all water, wastewater and municipal customers' energy supplies and utilities of the City as well as the real, personal and financial assets under the SFPUC's jurisdiction. Management

Management of the SFPUC is led by the General Manager. The General Manager is appointed by the Mayor from candidates submitted by the Commission. Once appointed by the Mayor, the General Manager serves at the pleasure of the Commission; however, the Commission also has Charter authority to employ the General Manager under an individual contract.

Brief biographies of the General Manager and principal members of the senior management of the SFPUC are set forth below.

Dennis J. Herrera. Dennis J. Herrera commenced serving as the General Manager of the SFPUC on November 1, 2021. Prior to his appointment, Mr. Herrera had been re-elected in November 2019 to a four-year term as City Attorney for the City and County of San Francisco. Mr. Herrera was first elected City Attorney in December 2001. Before becoming City Attorney, Mr. Herrera had been a partner in a private law firm and had served in the Clinton Administration as Chief of Staff of the United States Maritime Administration. He also served as president of the San Francisco Police Commission and was a member of the San Francisco Public Transportation Commission. Mr. Herrera earned a B.A. from Villanova University and a J.D. from George Washington School of Law.

Mr. Norby has over 20 years of experience in private sector water infrastructure engineering and public utility management, most recently as General Manager of the Ross Valley Sanitary District. He also previously served as General Manager of the Mammoth Community Water District. He is a licensed professional engineer with a B.S. in Civil Engineering California State University, Chico, and an M.S. in Civil Engineering from Utah State University.

Masood Ordikhani. Masood Ordikhani serves as the Assistant General Manager, External Affairs and Chief Strategy Officer for the SFPUC. Previously, he served as the SFPUC's first Chief Equity and Innovation Officer, leading the agency's racial equity work. Prior to that role, he was the Director of Workforce and Economic Program Services within the SFPUC's Infrastructure Division. During his tenure in that role, Mr. Ordikhani and his team have developed and delivered several nationally-recognized programs. Prior to joining the SFPUC, Mr. Ordikhani was the Deputy Director of the City's Human Rights Commission. In addition, prior to his more than 14 years of public service, he was an attorney in private practice. He is a graduate of the University of California, Berkeley and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

Ms. Hale provides strategic advice on energy policy matters to the General Manager and manages a staff responsible for developing specific energy efficiency projects and renewable and other advanced sources of electrical generation. Ms. Hale also acts as liaison between the SFPUC and State and federal agencies responsible for energy policy, such as the California Public Utilities Commission, the California Energy Commission, the California Power Authority, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, and the United States Department of Energy. Ms. Hale graduated cum laude from San Francisco State University with a B.A. in Economics, receiving special recognition for high achievement with the Department Honors Award. Ms. Hale has pursued extensive graduate coursework in Applied Economics.

Stephen Robinson. Stephen Robinson is the Assistant General Manager for Infrastructure, where he is responsible for capital programs and project implementation for SFPUC facilities, including the Water System Improvement Program, the Sewer System Improvement Program, and the Hetchy Capital Improvement Program. Previously, he was the Director of the Wastewater Enterprise Capital Program for SFPUC's Infrastructure Division. He is a Professional Civil Engineer and a UK Chartered Civil Engineer with over two decades of planning, design, construction, and management experience in the water/wastewater sector. Prior to joining SFPUC, Mr. Robinson worked with MWH/Stantec as a consultant and served in the British Army as a Royal Engineer Captain. Mr. Robinson has a master's degree in Civil Engineering and Management from the Queens University of Belfast, Northern Ireland.

Steven R. Ritchie. Steven Ritchie is the Assistant General Manager of the Water Enterprise, responsible for overseeing water system operations and planning from the Hetch Hetchy Project through the Regional Water System to the City Distribution Division. He is also responsible for the management of the SFPUC's lands and natural resources. Mr. Ritchie was the Manager of Planning at the SFPUC from 1995 to 1998. Prior to his current assignment, he managed the South Bay Salt Pond Restoration Project, a multi-agency effort to restore 15,100 acres of valuable habitat in South San Francisco Bay, while providing for flood risk management and public access. In addition, Mr. Ritchie has worked at management positions at the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board (1987-1995), the CalFed Bay Delta Program (1998-2000), and URS consultants (2000-2004). He has a B.S. and M.S. in Civil Engineering from Stanford University.

Ongoing Investigation

In January 2020, the City's former Director of Public Works, Mohammad Nuru, was criminally charged with public corruption, including honest services wire fraud and lying to Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") agents. In February 2020, then-City Attorney Dennis Herrera and Controller Ben Rosenfield announced the initiation of a joint investigation stemming from the federal criminal charges against Mr. Nuru. The City Attorney's Office focused on holding public officials and City vendors accountable. The Controller undertook a public integrity review of contracts, purchase orders, and grants to the City.

Mr. Nuru resigned from employment with the City in February 2020. In January 2022, Mr. Nuru pled guilty to taking bribes from contractors, developers, and entities he regulated, including bribes from Walter Wong, a San Francisco construction company executive and permit expediting consultant, who ran or controlled multiple entities doing business with the City. In August 2022, the district court judge sentenced Mr. Nuru to 84 months in prison.

Mr. Wong was criminally charged in June 2020 with conspiring with City officials and laundering money. As part of the criminal investigation into Mr. Nuru and Mr. Wong, the SFPUC received a federal, criminal, grand jury subpoena in June 2020 for the production of documents, communications, contracts and records, including the complete personnel file of the SFPUC's former General Manager, Harlan L. Kelly, Jr.

In November 2020, Mr. Kelly was charged in a criminal complaint with one count of honest services wire fraud. The complaint alleged that Mr. Kelly also engaged in a long-running bribery scheme and corrupt partnership with Mr. Wong. The complaint further alleged that as part of the scheme, Mr. Wong provided items of value to Mr. Kelly in exchange for official acts by Mr. Kelly that benefited or attempted to benefit Mr. Wong's business ventures. According to the criminal complaint against Mr. Kelly, Mr. Wong bribed Mr. Kelly with thousands of dollars in airfare, meals, jewelry, and travel expenses, as well as by making improvements to Mr. Kelly's home.

Mr. Wong pled guilty in July 2020 and continues to cooperate with the ongoing federal criminal investigation. Mr. Wong has not been sentenced.

Mr. Wong settled civilly with the City in May 2021. As part of his civil settlement, he and his companies agreed to pay the City more than $300,000 in ethics fines and more than $1 million in restitution. The total restitution amount to the City includes $73,000 that he received through the SFPUC when Mr. Kelly was General Manager.

Mr. Kelly resigned from employment with the City, effective November 30, 2020. Michael Carlin, former-Deputy General Manager of the SFPUC, then served as the Acting General Manager of the SFPUC through October 31, 2021. Mr. Herrera began serving as General Manager of the SFPUC on November 1, 2021.

Since Mr. Nuru's arrest in January 2020, the Controller's Office, in consultation with the City Attorney, has issued 11 public integrity reviews, all of which can be found on the Controller's website. Ten of the 11 reports focus primarily on City departments other than the SFPUC. The Controller's Office's December 9, 2021, Public Integrity Audit looked specifically at SFPUC's Social Impact Partnership Program and made seven recommendations to strengthen internal controls and oversight. The SFPUC concurred with all seven of those recommendations, and as of December 2022, five of the seven recommendations had been implemented and two were in progress.

In October 2021, a criminal grand jury returned an indictment against Mr. Kelly and Victor Makras, a San Francisco real estate broker and property developer. Mr. Makras formerly served on a number of City boards and commissions, including the Port Commission, Police Commission, Public Utilities Commission, and Retirement Board. In addition to the original charges against Mr. Kelly of conspiracy with Mr. Wong, the indictment added charges of bank fraud and bank fraud conspiracy related to a $1.3 million loan Mr. Kelly obtained from Quicken Loans.

Mr. Makras' case was severed from Mr. Kelly's, and in August 2022, a jury convicted Mr. Makras of bank fraud for his role in making false statements to the bank in support of the loan to Mr. Kelly. In December 2022, Mr. Makras was sentenced to three years of probation and fined $15,200.

Mr. Kelly's trial is set to begin on June 26, 2023. The FBI investigation is ongoing, and the City can give no assurance when the FBI will complete its investigation.

COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments

General. The COVID-19 pandemic and certain developments in the local San Francisco economy have impacted the Wastewater Enterprise's financial condition and operations in recent years. Such developments include, but are not limited to, a general decline in San Francisco's daytime population (which includes people who work but do not live within San Francisco) and nighttime (resident) population due to, among other factors, business closures, worker migration out of San Francisco as a result of permissive remote work policies, a general decline in tourism, unemployment concentrated recently in the tech-heavy information and professional and business services sectors, and supply chain and labor market disruption, each of which resulted in reduced water usage or increased costs and can be attributable in some part to the COVID-19 pandemic. Water usage has also been impacted by the recent drought and actions taken in response thereto. The following sections briefly describe such developments and the combined impacts of such developments on the Wastewater Enterprise's financial condition.

Decline in Water Usage. Billed sewer discharge volumes are based on metered water usage, so lower than anticipated water usage results in lower than anticipated revenues. In Fiscal Year 2018-19, retail water usage was approximately 59.6 million gallons per day ("mgd"). In Fiscal Year 2021-22, retail water usage was approximately 52.7 mgd, or 12% lower than Fiscal Year 2018-19 levels. Although water usage has been on a generally upward trend since May 2020, it has not reached pre-pandemic levels. The impact on the water usage of particular Wastewater Enterprise customers has varied considerably. Water usage by residential customers was only modestly affected, for example, while water usage by commercial users were as much as 35% below pre-pandemic levels.

Population Decline. According to the United States Census Bureau, in calendar year 2019, prior to the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, the daytime population in San Francisco was 1,150,041 people and the nighttime (resident) population was 881,549 people. In calendar year 2021 (most recent data available from the United States Census Bureau), the daytime population decreased by 18.2% to 940,211 people and the nighttime population (resident) population decreased by 7.5% to 815,201 people. See also "Table 5 – City and County of San Francisco Population – Calendar Years 2017 to 2021." While comparable data is not yet available from the United States Census Bureau for calendar year 2022, reports from the California Department of Finance, Demographic Research Unit, show a 0.5% decline in the resident population between July 2021 and July 2022.

Recent Drought. In October 2021, Governor Newsom expanded his drought state of emergency proclamation to include, among other counties, San Francisco. The SFPUC declared a water shortage emergency, called for a 10% voluntary water reduction across its service territory in November 2021, and increased the call for conservation to 11% in May 2022. The percentage reduction is shared between retail and wholesale water customers. Retail water customers are currently requested to voluntarily conserve water by 5% as compared to Fiscal Year 2019-20 consumption levels. The call for conservation triggered the imposition of a drought surcharge of 5% on the volumetric portion of retail water and wastewater rates, which went into effect in April 2022. The drought surcharge is expected to end when the SFPUC rescinds the water shortage emergency declaration. For financial planning purposes, the SFPUC forecasts that the drought surcharge will remain in place through at least Fiscal Year 2023-24. However, in light of recent rainfall and improved reservoir levels, the SFPUC plans to evaluate the final snowpack and State orders in April 2023 before taking any actions to end the water shortage emergency declaration. Notably, water usage is expected to increase when the call for conservation ends, offsetting the revenue loss from the elimination of the drought surcharge.

Collections and Delinquencies. In 2020, in anticipation that an increased number of its customers would face financial challenges in paying their utility bills due to COVID-19, the SFPUC developed emergency response measures to provide relief to customers, including suspending water shutoffs due to late payments for nonresidential customers and certain residential customers, postponing liens and collections, waiving late fees and providing rental payment deferments for tenants of its facilities. In addition, the SFPUC established a temporary emergency customer assistance program for customers whose income has been impacted by COVID-19 or the City's stay-at-home orders. The temporary program, which ended March 31, 2022, provided eligible residential and small business customers a 35% and 20% wastewater bill credit, respectively. Approximately $2.6 million and $1.8 million in COVID-19 emergency discounts were provided to Wastewater Enterprise customers for Fiscal Years 2020-21 and 2021-22, respectively. These discounts were funded from various sources, including a one-time grant of approximately $4.4 million from the State in Fiscal Year 2021-22 to fund both the standard and emergency customer assistance program during the pandemic. In February 2022, the SFPUC updated the permanent Customer Assistance Program ("CAP"), originally launched in 2004, to provide eligible residential customers a 25% discount off wastewater charges. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges – Residential Users" for a description of CAP and other residential customer assistance programs offered by the SFPUC.

The number of delinquent accounts, particularly among residential accounts, has grown significantly since March 2020. From March 2020 to April 2022, the number of wastewater accounts with delinquent bills more than 90 days past due increased from 1,712 to 7,110 for single-family residential customers and almost tripled from 624 to 1,714 for commercial customers. As of December 2022, Wastewater Enterprise customers with delinquent amounts for more than 90 days totaled approximately $8.7 million, including approximately $1.5 million in outstanding tax liens and balances forwarded to the City's Bureau of Delinquent Revenue.

Operations and Maintenance Costs. COVID-19 has had a modestly negative impact on the operation and maintenance costs of the Wastewater Enterprise. The direct impacts of COVID-19 on the operations and maintenance costs of the Wastewater Enterprise in Fiscal Years 2020-21 and 2021-22 were approximately $1.7 million and $0.3 million, respectively, for additional salary and fringe benefit expenses, personal protective equipment and other expenses. The SFPUC anticipates that such operation and maintenance costs relating to COVID-19 will be lower in Fiscal Year 2022-23.

Impact on Net Revenues. The Net Revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise have been influenced by a variety of factors, only some of which have been attributable to COVID-19 and conservation related to the recent drought. The overall Net Revenues of the Wastewater Enterprise have declined since March 2020. Net Revenues in Fiscal Years 2019-20, 2020-21 and 2021-22 were $166.1 million, $108.4 million and $155.5 million, respectively. While sewer service revenues were impacted by decreases in sanitary flows (approximately 6% below budget in Fiscal Year 2020-21 and 5% below budget in Fiscal Year 2021-22), such decreases were mostly offset by previously adopted rate increases. The 5% drought surcharge on the volumetric portion of retail water and wastewater rates, which was only in effect for two months in Fiscal Year 2021-22, had a minimal impact on sewer service revenues. Other factors affecting Net Revenues include a decrease in interest earnings and higher expenses for capital projects in Fiscal Years 2020-21 and 2021-22. See "HISTORICAL OPERATING RESULTS."

2024 Rate Study. These recent developments have been factored into the SFPUC's current 2024 Rate Study (as defined and further described herein), which will set forth recommended wastewater rates for the three-year period of Fiscal Year 2023-24 through Fiscal Year 2025-26. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges – 2024 Water and Wastewater Cost of Service Study."

Risk Factors. No assurances can be given that the Wastewater Enterprise's financial results or operations will not be materially and adversely affected by the COVID-19 pandemic or subsequent pandemics and their consequences in the future. See also "RISK FACTORS – Pandemics; COVID-19 Pandemic."

Employee Relations

San Francisco. The City's budget for fiscal years 2022-23 and 2023-24 included approximately 39,813 and 40,028 full-time and part-time budgeted and funded City positions, respectively. City workers are represented by 36 different labor unions. The largest unions in the City include the International Federation of Professional and Technical Engineers, Local 21 ("IFPTE"), which represent Wastewater Enterprise employees.

Wages, hours and working conditions of City employees, including employees of the SFPUC, are determined by collective bargaining pursuant to State law (the Meyers-Milias-Brown Act, California Government Code Sections 3500-3511) and the City Charter. San Francisco is unusual among California's cities and counties in that nearly all of its employees, including managerial and executive-level employees, are represented by labor organizations.

Further, the City Charter requires binding arbitration to resolve negotiations in the event of impasse. If impasse occurs, the parties are required to convene a tripartite arbitration panel, chaired by an impartial third-party arbitrator, which sets the disputed terms of the new agreement. The award of the arbitration panel is final and binding. This process applies to almost all City employees. Since 1976, no City employees have participated in a union-authorized strike, which is prohibited by the City Charter. See "RISK FACTORS – Risks Related to Wastewater Enterprise Facilities and Operation – Labor Actions."

The City's employee selection procedures are established and maintained through a civil service system. In general, selection procedures and other merit system issues, with the exception of discipline, are not subject to arbitration. Disciplinary actions are generally subject to grievance arbitration, with the exception of sworn police officers and fire fighters.

In May 2019, the City negotiated three-year agreements (for fiscal years 2019-20 through 2021-22) with 27 labor unions, including IFPTE, Laborers Internationals, Local 261, which represents Wastewater Enterprise employees. For fiscal year 2019-20, the parties agreed to wage increases of 3% on July 1, 2019 and 1% on December 28, 2019. For fiscal year 2020-21, the parties agreed to a wage increase schedule of 3% on July 1, 2020 and 0.5% on December 26, 2020, with a provision to delay the fiscal year 2020-21 adjustment by six months if the City's deficit for fiscal year 2020-21, as projected in the March 2020 update to the five-year financial plan, exceeds $200 million. Because the March 2020 update to the five-year financial plan projected a deficit for fiscal year 2020-21 in excess of $200 million, the scheduled wage increases as described above were delayed by approximately six months. For fiscal year 2021-22, the parties agreed to a wage increase schedule of 3% on July 1, 2021 and 0.5% on January 8, 2022, with a provision to delay the fiscal year 2021-22 increase by six months if the City's deficit for fiscal year 2021-22, as projected in the March 2021 update to the five-year financial plan, exceeds $200 million. The scheduled July 1, 2021 wage increase was implemented as the March 2021 update to the five-year financial plan did not project a $200 million deficit.

In May 2022, the City negotiated two-year agreements (for fiscal years 2022-23 and 2023-24) with 27 labor unions, including IFPTE, Laborers Internationals, Local 261, which represents Wastewater Enterprise employees. For fiscal year 2022-23, the parties agreed to a wage increase of 5.25% on July 1, 2022. For fiscal year 2023-24, the parties agreed to wage increases of 2.5% on July 1, 2023, and 2.25% on January 6, 2024, with a provision to delay the fiscal year 2023-24 adjustment by six months if the City's deficit for fiscal year 2023-24, as projected in the March 2023 update to the five-year financial plan, exceeds $300 million.

SFPUC. The SFPUC currently employs approximately 2,300 of the City's workers. The Charter governs the SFPUC's employment policies and authorizes the San Francisco Civil Service Commission to establish rules and procedures to implement those policies. Of the 36 labor unions representing City workers more broadly, 14 presently represent SFPUC employees, as set forth in Table 1.

Over the next five years, approximately 41.6% of the SFPUC workforce agency-wide will be eligible for retirement. A new generation of jobs will require workers with specialized training, skills and experience, while local hiring requirements will need to be observed. The SFPUC's 2020 Strategic Sustainability Plan includes an "effective workforce" goal, which focuses on a number of workforce development and sustainability initiatives. The SFPUC also provides ethics training, diversity training, management training, environmental management system training, as well as fraud prevention and awareness training.

The following table summarizes the number of SFPUC and Wastewater Enterprise employees covered by a memorandum of understanding (similar to a collective bargaining agreement), each of which expire on June 30, 2024.

Employee Benefit Plans

Retirement System Plan Description. The San Francisco City and County Employees' Retirement System (the "Retirement System" or "SFERS") is charged with administering a defined-benefit pension plan (the "Plan") that covers substantially all City employees, including SFPUC employees, and certain other employees. The Retirement System was initially established by approval of San Francisco voters on November 2, 1920, and the State Legislature on January 12, 1921, and is currently codified in the Charter. The Charter provisions governing the Retirement System may be revised only by a Charter amendment, which requires an affirmative public vote at a duly called election. The Retirement System is administered by the Retirement Board (the "Retirement Board"). The Plan provides basic service retirement, disability and death benefits based on specified percentages of final average salary and provides cost-of-living adjustments after retirement. The Plan also provides pension continuation benefits to qualified survivors.

Funding Practices. Employer and employee (member) contributions are mandated by the Charter. Sponsoring employers, including the SFPUC, are required to contribute 100% of the actuarially determined contribution approved by the Retirement Board. The Charter specifies that employer contributions consist of the normal cost (the present value of the benefits that SFERS expects to become payable in the future attributable to a current year's employment) plus an amortization of the unfunded liability over a period not to exceed 20 years. The Retirement Board sets the funding policy subject to the Charter requirements.

The Retirement Board adopts the economic and demographic assumptions used in the annual valuations. Demographic assumptions such as retirement, termination and disability rates are based upon periodic demographic studies performed by a consulting actuarial firm approximately every five years. Economic assumptions are reviewed each year by the Retirement Board after receiving an economic experience analysis from the consulting actuarial firm.

At the December 9, 2020, Retirement Board meeting, the Retirement Board adopted all recommended demographic assumptions from the experience study dated August 12, 2020, including, among others, updates to public plan mortality tables, lower price and wage inflation rates, from 2.75% to 2.50% and from 3.50% to 3.25%, respectively, effective for the July 1, 2020 actuarial valuation. At the November 10, 2021, Retirement Board meeting, the Retirement Board lowered the assumed long-term investment earnings assumption from 7.40% to 7.20% , effective for the July 1, 2021, actuarial valuation. At the November 17, 2022, Retirement Board meeting, the Retirement Board voted to maintain the actuarial assumptions at their current levels.

While employee contribution rates are mandated by the Charter, sources of payment of employee contributions may be the subject of collective bargaining agreements with each union or bargaining unit. Since July 1, 2011, substantially all employee groups have agreed through collective bargaining for employees to contribute all employee contributions through pre-tax payroll deductions.

The following table shows total Retirement System liabilities, assets and percent funded for the last five actuarial valuations, as well as contributions for the fiscal years 2017-18 through 2021-22.

Note: Information above reflects entire Retirement System, which covers substantially all City employees, including SFPUC employees, and certain other employees.

The City's net pension assets were approximately $2.4 billion for Fiscal Year 2021-22. The amount allocable to the Wastewater Enterprise, as of June 30, 2022, was approximately $48.8 million.

The SFPUC is required to contribute at an actuarially determined rate and allocates the applicable portions of such contribution to the separate enterprises, including the Wastewater Enterprise. For Fiscal Years 2017-18 through 2021-22, the SFPUC's employee contribution rates varied from 7.5% to 13.0% as a percentage of gross covered salary. For Fiscal Years 2017-18 through 2021-22, the Wastewater Enterprise has paid 100% of its required contributions. The contributions by the Wastewater Enterprise required for Fiscal Years 2017-18 through 2021-22 are summarized in the following table:

Plan Financial Reports and Funded Status. The Retirement System issues a publicly available financial report that includes financial statements and required supplementary information for the Plan. That report may be obtained by writing to the San Francisco City and County Employees' Retirement System, 1145 Market Street, 5th Floor, San Francisco, CA 94103, or by calling (415) 487-7000.

Health Care Benefits. The SFPUC participates in the City's agent multiple employer defined benefit plan, which operates as a cost-sharing multiple employer defined benefit plan for the SFPUC (the "OPEB Plan"). The OPEB Plan is maintained by the City and is administered through the City's Health Service System and provides postemployment medical, dental and vision insurance benefits to eligible employees, retired employees, and surviving spouses. Health benefit provisions are established and may be amended through negotiations between the City and the respective bargaining units. The City does not issue a separate report on its other post-employment benefit plan.

As prescribed under Governmental Accounting Standards Board ("GASB") Statement No. 75, Accounting and Financial Reporting for Postemployment Benefits Other than Pensions, net OPEB liability, deferred outflows/inflows of resources related to OPEB, and OPEB expense are actuarially determined on a citywide basis. Net OPEB liability is measured as the portion of the present value of projected benefit payments to be provided to current active and inactive employees attributed to those employees' past service, less the amount of the Retiree Healthcare Trust Fund investments measured at fair value.

The provisions of GASB Statement No. 75 are effective for the Wastewater Enterprise beginning in Fiscal Year 2017-18. The following table shows the components of the City's annual OPEB allocations for the Wastewater Enterprise for Fiscal Years 2019-20 through 2021-22, for the amount contributed to the plan, and changes in the City's net OPEB obligation:

Wastewater Enterprise's proportionate share of City's OPEB liability	58,183	50,711	49,123

Source: SFPUC, Financial Services.

The City's OPEB net position liability was approximately $3.7 billion for Fiscal Year 2021-22. The amount allocable to the Wastewater Enterprise, as of June 30, 2022, was approximately $49.1 million.

The City issues a publicly available financial report on a City-wide level that includes the complete note disclosures and required supplementary information related to the City's post-retirement health care obligations. The report may be obtained by writing to the City and County of San Francisco, Office of the Controller, 1 Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett Place, Room 316, San Francisco, CA 94102, or by calling (415) 554-7500.

Pension and Health Care Cost Reforms. Voters implemented City employee pension and health care cost reforms to help mitigate future cost increases. These include the following propositions:

Proposition B. Proposition B was a Charter amendment approved by voters in June 2008 that increased the years of service required to qualify for employer-funded retiree health benefits for City employees who retire under SFERS and were hired on or after January 10, 2009. Previously, employees became eligible to participate in the retirement health care system after five years of service and the employer paid 100% of the contribution. Beginning with employees hired on or after January 10, 2009, employees remain eligible to participate in the retirement health care system after five years of service, however, no employer contributions are required until 10 years of service.

From 10 to 15 years of service, employers pay 50% of the contribution, from 15 to 20 years of service 75%, and for employees with 20 years or more of service, 100%.

Proposition B also established a health care trust fund to pay for future costs related to retiree health care. Employees hired on or after January 10, 2009, contribute up to 2% of their pre-tax pay, with employers contributing an additional 1%, to the health care trust fund. Proposition B also increased maximum pension benefits for employees retiring at and after age 60 and enhances cost of living increases for pensions.

Proposition C. Proposition C was a Charter amendment approved by voters in November 2011 that changed the way the City and current and future employees share in funding SFERS pension and health benefits.

With regard to pension benefits, the base employee contribution rate remains at 7.5% for most employees when the City contribution rate is between 11% and 12% of City payroll. Employees making at least $50,000 will pay an additional amount up to 6% of compensation when the City contribution rate is over 12% of City payroll. When the City contribution rate falls below 11%, employee contributions will be decreased proportionately.

Proposition C creates new retirement plans for employees hired on or after January 7, 2012 that: (1) for miscellaneous employees, increased the minimum retirement age to 53 with 20 years of service or 60 with 10 years; (2) for safety employees, kept the minimum retirement age at 50 with five years of service, but increased the age for maximum benefits to 58; (3) for all employees, limited covered compensation, calculated final compensation from a three year average, and changed the multipliers used to calculate pension benefits; and (4) for miscellaneous employees, raised the age of eligibility to receive vesting allowance to 53 and reduced by half the City's contribution to vesting allowances.

With regard to health benefits, elected officials and employees hired on or before January 9, 2009, contribute up to 1% of compensation toward their retiree health care, with matching contribution by the City. For employees or elected officials who left the City workforce before June 30, 2001, and retire after January 6, 2012, Proposition C requires that the City contributions toward retiree health benefits remain at the same levels they were when the employee left the City workforce.

Proposition C also limits cost of living adjustments for SFERS retirees; however, in 2015, the Court of Appeals held in a suit against the City brought by a retiree organization, Protect Our Benefits v. City and County of San Francisco, 235 Cal. App. 4th 619 (2015) that certain changes to payment of supplemental cost of living allowances imposed by Proposition C could not be applied to current City employees and those who retired after November 1996 when the supplemental cost of living allowance provisions were originally adopted, but could be applied to SFERS members who retired before November 1996. This decision is now final and its implementation increased the July 1, 2016 unfunded actuarial liability by $429.3 million for Supplemental COLAs granted retroactive to July 1, 2013 and July 1, 2014.

On July 13, 2016, the Retirement Board adopted a resolution to exempt members who retired before November 6, 1996, from the "fully funded" provision related to payment of Supplemental COLAs under Proposition C. The resolution directed that retroactive payments for Supplemental COLAs be made to these retirees. After the Retirement Board adopted said resolution, the Retirement System published an actuarial study on the cost to the fund of payments to the pre-1996 retirees. The study reports that the two retroactive supplemental payments will trigger immediate payments of $34 million, create additional liability for continuing payments of $114 million, and cause a new unfunded liability of $148 million. This liability does not include the Supplemental COLA payments that may be triggered in the future. Under the cost sharing formulas in Proposition C, the City and its employees will pay for these costs in the form of higher yearly contribution rates. The City Controller has projected the future cost to the City and its employees to be $260 million, with over $200 million to be paid in the next five fiscal years. The City obtained a permanent injunction to prevent SFERS from making Supplemental COLA payments to these members who retired before November 6, 1996. The Superior Court's injunction was affirmed by the Court of Appeal.

THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE

Background and History

Initial development of the City's combined system dates back to the second half of the 19th century. In accordance with common engineering practice of that period, the combined system collected both sewage and stormwater runoff and transported them to a large number of discharge points on the shoreline of San Francisco Bay.

The Wastewater Enterprise provides sewage and stormwater collection, treatment and disposal services through the operation of combined sewage and stormwater system. The Wastewater Enterprise provides such sanitary wastewater and stormwater services across eight distinct urban watersheds, with the Southeast Treatment Plant (as defined herein) providing all-weather wastewater treatment and the North Point Facility (as defined herein) providing wet-weather treatment, serving the North Shore, Channel, Islais, Sunnydale, and Yosemite urban watersheds with effluent outfalls to the San Francisco Bay (the "Bayside Watersheds"), and the Oceanside Treatment Plant (as defined herein) providing all-weather wastewater treatment serving the Richmond, Sunset, and Lake Merced urban watersheds with an effluent outfall to the Pacific Ocean (the "Westside Watersheds").

The combined sewage and stormwater system handles an average of approximately 40 billion gallons per year of combined wastewater and stormwater. Approximately 34 billion gallons per year receive full secondary treatment, 4.5 billion gallons per year receive primary or decant treatment and are discharged to deep-water outfalls, and 1.5 billion gallons per year receive the equivalent to wet weather primary treatment and are discharged through nearshore outfalls.

In separate sewer areas of San Francisco, the wastewater and stormwater are collected and conveyed in separate pipe systems. In new multi-phase revitalization projects such as Mission Bay, Treasure Island and the Hunter's Point Naval Shipyard, there are green infrastructure or low-impact design elements that allow for the treatment of stormwater by natural techniques such as vegetated swales, infiltration and other approved methods prior to discharge into the receiving waters. The sewage is conveyed via the remaining system to the affiliated treatment plant.

The operations of the Wastewater Enterprise are highly regulated. For more information, see "REGULATORY MATTERS."

Service Area

General. The service area of the Wastewater Enterprise encompasses approximately 29,773 acres and includes residents of San Francisco and of northern San Mateo County through arrangements with three municipal sewer service providers: North San Mateo County Sanitation District, the Bayshore Sanitary District and the City of Brisbane (collectively, the "Municipal Customers"). The SFPUC also currently provides wastewater treatment service on Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island pursuant to contract, and expects eventually to expand its service area to include Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island. See "– Wastewater Treatment – Contract Services," "WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM – Treasure Island Capital Improvements" and "FINANCING PLAN FOR WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM."

The Wastewater Enterprise serves residential, commercial and industrial users, making up a daytime "population equivalent" of approximately 940,211 in 2021. The United States Census Bureau estimates of the total daytime and nighttime populations of the City from calendar years 2017 to 2021 (most recent data available) are reflected in the table below.

Recent Economic Developments. Between calendar years 2020 and 2021, the resident population decreased by approximately 6.8% and the daytime population decreased by approximately 15.3%. This general decline in population is due to, among other factors, widespread business closures, worker migration out of San Francisco as a result of permissive remote work policies, a general decline in tourism, and unemployment concentrated recently in the tech-heavy information and professional and business services sectors, all of which can be attributable in some part to the COVID-19 pandemic. See "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments."

Customer Base

As of June 30, 2022, the SFPUC has 175,171 active retail wastewater accounts. Of these, approximately 85% are residential accounts, with the remainder being commercial, industrial, or municipal. Major non-residential customer categories include retail, offices, restaurants, and services, which together account for approximately 9% of all customers. The remaining accounts are primarily accounts associated with fire suppression water accounts. As shown in Table 6 below, the total number of customer accounts has increased by a total of 6.8% since Fiscal Year 2017-18.

In addition to its retail customers, the SFPUC provides wholesale sewage treatment services to the Municipal Customers located in northern San Mateo County, and operates wastewater treatment facilities on Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island. See "– Wastewater Treatment – Contract Services."

The following table sets forth a five-year history of the number of customer accounts served by the Wastewater Enterprise, grouped by user type.

Large increase in commercial customers beginning in Fiscal Year 2018-19 is due to new requirements that all water accounts for fire-fighting purposes have a corresponding sewer account.

(2) In addition to suburban customers, service is provided to North San Mateo County Sanitation District, Bayshore Sanitary District and the City of Brisbane.

Combined Sewage and Stormwater System

On average, over three quarters of San Francisco's annual rainfall occurs between November and March. Depending on the duration, intensity and storm pattern, combined flows of sewage and stormwater can exceed the collection and treatment system hydraulic capacity, resulting in combined sewer discharges. The SFPUC's permits explicitly authorize combined sewer discharges from the system's 36 combined sewer discharge outfalls when a storm exceeds the system's capacity. To reduce the number and volume of combined sewer discharges during wet-weather events, the system relies on a series of large underground transport/storage structures (box sewers and tunnels) around the perimeter of San Francisco to intercept, temporarily store and transport the mixture of storm runoff and sewage to new or upgraded treatment facilities. When the storage capacity of transport/storage structures and the wet weather capacity of their associated treatment plants are exceeded during large storms, combined wastewater is discharged through one or more combined sewer discharge outfalls. The Westside treatment system has seven combined sewer discharge outfalls to the Pacific Ocean, and the Bayside treatment system has 29 combined sewer discharge outfalls to San Francisco Bay. The primary purpose of this system is to maximize treatment and discharge at the wastewater treatment plants and minimize the incidence and volume of discharge from the combined sewer outfalls.

Sewer Lines. The Wastewater Enterprise's collection and transport system includes approximately 1,011 miles of sewer lines, of which 802 miles is made up of collecting sewers of 36 inches or less in diameter. Table 7 summarizes these assets by age. The SFPUC's capital program includes replacing specific sewer sections that have been prioritized for replacement using an asset management approach that considers the current condition of the section in question and applicable risks of failure. Sewers are inspected through closed-circuit television and the likelihood of failure is calculated on a condition scoring algorithm taking into account the severity and quantity of defects identified in each inspection. Since 2011, the SFPUC has replaced an average of 11.9 miles of small diameter gravity sewers per year.

Transport/Storage Structures. In addition to sewer lines, the Wastewater Enterprise maintains 24 miles of underground transport/storage structures that are located around the perimeter of San Francisco to intercept, temporarily store and transport the mix of stormwater runoff and sewage to treatment plants. These structures, which operate in both dry and wet weather, were built between 1979 and 1997. The largest of these structures, the Westside transport structure, is approximately two miles long, 45 feet deep and 25 feet wide. The transport/storage structures were designed with sufficient storage to reduce combined sewer discharges and protect beneficial uses of receiving waters for the San Francisco Bay and Pacific Ocean. The transport/storage and collection system provides approximately 200 million gallons worth of storage, or approximately 1.5 to 3 days of dry weather storage depending on the specific storage box sections and related upstream service area.

The performance of the transport/storage structures and treatment facilities complies with the requirements of the National Combined Sewer Overflow Control Policy, as implemented by discharge permits issued by the EPA and the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board (the "Regional Water Quality Control Board"). See "REGULATORY MATTERS." By providing both storage volume and detention time, the transport/storage structures allow for delayed treatment of combined sewage and stormwater flows at the treatment plants at the conclusion of a wet weather event. They also provide a "buffer" for dry weather flows in the event of an unplanned outage.

Pump Stations. The Wastewater Enterprise has 31 pump stations, which include 11 major all-weather pump stations, seven major wet-weather pump stations and 13 minor pump stations.

Outfalls and Nearshore Discharge Structures. The Wastewater Enterprise has three offshore outfalls that discharge to deep waters – Southeast Bay Outfall, Northpoint Outfall, and Southwest Ocean Outfall. In addition to these outfalls, 36 combined sewer discharge structures, or near-shore outfalls, serve as relief points of the combined sewer system. These structures operate infrequently, and only during large storm events. Discharges through these permitted sites receive the equivalent of wet weather primary treatment.

Urban Watershed Management. The SFPUC is working to improve the system's stormwater drainage performance. The SFPUC's stormwater program is designed to maximize stormwater management before flows enter the combined system, engage community members in its work, improve watershed function, enhance the environmental quality of San Francisco's neighborhoods, and protect the water quality of the San Francisco Bay and Pacific Ocean. To achieve these goals, the SFPUC has adopted regulations that require new and redevelopment projects in San Francisco to install and operate green infrastructure for managing stormwater runoff.

Wastewater Treatment

Wastewater Treatment Plants. The Wastewater Enterprise operates three major wastewater treatment facilities (in addition to the transport/storage structures that provide the equivalent of wet weather primary treatment), two serving the Bayside Watersheds and one serving the Westside Watersheds:

- Southeast Water Pollution Control Plant (the "Southeast Treatment Plant"), which treats dry and wet weather flows collected from the Bayside Watersheds (18,597 acres, or 63% of the total city service area) as well as the Municipal Customers;

- North Point Wet Weather Facility (the "North Point Facility"), which treats a portion of wet-weather flows collected from the north Bayside Watersheds; and

- Oceanside Water Pollution Control Plant (the "Oceanside Treatment Plant"), which treats dry and wet weather flows collected from the Westside Watersheds (11,176 acres, or 37% of the total city service area) and minor flows from northern San Mateo County.

The Oceanside Treatment Plant and related collection facilities in the Westside Watersheds are not interconnected with the Southeast Treatment Plant or the North Point Facility and related collection facilities in the Bayside Watersheds.

Southeast Treatment Plant. The Southeast Treatment Plant is an all-weather secondary wastewater treatment plant serving the sewage and stormwater treatment needs for nearly two-thirds of San Francisco in the Bayside Watersheds, which consists of 18,587 acres including the Marina, Downtown, South of Market Area, Mission, Hunters Point, and Visitacion Valley neighborhoods, plus 1.65 mgd from the Municipal Customers. Land uses in the Bayside Watersheds are a mixture of residential, commercial, light industrial and heavy industrial. The Southeast Treatment Plant, as the only Bayside dry-weather facility, is a critical component of the system that must meet high availability requirements. The Bayside Watersheds wastewater flow is collected by the combined sewer system and conveyed to the Southeast Treatment Plant via gravity sewers, tunnels, transport/storage structures, pump stations and force mains.

The Southeast Treatment Plant provides preliminary, primary and secondary treatment using a high-purity-oxygen activated sludge process prior to effluent disinfection. Sludge treatment consists of gravity-belt thickening, anaerobic digestion, chemical conditioning and dewatering. The Southeast Treatment Plant's treated effluent is discharged during dry weather into the San Francisco Bay through a deep-water outfall near Pier 80. During wet weather, treated effluent is discharged through the Pier 80 outfall and through an additional outfall at the shoreline of Islais Creek.

The Southeast Treatment Plant was planned and designed in the 1940s and commenced operations in 1951 as a primary treatment facility. To meet the mandates of the federal Clean Water Act, the Southeast Treatment Plant was expanded in the early 1980s to provide secondary treatment of all Bayside Watersheds' dry-weather flows with a daily average design capacity of approximately 85 mgd and peak-hour design flow of 142 mgd. In 1996, the Southeast Treatment Plant's wet weather capacity was increased to 250 mgd, with 150 mgd receiving secondary treatment prior to disinfection and discharge. During wet weather, additional wet-weather facilities are operated at the Southeast Treatment Plant to provide primary treatment and disinfection to the remaining 100 mgd of combined wastewater flow.

The Southeast Treatment Plant operates every day of the year in both wet weather and dry weather conditions. Many of its critical systems have operated past their expected useful life and replacement facilities are needed to ensure reliability requirements are met, including seismic upgrades. At the start of SSIP, the program management consultant conducted a full condition assessment of the Southeast Treatment Plant and the highest priority needs were identified for both the liquid treatment and solids treatment facilities. The assessment considered current maintenance records, remaining life and compliance with levels of service. Projects have been identified for all of the major treatment processes, and for various support, monitoring and control systems. Maintenance and repair projects, including repairs to digester roofs and existing biosolids treatment and storage equipment, have been undertaken to bolster some of the facilities considered to be the most vulnerable so that they function until the new facilities are completed. See "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM." Because the Southeast Treatment Plant is not interconnected with the other treatment plants, it cannot be shut down during construction of such projects as there would be no substitute wastewater treatment option. Instead, the Southeast Treatment Plant will remain in service during construction. See "RISK FACTORS – Risks Related to Wastewater Enterprise Facilities and Operation – Aging Facilities" and "– Limited Redundancy."

North Point Wet-Weather Facility. The North Point Facility is a wet-weather primary wastewater treatment plant serving the northeast quadrant of the Bayside Watersheds, an area comprising of predominantly commercial and residential land uses. The North Point Facility was originally constructed in 1951 as an all-weather primary treatment facility, but did not incorporate digesters and so sludge was pumped to the digesters at the newly constructed Southeast Treatment Plant for treatment. In response to the mandates of the federal Clean Water Act, the North Point Facility was converted into a strictly wet-weather treatment plant in 1983, providing up to 150 mgd of primary treatment.

The North Point Facility provides preliminary, primary and disinfection treatment. Effluent from the North Point Facility is discharged into the San Francisco Bay through a deep water outfall system at Piers 33 and 35. At the conclusion of each wet-weather event, grit and solids are flushed out of the sedimentation tanks and directed to the Channel Pump Station, which pumps them to the Southeast Treatment Plant for treatment.

Oceanside Treatment Plant. Constructed in 1993, the Oceanside Treatment Plant is an all-weather secondary wastewater treatment plant that provides the wastewater treatment and stormwater treatment needs for the Westside Watersheds and San Mateo County flows that drain to the Westside Watersheds. Land uses in the Westside Watersheds are primarily residential.

The Oceanside Treatment Plant's dry weather capacity is up to 43 mgd of secondary treatment. The Oceanside Treatment Plant's wet-weather capacity is up to 65 mgd of primary and 43 mgd of secondary treatment using the high-purity-oxygen activated sludge process. Sludge treatment consists of gravity belt thickening, anaerobic digestion, chemical conditioning and dewatering. The Oceanside Treatment Plant began operations in 1993 and complies with all dry- and wet-weather discharge requirements. Up to 195 mgd of plant effluent and decanted wet weather flow from the westside transport storage boxes is discharged approximately four miles offshore into the Pacific Ocean through a deep ocean outfall.

Emergency Operations. The Wastewater Enterprise maintains up-to-date contingency plans in the event of an unplanned outage or failure of a treatment facility, process unit, pump station, sewer pipeline or other infrastructure element. The wastewater collection and treatment system is designed with some redundancy and flexibility in order to facilitate responses to emergency events, though the Westside Watershed and Bayside Watershed are not interconnected.

If an unplanned shutdown of critical treatment facilities were to occur, the transport/storage structures and collection system pipes provide approximately 200 million gallons of storage (providing up to several days of storage in some portions of the system, depending on the inflow). The wastewater treatment facilities and major pump stations are also built with some redundancy, and in some instances may continue operation with select equipment outages. Critical infrastructure elements with higher failure risk or for which adequate redundancy is not available have been identified as projects in the SSIP to increase system flexibility and the ability to respond to unplanned events. See "RISK FACTORS – Risks Related to Wastewater Enterprise Facilities and Operations."

Biosolids Management. The Southeast Treatment Plant and the Oceanside Treatment Plant produce approximately 55,000 wet tons of biosolids per year. Biosolids are highly treated, anaerobically digested wastewater solids that are rich in plant nutrients and utilized as fertilizer. During dry-weather months, biosolids are transported to various ranches in Solano County and used as a fertilizer where they enhance pasture productivity and sequester carbon. Throughout the year, a portion of the SFPUC's biosolids are transported to Sacramento County for use as a fertilizer, a portion of the biosolids are transported to Lystek, a facility which processes biosolids into a liquid fertilizer, and a portion are transported to a compost facility in Merced where they are processed into biosolids compost.

The Wastewater Enterprise coordinates the transportation, use, testing, and reporting for biosolids in accordance with applicable regulations. The SFPUC plans to implement technology at the Southeast Treatment Plant which will produce "Class A" biosolids as part of a major capital upgrade of the plant. The Biosolids Digester Facilities Project (the "Biosolids Digester Facilities Project") will replace aging infrastructure, produce a high quality biosolids product, ensure system reliability and reduce negative impacts to the neighborhood with respect to aesthetics and odors. For more information about the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project, see "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM – Biosolids Digester Facilities Project."

Contract Services. The Wastewater Enterprise provides wastewater treatment service on Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island, located in the San Francisco Bay between San Francisco and Oakland, by agreement with the Treasure Island Development Authority ("TIDA"), a non-profit public benefit agency vested with the rights to administer municipal services to Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island during interim reuse of the property. Such wastewater treatment service is provided at a wastewater treatment plant currently owned by TIDA. The wastewater system serving Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island currently relies on pumping to convey sewage to a treatment plant for treatment and discharge. The treatment plant is designed to provide secondary treatment of an average of 2.0 mgd and can provide secondary treatment of up to 4.4 mgd during wet weather. The wastewater collection system consists of 10 miles of sewers and 29 wastewater pump stations. In addition, a separate stormwater collection system includes six stormwater pump stations and several shallow water outfalls. These facilities are not interconnected with the wastewater infrastructure in San Francisco.

In connection with ongoing redevelopment activities on Treasure Island, the SFPUC anticipates that the Treasure Island facilities, including collection and other facilities being built by the developer as part of the project, will eventually be transferred to the SFPUC and integrated into the Wastewater Enterprise's overall system assets. Following such transfer, the SFPUC would provide sewer discharge service and impose rates and charges directly on customers on Treasure Island, and payments the SFPUC receives from such customers would constitute Revenues, as and to the extent provided under the Indenture. The SFPUC would also be responsible for operation and maintenance, and such costs would constitute Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise, as and to the extent provided under the Indenture. Finally, the SFPUC would be responsible for the future repair and replacement of all facilities transferred to it, including collection and treatment facilities. In 2022, the SFPUC issued a design-build contract for construction of the New Treasure Island Wastewater Treatment Plant, which is scheduled to be in service in 2025. The old treatment facility will be decommissioned and demolished as part of the area's redevelopment plans. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Parity Loans," "– Projected Future Demand," "WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM – Treasure Island Capital Improvements" and "FINANCING PLAN FOR WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM."

System Capacity

When the three treatment facilities and other elements of the collection system are fully operational, the Wastewater Enterprise can provide up to 575 mgd of combined wastewater and stormwater treatment, including 193 mgd of secondary treatment, 272 mgd of primary treatment and 110 mgd of equivalent-to-primary treatment provided by the transport/storage structures located around the perimeter of San Francisco.

The three treatment plants primarily discharge through deep-water outfalls and secondary treated effluent with disinfection can be discharged through a shallow water outfall to Islais Creek channel during peak wet-weather events. The combined sewer system is designed to handle wet-weather events and its permits explicitly authorize combined sewer discharges from the system's 36 combined sewer discharge outfalls when a storm exceeds the capacity of the system. See "– Combined Sewage and Stormwater System."

Heavy storms at the end of 2022 and beginning of 2023 resulted in combined flows of sewage and stormwater that exceeded the Wastewater Enterprise's maximum capacity and caused flooding in some areas of San Francisco. Such storms did not have a significant impact on the operation of the Wastewater System, but did cause some damage, including damage to motor and sludge pumps at the Southeast Treatment Plant, pumps and equipment at the North Shore Pump Station, and compressors, bubbler and variable frequency drives at the Westside Pump Station, and created sinkholes at various locations throughout San Francisco. The final costs of repair are not known presently, but the SFPUC anticipates being able to pay such costs from reserves and available Wastewater Revenues.

Current System Demands

Wastewater Enterprise facilities collected, treated and discharged an average of approximately 60.7 mgd of sanitary wastewater during dry-weather periods between calendar years 2018 to 2022.

Projected Future Demand

The 2024 Financial Plan (as defined herein) projects that in-City sanitary wastewater discharge will increase through Fiscal Year 2025-26 as water usage recovers from its all-time low during Fiscal Year 2021-22 caused by the combined effects of the pandemic and recent drought. See "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments." After Fiscal Year 2025-26, water usage is projected to decrease slightly over time despite an assumed population growth of approximately 0.6% annually. See "– Service Area" and "– Customer Base." This differential is attributable to decreases in average per capita water usage due to ongoing conservation initiatives, including plumbing codes which apply to all new development, as well as the impact of price elasticity on demands caused by large rate increases.

This growth includes the SFPUC's planned expansion of its service area to include Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island. In connection with such expansion, the SFPUC is planning to construct a new wastewater treatment plant that will provide reliable service for Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island residents and meet the recycled water demands of future redevelopment on Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island. See "WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM – Treasure Island Capital Improvements."

The Board of Supervisors and Mayor Breed approved the City's housing plan for the next eight years (2022-2030) on February 1, 2023 (the "Housing Element 2022 Update"). The Housing Element 2022 Update targets the creation of 82,000 units by 2031. The 2024 Financial Plan and 2024 Capital Plan (as defined herein) used a draft version of the Housing Element 2022 Update to forecast population growth. In addition to the new Treasure Island treatment plant, this population growth may require dry-weather treatment capacity expansion at Wastewater Enterprise's treatment plants over the next 10-20 years.

Because the SFPUC maintains a combined sewer system, there may be other factors in the future, including environmental changes and regulatory developments, that could require expanded collection or treatment capacity. The SFPUC is currently engaged in a water and wastewater cost of service study that is expected to be completed in May 2023. The 2024 Rate Study will include an updated projected future demand forecast to inform future rate change proposals and other planning activities. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges – 2024 Water and Wastewater Cost of Service Study."

WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM

Capital and Financial Planning Process

The SFPUC's long-term capital and financial planning is performed on an annual rolling 10-year forward looking basis. The SFPUC prepares a 10-year capital plan for each of its enterprises, as required by the Charter. The 10-year capital plan serves as the basis for the development of the annual 10-year financial plan. Proposed long-term capital programs, projects and investments, and related costs are included in the 10-year financial plan. Consistent with the Charter, updates to the 10-year capital plan and 10-year financial plan are generally reviewed at least annually and adopted by the SFPUC Commission each February. The 10-year financial plan provides estimated rate impacts of projected capital and operating spending and assures compliance with the SFPUC's adopted financial policies, including its debt service coverage and fund balance reserve policy requirements.

The 10-year capital plan is not a budget and is not "appropriated" like a budget. The annual capital programs can be revised during the development of the budget, and final projects, costs and totals for the capital programs can change. Consequently, even though the annual capital programs are based on the 10-year capital plan, they may occasionally differ from it.

The Wastewater Enterprise 10-year capital plan for Fiscal Years 2023-24 to 2032-33, adopted by the SFPUC Commission on February 14, 2023 (the "2024 Capital Plan"), totals approximately $4.879 billion, which includes approximately $985.5 million budgeted for Fiscal Year 2023-24. See "FINANCING PLAN FOR WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM." The 2024 Capital Plan includes projects in four categories, each of which is further described below: (i) the SSIP; (ii) Renewal and Replacement; (iii) Treasure Island Capital Improvements; and (iv) Wastewater Facilities and Infrastructure.

The 2024 Capital Plan reflects the SFPUC's concerted efforts to reduce the overall size of the 10-year capital plan as compared to the previous 10-year capital plan, which totaled approximately $6.127 billion, given, among other considerations, projected substantial rate increases for the Fiscal Year 2023-24 to Fiscal Year 2028-29 period. Strategies for reducing the capital plan size included, among others, deferring certain projects outside the 10-year planning horizon, reducing budgets for certain renewal and replacement projects, consideration towards using unspent prior appropriations when possible prior to requesting new funds and focusing on deliverability to ensure projects could be initiated, implemented and received on schedule and within budget.

Sewer System Improvement Program

The SSIP is a citywide investment to upgrade the SFPUC's aging infrastructure to ensure a reliable, sustainable and seismically safe sewer system. The SSIP contains a series of major capital improvement projects designed to maintain the City's wastewater and stormwater system in a state of good repair, as well as to meet Commission-endorsed goals and levels of service, which are described under "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM." The SSIP capital improvement projects are designed to address specific infrastructure challenges and deficiencies facing the Wastewater Enterprise, maximize system reliability and flexibility, improve operational and seismic reliability, and promote current and future regulatory compliance. The SSIP project development will also consider environmental benefits, sustainability and community benefits in addressing the long-term wastewater needs.

SSIP projects make up approximately $2.914 billion of the 2024 Capital Plan. Additional information on the SSIP may be found under "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM."

Renewal and Replacement

The Wastewater Enterprise undertakes renewal and replacement projects to improve performance or extend the service life of an existing asset. These projects are typically annual ongoing projects and fall into two categories: (i) Renewal and Replacement Collection System and (ii) Renewal and Replacement Treatment Plants. Renewal and replacement projects make up approximately $1.635 billion of the 2024 Capital Plan.

The Renewal and Replacement Collection System category includes the following projects: condition assessment projects to clean, video inspect and perform condition assessment of sewer facilities; sewer improvement projects to maintain the existing functionality of the collection system and repair and replace structurally inadequate sewers; spot sewer repair projects which consist of as-needed repair of localized failed sections of existing sewer facilities; and hydraulic improvement projects to upgrade sewers with hydraulic deficiencies.

The Renewal and Replacement Treatment Plants category includes projects to maintain the capacity and reliable performance, and extend the useful life, of aging assets such as transport/storage boxes, discharge structures, pump stations, force mains, tunnels and treatment plants. The Wastewater Enterprise sewer system consists of three wastewater treatment plants (Southeast, Oceanside, and North Point) with North Point operating as a wet weather facility, 31 pump stations, eight transport/storage boxes, and 36 combined sewer discharges. Priority lists are maintained for both collection and treatment projects, with collection system projects identified using an asset management approach which considers the current condition of the section in question and applicable risks of failure. See "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE – Combined Sewage and Stormwater System – Sewer Lines."

Treasure Island Capital Improvements

The Wastewater Enterprise currently provides wastewater treatment service on Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island by agreement with TIDA and the SFPUC is planning to expand its service area to include Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island. See "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE – Wastewater Treatment – Contract Services." In connection with such expansion, the SFPUC is planning to construct a new wastewater treatment plant that will provide reliable service for Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island residents and meet the recycled water demands of future redevelopment on Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island. The new wastewater treatment plant, which will be constructed immediately adjacent and to the south of the existing facility, is expected to have the capacity to treat an estimated 1.3 mgd average dry-weather flow and a peak wet-weather flow of 3.9 mgd. The preliminary treatment would remove rags, large objects, and grit. The secondary treatment process would use a membrane bioreactor to remove biochemical oxygen demand and suspended solids. The membrane bioreactor is a combination of suspended growth biological treatment system (activated sludge) in combination with membrane filtration equipment which is used to perform solid-liquid separation. Secondary-treated effluent will be disinfected via series of UV trains. The disinfected secondary-treated effluent would pass through constructed wetlands, and then be discharged into the adjacent stormwater outfall pipe for discharge to San Francisco Bay. Solids generated in the treatment processes would be thickened and transported to the SFPUC's Oceanside Treatment Plant for digestion. The resulting biosolids would be transported to an off-site landfill or suitable location for land application. In addition, the new wastewater treatment plant will be designed to achieve the disinfected tertiary treatment. Approximately 0.43 to 0.98 mgd of recycled water is expected be diverted from the treatment plant for landscape irrigation, urban farming, and toilet flushing. The remainder of the disinfected effluent from the treatment plant would be directed to the wetlands.

The SFPUC has awarded a design-build contract to build the new wastewater treatment plant. The SFPUC has also applied for an SRF Loan for a portion of the Treasure Island Project in the amount of $45 million, and a WIFIA loan for a portion of the Treasure Island Project in the amount of $222.2 million. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Parity Loans." Treasure Island capital improvement projects make up approximately $152.6 million of the 2024 Capital Plan.

Wastewater Facilities and Infrastructure

The Wastewater Facilities and Infrastructure category includes six projects.

The following four projects make up approximately $177.6 million of the 2024 Capital Plan.

Ocean Beach Climate Change Adaptation Project. The Ocean Beach Climate Change Adaptation Project is necessary to protect the integrity of wastewater assets built to protect public health and the environment, including the Lake Merced Tunnel, the Westside Pump Station and the Oceanside Treatment Plant. The project is one of the first City Climate Change Adaptation projects which is being led by the SFPUC. The Lake Merced Tunnel has a storage capacity of up to 10 million gallons for combined sewage and stormwater flows and is located closest to the section of Ocean Beach most severely impacted from, and most vulnerable to, continued bluff erosion. The tunnel could become structurally compromised if sudden bluff retreat is experienced during a large storm event, resulting in significant environmental and public health impacts. This project will implement a comprehensive shoreline management and protection plan in partnership with relevant stakeholders and regulatory agencies to provide a long-term solution to the erosion issue along Ocean Beach, and to mitigate potential impacts to the Lake Merced Tunnel and other critical wastewater assets at this location.

Southwest Ocean Outfall Condition Assessment and Rehabilitation Project. The Southwest Ocean Outfall Condition Assessment and Rehabilitation Project will provide improvements and modifications to the Southwest Ocean Outfall, which is part of the Oceanside Treatment Plant. The Oceanside Treatment Plant and the associated westside facilities provide all-weather wastewater collection and treatment of flows from the westside of San Francisco. This project will include condition assessment of the outfall, as well as an allowance to perform repairs.

Southeast Outfall Condition Assessment and Rehabilitation Project. The Southeast Outfall Condition Assessment and Rehabilitation Project is a condition assessment to determine if the pipeline from the onshore force main to offshore outfall can provide reliable service until the offshore outfall is replaced.

Customer Service System Project. The Customer Service System Project involves migrating to (i) a modern, flexible cloud-based contact center solution, (ii) a new digital self-service and customer engagement platform, and (iii) a new cloud-based customer information system. These changes across the SFPUC's customer service and information technology infrastructure will enable it to optimize business processes and increase operational effectiveness.

The following two projects are ongoing projects for which funds have been appropriated, but are not part of the current 2024 Capital Plan.

Wastewater Enterprise Facilities Plan. The Wastewater Enterprise Facilities Plan will address the need for a comprehensive master plan for Wastewater Enterprise facilities to meet the present and future needs of the Wastewater Enterprise. The effort will include an assessment of current facilities, a plan for current and future staffing needs, and site planning to determine the best utilization of Wastewater Enterprise property to accommodate the Wastewater Enterprise over the next 50 years. The Wastewater Enterprise Facilities Plan will focus on the consolidation of operations, maximizing the operational efficiency and functionality of the Wastewater Enterprise, and best approach to maximize the value of the Wastewater Enterprise's assets. The outcome will result in a plan for prioritization of capital improvement projects over the next two decades essential to supporting the Wastewater Enterprise's delivery of services for the next generation.

Islais Creek Crossing Project. The Islais Creek Crossing Project involves replacing the buried portions of the Southeast Outfall effluent pipeline that crosses Islais Creek, rehabilitating sections of the existing on-shore pipelines, booster pump station pump manifold, isolation valves, and associated mechanical and electrical improvements. This project was included in the capital program following a determination by the SFPUC in 2015 that one of the two pipelines had extensive corrosion and was at risk of failure. As an interim measure, a new 48-inch high density polyethylene pipeline was added in 2020 to replace the pipeline that had notable corrosion. Due to escalating cost estimates beyond the baseline budget, the project was placed on hold to be re-evaluated and considered for a different alignment to avoid the creek crossing and a new outfall. This project will now include funds to perform specialized condition assessment of the existing pipeline assets crossing the creek and to document deficiencies. Separate funds from the Renewal and Replacement category of the capital plan will be used to address deficiencies and extend the service life of the pipelines.

Environmental Planning Considerations

Projects undertaken by the SFPUC are generally subject to CEQA and certain projects involving the participation of federal agencies, including projects on federal land, are also subject to the National Environmental Policy Act ("NEPA").

Under CEQA, a project that may have a significant effect on the environment and is to be carried out or approved by a public agency must comply with a comprehensive environmental review process, including the preparation of an Environmental Impact Report ("EIR"). The EIR reflects not only an independent technical analysis of the project's potential impacts, but also the comments of other agencies with some form of jurisdiction over the project and the comments of interested members of the public. Contents of the EIR include a detailed statement of the project's significant environmental effects; any such effects that cannot be avoided if the project is implemented; mitigation measures proposed to minimize such effects; alternatives to the proposed project; the relationship between local and short-term uses and long-term productivity; any significant irreversible environmental changes that would result from the project; the project's growth-inducing impacts; and a brief statement setting forth the agency's reasons for determining that certain effects are not significant and hence do not require discussion in the EIR.

Prior to the sale of bonds, the San Francisco Planning Department Environmental Review Officer will issue a "Planning Certificate" required under Proposition E. The Planning Certificate will identify the status of environmental review for each capital project to be funded under the proposed bond sale and the type of CEQA document either completed or to be completed for each project. CEQA compliance must be completed for each project prior to project approval or approval to award a construction contract to implement any project to be funded by the proposed bond sale. The Planning Certificate for the projects to be financed or refinanced by the 2023ABC Bonds was issued in August 2022.

Any action or proceeding challenging the SFPUC's determination must be brought within 30 days following the filing of such notice. Actions have been, and in the future may be, filed against the SFPUC challenging a project's compliance with CEQA, including the adequacy of the EIR and other environmental documents for particular projects. If an action challenging the SFPUC's compliance with CEQA is successful, the particular project could be delayed, revised, suspended or canceled. CEQA also contains several exemptions, which the SFPUC uses for its projects when appropriate.

As part of its regular planning and budgetary process, the San Francisco Planning Department gives careful attention to environmental considerations. All projects are evaluated under the SFPUC's environmental evaluation procedures, developed in compliance with federal and State laws and regulations, and City ordinances and Administrative Code procedures.

Other Projects

The SFPUC has solicited interest for a Public-Private-Partnership ("P3") for a biogas utilization project using biogas from the Southeast Treatment Plant (the "Biogas Utilization Project"). The Biogas Utilization Project may include, but is not limited to, financing, designing, constructing, permitting, operating, and maintaining biogas utilization facilities on the Southeast Treatment Plant site, including accepting biogas from Southeast Treatment Plant digesters, treating and upgrading the biogas to natural gas quality, compressing and injecting the biogas into an existing PG&E pipeline, and selling the biogas and marketing the energy credits (such as renewable identification numbers (RINs) or Low Carbon Fuel Standard credits) resulting from the project.

The Biogas Utilization Project will provide 100% beneficial use of the biogas generated by the new Biosolids Digester Facilities Project. The Biogas Utilization Project must be operational and ready to accept the biogas from the new digesters to avoid excessive flaring. The SFPUC anticipates that the Biogas Utilization Project will be ready for operation in alignment with the start-up and commissioning of the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project; however the SFPUC can provide no assurance with respect to the ultimate completion date for the entire project. For additional information regarding the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project, see "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE – Wastewater Treatment – Biosolids Management" and "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM - Biosolids Digester Facilities Project."

The Biogas Utilization Project Cost is expected to have a construction cost of approximately $50 million and is expected to be privately financed. As a P3 project, the Biogas Utilization Project is not part of the Wastewater Enterprise's capital program and is therefore not included in the 2024 Capital Plan.

Climate Action Plan

In September 2021, the City adopted a set of emissions reduction targets: achieve net-zero greenhouse gas emissions generated by the City by 2040 and reduce emissions associated with consumption of all goods and services in the City (regardless of where emissions originate) 80% by 2050. In December 2021, Mayor Breed released the City's Climate Action Plan (the "Climate Action Plan") detailing the actions needed to accomplish these targets, developed through a multi-agency and stakeholder process led by the San Francisco Department of Environment (the "Department of Environment"). The Climate Action Plan is a roadmap of goals, strategies and actions to achieve emission reductions across six sectors: energy supply, building operations, transportation and land use, housing, responsible production and consumption, and healthy ecosystems. Key strategies include, but are not limited to, provision of 100% carbon-free energy, decarbonization of buildings, and increases in the public transit, active transportation, and vehicle electrification networks. The Department of Environment contracted with the UC Berkeley's Center for Law, Energy & the Environment (the "CLEE") to assess options for funding the equitable implementation of the Climate Action Plan. CLEE released its report entitled "Funding San Francisco Climate Action" in November 2022 (the "CLEE Report"). Over the next year, the City, in conjunction with the SFPUC, anticipates expanding the Climate Action Plan to include a water chapter that sets goals, strategies and actions around water consumption, residential and commercial water use, and diversifying water resources, including recycled water, water reuse, purification and storage. Such expansion is also expected to align the use of biogas produced from the SFPUC's wastewater treatment plants with the City's climate action goals and develop strategies to reduce wastewater and its processing.

SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Program Summary

The Sewer System Improvement Program is a citywide investment to upgrade the SFPUC's aging infrastructure to ensure a reliable, sustainable and seismically safe sewer system. The SSIP contains a series of major capital improvement projects that are necessary to bring the City's wastewater and stormwater system into a state of good repair, as well as to meet Commission-endorsed goals and levels of service. The Commission's original authorization of the SSIP in August 2012 contemplated a three-phase implementation approach over a 20-year period to manage rate impacts, considered construction sequencing impacts and maintained existing operations and permit compliance. The highest priority and best-defined projects, which focused on ensuring regulatory compliance, enhancing process reliability and redundancy, implementing pilot green infrastructure projects, improving plant odor control and replacing antiquated biosolids and headworks facilities with state-of-the-art technology, were included in the first phase ("Phase 1"). However, following the Commission's approval of the 2020 Re-Baseline (as defined and further described herein), the SFPUC has transitioned from implementing the original three-phase approach over a 20-year period to implementing Phase 1 projects (the "Phase 1 Projects") and initiating projects originally identified for the second and third phases of the SSIP (the "Other SSIP Projects") based on priority, schedule, and affordability as part of its rolling 10-year capital plan.

SSIP Program Development and Chronology

In February 2010, the Commission directed the SFPUC to proceed with the procurement of a program management consultant to assist with implementing the SSIP. AECOM-Parsons Joint Venture was selected, and the program management consultant team began work in September 2011 to validate the SSIP's scope, schedule and budget.

In August 2012, the Commission endorsed specific goals and levels of service, validated the scope and a three-phase implementation approach for the SSIP, and authorized the SFPUC to proceed with planning and development on a proposed set of Phase 1 Projects. The total SSIP budget was approximately $6.933 billion, which included approximately $2.7 billion for 70 Phase 1 Projects.

Between October 2015 and February 2016, the SFPUC set out to "baseline" the SSIP, which included re-prioritizing projects, refining the scope and budget, and realigning the schedule. The SFPUC then provided recommendations to the Commission to revise the SSIP.

In March 2016, based on recommendations from the SFPUC, the Commission approved the March 2016 SSIP Baseline, Scope, Budget and Schedule (the "2016 Baseline") and endorsed updated levels of service. The total SSIP budget increased to $6.976 billion; the budget for Phase 1 Projects increased to $2.910 billion, due primarily to the addition of flood resilience projects.

In April 2018, the Commission approved the 2018 Revised Baseline Scope, Schedule and Budget for the SSIP Phase 1 Projects (the "2018 Re-Baseline"), which revised the 2016 Baseline. Pursuant to the 2018 Re-Baseline, the budget for Phase 1 Projects increased to $2.979 billion, and four original Other SSIP Projects totaling $0.430 billion were initiated. The total SSIP budget was increased by $0.499 billion.

In December 2020, the Commission approved the 2020 Revised Baseline Scope, Schedule and Budget for SSIP Projects (the "2020 Re-Baseline"), which revised the 2018 Re-Baseline. Pursuant to the 2020 Re-Baseline, (i) the budget for Phase 1 Projects increased to $3.655 billion, due in part to a $0.404 billion increase for the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project and a $0.200 billion increase for the Southeast Plant New Headworks Project, (ii) the budget for the four original Other SSIP Projects increased to $0.513 billion, and 31 other projects originally identified for later phases of the SSIP totaling $0.684 billion were initiated as part of the category of Other SSIP Projects, increasing the budget for Other SSIP Projects to $1.197 billion. Final program completion for Phase 1 Projects was anticipated to be August 2027, and final program completion for Other SSIP Projects was anticipated to be December 2029.

Following the Commission's approval of the 2020 Re-Baseline, the SFPUC transitioned from implementing the original three-phase approach to implementing and initiating projects based on priority and schedule as part of its rolling 10-year capital plan through the SFPUC's budget process.

In February 2022, in place of approving a new SSIP baseline, the Commission adopted the 10-year capital plan for Fiscal Years 2022-23 to 2031-32 (the "2023 Capital Plan"), which included an updated total program budget for SSIP. Pursuant to the approved 2023 Capital Plan, the budget for Phase 1 Projects increased to $4.402 billion, due primarily to a $0.692 billion increase for the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project, and the budget for Other SSIP Projects increased to $1.570 billion, due primarily to the addition of nine new Other SSIP Projects. See also " – Biosolids Digester Facilities Project" below.

In February 2023, the Commission adopted the 2024 Capital Plan, which included a further updated total program budget for SSIP. Pursuant to the approved 2024 Capital Plan, the budget for Phase 1 Projects increased to $4.405 billion and the budget for Other SSIP Projects increased to $3.969 billion, due primarily to the addition of 59 new Other SSIP Projects that were originally identified for later phases of the SSIP.

Moving forward, the total program budget for SSIP is expected to be revised every two years as part of the SFPUC's biennial budget process.

Program Objectives

The SSIP capital improvement projects are designed to address specific infrastructure challenges and deficiencies facing the Wastewater Enterprise, maximize system reliability and flexibility, improve operational and seismic reliability, and promote current and future regulatory compliance. The SSIP project development considers environmental benefits, sustainability and community benefits in addressing long-term wastewater needs.

Program Goals

The program goals for the SSIP, which have not changed since the Commission endorsed them in August 2012, include the following: (1) provide a compliant, reliable, resilient and flexible system that can respond to catastrophic events; (2) integrate grey and green infrastructure to manage stormwater and minimize flooding; (3) provide benefits to impacted communities; (4) modify the system to adapt to climate change; (5) achieve economic and environmental sustainability; and (6) maintain ratepayer affordability.

Program Scope

The SSIP is currently broken into four major subprograms: (i) Program Management, (ii) Treatment Facilities, (iii) Sewer/Collection System and (iv) Stormwater Management/Flood Resilience.

Program Management. This subprogram includes overall program management for SSIP and also includes associated land reuse projects. The SFPUC aims to identify the best utilization of the Southeast Treatment Plant land development and building assets to develop the most efficient and economic approach to transform an aging wastewater plant into an integrated, well-connected campus that fulfills operation needs while prioritizing public safety and cultivating a healthy and inspired workforce. Forthcoming conceptual design efforts will create a site-wide prioritized vision of how the Southeast Treatment Plant campus will function and develop for the next generation. In alignment with the SFPUC's commitment as a leading environmental steward in resource recovery, design efforts for the Southeast Treatment Plant campus will embrace opportunities to create regenerative energy, such as "Class A" biosolids compost and biogas utilization, maximize use of renewable resources, implement green building concepts, maximize energy savings and address issues of climate change.

Treatment Facilities. SSIP Phase 1 focused mainly on improvements to treatment plants. Proposed treatment plant projects at the Southeast Treatment Plant, Oceanside Treatment Plant and North Point Facility will address aging infrastructure and outdated technologies, increase seismic and operational reliability, and reduce odors, noise, visual and other public impacts. These projects will also help maintain regulatory compliance by ensuring continued and reliable asset performance.

A majority of the SSIP Phase 1 improvements will occur at the Southeast Treatment Plant to upgrade the building and systems that were planned, designed and constructed in the 1940s and early 1950s. The Biosolids Digester Facilities Project, which consists of new digester and solids handling facilities to replace the aging facilities at the Southeast Treatment Plant, will include more modern treatment processes designed to produce "Class A" biosolids. Biosolids treatment processes are expected to include solids thickening, screening, dewatering, thermal hydrolysis pretreatment, digestion, gas handling, biogas utilization and odor control. See also " – Biosolids Digester Facilities Project" below. As several other SSIP projects are being constructed at the Southeast Treatment Plant during the same timeframe, a sitewide logistical, site access, and schedule coordination between the projects are being conducted to address potential congestion and conflicts. These other SSIP projects focused on liquid treatment and basic infrastructure, including construction of a new all-weather 250 mgd headworks facility, improvements to clarifiers, facility-wide distributed control systems and power feed and switchgear. The Southeast Treatment Plant will be operational throughout the construction of these capital improvements. See "WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE – Wastewater Treatment – Southeast Treatment Plant" and "RISK FACTORS – Risks Related to Wastewater Enterprise Facilities and Operation – Limited Redundancy."

In addition to the work at Southeast Treatment Plant, treatment plant projects will also include reliability improvements to both the Oceanside Treatment Plant and the North Point Facility, including seismic, electric and general reliability improvements.

Sewer/Collection System. Proposed collection system projects will increase the reliability of the sewer system and/or increase the operational flexibility to collect and convey wastewater and stormwater and will address aging infrastructure, including large diameter sewers, conveyance pump stations and force mains, transport/storage boxes and combined sewer discharge structures. By bringing the collection system assets up to a state of good repair, these projects will also address current and future regulatory compliance by helping to fulfill the required combined sewer overflows minimum controls, such as maximize use of the collection system for storage and maximize flows to the treatment plant. In addition, projects are prioritized to address the reliability of critical force mains that serve as an artery to convey combined sewage to the treatment plants. The collection system projects also include interdepartmental projects that capture sewer improvement opportunities arising from capital projects initiated by other City agencies.

Stormwater Management/Flood Resilience. This subprogram includes proposed projects focused on stormwater management and flood resilience, including addressing flood resilience in low lying areas subject to flood risk based on the SFPUC's design storm through grey and green infrastructure. The SFPUC's design storm is considered a storm with a three-hour duration that delivers 1.3 inches of rain and statistically occurs once every five years (also referred to as the Level of Service 5-year 3-hour design storm). Projects include the Wawona Project, the Lower Alemany Project, and the Folsom Project, each of which are further described below. Since no sewer system, including San Francisco's, can be designed to manage all stormwater in all storms, floodwater grants are managed through these projects, where residents can get reimbursed for making property improvements that minimize flood risk and help protect their properties against flooding during heavy rainstorms.

Specific improvements for the collection system have been prioritized through a strategy of balancing the needs of the collection system for system reliability and stormwater management. Project prioritization and phasing was guided by the Commission-endorsed levels of service, the timing of critical needs and opportunities for capital investments.

Wawona Area Stormwater Improvement Project. This project includes the installation of a new sewer pipe under Vicente Street, from Wawona Street to 34th Avenue. Replacement of aging water transmission and distribution mains on Wawona Street, 15th Avenue and on Vicente Street west of 19th Avenue has been coordinated and is being constructed jointly under the same construction contract. The project is designed to bring the intersection of 15th Avenue and Wawona Street to meet the SFPUC's design storm to reduce the risk of flooding in such area. This project is currently under construction.

Lower Alemany Area Stormwater Improvements Project. The Lower Alemany Area Stormwater Improvements Project (the "Lower Alemany Project") includes construction of a 10-foot diameter underground pipe from Stoneybrook Avenue to Industrial Street designed to carry stormwater away from the lower Alemany area and to reduce the risk of flooding during the SFPUC's design storm. This project is currently in the planning stage.

Folsom Stormwater Improvement Project. This project includes the construction of approximately 3,500 linear foot, 12-foot internal diameter tunnel from the vicinity of Alameda/Treat Streets to the vicinity of 7th/Berry Streets, and the construction of nearly 12,500 linear feet of sewer pipes to divert wastewater flows, including large volumes of stormwater during heavy rains, towards the new tunnel infrastructure. This project is currently in the design stage.

Program Budget and Funding Sources

The original 2012 SSIP budget was approximately $6.933 billion (the "Original Approved SSIP Budget"). As described above, the SFPUC has revised the original SSIP three-phase implementation approach to initiating projects as part of its 10-year capital plan based on priority and schedule. As shown in the following table, the Commission has most recently approved a total SSIP program budget of approximately $8.374 billion for a total of 70 Phase 1 Projects and 102 Other SSIP Projects (the "2024 Approved SSIP Budget"), with approximately $2.914 billion planned for Fiscal Year 2023-24 through 2032-33, approximately $999.4 million of which is for the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project. Additional SSIP projects may be approved in the future.

SUMMARY OF APPROVED SSIP TOTAL PROGRAM BUDGETS (IN THOUSANDS)

Subprograms	Approved Program Budget	Proposed Plan for Fiscal Year 2023-24 through 2032-33
Program Management	$ 430,719	$ 162,497
Treatment Facilities	4,932,764	1,741,990
Sewer/Collection System	1,759,566	279,572
Stormwater Management/Flood Control	1,250,545	729,712
Total	$8,373,593	$2,913,770

The variance between the Original Approved SSIP Budget and the 2024 Approved SSIP Budget is $1.441 billion, or a 20.8% increase, and due mainly to the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project, which is further described below under " – Biosolids Digester Facilities Project." The SFPUC can provide no assurance that the total cost of SSIP will not be higher than currently estimated.

Pursuant to the 2024 Capital Plan, SSIP is expected to be financed with long-term debt financing, including Additional Bonds and Parity Loans (such as additional SRF Loans or WIFIA loans), Wastewater Enterprise revenues (pay-as-you-go) and capacity fees. To the extent that SSIP costs ultimately exceed $8.374 billion, the SFPUC would require additional funds to complete the program, which could have a material adverse effect on the SFPUC's finances. Potential sources include, but are not limited to, additional long-term debt financing such as Additional Bonds and Parity Loans.

For a discussion of the long-term financing of, and sources of uses of funding, the entire Wastewater Enterprise's capital program, including the SSIP, see "FINANCING PLAN FOR WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM – Long Term Financing of Capital Program" and " – Sources and Uses of Funding the Capital Program."

Program Schedule

Pursuant to the 2024 Capital Plan approved by the Commission in February 2023, the anticipated final program completion for Phase 1 Projects is currently April 2036. However, the SFPUC can provide no assurance that the ultimate completion date for the Phase 1 Projects will not be later than currently estimated. As of December 2022, approximately 52.6% of Phase 1 Projects had been completed.

Based on the 2024 Capital Plan, the anticipated final program completion for Other SSIP Projects that have already been initiated is currently March 2041. However, the final program completion for Other SSIP Projects is expected to change as additional Other SSIP Projects are initiated based on priority and schedule as part of the SFPUC's rolling 10-year capital plan.

Biosolids Digester Facilities Project

The largest component of SSIP is the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project, which will replace and relocate the SFPUC's outdated existing solids treatment facilities at the Southeast Treatment Plant, with more reliable, efficient, and modern technologies and facilities. The new facilities will produce a higher quality biosolids, capture and treat odors more effectively, and maximize biogas utilization and resource recovery. As of September 2022, bid and award of most of the major biosolids facilities has been completed. Construction of five digester vessels is underway with the completion of the concrete mat foundation and on-going installation of the digester skirt walls; and construction of the solids pretreatment building is ongoing. Completion of the project is scheduled for 2029. The original budget for the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project, approved by the Commission in August 2012, was $1.681 billion; however, the budget for the project significantly increased to $2.373 billion. While the scope and schedule of the project remains the same, the budget has increased due in part to, among other things, complex site and construction conditions, volatile commodity costs, supply chain issues related to the COVID-19 pandemic, limited pool of potential and qualified bidders on contracts and other lack of available resources. The SFPUC can provide no assurance that the total cost of the Biosolids Digester Facilities Project will not be higher than, or that the ultimate completion date of the project will not be later than, currently estimated. See also " – Potential Changes to SSIP Projects" below and "RISK FACTORS – Cost of SSIP Projects; Timely Completion of SSIP Projects" and "– Construction Related Risks."

Management Approach

The development and implementation of the projects in the capital program, including SSIP projects, are led by SFPUC staff, with oversight and ultimate responsibility by the General Manager, Assistant General Manager of the Wastewater Enterprise, and Assistant General Manager of the Infrastructure Division.

Consultants are employed to support several programmatic functions, such as strategic program development, risk assessment and mitigation, program controls, various independent technical reviews, construction planning and management, communications and community relations. The services of consultants are also used on an as-needed or project-specific basis to assist SFPUC staff with functions such as engineering design, environmental review, right-of-way engineering and surveying, and construction management.

In an effort to mitigate the significant increase in project costs, the SFPUC has conducted additional efforts to reconfirm objectives and re-scoped projects as necessary, and reprioritized and delayed bidding of certain construction contracts to later years within the 2024 Capital Plan.

Potential Changes to SSIP Projects

Potential changes to the scope, schedule and budget of the projects and various unexpected events could affect the delivery of components of the SSIP. Such factors include, without limitation, the following:

- market conditions and the bidding environment for construction costs and materials due to external factors including, but not limited to, the COVID-19 pandemic and global conflicts;
- market conditions for financing the SSIP;
- changes in the legal and regulatory requirements affecting the Wastewater Enterprise and the SSIP (see "REGULATORY MATTERS");
- the discovery of unforeseen underground/geotechnical conditions, particularly for projects with tunneling activities and extensive earthwork;
- the discovery of unforeseen site conditions associated with existing infrastructure; many of the SSIP projects involve upgrades to existing structures and older facilities and accurate as-built records are not always available;
- the discovery of unforeseen site conditions associated with utility conflicts;
- unexpected failure of aging infrastructure or major equipment that warrant expedited repair or replacement;
- unexpected environmental discoveries that may impact construction activities; those may include the discovery of protected species, archaeological artifacts, contaminated soil or hazardous material at project sites;
- contractor claims, contractor non-performance, failure of contractors to execute within contract price, or failure of contractors to meet schedule terms;
- errors or omissions in contract documents (e.g., drawings and specifications) that may result in change orders and scope additions;
- equipment and material vendors' lack of compliance with quality and schedule requirements;
- inclement weather affecting contractor performance and timeliness of completion;
- labor issues involving work stoppages or slowdowns;
- the occurrence of a major seismic or other natural or man-made catastrophic event; or
- unforeseen public opposition to projects or elements of projects.

FINANCING PLAN FOR WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM

Long Term Financing of Capital Program

Pursuant to the Wastewater Enterprise's 10-year financial plan for Fiscal Years 2023-24 to 2032-33 (the "2024 Financial Plan"), which is based on the 2024 Capital Plan, and which was adopted by the SFPUC Commission on February 14, 2023, long-term debt financing is projected to fund approximately $3.536 billion of the 2024 Capital Plan. Revenue (pay-as-you-go) funding is projected to provide approximately $1.285 billion of funds and capacity fees is projected to provide approximately $57.6 million of the remaining portion of the 2024 Capital Plan. Long-term debt financing is expected to be comprised primarily of Additional Bonds and Parity Loans (such as additional SRF Loans or WIFIA loans). See "PLAN OF FINANCE," "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act Loans" and "RISK FACTORS – Access to Capital Markets."

Interim Funding Program Facilities

The SFPUC utilizes the Interim Funding Program to meet the expenditure and encumbrance needs of capital projects on an interim basis through design and into the early project construction phase. The Interim Funding Program is authorized for the Wastewater Enterprise in the amount of $750 million. The SFPUC may issue Commercial Paper Notes or make draws on the U.S. Bank Credit Facility. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Subordinate Debt and Interim Funding Program." Interim funding program obligations are then refunded and consolidated into either long-term revenue bond issues or a Parity Loan when the outstanding and encumbered amount of the interim funding obligations approaches authorized limits. This approach allows the SFPUC to take advantage of lower short-term interest rates, and to size and closely time long-term financings with projected need.

As of March 28, 2023, the SFPUC had approximately $556.1 million principal amount of Commercial Paper Notes outstanding and no outstanding principal balance on any of the Revolving Notes. Approximately $400.9 million of principal amount of and interest on the Commercial Paper Notes will be refunded with proceeds of the 2023A Bonds within 90 days of the issuance of the 2023A Bonds, and approximately $156.9 million of principal amount of and interest on the Commercial Paper Notes will be refunded with proceeds of the 2023B Bonds within 90 days of the issuance of the 2023B Bonds. The SFPUC anticipates issuing additional Commercial Paper Notes and making draws directly on the U.S. Bank Credit Facility to provide interim financing for Wastewater Enterprise capital projects. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Subordinate Debt and Interim Funding Program."

Sources and Uses of Funding the Capital Program

The table below sets forth the projected sources and uses of funds for the Wastewater Enterprise's capital program, including the SSIP, for Fiscal Years 2023-24 through 2027-28. Non-SSIP capital program categories include Renewal and Replacement projects, Treasure Island Capital Improvement projects and Wastewater Facilities and Infrastructure projects. The projected repayment of principal and interest on these future debt financings has been incorporated into the SFPUC's projected rates for the remaining projection period set forth in the 2024 Financial Plan.

The SFPUC approved a four-year retail sewer rate package beginning in Fiscal Year 2018-19, with rates increasing by approximately 7.7% during each of the four years. There was no rate increase in Fiscal Year 2022-23. The 2024 Rate Study is ongoing and expected to be completed in May 2023 to inform future rate proposals. Although the 2024 Rate Study is not yet final, the SFPUC projects that retail sewer rates will increase annually by an average of approximately 9.0% to 10.0% from Fiscal Year 2023-24 to Fiscal Year 2028-29. Any future rate increases are subject to future Commission approval (and subject to the Board of Supervisors' ability to reject rate increases). See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges – 2024 Water and Wastewater Cost of Service Study."

FINANCIAL OPERATIONS

General

The SFPUC is a department of the City and, as such, the financial operations of the SFPUC's three enterprises are included in the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report of the City and shown as enterprise funds. The City's Annual Comprehensive Financial Report is not incorporated by reference herein.

The following information is provided with respect to the Wastewater Enterprise only and does not purport to reflect the financial position of the SFPUC or the City as a whole.

Basis of Accounting. The accounts of the Wastewater Enterprise are organized based on a proprietary fund type, specifically an enterprise fund. The financial activities of the Wastewater Enterprise are accounted for on a flow of economic resources measurement focus, using the accrual basis of accounting. Under this method, all assets and liabilities associated with its operations are included on the statement of net assets; revenues are recorded when earned, and expenses are recorded when liabilities are incurred.

The SFPUC applies all applicable GASB pronouncements.

City Budget Process. The SFPUC's operating and capital budget preparation and approval is a part of a City-wide process. The SFPUC is one of several departments that prepares biannual budgets. The Commission reviews and approves the SFPUC's two-year budget, which is then submitted to the Mayor's Office for review. The Mayor then incorporates the proposed budget, with amendments, into the City-wide budget that is submitted to the Board of Supervisors for approval. Under the Charter, the Board of Supervisors may increase or decrease any proposed expenditure in the Mayor's budget so long as the aggregate changes do not cause the expenditures to exceed the total amount of expenditures proposed by the Mayor. The Charter further provides that the Mayor may reduce or reject any expenditure authorized by the Board of Supervisors except appropriations for bond interest, redemption or other fixed charges, subject to reinstatement of any such expenditure by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Supervisors.

City Services Auditor. On November 4, 2003, San Francisco voters adopted Proposition C, an ordinance that established the City Services Auditor ("CSA"), an audit function within the Office of the City Controller. Pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance, which have been incorporated into the Charter, the CSA has broad oversight authority and responsibilities including, but not limited to, (i) reporting upon level of effectiveness for City public services, (ii) auditing financial and management performance of City departments and functions, (iii) ensuring the financial integrity and improving the overall performance and efficiency of City government, and (iv) maintaining a whistleblower hotline to investigate upon reports of fraud, waste and abuse.

The CSA published a performance audit of the Wastewater Enterprise in June 2017. The report focused on workorder processes, premium pay, overtime and sick leave. The SFPUC has implemented or closed all of the report's recommendations.

On February 9, 2022, the CSA issued an audit report of the SFPUC's revenue bond program. The RBOC engaged CSA, which, in turn, engaged HKA Global, Inc. and, as its subcontractor, Yano Accountancy Corporation, to conduct the audit to determine whether revenue bond funds were spent in accordance with the stated purposes and permissible use of such bonds. The audit concluded that revenue bond expenditures were spent appropriately. The SFPUC has implemented two recommendations from the report to coordinate with RBOC to determine the most effective method to comprehensively report project expenditures by funding source and uses of revenue bond proceeds, as well as to comply with its policies regarding quality assurance audits. The next audit report of the SFPUC's revenue bond program is expected late April 2023.

Financial Management Policies. To support sound financial management practices during periods of instability, ensure organizational accountability and disciplined decision making, and maintain the highest practical credit ratings, the SFPUC conducted an extensive peer review study to compare the financial policies of other United States municipal utilities, analyze rating agency evaluations of financial policies and recommend changes to the SFPUC's existing financial policies. Based on this study, the Commission adopted in 2017 a Debt Service Coverage Policy, a Capital Financing Policy and a Fund Balance Reserve Policy. The SFPUC subsequently revised its Debt Management Policies and Procedures, which the Commission adopted in 2019. See "– Financial Management Policies." In addition, the Commission adopted a Ratepayer Assurance Policy to address the prudent use of ratepayer funds and the establishment of rates and charges and to ensure process transparency.

Financial Reporting System. The City implemented a new financial and procurement system in July 2017. Trained City staff have been using the system to report accounting, procurement and financial information, starting with the information for Fiscal Year 2017-18.

Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges

General. Sewer service charges are the primary funding source for the payment of costs associated with the Wastewater Enterprise's sanitary wastewater and stormwater collection, treatment and disposal services. Pursuant to the Charter, an independent consultant prepares an analysis of projected revenues and revenue requirements of the Wastewater Enterprise at least once every five years. Based on this analysis, the SFPUC sets rates projected to be sufficient to fund the proposed budget, to maintain an adequate operating reserve and to comply with Indenture requirements. In addition to meeting the SFPUC's capital financing, debt service coverage and reserve policy minimums, the rates must also comply with regulations or policies promulgated by the EPA, the State Water Resources Control Board and the Board of Supervisors and with the requirements of the City's Charter and the State Constitution; however, the SFPUC's sewer service rates are not subject to any approval proceedings by the California Public Utilities Commission or any other State or federal agencies. See "CONSTITUTIONAL, STATUTORY AND CHARTER LIMITATIONS – State Law Limitations."

Federal and State Requirements. Under federal clean water laws and regulations, entities accepting federal grant funds and loans (such as the SFPUC) must comply with certain requirements related to the sufficiency of revenues and system operations, maintenance and replacement. Federal and State requirements related to grant and loan funding are administered and enforced by the State Water Resources Control Board. See "REGULATORY MATTERS" for a more detailed discussion of State and federal regulations affecting the Wastewater Enterprise.

Summary of Charter Rate-Setting Requirements. Pursuant to certain provisions of Proposition E, which became effective with respect to the Wastewater Enterprise on January 3, 2003, the Charter was amended to authorize the Commission to set rates, fees and other charges in connection with providing Wastewater Enterprise services. These rate changes are subject to rejection, within 30 days of submission, by the Board of Supervisors. If the Board of Supervisors does not act within 30 days, the rates become effective without further action.

In setting Wastewater Enterprise rates, fees and charges, the Commission must:

(a) establish rates, fees and charges at levels sufficient (i) to improve or maintain financial condition and bond ratings at or above levels equivalent to highly rated utilities (see "RATINGS"), (ii) to meet requirements and covenants under all bond resolutions and indentures (including the Indenture) and (iii) to provide sufficient resources for the continued financial health (including appropriate reserves), operation, maintenance and repair, consistent with good utility practice;

(b) retain an independent rate consultant to conduct rate and cost of service studies at least every five years;

(c) set retail rates, fees and charges based on the cost of service;

(d) conduct all studies mandated by applicable State or federal law to consider implementing connection fees servicing new development;

(e) conduct studies of rate-based conservation incentives and/or lifeline rates and similar rate structures to provide assistance to low income users, and to take the results of each study into account when establishing rates, fees and charges, in accordance with State and federal laws; and

(f) adopt annually a rolling five-year forecast of rates, fees and charges.

Rate Setting Process. The Wastewater Enterprise periodically adjusts rates based on a comprehensive cost of service analysis and the resulting revenue requirement analysis, as required by the Charter. The biannual budget submitted to the Commission, the Mayor and the Board of Supervisors for approval, along with the long-term projections in the 10-year financial plan adopted by the Commission, are used as the basis for determining annual revenue requirements. The Wastewater Enterprise projects revenues under the existing schedule of rates for sufficiency. If additional revenues are required to meet budgetary sufficiency or if the cost structure of the Wastewater Enterprise has changed, recommended rate schedule increases are submitted to the Commission for its consideration. After receiving public comment, the Commission adopts a rate resolution and transmits its recommended rate schedules to the Board of Supervisors. Once submitted, the Board of Supervisors has authority under the Charter to vote to reject the proposed rate schedules within 30 days. If rejected, the existing rate schedules remain in effect until a new rate schedule is resubmitted by the Commission and not rejected by the Board of Supervisors.

Whenever rates are revised, costs are allocated to pollutant parameters, volume, suspended solids, oil and grease, and chemical oxygen demand, and any costs are then allocated to each of the rate categories. See "– Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges – Non-Residential Users."

As part of the annual 10-year financial plan process, the Wastewater Enterprise develops a 10-year rate forecast using projected revenues under existing rates plus additional revenues from projected rate increases, as required, to meet the projected revenue requirements during the forecast period. This forecast is updated each year resulting in a "rolling" rate forecast that is intended to moderate the effects of any significant changes in revenue requirements in any year.

In addition to complying with the requirements of the Charter, the rate-setting process must comply with the requirements of the State Constitution. See "CONSTITUTIONAL, STATUTORY AND CHARTER LIMITATIONS – State Law Limitations."

SFPUC Citizens Advisory Committee and Rate Fairness Board. The Public Utilities Commission Citizens' Advisory Committee ("CAC"), established by a Charter amendment in 2002, provides recommendations to the SFPUC's General Manager and the Board of Supervisors regarding the SFPUC's long-term strategic, financial and capital improvement plans. The CAC is comprised of 17 appointees. Each member of the Board of Supervisors may appoint one member who must be a resident of their supervisory district. Candidates must demonstrate one or more of the following qualifications: represent a community, business, environmental or environmental justice organization, or have demonstrated knowledge, skill or experience in a field related to public utilities, environmental justice or environmental science. Two additional members of the CAC are appointed by the President of the Board of Supervisors, one of whom represents a small business and the other of whom represents an environmental justice organization. Four members are appointed by the Mayor and must include one member who represents regional water customers of the SFPUC, one who represents a large City water user, one who has knowledge of engineering or financial management and one who represents a regional or statewide environmental organization.

Proposition E, approved by San Francisco voters in 2002, directed the establishment of a Rate Fairness Board to advise the SFPUC on water, sewer and power rate matters. The Rate Fairness Board consists of seven members: the City Administrator or their designee; the Controller or their designee; the Director of the Mayor's Office of Public Finance or their designee; two residential City retail customers, consisting of one appointed by the Mayor and one by the Board of Supervisors; and two City retail business customers, consisting of a large business customer appointed by the Mayor and a small business customer appointed by the Board of Supervisors. Specific powers for the Rate Fairness Board include the authority to: (1) annually review the five-year rate forecasts produced by the SFPUC enterprises, including the Wastewater Enterprise; (2) hold one or more public hearings on annual rate recommendations before the SFPUC adopts rates; (3) provide a report and recommendations to the SFPUC on any rate proposal; and (4) in connection with periodic rate studies, submit to the SFPUC rate policy recommendations for the Commission's consideration, including recommendations to reallocate costs among various retail utility customer classifications, subject to any outstanding bond requirements. The Rate Fairness Board is not authorized, however, to reject proposed rates approved by the Commission.

Currently Approved Four-Year Rate Schedule. In April 2018, the Commission approved four years of annual retail water and sewer service rate increases beginning July 1, 2018, and applicable to Fiscal Years 2018-19 through 2021-22. Separate rate schedules apply to single-family residential, multi-family residential and non-residential customers.

Prior to June 30, 2018, 100% of the Wastewater Enterprise's customer bills were calculated based on metered water volumes, with a per-customer "flow factor" adjustment to estimate the percentage of water that does not enter the system as sewage. Beginning July 1, 2018, in addition to the monthly discharge volume charge, a flat monthly service charge is billed to all wastewater customers. Wastewater service charges recover a portion of fixed costs associated with customer service and billing, which are the same for all customers. See "– Residential Users" and "– Non-Residential Users."

In November 2021, the Commission declared a water shortage emergency and adopted, among other things a systemwide 10% water use reduction target from Fiscal Year 2019-20 baselines (consisting of a 5% retail customer water use reduction and 13.7% wholesale water use reduction, for a collective systemwide water-use reduction of 10%), and confirmed an effective date of April 1, 2022, for a mandatory temporary drought surcharge not-to-exceed a 5% increase of current volumetric water and wastewater rates for retail water and wastewater customers. In May 2022, the Commission increased the systemwide water use reduction target from Fiscal Year 2019-20 baselines to 11% (consisting of a 5% retail customer water use reduction and 16% wholesale water use reduction, for a collective systemwide water-use reduction of 11%). The water shortage emergency will remain in effect until rescinded by the Commission, based on drought conditions, state actions related to curtailments, and customer response to calls for water use reductions. See "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE – Customer Base." Under State law, all sewer rates reflect cost of service by customer class.

There was no rate increase in Fiscal Year 2022-23. A rate study is ongoing and expected to be completed in May 2023 to inform future rate proposals. See "– 2024 Water and Wastewater Cost of Service Study."

Residential Users. Residential users are charged a fixed monthly service charge and volumetric charges based on discharge units. Monthly discharge units are determined for residential customer accounts by multiplying an account's total monthly water consumption by the "flow factor" applicable to such account, which calculation is designed to approximate that portion of the account's total water use returned to the sewer system as wastewater. For example, a customer using 10 units of water and having a flow factor of 90% would be billed for 9 discharge units. Each discharge unit represents 100 cubic feet of water discharged as approximated by this calculation. The standard flow factor for single-family residential accounts is 90%. The standard flow factor for multi-family residential accounts is 95%. All residential discharge is assumed to be of a standard strength. Multi-family residential water rates have a multiplier based on the number of dwelling units at the service address and sewer service charges are assessed on the basis of water use as billed by the Water Enterprise multiplied by a flow factor.

The following table sets forth single-family and multi-family residential sewer rates for Fiscal Years 2018-19 to 2021-22, which were approved on April 10, 2018, and for Fiscal Year 2022-23, for which there was no rate increase.

(1) Temporary drought surcharge for volumetric rates in effect as of April 1, 2022 is projected to remain in effect through Fiscal Year 2024-25 and is expected to be bill neutral for customers that meet established conservation targets; this surcharge has been incorporated into the projected average monthly bill amount. See "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments – Recent Drought" and "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges – Currently Approved Four-Year Rate Schedule."

(2) Average water consumption amount for multi-family residential customers is assumed to be 1,250 cubic feet of water per month for 3 dwelling units.

(3) Rates approved on April 10, 2018.

(4) There was no rate increase in Fiscal Year 2022-23. Fiscal Year 2022-23 rates remained the same as Fiscal Year 2021-22 rates.

The SFPUC's Customer Assistance Program ("CAP") offers a 25% discount off wastewater charges for individually metered single-family residential customers with incomes below 200% of the federal poverty level. As of December 31, 2022, approximately 6,200 residential customers received CAP discounts. In addition, the SFPUC's Low-Income Non-Profit Housing Program offers a 15% discount off wastewater charges for residential customers in properties owned and operated by certain nonprofits and the SFPUC's Community Housing Program offers a 50% discount off wastewater charges for certain single room occupancy hotels providing transitional housing to the homeless and general assistance recipients.

Non-Residential Users. Non-residential wastewater rates include a fixed monthly service charge and a uniform rate for volume plus per pound strength charges. Non-residential users are charged the cost for each parameter according to the schedule of rates in the table below. Customers whose parameter loadings are not based on periodic sampling are charged based on standard parameter loadings established by the General Manager for each Standard Industrial Classification code in accordance with applicable State and federal laws and regulations.

On July 24, 2018, the Commission adopted rules for billing stormwater-related sewer service charges for unmetered properties. Non-residential owners of vacant lots, parking lots, and other properties in San Francisco that do not have water or wastewater service (i.e., "unmetered properties") that are determined to be "Low Runoff" or "Standard Runoff" under the adopted rules are charged the monthly sewer service charges set forth in the following table. These charges are derived from the same adopted rates for the portion attributable to the disposal of stormwater runoff from properties with existing water and wastewater accounts, therefore no new rates were adopted as a result of the Commission's actions.

As part of the 2024 Rate Study, the SFPUC is considering revising wastewater service charges to include both a sanitary sewer component and a stormwater runoff component, which would allow the SFPUC to recover costs related to collecting and treating stormwater runoff based on property characteristics that result in greater stormwater runoff. If approved by the Commission, the monthly sewer service attributable to stormwater runoff will no longer be applicable. See "– 2024 Water and Wastewater Cost of Service Study."

Appeals. While most customers are billed for sewer usage based on standard flow factor assumptions, customers may appeal this determination. For example, it is assumed that 90% of the volume of water measured at the customer meter for a single-family residential user is discharged to the sewer system as wastewater requiring treatment. Customers who can demonstrate higher rates of consumptive use than that reflected in the applicable flow factor, such as irrigation, can apply to the Residential Users Appeals Board for a lower flow factor (i.e., percentage of metered water returned to the sewage system).

2024 Water and Wastewater Cost of Service Study. The SFPUC is currently engaged in a water and wastewater cost of service study (the "2024 Rate Study") that will set forth recommended water and wastewater rates appropriate to meet the SFPUC's funding needs and achieve pricing objectives for the three-year period of Fiscal Year 2023-24 through Fiscal Year 2025-26. The 2024 Rate Study is expected to be completed in May 2023. Although the 2024 Rate Study is not yet final, the SFPUC projects that retail sewer rates will increase annually by an average of approximately 9.0% to 10.0% from Fiscal Year 2023-24 to Fiscal Year 2028-29.

The SFPUC is taking several measures to mitigate the risk of over-projecting volumes, which could potentially lead to revenue shortfalls. First, projections in the 2024 Rate Study are based on actual water usage for Fiscal Year 2022-23, which reflects decreased water usage due to the COVID-19 pandemic, conservation related to the recent drought, and observed population declines in San Francisco. Second, the projections in the 2024 Rate Study assume that the City never fully recovers from the decline in water usage caused by the pandemic and the resulting shift to remote work and declining daytime population. See "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments." Finally, instead of approving rates for four years, as was done following the two prior rate studies, the SFPUC is considering approving a three year rate schedule to allow for a realignment of rates to observed sales volumes on a more frequent basis should further declines materialize.

Bifurcation of Wastewater Service Charges. The SFPUC's wastewater system is a combined sanitary sewer and stormwater system. Within this combined system, stormwater comprises approximately 11% of the annual flows treated by the Wastewater Enterprise. The SFPUC's existing rate structure reflects that of a traditional wastewater-only utility, assessing customers only based on their sanitary sewage contributions to the system. As part of the 2024 Rate Study, the SFPUC is considering revising sewer service charges to include both a sanitary sewer component and a stormwater runoff component. This approach will allow the SFPUC to recover costs related to collecting and treating stormwater runoff based on property characteristics that result in greater stormwater runoff, while sanitary sewer costs will continue to be based on customer sewer discharges. To support the implementation of the stormwater runoff charge, the SFPUC will also be initiating a stormwater credit program to offer bill discounts to customers that manage stormwater on their property through the use of green infrastructure. This change will bring the Wastewater Enterprise's rates more into line with the costs of providing service to its customers while simultaneously providing incentives for customers to manage stormwater on their properties.

Revenues

Sewer Service Charges. Sewer service charges are imposed based on discharge volume estimates and, in the case of non-residential users, suspended solids, oil and grease and chemical oxygen demand. See "– Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges." The following tables show billed discharge by category and annual sewer billings by customer class for Fiscal Years 2017-18 to 2021-22.

(1) Overall decrease in Fiscal Year 2020-21 billings primarily due to decrease in commercial sanitary flow related to the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

(2) Increase in Fiscal Year 2021-22 billings primarily due to planned rate increase implemented on July 1, 2021; also includes two months of mandatory temporary drought surcharge of 5% effective as of April 1, 2022. See "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments – Recent Drought" and "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges – Currently Approved Four-Year Rate Schedule."

Sewer Account Billing and Delinquencies. Sewer service charges are billed on a combined water and sewer utility bill on either a monthly or bi-monthly basis. Payments are due 15 days after the bill date. If payments are not made, late payment charges are assessed 15 days from the due date or 30 days from the bill date. Accounts are considered delinquent 15 days after a second unpaid bill. Water service may be disconnected, or a lien may be assessed against the property for non-payment of water and sewer services.

Since March 2020, the number of delinquent SFPUC accounts has grown significantly due to the COVID-19 pandemic, from approximately $631,000 in March 2020 to approximately $8.7 million in December 2022. Such increase is primarily driven by a moratorium on water shutoffs, liens and other collections processes which allowed customers to accrue large arrearages without any financial penalties. As of September 2022, the SFPUC has discretion to restart severance and liens processes to multifamily residential accounts carrying balances greater than $25,000 which are 90 days or more past due. See "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments – Collections and Delinquencies."

Once an account is delinquent, a series of notices are sent to the customer and if payment is still not made, action to shutoff the water supply is initiated. However, if the delinquent account is in the name of the property owner and payment is still not made despite such notices, the customer will receive a lien warning notice. After a lien notice is delivered, a lien hearing is held and, if the bill still remains outstanding, the lien is recorded and can only be removed upon full payment of all unpaid charges, plus administrative fees and interest. Liens not paid during the Fiscal Year in which they are recorded are transferred to the City Tax Collector's Office, Bureau of Delinquent Revenues for collection as a lien against the property. Accounts for which property transfers occurred prior to recording the lien and closed accounts with amounts less than $25 are normally written off as uncollectible.

Because of these collections processes, the SFPUC's annual write-offs for wastewater accounts remain relatively low. The following table shows a five-year history of write-offs for uncollectible accounts, excluding Municipal Customers:

WRITE-OFFS FOR UNCOLLECTIBLE ACCOUNTS
FISCAL YEARS 2017-18 TO 2021-22

Capacity Charges. Effective July 1, 2005, any customer requesting a new connection to the sewer system or requiring additional collection or treatment capacity because of any addition, improvement, modification or change in use of an existing connection as determined solely by the General Manager must pay a capacity charge for the new or additional capacity required to serve the customer. The capacity charge is site specific and may not be sold, traded or conveyed in a manner to another site or customer. The capacity charge does not convey or imply ownership in or of any facilities of the Wastewater Enterprise.

Effective July 1, 2014, capacity charges are assessed based on water meter equivalents, which provide a direct estimate of wastewater flow to the system, and Standard Industrial Classification code, which accounts for wastewater strength. For a single residential customer with a 5/8" water meter, the wastewater capacity charge fee for Fiscal Year 2021-22 is $6,280. The capacity charge is adjusted on July 1 of each subsequent year by the annual change in the 20-City Average Construction Cost Index published by Engineering News Record Magazine.

Capacity charges have averaged approximately 1.5% of revenues from Fiscal Year 2019-2020 through 2021-22.

Operating and Maintenance Expenses

"Operating and Maintenance Expenses" cover the general operational expenses of the Wastewater Enterprise. These expenses include labor and employment benefits, contractual services, materials and supplies, depreciation, general and administrative, services from other departments and other miscellaneous costs. See "HISTORICAL OPERATING RESULTS" and "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – Employee Relations." Services from other departments include payment for services from other City departments, such as the City Attorney's Office and the General Services Agency.

Allocation of Costs. Various common costs incurred by the SFPUC are allocated among the Wastewater Enterprise, the Water Enterprise and the Power Enterprise. Allocations are based on the SFPUC management's best estimate and may change from year to year depending on activities undertaken by each enterprise and information available.

For Fiscal Years 2020-21 and 2021-22, the SFPUC allocated $29.5 million and $32.2 million respectively, in administrative costs to the Wastewater Enterprise. For Fiscal Year 2022-23, the SFPUC has budgeted $37.6 million in administrative costs to the Wastewater Enterprise. Administrative costs are recorded as personal service expenses and also in other various operating expenses in the Wastewater Enterprise financial statements.

Payments to/from the City. The SFPUC receives payments from other agencies of the City for their share of the proportionate cost of the service provided to them. For Fiscal Years 2020-21 and 2021-22, these service deliveries generated approximately $5.1 million and $5.9 million in revenues, respectively. Over the past five Fiscal Years, including Fiscal Year 2021-22, revenues from service deliveries have averaged approximately 1.6% of Wastewater Enterprise revenues. For Fiscal Year 2022-23, the SFPUC has budgeted $8.0 million in revenues from service deliveries.

A variety of City departments provide services such as engineering, purchasing, legal, data processing, telecommunications and human resources to the Wastewater Enterprise, and charge amounts designed to recover those costs. For Fiscal Years 2020-21 and 2021-22, these charges totaled approximately $38.3 million and $39.6 million, respectively. For Fiscal Year 2022-23, the SFPUC has budgeted $35.7 million for such charges.

The SFPUC makes payments to the City relating to the financing of the SFPUC's headquarters at 525 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Other Subordinate Obligations Payable from Net Revenues."

Financial Management Policies

The SFPUC makes no representation that the following policies and targets will not be revised or amended and, except to the extent required for compliance with the terms of the Indenture, makes no representation that these policies will be followed by the SFPUC or that targets will be met.

Debt Management Policies and Procedures. The SFPUC has established "Debt Management Policies and Procedures" (the "Debt Policies") for debt financing under its jurisdiction. The SFPUC has also established separate "SFPUC Bond Disclosure Policies and Procedures" (the "Disclosure Policies") which are appended to the Debt Policies. The Debt Policies, including the appended Disclosure Policies, apply to all SFPUC enterprises, including the Wastewater Enterprise, and are intended to enable the SFPUC to effectively manage its debt issuance and administration practices and comply with all debt issuance and administration rules and regulations. The Debt Policies are reviewed bi-annually and revised, as necessary, with Commission approval.

Revisions to the Debt Policies were most recently adopted by the Commission on November 26, 2019. This included revisions to three key areas:

(1) Disclosure – The Disclosure Policies now cover two amendments that were made to Rule 15c2-12, effective February 27, 2019 (the "Rule 15c2-12 Amendments"). See the Listed Events 15 and 16 in "APPENDIX D – FORM OF CONTINUING DISCLOSURE CERTIFICATE." In addition, pursuant to the Disclosure Policies, the SFPUC developed a Disclosure Practices Working Group (the "DPWG"). The DPWG will meet at least semiannually to better and more effectively administer the SFPUC's continuing disclosure requirements, particularly to monitor the SFPUC's financial obligations and financial difficulties, if any, in light of the Rule 15c2-12 Amendments. The DPWG is comprised of the Assistant General Manager, Business Services and Chief Financial Officer, two Deputy Chief Financial Officers and the Debt Manager of the SFPUC, with legal consultation from the City Attorney's Office and the SFPUC's outside disclosure counsel.

(2) Variable Rate Obligations – The Debt Policies, which set forth and describe various types of debt obligations that the SFPUC may issue, now allow the SFPUC to issue variable rate obligations of the Wastewater Enterprise with more market-standard provisions.

(3) WIFIA Loans –The Debt Policies were revised to add WIFIA loans as a permitted form of low-cost debt financing instrument, comparable to the low-cost State revolving fund loans that the SFPUC has, from time-to-time, executed with the State. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act Loans."

Debt Service Coverage Policy. The Commission adopted a debt service coverage policy (the "Debt Service Coverage Policy") on March 28, 2017, which applies to all SFPUC enterprises, including the Wastewater Enterprise. Pursuant to the Debt Service Coverage Policy, to ensure that the SFPUC maintains access to low-cost capital and retains financial flexibility for contingencies, the SFPUC will aim to adopt budgets, rates and financial plans that generate revenues such that debt service coverage calculated on an Indenture basis (including certain available fund balances) will be at least 1.35 times and debt service coverage calculated on a current basis (Net Revenues divided by debt service on Bonds and Parity Loans) will be at least 1.10 times.

The Indenture includes a rate covenant of 1.25 times coverage (including certain available fund balances). See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Rate Covenants – Debt Service Coverage."

Capital Financing Policy. The Commission adopted a capital financing policy (the "Capital Financing Policy") on March 28, 2017, which applies to all SFPUC enterprises, including the Wastewater Enterprise. The SFPUC relies mainly on current revenue and debt financing to pay for capital assets or improvements. According to the Capital Financing Policy, the appropriate mix of current revenues versus debt financing depends, in part, on the capital investment lifecycle of the Wastewater Enterprise. Accordingly, the SFPUC has determined that over the 10-year financial planning horizon, the SFPUC will aim to pay for a minimum ranging between 15% and 30% of the Wastewater Enterprise's capital budget from current revenues.

Fund Balance Reserve Policy. The Commission adopted a fund balance reserve policy (the "Fund Balance Reserve Policy") on February 28, 2017, which applies to all SFPUC enterprises, including the Wastewater Enterprise. Pursuant to the Fund Balance Reserve Policy, for the time period covered in the 10-year financial plan, the SFPUC will aim to propose operating and capital budgets and rates for adoption such that the Fund Balance Reserve totals a minimum of 90 days or 25% of operations and maintenance expenses (including programmatic projects and excluding debt service and revenue-funded capital) throughout the forecast period. Amounts in excess of such minimum will be considered for contingencies and rate stabilization.

Affordability Target. The SFPUC targets keeping the average combined monthly bill to retail customers for water and wastewater services below 2.5% of San Francisco median household income. The SFPUC projects continuing to be able to meet this target throughout its current planning horizon.

The SFPUC makes no representation that its policies and targets will not be revised or amended and, except to the extent required for compliance with the terms of the Indenture, makes no representation that these policies will be followed by the SFPUC or that targets will be met.

Investment of SFPUC Funds

The SFPUC's pooled deposits and investments are invested pursuant to State law and the investment policy established from time to time by the City Treasurer and overseen by the Treasury Oversight Committee. The current policy seeks the preservation of capital, liquidity and yield, in that order of priority. Under the City Treasurer's current investment procedures, the SFPUC's pooled deposits and investments are invested in the City's larger pooled investment fund (the "City Pool"). Among other purposes, the City Pool serves in effect as a disbursement account for expenditures from the City's various segregated and pooled funds. Investments are generally made so that securities can be held to maturity. The City Treasurer calculated the weighted average maturity of these investments as of January 31, 2023, to be 528 days (most recent data available).

The following table sets forth the approximate book values of the investments held in the City Pool reported by the City Treasurer as of January 31, 2023. The Wastewater Enterprise's pooled deposits and investments accounted for approximately $180.3 million, or approximately 1.25%, of such amounts. The Water Enterprise and the Power Enterprise each have their own pooled deposits and investments that are separate from the Wastewater Enterprise.

The SFPUC's non-pooled deposits and investments consist primarily of funds related to the SFPUC's Outstanding Bonds, which are invested pursuant to policy established by the SFPUC, subject to the restrictions contained in the applicable bond documentation.

Risk Management and Insurance

The SFPUC's risk management program encompasses both self-insured and insured coverage. Risk assessments and coverage are coordinated by the SFPUC Enterprise Risk Manager through the City Office of Risk Management. With certain exceptions, the City and SFPUC's general approach is to first evaluate self-insurance for the risk of loss to which it is exposed. Based on this analysis, the SFPUC has determined that mitigating risk through a "self-retention" mechanism is more economical as it manages risks internally and administers, adjusts, settles, defends and pays claims from budgeted resources (i.e., pay-as-you-go). When economically more viable or when required by debt financing covenants, the SFPUC obtains commercial insurance.

At least annually, the City reviews and actuarially determines general liability and workers' compensation liabilities, which are recorded as "Damages and Claims" and "Accrued Worker's Compensation" in the financial statements.

The SFPUC does not maintain commercial earthquake coverage, with certain minor exceptions, such as a sub-limit for fire-sprinkler leakage due to earthquake under the Property Insurance program.

The following is a summary of the SFPUC's coverage approach to risk:

Primary Risks	Typical Coverage Approach
General Liability	Self-Insured
Property	Purchased Insurance & Self-Insured
Electronic Data Processing	Purchased Insurance & Self-Insured
Workers' Compensation	Self-Insured through City-Wide Pool
Other Risks	Typical Coverage Approach
Surety Bonds	Purchased and Contractually Transferred
Professional Liability	Combination of Self-Insured, Purchased Insurance and Contractual Risk Transfer
Errors & Omissions	Combination of Self-Insured, Purchased Insurance and Contractual Risk Transfer
Builders Risk	Purchased Insurance & Contractual Risk Transfer
Public Officials Liability	Purchased Insurance
Employment Practices Liability	Purchased Insurance
Crime	Purchased Insurance
Cyber Liability	Purchased Insurance

The SFPUC's property risk management approach varies depending on whether the facility is currently under construction, or if the property is part of revenue-generating operations. The majority of purchased insurance is for revenue-generating facilities, debt-financed facilities and mandated coverage to meet statutory or contractual requirements.

Additionally, the SFPUC acknowledges the importance of aligning strategic planning to the risk management process and has implemented an Enterprise Risk Management program to meet this need. The framework provides a strategic approach to managing operational risks. The Enterprise Risk Management program has been implemented thus far for Information Technology Services, the Power Enterprise and CleanPowerSF and plans are in place to continue implementation across the remainder of the SFPUC as needed.

Capital Project Risk Management. For capital construction projects, the SFPUC has utilized traditional contractual risk transfer, contractor-controlled insurance programs or other alternative insurance programs. Under the latter two approaches, the insurance program usually provides coverage for the entire construction project, along with multiple risk coverages, such as general liability and workers compensation. When a contractual risk transfer is used for capital construction risks, the SFPUC requires each contractor to provide its own insurance, while ensuring that the full scope of work be covered with satisfactory levels to limit the SFPUC's risk exposure balanced by that which is commercially available.

Performance bonds are required, and builder's risk insurance must be purchased, in most phases of the construction contracting process for such phases, as bid, performance, and payment or maintenance. Additionally, bonds may be required in other contracts where goods or services are provided to ensure compliance with applicable terms and conditions such as warranty.

Professional liability policies are either directly purchased insurance on behalf of the SFPUC, transferred through contract to the contracted professional, or retained through self-insurance on a case by case basis depending on the size, complexity or scope of construction or professional service contracts. Professional liability policies are typically purchased for services provided by engineers, architects, design professionals and other licensed or certified professional service providers.

Builder's risk policies of insurance are required to be provided either through an owner-controlled insurance program or the contractor on all construction projects for the full value of the construction.

HISTORICAL OPERATING RESULTS

Summary of Historical Operating Results and Debt Service Coverage

The historical results of operations reflected in the following table are based on the tables contained in the SFPUC's financial statements entitled "Statements of Revenues, Expenses and Changes in Net Position" and "Statements of Cash Flows" for the Fiscal Years listed. This table excludes certain non-operating revenue and expenses included in the "Statements of Revenues, Expenses and Changes in Net Position" table. Consequently, "Operating and Investment Income" presented in this table differs from "Change in net position" in the "Statements of Revenues, Expenses and Changes in Net Position" table. The calculation of debt service coverage includes net operating income and funds not budgeted to be spent in the next twelve months and legally available to pay debt service, as permitted under the Indenture. The audited financial statements of the Wastewater Enterprise for Fiscal Years 2020-21 and 2021-22, prepared by the SFPUC and audited by KPMG LLP, independent certified public accountants, are attached as APPENDIX B to this Official Statement. The following table should be read in conjunction with such financial statements. KPMG LLP has not reviewed the following table. See "APPENDIX B – SFPUC WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS."

(1) Operating and Investment Income presented in this table differs from the "Change in net position" presented in the "Statements of Revenues, Expenses and Changes in Net Position" in the audited financial statements set forth in "APPENDIX B – SFPUC WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS." This table presents Debt Service Coverage as defined under the Indenture and excludes certain elements of non-operating revenue and expenses included in the "Statements of Revenues, Expenses and Changes in Net Position" table in the audited financial statements. Examples of excluded elements are grant revenue, interest expense and gains from sale of assets. Totals may not add due to independent rounding.

(2) Increase in Fiscal Year 2021-22 mainly due to rate increase effective July 1, 2018, in addition to a decrease in allowance for uncollectible accounts. Also includes two months of mandatory temporary drought surcharge of 5% effective as of April 1, 2022. See "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments – Recent Drought" and "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges – Currently Approved Four-Year Rate Schedule."

(3) Includes approximately $476,000 in non-operating revenues in Fiscal Year 2021-22 only. Does not include non-operating revenues for prior Fiscal Years.

(4) Decrease in Fiscal Year 2021-22 is mainly due to unrealized loss in City treasury pooled investments attributed to the decline in market value of investments and rising interest rates.

(5) Increase in Fiscal Year 2021-22 due to 58.9% increase in average permit price and a 5.4% increase in permits issued attributed to new developments on Treasure Island and the City's re-opening and eliminating local restrictions on business operations.

(6) Decrease in Fiscal Year 2021-22 mainly related to GASB 68 pension adjustment offset by a 4% increase in cost of living adjustment (COLA).

(7) Increase in Fiscal Year 2021-22 mainly due to increase in water sewage treatment supplies expenses for Bayside operations.
(8) Increase in Fiscal Year 2021-22 is primarily due to more capitalized assets put in service.
(9) Increase in Fiscal Year 2021-22 mainly due to increase in judgement claims and expenses.
(10) Decrease in Fiscal Year 2021-22 mainly due to decrease in capital project related expenses.
(11) The Indenture defines "Net Revenues" on a cash basis.
(12) Represents adjustments to show investing activities on a cash basis.
(13) Represents adjustments to bring net income to a cash basis. Decrease in Fiscal Year 2021-22 mainly related to GASB 68 pension adjustment.
(14) Per the Indenture, includes any fund balances of the SFPUC or the Wastewater Enterprise available for payment of debt service and not budgeted to be expended during the 12 months following a calculation date, excluding monies held in any Reserve Account established under the Indenture.
(15) Bond Debt Service and Debt Service Coverage calculated per Indenture are net of capitalized interest, federal interest subsidy payments and Excluded Principal; these differ from amounts presented in previous Annual Reports (as defined herein) and financial statements.
(16) Coverage does not include debt service on subordinate obligations, including the Wastewater Enterprise's share of lease payments associated with the 2009 Golden Gate COPs and debt service on Commercial Paper Notes.
(17) Calculated as the sum of Net Revenues plus "Other Available Funds," divided by debt service on Bonds (including Parity Loans). The Indenture includes a rate covenant of 1.25x "Debt Service Coverage." See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Rate Covenants – Debt Service Coverage."
(18) The Wastewater Enterprise recorded certain immaterial corrections to the Fiscal Year 2017-18 financial statements to eliminate the recognition of certain capital assets; the impact of the change was to increase Fiscal Year 2017-18 expenses and decrease beginning net position as of July 2017. As a result of this change, the ratio calculated for Fiscal Year 2017-18 differs from the ratio presented in the Annual Disclosure Report for Fiscal Year 2017-18.
(19) Calculated as Net Revenues divided by debt service on Bonds (including Parity Loans).

PROJECTED OPERATING RESULTS

The following table presents projected operating results for the Wastewater Enterprise. These projections are based on an analysis of historical trends, adjusted where appropriate for known or anticipated changes in operations. The projections are also based on the assumption that all rate increases necessary to finance future expenses, including the SSIP and other capital programs, will be approved and implemented.

THESE PROJECTIONS, ALL OR SOME OF WHICH MAY OR MAY NOT BE REALIZED, ARE BASED ON THE ISSUANCE OF ADDITIONAL BONDS FOR THE CAPITAL PROGRAM, INCLUDING THE SSIP. CHANGES IN THE CIRCUMSTANCES THAT FORM THE BASES FOR THE ASSUMPTIONS USED IN DEVELOPING THESE PROJECTIONS, AS WELL AS UNANTICIPATED EVENTS, MAY OCCUR SUBSEQUENT TO THE DATE OF THE OFFICIAL STATEMENT. THEREFORE, ACTUAL RESULTS MAY DIFFER MATERIALLY FROM THE PROJECTIONS SHOWN.

(7) Consists of projected, not actual, debt service on outstanding parity revenue bonds (including the BDFP Bond), seven existing Parity Loans (see "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Parity Loans"), the 2023A Bonds, the portion of the 2023B Bonds not allocated to refunding the Refunded 2013B Bonds and Additional Bonds, net of capitalized interest and anticipated Refundable Credits relating to the 2010B Bonds. Assumes 4% interest rate on 2018C Bonds after October 1, 2023. Assumes continuation of 5.7% sequestration rate for Refundable Credits (see "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Rate Covenants – Debt Service Coverage"). Issuance of Additional Bonds to fund capital projects are expected to total approximately $2.6 billion between Fiscal Years 2023-24 through 2026-27. Standard assumptions for issuance of 2023A Bonds, the portion of the 2023B Bonds not allocated to refunding the Refunded 2013B Bonds and Additional Bonds include 30-year term with level debt service, 5% interest rate, no debt service reserve fund and up to 30 months of capitalized interest; however, the actual size and timing of such issuances will depend on market conditions and other factors as determined by the SFPUC. Does not include principal on the 2021AB Notes, which have been designated as Excluded Principal (see "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Rate Covenants – Debt Service Coverage"), and does not reflect the anticipated refunding of the Refunded 2013B Bonds or the Refunded 2018C Bonds and, therefore, does not include debt service on the portion of the 2023B Bonds allocated to refunding the Refunded 2013B Bonds or debt service on the 2023C Bonds (see "PLAN OF FINANCE").

(8) Coverage does not include debt service on subordinate obligations, including the Wastewater Enterprise's share of lease payments associated with the 2009 Golden Gate COPs and debt service on Commercial Paper Notes.

(9) Calculated as the sum of Net Revenues plus "Other Available Funds," divided by debt service on Bonds and Parity Loans. The Indenture includes a rate covenant of 1.25x "Debt Service Coverage." See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Rate Covenants – Debt Service Coverage."

(10) Calculated as Net Revenues divided by debt service on Bonds and Parity Loans.

Assumptions Used in Projections

In the preparation of the projections set forth in the table above, the SFPUC has made certain assumptions with respect to conditions that may occur in the future. While the SFPUC believes these assumptions are reasonable for the purpose of the projections, they are dependent on future events, and actual conditions are likely to differ, perhaps materially, from those assumed. To the extent actual future conditions differ from those assumed by the SFPUC or provided to the SFPUC by others, actual results will vary from those projected. This projected information has not been compiled, reviewed or examined by the SFPUC's independent auditors.

The assumptions used in the table above include the following:

Projected Revenue and Rate Increases. Projected revenues are based on projected wastewater service sales and the schedules of rates to be effective in each year. New rates are expected to be approved by the Commission in spring 2023 for three years beginning Fiscal Year 2023-24. Projected revenues assume rate increases of 9% in Fiscal Years 2023-24 through 2025-26 and 10% in Fiscal Year 2026-27. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges – 2024 Water and Wastewater Cost of Service Study." The 5% drought surcharge on volumetric rates, effective April 1, 2022, is projected to continue through Fiscal Year 2023-24; however, the SFPUC plans to evaluate the final snowpack and State orders in April 2023 before taking any actions to end the water shortage emergency declaration. For more information, see "THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION – COVID-19 Pandemic and Other Recent Developments – Recent Drought."

Projected Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise. Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise are projected to grow 2.72% for Fiscal Year 2023-24, grow 3.04% for Fiscal Year 2024-25, grow 3.05% for Fiscal 2025-26, and grow 3.06% for Fiscal Year 2026-27. The increases in Fiscal Year 2023-24 through Fiscal Year 2025-26 reflect an anticipated return closer to historical normal operations.

Projected Debt Service. Projected debt service consists of the projected, not actual, debt service on the 2010B Bonds (net of anticipated Refundable Credits), the 2013AB Bonds, the 2016AB Bonds, the 2018ABC Bonds (assuming 4% interest rate on 2018C Bonds after October 1, 2023), the 2021AB Notes (not including principal, which has been designated as Excluded Principal), the 2021AB Bonds (net of capitalized interest), the 2022B Bonds, the BDFP Bond, seven existing Parity Loans, the 2023A Bonds (net of capitalized interest), the portion of the 2023B Bonds not allocated to refunding the Refunded 2013B Bonds (net of capitalized interest), and Additional Bonds. Projected debt service does not reflect the anticipated refunding of the Refunded 2013B Bonds or the Refunded 2018C Bonds and, therefore, does not include debt service on the portion of the 2023B Bonds allocated to refunding the Refunded 2013B Bonds or debt service on the 2023C Bonds.

Following the issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds, the SFPUC anticipates that it will issue approximately $2.6 billion of Additional Bonds in Fiscal Years 2023-24, 2025-26, and 2026-27 to fund Wastewater Enterprise capital projects. The projected debt service for the 2023A Bonds and the portion of the 2023B Bonds not allocated to refunding the Refunded 2013B Bonds assumes 30-year term with level debt service, 5.0% interest rate, no debt service reserve fund and up to 30 months of capitalized interest. The projected debt service for Additional Bonds following the issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds assumes borrowing rate of 5.0%, no debt service reserve fund, and up to 30 months of capitalized interest. The actual issuance dates, borrowing rates and capitalized interest periods may vary from these assumptions. The SFPUC may also issue refunding bonds from time to time in response to market conditions in order to achieve debt service savings.

RISK FACTORS

This section provides a general overview of certain risk factors which should be considered, in addition to the other matters set forth in this Official Statement, in evaluating an investment in the 2023ABC Bonds. This section is not meant to be a comprehensive or definitive discussion of all of the risks associated with an investment in the 2023ABC Bonds. The order in which this information is presented does not necessarily reflect the relative importance of various risks or the probability of their occurrence.

Potential investors in the 2023ABC Bonds are advised to consider the following factors, among others, and to review this entire Official Statement to obtain information essential to the making of an informed investment decision. Any one or more of the risk factors discussed below, among others, could lead to a decrease in the market price and/or in the marketability of the 2023ABC Bonds or adversely affect the ability of the SFPUC to make timely payments of principal of or interest on the 2023ABC Bonds. There can be no assurance that other risk factors not discussed herein will not become material in the future, and the SFPUC has not undertaken to update investors about the emergence of the risk factors in the future.

General

The ability of the SFPUC to comply with its covenants under the Indenture and to generate Net Revenues sufficient to pay principal of and interest on the Bonds may be adversely affected by actions and events outside of the control of the SFPUC and may be adversely affected by actions taken (or not taken) by voters, property owners, taxpayers or persons obligated to pay fees and charges. Among other matters, general and local economic conditions and changes in law and government regulations could adversely affect the amount of Net Revenues realized by the SFPUC or significantly raise the cost of operating the Wastewater Enterprise.

In addition, the realization of future Net Revenues is subject to, among other things, the capabilities of management of the SFPUC, the ability of the SFPUC to provide service to its customers, the ability of the SFPUC to establish, maintain and collect charges from its customers and the ability of the SFPUC to establish, maintain and collect rates and charges sufficient to pay for Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Wastewater Enterprise, the Bonds and other obligations payable from Net Revenues. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS" and "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES."

Limited Obligation

If the SFPUC defaults on its obligations to make debt service payments on the Bonds, the Trustee has the right under the Indenture to accelerate the total unpaid principal amount of the Bonds. However, in the event of a default and such acceleration, there can be no assurance that the SFPUC, and correspondingly the Trustee, will have sufficient moneys available for payment of the Bonds.

The SFPUC is not obligated to pay the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds except from Net Revenues. The SFPUC has no taxing power. The General Fund of the City is not liable for the payment of the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds, and neither the credit nor the taxing power of the City is pledged to the payment of the principal of, premium, if any, or interest on the Bonds. The Bonds are not secured by a legal or equitable pledge of, or charge, lien or encumbrance upon, any of the property of the City or of the SFPUC or any of its income or receipts, except Net Revenues.

No Reserve Account

No Reserve Account has been established for the 2023ABC Bonds. The Reserve Accounts established with respect to other Series of Bonds do not secure the 2023ABC Bonds.

Payment of the 2023C Bonds on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date

No assurance can be given that the SFPUC will have sufficient funds on hand on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date for the 2023C Bonds to pay the Purchase Price of the 2023C Bonds on such date. In the event the SFPUC does not have sufficient funds on hand to pay the Purchase Price of the 2023C Bonds on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date, the SFPUC's ability to pay the Purchase Price will depend on the SFPUC's ability to issue and sell refunding obligations to refund the 2023C Bonds on or prior to such date or to remarket the 2023C Bonds. Failure by the SFPUC to pay the Purchase Price of the 2023C Bonds on the Initial Mandatory Tender Date would not constitute an Event of Default under the Indenture but would increase the amount of interest payable by the SFPUC on the 2023C Bonds.

Access to Capital Markets

The SFPUC expects that the source of repayment of the principal of the 2021AB Notes will be the proceeds of one or more draws under each of the BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement and the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement or the proceeds of the Take-Out Obligations to be issued by the SFPUC on or prior to the maturity dates of the 2021AB Notes. Disbursements under the BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement and the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement are subject to various conditions. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Water Infrastructure Finance and Innovation Act Loans – Conditions to Disbursements under WIFIA Loan Agreements." It is possible that the occurrence of an unforeseen circumstance could prevent or delay the SFPUC's ability to access the capital markets and issue Take-Out Obligations. Such market disruptions may occur in connection with an economic downturn. Discrete and short-term market disruptions are rare, but have occurred in the past as a result of a variety of factors and events, such as the COVID-19 pandemic, terrorist attacks, natural disasters or the failure or dissolution of, or other economic trouble being experienced by, an entity of systemic importance to the financial industry or the economy in general. If the SFPUC is unable to make draws under the BDFP WIFIA Loan Agreement or the STPI WIFIA Loan Agreement to repay the principal of the 2021A Notes or the 2021B Notes, no assurance can be given that the SFPUC will be able to issue Take-Out Obligations or that the SFPUC will have sufficient funds on hand to pay the principal of such notes on their respective maturity dates. A failure to repay the principal of the 2021A Notes or the 2021B Notes on their respective maturity dates would constitute an Event of Default under the Indenture. See "APPENDIX A – SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE – EVENTS OF DEFAULT AND REMEDIES OF BONDOWNERS."

Interim Funding Program Facilities

Commercial Paper Notes. The bank credit facilities supporting the Commercial Paper Notes are subject to early termination upon the occurrence of certain events, including the failure of the SFPUC to make certain payments, the occurrence of certain bankruptcy or insolvency-related events, the reduction below specified levels or the withdrawal or suspension of ratings on certain obligations of the SFPUC payable from Net Revenues or certain other specified events of default. Upon the occurrence of such termination, one or more of the following would likely occur: (a) the SFPUC would be prohibited from issuing additional notes supported by such credit facilities; (b) any outstanding reimbursement obligation of the SFPUC to the bank providing such facility for draws made for the payment of principal of or interest on Commercial Paper Notes could bear interest at rates higher than the rates borne by the Commercial Paper Notes; and (c) any such outstanding reimbursement obligation of the SFPUC could be accelerated and become immediately due and payable. The Commercial Paper Notes and any reimbursement obligations are payable from Net Revenues on a basis subordinate to the Bonds.

Revolving Notes. The commitment of the bank to make advances under the revolving credit agreement for interim funding (the repayment obligation of the SFPUC for which are evidenced by the Revolving Notes) may be terminated by the bank upon the occurrence of certain events, including the failure of the SFPUC to make certain payments, the occurrence of certain bankruptcy or insolvency-related events, the reduction below specified levels or the withdrawal or suspension of ratings on certain obligations of the SFPUC payable from Net Revenue or certain other specified events of defaults. Upon such an event of default, (a) the outstanding repayment obligation of the SFPUC evidenced by the Revolving Notes would bear interest at substantially increased interest rates and (b) the bank could declare all amounts outstanding under the Revolving Notes to be immediately due and payable. The Revolving Notes and any payment obligations thereunder are payable from Net Revenues on a basis subordinate to the Bonds.

See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Subordinate Debt and Interim Funding Program."

Risks Related to Net Revenues

Unanticipated Decreases in Water Sales Volumes. Under the SFPUC's current rate structure, Wastewater Enterprise customer bills are calculated primarily based on metered water volumes (with certain "flow factor" adjustments) and rates are established based upon expected metered water volumes. As a result, water deliveries at less than expected levels would result in lower than expected Revenues. Reduced water deliveries could result from, among other circumstances, changes in the local economy, reduced water supply, conservation measures or damage to storage, transportation, treatment or delivery systems of the SFPUC's Water Enterprise. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Wastewater Enterprise Rates and Charges" and "– Risks Related to Wastewater Enterprise Facilities and Operation – Seismic Hazards" and "–Natural and Man-Made Disasters; Flooding."

Increased Operating and Maintenance Expenses. There can be no assurance that the Operating and Maintenance Expenses of the SFPUC, such as wages and salaries, pension and other benefits, and purchased power costs, will not increase, perhaps substantially. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Operating and Maintenance Expenses."

Limitations on Rate-Setting

The generation of Revenues sufficient to satisfy the requirements of the Indenture and to pay the principal of and interest on the Bonds will require the SFPUC to raise wastewater rates payable by its customers. The increase of wastewater rates is subject to various substantive and procedural requirements and limitations. See "CONSTITUTIONAL, STATUTORY AND CHARTER LIMITATIONS."

Initiative, Referendum and Charter Amendments and Future Legislation

Under the State Constitution, California voters have the ability to initiate legislation and require a public vote on legislation passed by the State Legislature through the powers of initiative and referendum, respectively. The SFPUC is unable to predict whether any such initiatives might be submitted to or approved by the voters, the nature of such initiatives, or their potential impact on the SFPUC or the Wastewater Enterprise. See "CONSTITUTIONAL, STATUTORY AND CHARTER LIMITATIONS."

Under the Charter, San Francisco voters can restrict or revise the powers of the SFPUC through the approval of a Charter amendment or other initiative. For example, in June 1998 the San Francisco electorate approved Proposition H which, subject to certain exceptions, including a limited exception to raise rates to pay debt service on voter-approved debt, froze the SFPUC's water and sewer rates through July 1, 2006. The SFPUC can give no assurance that the electorate will not seek in the future to freeze or limit rate increases. See "CONSTITUTIONAL, STATUTORY AND CHARTER LIMITATIONS – Charter Limitations."

In addition, the SFPUC is subject to various laws, rules and regulations adopted by the local, State and federal governments and their agencies. The SFPUC is unable to predict the adoption or amendment of any such laws, rules or regulations, or their effect on the operations or financial condition of the SFPUC.

Risks Related to Wastewater Enterprise Facilities and Operation

The operation of the Wastewater Enterprise, and the physical condition of the Wastewater Enterprise facilities, are subject to a number of risk factors that could adversely affect the reliability of the SFPUC to provide sewage and stormwater collection and treatment services, or increase the operating expenses of the Wastewater Enterprise. Prolonged damage to the Wastewater Enterprise facilities could interrupt the ability of the SFPUC to realize Net Revenues sufficient to pay principal of and interest on the Bonds, or require the SFPUC to increase expenditures for repairs significantly enough to adversely impact the SFPUC's ability to pay the principal of or interest on the Bonds. These factors could include, among others, the following:

Aging Facilities. Certain Wastewater Enterprise facilities are near the end of their useful life. Aging assets result in decreased reliability due to sewer line breakage and unplanned facility outages and place a greater maintenance burden on Wastewater Enterprise operations. See "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE – Combined Sewage and Stormwater System." Aging sewers, if left unaddressed, could potentially result in increasing system failures, sinkholes in the street, reduced system reliability, regulatory violations and possibly risks to public health and safety and the environment.

The SFPUC uses a risk-based approach to improve sewers and has rehabilitated and/or replaced approximately 11.9 miles per year of aging sewer lines since 2011. The capital program is intended to help increase system reliability through equipment and facility improvement including, among other things, increasing sewer inspections and condition assessments in order to more effectively prioritize areas of pipeline improvements. In addition to the collection system, other types of facilities, such as treatment plants and pump stations, also face reliability issues due to age and poor condition.

Limited Redundancy. Many critical Wastewater Enterprise facilities must remain constantly operational to collect and treat sewage and stormwater flows and meet relevant regulatory requirements. See "REGULATORY MATTERS." Certain of these Wastewater Enterprise facilities and systems are aging and have limited redundancy. See "– Aging Facilities." In addition, the Oceanside Treatment Plant and the other facilities in the Westside Watersheds are not interconnected with the Southeast Treatment Plant, the North Point Facility or the other facilities in the Bayside Watersheds. See "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE – Wastewater Treatment." This limited redundancy in facilities and systems, including the absence of an interconnection between the treatment plants and other facilities located in the two separate watersheds, constrains the SFPUC's ability to take components of the system out of service for maintenance and repairs, or to provide backup treatment and other facilities in the event of an unplanned outage. For example, work at the Southeast Treatment Plant will be done while the plant is operating, requiring coordination of facility and systems shutdowns with construction plans. During dry weather, however, the collection system does have excess storage capacity due to the transport/storage structures which can provide up to 200 million gallons worth of capacity and help facilitate treatment flexibility when needed. The SFPUC's capital program is addressing certain redundancy issues, including power supply redundancy for the three treatment plants, and rehabilitation and addition of redundant pumps as necessary at major pump stations.

Seismic Hazards. The Bay Area is in a seismically active region. The San Andreas Fault lies immediately west of San Francisco, and the Hayward Fault is approximately 15 miles to the east of San Francisco. A third major fault, the Calaveras Fault, is a branch of the Hayward Fault and lies east of the Hayward Fault.

During the past 150 years, the San Francisco Bay Area has experienced several major and numerous minor earthquakes. The largest was the 1906 San Francisco earthquake along the San Andreas Fault with an estimated magnitude of 8.2 on the Richter scale. The 1868 Hayward earthquake along the Hayward Fault had an estimated magnitude of between 6.8 and 7.0 on the Richter scale. The 1989 Loma Prieta earthquake along the San Andreas Fault had an estimated magnitude of 6.9 on the Richter scale. The most recent significant earthquake was the 2014 South Napa earthquake on the West Napa Fault, the northern extension of the Calaveras Fault, which had a magnitude of 6.0 on the Richter scale and an epicenter near the city of Napa, approximately 50 miles north of San Francisco. According to United States Geological Survey findings, a significant earthquake along these or other faults is probable during the repayment period of the Bonds. A significant earthquake that impacts San Francisco could adversely affect the ability of Wastewater Enterprise customers to pay for service and the capital and operating expenses of the Wastewater Enterprise.

Older facilities may have an increased risk of failure in the event of an earthquake. The capital program includes recently completed, planned and proposed improvements to such older facilities for the purpose of improving seismic reliability.

With certain minor exceptions, the SFPUC does not maintain commercial earthquake insurance coverage for the facilities. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Risk Management and Insurance."

Natural and Man-Made Disasters; Flooding. Natural disasters such as flooding, landslides and fires, and man-made disasters or accidents such as natural gas pipeline failures or explosions could interrupt operation of the Wastewater Enterprise, result in liability claims against the Wastewater Enterprise, or otherwise adversely impact the ability of the Wastewater Enterprise to provide services and/or collect Revenues. See "– Risks Related to Net Revenues – Unanticipated Decreases in Water Sales Volumes" and "– Climatic Change, Risk of Sea Level Rise and Flooding Damage."

For example, with respect to flooding in particular, major rainstorms in San Francisco that exceed the capacity of the combined storm drainage/sewer system can result in flooding and cause property damage, especially in some low-lying areas with structures built on or near land that was originally creeks or bays. In the last 10 years, severe rainstorms caused flooding in certain low-lying areas and resulted in some property damage in 2017, 2021, the end of 2022 and the beginning of 2023. Although such rainstorms and flooding have not caused any significant damage to the Wastewater Enterprise's facilities or resulted in any significant liability to the SFPUC, there can be no assurance that future rainstorms and flooding will not adversely impact the Wastewater Enterprise. For more information regarding recent storms and flooding, see "THE WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE – System Capacity."

Statutory and Regulatory Compliance. The operation of the Wastewater Enterprise is subject to a variety of federal and State statutory and regulatory requirements concerning matters such as water quality, discharge requirements and biosolids management. Significant fines and penalties could result should the SFPUC fail to comply with applicable laws and regulations. Claims could also be made by private parties. Changes in the scope and standards for public agency wastewater systems such as the Wastewater Enterprise may also lead to administrative orders issued by federal or State regulators. Such regulatory actions could also require significant capital expenditures to achieve statutory and regulatory compliance, which may impact the SFPUC's capital improvement plans, projects and priorities for the Wastewater Enterprise. Future compliance with increased regulatory requirements or enforcement orders could impose substantial additional operating expenses on the Wastewater Enterprise. See "REGULATORY MATTERS."

Labor Actions. The Charter prohibits SFPUC and other City employees from engaging in certain labor actions (e.g., strikes). Nonetheless, a work stoppage or other labor action could limit the SFPUC's ability to operate the Wastewater Facilities and adversely impact Revenues.

Casualty Losses. The SFPUC's risk management program includes both self-insured and insured coverages; however, the program does not provide coverage for every conceivable risk of loss. Damage attributable to seismic events and environmental pollution are excluded. In situations where the SFPUC has not purchased commercial coverage, the Wastewater Enterprise has a "self-retention" program that it administers and retains budgeted resources internally to provide coverage for loss liabilities. See also "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Risk Management and Insurance." The SFPUC is not required to either insure against or self-insure against every potential risk of loss, and there is a risk that damage or destruction of property and equipment comprising the Wastewater Enterprise could occur for which no insurance or self-insurance funds will be available. There can be no assurance that insurance providers will pay claims under any policies promptly, or at all, should a claim be made under such policies in connection with property loss or damage. It is possible that an insurance provider will refuse to pay a claim, especially if it is substantial, and force the SFPUC to sue to collect on or settle the insurance claim. Further, there can be no assurances that any insurance proceeds will be sufficient to rebuild or replace any damaged property.

Safety and Security. The occurrence of military conflicts and terrorist activities may adversely impact the operations of the SFPUC, including the Wastewater Enterprise, and/or the finances of the SFPUC. The SFPUC continually plans and prepares for emergency situations and immediately responds to ensure services are maintained. However, there can be no assurance that any existing or additional safety and security measures will prove adequate in the event that military conflicts or terrorist activities are directed against the assets of the Wastewater Enterprise or that costs of security measures will not be greater than presently anticipated.

Cybersecurity

City Measures. The City, like many other large public and private entities, relies on a large and complex technology environment to conduct its operations, and faces multiple cybersecurity threats including, but not limited to, hacking, viruses, malware and other attacks on its computing and other digital networks and systems (collectively, "Systems Technology"). As a recipient and provider of personal, private, or sensitive information, the City has been the subject of cybersecurity incidents that have resulted in or could have resulted in adverse consequences to the City's Systems Technology and that required a response action to mitigate the consequences.

Cybersecurity incidents could result from unintentional events, or from deliberate attacks by unauthorized entities or individuals attempting to gain access to the City's Systems Technology for the purposes of misappropriating assets or information or causing operational disruption and damage. To mitigate the risk of business operations impact and/or damage from cybersecurity incidents or cyber-attacks, the City invests in multiple forms of cybersecurity and operational safeguards. In 2016, the City adopted a City-wide Cyber Security Policy (the "City Cyber Policy") to support, maintain, and secure critical infrastructure and data systems. The objectives of the City Cyber Policy include the protection of critical infrastructure and information, manage risk, improve cyber security event detection and remediation, and facilitate cyber awareness across all City departments. The City's Department of Technology has established a cybersecurity team to work across all City departments, including the SFPUC, to implement the City Cyber Policy. The City Cyber Policy is reviewed periodically.

The City has also appointed a City Chief Information Security Officer (the "CCISO"), who is directly responsible for understanding the business and related cybersecurity needs of the City's 54 departments, including the SFPUC. The CCISO is responsible for identifying, evaluating, responding, and reporting on information security risks in a manner that meets compliance and regulatory requirements, and aligns with and supports the risk posture of the City. Mayor Breed addressed this issue on June 4, 2021 in Executive Directive 21-02, Ensuring Strong and Organized City Defense Against Cybersecurity Attacks ("Executive Directive 21-02"), which sets forth requirements for City departments to strengthen and improve the City's cyber functions and programs.

SFPUC Measures. The SFPUC also relies on a large and complex technology environment to conduct its operations. Although the SFPUC maintains its own business and control networks that are separate from the City's network, the SFPUC faces similar cybersecurity threats as the City, including hacking, viruses, malware and other attacks on its computing and other digital networks and systems. To mitigate the risk of and damage from cybersecurity incidences or cyberattacks, the SFPUC abides by the City Cyber Policy and also maintains its own cybersecurity program (the "SFPUC Cybersecurity Program"). The SFPUC Cybersecurity Program is based on National Institute of Standards and Technology cybersecurity guidance and employs industry standard Center for Internet Security critical security controls. In addition, control networks for the Water Enterprise and the Wastewater Enterprise adhere to the American Water Works Association Cyber Security guidance and the control networks for the Power Enterprise adhere to the North American Electric Reliability Corporation critical infrastructure protection controls. The SFPUC Cybersecurity Program includes industry standard cybersecurity solutions, and the SFPUC's technologies are continuously tested as part of an internal vulnerability program. The SFPUC's technical controls are prescriptive for hardening servers, network devices and databases, and for addressing system administrator controls, mobile device management, incident response, security patching, antivirus, email, passwords, remote access, secure asset disposal, end user controls, and timely removal of access to systems and facilities for staff that leave employment at the SFPUC. In addition to the SFPUC's controls and in alignment with Executive Directive 21-02, the SFPUC has deployed the city-wide-real-time threat monitoring and alerting solution. The SFPUC Cybersecurity Program is periodically reviewed for effectiveness by independent consultants, most recently in June 2022. In addition, pursuant to the SFPUC's policies, the City Services Auditor and independent cybersecurity auditors performed extensive penetration and vulnerability testing on the SFPUC's business and control networks.

The SFPUC has also appointed a Chief Information Security Officer (the "CISO"). In addition to working with the CCISO on cybersecurity policy development and solution sharing, the CISO is responsible for annual updates to the SFPUC's policies, is charged with identifying and monitoring threats which are typically addressed by the SFPUC's information technology services team, educating staff concerning vulnerabilities and constantly improving the SFPUC Cybersecurity Program.

While the SFPUC Cybersecurity Program is periodically reviewed, no assurances can be given by the SFPUC that such measures will ensure against other cybersecurity threats and attacks. Cybersecurity breaches could damage the SFPUC's information security systems and cause material disruption to the SFPUC's operations and the provision of SFPUC services. The costs of remedying any such damage or protecting against future attacks could be substantial. Further, cybersecurity breaches could expose the SFPUC to material litigation and other legal risks, which could cause the SFPUC to incur material costs related to such legal claims or proceedings. The SFPUC currently purchases liability insurance covering cyber-losses and requires its technology vendors to purchase technology errors and omissions insurance coverage.

Cost of SSIP Projects; Timely Completion of SSIP Projects

The SSIP is the largest component of the Wastewater Enterprise's capital program. The completion of various SSIP projects could be delayed and the overall cost of such projects could increase for a variety of reasons, including, but not limited to, actions by State or federal regulatory agencies, voter initiatives, legal challenges on environmental or other grounds, prolonged contractor disputes, changes in price of commodities or labor, unanticipated geologic or soil conditions, the occurrence of an earthquake or other natural disaster, or the occurrence of a worldwide health concern such as the COVID-19 pandemic. See "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM – Potential Changes to SSIP Projects."

The SFPUC intends to finance the development and implementation of SSIP projects through the issuance of Additional Bonds and Parity Loans. If SSIP projects are completed at the cost and on the schedule presently under consideration by the SFPUC, the cost of such projects will require a significant planned increase in the amount of debt payable from Revenues, which will result in significant planned rate increases. Correspondingly, debt service coverage for the Bonds will also be significantly lower than it is currently. Were SSIP projects delayed or the cost of SSIP projects to increase without an offsetting reduction in the program scope, the SFPUC would be required either to incur more debt payable from Revenues or to cash fund those costs from Revenues. Either option would likely increase rates payable by SFPUC customers to levels higher than presently anticipated by the SFPUC, and could result in lower debt service coverage ratios than presently anticipated by the SFPUC. See "FINANCING PLAN FOR WASTEWATER ENTERPRISE CAPITAL PROGRAM."

Over the next several years the SFPUC expects to issue Additional Bonds and Parity Loans to fund development and implementation of SSIP projects. The issuance by the SFPUC of such debt is subject to various approval requirements. See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES."

The ability of the SFPUC to issue Additional Bonds and Parity Loans to finance the development and implementation of SSIP projects may also be adversely affected by any adverse change in the financial position of the SFPUC or by general market conditions. There can be no assurance that the SFPUC will be able to issue Additional Bonds or Parity Loans in an aggregate amount sufficient to finance all of the costs of completing the SSIP projects.

Construction Related Risks

General. Construction projects in the capital program, including the SSIP, are subject to ordinary construction risks and delays applicable to projects of their kind, including but not limited to (i) inclement weather affecting contractor performance and timeliness of completion, which could affect the costs and availability of, or delivery schedule for, equipment, components, materials, labor or subcontractors; (ii) contractor claims or nonperformance; (iii) failure of contractors to execute within contract price; (iv) work stoppages or slowdowns; (v) failure of contractors to meet schedule terms; (vi) supply chain issues; or (vii) unanticipated project site conditions, including the discovery of hazardous materials on the site or other issues regarding compliance with applicable environmental standards, and other natural hazards or seismic events encountered during construction. In addition, given the limited redundancy of certain Wastewater Enterprise facilities and systems, such systems must remain operational during construction, which could affect construction schedules or budgets. See "– Risks Related to Wastewater Enterprise Facilities and Operation."

In addition, the SFPUC expects numerous other large construction projects to be scheduled in the region simultaneously, which could potentially limit contractor resources available to the SFPUC during bidding or construction phases. The SFPUC conducts regular contractor outreach and expects to continue to work closely with potential contractors to attempt to mitigate the impact of such simultaneous scheduling of large projects.

Furthermore, much of the construction work for the SSIP will occur at a single physical location, the Southeast Treatment Plant. The phasing staging, materials and/or equipment laydown areas, parking, truck routes, security, and operating needs are being clearly defined for the plant and each individual project by the SFPUC, with consideration of multiple project interfaces. The Southeast Treatment Plant will remain in operation while these projects are being implemented. Currently logistics planning is identifying on and off site parking, construction laydown and staging areas, truck routing for regular operations and construction and the overall facility and equipment shut-down schedule required to maintain permit compliance and complete the SSIP.

Increased construction costs or delays for any reason in connection with the SFPUC's capital program and the SSIP could impact the Wastewater Enterprise's financial condition in general and the implementation of its capital programs in particular.

See also "– Cost of SSIP Projects; Timely Completion of SSIP Projects" and "SEWER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM – Biosolids Digester Facilities Project" and "– Potential Changes to SSIP Projects."

Land Acquisition. Certain SSIP projects will require the SFPUC to acquire land in and around its facilities in San Francisco. For example, the Southeast Treatment Plant is located in a densely urban environment with industrial and residential buildings – as such, securing space around the Southeast Treatment Plant will be critical. A right-of-way manager has been hired to manage land issues because many parcels require long lead times to gain site control. Property is challenging to acquire or lease in the Bay Area generally and in San Francisco in particular. Real estate prices in San Francisco and throughout the Bay Area can be volatile and have in general been increasing during recent years. The SSIP approved project budgets currently include estimated costs related to future land purchases required for the expansion of the Southeast Treatment Plant and potential land leases for construction staging areas. At present, the SFPUC cannot predict the final cost of such acquisitions and leases; but it is possible that such costs may exceed budgeted amounts.

Climate Change, Risk of Sea Level Rise and Flooding Damage

Impact on City of San Francisco. Numerous scientific studies on global climate change show that, among other effects on the global ecosystem, sea levels will rise, and extreme temperatures and extreme weather events will become more frequent as a result of increasing global temperatures attributable to atmospheric pollution.

The Fourth National Climate Assessment, published by the United States Global Change Research Program in November 2018 ("NCA4"), finds that more frequent and intense extreme weather and climate-related events, as well as changes in average climate conditions, are expected to continue to damage infrastructure, ecosystems and social systems over the next 25 to 100 years. NCA4 states that rising temperatures, sea level rise, and changes in extreme events are expected to increasingly disrupt and damage critical infrastructure and property and regional economies and industries that depend on natural resources and favorable climate conditions. Disruptions could include more frequent and longer-lasting power outages, fuel shortages and service disruptions. NCA4 states that the continued increase in the frequency and extent of high-tide flooding due to sea level rise threatens coastal public infrastructure. NCA4 also states that expected increases in the severity and frequency of heavy precipitation events will affect inland infrastructure, including access to roads, the viability of bridges and the safety of pipelines.

Sea levels will continue to rise in the future due to the increasing temperature of the oceans causing thermal expansion and growing ocean volume from glaciers and ice caps melting into the ocean. Between 1854 and 2016, sea level rose about nine inches according to the tidal gauge at Fort Point, a location underneath the Golden Gate Bridge. Weather and tidal patterns, including 100-year or more storms and king tides, may exacerbate the effects of climate related sea level rise. Coastal areas like San Francisco and the Bay Area are at risk of substantial flood damage over time, affecting private development and public infrastructure, including roads, utilities, emergency services, schools, and parks. As a result, the City could lose considerable tax revenues and many residents, businesses, and governmental operations along the waterfront could be displaced, and the City could be required to mitigate these effects at a potentially material cost.

Adapting to sea level rise is a key component of the City's policies. The City and its enterprise departments have been preparing for future sea level rise for many years and have issued a number of public reports. For example, in March 2016, the City released a report entitled "Sea Level Rise Action Plan," identifying geographic zones at risk of sea level rise, providing a framework for adaptation strategies to confront these risks, and identifying data gaps and next steps. That study shows an upper range of end-of-century projections for permanent sea level rise, including the effects of temporary flooding due to a 100-year storm, of up to 108 inches above the 2015 average high tide. To implement this plan, the Mayor's Sea Level Rise Coordinating Committee, co-chaired by the Planning Department and the Port of San Francisco worked together to develop the City's Guidance for Incorporating Sea Level Rise into Capital Planning, Adopted September 2014, Revised December 2015, and Updated January 2020 and finalized the City's Sea Level Rise Vulnerability and Risk Assessment, February 2020.

The City is now working to fill some of the identified data gaps from the Sea Level Rise Action Plan, including working with Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory to understand the effect of climate change on future storms for the Bay Area. Among the findings is that storm-total precipitation for the largest types of storms is expected to produce up to 17% more rainfall by 2050 and up to 37% more rainfall by 2100. For the smaller storms, the change is expected to be even larger with increases of up to 57% more rain by 2050 and 67% more rainfall by 2100. The final written reports are expected by late spring 2023. The City is transitioning toward efforts that would consolidate and coordinate sea level rise adaptation and overall resilience planning so that City departments can maximize efficiency and the co-benefits of investment dollars. The City has developed and continues to refine the governance structure of the Climate Resilience Program (also known as ClimateSF) to improve how the City manages, finances and implements climate resilience projects and/or programs. For the City, climate resilience refers to a range of coordinated actions that eliminate greenhouse gas emissions and adapt its built and natural environment, while achieving a more equitable and sustainable city.

In April 2017, the Working Group of the California Ocean Protection Council Science Advisory Team (in collaboration with several state agencies, including the California Natural Resource Agency, the Governor's Office of Planning and Research, and the California Energy Commission) published a report, that was formally adopted in March 2018, entitled "Rising Seas in California: An Update on Sea Level Rise Science" (the "Sea Level Rise Report") to provide a new synthesis of the state of science regarding sea level rise. The Sea Level Rise Report provides the basis for State guidance to state and local agencies for incorporating sea level rise into design, planning, permitting, construction, investment and other decisions. Among many findings, the Sea Level Rise Report indicates that the effects of sea level rise are already being felt in coastal California with more extensive coastal flooding during storms, exacerbated tidal flooding, and increased coastal erosion. In addition, the report notes that the rate of ice sheet loss from Greenland and Antarctic ice sheets, while highly uncertain as to timing, could pose a particular risk of sea level rise for the California coastline.

The City has already incorporated site-specific adaption plans in the conditions of approval for certain large waterfront development projects, such as the Candlestick/Hunters Point Shipyard, Treasure Island, Pier 70 and Mission Rock projects. Also, the City has started the process of planning to fortify the Port's seawall from sea level rise, including an initial investment of about $8 million during fiscal year 2017-18 and consideration of financing options. In November 2018, San Francisco voters approved a bond measure providing $425 million toward study and repair of the City's sea wall against seismic threats and sea level rise. This funding provides early investment in long-term upgrades expected to cost more than $5 billion.

Portions of the San Francisco Bay Area, including San Francisco, are built on fill that was placed over saturated silty clay known as "Bay Mud." Bay Mud is soft and compressible, and the consolidation of the Bay Mud under the weight of the existing fill is ongoing. A report issued in March 2018 by researchers at the University of California, Berkeley ("UC Berkeley") and the University of Arizona suggests that flooding risk from climate change could be exacerbated in the San Francisco Bay Area due to the sinking or settling of the ground surface, known as subsidence. The study claims that the risk of subsidence is more significant for certain parts of San Francisco built on fill.

Projections of the effects of global climate change on San Francisco are complex and depend on many factors that are outside the City's control. The various scientific studies that forecast climate change and its adverse effects, including sea level rise and flooding risk, are based on assumptions contained in such studies, but actual events may vary materially. Also, the scientific understanding of climate change and its effects continues to evolve. Accordingly, the City is unable to forecast when sea level rise or other adverse effects of climate change (e.g., the occurrence and frequency of 100-year storm events and king tides) will occur. In particular, the City cannot predict the timing or precise magnitude of adverse economic effects, including, without limitation, material adverse effects on the business operations or financial condition of the City and the local economy during the term of the 2023ABC Bonds. While the effects of climate change may be mitigated by the City's past and future investment in adaptation strategies, the City can give no assurance about the net effects of those strategies and whether the City will be required to take additional adaptive mitigation measures. If necessary, such additional measures could require significant capital resources.

In September 2017, the City filed a lawsuit against the five largest investor-owned oil companies seeking to have the companies pay into an equitable abatement fund to help fund investment in sea level rise adaptation infrastructure. In July 2018, the United States District Court, Northern District of California denied the plaintiffs' motion for remand to state court, and then dismissed the lawsuit. The City appealed these decisions to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, which vacated the dismissal and remanded the case to the District Court. While the City believes that its claims are meritorious and will prevail, the City can give no assurance regarding whether it will ultimately obtain the requested relief from the courts, or contributions to the abatement fund from the defendant oil companies.

Impact on SFPUC Wastewater Enterprise. The impacts of climate change that would most affect the Wastewater Enterprise relate to changing rainfall patterns, sea level rise and rising tides. Existing climate change models show varied results in terms of projected rainfall patterns, making proactive, long-term planning difficult. If they do occur, significant changes in rainfall (e.g., intensity, duration or frequency or certain combinations thereof) could substantially alter the sewer system's stormwater and wastewater collection and storage functions. As described above under "– Impact on City of San Francisco," the SFPUC, in partnership with SFO, the Port of San Francisco and the Office of Resilience and Recovery, is finalizing work with Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory who has completed their innovative modeling that is being used to analyze the effects of climate change on extreme precipitation in the San Francisco region. A final report is expected by summer 2023.

Projected levels for sea level rise and rising tides is expected to result in a backflow (or inflow) of San Francisco Bay water into the sewer system at the lowest weir elevation and increased infiltration due to higher groundwater in coastal areas. The Wastewater Enterprise has already started to experience occasional inflows and infiltration from the San Francisco Bay into its sewer system during certain high tides. In response, the Wastewater Enterprise is planning to implement, through the SSIP, a monitoring program and backflow mitigation measures at some points where tides may backflow into the system. In addition, the SFPUC is working collaboratively with various other City agencies on immediate-, mid- and long-term solutions focused on city-wide perimeter protection from sea level rise and rising tides.

In 2016, the SFPUC completed a city-wide flood resilience analysis to characterize the impact of storms, develop a risk-based framework to identify and prioritize investments in projects to reduce or mitigate flooding risks, and confirm the City's standard design storm through a benefit-cost analysis. This study served as the foundation for prioritizing capital investments in the coming years. These investments are designed to increase collection system conveyance capacity in low lying areas subject to flood risk in the SFPUC's design storm. In 2017, in conjunction with other City departments and industry experts, the SFPUC developed a suite of programmatic strategies for flood resilience intended to reduce flood risk citywide from storms that exceed the capacity of the SFPUC's stormwater collection system. However, the effect of climate change on future storms will be significant, leading to more powerful storms that exceed the capacity of most urban conveyance systems across the United States, including the SFPUC's system. The results of the extreme precipitation study will help City agencies understand and plan for these larger storms, which will require strategies and solutions that extend beyond the SFPUC's system.

The SFPUC has developed a 100-Year Storm Flood Risk Map (the "Flood Map") that shows areas of San Francisco where significant flooding from storm runoff is highly likely to occur during a 100-year storm. A "100-year storm" means a storm with a 1% chance of occurring in a given year. The SFPUC used computer modeling that simulated flooding occurring Citywide under a 100-year storm to identify such parcels. The purpose of the Flood Map is to inform existing and future property owners about flood risk on their properties and promote resilience. The Flood Map is based on past hydrology patterns and does not reflect recent developments, such as the study on extreme precipitation in the San Francisco region described above, or future projected hydrology patterns.

Pandemics; COVID-19 Pandemic

A pandemic, epidemic or outbreak of an infectious disease can have significant adverse health and financial impacts on global and local economies. For example, the COVID-19 pandemic significantly impacted the City and resulted in prolonged stay-at-home orders that impacted each of the SFPUC's enterprises, including the Wastewater Enterprise. In addition to certain direct impacts on the operations and finances of the Wastewater Enterprise, COVID-19 has had significant and varied impacts on general economic activity at the local, national and global levels, including supply chain and labor market disruptions. Such disruptions have, among other effects, resulted in increases in materials, labor, transportation and other costs across a wide number of sectors, as well as delays in delivery of projects and equipment. The Wastewater Enterprise has experienced, and may in the future experience, increases in certain costs, such as for bulk chemical supplies, and delays in the delivery of equipment as a result of COVID-19's disruption of supply chains. Additionally, such disruptions may result in schedule delays for the Wastewater Enterprise's capital projects or increased costs for such projects.

Green Bonds

The 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds are being designated by the SFPUC as "Green Bonds" and have been certified by the CBI as "Climate Bonds" based solely on the Climate Bonds Standard. See "GREEN BONDS DESIGNATION AND CLIMATE CERTIFICATION." The purpose of labeling the 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds as "Green Bonds" is to allow owners of such bonds to invest in notes and bonds that have financed environmentally beneficial projects. The SFPUC does not make any representation, however, as to the suitability of the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds to fulfill the environmental and sustainability criteria of particular investors. The 2023A Bonds and the 2023C Bonds may not be a suitable investment for all investors seeking exposure to green or sustainable assets. There is currently no market consensus on what precise attributes are required for a particular project to be defined as "green" or "sustainable," and therefore no assurance can be provided to investors that the projects refinanced by proceeds of the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds will continue to meet investor expectations.

The terms "Green Bonds" and "Green Projects" are neither defined in nor related to provisions in the Indenture or otherwise defined under State or federal laws. The use of such terms herein is for identification purposes only and is not intended to provide or imply that an owner of the 2023A Bonds or the 2023C Bonds is entitled to any additional security other than as provided in the Indenture. The SFPUC assumes no obligation to ensure that these projects comply with the principles of green projects as such principles may hereafter evolve.

Inverse Condemnation

Under the doctrine of inverse condemnation (a legal concept that entitles property owners to just compensation if their private property is damaged by a public use), California courts have imposed liability on public agencies in legal actions brought by private property holders for damages caused by such public agencies' infrastructure. In City of Oroville v. Superior Court of Butte County, 7 Cal. 5th 1091 (2019), however, the California Supreme Court held that damage to private property must be substantially caused by an inherent risk presented by the deliberate design, construction or maintenance of the public improvement. Thus, if the inherent risks associated with the SFPUC's facilities, including water storage or transportation facilities or electrical distribution and transmission lines, as deliberately designed, constructed or maintained, are determined to be the substantial cause of damage to private property from flooding, fire or otherwise, and the doctrine of inverse condemnation applies, the SFPUC could be liable for direct and indirect property damage to private parties and such liability, in the aggregate, could be substantial. In addition to such claims for property damage, the SFPUC could also be liable for punitive damages and other damages under other theories of liability, including if the SFPUC were found to have been negligent, which liability, in the aggregate, could be substantial.

Economic, Political, Social and Environmental Conditions

Changes in economic, political, social, or environmental conditions on a local, State, federal, and/or international level may adversely affect investment risk generally. Such conditional changes may include (but are not limited to) fluctuations in business production, consumer prices, or financial markets, unemployment rates, availability of skilled labor, technological advancements, shortages or surpluses in natural resources or energy supplies, changes in law, social unrest, fluctuations in the crime rate, political conflict, acts of war or terrorism, environmental damage, and natural disasters. See also "PROJECTED OPERATING RESULTS."

Bankruptcy

The SFPUC, being an enterprise department of the City, likely cannot itself file for bankruptcy. While an involuntary bankruptcy petition cannot be filed against the City, the City is authorized to file for bankruptcy under certain circumstances. Should the City file for bankruptcy, there could be adverse effects on the holders of the Bonds.

To the extent that Revenues are "special revenues" under the United States Bankruptcy Code (the "Bankruptcy Code"), the Revenues collected after the date of the bankruptcy filing should be subject to the lien of the Indenture. If any or all of the Revenues are determined not to be "special revenues," then any such amounts collected after the commencement of the bankruptcy case will likely not be subject to the lien of the Indenture. The holders of the Bonds may not be able to assert a claim against any property of the City other than the Net Revenues, and if any or all of the Revenues are no longer subject to the lien of the Indenture, then there may be limited, if any, funds from which the holders of the Bonds are entitled to be paid.

The Bankruptcy Code provides that "special revenues" can be applied to necessary operating expenses of the project or system, before they are applied to other obligations. This rule applies regardless of the provisions of the transaction documents. It is not clear precisely which expenses would constitute necessary operating expenses, and any definition in the transaction documents may not be applicable.

If the City is in bankruptcy, the parties (including the Trustee and the holders of the Bonds) may be prohibited from taking any action to collect any amount from the City or to enforce any obligation of the City, unless the permission of the bankruptcy court is obtained. These restrictions may also prevent the Trustee from making payments to the holders of the Bonds from funds in the Trustee's possession. The rate covenants (see "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Rate Covenants") may not be enforceable in bankruptcy by the Trustee or the holders of the Bonds.

Revenues are deposited with and held by the City Treasurer and may be commingled with other City funds. See "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Flow of Funds." If the City goes into bankruptcy, the City may not be required to turn over to the Trustee any Revenues that are in its possession at the time of the bankruptcy filing. In addition, if the City has possession of Revenues (whether collected before or after commencement of the bankruptcy) and if the City does not voluntarily turn over such Revenues to the Trustee, it is not entirely clear what procedures the Trustee and the holders of the Bonds would have to follow to attempt to obtain possession of such Revenues, how much time it would take for such procedures to be completed, or whether such procedures would ultimately be successful.

The City may be able to borrow additional money that is secured by a lien on any of its property (including the Revenues), which lien could have priority over the lien of the Indenture, or to cause some of the Revenues to be released to it, free and clear of the lien of the Indenture, in each case as long as the bankruptcy court determines that the rights of the Trustee and the holders of the Bonds will be adequately protected.

If the City is in bankruptcy it may be able, without the consent and over the objection of the Trustee and the holders of the Bonds, to alter the priority, interest rate, principal amount, payment terms, collateral, maturity dates, payment sources, covenants (including tax-related covenants), and other terms or provisions of the Indenture and the Bonds, as long as the bankruptcy court determines that the alterations are fair and equitable.

There may be delays in payments on the Bonds while the court considers any of these issues. There may be other possible effects of a bankruptcy of the City that could result in delays or reductions in payments on the Bonds, or result in losses to the holders of the Bonds. Regardless of any specific adverse determinations in a City bankruptcy proceeding, the fact of a City bankruptcy proceeding could have an adverse effect on the liquidity and value of the Bonds.

The City invests Revenues in the City's Pooled Investment Fund. See "FINANCIAL OPERATIONS – Investment of SFPUC Funds." Should those investments suffer losses, Revenues may be lower than expected, and there may be delays or reductions in payments on the Bonds.

Limitations on Remedies

The remedies available to the owners of the Bonds upon the occurrence of an event of default under the Indenture in many respects depend upon judicial actions which are themselves often subject to discretion and delay and could prove both expensive and time consuming to obtain. In addition to the limitations on remedies contained in the Indenture, the rights and obligations under the Bonds and the Indenture may be subject to bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, arrangement, fraudulent conveyance, moratorium and other laws relating to or affecting creditors' rights, to the application of equitable principles, to the exercise of judicial discretion in appropriate cases and to limitations on legal remedies against charter cities and counties in the State. The opinions to be delivered by Co-Bond Counsel, concurrently with the issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds, that the 2023ABC Bonds constitute valid and binding, limited obligations of the SFPUC, and the Indenture constitutes a valid and binding obligation of the SFPUC, will also be subject to such limitations. The various other legal opinions to be delivered concurrently with the issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds will be similarly qualified. See "APPENDIX C – PROPOSED FORM OF OPINIONS OF CO-BOND COUNSEL."

If the SFPUC fails to comply with its covenants under the Indenture or to pay principal of or interest on the Bonds, there can be no assurance that the available legal remedies will be adequate to protect the interests of the holders of the Bonds.

Loss of Tax Exemption/Risk of Tax Audit of Municipal Issuers

As discussed under "TAX MATTERS," interest on the 2023ABC Bonds could fail to be excluded from the gross income of the owners thereof for purposes of federal income taxation retroactive to the date of the issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds as a result of future acts or omissions of the SFPUC in violation of its covenants to comply with requirements of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended. Should such an event of taxability occur, the 2023ABC Bonds are not subject to redemption or any increase in interest rate and will remain outstanding until maturity.

The IRS has initiated an expanded program for the auditing of tax-exempt securities issues, including both random and targeted audits. It is possible that the 2023ABC Bonds could be selected for audit by the IRS. It is also possible that the market value of the 2023ABC Bonds might be affected as a result of such an audit of the 2023ABC Bonds (or by an audit of similar securities).

Change in Tax Law

As discussed under "TAX MATTERS," current and future legislative proposals, if enacted into law, clarification of the Code or court decisions may cause interest on the 2023ABC Bonds to be subject, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, to federal income taxation or to be subject to or exempted from state income taxation, or otherwise prevent beneficial owners from realizing the full current benefit of the tax status of such interest.

Failure to Maintain Credit Ratings

Certain rating agencies have assigned ratings to the 2023ABC Bonds. The ratings issued reflect only the views of such rating agencies. Any explanation of the significance of these ratings should be obtained from the respective rating agencies. See "RATINGS." There is no assurance current ratings will continue for any given period or that such ratings will not be revised downward or withdrawn entirely by the rating agencies if, in the respective judgment of such rating agencies, circumstances so warrant. Any such downward revision or withdrawal of such ratings could be expected to have an adverse effect on the market price or the marketing of the 2023ABC Bonds. The SFPUC undertakes no obligation to maintain its current credit ratings on the 2023ABC Bonds or to oppose any such downward revision, suspension or withdrawal.

Secondary Market

There can be no guarantee that there will be a secondary market for the 2023ABC Bonds or, if a secondary market exists, that the 2023ABC Bonds can be sold for any particular price. Occasionally, because of general market conditions or because of adverse history or economic prospects connected with a particular issue, secondary marketing practices in connection with a particular issue are suspended or terminated. Additionally, prices of issues for which a market is being made will depend upon then prevailing circumstances. Such prices could be substantially different from the original purchase price.

Uncertainties of Projections, Forecasts and Assumptions

Certain information contained in this Official Statement is based upon assumptions and projections. Projections and assumptions are inherently subject to significant uncertainties. Inevitably, some assumptions will not be realized and unanticipated events and circumstances may occur and actual results are likely to differ, perhaps materially, from those projected. Accordingly, such projections are not necessarily indicative of future performance, and the SFPUC assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of such projections. See "FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS."

Other Risks

The discussion in this section, "RISK FACTORS," is not meant to be a comprehensive or definitive list of the risks associated with an investment in the 2023ABC Bonds. There may be other risks inherent in ownership of the 2023ABC Bonds in addition to those described in this section. Investors are advised to read the entire Official Statement in order to obtain information necessary to make an investment in the 2023ABC Bonds.

REGULATORY MATTERS

The Wastewater Enterprise is in material compliance with the Porter-Cologne Act and the Clean Water Act (each as described below). This section summarizes the regulatory framework governing the Wastewater Enterprise and its operations.

History and Background

In 1969, the State adopted the Porter-Cologne Water Quality Act (the "Porter-Cologne Act"), creating the State's current legal framework for the protection of water quality. This adoption was followed at the federal level by the Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 (the "Clean Water Act"). The Clean Water Act provided an aggressive timetable for eliminating pollution of the nation's waters and established the basic secondary treatment requirement that 85% of pollutants, as defined in administrative regulations, be removed from sanitary wastewater. The Clean Water Act also required the issuance of discharge permits on a nationwide basis and established a federal grant program for construction of publicly owned wastewater facilities, subsequently replaced by the state revolving fund loan program. Although the EPA has ultimate responsibility for administering the Clean Water Act, many functions have been delegated to the State. The administration of the current loan program and enforcement of regulations are a joint undertaking of the State Water Resources Control Board, the Regional Water Quality Control Board, and EPA Region IX.

Federal and State Clean Water Act Permits

Under the Porter-Cologne Act and the Clean Water Act, the Regional Water Quality Control Board administers water pollution control programs. The EPA and the Regional Water Quality Control Board issue discharge permits under Section 402 of the Clean Water Act, which establishes the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System ("NPDES") permit system. These permits, issued for a five-year period, are also wastewater discharge requirements for the purposes of the Porter-Cologne Act and apply to discharges from the SFPUC's treatment plants and combined sewer discharge facilities.

The Wastewater Enterprise's combined sewer system operates under two wastewater NPDES permits: the 2013 Bayside Permit (NPDES Permit No. CA0037664), covering the Southeast Treatment Plant, the North Point Facility and other bayside facilities that discharge into the San Francisco Bay; and the 2019 Oceanside Permit (NPDES Permit No. CA0037681; issued jointly with EPA Region IX), covering the Oceanside Treatment Plant discharges and other westside facilities that discharge into the Pacific Ocean. The City has appealed two aspects of the 2019 permit regarding generic water quality standards compliance and control plan provisions. The appeal is currently pending before the United States Court of Appeals, Ninth Circuit. A small portion of the Wastewater Enterprise system within San Francisco consists of separate storm and sanitary sewers. This portion of the system is regulated under the State General Permit for Small Municipal Separate Storm Sewer Systems (MS4) (NPDES Permit No. CAS000004) and the State Waste Discharge Requirements for Sanitary Sewer Systems (Order No. 2006-0003-DWQ).

In February 2016, the EPA and the Regional Water Quality Control Board initiated an investigation of the SFPUC's operations of the City's combined sewer system with a particular focus on the SFPUC's operations during wet weather conditions. On October 2, 2019, the EPA issued a Notice of Violation ("NOV") to San Francisco, but the NOV did not impose any penalties or require any specific corrective actions. The City Attorney's Office, the SFPUC, the Regional Water Quality Control Board and EPA have continued to discuss the allegations. In November 2021, the SFPUC and the Regional Water Quality Control Board entered into a negotiated settlement that resolves the Regional Water Quality Control Board's claims relating to flooding in low-lying areas. Under the settlement the SFPUC is required to construct three flood resilience capital projects already included in the Wastewater Enterprise capital improvement plan, at a cost of approximately $632 million, and to implement specified storm response activities. The EPA's National Enforcement Investigations Center conducted an inspection of the SFPUC's facilities in early 2022 and issued an inspection report in June 2022. The SFPUC responded to the report within the required timeframe. At this time, the SFPUC cannot determine any further potential costs associated with responding to EPA's actions or potential penalties, or the extent to which any EPA action will further affect the SFPUC's current operations or the Wastewater Enterprise's short-term and long-term capital improvement plans.

In addition, in December 2022 and March 2023, respectively, the Commission and the Board of Supervisors approved a settlement to pay approximately $236,500 to resolve administrative civil liability claims brought by the Regional Water Quality Control Board regarding alleged permit violations that occurred from approximately October 2013 to October 2021. The SFPUC anticipates that the Regional Water Quality Control Board will approve the settlement in April 2023. In accordance with the terms of the settlement, the SFPUC expects to pay half of the full amount towards a supplemental environmental project. The SFPUC's discharges are in material compliance with its permit requirements.

Combined Sewer Overflow Control Policy

To address the unique characteristics of combined sewer systems, the EPA adopted the Combined Sewer Overflow Control Policy (the "CSO Control Policy") in 1994. The CSO Control Policy established a consistent national approach for controlling discharges from combined sewer overflows to the nation's water, and has since been incorporated into the Clean Water Act by the Wet Weather Water Quality Act of 2000.

Consistent with the CSO Control Policy requirements, the SFPUC has undertaken decades of planning and implemented a multi-billion dollar long-term control plan to reduce and control its CSOs. This plan resulted in, among other improvements, substantial increases in treatment and storage capacity, including construction of transport/storage boxes, which can hold millions of gallons of flows. The SFPUC continues to maintain and operate the combined sewer system consistent with the CSO Control Policy requirements, including collecting discharge monitoring data to assess whether its controls are achieving compliance with the applicable water quality standards.

The SFPUC's discharge permits require the preparation of reports analyzing the efficacy of the system's wet weather operations and the attainment of water quality standards.

Stormwater Regulations

In 1987, the Clean Water Act was revised to more effectively address pollution caused by stormwater runoff. The regulations require stormwater management plans for municipalities and controls on certain construction sites and other industries. Urban areas with combined sewers, such as most of San Francisco, are exempt from such regulations. Because a small portion of San Francisco is served by separate sewer systems, the implementation of the Municipal Separate Storm Sewer System ("MS4") permit requirements occurred under Phase II of the stormwater program, following the earlier Phase I implementation for cities with a large separate sewer system. The permit for small MS4s (NPDES Permit No. CAS000004) is issued by the State Water Resources Control Board and regulates the stormwater discharge from the SFPUC's separate sewer systems. The SFPUC operates a stormwater management program that complies with the requirements of the MS4 permit.

Regulatory Trends

Regulatory developments at the State and federal level, as well as ongoing permit reissuance activities, may increase operations costs and capital needs of the Wastewater Enterprise and may have an effect on the Wastewater Enterprise operations and its revenues. In the future, additional constituents of concern (possibly including pollutants such as ammonia, nutrients, endocrine disrupting chemicals, human-made chemicals/products such as perfluoroalkyl substances ("PFAS")) will likely be identified, and additional effluent limits may be added for wastewater discharges into the San Francisco Bay and Pacific Ocean, as water quality objectives are developed for new compounds and improved analytical techniques become available. Additional source control measures, public education and outreach, and additional or advanced treatment processes may be necessary to achieve compliance. The SFPUC is actively engaged with regulatory officials and the public in the development of these regulatory matters.

These topics and their possible effect on the Wastewater Enterprise are briefly described below:

Impaired Water Bodies and Total Maximum Daily Loads. The Clean Water Act requires states to identify all water bodies that do not achieve designated water quality standards or objectives. Such water bodies are designated as "impaired," and states are required to identify all sources contributing to the impairment under the Total Maximum Daily Load ("TMDL") program. States are required to designate wasteload allocations to each contributing point source, such as the SFPUC discharges, in order to promote the recovery of the water body. Central and lower San Francisco Bay are currently listed as "impaired" for a number of organic and inorganic pollutants, as well as invasive species and trash. The Regional Water Quality Control Board has completed San Francisco Bay TMDLs for mercury and polychlorinated biphenyl ("PCBs") and has issued a fecal indicator bacteria TMDL for San Francisco Bay beaches, which is currently in the implementation process.

The San Francisco Bay mercury and PCBs TMDLs are implemented through a group watershed permit (Order No. R2-2012-0096) (the "Watershed Permit") that applies to all municipal, industrial and stormwater discharges to San Francisco Bay. The Watershed Permit contains effluent limitations for mercury and PCB discharges from the Southeast Treatment Plant with which the SFPUC currently complies.

Contaminated Bay Sediments. California Water Code, Division 7, Chapter 5.6, established a program to assess sediment contamination of the State's enclosed bays and estuaries. Known as the Bay Protection and Toxic Cleanup Program, the focus of this effort was to identify contaminated sediments with elevated levels of toxins.

In 1999, a Statewide plan identified Mission Creek and Islais Creek as high priority toxic hot spots. For Mission Creek, the plan included a preliminary estimate of investigation and study costs at $1 million, remediation and follow-up monitoring ranging from $0.8 to $1.8 million, and possible sewer system structural changes up to $75 million. For Islais Creek, the plan included a preliminary estimate of investigation and study costs at $1 million, remediation and follow-up monitoring ranging from $0.8 to $5.2 million, and possible sewer system structural changes up to $75 million. Such estimated costs were developed by the Regional Water Quality Control Board and State Water Resources Control Board in 1998 and 1999. The SFPUC provided comments and data studies disputing both the extent of contamination in the creeks and any asserted causal relationship to SFPUC activities. The plan is not self-executing, and requires further regulatory action by the Regional Water Quality Control Board, which has indicated that contaminated sediment issues will be addressed through the TMDL analysis and implementation programs mentioned above. In 2002, both Mission Creek and Islais Creek were added to the Clean Water Act 303(d) list of water quality limited segments (i.e., impaired waterways). A TMDL (or related action) must be completed for the listed waterways.

The 1999 Statewide plan also identified Central Basin (adjacent to the San Francisco Bayside shoreline) as a moderate priority toxic hot spot, but did not identify investigation or remediation costs (costs were only developed for the high priority sites). Central Basin has also been placed on the Clean Water Act 303(d) list of water quality limited segments.

The SFPUC continues to dispute the extent of contamination in the creeks and any causal relationship to SFPUC activities, and will actively participate in the development of any TMDLs for such areas.

The EPA has listed Yosemite Creek (or Slough) as a "Superfund" site under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act of 1980, as amended ("CERCLA"). The site (which lies adjacent to Hunters Point and the former United States Navy Shipyard) is approximately 1600 feet long and 400 feet wide, and depending on tide, is either a mudflat or shallow submerged waterway. Studies have been conducted since the 1990s to better understand the nature of the sediments and contamination at the site, and to develop a remediation plan for the removal of such material. The primary contaminants of concern are PCBs and lead. In 2013, the EPA estimated the cost for site remediation at $15.5 million on a present value basis, but the SFPUC can give no assurance whether such amount is or will be the final clean-up cost estimate as such amount is subject to the completion of additional studies and the EPA's adoption of a final remediation plan. In 2016, the EPA determined that additional studies were required to develop the cleanup plan, and those studies were expected to be completed in late 2023. The EPA named the City a potentially responsible party under CERCLA for the cleanup because of the role the City's combined sewer system may have played in transporting contaminants to the creek. The City, along with other potentially responsible parties, is participating in a voluntary nonbinding mediation to allocate financial responsibility for the cleanup. The SFPUC cannot reasonably predict whether or to what extent it may be financially responsible for remediation of the contamination, or whether such cleanup obligations will have any adverse impact on the financial condition of the Wastewater Enterprise or sewer system operations.

Pursuant to GASB Statement No. 49, Accounting and Financial Reporting for Pollution Remediation Obligations, the Wastewater Enterprise reported $7.8 million and $8.1 million in pollution remediation liability as of June 30, 2021, and June 30, 2022, respectively.

Contaminants of Emerging Concern. Contaminants of emerging concern include alkyl phenols, flame retardants, hormones, personal care products, pharmaceuticals, steroids, PFAS and perfluorooctane sulfonate ("PFOS"), microplastics and pesticides, which typically enter municipal wastewater through bathing, cleaning, laundry and the disposal of unused products. Pharmaceuticals typically include prescription and over-the-counter therapeutic drugs for both human and veterinary treatment. Personal care products typically include soaps, fragrances and cosmetics. Secondary treatment facilities remove some of these contaminants, even though they are not specifically designed for this purpose. Currently no water quality standards exist for most of these compounds, therefore, the SFPUC permits do not contain effluent limitations for them.

Nutrient Control for the Bayside. San Francisco Bay has long been recognized as a nutrient-enriched estuary; however, until recently, it had not experienced negative effects of over-enrichment. Changes recently observed in San Francisco Bay indicate that its resilience to the effects of nutrient enrichment may be declining. In response to these changes, the Regional Water Quality Control Board issued a regional permit (NPDES No. CA0038873) in 2014 requiring all municipal dischargers to the San Francisco Bay monitor and report nutrient discharges. The Regional Water Quality Control Board re-issued this permit in 2019 and stated its intent to consider establishing effluent limitations in future permits to prevent further increases in nutrient loads from municipal wastewater treatment plants. In summer 2022, San Francisco Bay experienced a very large algal bloom that resulted in significant fish die-offs. Monitoring of this bloom indicated that, while nitrogen discharges from municipal wastewater treatment plants did not cause the bloom, they contributed to the size and duration. In response to this bloom, the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board has stated its intent to require reductions in nitrogen loads from municipal wastewater treatment plants, including the Southeast Treatment Plant. The details of these requirements are unclear at this time. The SFPUC and regional groups such as the Bay Area Clean Water Association (of which the SFPUC is a member) are working with the Regional Water Quality Control Board on these future regulations.

Other Regulatory Agencies with Jurisdiction Over the Wastewater Enterprise

Other regulatory agencies with approval or oversight responsibilities over the siting, construction or operational impacts of the Wastewater Enterprise on air, water and natural resources include the Bay Area Air Quality Management District, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, the California Coastal Commission, the State Lands Commission, the California Department of Public Health, the National Marine Fisheries Service, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, the California Department of Fish and Wildlife, and the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

Other Laws Affecting the Wastewater Enterprise

As a public agency the SFPUC's actions must be consistent with CEQA and, where federal approvals or funding is involved, NEPA. The federal Clean Air Act and the California Clean Air Act of 1988 also regulate emissions from the treatment facilities. All of the SFPUC's treatment facilities meet present Bay Area Air Quality Management District standards.

CONSTITUTIONAL, STATUTORY AND CHARTER LIMITATIONS

The activities of the SFPUC and the Wastewater Enterprise, including, without limitation, the establishment of rates for sewer service and the issuance of Bonds (which include Parity Loans), are subject to several limitations under both State and local law. Certain of such limitations are summarized below. Additionally, such limitations may be revised, enhanced, expanded or otherwise altered as provided under State and local law, including in certain instances by legislation adopted by State, regional or local authorities, including the State Legislature or the Board of Supervisors, or by California or San Francisco voters themselves through the power of initiative or referendum, by voting in favor of amendments to the Charter or in any other lawful manner.

State Law Limitations

Tax and Spending Limitations. The taxing powers of public agencies in the State are limited by Article XIIIA of the California Constitution, added by an initiative amendment approved by the voters on June 6, 1978, and commonly known as Proposition 13.

Article XIIIA limits the maximum ad valorem tax on real property to 1% of "full cash value," which is defined as "the County Assessor's valuation of real property as shown on the Fiscal Year 1975-76 tax bill under 'full cash value' or, thereafter, the appraised value of real property when purchased, newly constructed, or a change in ownership has occurred after the 1975 assessment." The full cash value may be adjusted annually to reflect inflation at a rate not to exceed 2% per year, or reduction in the consumer price index or comparable local data, or declining property value caused by damage, destruction, or other factors.

The tax rate limitation referred to above does not apply to ad valorem taxes to pay the debt service on any indebtedness approved by the voters before July 1, 1978, or on any bonded indebtedness for the acquisition or improvement of real property approved by two-thirds of the votes cast by the voters voting on the proposition.

Under the terms of Article XIIIA and pursuant to an allocation system created by implementing legislation, each county is required to levy the maximum ad valorem tax permitted by Article XIIIA and to distribute the proceeds to local agencies.

Assessed valuation growth allowed under Article XIIIA (new construction, change of ownership and up to 2% annual value growth) is allocated among the jurisdictions that serve the tax rate area within which the growth occurs. Local agencies and schools share the growth of base revenues from the tax rate area. Each year's growth allocation becomes part of each agency's allocation in the following year. The availability of revenues from tax bases to such entities may be affected by the existence of certain successor agencies to former redevelopment agencies that, under certain circumstances, may be entitled to such revenues resulting from the upgrading of certain property values.

Under State law, any fee that exceeds the reasonable cost of providing the service for which the fee is charged may be considered a "special tax" that must be authorized by a two-thirds vote of the electorate. Accordingly, if a portion of the SFPUC's wastewater user rates or capacity charges were determined by a court to exceed the reasonable cost of providing service, the SFPUC might not be permitted to continue to collect that portion unless it were authorized to do so by a two-thirds majority of the votes cast in an election to authorize the collection of that portion of the rates or fees. If the SFPUC were unable to obtain such a two-thirds majority vote and were unable to reduce costs, such failure could adversely affect the SFPUC's ability to pay the debt service on the Bonds.

The United States Supreme Court has upheld Article XIIIA against a challenge alleging violation of equal protection under the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Proposition 218. Proposition 218, a State ballot initiative known as the "Right to Vote on Taxes Act," was approved by California voters on November 5, 1996. The initiative added Articles XIIIC and XIIID to the California Constitution, creating additional requirements for the imposition by most local governments of "general taxes," "special taxes," "assessments," "fees," and "charges." Articles XIIIC and XIIID became effective, pursuant to their terms, as of November 6, 1996, although compliance with some of the provisions was deferred until July 1, 1997, and certain of the provisions purport to apply to any tax imposed for general governmental purposes (i.e., "general taxes") imposed, extended or increased on or after January 1, 1995 and prior to November 6, 1996.

Article XIIID imposes substantive and procedural requirements on the imposition, extension or increase of any "fee" or "charge" subject to its provisions. A "fee" or "charge" subject to Article XIIID includes any levy, other than an ad valorem tax, special tax or assessment, imposed by an agency upon a parcel or upon a person as an incident of property ownership. Article XIIID prohibits, among other things, the imposition of any proposed fee or charge, and, possibly, the increase of any existing fee or charge, in the event written protests against the proposed fee or charge are presented at a required public hearing on the fee or charge by a majority of owners of the parcels upon which the fee or charge is to be imposed. Except for fees and charges for water, sewer and refuse collection services, the approval of a majority of the property owners subject to the fee or charge, or at the option of the agency, by a two-thirds vote of the electorate residing in the affected area, is required not less than 45 days following the public hearing on any such proposed new or increased fee or charge.

The California Supreme Court decisions in Richmond v. Shasta Community Services District, 32 Cal. 4th 409 (2004) ("Richmond"), and Bighorn-Desert View Water Agency v. Verjil, 39 Cal. 4th 206 (2006) ("Bighorn") have clarified uncertainty surrounding the applicability of Section 6 of Article XIIID to service fees and charges. In Richmond, the Shasta Community Services District charged a water connection fee, which included a capacity charge for capital improvements to the water system and a fire suppression charge. The Court held that both the capacity charge and the fire suppression charge were not subject to Article XIIID because a water connection fee is not a property-related fee or charge because it results from the property owner's voluntary decision to apply for the connection. In both Richmond and Bighorn, however, the Court stated that a fee for ongoing water service through an existing connection is imposed "as an incident of property ownership" within the meaning of Article XIIID, rejecting, in Bighorn, the water agency's argument that consumption-based water charges are not imposed "as an incident of property ownership" but as a result of the voluntary decisions of customers as to how much water to use.

The SFPUC provides public notice of proposed wastewater rate increases in accordance with the requirements of Article XIIID through means that include, among others, holding informational presentations at community group meetings, mailings to residential and commercial customers of public hearings on rate increases, and press releases and media campaigns regarding rate increases, followed by public hearings conducted by the SFPUC's Rate Fairness Board and by the SFPUC itself. The SFPUC also develops and adopts retail utility user rates and fees in accordance with the requirements of Article XIIID(6)(b) that limit property-related fees and charges.

Article XIIIC extends the people's initiative power to reduce or repeal previously authorized local taxes, assessments, fees and charges. This extension of the initiative power is not limited by the terms of Article XIIIC to fees, taxes, assessment fees and charges imposed after November 6, 1996 and absent other authority could result in retroactive reduction in any existing taxes, assessments, fees or charges. In Bighorn, the Court concluded that under Article XIIIC local voters by initiative may reduce a public agency's water rates and delivery charges. The Court noted, however, that it was not holding that the authorized initiative power is free of all limitations, stating that it was not determining whether the electorate's initiative power is subject to the public agency's statutory obligation to set water service charges at a level that will "pay the operating expenses of the agency, … provide for repairs and depreciation of works, provide a reasonable surplus for improvements, extensions, and enlargements, pay the interest on any bonded debt, and provide a sinking or other fund for the payment of the principal of such debt as it may become due."

Article XIIID imposes the substantive requirement that any wastewater charges may not exceed the proportional cost of providing service to customers. The Fourth District of the California Court of Appeal decision in Capistrano Taxpayers Association, Inc. v. City of San Juan Capistrano, 235 Cal.App.4th 1493 (2015), clarified that tiered rate structures are compatible with the cost of service limitations of Article XIIID when each tier structure is supported by cost of service calculations. The court held that San Juan Capistrano's water rates violated Article XIIID because no evidence in the record adequately showed that each tier corresponded to the cost of providing service at a given level of usage.

The courts have not fully interpreted the provisions of Proposition 218. The SFPUC is unable to predict how courts will further interpret Article XIIIC and Article XIIID, and what, if any, further implementing legislation will be enacted. Under the Bighorn case, San Francisco voters could adopt an initiative measure that reduces or repeals the SFPUC's wastewater rates and charges, though it is not clear whether (and courts have not decided whether) any such reduction or repeal by initiative would be enforceable in a situation in which such rates and charges are pledged to the repayment of bonded indebtedness. There can be no assurance that the courts will not further interpret, or the voters will not amend, Article XIIIC and Article XIIID to limit the ability of the SFPUC to impose, levy, charge and collect increased fees and charges for the Wastewater Enterprise, or to call into question wastewater rate increases previously adopted by the SFPUC. No assurance may be given that Articles XIIIC and XIIID will not have a material adverse impact on Net Revenues.

Proposition 26. Proposition 26, which amended Article XIIIA and XIIIC of the California Constitution, was approved by the electorate at the November 2, 2010 election. Proposition 26 imposes a two-thirds voter approval requirement for the imposition of fees and charges by the State. It also imposes a majority voter approval requirement on local governments with respect to fees and charges for general purposes, and a two-thirds voter approval requirement with respect to fees and charges for special purposes. According to its supporters, Proposition 26 was designed to prevent the circumvention of tax limitations imposed by the voters pursuant to Proposition 13, approved in 1978, Proposition 218, and other measures through the use of non-tax fees and charges.

Proposition 26 expressly excludes from its scope "a charge imposed for a specific government service or product provided directly to the payor that is not provided to those not charged, and which does not exceed the reasonable cost to the governmental entity of providing the service or product to the payor" and "assessments and property-related fees imposed in accordance with the provisions of Article XIIID." The SFPUC believes that the initiative is not intended to, and would not, apply to fees for wastewater services charged by the SFPUC. The SFPUC, however, is unable to predict how Proposition 26 will be interpreted by the courts to apply to the provision of wastewater services by local governments such as the SFPUC.

Initiative and Referendum

Article XIIIA and Articles XIIIC and XIIID of the California Constitution were adopted pursuant to the State's constitutional initiative process. From time to time other initiative measures could be adopted by California or San Francisco voters, placing additional limitations on the ability of the SFPUC to increase revenues.

Charter Limitations

The Charter requires that bonds (such as the Bonds) secured by revenues, other than refunding bonds, may be issued only with the assent of a majority of voters. However, under the Charter amendments enacted by the voters in November 2002 (Proposition E) and in June 2018 (Proposition A), the SFPUC may issue revenue bonds, including notes, commercial paper or other forms of indebtedness, when authorized by ordinance approved by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Supervisors, for the purpose of reconstructing, replacing, expanding, repairing or improving water facilities, clean water facilities, power facilities, or combinations of water, clean water and power facilities under the jurisdiction of the SFPUC or for any other lawful purpose of the water, clean water or power utilities of the City in furtherance of the purposes provided in the Charter (and subject to the further conditions contained in Proposition E and Proposition A). See "OBLIGATIONS PAYABLE FROM NET REVENUES – Authority for Issuance of Revenue Bonds and Other Obligations Payable from Net Revenues" and "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS – Additional Series of Bonds," "– Additional Parity Loans" and "– Refunding Bonds."

Future Charter Amendments

San Francisco voters could adopt additional Charter amendments in the future which would limit the ability of the SFPUC to issue debt or to enact rate increases, affect the financial condition or operation of the Wastewater Enterprise or implement other changes affecting the financial condition or operations of the SFPUC and the Wastewater Enterprise. See "RISK FACTORS – Initiative, Referendum and Charter Amendments and Future Legislation."

LITIGATION

The SFPUC is not aware of any litigation, pending or threatened, questioning the political existence of the City or the SFPUC or contesting the SFPUC's power to fix wastewater rates and charges, or in any way questioning or affecting:

(i) the proceedings under which the 2023ABC Bonds are to be issued;

(ii) the validity of any provision of the 2023ABC Bonds or the Indenture;

(iii) the pledge of Net Revenues by the SFPUC under the Indenture; or

(iv) the titles to office of the present members of the Board of Supervisors and the Commission.

There are several suits and claims pending against the City and the SFPUC impacting the Wastewater Enterprise, which may include personal injury, wrongful death and other suits and claims against which the City may self-insure. The aggregate amount of the self-insured liabilities of the City and the SFPUC which may result from such suits and claims will not, in the opinion of the City Attorney, materially impair the ability of the SFPUC to pay principal of or interest on the Bonds as they become due. There is no litigation pending, with service of process having been accomplished, against the City or the SFPUC which if determined adversely to the City or the SFPUC would, in the opinion of the City Attorney, materially impair the ability of the SFPUC to pay principal of and interest on the 2023ABC Bonds as they become due.

TAX MATTERS

Federal Tax Status. In the opinion of Jones Hall, A Professional Law Corporation, San Francisco, California, and Alexis S. M. Chiu, Esq., San Francisco, Co-Bond Counsel, subject, however to the qualifications set forth below, under existing law, the interest on the 2023ABC Bonds is excluded from gross income for federal income tax purposes and such interest is not an item of tax preference for purposes of the federal individual alternative minimum tax. Interest on the 2023ABC Bonds may be subject to the corporate alternative minimum tax.

The opinions set forth in the preceding paragraph are subject to the condition that the SFPUC comply with all requirements of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Tax Code") that must be satisfied subsequent to the issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds in order that the interest thereon be, and continue to be, excludable from gross income for federal income tax purposes. The SFPUC has made certain representations and covenants in order to comply with each such requirement. Inaccuracy of those representations, or failure to comply with certain of those covenants, may cause the inclusion of such interest in gross income for federal income tax purposes, which may be retroactive to the date of issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds.

Tax Treatment of Original Issue Discount and Premium. If the initial offering price to the public at which a 2023ABC Bond is sold is less than the amount payable at maturity thereof, then such difference constitutes "original issue discount" for purposes of federal income taxes and State of California personal income taxes. If the initial offering price to the public at which a 2023ABC Bond is sold is greater than the amount payable at maturity thereof, then such difference constitutes "bond premium" for purposes of federal income taxes and State of California personal income taxes.

Under the Tax Code, original issue discount is treated as interest excluded from federal gross income and exempt from State of California personal income taxes to the extent properly allocable to each owner thereof subject to the limitations described in the subsection captioned "Federal Tax Status" above. The original issue discount accrues over the term to maturity of the 2023ABC Bond on the basis of a constant interest rate compounded on each interest or principal payment date (with straight-line interpolations between compounding dates). The amount of original issue discount accruing during each period is added to the adjusted basis of such 2023ABC Bonds to determine taxable gain upon disposition (including sale, redemption, or payment on maturity) of such 2023ABC Bond. The Tax Code contains certain provisions relating to the accrual of original issue discount in the case of purchasers of the 2023ABC Bonds who purchase the 2023ABC Bonds after the initial offering of a substantial amount of such maturity. Owners of such 2023ABC Bonds should consult their own tax advisors with respect to the tax consequences of ownership of 2023ABC Bonds with original issue discount, including the treatment of purchasers who do not purchase in the original offering to the public at the first price at which a substantial amount of such 2023ABC Bonds is sold to the public.

Under the Tax Code, bond premium is amortized on an annual basis over the term of the 2023ABC Bond (said term being the shorter of the 2023ABC Bond's maturity date or its call date). The amount of bond premium amortized each year reduces the adjusted basis of the owner of the 2023ABC Bond for purposes of determining taxable gain or loss upon disposition. The amount of bond premium on a 2023ABC Bond is amortized each year over the term to maturity of the 2023ABC Bond on the basis of a constant interest rate compounded on each interest or principal payment date (with straight-line interpolations between compounding dates). Amortized bond premium is not deductible for federal income tax purposes. Owners of premium 2023ABC Bonds, including purchasers who do not purchase in the original offering, should consult their own tax advisors with respect to State of California personal income tax and federal income tax consequences of owning such 2023ABC Bonds.

California Tax Status. In the further opinion of Co-Bond Counsel, interest on the 2023ABC Bonds is exempt from California personal income taxes.

Other Tax Considerations. Current and future legislative proposals, if enacted into law, clarification of the Tax Code or court decisions may cause interest on the 2023ABC Bonds to be subject, directly or indirectly, to federal income taxation or to be subject to or exempted from state income taxation, or otherwise prevent beneficial owners from realizing the full current benefit of the tax status of such interest. The introduction or enactment of any such legislative proposals, clarification of the Tax Code or court decisions may also affect the market price for, or marketability of, the 2023ABC Bonds. It cannot be predicted whether or in what form any such proposal might be enacted or whether, if enacted, such legislation would apply to 2023ABC Bonds issued prior to enactment.

The opinions expressed by Co-Bond Counsel are based upon existing legislation and regulations as interpreted by relevant judicial and regulatory authorities as of the date of such opinion, and Co-Bond Counsel have expressed no opinion with respect to any proposed legislation or as to the tax treatment of interest on the 2023ABC Bonds, or as to the consequences of owning or receiving interest on the 2023ABC Bonds, as of any future date. Prospective purchasers of the 2023ABC Bonds should consult their own tax advisors regarding any pending or proposed federal or state tax legislation, regulations or litigation, as to which Co-Bond Counsel express no opinion.

Owners of the 2023ABC Bonds should also be aware that the ownership or disposition of, or the accrual or receipt of interest on, the 2023ABC Bonds may have federal or state tax consequences other than as described above. Other than as expressly described above, Co-Bond Counsel express no opinion regarding other federal or state tax consequences arising with respect to the 2023ABC Bonds, the ownership, sale or disposition of the 2023ABC Bonds, or the amount, accrual or receipt of interest on the 2023ABC Bonds.

CERTAIN LEGAL MATTERS

Certain legal matters incident to the authorization, sale and delivery of the 2023ABC Bonds are subject to the approval of Jones Hall, A Professional Law Corporation, San Francisco, California, and Alexis S. M. Chiu, Esq., San Francisco, California, Co-Bond Counsel to the SFPUC. Certain legal matters are being passed upon for the SFPUC by the City Attorney and by Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP, San Francisco, California ("Disclosure Counsel"). Certain legal matters are being passed upon for the Underwriters by Hawkins Delafield & Wood LLP, Los Angeles, California. Co-Bond Counsel and Disclosure Counsel will receive compensation that is contingent upon the sale and delivery of the 2023ABC Bonds.

The form of approving opinion of Co-Bond Counsel is set forth in Appendix C, and will be available at the time of delivery of the 2023ABC Bonds. Co-Bond Counsel is not passing upon and undertakes no responsibility for the accuracy, completeness or fairness of the information contained in this Official Statement.

Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP has served as Disclosure Counsel to the SFPUC and in such capacity has advised the SFPUC with respect to the requirements of applicable securities laws and participated with responsible SFPUC officials and staff in conferences and meetings where information contained in this Official Statement was reviewed for accuracy and completeness. Upon the issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds, Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP will deliver a letter to the SFPUC concerning certain matters with respect to the Official Statement. No purchaser or holder of the 2023ABC Bonds, or other person or party other than the SFPUC, will be entitled to rely on such letters or on the fact that Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP has acted as Disclosure Counsel to the SFPUC.

RATINGS

Moody's Investors Service ("Moody's") has assigned a long-term municipal bond rating of "Aa2" to the 2023ABC Bonds, and S&P Global Ratings, a division of Standard & Poor's Financial Services LLC ("S&P"), has assigned a long-term municipal bond rating of "AA" to the 2023ABC Bonds.

The ratings assigned by Moody's and S&P express only the views of the respective rating agencies. The explanation of the significance of these ratings, and any outlook associated with these ratings, may be obtained from Moody's and S&P, respectively. Each rating agency generally bases its rating on its own investigations, studies, and assumptions. The SFPUC has provided certain additional information and materials to the rating agencies (some of which does not appear in this Official Statement).

A securities rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities and may be subject to revision or withdrawal at any time. There is no assurance such ratings will continue for any given period of time or that such ratings will not be revised downward or withdrawn entirely by the rating agencies, if in the judgment of such rating agencies, circumstances so warrant. Any such downward revision or withdrawal of such ratings may have an adverse effect on the market price of the 2023ABC Bonds. The SFPUC undertakes no responsibility to maintain its current ratings on the 2023ABC Bonds or to oppose any such downward revision, suspension or withdrawal.

APPENDIX A

SUMMARY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE INDENTURE

This Appendix contains summaries of certain provisions of the Indenture, which are in addition and complementary to the summaries found in the Official Statement under the captions "INTRODUCTION," "THE 2023AB BONDS," "THE 2023C BONDS" and "SECURITY FOR THE BONDS." The following summaries are qualified in their entirety by reference to the Indenture, a copy of which can be obtained from the SFPUC.

The 2023ABC Bonds are issued under the Indenture, dated as of January 1, 2003, as amended and supplemented (the "Indenture"), including as supplemented by the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture dated as of April 1, 2023 (the "Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture"). The Indenture, which is summarized below under the caption "THE INDENTURE," includes definitions of terms and other provisions specific to the 2023ABC Bonds and the provisions applicable to all of the Bonds. The terms of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture are summarized under the caption "THE FIFTEENTH SUPPLEMENTAL INDENTURE" below and include provisions specific to the 2023ABC Bonds.

THE INDENTURE

DEFINITIONS; EQUAL SECURITY: CERTIFICATES AND OPINIONS

Unless the context otherwise requires, the terms defined in the Indenture will, for all purposes of the Indenture and of any Supplemental Indenture and of any certificate, opinion or other document mentioned in the Indenture, have the meanings specified in the Indenture. Unless otherwise defined in the Indenture, all terms used in the Indenture will have the meanings assigned to such terms in the Law.

"Accreted Value" means, with respect to any Capital Appreciation Bond, the principal amount thereof plus the interest accrued thereon from its date, compounded at the approximate interest rate thereof on each date specified in the Supplemental Indenture pursuant to which such Capital Appreciation Bonds are issued. The Accreted Value on any such date of compounding will be the amount set forth in the Accreted Value Table and, with respect to any date other than a date on which compounding occurs, will be determined by straight-line interpolation (based on a year consisting of 12 30-day months), as calculated by the Trustee. The calculation of Accreted Value by the Trustee will be binding and conclusive as to the Accreted Value of Capital Appreciation Bonds.

"Accreted Value Table" means, with respect to any Capital Appreciation Bonds, the corresponding table attached as an Exhibit to a Supplemental Indenture pursuant to which Additional Bonds constituting Capital Appreciation Bonds are issued.

"Additional Bonds" means bonds, notes or other obligations of the Commission (other than Parity Loans) payable from Net Revenues and ranking on a parity with the Bonds and issued pursuant to a Supplemental Indenture in compliance with the Indenture, as applicable.

"Annual Debt Service" means the sum of principal and interest on all Outstanding Bonds (including Parity Loans) as computed for the twelve-month period ending June 30 to which reference is made, and calculated by the Commission using the following assumptions:

(a) In determining the principal amount due for such twelve-month period ending June 30, payment will (unless a different subsection of this definition applies for purposes of determining principal maturities or amortization) be assumed to be made in accordance with the amortization schedule established for such debt, including any Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payments or any scheduled redemption or payment of Bonds on the basis of Accreted Value, and for such purpose, the redemption payment or payment of Accreted Value will be deemed a principal payment and interest that is compounded and paid as Accreted Value will be deemed due on the scheduled redemption or Payment Date of such Capital Appreciation Bond, but excluding Excluded Principal.

(b) If any Outstanding Bonds constitute Variable Rate Indebtedness, the interest rate will, as of the date of calculation, be: (i) the greater of (a) the average SIFMA rate over the past 3 years times 150% or (b) 4 percent or (ii) if, designated in writing by the Commission in the Supplemental Indenture authorizing such Bonds (which the Commission must certify, in the case of obligations interest on which is not excluded from gross income for federal income tax purposes under the Code), a fixed rate of interest reasonably determined by the Commission for obligations with similar duration, which interest rate has been certified by a Qualified Financial Advisor as reasonable concurrent with the execution and delivery of such Supplemental Indenture.

(c) If Defeasance Obligations have been deposited with and are held by the Trustee or another fiduciary to be used to pay principal and/or interest on specified Bonds, or any amounts have been deposited in the Interest Fund from the proceeds of any Series of Bonds or from any other source to pay interest on such Bonds, then the principal and/or interest to be paid from such Defeasance Obligations or from the earnings thereon, or from such amounts in the Interest Fund, will be disregarded and not included in calculating Annual Debt Service.

(d) In determining the amount of interest coming due during any twelve-month period ending June 30 on any Series of Bonds that are issued as Build America Bonds or obligations issued under any future program similar to Build America Bonds, amounts equal to the Refundable Credits the Commission is scheduled to receive during each twelve-month period ending June 30 will be deducted from such interest.

"Arbitrage Certificate" means the arbitrage certificate or similar tax certificate delivered or to be delivered by the Commission at the time of issuance and delivery of a Series of Bonds, as the same may be amended or supplemented in a accordance with its terms.

"Authorized Officer" of the Trustee means and includes the chairman of the board of directors, the president, every vice president, every assistant vice president, the cashier, every assistant cashier, every trust officer, and every other officer and assistant officer of the Trustee to whom any trust matter is referred because his or her knowledge of, and familiarity with, a particular subject.

"Average Annual Debt Service" means, as of the date of calculation, total remaining Debt Service divided by the number of twelve-month periods ending on June 30 (including any fractional periods) remaining until the last maturity date of any Outstanding Bond, calculated by the Commission using the following assumptions:

Issuance of Additional Bonds for Refunding. In addition to the 2003 Refunding Series A Bonds, the Commission may, subject to the requirements of the Law, by Supplemental Indenture establish one or more other Series of Bonds payable from Net Revenues on a parity with the 2003 Refunding Series A Bonds and secured by a lien upon and pledge of Net Revenues equal to the lien and pledge securing the 2003 Refunding Series A Bonds, and the Commission may issue, and the Trustee may authenticate and deliver, Bonds of any Series so established, for the purpose of refunding any Bonds issued under the Indenture and then Outstanding, but only upon compliance by the Commission with the provisions of the Indenture, and subject to the following specific conditions, which are made conditions precedent to the issuance of any such additional Series of Bonds by the Indenture:

(a) No Event of Default has occurred and is continuing under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture and no event has occurred which, but for the passage of time or the giving of notice would constitute an Event of Default under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture.

(b) The Supplemental Indenture providing for the issuance of such additional Series of Bonds may require that the amounts on deposit in the Bond Reserve Fund to be established pursuant to the Indenture be increased, if necessary, upon the receipt of the proceeds of the sale of such additional Series of Bonds to an amount equal to the Required Reserve. This deposit may be made from such proceeds or any other source, as provided in the Supplemental Indenture.

(c) The Supplemental Indenture providing for the issuance of such additional Series of Bonds will provide for the payment of interest and principal as follows:

(i) Principal on such Additional Bonds will be payable either semiannually on April 1 and October 1 of each year in which principal falls due or annually on October 1 of each year in which principal falls due, and Term Bonds of any Series will have a principal maturity date of October 1. Interest on such Additional Bonds that are Current Interest Bonds will be payable semiannually on April 1 and October 1 of each year excepting the first year, provided that the first installment of interest will be payable on either April 1 or October 1 and will be for a period of no longer than twelve months and that the interest will be payable thereafter semiannually on April 1 and October 1.

(ii) Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Supplemental Indenture authorizing the issuance of such Additional Bonds may provide for the payment of principal and interest on dates other than those specified above if the Supplemental Indenture provides for the monthly payment of a portion of interest and principal becoming due and payable on the succeeding Interest Payment Date and Principal Payment Date, as applicable, as set forth in detail in the Supplemental Indenture.

(iii) Interest on any Bonds constituting Variable Rate Indebtedness or Tender Indebtedness may be payable on such Payment Dates as specified in the Supplemental Indenture providing for the issuance of such Bonds.

(d) Fixed serial maturities or mandatory Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payments, or any combination thereof, will be established in amounts sufficient to provide for the retirement of all of the Bonds of such additional Series on or before their respective maturity dates, unless such Bonds are Balloon Indebtedness.

(e) The aggregate principal amount of Bonds issued under the Indenture will not exceed any limitation imposed by law or by any Supplemental Indenture.

(f) After giving effect to the application of the proceeds of the additional Series of Bonds, either (i) Annual Debt Service will not be increased in any Fiscal Year (excluding Debt Service on the Outstanding Bonds to be refunded) in an amount in excess of 5% or (ii) the Average Annual Debt Service for the Bonds of such additional Series (during the period from their issuance to their last maturity date) will be equal to or less than the Average Annual Debt Service on the Bonds to be refunded (during the period from the issuance of the additional Series to the last maturity date of the Bonds to be refunded).

(g) After the sale of the additional Series of Bonds proposed to be issued (but prior to the issuance and delivery thereof and receipt of payment therefor), the Commission will file the following documents with the Trustee; these documents will, with respect to such additional Series of Bonds, be based upon the actual interest rate or rates determined at the time of sale thereof.

(i) A Certificate of the Commission that all of the requirements of the Indenture have been met.

(ii) A certificate of one or more Qualified Financial Advisors that the requirements of clause (f) above have been met.

Proceedings for the Issuance of Additional Series of Bonds.

(a) Whenever the Commission determines to issue an additional Series of Bonds pursuant to the Indenture, the Commission will execute or adopt a Supplemental Indenture providing for the issuance of such additional Series of Bonds.

(b) Such Supplemental Indenture will specify the maximum principal amount of Bonds of such Series, provide for the distinctive designation of Bonds of such Series, and prescribe the other terms and conditions of such additional Series of Bonds in accordance with the Indenture and subject to the provisions of the Indenture. The Commission may by such Supplemental Indenture prescribe any provisions respecting the Bonds of such Series not inconsistent with the terms of the Indenture, including registration, transfer and exchange provisions, provisions for the payment of principal and interest and sinking fund provisions.

(c) Before such additional Series of Bonds may be issued and delivered, the Commission will file the following documents with the Trustee:

(i) An Opinion of Counsel setting forth (1) that such counsel has examined the Supplemental Indenture and found it to be in compliance with the requirements of the Indenture; (2) that the execution and delivery of the additional Series of Bonds have been sufficiently and duly authorized by the Commission; (3) that said additional Series of Bonds, when duly executed by the Commission and, if required, authenticated and delivered by the Trustee, will be valid and binding special obligations of the Commission, payable from Net Revenues as provided in the Indenture; and (4) that the issuance of the additional Series of Bonds will not adversely affect the exclusion from federal income taxation of interest on any Bonds then Outstanding.

(ii) The certificates and reports required by the Indenture (if the Additional Bonds constitute an additional lien on the Net Revenues or if the Additional Bonds are issued to refund any Outstanding Bonds), as appropriate.

(iii) The Supplemental Indenture, duly executed or certified and approved by the Trustee.

(d) Upon the delivery to the Trustee of the foregoing instruments, the Trustee will authenticate and deliver said additional Series of Bonds, in the aggregate principal amount specified in such Supplemental Indenture, to, or upon the Written Request of, the Commission, when such additional Series of Bonds is presented to it for that purpose.

No Issuance of Additional Bonds or Other Obligations Except as Permitted in the Indenture; Exceptions. So long as any of the Bonds remain Outstanding, the Commission may issue any Additional Bonds or obligations payable from Net Revenues on a parity with the Bonds only pursuant to the provisions of the Indenture, described under "- Issuance of Additional Bonds," "Issuance of Additional Bonds for Refunding," and "Proceedings for the Issuance of Additional Series of Bonds," above, except under any of the following conditions, in which case none of the limitations or restrictions on the issuance of additional Series of Bonds set forth in such provisions of the Indenture will be applicable: (a) if the Owners of a majority in aggregate amount of the Bond Obligation and any Credit Provider consent in writing to the issuance of such Additional Bonds or obligations, or (b) the obligation constitutes debt of the Commission (including without limitation loan agreements entered into between the Commission and the State of California (or any board, department or agency thereof) to finance or refinance additions, betterments, extensions, repairs, renewals or replacements to the Enterprise) payable by its terms from Net Revenues on a subordinate basis to the payment of Debt Service on the Bonds.

In addition, the Commission may enter into Parity Loans if no Event of Default has occurred and is continuing under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture (and no event has occurred which, but for the passage of time or the giving of notice, would constitute an Event of Default under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture) and, on the date of the execution and delivery of such Parity Loans and with respect to Parity Loans executed and delivered prior to the effective date of the amendments set forth in the Sixth Supplemental Indenture, on the effective date of the amendments set forth in the Sixth Supplemental Indenture, the Commission delivers a Certificate to the Trustee setting forth, for each of the next three Fiscal Years after the delivery of the Parity Loans, and in the case of Parity Loans executed and delivered prior to the effective date of the amendments set forth in the Sixth Supplemental Indenture, the next three Fiscal Years, determined on such date, (i) the Revenues, Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Enterprise and Net Revenues and (ii) the Annual Debt Service (assuming the delivery of the Parity Loans), and demonstrating that the estimated Net Revenues (together with any fund balances of the Commission, which are available for Debt Service, but excluding the Bond Reserve Fund), in each of such Fiscal Years is at least equal to 1.25 times the Annual Debt Service in each of such Fiscal Years.

Validity of Bonds. The validity of the authorization and issuance of the Bonds will not be dependent on or affected in any way by any proceedings taken by the Commission for the improvement of the Enterprise, or by any contracts made by the Commission in connection therewith, or the failure to construct the Project, the Enterprise or any part thereof. The recital contained in the Bonds that they are regularly issued pursuant to the Law will be conclusive evidence of their validity and of compliance with the provisions of law in their issuance.

GENERAL REDEMPTION PROVISIONS

Selection of Bonds for Redemption. Whenever less than all of the Bonds of any one maturity and tenor of any Series are called for redemption and such Bonds are redeemable by lot, the Trustee will select the Bonds of such maturity and tenor to be redeemed, from the Outstanding Bonds of such maturity and tenor, by lot or by any other manner which the Trustee deems fair and equitable. For purposes of such selection, Bonds will be deemed to be composed of $5,000 portions (of principal in the case of Current Interest Bonds or of Accreted Value at maturity in the case of Capital Appreciation Bonds) and any such portion may be redeemed separately. The Trustee will promptly notify the Commission in writing of the numbers of the Bonds so selected for redemption.

Notice of Redemption.

(a) The Trustee will mail notice of redemption, not less than 30 nor more than 60 days prior to the redemption date, to (i) the respective Owners of any Bonds designated for redemption at their addresses appearing on the bond registration books of the Trustee, (ii) the Securities Depositories and (iii) one or more Information Services.

(b) Each notice of redemption will state the date of such notice, the Series of Bonds to be redeemed, the date of issue of such Series of Bonds, the redemption date, the redemption price including, in the case of Capital Appreciation Bonds, the Accreted Value thereof, the place or places of redemption (including the name and appropriate address or addresses of the Trustee), the CUSIP number (if any) of the maturity or maturities, and, if less than all of any such maturity is to be redeemed, the distinctive certificate numbers of the Bonds of such maturity, to be redeemed, and, in the case of Bonds to be redeemed in part only, the respective portions of the principal amount thereof to be redeemed. Each such notice will also state that on said date there will become due and payable on each of said Bonds the principal amount thereof or of said specified portion of the principal amount thereof in the case of a Bond to be redeemed in part only, together with interest accrued thereon to the redemption date, and the premium, if any, thereon (such premium to be specified) and that from and after such redemption date interest thereon will cease to accrue, and will require that such Bonds be then surrendered at the address or addresses of the Trustee specified in the redemption notice.

(c) Failure by the Trustee to give notice pursuant to the Indenture to any one or more of the Information Services or Securities Depositories, or the insufficiency of any such notices will not affect the sufficiency of the proceedings for redemption. Neither failure by the Trustee to mail notice of redemption pursuant to the Indenture to any one or more of the respective Owners of any Bonds designated for redemption nor any defect in such notice will affect the sufficiency of the proceedings for redemption with respect to the Owners to whom such notice was mailed.

(d) Notice of redemption of Bonds will be given by the Commission or, at the request of the Commission, by the Trustee for and on behalf and at the expense of the Commission.

Partial Redemption of Bond. Upon surrender of any Bond redeemed in part only (except as otherwise provided in the Indenture) the Commission will execute and the Trustee will authenticate and deliver to the Owner thereof, at the expense of the Commission, a new Bond or Bonds of authorized denominations equal in aggregate principal amount to the unredeemed portion of the Bond surrendered and of the same Series, tenor, interest rate and maturity.

Effect of Redemption.

(a) When notice of redemption has been duly given under the Indenture, and moneys for payment of the redemption price are held by the Trustee, the Bonds so called for redemption will, on the redemption date designated in such notice, become due and payable at the redemption price specified in such notice; and from and after the date so designated, interest on the Bonds so called for redemption will cease to accrue, those Bonds will cease to be entitled to any benefit or security under the Indenture, and the Owners of those Bonds will have no rights in respect thereof except to receive payment of the redemption price thereof. The Trustee will, upon surrender for payment of any of said Bonds (except as otherwise provided in the Indenture), pay such Bonds at the redemption price as aforesaid, together with accrued interest thereon.

(b) All Bonds redeemed pursuant to the provisions of the Indenture will be cancelled upon surrender, and no Bonds will be issued in place thereof.

Rescission of Notice of Redemption. The Commission may, at its option, prior to the date fixed for redemption in any notice of redemption rescind and cancel such notice of redemption by Written Request to the Trustee and the Trustee will mail notice of such cancellation to the recipients of the notice of redemption being cancelled.

REVENUES AND FUNDS

Pledge and Assignment of Net Revenues; Revenue Fund.

(a) Establishment of Revenue Fund. In accordance with the Charter, but subject to the budget and fiscal provisions of the Charter, whenever revenue bonds issued by the Commission pursuant to the Charter or refunding bonds of such revenue bonds are Outstanding, all of the Revenues of the Enterprise will be set aside and deposited into a fund in the City treasury previously established and known as the "Enterprise Revenue Fund" (called the "Revenue Fund" in the Indenture). All amounts paid into the Revenue Fund will be maintained by the Treasurer separate and apart from all other City funds. Separate accounts will be kept of the Revenue Fund with respect to receipts and disbursements. The Revenue Fund will be exempted from the requirements of the Charter.

(b) Priority of Disbursements from Revenue Fund. Moneys in the Revenue Fund, including earnings thereon, will be appropriated, transferred, expended or used for the following purposes, and only in accordance with the following priority: (i) the payment of the Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Enterprise; (ii) the payment of Senior State Loans; (iii) the payment of Bonds, Parity Loans, Policy Costs and amounts due as reimbursement under any Letter of Credit Agreement, as provided in the Indenture and, as applicable, any Supplemental Indenture; and (iv) any other lawful purpose of the Commission.

(c) Pledge of Net Revenues; Perfection of Lien.

(i) Subject to the provisions above, all of the Net Revenues (except amounts on deposit in the various Rebate Funds) are irrevocably pledged by the Indenture to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest and redemption premium, if any, on the Bonds and the Policy Costs, and the Net Revenues will not be used for any other purpose while any of the Bonds remain Outstanding or Policy Costs remain unpaid; except that the Net Revenues may be used for such purposes as are expressly permitted in the Charter and the Indenture. Pursuant to Section 5451 of the California Government Code, said pledge will constitute a lien on and security interest in the Net Revenues for the payment of the Bonds and the Policy Costs in accordance with the terms thereof and of the Indenture, and will immediately attach to the collateral and be effective, binding, and enforceable against the Commission, its successors, purchasers of the Net Revenues, creditors and all others asserting any rights thereto, irrespective of whether such parties have notice of such pledge and without the need for any physical delivery, recordation, filing or further act.

(ii) The Commission will not take any action which alters the pledge of Net Revenues or the order of priority of payment of the Net Revenues used for the payment of principal of and interest on the Bonds.

(d) Disposition of Excess Amounts in Revenue Fund. Except as otherwise provided in a Supplemental Indenture, all moneys remaining in the Revenue Fund on each October 5 (or on such earlier day as the amounts required for the transfers set forth in the Indenture are on deposit in the Revenue Fund), after the setting aside and transferring of all of the amounts required to be set aside or transferred by the Treasurer under the Indenture, will be applied for any lawful purpose of the Commission.

Establishment and Maintenance of Funds for Net Revenues; Use and Withdrawal of Revenues.

(a) The Trustee will establish and maintain, in trust, so long as any Bonds are Outstanding, the Interest Fund, Principal Fund, and Bond Reserve Fund. The Trustee will hold all amounts deposited in each of these funds in trust and apply, use and withdraw those funds only for the purposes authorized in the Indenture.

(b) After the making of the payments required by the Indenture the Commission will transfer all Net Revenues in the Revenue Fund, on a parity basis, as follows: (i) to the Trustee, at the times and in the amounts set forth in the Indenture, for deposit in the following funds, to the extent necessary, in the following order of priority: the Interest Fund, Principal Fund, and Bond Reserve Fund, and (ii) as needed for the payment of any Parity Loans. The requirements of the Interest Fund, the Principal Fund and the Reserve Fund at the time of deposit will be satisfied before any transfer is made to any fund subsequent in priority. The Trustee will disburse amounts on deposit in these funds in accordance with the Indenture.

Interest Fund.

(a) On or before 5 Business Days before each Interest Payment Date, the Treasurer will pay to the Trustee for deposit in the Interest Fund an amount equal to the interest becoming due and payable on the Outstanding Current Interest Bonds on that Interest Payment Date (taking into account amounts on deposit in the Interest Fund and available for the payment of interest on such Interest Payment Date and excluding any interest for which there is moneys deposited in the Interest Fund or the Capital Project Fund from the proceeds of any Series of Bonds, or other source and reserved as capitalized interest to pay such interest on such Interest Payment Date).

(b) The Trustee will use and withdraw moneys in the Interest Fund solely for the purpose of paying the interest on the Bonds as it becomes due and payable (including accrued interest on any Bonds purchased or redeemed prior to maturity under the Indenture).

(c) All of the Refundable Credits received by the Commission will be deposited immediately upon receipt in the Interest Fund, and such Refundable Credits are irrevocably pledged by the Indenture to the punctual payment of the interest on the Bonds issued as Build America Bonds, and the Refundable Credits will not be used for any other purpose while any of the Bonds issued as Build America Bonds remain Outstanding. Pursuant to Section 5451 of the California Government Code, this pledge constitutes a lien on and security interest in the Refundable Credits for the payment of interest on the Bonds issued as Build America Bonds in accordance with the terms thereof and of the Indenture, and will immediately attach and be effective, binding, and enforceable against the Commission, its successors, purchasers of the Refundable Credits, creditors and all others asserting any rights thereto, irrespective of whether such parties have notice of such pledge and without the need for any physical delivery, recordation, filing or further act. Notwithstanding the foregoing deposit and pledge, the Refundable Credits are not considered Revenues or included in the calculation of Revenues under the Indenture. Additionally, in calculating the amount that the Treasurer pays to the Trustee for deposit in the Interest Fund as provided above, the Treasurer and the Trustee will take into account Refundable Credits only if they have been deposited in the Interest Fund on or prior to the fifth Business Day prior to the applicable Interest Payment Date and have not been previously expended to pay Debt Service on the Bonds issued as Build America Bonds or otherwise transferred out of the Interest Fund.

Principal Fund; Sinking Fund Accounts.

(a) On or before 5 Business Days before each Principal Payment Date, the Treasurer will pay to the Trustee for deposit in the Principal Fund an amount equal to at least the following:

(i) the aggregate amount of Bond Obligation becoming due and payable on the Outstanding Serial Bonds of all Series having a maturity date on the next succeeding Principal Payment Date, plus

(ii) the aggregate of the Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payments to be paid on the next succeeding Principal Payment Date into the respective Sinking Fund Accounts for the Term Bonds of all Series for which Sinking Fund Accounts have been created (all such Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payments will be made without priority of any payment into any one such Sinking Fund Account over any other such payment), plus

(iii) if any Balloon Indebtedness is Outstanding and principal is due on such Balloon Indebtedness on or prior to the next succeeding Principal Payment Date, sufficient amounts to pay when due the Balloon Indebtedness, plus

(iv) if any Letter of Credit Agreement has been entered into on a parity with the Bonds, sufficient amounts to pay when due the obligations of the Commission under such Letter of Credit Agreement due on the next succeeding Maturity Date.

(b) If the moneys in the Principal Fund on any Principal Payment Date are less than the amount of Bond Obligation and redemption premium on the Outstanding Term Bonds required to be redeemed or paid at maturity on such Principal Payment Date, plus the Balloon Indebtedness and the obligations of the Commission under any Letter of Credit Agreements due on such Principal Payment Date, then the moneys in the Principal Fund will be applied on a Proportionate Basis and in such proportion as the Serial Bonds, Term Bonds, Balloon Indebtedness and Letter of Credit Agreement obligations bear to each other.

(c) No deposit need be made into the Principal Fund so long as it contains an amount equal to an amount sufficient to make the payment required above.

(d) The Trustee will use and withdraw all moneys in the Principal Fund solely for the purpose of paying the Bond Obligation of the Bonds, any Balloon Indebtedness and any Letter of Credit Agreement obligations when due and payable, except that the Trustee will use and withdraw all moneys in any Sinking Fund Account (except as otherwise provided in the Indenture) only to purchase or to redeem or to pay at maturity Term Bonds of the Series for which such Sinking Fund Account was created, as provided in the Indenture or in any Supplemental Indenture.

Bond Reserve Fund; Reserve Accounts.

(a) On or before 5 Business Days before each Interest Payment Date, the Treasurer will pay to the Trustee for deposit in the Bond Reserve Fund the aggregate amount of each unreplenished prior withdrawal from the Bond Reserve Fund until there is on deposit in the Bond Reserve Fund a balance equal to the Required Reserve.

(b) If a Bond Reserve Fund Policy satisfies all or a portion of the Required Reserve and a drawing is made on the Bond Reserve Fund Policy, on or before 5 Business Days before each Interest Payment Date, the Treasurer will pay to the Trustee or to the Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider, with notice to the Trustee, an amount at least equal to the aggregate amount of Policy Costs owing with respect to such Bond Reserve Fund Policy. If the Trustee receives such payment, it will immediately remit the same to the Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider.

(c) No deposit need be made into the Bond Reserve Fund so long as there exists in the Bond Reserve Fund an amount equal to the Required Reserve, or when and if the sum of the amounts contained (excluding all Bond Reserve Fund Policies) therein and in the Interest Fund and in the Principal Fund is at least equal to the sum of the aggregate principal amount of all of the Bonds then Outstanding and all of the interest then due or thereafter to become due on all such Bonds.

(d) The Trustee will establish and hold a Reserve Account for each Series of Additional Bonds issued under the Indenture, if and to the extent required by the Supplemental Indenture pursuant to which that Series of Bonds is issued. Upon the issuance of a Series of Additional Bonds, there will be deposited into the Reserve Account for that Series an amount equal to the Required Reserve, if any, established for that Series of Bonds under the Supplemental Indenture pursuant to which that Series of Bonds is issued. Upon the issuance of a Series of Additional Bonds, the Commission will advise the Trustee of the Required Reserve to be maintained in the Reserve Account for that Series. Unless otherwise provided in the Supplemental Indenture pursuant to which a Series of Bonds is issued, the Reserve Account established with respect to a Series of Bonds will be available only to pay Debt Service on such Series of Bonds, and will not be available to pay Debt Service on any other Series of Bonds, provided that amounts in the Reserve Accounts (the "Prior Reserve Accounts") with respect to the Series of Bonds (the "Prior Series of Bonds") issued prior to the effective date of the amendments set forth in the First Amendment, will be available to pay the Debt Service on all the Prior Series of Bonds, except that the Trustee will apply any Bond Reserve Fund Policy on deposit in a Prior Reserve Account solely to the payment of Debt Service on the Prior Series of Bonds to which such Prior Reserve Account relates, and such Bond Reserve Fund Policy will not be available for payment of any other Series of Bonds.

(e) Except with respect to the Prior Reserve Accounts and the Prior Series of Bonds, the Trustee will use and withdraw cash amounts on deposit in each respective Reserve Account within the Bond Reserve Fund solely to pay the principal of, Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payments with respect to, and interest on, the Series of Bonds with respect to which that Reserve Account was established (unless otherwise provided in the Supplemental Indenture pursuant to which a Series of Bonds was issued), in the event that no other moneys are available therefor, or for payment or redemption of such Series of Bonds. Additionally, unless otherwise provided in the Supplemental Indenture pursuant to which a Series of Bonds was issued, the Trustee will apply any Bond Reserve Fund Policy on deposit in a Reserve Account solely to the payment of the Series of Bonds to which such Reserve Account relates, and such Bond Reserve Fund Policy will not be available to pay Debt Service on any other Series of Bonds. With respect to the Prior Reserve Accounts, the Trustee will use and withdraw cash amounts on deposit in the respective Prior Reserve Accounts within the Bond Reserve Fund on a proportionate basis solely to pay the principal of, Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payments with respect to, and interest on, any of the Outstanding Prior Series of Bonds in the event that no other moneys are available therefor, or for payment or redemption of Outstanding Bonds. However, as stated in clause (c) above, the Trustee will apply any Bond Reserve Fund Policy on deposit in a Prior Reserve Account solely to the payment of the Prior Series of Bonds to which such Prior Reserve Account relates, and such Bond Reserve Fund Policy will not be available for payment of any other Series of Bonds.

(f) Following application of all other funds held in the Reserve Account relating to a Series of Bonds, the Trustee will draw under any Bond Reserve Fund Policy issued with respect to such Series of Bonds, in a timely manner and pursuant to the terms of such Bond Reserve Fund Policy, to the extent necessary in order to obtain sufficient funds on or prior to the date such funds are needed to pay the Bond Obligation of, Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payments with respect to, and interest on such Series of Bonds when due.

(g) If the Trustee has notice, that any payment of principal of or interest on a Bond has been recovered from its Bondowner under the United States Bankruptcy Code by a trustee in bankruptcy in accordance with the final, nonappealable order of a court having competent jurisdiction, the Trustee, pursuant to the terms of the Bond Reserve Fund Policy, if any, securing the Series of Bonds of which such Bond is a part, will so notify the Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider and draw on such policy to the lesser of the extent required or the maximum amount of such policy in order to pay to such Bondowners the principal of and interest so recovered.

(h) If and to the extent that more than one Bond Reserve Fund Policy satisfies the portion of the Required Reserve relating to a Series of Bonds, drawings under such Bond Reserve Fund Policies and payment of Policy Costs with respect to such Bond Reserve Fund Policies will be made on a pro rata basis (calculated by reference to the maximum amounts of such Bond Reserve Fund Policies).

(i) If a Bond Reserve Fund Policy is deposited in a Reserve Account in which cash has been previously deposited in satisfaction of the Required Reserve for the applicable Series of Bonds, the Trustee will release cash from that Reserve Account in an amount equal to the Bond Reserve Fund Policy being deposited, and will transfer the cash so released to the Commission to be used for any lawful purpose, provided, however, that the Commission will ensure that the use of any cash so released will not adversely affect the exclusion from gross income of the interest on the Bonds under Section 103 of the Code.

(j) Deposits to the Bond Reserve Fund will be applied on a pro rata basis to the respective Reserve Accounts, calculated by reference to the amounts initially deposited in such Reserve Accounts, and within each Reserve Account first to satisfying any portion of the Required Reserve to be maintained within such Reserve Account not covered by a Bond Reserve Fund Policy, and second to the pro rata payment of Policy Costs until satisfied.

(k) So long as the Commission is not in default under the Indenture, and in each Reserve Account there is a balance equal to the Required Reserve for the Series of Bonds relating to that Reserve Account, the Trustee will withdraw any amount in the Bond Reserve Fund in excess of the Required Reserve, semiannually on March 15 and September 15 of each year, and transfer that amount to the Treasurer for deposit in the Revenue Fund or, during the period of construction of the Project or any portion thereof, the Capital Project Account for the related Series of Bonds. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Commission will have the right to request the Trustee to withdraw excess amounts on deposit in the Bond Reserve Fund at any time.

(l) Except as provided in clauses (d) and (e) above with respect to the Prior Reserve Accounts and the Prior Series of Bonds, unless otherwise provided in a Supplemental Indenture, amounts on deposit in any Reserve Account will be available for the payment of Debt Service only with respect to the Series of Bonds for which that Reserve Account was established.

Deposit and Investment of Moneys in Funds.

(a) All moneys held by the Treasurer in the Revenue Fund or the Capital Project Fund may be invested in Legal Investments, maturing not later than the date on which such moneys are required for payment by the Treasurer.

(b) All moneys held by the Trustee and allocated to any of the funds held by it, subject to the restrictions set forth in the Arbitrage Certificate, will be invested in Permitted Investments, as directed by the Commission, maturing not later than the date on which such moneys are required for payment by the Trustee, except that moneys in the Bond Reserve Fund will be deposited or invested in Permitted Investments which mature not more than seven years from the date of investment or the final date of maturity of the Outstanding Bonds, whichever is earlier.

(c) If at any time any of the investments stated to be Permitted Investments under the Indenture cease to be a Legal Investment for the funds held under the Indenture, the Commission will so advise the Trustee by a Written Statement. The Trustee will not be responsible for making any investment which is not a Legal Investment if the Commission has not previously delivered a Written Request or Statement correctly advising the Trustee that such investment was no longer a Legal Investment.

(d) Permitted Investments on deposit in the Bond Reserve Fund or in any account therein will not have a maturity extending beyond five years from the date of acquisition thereof unless otherwise approved by the Credit Provider or unless such Permitted Investment is described in clause (i) of the definition thereof.

(e) For the purpose of determining the amount of money in the Bond Reserve Fund, all investments of moneys therein will be valued at least annually at the market value of such investments.

(f) All interest received on any moneys held and invested by the Treasurer or the Trustee under the Indenture will be deposited in the Revenue Fund, except: (i) all interest received on any moneys invested in the Principal Fund, Interest Fund or Rebate Fund will remain in the Principal Fund, Interest Fund or Rebate Fund, respectively, and (ii) prior to receipt by the Trustee of notice of completion of construction of the Project or any portion thereof, all interest received on any moneys invested in the Capital Project Fund will remain in the Capital Project Fund held by the Treasurer; and (iii) all interest on any amounts on deposit in the Bond Reserve Fund to the extent that amounts on deposit in the Bond Reserve Fund exceed the Required Reserve will be deposited in the Interest Fund.

(g) The Trustee may sell or present for redemption any obligations so purchased by it whenever it is necessary in order to provide moneys to meet any payment, and the Trustee will not be liable or responsible for any loss resulting from such investment. The Trustee may act as principal or agent in the acquisition or disposition of any investment. The Trustee may commingle any of the moneys held by it under the Indenture for investment purposes only; provided, however, that the Trustee will account separately for the moneys belonging to each fund or account established pursuant to the Indenture and held by it.

Interest Rate Swaps.

(a) The Commission may and the Trustee will, upon the Written Request or Statement of the Commission, enter into an interest rate swap agreement corresponding to the interest rate or rates payable on a Series of Bonds or any portion thereof, provided that the Trustee is supplied with an Opinion of Counsel to the effect that (i) such action is permitted under the laws of the State of California, (ii) entering into the interest rate swap agreement will not adversely affect the tax-exempt status of interest on the bonds, and (iii) entering into the interest rate swap agreement complies with the terms of the Indenture. The amounts received by the Commission or the Trustee, if any, under such a swap agreement may be applied to the deposits required under the Indenture. The entity with which the Commission or the Trustee may contract for an interest rate swap is limited to entities that are rated in one of the two highest short-term or long-term debt rating categories by Moody's and S&P. If the Commission so designates, amounts payable under the interest rate swap agreement will be made on a parity basis with payments on the Bonds and, in such event, the Commission will pay to the Trustee for deposit in the Interest Fund, at the times and in the manner provided by the Indenture, the amounts to be paid under such interest rate swap agreement, as if such amounts were additional interest due on the Bonds to which such interest rate swap relates.

(b) Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Commission will not enter into an interest rate swap agreement without first making the determination required pursuant to Section 5922 of the California Government Code.

COVENANTS OF THE COMMISSION

Payment of Principal and Interest. The Commission will punctually pay or cause to be paid the principal and interest (and premium, if any) to become due in respect of every Bond issued under the Indenture at the times and places and in the manner provided therein and in the Bonds, in strict conformity with the terms of the Bonds and of the Indenture, but solely from Net Revenues, as provided therein.

Against Encumbrances.

(a) Subject to any rights of the United States of America or the State of California, and subject to the provisions described under "- Sale or Other Disposition of Property" below, the Commission will not mortgage or otherwise encumber, pledge or place any charge upon the Enterprise or any part thereof, or upon any of the Net Revenues, prior to or on a parity with the Bonds, provided that Letter of Credit Agreements entered into in connection with Balloon Indebtedness, Variable Rate Indebtedness or Tender Indebtedness may be payable on a parity with the Bonds.

(b) So long as any Bonds are Outstanding, the Commission will not issue any bonds or obligations payable from Net Revenues or secured by a pledge, lien or charge upon Net Revenues prior to or on a parity with the Bonds, other than the Bonds, provided that Letter of Credit Agreements entered into in connection with Balloon Indebtedness, Variable Rate Indebtedness, or Tender Indebtedness may be payable on a parity with the Bonds.

(c) Nothing in the Indenture, and particularly nothing described in the two foregoing clauses, will prevent the Commission from authorizing and issuing bonds, notes, warrants, certificates or other obligations or evidences of indebtedness which as to principal or interest, or both, (i) are payable from Net Revenues after and subordinate to the payment from Net Revenues of the principal of and interest on the Bonds, or (ii) are payable from moneys which are not Revenues as such term is defined in the Indenture.

Sale or Other Disposition of Property.

(a) The Commission will not sell or otherwise dispose of the Enterprise or any part thereof essential to the proper operation of the Enterprise or to the maintenance of the Revenues except as expressly permitted in the Indenture. The Commission will not enter into any lease or agreement which impairs the operation of the Enterprise or impedes the rights of the Owners of the Bonds with respect to the Net Revenues or the operation of the Enterprise, but the Commission may enter into any lease or agreement concerning all or any part of the Enterprise if such lease or agreement will not impair the operation of the Enterprise or impede the rights of the Owners of the Bonds with respect to the Net Revenues or the operation of the Enterprise.

(b) Any real or personal property which has become nonoperative or which is not needed for the efficient and proper operation of the Enterprise, or any material or equipment which has worn out, may be sold if all of the net proceeds of such sale (less any amounts payable to the United States of America or the State of California or required by the United States of America or the State of California to be deposited in a restricted fund) are deposited in the Revenue Fund.

(c) The Commission expressly reserves by the Indenture the right to sell all or a portion of the Enterprise, and to enter into and execute agreements for and to complete such sale, but subject to the following specific conditions, which have been made conditions precedent to such sale by the Indenture:

(i) The Commission will be in compliance with all covenants set forth in the Indenture and in all Supplemental Indentures theretofore adopted by the Commission, and no Event of Default will have occurred and be continuing under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indentures theretofore adopted by the Commission (and no event will have occurred which but for the passage of time would constitute an Event of Default under the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture). The Commission will file a Certificate of the Commission to that effect with the Trustee.

(ii) The Commission will determine by resolution whether the net proceeds of the sale (less any amounts payable to the United States of America or the State of California or required to be deposited in a restricted fund) are to be used for the redemption of Bonds or for the making of additions or improvements to or extensions of the Enterprise.

(iii) If the Commission determines that the net proceeds of the sale (less any amounts payable to the United States of America or the State of California or required to be deposited in a restricted fund) are to be used for the redemption of Bonds, such proceeds of the sale are deposited with the Trustee, and the following conditions will be satisfied:

(A) The Commission will adopt a resolution providing for the redemption of the maximum principal amount of Bonds which can be redeemed from such proceeds of such sale, or, if no Bonds are subject to redemption on the next succeeding Interest Payment Date, directing the Trustee (1) to hold such proceeds in trust, (2) to invest such proceeds in the investments permitted in the Indenture until any Bonds become redeemable, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Indenture, (3) to deposit the interest and income on such proceeds in the Revenue Fund as such interest and income is received, and (D) to use such proceeds to redeem Bonds in the amount and manner specified in the Indenture and any Supplemental Indenture on the first Interest Payment Date on which the Bonds can be redeemed; and a certified copy of such resolution has been filed with the Trustee along with a Written Request or Certificate of the Commission containing such direction.

(B) If such proceeds are not to be immediately used for the redemption of Bonds but instead are to be held by the Trustee until Bonds become redeemable, the Commission will file with the Trustee a written report of an Independent Certified Public Accountant stating (1) the amount of proceeds to be deposited with the Trustee from such sale, (2) an estimate of the total amount of Bond Obligation and the amount of Bonds of each maturity which could be redeemed from such proceeds on the first Interest Payment

Date on which Bonds are redeemable, and (3) the estimated annual interest and income to be earned on such proceeds while held and invested by the Trustee. Such interest and income on such proceeds upon receipt by the Trustee will be deposited in the Revenue Fund and will be treated as Revenues for all purposes of the Indenture, including determining whether the Commission is in compliance with the rate covenant contained in the Indenture.

(C) If such proceeds of such sale are to be immediately used to redeem Bonds, the Net Revenues for the last Fiscal Year or last recorded twelve-month period preceding the date of the adoption by the Commission of the resolution authorizing such sale, less a deduction for the portion of such Net Revenues attributable to the portion of the Enterprise to be sold, all as shown by a certificate or opinion of an Independent Certified Public Accountant or a written report of a Qualified Independent Consultant, have produced a sum equal to at least 1.25 times Maximum Annual Debt Service on the Bonds to be Outstanding following the redemption of Bonds from the proceeds of such sale.

(D) If such proceeds are not to be immediately used for the redemption of Bonds but instead are to be held by the Trustee until Bonds become redeemable, the Net Revenues for the last Fiscal Year or last recorded twelve-month period preceding the date of adoption by the Commission of the resolution authorizing such sale, less a deduction for the portion of such Net Revenues attributable to the portion of the Enterprise to be sold, plus an allowance for the estimated annual interest or income to be earned on the invested proceeds of such sale while held and invested by the Trustee, all as shown by a certificate or opinion of an Independent Certified Public Accountant or a written report of a Qualified Independent Consultant, will have produced a sum equal to at least 1.25 times Maximum Annual Debt Service.

(iv) If the Commission determines that the net proceeds of the sale (less any amounts payable to the United States of America or the State of California or required to be deposited in a restricted fund) are to be used for the making of additions or improvements to or extensions of the Enterprise, such proceeds of the sale will be deposited by the Treasurer in a special fund in trust to be held by the Treasurer to be used for the making of additions or improvements to or extensions of the Enterprise, and the condition set forth in the following sentence will have been satisfied. The Net Revenues for the last Fiscal Year or last recorded twelve-month period preceding the date of the adoption by the Commission of the resolution authorizing such sale, less a deduction for the portion of such Net Revenues attributable to the portion of the Enterprise to be sold, all as shown by a written report of an Independent Certified Public Accountant, plus

(A) An allowance for Net Revenues from any additions or improvements to or extensions of the Enterprise to be made with the proceeds of such sale or with the proceeds of Bonds previously issued, and also for Net Revenues from any such additions, improvements or extensions which have been made from moneys from any source but which, during all or any part of such Fiscal Year or recorded twelve-month period, were not in service, all in an amount equal to 100% of the estimated additional average annual Net Revenues to be derived from such additions, improvements and extensions for the first twenty-four months in which each addition, improvement or extension is respectively to be in operation, all as shown by the certificate or opinion of a Qualified Independent Consultant; and

(B) An allowance for earnings arising from any increase in the charges made for the use of the Enterprise which has become effective prior to such sale, but which, during all or any part of such Fiscal Year or recorded twelve-month period, was not in effect, in an amount equal to 100% of the amount by which the Net Revenues would have been increased if such increase in charges had been in effect during the whole of such Fiscal Year or recorded twelve-month period, as shown by the certificate or opinion of a Qualified Independent Consultant; will have produced a sum equal to at least 1.25 times the Maximum Annual Debt Service on the Bonds then Outstanding. Any balance of such proceeds from any such sale not required by the Commission for the purposes aforesaid will be deposited in the Revenue Fund established pursuant to the Indenture and applied as provided in the Indenture.

Operation and Maintenance of Enterprise. The Commission will maintain and preserve the Enterprise in good repair and working order at all times from the Revenues available for such purposes, in conformity with standards customarily followed for municipal sanitary waste and storm water collection, treatment and disposal systems of like size and character. The Commission will from time to time make all necessary and proper repairs, renewals, replacements and substitutions to the properties of the Enterprise, so that at all times business carried on in connection with the Enterprise will and can be properly and advantageously conducted in an efficient manner and at reasonable cost, and will operate the Enterprise in an efficient and economical manner, consistent with the protection of the Owners of the Bonds, and will not commit or allow any waste with respect to the Enterprise.

Liens and Claims. Subject to any rights of the United States of America or the State of California, the Commission will keep the Enterprise and all parts thereof free from judgments, from mechanics' and materialmen's liens and from all liens and claims of whatsoever nature or character, to the end that the security provided pursuant to the Indenture may at all times be maintained and preserved, and the Commission will keep the Enterprise and the Revenues free from any liability which might hamper the Commission in conducting its business or operating the Enterprise. Subject to the provisions of the Indenture, the Trustee at its option (after first giving the Commission thirty days' written notice to comply therewith and failure of the Commission to so comply within said thirty-day period) may defend against any and all actions or proceedings in which the validity of the Indenture is or might be questioned, or may pay or compromise any claim or demand asserted in any such actions or proceedings; provided, however, that, in defending against such actions or proceedings or in paying or compromising such claims or demands, the Trustee will not in any event be deemed to have waived or released the Commission from liability for or on account of any of its covenants and warranties contained in the Indenture, or from its liability under the Indenture to defend the validity of the Indenture and the pledge made in the Indenture and to perform such covenants and warranties.

Insurance. The Commission will procure, and maintain at all times while any of the Bonds are Outstanding, adequate fidelity insurance or bonds on all officers and employees handling or responsible for any Revenues or funds of the Enterprise, such insurance or bonds to be in an aggregate amount at least equal to the maximum amount of such Revenues or funds at any one time in the custody of all such officers and employees or in the amount of $1,000,000, whichever is less.

The insurance described above may be provided as a part of any comprehensive fidelity and other insurance and not separately for the Enterprise.

The Commission may purchase, on all or any of the Bonds of any Series, insurance assuring the Bondowners that the principal of and interest on the insured Bonds will be paid when due and payable. The purchase of any such insurance will not constitute a preference or priority of the insured Bonds over any Bonds not so insured, and all Bonds Outstanding, irrespective of the providing of such insurance on some of the Bonds, will be equally and proportionately secured by the Indenture.

Books and Accounts; Financial Statements.

(a) The Commission will keep proper books of record and accounts of the Enterprise, separate from all other records and accounts of the Commission, in which complete and correct entries will be made of all transactions relating to the Enterprise. Such books of record and accounts will at all times during business hours be subject to the inspection of the Trustee (who will have no duty to inspect) or of any Owner of Bonds then Outstanding or their representatives authorized in writing, at reasonable hours, upon reasonable prior notice and under reasonable conditions.

(b) So long as any of the Bonds are Outstanding, the Commission will prepare and file with the Trustee annually, within seven months after the close of each Fiscal Year, financial statements of the Enterprise for the preceding Fiscal Year, prepared in, accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a consistent basis from year to year ("Enterprise Financial Statements"), which will include a statement of net assets, statement of revenues, expenses and changes in net assets, and statement of cash flows. The Enterprise Financial Statements will be examined by and include the certificate or opinion of an Independent Certified Public Accountant. The Trustee will not be required to review any such statement.

(c) The Commission will furnish a copy of the Enterprise Financial Statements to any Bondowner upon request, and will furnish to the Trustee such reasonable number of copies thereof (not exceeding 100 copies) as may be required by the Trustee for distribution to investment bankers, security dealers and others interested in the Bonds and to the Owners of Bonds requesting copies thereof. The Trustee will not be required to incur any non-reimbursable expenses in making such distribution.

Enterprise Budgets. The Commission will prepare and submit to the Mayor for review and submission to the Board of Supervisors for approval an annual budget for the Enterprise for each Fiscal Year. Such budget will set forth in reasonable detail the Revenues anticipated to be derived in such Fiscal Year, the expenditures anticipated to be paid or provided for therefrom in such Fiscal Year, and the amounts required to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest and redemption premium, if any, on the Bonds during such Fiscal Year, to pay or provide for Operation and Maintenance Costs of the Enterprise for such Fiscal Year, to make up any deficiencies in any fund or account anticipated for the then current Fiscal Year, and to pay or provide for the payment of all other claims or obligations required to be paid from Revenues in such Fiscal Year, and will show that Net Revenues will be at least adequate to satisfy the requirements of the Indenture. Such budget will comply with any conditions or restrictions set forth in any agreements between the Commission and users of the Enterprise. The Commission will take all action available and necessary to obtain approval or acceptance of the budget by the Mayor and the Board of Supervisors. The Commission will supply to the Trustee and to any Bondowners who will so request in writing a copy of the annual budget for the Fiscal Year covered by such budget. Such budget will be open for inspection by any Owner at the principal corporate trust office of the Trustee during normal business hours.

Maintenance of Revenues. The City will not acquire, construct, operate or maintain, and will not within the scope of its powers permit any other public or private corporation, political subdivision, district or agency or any person whatsoever to acquire, construct, operate or maintain, within the City or any part thereof, any system or utility competitive with the Enterprise. The Commission will have in effect, or cause to have in effect, at all times an ordinance or resolution requiring all customers of the Enterprise to pay the fees, rates and charges applicable to the municipal sanitary waste and storm water collection, treatment and disposal services and facilities furnished by the Enterprise. The Commission will not provide any service of the Enterprise free of charge to any person, firm or corporation, or to any public agency (including the United States of America, the State of California and any public corporation, political subdivision, city, county, district or agency of any thereof), except (i) for free use by the City and its agencies, (ii) to the extent that any such free use is required by the terms of any existing contract or agreement and (iii) for incidental insignificant free use so long as such free use does not prevent the Commission from satisfying the other covenants of the Indenture, including, without limitation, the rate covenant set forth in the Indenture.

Payment of Taxes, Etc. The Commission will pay and discharge, or cause to be paid and discharged, all taxes, assessments and other governmental charges which may hereafter be lawfully imposed upon the Commission on account of the Enterprise or any portion thereof or upon any Revenues and which, if unpaid, might impair the security of the Bonds, when the same becomes due, but nothing contained in the Indenture will require the Commission to pay any such tax, assessment or charge so long as it will in good faith contest the validity thereof. The Commission will duly observe and conform with all valid requirements of any governmental authority relative to the Enterprise or any part thereof.

Acquisition and Construction of Improvements. The Commission will commence and will continue to completion the acquisition and construction of the improvements to the Enterprise proposed to be financed from any Series of Bonds, in a timely manner in accordance with sound engineering practice, and said improvements will be acquired, constructed and completed in a sound and economical manner and in conformity with law.

Eminent Domain Proceeds. If all or any part of the Enterprise is taken by or under threat of eminent domain proceedings, the net proceeds realized by the Commission or the City therefrom (excluding any portion thereof payable to the United States of America or the State of California or required by the United States of America or the State of California to be deposited in a restricted fund) will be deposited by the Treasurer in a special fund in trust and applied and disbursed by the Treasurer subject to the following conditions:

(a) If such eminent domain proceedings have had a material adverse effect upon the Revenues and the security of the Bonds, the Commission will by resolution determine to apply such proceeds for one of the following purposes:

(i) The Commission may determine to apply such proceeds to the purchase, defeasance or redemption of Bonds then Outstanding. In that event, the Treasurer will transfer such proceeds to the Trustee who will apply such proceeds on a Proportionate Basis to the redemption of Bonds of each Series then Outstanding in the proportion which the Bond Obligation amount of each Series bears to the aggregate Bond Obligation amount of all Bonds then Outstanding. If no Bonds are subject to redemption on the next succeeding Interest Payment Date, the Commission will direct the Trustee (A) to hold such proceeds in trust, (B) to invest such proceeds in the investments permitted in the Indenture until any Bonds become redeemable, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Indenture, (C) to deposit the interest and income on such proceeds in the Revenue Fund as such interest and income is received, and (D) to use such proceeds to redeem Bonds in the amount and manner specified in the Indenture and any Supplemental Indenture on the first Interest Payment Date on which the Bonds can be redeemed. Additionally, in such event, the Commission will file with the Trustee a written report of an Independent Certified Public Accountant stating (A) the amount of proceeds to be deposited with the Trustee from such eminent domain proceedings, (B) an estimate of the total amount of Bond Obligation and the amount of Bonds of each maturity that could be redeemed from such proceeds on the first Interest Payment Date on which Bonds are redeemable, and (C) the estimated annual interest and income to be earned on such proceeds while held and invested by the Trustee. Such interest and income on such proceeds upon receipt by the Trustee will be deposited in the Revenue Fund and will be treated as Revenues for all purposes of the Indenture, including determining whether the Commission is in compliance with the covenant contained in the Indenture.

(ii) The Commission may determine to apply such proceeds to the cost of additions or improvements to or extensions of the Enterprise if (A) the Commission first secures and files with the Trustee a written report of a Qualified Independent Consultant showing (1) the loss in annual Revenues, if any, suffered, or to be suffered, by the Commission by reason of such eminent domain proceedings, (2) a general description of the additions, improvements or extensions then proposed to be acquired by the Commission from such proceeds, and (3) an estimate of the additional Revenues to be derived from such additions, improvements or extensions; and (B) such written report states that such additional Revenues will sufficiently offset the loss of Revenues resulting from such eminent domain proceedings so that the ability of the Commission to meet its obligations under the Indenture will not be substantially impaired. The Commission will then promptly proceed with the construction of the additions, improvements or extensions substantially in accordance with such written report. Payments for such construction will be made by the Commission from such proceeds. Any balance of such proceeds not required by the Commission for the purposes aforesaid will be deposited in the Revenue Fund and applied as provided in the Indenture.

(b) If such eminent domain proceedings has had no effect, or at the most a relatively immaterial effect, upon the Revenues and the security of the Bonds, and a Qualified Independent Consultant so concludes in a written report filed with the Trustee, the Commission may determine to apply such proceeds to the costs of additions or improvements to or extensions of the Enterprise or may deposit such proceeds in the Revenue Fund, to be applied as provided in the Indenture.

Compliance with Indenture. The Commission will faithfully observe and perform all the covenants, conditions and requirements of the Indenture, and will not suffer or permit any default to occur under the Indenture, or do or permit to be done, in, upon or about the Enterprise, or any part thereof, anything that might in any way weaken, diminish or impair the security intended to be given pursuant to the Indenture.

Observance of Laws and Regulations. The Commission will comply promptly, fully and faithfully with and abide by any statute, law, ordinance, order, rule or regulation, judgment, decree, direction or requirement now in force or later enacted, adopted or entered by any competent governmental authority or agency applicable or with respect to or affecting the acquisition, construction or reconstruction of the Enterprise or any part thereof or applicable or with respect to or affecting the operation, manner, use or condition of the Enterprise or any part or parcel thereof or adjoining public ways; provided that the Commission need not comply with any such statute, law, ordinance, rule, regulation, judgment, decree, direction or requirement if and so long as the Commission in good faith will be contesting or permitting or causing to be contested the applicability or validity thereof by appropriate proceedings diligently prosecuted, even though such contest may result in the imposition of a lien or charge against the Enterprise or the Revenues, if (1) the Commission will effectively prevent foreclosure or enforcement of any such lien or charge and (2) the foreclosure or enforcement of any such lien or charge will be stayed, and if said stay thereafter expires, the Commission will forthwith discharge such lien or charge or cause the same to be discharged, so that pending such proceedings the Enterprise and the Revenues thereof will not be affected thereby, and the security of the Bonds will not be impaired.

Prosecution and Defense of Suits. The Commission will promptly from time to time take such action as may be necessary or proper to remedy or cure any defect in or cloud upon the title to the Enterprise hereafter developing, and will prosecute all such suits, actions and other proceedings as may be appropriate for such purposes and, to the extent permitted by law, will indemnify and save the Trustee and every Bondowner harmless from all loss, cost, damage and expense, including attorneys' fees, which they or any of them may incur by reason of any such defect, cloud, suit, action or proceeding.

The Commission will defend against every suit, action or proceeding at any time brought against the Trustee or any Bondowner upon any claim arising out of the receipt, application or disbursement of any of the Revenues or involving the rights of the Trustee or any Bondowner under the Indenture; provided, that the Trustee or any Bondowner at its or his election may appear in and defend any such suit, action or proceeding. The Commission will, to the extent permitted by law and without making any representation as to the enforceability of the covenants in this paragraph, indemnify and hold harmless the Trustee and the Bondowners against any and all liability claimed or asserted by any person arising out of such receipt, application or disbursement, and will indemnify and hold harmless the Bondowners against any attorneys' fees or other expenses which any of them may incur in connection with any litigation to which any of them may become a defendant by reason of his ownership of Bonds. The Commission, to the extent permitted by law, will promptly reimburse any Bondowner in the full amount of any attorneys' fees or other expenses which he may incur in litigation or otherwise in order to enforce his rights under the Indenture or the Bonds, provided that such litigation has concluded favorably to such Bondowner's contentions therein. Notwithstanding any contrary provision of the Indenture, this covenant will remain in full force and effect, even though all indebtedness and obligations issued under the Indenture may have been fully paid and satisfied, until the Commission has been dissolved.

Governmental Approvals. The Commission will perform any construction, reconstructions and restorations of, improvements, betterments and extensions to, and equippings and furnishings of, and will operate and maintain the Enterprise at standards required in order that the same may continue to be approved by the proper and competent authority or authorities of the State of California as a public municipal sanitary waste and storm water collection, treatment and disposal system.

Further Assurances. Whenever and so often as requested so to do by the Trustee or any Bondowner, the Commission will promptly execute and deliver or cause to be executed and delivered all such other and further instruments, documents or assurances, and promptly do or cause to be done all such other and further things, as may be necessary or reasonably required in order to further and more fully vest in the Trustee and the Bondowners all rights, interest, powers, benefits, privileges and advantages conferred or intended to be conferred upon them by the Indenture.

Casualty Insurance; Use of Proceeds.

(a) The Commission will at all times maintain such insurance on the Enterprise as is customarily maintained with respect to works and properties of like character against accident to, loss of or damage to such works or properties. If any useful part of the Enterprise is damaged or destroyed, or such damage or destruction have had a material adverse effect upon the Revenues and the security of the Bonds, the Commission will by resolution determine to apply the proceeds of any insurance for such loss or damage for one of the following purposes:

(i) The Commission may determine to apply such proceeds to the purchase, defeasance or redemption of Bonds then Outstanding. In that event, the Treasurer will transfer such proceeds to the Trustee who will apply such proceeds on a Proportionate Basis to the redemption, defeasance or purchase of Bonds of each Series then Outstanding in the proportion which the Bond Obligation amount of each Series bears to the aggregate Bond Obligation amount of all Bonds then Outstanding. If no Bonds are subject to redemption on the next succeeding Interest Payment Date, the Commission will direct the Trustee (A) to hold such insurance proceeds in trust, (B) to invest such insurance proceeds in the investments permitted in the Indenture until any Bonds become redeemable, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Indenture, (C) to deposit the interest and income on such insurance proceeds in the Revenue Fund as such interest and income is received, and (D) to use such insurance proceeds to redeem Bonds in the amount and manner specified in the Indenture and any Supplemental Indenture on the first interest payment date on which the Bonds can be redeemed. Additionally, in such event, the Commission will file with the Trustee a written report of an Independent Certified Public Accountant stating (A) the amount of insurance proceeds to be deposited with the Trustee in connection with any insured loss or damage, (B) an estimate of the total amount of Bond Obligation and the amount of Bonds of each maturity which could be redeemed from such proceeds on the first interest payment date on which Bonds are redeemable, and (C) the estimated annual interest and income to be earned on such insurance proceeds while held and invested by the Trustee. Such interest and income on such insurance proceeds upon receipt by the Trustee will be deposited in the Revenue Fund and will be treated as Revenues for all purposes of the Indenture, including determining whether the Commission is in compliance with the covenant contained in the Indenture.

(ii) The Commission may determine to apply such insurance proceeds to the cost of additions or improvements to or extensions of the Enterprise if (A) the Commission first secures and files with the Trustee a written report of a Qualified Independent Consultant showing (A) the loss in annual Revenues, if any, suffered, or to be suffered, by the Commission by reason of the loss or damage to the Enterprise, (B) a general description of the additions, improvements or extensions then proposed to be acquired by the Commission from such proceeds, and (C) an estimate of the additional Revenues to be derived from such additions, improvements or extensions; and (B) such written report states that such additional Revenues will sufficiently offset the loss of Revenues resulting from such insured loss or damage so that the ability of the Commission to meet its obligations under the Indenture will not be substantially impaired. The Commission will then promptly proceed with the construction of the additions, improvements or extensions substantially in accordance with such written report. Payments for such construction will be made by the Commission from such insurance proceeds. Any balance of such proceeds not required by the Commission for the purposes aforesaid will be deposited in the Revenue Fund and applied as provided in the Indenture.

(b) If such insured loss, damage or destruction has had no effect, or at the most a relatively immaterial effect, upon the Revenues and the security of the Bonds, and a Qualified Independent Consultant so concludes in a written report filed with the Trustee, the Commission may determine to apply such proceeds to the costs of additions or improvements to or extensions of the Enterprise, or such proceeds may be used for any other lawful purpose of the Enterprise.

(c) Any such insurance will be in the form of policies or contracts for insurance with insurers of good standing and will be payable to the Commission, or may be in the form of self-insurance by the Commission. The Commission will establish such fund or funds or reserves as it determines, in its sole judgement, are necessary to provide for its share of any such self-insurance.

EVENTS OF DEFAULT AND REMEDIES OF BONDOWNERS

Events of Default; Acceleration; Waiver of Default. If one or more of the following events (called "Events of Default" in the Indenture) happens, that is to say – (a) if default is made in the due and punctual payment of the principal of, or the premium (if any) on, any Bond when and as the same becomes due and payable, whether at maturity as therein expressed, by proceedings for redemption, by declaration or otherwise, or if default is made in the redemption from any Sinking Fund Account of any Term Bonds in the amounts and at the times provided therefor; (b) if default is made in the due and punctual payment of any installment of interest on any Bond when and as such interest installment becomes due and payable; (c) if default is made by the Commission in the observance of any of the other covenants, agreements or conditions on its part in the Indenture or in the Bonds contained, and such default continues for a period of 30 days after written notice thereof, specifying such default and requiring the same to be remedied, is given to the Commission by the Trustee or by a Credit Provider, or to the Commission and the Trustee by the Owners of not less than 25% of the Bond Obligation; or (d) if the Commission or the City files a petition or answer seeking reorganization or arrangement under the federal bankruptcy laws or any other applicable law of the United States of America, or if a court of competent jurisdiction approves a petition, filed with or without the consent of the Commission or the City, as the case may be, seeking reorganization under the federal bankruptcy laws or any other applicable law of the United States of America, or if, under the provisions of any other law for the relief or aid of debtors, any court of competent jurisdiction assumes custody or control of the Commission or the City or of the whole or any substantial part of the property of either; then and in each and every such case during the continuance of such Event of Default, the Trustee may, and upon the written request of the Owners of not less than a majority in aggregate amount of the Bond Obligation or of a Credit Provider will, upon notice in writing to the Commission, declare the principal of all of the Current Interest Bonds then Outstanding, and the interest accrued thereon, the Capital Appreciation Bonds then Outstanding, in the amount of the Accreted Value thereof, and the Parity Loans then outstanding, in the amount of the obligations due thereunder, to be due and payable immediately, and upon any such declaration the same will become and will be immediately due and payable, anything contained in the Indenture or in the Bonds to the contrary notwithstanding.

This provision, however, is subject to the condition that if, at any time after the principal of the Bonds have been so declared due and payable, and before any judgment or decree for the payment of the moneys due will have been obtained or entered as provided in the Indenture, the Commission will deposit with the Trustee a sum sufficient to pay all principal and Accreted Value of the Bonds maturing prior to such declaration and all matured installments of interest (if any) upon all the Current Interest Bonds, with interest on such overdue payments of principal and Accreted Value and interest installments at the rate or rates of interest borne by the respective Bonds, and the reasonable expenses of the Trustee, and any and all other defaults known to the Trustee (other than in the payment of principal and Accreted Value of and interest on the Bonds due and payable solely by reason of such declaration) have been made good or cured to the satisfaction of the Trustee, or provision deemed by the Trustee to be adequate has been made therefor, then, and in every such case, (i) if such declaration has been made by the Trustee, the Trustee, or (ii) if such declaration has been made upon the written request of Bondowners, the Owners of not less than a majority in aggregate amount of the Bond Obligation of the Bonds then Outstanding, or (iii) if such declaration has been made upon the written request of a Credit Provider, such Credit Provider, may, by written notice to the Commission and, in cases (ii) and (iii) above, to the Trustee, on behalf of the Owners of all of the Bonds, rescind and annul such declaration and its consequences; but no such rescission and annulment will extend to or will affect any subsequent default, or will impair or exhaust any right or power consequent thereon.

Application of Funds Upon Acceleration. All of the Revenues, including all sums in all of the funds provided for in the Indenture upon the date of the declaration of acceleration as provided in the Indenture and all sums thereafter received by the Commission or the Trustee under the Indenture, will, if received by the Commission, be transmitted to the Trustee and be applied by the Trustee in the order following, upon presentation of the several Bonds, and the stamping thereon of the payment if only partially paid, or upon the surrender thereof if fully paid --

> First, to the payment of the costs and expenses of the Bondowners in declaring such Event of Default, including reasonable compensation to their agents, attorneys and counsel; and to the payment of the costs and expenses of the Trustee, including but not limited to reasonable compensation to its agents, attorneys and counsel;

Second, to the payment of the whole amount of Bond Obligation then owing and unpaid upon the Bonds, with interest on, with respect to the Current Interest Bonds, the overdue principal and installments of interest, with respect to the Capital Appreciation Bonds, the Accreted Value thereof, and with respect to the Parity Loans, the obligations due thereunder, at the rate or rates of interest borne by the respective Bonds, and in case such moneys will be insufficient to pay in full the whole amount so owing and unpaid upon the Bonds, then to the payment of such principal and interest, Accreted Value and obligations (under Parity Loans) without preference or priority of principal over interest, or of interest over principal, or of any installment of interest over any other installment of interest, ratably to the aggregate of such principal and interest, Accreted Value and obligations (under Parity Loans); and Third, to the payment of all Policy Costs, and in case such moneys are insufficient to pay in full all Policy Costs owing and unpaid, then to the payment of such Policy Costs pro rata (calculated by reference to the maximum amounts available under the respective Bond Reserve Fund Policies).

Suits at Law or in Equity and Mandamus. In case one or more of the Events of Default happens, then and in every such case the Owner of any Bond at the time Outstanding will be entitled to proceed to protect and enforce the rights vested in such Owner by the Indenture by such appropriate judicial proceeding as such Owner deems most effectual to protect and enforce any such right, either by suit in equity or by action at law, whether for the specific performance of any covenant or agreement contained in the Indenture, or in aid of the exercise of any power granted in the Indenture, or to enforce any other legal or equitable right vested in the Owners of Bonds by the Indenture or by law; provided, however, that no such Bondowner will have the right to institute any such judicial proceeding pursuant to the Indenture unless (a) such Owner has previously given to the Trustee written notice of the occurrence of an Event of Default under the Indenture; (b) the Owners of at least ten percent (10%) in aggregate amount of Bond Obligation of the Bonds then Outstanding have made written request to the Trustee to exercise the powers granted in the Indenture or to institute such action, suit or proceeding in its own name; (c) such Owner or said Owners have tendered to the Trustee reasonable indemnity against the costs, expenses and liabilities to be incurred in compliance with such request; (d) the Trustee has refused or omitted to comply with such request for a period of sixty (60) days after such written request has been received by, and said tender of indemnity has been made to, the Trustee; and (e) the Trustee has not received contrary directions from the Owners of a majority in aggregate amount of Bond Obligation of the Bonds Outstanding. The provisions of the Indenture constitute a contract with the Owners of the Bonds, and such contract and duties of the Commission and of the Commission members and of the officers and employees of the Commission and of the City are enforceable by any Bondowner by mandamus or other appropriate suit, action or proceeding in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Non-waiver. Nothing in the Indenture, or in the Bonds, will affect or impair the obligation of the Commission, which is absolute and unconditional, to pay the principal of and the interest (and premium, if any) on the Bonds to the respective Owners of the Bonds at the respective dates of maturity, or upon call for redemption, as provided in the Indenture, but only out of the Revenues pledged in the Indenture for such payments, or affect or impair the right of action, which is also absolute and unconditional, of such Owners to institute suit to enforce such payment by virtue of the contract embodied in the Bonds.

A waiver of any default or breach of duty or contract by any Bondowner will not affect any subsequent default or breach of duty or contract, or impair any rights or remedies on the subsequent default or breach. No delay or omission of the Trustee or of any Owner of any of the Bonds to exercise any right or power arising upon the happening of any Event of Default will impair any such right or power or will be construed to be a waiver of any such Event of Default or an acquiescence therein, and every power and remedy given by the Law or the Indenture to the Trustee or to the Owners of Bonds may be exercised from time to time and as often as will be deemed expedient by the Trustee or the Owners of Bonds.

If a suit, action or proceeding to enforce any right or exercise any remedy is abandoned or determined adversely to the Bondowners, the Commission and the Bondowners will be restored to their former positions, rights and remedies as if such suit, action or proceeding had not been brought or taken.

Actions by Trustee as Attorney-in-Fact. Any suit, action or proceeding which any Owner of Bonds will have the right to bring to enforce any right or remedy under the Indenture may be brought by the Trustee for the equal benefit and protection of all Owners of Bonds similarly situated (notwithstanding any conditions upon the bringing of any such action, suit or proceeding set forth in the Indenture) and the Trustee is appointed (and the successive respective Owners of the Bonds issued under the Indenture, by taking and holding the same, will be conclusively deemed so to have appointed it) the true and lawful attorney-in-fact of the respective Owners of the Bonds for the purpose of bringing any such suit, action, or proceeding and to do and perform any and all acts and things for and in behalf of the respective Owners of the Bonds as a class or classes, as may be necessary or advisable in the opinion of the Trustee as such attorney-in-fact.

Remedies Not Exclusive. No remedy in the Indenture conferred upon or reserved to the Trustee or to the Owners of Bonds is intended to be exclusive of any other remedy. Every such remedy will be cumulative and will be in addition to every other remedy given under the Indenture or now or later existing, at law or in equity or by statute or otherwise and may be exercised without exhausting and without regard to any other remedy conferred by the Law or any other law.

Power of Trustee to Control Proceedings. In the event that the Trustee, upon the happening of an Event of Default, has taken any action, by judicial proceedings or otherwise, pursuant to its duties under the Indenture, whether upon its own discretion or upon the request of the Owners of at least ten percent (10%) in aggregate amount of the Bond Obligation, it will have full power, in the exercise of its discretion for the best interests of the Owners of the Bonds, with respect to the continuance, discontinuance, withdrawal, compromise, settlement or other disposal of such action; provided, however, that the Trustee will not, unless there no longer continues an Event of Default under the Indenture, discontinue, withdraw, compromise or settle, or otherwise dispose of any litigation pending at law or in equity, if at the time there has been filed with it a written request signed by the Owners of at least a majority in aggregate amount of the Bond Obligation under the Indenture opposing such discontinuance, withdrawal, compromise, settlement or other disposal of such litigation.

Remedies of Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider. If the Commission fails to pay Policy Costs to a Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider to the extent and at the times required by the provisions of the Indenture and such failure continues for 30 days after written notice of such default is received by the Commission and the Trustee from such Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider or if an Event of Default set forth in the Indenture occurs and is continuing, then the Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider may exercise any remedy provided under the Indenture to the Trustee or available at law or in equity to protect and enforce its right to receive payment of Policy Costs; provided, that, in no event, will the Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider be able to declare the principal and Accreted Value of the Bonds and the interest accrued thereon to be due and payable immediately or to exercise any remedy that the Trustee, in its sole discretion, determines would adversely affect the Bondowners.

Rights of Credit Provider. Each Credit Provider, during any period in which an Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, will be recognized as the Owner of each Bond which it guarantees or insures for the purposes of exercising all rights and privileges available to Bondowners. Any acceleration of principal payments with respect to Bonds guaranteed or insured by a Credit Provider are subject to such Credit Provider's prior written direction or consent (but only if such Credit Provider is not in default under its guaranty or insurance policy). Each Credit Provider, will have the right to institute any suit, action or proceeding at law or in equity under the same terms as an Owner of the Bonds that such Credit Provider guarantees or insures.

THE TRUSTEE

Appointment and Duties of Trustee. The Trustee accepts by the Indenture the trusts imposed upon it as Trustee under the Indenture for the purpose of receiving all moneys which the Commission is required to deposit with the Trustee under the Indenture and agrees to allocate, use and apply the same as provided in the Indenture and otherwise to hold all the offices and to perform all the functions and duties provided in the Indenture to be held and performed by the Trustee and agrees to perform such duties and obligations, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the Indenture. The Commission agrees that it will maintain a Trustee having an office in San Francisco or Los Angeles, California, so long as any Bonds are Outstanding and unpaid.

The Trustee will, prior to an Event of Default, and after the curing of all Events of Default which may have occurred, perform such duties and only such duties as are specifically set forth in the Indenture. The Trustee will, during the existence of any Event of Default (which has not been cured), exercise such of the rights and powers vested in it by the Indenture, and use the same degree of care and skill in their exercise, as a prudent person would exercise or use under the circumstances in the conduct of his own affairs.

So long as there is no Event of Default under the Indenture, the Commission may remove the Trustee, by giving written notice to such Trustee and by giving Bondowners notice by mail, first class postage prepaid, of such removal, and any successor thereto, and may appoint a successor or successors thereto; provided that any such successor will be a bank or trust company doing business and having an office in San Francisco or Los Angeles, California, having a combined capital and surplus of at least $100,000,000, and subject to supervision or examination by federal or state authority. If such bank or trust company publishes a report of condition at least annually, pursuant to law or to the requirements of any supervising or examining authority above referred to, then for the purpose of the Indenture the combined capital and surplus of such bank or trust company will be deemed to be its combined capital and surplus as set forth in its most recent report of condition so published.

The Trustee may at any time resign by giving written notice to the Commission and by giving the Bondowners notice by mail, first class postage prepaid, of such resignation. Upon receiving such notice of resignation, the Commission will promptly appoint a successor Trustee by an instrument in writing. Any resignation or removal of the Trustee and appointment of a successor Trustee will become effective upon acceptance of appointment by the successor Trustee. If no successor Trustee has been appointed and has accepted appointment within forty-five days of giving notice of removal or notice of resignation as aforesaid, the resigning Trustee or any Bondowner (on behalf of himself or herself and all other Bondowners) may petition any court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a successor Trustee, and such court may thereupon, after such notice (if any) as it may deem proper, appoint such successor Trustee.

Any company into which the Trustee may be merged or converted or with which it may be consolidated or any company resulting from any merger, conversion or consolidation to which it will be a party or any company to which the Trustee may sell or transfer all or substantially all of its corporate trust business, provided such company will be eligible under the Indenture, will be the successor to such Trustee without the execution or filing of any paper or any further act, anything in the Indenture to the contrary notwithstanding.

Authorization of Trustee. The Trustee is authorized by the Indenture to pay the principal of and interest and redemption premium, if any, on the Bonds when due and payable, or on call and redemption or on purchase by the Trustee prior to maturity, and to cancel all Bonds upon payment thereof and to return the same so cancelled to the Commission, subject to the provisions of the Indenture. The Trustee will keep accurate records of all funds administered by it and of all Bonds and interest payments paid and discharged.

The Trustee and its directors, officers, employees or agents may in good faith buy, sell, own, hold and deal in any of the Bonds and may join in any action which any Owner of a Bond may be entitled to take, with like effect as if the Trustee was not the Trustee under the Indenture. The Trustee may in good faith hold any other form of indebtedness of the Commission or of the City, own, accept or negotiate any drafts, bills of exchange, acceptances or obligations of the Commission and make disbursements for the Commission and enter into any commercial or business arrangement therewith, without limitation.

Fees and Expenses. The Commission will compensate the Trustee for its services rendered pursuant to the provisions of the Indenture, and also for all reasonable expenses, charges, counsel fees and other disbursements, including those of its attorneys, agents and employees, incurred in and about the performance of its powers and duties under the Indenture. The obligations of the Commission under the Indenture to compensate the Trustee for services and to pay or reimburse the Trustee for disbursements, liabilities and advances will constitute additional indebtedness under the Indenture.

Liability of Trustee.

(a) The recitals of facts, covenants and agreements in the Indenture and in the Bonds contained will be taken as statements, covenants and agreements of the Commission, and the Trustee assumes no responsibility for the correctness of the same, does not make any representations as to the validity or sufficiency of the Indenture or of the Bonds, and will not incur any responsibility in respect thereof, other than in connection with the duties or obligations in the Indenture or in the Bonds expressly assigned to or imposed upon it. The Trustee will not be liable in connection with the performance of its duties under the Indenture, except for its own negligence or default.

(b) The Trustee will not be liable for any error of judgment made in good faith by an Authorized Officer of the Trustee, unless it is proved that the Trustee was negligent in ascertaining the pertinent facts.

(c) The Trustee will not be liable with respect to any action taken or omitted to be taken by it in good faith in accordance with the direction of the Owners of not less than a majority in aggregate amount of Bond Obligations of the Bonds at the time Outstanding relating to the time, method and place of conducting any proceeding for any remedy available to the Trustee, or exercising any trust or power conferred upon the Trustee under the Indenture.

(d) The Trustee will be under no obligation to exercise any of the rights or powers vested in it by the Indenture at the request, order or direction of any of the Bondowners pursuant to the provisions of the Indenture unless such Bondowners have offered to the Trustee reasonable security or indemnity against the costs, expenses and liabilities which may be incurred therein or thereby.

(e) The Trustee will not be liable for any action taken by it in good faith and believed by it to be authorized or within the discretion or rights or powers conferred upon it by the Indenture.

(f) The Trustee will not be deemed to have knowledge of any Event of Default under the Indenture unless and until it has actual knowledge thereof; or has received written notice thereof, at its principal corporate trust office in San Francisco, California. Except as otherwise expressly provided in the Indenture, the Trustee will not be bound to ascertain or inquire as to the performance or observance of any of the terms, conditions, covenants or agreements in the Indenture or of any of the documents executed in connection with the Bonds or the delivery of the Bonds, or as to the existence of an Event of Default thereunder. The Trustee will not be responsible for the validity or effectiveness of any collateral given to or held by it. The Trustee will not be responsible for the recording or filing of any document relating to the Indenture or of financing statements (or continuation statements in connection therewith) or of any supplemental instruments or documents of further assurance as may be required by law in order to perfect the security interests in any collateral given to or held by it.

(g) No provision of the Indenture will require the Trustee to expend or risk its own funds or otherwise incur any financial liability in the performance of any of its duties under the Indenture, or in the exercise of any of its rights or powers.

(h) The Commission further agrees to indemnify, to the extent permitted by law and without making any representation as to the enforceability of this covenant, and save the Trustee, its directors, officers, employees and agents harmless against any liabilities which it may incur in the exercise and performance of its powers and duties under the Indenture, including but not limited to costs and expenses incurred in defending against any claim or liability, which are not due to its negligence or default.

(i) The provisions above will survive the resignation or removal of the Trustee, payment of the Bonds and discharge of the Indenture.

Rights of Trustee to Rely Upon Documents. The Trustee will be protected in acting upon any notice, resolution, request, consent, order, certificate, report, direction, Bond or other paper or document believed by it to be genuine and to have been signed or presented by the proper party or parties. The Trustee may consult with counsel, who may be counsel to the Commission or to the City, with regard to legal questions, and the opinion of such counsel will be full and complete authorization and protection in respect of any action taken or suffered under the Indenture in good faith and in accordance therewith.

The Trustee will not be bound to recognize any person as the Owner of a Bond unless and until his title thereto is satisfactorily established, if disputed.

Whenever in the administration of its duties under the Indenture the Trustee deems it necessary or desirable that a matter be proved or established prior to taking or suffering any action under the Indenture, such matter (unless other evidence in respect thereof be in the Indenture specifically prescribed) may, in the absence of bad faith on the part of the Trustee, be deemed to be conclusively proved and established by a Certificate of the Commission, and such Certificate will be full warrant to the Trustee for any action taken or suffered under the provisions of the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture upon the faith thereof, but in its discretion the Trustee may, in lieu thereof, accept other evidence of such matter or may require such additional evidence as to it may seem reasonable.

MODIFICATION OR AMENDMENT OF THE INDENTURE

Amendments Permitted.

(a)(i) The Indenture and the rights and obligations of the Commission and of the Owners of the Bonds and of the Trustee may be modified or amended at any time by a Supplemental Indenture which will become binding when the written consents of the Owners of a majority in aggregate amount of the Bond Obligation of the Bonds (or, if such Supplemental Indenture is only applicable to a Series of Bonds, such Series of Bonds) then Outstanding, exclusive of Bonds disqualified as provided in the Indenture, and of each Credit Provider (so long as such Credit Provider is not in default under the policy of municipal bond insurance or Letter of Credit issued by it in connection with any Series of Bonds) have been filed with the Trustee (provided, that no such Credit Provider will unreasonably withhold consent to such modification or amendment). (ii) The Indenture and the rights and obligations of the Commission and of the Owners of the Bonds and of the Trustee may also be modified or amended at any time by a Supplemental Indenture which will become binding when the written consents of each Credit Provider have been filed with the Trustee, provided that at such time the payment of the principal of and interest on all Outstanding Bonds will be insured by a policy or policies of municipal bond insurance or payable under a Letter of Credit issued by a Credit Provider. (iii) No such modification or amendment will (A) extend the fixed maturities of the Bonds, or extend the time for making any Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payments, or reduce the rate of interest thereon, or extend the time of payment of interest, or reduce the amount of principal thereof, or reduce any premium payable on the redemption thereof, without the consent of the Owner of each Bond so affected, or (B) reduce the aforesaid percentage of the Bond Obligation the consent of the Owners of which is required for the execution of any amendment or modification of the Indenture, or (C) modify any of the rights or obligations of the Trustee without its written consent thereto.

(b) The Indenture and the rights and obligations of the Commission and of the Owners of the Bonds may also be modified or amended at any time by a Supplemental Indenture which will become binding upon adoption, without the consent of any Bondowners or any Credit Provider (but with notice to each Credit Provider), but only to the extent permitted by law and only if the Trustee determines, which determination may be based upon a good faith reliance upon an Opinion of Counsel, that the provisions of such Supplemental Indenture will not materially adversely affect the interests of the Owners, including, without limitation, for any one or more of the following purposes – (i) to add to the covenants and agreements of the Commission contained in the Indenture other covenants and agreements thereafter to be observed or to surrender any right or power in the Indenture reserved to or conferred upon the Commission; (ii) to cure, correct or supplement any ambiguous or defective provision or omission or mistake contained in the Indenture or in regard to questions arising under the Indenture, as the Commission may deem necessary or desirable; (iii) to provide for the issuance of additional Series of Bonds, and to provide the terms and conditions under which such additional Series of Bonds may be issued, subject to and in accordance with the provisions of the Indenture; and (iv) to provide additional security for the Bonds.

Procedure for Amendment with Written Consent of Bondowners. The Commission may at any time adopt a Supplemental Indenture amending the provisions of the Bonds or of the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture, to the extent that such amendment is permitted by the provisions of the Indenture described in clause (a)(i) above, to take effect when and as provided in the Indenture. A copy of or a summary of the provisions of such Supplemental Indenture, together with a request to Bondowners and to each Credit Provider for their consent thereto, will be mailed, first class postage prepaid, by the Commission to each Owner of Bonds and to each Credit Provider, but failure to mail copies of such Supplemental Indenture or summary thereof and request will not affect the validity of the Supplemental Indenture when assented to as provided in the Indenture.

Such Supplemental Indenture will not become effective unless there will be filed with the Trustee the written consents of the Owners of a majority in aggregate amount of the Bond Obligation of the Bonds then Outstanding (exclusive of Bonds disqualified as provided in the Indenture) and of each Credit Provider and a notice has been mailed as provided below. Each such consent will be effective only if accompanied by proof of ownership of the Bonds for which such consent is given, which proof will be such as is permitted by the Indenture. Any such consent will be binding upon the Owner of the Bonds giving such consent and on any subsequent Owner (whether or not such subsequent Owner has notice thereof) unless such consent is revoked in writing by the Owner giving such consent or a subsequent Owner by filing such revocation with the Trustee prior to the date when the notice provided below for has been mailed.

After the Owners of the required percentage of Bond Obligation and each Credit Provider has filed their consents to the Supplemental Indenture, the Commission will mail a notice to the Bondowners in the manner provided above for the mailing of the Supplemental Indenture, stating in substance that the Supplemental Indenture has been consented to by the Owners of the required percentage of Bond Obligation and each Credit Provider and will be effective as provided in the Indenture (but failure to mail copies of said notice will not affect the validity of the Supplemental Indenture or consents thereto), and proof of the mailing of such notice will be filed with the Trustee. A record, consisting of the papers required by the Indenture to be filed with the Trustee, will be proof of the matters therein stated until the contrary is proved. The Supplemental Indenture will become effective upon the filing with the Trustee of the proof of the mailing of such last-mentioned notice.

In lieu of obtaining any demand, request, direction, consent or waiver in writing, the Trustee may call and hold a meeting of the Bondowners upon such notice and in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Trustee considers fair and reasonable for the purpose of obtaining any such action.

Disqualified Bonds. Bonds owned or held by or for the account of the Commission or of the City (but excluding Bonds held in any pension or retirement fund) will not be deemed Outstanding for the purpose of any consent or other action or any calculation of Outstanding Bonds provided for in the Indenture, and will not be entitled to consent to or take any other action provided for in the Indenture. For the purpose of the Indenture no bank organized under the laws of the State of California and no national banking association doing business in said State, or elsewhere, will be deemed to be an agency of the Commission.

The Commission may adopt appropriate regulations to require each Bondowner, before his consent provided for in the Indenture will be deemed effective, to reveal if the Bonds as to which such consent is given are disqualified as provided in the Indenture.

Effect of Supplemental Indenture. From and after the time any Supplemental Indenture becomes effective pursuant to the Indenture, the Indenture will be deemed to be modified and amended in accordance therewith, and the respective rights, duties and obligations under the Indenture of the Commission, the Trustee and all Owners of Bonds Outstanding will thereafter be determined, exercised and enforced under the Indenture subject in all respects to such modification and amendment, and all the terms and conditions of any such Supplemental Indenture will be deemed to be part of the terms and conditions of the Indenture for any and all purposes.

Endorsement or Replacement of Bonds Issued Before Amendments. The Commission may determine that Bonds issued and delivered before the effective date of any action taken as provided in the Indenture will bear a notation, by endorsement or otherwise, in form approved by the Commission, as to such action. In that case, upon demand of the Owner of any Bond Outstanding at such effective date and presentation of his Bond for the purpose at the office of the Commission or at such other office as the Commission may select and designate for that purpose, a suitable notation will be made on such Bond. The Commission may determine that new Bonds, so modified as in the opinion of the Commission is necessary to conform to such action, will be prepared, executed and delivered. In that case, upon demand of the Owner of any Bonds then Outstanding, such new Bonds will be exchanged at the principal corporate trust office of the Trustee in San Francisco, California, without cost to such Owner, for Bonds of the same character then Outstanding, upon surrender of such Bonds.

Amendatory Endorsement of Bonds. The provisions of the Indenture will not prevent any Bondowner from accepting any amendment as to the particular Bonds held by such Bondowner, provided that due notation thereof is made on such Bonds.

DEFEASANCE

Discharge of Indenture.

If the Commission pays and discharges the entire indebtedness on all Bonds Outstanding in any one or more of the following ways —

(1) by well and truly paying or causing to be paid the principal of (including redemption premiums, if any) and interest on all Bonds Outstanding, as and when the same become due and payable (but this clause will not include Bonds the principal of or interest on which has been paid by a Credit Provider until the Credit Provider has been paid or reimbursed for such payment by the Commission); or

(2) by depositing with the Trustee, an escrow agent or other fiduciary, in trust, at or before maturity, money which, together with the amounts then on deposit in the Principal Fund, the Interest Fund and the Bond Reserve Fund, is fully sufficient to pay or redeem all Bonds Outstanding, including all principal, interest and redemption premiums, if any; or

(3) by delivering to the Trustee, for cancellation by it, all Bonds Outstanding; or

(4) by depositing with the Trustee, an escrow agent or other fiduciary, in trust, Defeasance Obligations in such amount which, in the determination of an Independent Certified Public Accountant, who certifies such determination to the Trustee, will, together with the income or increment to accrue thereon and any other moneys of the Commission made available for such purpose, be fully sufficient to pay and discharge the indebtedness on all Bonds (including all principal, interest and redemption premiums, if any) at or before their respective maturity dates; and if the Commission will also pay or cause to be paid all other sums payable under the Indenture by the Commission, including all Policy Costs, then and in that case, at the election of the Commission (evidenced by a Certificate of the Commission signifying its intention to pay and discharge all such indebtedness, which will be filed with the Trustee), and notwithstanding that any Bonds have been surrendered for payment, the pledge of the Net Revenues and other funds provided for in the Indenture and all other obligations of the Commission under the Indenture will cease, terminate and be completely discharged, except only as provided in the Indenture, and the Owners of the Bonds not so surrendered and paid will thereafter be entitled to payment only out of the Defeasance Obligations deposited with the Trustee, escrow agent or other fiduciary as aforesaid for their payment; subject, however, to the provisions of the Indenture. The discharge of the obligations of the Commission under the Indenture will be without prejudice to the rights of the Trustee to charge for and be reimbursed by the Commission for any expenditures which it may thereafter incur in connection with the Indenture.

The Commission may at any time surrender to the Trustee for cancellation by it any Bonds previously issued and delivered, which the Commission may have acquired in any manner whatsoever, and such Bonds, upon such surrender and cancellation, will be deemed to be paid and retired.

In the event that any portion or all of the Bonds are to be paid and discharged pursuant to the Indenture, the Credit Provider will be provided with 15 days advance notice and will be provided with a draft copy of any proposed escrow agreement establishing the defeasance trust, the form of the Independent Certified Public Accountant's certificate or letter, the preliminary official statement of the refunding issue (if applicable) and the form of Opinion of Counsel to the effect that upon the deposit of funds and investments under the escrow or other applicable agreement, the Bonds being paid and discharged will no longer be deemed to be outstanding under the Indenture. Substitution of securities held in trust under the escrow agreement will not be permitted unless there has first been delivered to the escrow agent (1) a certificate of Independent Certified Public Accountant to the effect that the escrow investments, as substituted, are sufficient to pay debt service on the Bonds being paid and discharged whether to maturity or date of redemption, as applicable, and (2) an Opinion of Counsel to the effect that the substitution is permitted under the escrow agreement and does not, in and of itself, adversely affect the exclusion from gross income of interest on the Bonds being so paid and discharged for purposes of federal income taxation.

A final copy of any such escrow agreement and the Independent Certified Public Accountant's certificate stating that the escrow is sufficient to meet the standards of the Indenture, the final official statement for the refunding issue (if applicable), the approving opinion of bond counsel with respect to the refunding issue, the Trustee's receipt, and the Trustee's certification as to the application of funds will be furnished to the Credit Provider no later than 10 days (or such later date which is the first date practicable to deliver such items in the event that the refunding issue is not sold early enough to provide such items 10 days prior to the date of defeasance) prior to the defeasance of Bonds by the Commission.

If a forward purchase or supply contract is employed in connection with the defeasance of any of the Bonds, the verification report relating to the defeasance of such Bonds will expressly state that the adequacy of the escrow to accomplish the defeasance relies solely on the initial escrowed investments and the maturing principal thereof and interest income thereon and does not assume performance under or compliance with the forward supply contract, and the applicable escrow agreement will provide that in the event of any discrepancy or difference between the terms of the forward supply contract and the escrow agreement, the terms of the escrow agreement will be controlling.

Notwithstanding anything in the Indenture to the contrary, in the event that the principal and/or interest due of the Bonds is paid by any Credit Provider in accordance with the terms of the Indenture, such Bonds will remain Outstanding for all purposes, not be defeased or otherwise satisfied and not be considered paid by the Commission, and the assignment and pledge of the Net Revenues and other assets under the Indenture and all covenants, agreements and other obligations of the Commission to the Owners so paid will continue to exist and will run to the benefit of the Credit Provider, and the Credit Provider will be subrogated to the rights of such Owners, as applicable.

Discharge of Liability on Bonds. Upon the deposit with the Trustee, an escrow agent or other fiduciary, in trust, at or before maturity, of Defeasance Obligations in the necessary amount to pay or redeem Outstanding Bonds (whether upon or prior to their maturity or the redemption date of such Bonds), provided that if such Bonds are to be redeemed prior to the maturity thereof, notice of such redemption has been given as provided in the Indenture or provision satisfactory to the Trustee has been made for the giving of such notice, then all liability of the Commission in respect of such Bonds will cease, determine and be completely discharged, except only that thereafter the Owners thereof will be entitled to payment of the principal of and interest on such Bonds by the Commission, and the Commission will remain liable for such payment, but only out of the Defeasance Obligations deposited in an escrow fund established for this purpose and held by the Trustee, an escrow agent, or other fiduciary, as aforesaid for their payment, subject, however, to the provisions of the Indenture.

Payment of Bonds after Discharge of Indenture. Notwithstanding any provisions of the Indenture, any moneys deposited in trust for the payment of the principal of, or interest or premium on, any Bonds and remaining unclaimed for two years after the principal of all the Outstanding Bonds has become due and payable (whether at maturity or upon call for redemption or by declaration as provided in the Indenture) will then be repaid to the Commission upon its Written Request, and the Owners of such Bonds will thereafter be entitled to look only to the Commission for payment thereof, and all liability of the Trustee or any other fiduciary with respect to such moneys will thereupon cease; provided, however, that before the repayment of such moneys to the Commission as aforesaid, the Trustee may (at the cost of the Commission) first publish at least once in a Financial Newspaper or Journal a notice, in such form as may be deemed appropriate by the Trustee, with respect to the Bonds so payable and not presented and with respect to the provisions relating to the repayment to the Commission of the moneys held for the payment thereof. In the event of the repayment of any such moneys to the Commission as aforesaid, the Owners of the Bonds in respect of which such moneys were deposited will thereafter be deemed to be general creditors of the Commission for amounts equivalent to the respective amounts deposited for the payment of such Bonds and so repaid to the Commission (without interest thereon).

MISCELLANEOUS

Liability of Commission Limited to Net Revenues.

(a) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Indenture, the Commission will not be required to advance any moneys derived from the proceeds of any taxes levied or collected by the City, or from any source of income other than the Net Revenues, for the payment of the principal of or interest on the Bonds, for the operation and maintenance of the Enterprise, for the performance of any covenants contained in the Indenture or for the payment of any obligations under the Indenture, including indemnification. The Commission may, however, advance funds for any such purpose, provided that such funds are derived from a source legally available for such purpose and may be used by the Commission for such purpose without incurring indebtedness.

(b) The Bonds will be revenue bonds, payable exclusively from the Net Revenues as provided in the Indenture. The general fund of the City is not liable, and the credit or taxing power of the City is not pledged, for the payment of the Bonds or their interest. The Owners of the Bonds will never have the right to compel the exercise of the taxing power of the City or the forfeiture of any property of the Commission or of the City. The principal of and interest on the Bonds and any premiums upon the redemption of any thereof will not be a debt of the Commission or the City, nor a legal or equitable pledge, charge, lien or encumbrance upon any property of the Commission or of the City or upon any of its income, receipts or revenues except the Net Revenues pledged to the payment thereof as provided in the Indenture.

Successor Is Deemed Included in All References to Predecessor. Whenever in the Indenture or any Supplemental Indenture either the Commission or the Trustee is named or referred to, such reference will be deemed to include the successors or assigns thereof, and all the covenants and agreements contained in the Indenture by or on behalf of the Commission or the Trustee will bind and inure to the benefit of the respective successors and assigns thereof whether so expressed or not.

Limitation of Rights to Parties and Bondowners. Nothing in the Indenture or in the Bonds expressed or implied is intended or will be construed to give to any person, other than the Commission, the Trustee, any Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider, any Credit Provider and the Owners of the Bonds issued under the Indenture, any legal or equitable right, remedy or claim under or in respect of the Indenture or any covenant, condition or provision therein or contained in the Indenture; and all such covenants, conditions and provisions are and will be held to be for the sole and exclusive benefit of the Commission, the Trustee, the Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider, the Credit Provider and the Owners of the Bonds issued under the Indenture.

Waiver of Notice. Whenever in the Indenture the giving of notice by mail or otherwise is required, the giving of such notice may be waived in writing by the person entitled to receive such notice and in any such case the giving or receipt of such notice will not be a condition precedent to the validity of any action taken in reliance upon such waiver.

Destruction of Bonds. Whenever in the Indenture provision is made for the cancellation by the Trustee and the delivery to the Commission of any Bonds, the Trustee may destroy such Bonds (in the presence of an officer of the Commission, if the Commission will so require), and deliver a certificate of such destruction to the Commission, unless the Commission will, by Written Request of the Commission, request the Trustee to instead cancel and deliver said Bonds to the Commission.

Severability of Invalid Provisions. If any one or more of the provisions contained in the Indenture or in the Bonds for any reason is held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable in any respect, then such provision or provisions will be deemed severable from the remaining provisions contained in the Indenture and such invalidity, illegality or unenforceability will not affect any other provision of the Indenture, and the Indenture will be construed as if such invalid or illegal or unenforceable provision had never been contained in the Indenture. The Commission declares by the Indenture that it would have adopted the Indenture and each and every other section, paragraph, sentence, clause or phrase of the Indenture and authorized the issuance of the Bonds pursuant thereto irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, paragraphs, sentences, clauses or phrases of the Indenture may be held illegal, invalid or unenforceable. If, by reason of the judgment of any court, the Trustee or any successor Trustee is rendered unable to perform its duties under the Indenture, and if no successor Trustee be then appointed, all such duties and all of the rights and powers of the Trustee under the Indenture will be assumed by and vest in the Treasurer in trust for the benefit of the Bondowners.

Evidence of Rights of Bondowners. Any request, consent or other instrument required by the Indenture to be signed and executed by Bondowners may be in any number of concurrent writings of substantially similar tenor and may be signed or executed by such Bondowners in person or by an agent or agents duly appointed in writing. Proof of the execution of any such request, consent or other instrument or of a writing appointing any such agent, will be sufficient for any purpose of the Indenture and will be conclusive in favor of the Trustee and of the Commission if made in the manner provided in the Indenture.

The fact and date of the execution by any person of any such request, consent or other instrument or writing may be proved in any manner reasonably acceptable to the Trustee.

The ownership of Bonds will be proved by the bond registration books maintained pursuant to the Indenture.

Any request, consent, vote or declaration of the Owner of any Bond will bind every future Owner of the same Bond and the Owner of every Bond issued in exchange therefor or in lieu thereof, in respect of anything done or suffered to be done by the Trustee or the Commission in pursuance of such request, consent, vote or declaration.

Credit Provider and Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider Provisions. Any provisions in the Indenture requiring consent from the Credit Providers will have no force or effect with respect to a Credit Provider or a Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider during any period in which such Credit Provider or a Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider is in default in its obligations under the related Letter of Credit, insurance policy or Bond Reserve Fund Policy. The provisions with respect to the Credit Provider and Bond Reserve Fund Policy Provider may be disregarded if no Credit Providers or Bond Reserve Fund Policy Providers are in existence with respect to the Outstanding Bonds.

Funds and Accounts. Any fund required by the Indenture to be established and maintained by the Commission or the Controller or the Treasurer or the City or the Trustee may be established and maintained in the accounting records of the Commission or the Controller or the Treasurer or the City or the Trustee either as a fund or an account, and may, for the purposes of such records, any audits thereof and any reports or statements with respect thereto, be treated either as a fund or as an account; but all such records with respect to all such funds will at all times be maintained in accordance with generally accepted accounting practices and with due regard for the protection of the security of the Bonds and the rights of every Owner thereof.

Repeal of Inconsistent Resolution. Any resolution of the Commission, and any part of any resolution, inconsistent with the Indenture, is repealed to the extent of such inconsistency by the Indenture.

Waiver of Personal Liability. No Commission member or officer, agent or employee of the Commission or of the City will be individually or personally liable for the payment of the principal of or interest on the Bonds; but nothing contained in the Indenture will relieve any such Commission member or officer, agent or employee from the performance of any official duty provided by law.

Governing Law. The Indenture will be construed and governed in accordance with the laws of the State of California.

Business Day. Except as specifically set forth in a Supplemental Indenture, any payments or transfers which would otherwise become due on any day which is not a Business Day will become due or will be made on the next succeeding Business Day.

FIFTEENTH SUPPLEMENTAL INDENTURE

PROVISIONS RELATING TO 2023ABC BONDS

Authorization and Terms of 2023ABC Bonds. The principal of and premium, if any, on the 2023ABC Bonds will be payable by check or wire in lawful money of the United States of America to the Owner thereof, upon the surrender thereof at the corporate trust office of U.S. Bank Trust Company, National Association, in San Francisco, California, or such other office designated by the Trustee.

The interest on the 2023ABC Bonds will be payable in like lawful money to the person whose name appears on the bond registration books of the Trustee as the Owner thereof as of the close of business on the 15th day of the calendar month immediately preceding an interest payment date, whether or not such day is a Business Day, such interest to be paid by check mailed to such Owner at such address as appears on such registration books or at such address as such Owner may have filed with the Trustee for that purpose, or at the request of an Owner of at least $1,000,000 in aggregate principal amount of 2023ABC Bonds filed with the Trustee by such 15th day, by wire transfer to such account designated in such request at a financial institution in the United States.

Each 2023ABC Bond will bear interest from the interest payment date next preceding the date of authentication thereof unless it is authenticated as of a day during the period from the 16th day of the calendar month next preceding any interest payment date to the interest payment date, inclusive, in which event it will bear interest from such interest payment date, or unless it is authenticated on or before September 15, 2022, in which event it will bear interest from the Closing Date; provided, however, that if, at the time of authentication of any 2023ABC Bond, interest is in default on Outstanding 2023ABC Bonds, such 2023ABC Bond will bear interest from the interest payment date to which interest has previously been paid or made available for payment on the Outstanding 2023ABC Bonds and will be payable to the Owners thereof of record as of a special date as will be established by the Trustee following such default.

On January 30, 2013, certain amendments set forth in the First Amendment that govern the sizing of the Required Reserve for each Series of Bonds became effective in accordance with the terms of the Indenture. As a result, the Commission has determined not to fund the Required Reserve for the 2023ABC Bonds.

The Commission has reviewed all proceedings previously taken relative to the authorization of the 2023ABC Bonds and has found, as a result of such review, that all conditions, things and acts required by law to exist, happen or be performed precedent to and in the issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds do exist, have happened and have been performed in due time, form and manner as required by law, and the Commission is authorized, pursuant to each and every requirement of law, including the Law, to issue the 2023ABC Bonds in the manner and form provided in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture.

Determination of Interest Rate on 2023 Series C Bonds. The interest rate to be borne by the 2023 Series C Bonds following the end of the initial Term Rate Period will be (A) during any Term Rate Period, the Term Rate established pursuant to the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and as described below and (B) during the period following and including a Failed Tender Date until the establishment of a new Term Rate, the Stepped Rate.

Not less than three Business Days prior to each Mandatory Tender Date the Commission will deliver to the Remarketing Agent for the 2023 Series C Bonds a Pricing Notice specifying the next Term Rate Period and the Stepped Rate and optional redemption provisions to be applicable to the 2023 Series C Bonds in connection with such Term Rate Period, each as determined pursuant to the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and as described below.

The Commission will establish as the next Term Rate Period for the 2023 Series C Bonds that period ending on an Interest Payment Date as set forth in a Certificate of the Commission, taking into account the provisions of its other Bonds, will best enable it to produce an efficient and economical balance of low interest rates and minimal remarketing costs and risks.

The Remarketing Agent will establish the Term Rate for the 2023 Series C Bonds for each Term Rate Period established by the Commission not later than 5:00 p.m. local time in New York City on the second Business Day prior to the commencement of such Term Rate Period.

The interest rate to be applicable to the 2023 Series C Bonds following and including a Failed Tender Date at the expiration of any Term Rate Period will be the Stepped Rate, provided that in connection with a remarketing of the 2023 Series C Bonds the Commission may establish a different Stepped Rate if it receives and delivers to the Trustee concurrently with its delivery of the applicable Pricing Notice an opinion of nationally recognized bond counsel to the effect that the establishment of such different Stepped Rate will not adversely affect the exclusion from gross income for federal income tax purposes of interest on 2023 Series C Bonds which are then unpaid and for which there has been delivered an opinion of nationally recognized bond counsel to the effect that interest on the 2023 Series C Bonds is excluded from gross income for federal income tax purposes.

Mandatory Tender of 2023 Series C Bonds. The Trustee will give notice by mail to the Owners of the 2023 Series C Bonds not less than 30 days prior to each Mandatory Tender Date that (i) the 2023 Series C Bonds are subject to mandatory tender for purchase on the Mandatory Tender Date at the Purchase Price, and (ii) if an amount of money sufficient and available to pay the Purchase Price of all of the 2023 Series C Bonds is on deposit with the Trustee on the Mandatory Tender Date, all of such 2023 Series C Bonds will be deemed to have been properly tendered for purchase and will cease to bear interest. Receipt of such notice by any Owner of 2023 Series C Bonds will not be a condition precedent to the mandatory tender for purchase of the 2023 Series C Bonds on such Mandatory Tender Date, and failure to receive any such notice or any defect in such notice will not affect the validity of the proceedings for the mandatory tender for purchase of the 2023 Series C Bonds.

Remarketing of Tendered 2023 Series C Bonds.

(a) Not less than three Business Days prior to a Mandatory Tender Date (unless at least 60 days prior to a Mandatory Tender Date, or such later date as may be acceptable to the Trustee, the Commission gives written notice to the Remarketing Agent and the Trustee that the Commission intends to redeem the 2023 Series C Bonds on or before the Mandatory Tender Date) the Commission will deliver to the Remarketing Agent a Pricing Notice specifying the next Term Rate Period and the Stepped Rate and optional redemption provisions to be applicable to the 2023 Series C Bonds in connection with such Term Rate Period. The Remarketing Agent will provide indicative Term Rates for the next Term Rate Period to the Commission by the day before the date the Remarketing Agent offers the 2023 Series C Bonds for sale. Following the receipt of the Pricing Notice by the Remarketing Agent and not later than 5:00 p.m. local time in New York City on the second Business Day prior to the Mandatory Tender Date, the Remarketing Agent will offer for sale and use its best efforts to find purchasers for all of the 2023 Series C Bonds at a price equal to the principal amount thereof and, to the extent remarketed, will establish the Term Rate for the next Term Rate Period and give notice thereof by email to the Commission and the Trustee. The Remarketing Agent will provide the Trustee with notice by email not later than 3:00 p.m. local time in New York City on the Business Day immediately preceding the Mandatory Tender Date indicating whether or not all the 2023 Series C Bonds were remarketed.

(b) If all 2023 Series C Bonds are remarketed, the Remarketing Agent will cause the Purchase Price thereof to be paid to the Trustee according to the Operational Arrangements of The Depository Trust Company at or before 12:00 noon local time in New York City on the Mandatory Tender Date; and the Trustee will apply the funds so received to the payment of the portion of the purchase price represented by the principal amount of the 2023 Series C Bonds to the Owners who tendered or who were deemed to have tendered them for purchase (portion of the Purchase Price represented by the accrued but unpaid interest thereon to be paid from the Interest Fund). If the Series 2023 C Bonds are not registered in the name of The Depository Trust Company, or its nominee, to the extent permitted by law, the Remarketing Agent will deliver to the Trustee a notice by email specifying the names, addresses and taxpayer identification numbers of the purchasers and the denominations of 2023 Series C Bonds to be registered in the name of each purchaser by 3:00 p.m. local time in New York City on the Business Day preceding the Mandatory Tender Date, provided that such notice may be supplemented or amended at any time prior 12:30 p.m. local time in New York City on the Mandatory Tender Date.

(c) If the 2023 Series C Bonds are not successfully remarketed, the Remarketing Agent will provide notice to the Commission and the Trustee not later than 5:00 p.m. local time in New York City on the Business Day prior to the Mandatory Tender Date indicating that the Mandatory Tender Date has been rescinded and that the current Term Rate, Term Rate Period, Stepped Rate and optional redemption provisions have not been modified. In such event or in the event that, for any reason, the Trustee is not provided with sufficient funds that are available for the purchase of all 2023 Series C Bonds by the time set forth above, the Trustee will give notice thereof by email to the Remarketing Agent and the Commission and will give notice thereof by mail to the Owners of the 2023 Series C Bonds, indicating that the 2023 Series C Bonds will bear interest at the Stepped Rate until they are successfully remarketed or otherwise redeemed, purchased or paid by the Commission; provided, however, that so long as the 2023 Series C Bonds are registered in the name of The Depository Trust Company, or its nominee, such notice will not be given by mail but will be given to The Depository Trust Company in such manner as is set forth in the Operational Arrangements of The Depository Trust Company. Under such circumstances, the Remarketing Agent will continue to attempt to remarket such 2023 Series C Bonds as described above and, in connection therewith, may from time to time establish a new Term Rate to be applicable to the Term Rate Period established by the Commission pursuant to the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and as described above.

If the Remarketing Agent is successful in remarketing all of the 2023 Series C Bonds, it will give notice thereof by email of the Term Rate to be applicable to the 2023 Series C Bonds and of the date on which the 2023 Series C Bonds will be required to be tendered for remarketing to the Commission and the Trustee; and the Trustee will give notice by mail to the Owners of the 2023 Series C Bonds at least 5 days prior to the date on which the 2023 Series C Bonds will be required to be tendered for remarketing; provided, however, that so long as the 2023 Series C Bonds are registered in the name of The Depository Trust Company, or its nominee, such notice will not be given by mail but will be given to The Depository Trust Company in such manner as is set forth in the Operational Arrangements of The Depository Trust Company. On such date the Remarketing Agent will cause the Purchase Price of the 2023 Series C Bonds to be paid to the Trustee according to the Operational Arrangements of The Depository Trust Company at or before 12:00 noon local time in New York City; and the Trustee will apply the funds so received to the payment of the Purchase Price of the 2023 Series C Bonds to the Owners who tendered or who were deemed to have tendered them for purchase. If the 2023 Series C Bonds are not registered in the name of The Depository Trust Company, or its nominee, and to the extent permitted by law, the Remarketing Agent will deliver to the Trustee a notice by email specifying the names, addresses and taxpayer identification numbers of the purchasers and the denominations of 2023 Series C Bonds to be registered in the name of each purchaser by 3:00 p.m. local time in New York City on the Business Day preceding the aforesaid date, provided that such notice may be supplemented or amended at any time prior to 12:30 p.m. local time in New York City on the aforesaid date.

Covenant Regarding Remarketing Agent. The Commission covenants for the benefit of the Owners of the 2023 Series C Bonds that it will employ a Remarketing Agent not less than 90 days prior to each Mandatory Tender Date. The Commission will ensure that each Remarketing Agent so employed (and any co-remarketing agents appointed by the Commission) has a capitalization of at least $30,000,000, is authorized by law to perform all the duties contemplated by the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture to be performed by the Remarketing Agent, has knowledge and experience in the remarketing of securities such as the 2023 Series C Bonds, and has a remarketing portfolio (at the time of such appointment) of at least $100,000,000.

Use of Depository.

(a) The 2023ABC Bonds will be initially registered as provided in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture. Registered ownership of the 2023ABC Bonds, or any portions thereof, may not thereafter be transferred except: (i) to any successor of The Depository Trust Company or its nominee, or of any substitute depository designated pursuant to the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture (a "Substitute Depository"); provided that any successor of The Depository Trust Company or Substitute Depository will be qualified under any applicable laws to provide the service proposed to be provided by it; (ii) to any Substitute Depository not objected to by the Trustee, upon (A) the resignation of The Depository Trust Company or its successor (or any Substitute Depository or its successor) from its functions as depository, or (B) a determination by the Commission that The Depository Trust Company (or its successor) is no longer able to carry out its functions as depository; provided that any such Substitute Depository will be qualified under any applicable laws to provide the services proposed to be provided by it; or (iii) to any person as provided below, upon (1) the resignation of The Depository Trust Company or its successor (or any Substitute Depository or its successor) from its functions as depository, or (2) a determination by the Commission to remove The Depository Trust Company or its successor (or Substitute Depository or its successor) from its functions as depository.

(b) In the case of any transfer described in clause (a)(i) or clause (a)(ii) above, upon receipt of all Outstanding 2023ABC Bonds by the Trustee, together with a Written Request of the Commission to the Trustee designating the Substitute Depository, a single new 2023ABC Bond, which the Commission will prepare or cause to be prepared, will be executed and delivered for each maturity of each series of the 2023ABC Bonds then Outstanding, registered in the name of such successor or such Substitute Depository, or their nominees, as the case may be, all as specified in such Written Request of the Commission.

In the case of any transfer described in clause (a)(iii) above, upon receipt of all Outstanding 2023ABC Bonds by the Trustee, together with a Written Request of the Commission to the Trustee, new 2023ABC Bonds, which the Commission will prepare or cause to be prepared in definitive form, will be executed and delivered in such denominations and registered in the names of such persons as are requested in such Written Request of the Commission, subject to the limitations of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, provided that the Trustee will not be required to deliver such new 2023ABC Bonds within a period less than 60 days after the date of receipt of such Written Request from the Commission.

(c) In the case of a partial redemption or an advance refunding of any 2023ABC Bonds evidencing a portion of the principal maturing in a particular year, The Depository Trust Company or its successor (or any Substitute Depository or its successor) will make an appropriate notation on such 2023ABC Bonds indicating the date and amounts of such reduction in principal, in form acceptable to the Trustee. The Trustee will not be liable for such depository's failure to make such notations or errors in making such notations.

(d) The Commission and the Trustee will be entitled to treat the person in whose name any 2023ABC Bond is registered as the Owner thereof for all purposes of the Indenture and any applicable laws, notwithstanding any notice to the contrary received by the Trustee or the Commission; and the Commission and the Trustee will not have responsibility for transmitting payments to, communicating with, notifying, or otherwise dealing with any beneficial owners of the 2023ABC Bonds. Neither the Commission nor the Trustee will have any responsibility or obligation, legal or otherwise, to any such beneficial owners or to any other party, including The Depository Trust Company or its successor (or Substitute Depository or its successor), except to the Owner of any 2023ABC Bonds, and the Trustee may rely conclusively on its records as to the identity of the Owners of the 2023ABC Bonds.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and so long as all Outstanding 2023ABC Bonds are registered in the name of Cede & Co. or its registered assigns, the Commission and the Trustee will cooperate with Cede & Co., as sole registered Bondowner, and its registered assigns, in effecting payment of the principal of and redemption premium, if any, and interest on the 2023ABC Bonds by arranging for payment in such manner that funds for such payments are properly identified and are made available on the date they are due all in accordance with the Letter of Representations delivered by the Commission and the Trustee to The Depository Trust Company with respect to the 2023ABC Bonds, the provisions of which the Trustee may rely upon to implement the foregoing procedures notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture.

Establishment and Application of the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund.

(a) The Trustee will establish and maintain a fund separate from any other fund established and maintained under the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture to be known as the "2023 Series A Rebate Fund." Within the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund, the Trustee will maintain such accounts as it is instructed by the Commission as necessary in order to comply with the terms and requirements of the Tax Certificate with respect to the 2023 Series A Bonds, dated the date of issuance of the 2023 Series A Bonds (for purposes hereof, the "2023 Series A Tax Certificate").

Subject to the transfer provisions described in paragraph (e) below, all money at any time deposited in the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund will be held by the Trustee for the account of the Commission in trust, to the extent required to satisfy the requirements for rebate, as set forth in the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate (for purposes hereof, the "2023 Series A Rebate Requirement"), for payment to the federal government of the United States of America, and no other person will have any rights in or claim to such money. All amounts deposited into or on deposit in the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund will be governed by the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and by the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate. The Trustee will be deemed conclusively to have complied with such provisions and fulfilled its obligation with respect to rebate as long as it follows the written directions of the Commission, including supplying all necessary information in the manner provided in the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate. The Trustee will not be required to take any actions under the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture or the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate in the absence of written directions by the Commission, and will have no liability or responsibility to enforce compliance by the Commission with the terms of the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate nor make computations in connection therewith.

(b) Upon the Commission's written direction, an amount will be deposited to the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund by the Trustee from deposits by the Commission so that the balance of the amount on deposit thereto equals the 2023 Series A Rebate Requirement. Computations of the 2023 Series A Rebate Requirement will be furnished by or on behalf of the Commission in accordance with the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate.

(c) The Trustee will have no obligation to rebate any amounts required to be rebated pursuant to this provision of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, other than from moneys held in the funds and accounts created under the Indenture or from other moneys provided to it by or on behalf of the Commission.

(d) The Trustee will invest all amounts held in the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund in Permitted Investments as instructed in writing by the Commission, subject to the restrictions set forth in the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate. Moneys will not be transferred from the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund except as described in paragraph (e) below.

(e) Upon receipt of the Commission's written directions, the Trustee will remit part or all of the balances in the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund to the United States, as so directed. In addition, if the Commission so directs, the Trustee will deposit moneys into or transfer moneys out of the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund from or into such accounts or funds as directed by the Commission's written directions. Any funds remaining in the 2023 Series A Rebate Fund after redemption and payment of all of the 2023 Series A Bonds and payment and satisfaction of any 2023 Series A Rebate Requirement will be withdrawn and remitted to the Commission upon the Commission's written request.

(f) Notwithstanding any other provision of the Indenture, the obligation to remit the 2023 Series A Rebate Requirement to the United States and to comply with all other requirements of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate will survive the defeasance or payment in full of the 2023 Series A Bonds.

Establishment and Application of the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund.

(a) The Trustee will establish and maintain a fund separate from any other fund established and maintained under the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture to be known as the "2023 Series B Rebate Fund." Within the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund, the Trustee will maintain such accounts as it is instructed by the Commission as necessary in order to comply with the terms and requirements of the Tax Certificate with respect to the 2023 Series B Bonds, dated the date of issuance of the 2023 Series B Bonds (for purposes hereof, the "2023 Series B Tax Certificate").

Subject to the transfer provisions described in paragraph (e) below, all money at any time deposited in the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund will be held by the Trustee for the account of the Commission in trust, to the extent required to satisfy the requirements for rebate, as set forth in the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate (for purposes hereof, the "2023 Series B Rebate Requirement"), for payment to the federal government of the United States of America, and no other person will have any rights in or claim to such money. All amounts deposited into or on deposit in the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund will be governed by the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and by the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate. The Trustee will be deemed conclusively to have complied with such provisions and fulfilled its obligation with respect to rebate as long as it follows the written directions of the Commission, including supplying all necessary information in the manner provided in the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate. The Trustee will not be required to take any actions under the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture or the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate in the absence of written directions by the Commission, and will have no liability or responsibility to enforce compliance by the Commission with the terms of the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate nor make computations in connection therewith.

(b) Upon the Commission's written direction, an amount will be deposited to the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund by the Trustee from deposits by the Commission so that the balance of the amount on deposit thereto equals the 2023 Series B Rebate Requirement. Computations of the 2023 Series B Rebate Requirement will be furnished by or on behalf of the Commission in accordance with the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate.

(c) The Trustee will have no obligation to rebate any amounts required to be rebated pursuant to the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, other than from moneys held in the funds and accounts created under the Indenture or from other moneys provided to it by or on behalf of the Commission.

(d) The Trustee will invest all amounts held in the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund in Permitted Investments as instructed in writing by the Commission, subject to the restrictions set forth in the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate. Moneys will not be transferred from the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund except as described in paragraph (e) below.

(e) Upon receipt of the Commission's written directions, the Trustee will remit part or all of the balances in the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund to the United States, as so directed. In addition, if the Commission so directs, the Trustee will deposit moneys into or transfer moneys out of the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund from or into such accounts or funds as directed by the Commission's written directions. Any funds remaining in the 2023 Series B Rebate Fund after redemption and payment of all of the 2023 Series B Bonds and payment and satisfaction of any 2023 Series B Rebate Requirement will be withdrawn and remitted to the Commission upon the Commission's written request.

(f) Notwithstanding any other provision of the Indenture, the obligation to remit the 2023 Series B Rebate Requirement to the United States and to comply with all other requirements of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate will survive the defeasance or payment in full of the 2023 Series B Bonds.

Establishment and Application of the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund.

(a) The Trustee will establish and maintain a fund separate from any other fund established and maintained under the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture to be known as the "2023 Series C Rebate Fund." Within the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund, the Trustee will maintain such accounts as it is instructed by the Commission as necessary in order to comply with the terms and requirements of the Tax Certificate with respect to the 2023 Series C Bonds, dated the date of issuance of the 2023 Series C Bonds (for purposes hereof, the "2023 Series C Tax Certificate").

Subject to the transfer provisions described in paragraph (e) below, all money at any time deposited in the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund will be held by the Trustee for the account of the Commission in trust, to the extent required to satisfy the requirements for rebate, as set forth in the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate (for purposes hereof, the "2023 Series C Rebate Requirement"), for payment to the federal government of the United States of America, and no other person will have any rights in or claim to such money. All amounts deposited into or on deposit in the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund will be governed by the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and by the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate. The Trustee will be deemed conclusively to have complied with such provisions and fulfilled its obligation with respect to rebate as long as it follows the written directions of the Commission, including supplying all necessary information in the manner provided in the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate. The Trustee will not be required to take any actions under the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture or the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate in the absence of written directions by the Commission, and will have no liability or responsibility to enforce compliance by the Commission with the terms of the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate nor make computations in connection therewith.

(b) Upon the Commission's written direction, an amount will be deposited to the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund by the Trustee from deposits by the Commission so that the balance of the amount on deposit thereto equals the 2023 Series C Rebate Requirement. Computations of the 2023 Series C Rebate Requirement will be furnished by or on behalf of the Commission in accordance with the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate.

(c) The Trustee will have no obligation to rebate any amounts required to be rebated pursuant to this provision of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, other than from moneys held in the funds and accounts created under the Indenture or from other moneys provided to it by or on behalf of the Commission.

(d) The Trustee will invest all amounts held in the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund in Permitted Investments as instructed in writing by the Commission, subject to the restrictions set forth in the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate. Moneys will not be transferred from the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund except as described in paragraph (e) below.

(e) Upon receipt of the Commission's written directions, the Trustee will remit part or all of the balances in the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund to the United States, as so directed. In addition, if the Commission so directs, the Trustee will deposit moneys into or transfer moneys out of the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund from or into such accounts or funds as directed by the Commission's written directions. Any funds remaining in the 2023 Series C Rebate Fund after redemption and payment of all of the 2023 Series C Bonds and payment and satisfaction of any 2023 Series C Rebate Requirement will be withdrawn and remitted to the Commission upon the Commission's written request.

(f) Notwithstanding any other provision of the Indenture, the obligation to remit the 2023 Series C Rebate Requirement to the United States and to comply with all other requirements of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate will survive the defeasance or payment in full of the 2023 Series C Bonds.

(a) The Trustee will establish and hold within the Principal Fund established under the Indenture, a 2023 Series C Sinking Fund Account, which the Commission covenants and agrees to cause to be maintained, for payment of the Bond Obligation of the 2023 Series C Term Bonds.

(b) The Trustee, on or before September 30 of each year (commencing on or before September 30, 2043), will deposit in the 2023 Series C Sinking Fund Account from the Principal Fund moneys in an amount sufficient to call and redeem or to pay at maturity, as the case may be, the principal of 2023 Series C Term Bonds in the principal amounts set forth in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture on the next succeeding October 1 in each of the following years (each such deposit of moneys being referred to as a "2023 Series C Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payment").

(c) During the 12-month period immediately preceding each redemption from the 2023 Series C Sinking Fund Account, the Commission may satisfy, in whole or in part, the 2023 Series C Minimum Sinking Fund Account Payment and the redemption therefrom by depositing with the Trustee 2023 Series C Term Bonds for cancellation prior to the Trustee's selection of the 2023 Series C Term Bonds for redemption.

(d) All moneys in the 2023 Series C Sinking Fund Account, at the Written Request of the Commission, will be used and withdrawn by the Trustee at any time for the purchase of 2023 Series C Term Bonds (except that no 2023 Series C Term Bonds maturing in any year will be purchased so long as any 2023 Series C Term Bonds maturing in any earlier year and being of like tenor are Outstanding) at public or private sale, as and when and at such prices (including brokerage and other charges, but excluding accrued interest, which is payable from the Interest Fund) as the Commission directs by Written Request, but not to exceed the principal thereof, and all 2023 Series C Term Bonds so purchased by the Trustee or deposited by the Commission, will be cancelled and delivered to the Commission; provided, however, that:

(1) all moneys in the 2023 Series C Sinking Fund Account on each September 15, beginning on September 15, 2043, and ending on September 15, 2048, together with any additional sums the Trustee expects to receive for deposit in the 2023 Series C Sinking Fund Account after such date and on or before the next succeeding October 1, will be used and withdrawn by the Trustee solely for the purpose of redeeming the 2023 Series C Term Bonds that are subject to redemption under this provision of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture; and

(2) the Trustee will during each 12-month period beginning with the 12-month period ending on October 1, 2048, purchase or call and redeem (as provided in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture) an aggregate amount of 2023 Series C Term Bonds equal to at least the amount of Bond Obligation of the 2023 Series C Term Bonds identified in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture for such 12-month period reduced by the principal amount of 2023 Series C Term Bonds deposited by the Commission with the Trustee, except that if 2023 Series C Term Bonds of any Term Bond maturity have previously been redeemed or purchased by the Trustee or deposited by the Commission in excess of the amount of Bond Obligation of the 2023 Series C Term Bonds identified in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, there will be deemed to have been a reduction of the remaining amounts stated in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture on a Proportionate Basis, and further except that moneys in the 2023 Series C Sinking Fund Account will be used, to the extent necessary, to purchase or retire the Outstanding 2023 Series C Term Bonds at the maturity thereof.

(e) The Commission covenants and agrees under the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture with the Owners of the 2023 Series C Term Bonds to call and redeem 2023 Series C Term Bonds from the 2023 Series C Sinking Fund Account pursuant to the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture on October 1 in each of the years, and in the amounts, stated therein.

Tax Covenants.

(a) The Commission covenants that it will not take any action, or fail to take any action, if any such action or failure to take action would adversely affect the exclusion from gross income of the interest on the 2023ABC Bonds under Section 103 of the Code.

(b) The Commission will not directly or indirectly use or permit the use of any proceeds of the 2023ABC Bonds or any other funds of the Commission, or take or omit to take any action that would cause the 2023ABC Bonds to be "arbitrage bonds" within the meaning of Section 148(a) of the Code. To that end, the Commission will comply with all requirements of Section 148 of the Code to the extent applicable to the 2023ABC Bonds. If at any time the Commission is of the opinion that for purposes of this provision of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture it is necessary to restrict or limit the yield on the investment of any moneys held by the Trustee under the Indenture or otherwise, the Commission will so instruct the Trustee in writing, and the Trustee will take such action as required by such instructions. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Commission agrees that there will be paid from time to time all amounts required to be rebated to the United States pursuant to Section 148(f) of the Code and any temporary, proposed or final Treasury Regulations as may be applied to the 2023ABC Bonds from time to time. This covenant will survive payment in full or defeasance of the 2023ABC Bonds. The Commission specifically covenants to pay or cause to be paid to the United States, at the times and in the amounts determined, the 2023 Series A Rebate Requirement, the 2023 Series B Rebate Requirement and the 2023 Series C Rebate Requirement. The Trustee agrees to comply with all written instructions of the Commission given in accordance with the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate, the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate and the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate.

(c) Notwithstanding any provision of this provision of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, if the Commission provides to the Trustee an opinion of nationally recognized bond counsel to the effect that any action required under this provision of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture or under the 2023 Series A Tax Certificate, the 2023 Series B Tax Certificate or the 2023 Series C Tax Certificate is no longer required, or to the effect that some further action is required, to maintain the exclusion from gross income of the interest on the 2023ABC Bonds under Section 103 of the Code, the Commission and the Trustee may rely conclusively on such opinion in complying with the provisions hereof, and the covenants hereunder will be deemed to be modified to that extent.

(d) The Commission will assure that the proceeds of the 2023ABC Bonds are not so used as to cause the 2023ABC Bonds to satisfy the private business tests of Section 141(b) of the Code or the private loan financing test of Section 141(c) of the Code.

(e) The Commission will not take any action or permit or suffer any action to be taken if the result of the same would be to cause any of the 2023ABC Bonds to be "federally guaranteed" within the meaning of Section 149(b) of the Code.

Continuing Disclosure. The Commission covenants and agrees in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture that it will comply with and carry out all of the provisions of the 2023 Continuing Disclosure Certificate. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Indenture, failure of the Commission to comply with the 2023 Continuing Disclosure Certificate will not be considered an Event of Default; however, any Participating Underwriter (as such term is defined in the 2023 Continuing Disclosure Certificate) or any Bondowner or beneficial owner may take such actions as may be necessary and appropriate, including seeking specific performance by court order, to cause the Commission to comply with its obligations under this provision of the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, and the sole remedy in the event of any failure of the Commission to comply with the 2023 Continuing Disclosure Certificate will be an action to compel performance.

No Senior State Loans. No Senior State Loans are currently Outstanding. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Indenture, the Commission will not issue or enter into any additional Senior State Loans or pay any amounts with respect to any loan agreement with the State of California (or any board, department or agency thereof) prior to the payment of amounts described in the Indenture.

MISCELLANEOUS

Terms of 2023ABC Bonds Subject to the Indenture. Except as expressly provided in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, every term and condition contained in the Indenture will apply to the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, and to the 2023ABC Bonds, with the same force and effect as if the same were set forth at length in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture, with such omissions, variations and modifications thereof as may be appropriate to make the same conform to the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture.

The Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and all the terms and provisions contained in the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture will form part of the Indenture as fully and with the same effect as if all such terms and provisions had been set forth in the Indenture. The Indenture is ratified and confirmed by the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture and will continue in full force and effect in accordance with the terms and provisions thereof, as supplemented and amended by the Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture.

Independent Auditors' Report

The Honorable Mayor and Board of Supervisors
City and County of San Francisco:

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

We have audited the financial statements of the San Francisco Wastewater Enterprise (the Enterprise), as of and for the years ended June 30, 2022 and 2021, and the related notes to the financial statements, which collectively comprise the Enterprise's basic financial statements for the years then ended as listed in the table of contents.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Enterprise, as of June 30, 2022 and 2021, and the changes in its financial position and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS) and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of the Enterprise and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audits. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Emphasis of Matter

As discussed in Note 1, the financial statements of the Enterprise are intended to present the financial position, the changes in financial position, and, where applicable, cash flows of only that portion of the business-type activities and each major fund of the City and county of San Francisco, California that is attributable to the transactions of the Enterprise. They do not purport to, and do not, present fairly the financial position of the City and County of San Francisco, California, as of June 30, 2022 and 2021, the changes in its financial position, or, where applicable, its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS and Government Auditing Standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with GAAS and Government Auditing Standards, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Enterprise's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control related matters that we identified during the audit.

Required Supplementary Information

U.S. generally accepted accounting principles require that the management's discussion and analysis be presented to supplement the basic financial statements. Such information is the responsibility of management and, although not a part of the basic financial statements, is required by the Governmental Accounting Standards Board who considers it to be an essential part of financial reporting for placing the basic financial statements in an appropriate operational, economic, or historical context. We have applied certain limited procedures to the required supplementary information in accordance with GAAS, which consisted of inquiries of management about the methods of preparing the information and comparing the information for consistency with management's responses to our inquiries, the basic financial statements, and other knowledge we obtained during our audits of the basic financial statements. We do not express an opinion or provide any assurance on the information because the limited procedures do not provide us with sufficient evidence to express an opinion or provide any assurance.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated January 27, 2023 on our consideration of the Enterprise's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the Enterprise's internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the Enterprise's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.

This section presents management's analysis of the San Francisco Wastewater Enterprise's (the Enterprise) financial condition and activities as of and for the fiscal years ended June 30, 2022 and 2021. Management's Discussion and Analysis (MDA) is intended to serve as an introduction to the Enterprise's financial statements. This information should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements that follow this section. All dollar amounts, unless otherwise noted, are expressed in thousands of dollars.

The information in this MDA is presented under the following headings:

- Organization and Business
- Overview of the Financial Statements
- COVID-19
- Financial Analysis
- Capital Assets
- Debt Administration

Organization and Business

The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC or the Commission) is a department of the City and County of San Francisco (the City) that is responsible for the maintenance, operation, and development of three utility enterprises: Water, Hetch Hetchy Water and Power and CleanPowerSF, and Wastewater (the Enterprise). The primary responsibility of the Enterprise is to protect the public health and the surrounding bay and ocean receiving waters by collecting, transmitting, treating, and discharging storm and sanitary flows generated in the service area. This includes 1,131 miles of combined, sanitary, and storm collection system pipes including: gravity mains, force mains, culverts, transport storage boxes, and tunnels. San Francisco is the only coastal city in California with a combined sewer system that collects both wastewater and stormwater in the same network of pipes and provides treatment to remove harmful pollutants before discharging into the San Francisco Bay and Pacific Ocean. In addition, the Enterprise serves on a contractual basis certain municipal customers located outside of the City limits, including the North San Mateo County Sanitation District No. 3, Bayshore Sanitary District, and the City of Brisbane. The Enterprise recovers costs of service through user fees based on the volume and strength of sanitary flow. As of June 30, 2022, the Enterprise serves 148,381 residential accounts, which discharge about 15.7 million units of sanitary flow per year (measured in hundreds of cubic feet, or ccf) and 26,790 non-residential accounts, which discharge about 5.3 million ccf per year. These reflected an increase of 0.7 million discharge units in non-residential accounts due to 360 increase in the number of accounts and a decrease of 0.9 million discharge units in residential accounts compared to prior year.

Overview of the Financial Statements

The Enterprise's financial statements include the following:

Statements of Net Position present information on the Enterprise's assets, deferred outflows, liabilities, and deferred inflows as of year-end, with the difference reported as net position. Over time, increases or decreases in net position may serve as a useful indicator of whether the financial position of the Enterprise is improving or worsening.

While the Statements of Net Position provide information about the nature and amount of resources and obligations at year-end, the Statements of Revenues, Expenses, and Changes in Net Position present the results of the Enterprise's operations over the course of the fiscal year and information as to how the net position changed during the year. These statements can be used as an indicator of the extent to which the Enterprise has successfully recovered its costs through user fees and other charges. All changes in net position are reported during the period in which the underlying event giving rise to the change occurs, regardless of the timing of the related cash flows. Thus, revenues and expenses are reported in these statements from some items that will result in cash flows in future fiscal periods, such as delayed collection of operating revenues and the expenses of employee earned but unused vacation leave.

The Statements of Cash Flows present changes in cash and cash equivalents resulting from operational, capital financing, non-capital financing, and investing activities. These statements summarize the annual flow of cash receipts and cash payments, without consideration of the timing of the event giving rise to the obligation or receipt and exclude non-cash accounting measures of depreciation or amortization of assets.

The Notes to Financial Statements provide information that is essential to a full understanding of the financial statements that is not displayed on the face of the financial statements.

COVID-19

On February 25, 2020, the City's Mayor issued a proclamation declaring a local emergency to exist in connection with the imminent spread within the City of the novel coronavirus ("COVID-19"). On March 16, 2020, the City's Health Officer issued a stay safe at home order, Health Officer Order No. C19-07 (the "Stay Safe At Home Order"), requiring most people and City employees to remain in their homes subject to certain exceptions including obtaining essential goods such as "food and necessary supplies", and requiring the closure of nonessential businesses. In addition, Section 2 of the second supplement to the emergency proclamation authorized the SFPUC to suspend the (a) discontinuation or shut off of water service for residents and businesses in the City for non-payment of water and sewer bills and (b) the imposition of late payment penalties or fees for delinquent water and/or sewer bills through July 11, 2020. The proclamation was extended on December 8, 2020 through June 30, 2021 and then again on April 27, 2021, through to March 31, 2022. The suspension was extended again to July 31, 2022 for shut off of water service and to June 30, 2023 for late payment penalties. This proclamation did not have a material effect on the operations of the Wastewater enterprise.

Net Position, Fiscal Year 2022

For the year ended June 30, 2022, the Enterprise's assets and deferred outflows of resources exceeded liabilities and deferred inflows of resources by $1,362,662. The Enterprise's total net position increased by $60,114 or 4.6% as a result of increases of $114,657 in restricted for capital projects, $104,142 in unrestricted net position, and $2,399 in restricted for debt service offset by a decrease of $161,084 in net investment in capital assets (see Table 1).

During the fiscal year 2022, current and other assets increased by $267,657 or 74.2%. The increase was mainly due to $182,040 in receivables from the State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB) attributed to $202,795 aggregate new State Revolving Fund (SRF) reimbursement requests consisting of $132,000 for the Southeast Water Pollution Control Plant (SEP) Biosolids Digester Project, $64,678 for the SEP New Headworks (Grit) Replacement Project, and $6,117 for the Oceanside Plant (OSP) Digester Gas Utilization Upgrade Project, offset by $20,755 cash receipts from prior year receivables relating to the OSP Digester Gas Utilization Upgrade Project, an increase of $48,770 in net pension asset based on actuarial report and $32,650 increase in restricted and unrestricted cash and investments mainly from the issuance proceeds of tax-exempt 2021 Series AB (Green) revenue notes and 2021 Series AB revenue bonds. Other increases included $7,241 in receivables for charges for services mainly due to increased billings of $6,143, $1,098 decrease in allowance for doubtful accounts due to utility arrearage relief payment received from the State as Federal pass-through from the California Water and Wastewater Arrearages Payment Program (CWWAPP), $1,014 due from the Treasure Island Development Authority (TIDA) for capacity fees, $301 in inventory as there were more purchases than issuances during the year, $190 in capacity charges net of allowance for doubtful accounts, $118 in interest receivable, and $25 in State grant receivable for the Baker Beach reimbursement. These increases in current and other assets were offset by a decrease of $2,325 in lease assets, net of accumulated amortization, due to amortization, $1,763 in Federal interest subsidy receivable (attributed to $5,817 subsidy received offset by $4,054 subsidy accrual during the year), $324 decrease in rent receivable mainly due to $304 collection of prior year balance from the San Francisco Community College, $219 decrease in prepaid charges mainly due to $652 prior year prepaid expenses recognized in current year and $39 lease prepayments amortizations for the Civic Center Garage and the Mariposa Pump Station & Force, offset by $472 prepaid expenses in the current year, $56 decrease in interfund receivables and due from component unit consisting of $118 from the Department of Public Works (DPW) for the Mission Bay South and Hunters View Development Projects, $24 from the San Francisco Port Commission (Port), and $20 from component unit for the TIDA Replacement & Repair Project, offset by an increase of $106 in receivable from the Academy of Sciences and Office of Community Investment Infrastructure, and $5 decrease in custom work receivable.

Capital assets, net of accumulated depreciation and amortization, increased by $439,601 or 12.2% reflecting an increase in construction and capital improvement activities. The largest portion of the Enterprise's net position of $1,092,705 or 80.2%, represents net investment in capital assets (see Capital Assets section of the MDA for more information). Deferred outflows of resources decreased by $7,119 mainly due to decreases in pensions and other post-employment benefits by $4,850 and $2,211, respectively based on actuarial report and $58 amortization of the 2013 Series A bonds loss on refunding.

Total liabilities increased by $526,128 or 19.5%. As of June 30, 2022, total debt outstanding balance of $2,988,713 for revenue bonds and notes payable, certificates of participation (COP), commercial paper, and State Revolving Fund (SRF) loans, represented 92.6% of total liabilities, an increase of $625,627 or 26.5%. The increase was mainly due to $373,700 issuance of 2021 Series AB revenue bonds, consisting of $297,880 par amounts and $75,820 premiums, $350,823 issuance of 2021 Series AB revenue notes consisting of $347,465 par amounts and $3,358 premiums, $200,702 new SRF loans to finance the SEP Biosolids Digester Facilities, the SEP New Headworks Replacement, and the OSP Digester Gas Utilization Upgrade projects, and $80,639 issuance of commercial paper. These increases were offset by $340,000 retirement of commercial paper, $26,148 in debt principal repayments, $9,970 in premium amortization during the year, and $4,000 loan principal forgiveness for the SRF OSP Digester Gas Utilization Upgrade Project along with $119 unreimbursed loan claim. Other liabilities of $238,434 such as payables to vendors, contractors, and other government agencies for goods and services under contractual agreements and employees, decreased by $99,499 or 29.4%, mainly due to decreases of $103,746 in net pension liability based on actuarial report, $4,668 in general liability based on actuarial estimates, $2,314 in lease liability due to implementation of GASB 87 Leases, $1,588 in other post-employment benefits obligations based on actuarial report, and $110 in payable to Hetch Hetchy Power related to the 525 Golden Gate Living Machine System. These decreases were offset by increases of $7,229 in restricted and unrestricted payable due to increased vouchers, $4,184 in bond and loan interest payable due to higher outstanding debt principal, $792 in unearned revenues mainly due to $892 in customer credit balances mainly due to overpayments offset by decreases of $81 in deposits from Pacific Gas & Electric due to expenses incurred for the Cross Bore Project and $19 in liens payable, $462 in employee related benefits including vacation, workers' compensation, accrued payroll mainly due to actuarial estimates, and 3.5% increase of cost of living adjustment (COLA), and $260 in pollution remediation obligation. Deferred inflows of resources increased by $113,897 due to increases in pensions and other post-employment benefits by $112,522 and $1,375, respectively based on actuarial report.

Net Position, Fiscal Year 2021

For the year ended June 30, 2021, the Enterprise's assets and deferred outflows of resources exceeded liabilities and deferred inflows of resources by $1,302,583. The Enterprise's total net position increased by $9,647 or 0.7% as a result of increases of $70,501 in net investment in capital assets and $1,765 in restricted for debt service offset by a decrease of $62,619 in unrestricted net position (see Table 1).

During the fiscal year 2021, current and other assets decreased by $118,831 or 25.1%. The decrease was mainly due to a decrease of $136,773 in restricted and unrestricted cash and investments largely attributed to increased spending for the Sewer System Improvement Program (SSIP) and debt principal and interest repayment. Other decreases included $666 in receivables for charges for services mainly due to $2,172 increase in allowance for doubtful accounts as there were more sewer charge receivables aging over 120 days attributable to the suspension of collection efforts in response to the COVID-19 emergency proclamation issued by the City Mayor. These decreases in current and other assets were offset by an increase of $17,490 in receivables from the State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB) due to $20,755 in reimbursement receivable for disbursements claim relating to the Oceanside Plant (OSP) Digester Gas Utilization Upgrade Project offset by cash receipts of $3,265 in State Revolving Fund (SRF) reimbursement requests consisting of $2,041 for the Southeast Plant (SEP) 521/522 and Disinfection Upgrade and $1,224 for the Lake Merced Green Infrastructure projects. The largest portion of the Enterprise's net position of $1,253,789 or 96.3%, represents net investment in capital assets (see Capital Assets section of the MDA for more information). Deferred outflows of resources increased by $4,743 mainly due to $5,044 increase in other post-employment benefits based on actuarial report offset by $203 decrease in pensions based on actuarial report and $98 amortization of the 2013 Series A bonds loss on refunding.

Total liabilities increased by $432,491 or 19.1%. As of June 30, 2021, total outstanding balance of $2,363,086 for revenue bonds payable, commercial paper, certificates of participation, and SRF loans represented 87.7% of total liabilities, an increase of $418,006 or 21.5%. The increase was mainly due to $435,450 additional commercial paper issuance and $22,468 SRF loan to fund the OSP Digester Gas Utilization Upgrade, the SEP 521/522 and Disinfection Upgrade, and the Lake Merced Green Infrastructure projects offset by $31,316 in debt repayments and $8,596 in amortization of premium during the year. Other liabilities of $331,976 such as payables to vendors, contractors, and other government agencies for goods and services under contractual agreements and employees, increased by $14,485 or 4.6%, due to increases of $17,511 in net pension liability based on actuarial report, $3,912 in employee related benefits including vacation, workers' compensation, and accrued payroll mainly due to actuarial estimates, 3% increase of cost of living adjustment (COLA), and more days in current year-end payroll accrual compared to prior year-end accrual, $822 in general liability based on actuarial estimates, $130 in customer credit balances mainly due to overpayments, and $26 in liens payable. These increases were offset by decreases of $7,472 in other post-employment benefits obligations based on actuarial report, $145 in bond and loan interest payable due to lower outstanding debt principal and lower interest rates , $135 in restricted and unrestricted payable due to higher voucher payments than vouchers generated, and $109 in payable to Hetch Hetchy Power due to payment for the 525 Golden Gate Living Machine System, $54 decrease in deposit from Pacific Gas & Electric due to expenses incurred for the Cross Bore Project, and $1 interfund payable to City Attorney's Office. Deferred inflows of resources decreased by $11,664 due to $14,744 decrease in pensions based on actuarial report offset by $3,080 increase in other post-employment benefits based on actuarial report.

Results of Operations, Fiscal Year 2022

The Enterprise's total revenues were $387,249, an increase of $55,860 or 16.9% from prior year (see Table 2). Charges for services increased by $37,805 or 11.9% mainly due to an average 8% adopted rate increase and a decrease in allowance for doubtful accounts by $1,098 as there were less sewer charge receivables aging over 120 days due to utility arrearage relief payments received from the State, offset by a sanitary flow decrease of 257,472 ccf or 1.2% from residential and non-residential customers. Other non-operating revenues increased by $20,543 mainly due to $9,302 utility arrearage relief payment received from the State as Federal pass-through from the CWWAPP, $8,000 SRF loan principal forgiveness component of the SEP Biosolids Digester Facilities Project and the OSP Digester Gas Handling Utilization Upgrade Project, $3,409 Baker Beach grant, and $4 gain from sale of assets offset by decreases of $164 in miscellaneous revenue due to less overhead recovery, redemption penalty and stormwater control plan review fees, and $8 in Federal interest subsidy. Other operating revenues increased by $3,349 or 38.1% mainly due to increases of $2,570 in capacity fees resulting from a 58.9% increase in average permit price and a 5.4% increase in permits issued attributed to new developments on Treasure Island and the City's re-opening and eliminating local restrictions on business operations, and $779 in other operating revenues to other City departments such as the Recreation & Park, Academy of Sciences, and the San Francisco

General Hospital. Rents and concessions increased by $63 or 9.8% mainly due to increases in rental income of $34 from the Sheriff Department, $22 from tenants with 3.6% consumer price index average rate increase, and $7 from a short-term tenant, Young Community Developers. Interest and investment income decreased by $5,900 or 497.1% mainly due to $5,618 increase in unrealized loss in City Treasury pooled investments attributed to the decline in market value of investments and rising interest rates and $292 decrease in interest earned from pooled cash due to lower annualized interest rate offset by $10 increase in interest earned from fiscal agent account due to increase in fiscal agent cash balances.

Total expenses were $326,974, an increase of $7,945 or 2.5% due to increases of $42,799 in interest expenses mainly due to increased outstanding bond principal balance and the implementation of Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) 89, Accounting for Interest Cost Incurred before the End of a Construction Period, which eliminated the capitalization of interest to capital assets beginning in fiscal year 2022, a decrease of $75 in amortization, refunding loss, and issuance cost, and $73 increase in City grants program expenses due to increased participation in the flood water management program for San Francisco properties offset by $35,002 decrease in operating expenses. The decrease of $35,002 in operating expenses was mainly due to decreases of $26,993 in personnel services due to $38,115 decrease in expenses related to GASB 68 pension adjustment offset by a 3.5% increase in cost of living adjustment (COLA) and $17,952 in general and administrative and other operating expenses mainly due to lower capital project expenses particularly for the Biosolids/Digester Project and Southeast Community Center Project, offset by increases of $3,232 in depreciation expense due to more capitalized assets put in service, $2,753 in materials and supplies mainly due to water sewage treatment supplies for Bayside Operations, $2,626 in contractual services mainly due to higher maintenance for building structures and professional and specialized services, and $1,332 in services provided by other departments mainly for electricity from Hetch Hetchy Power, water from Water Enterprise, and for facilities management services from the General Services Agency (GSA).

Net transfers of $161 included transfer out of $129 in art enrichment fund to the San Francisco Art Commission for the Westside Reliability Improvement and $32 to the Office of the City Administrator for the Surety Bond Program.

The Enterprise's total revenues were $331,389 a decrease of $30,472 or 8.4% from prior year (see Table 2). Charges for services decreased by $13,485 or 4.1% mainly due to a sanitary flow decrease of 2,474,116 ccf or 10.2% from residential and non-residential customers and $2,172 increase in allowance for doubtful accounts as there were more sewer charge receivables aging over 120 days attributable to the suspension of collection efforts in response to the COVID-19 emergency proclamation issued by the City Mayor offset by an average 8% adopted rate increase. Interest and investment income decreased by $13,324 or 109.8% due to lower pooled and fiscal agent cash balances, and a lower annualized interest rate. Other operating revenues decreased by $2,956 or 25.2% mainly due to decreases of $2,186 in capacity fees resulting from a 25.2% decrease in average permit price and a 7.9% decrease in permits issued as only essential construction projects were allowed due to SF Health Order related to COVID-19 and $770 in other operating revenues to other City departments such as the Real Estate, Human Services Agency, and Academy of Sciences due to the COVID-19 shelter in place order. Other non-operating revenues decreased by $685 mainly due to decreases of $667 in miscellaneous revenue largely attributed to $642 receipts from California State Parks Foundation for a project at Yosemite Slough Site in prior year, $20 in gain from sale of assets, and $22 in Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) grant relating to COVID-19 offset by $27 increase in federal interest subsidy. Rents and concessions decreased by $22 or 3.3% mainly due to the COVID-19 past due rent collection suspension as approved by the Commission.

Total expenses were $318,994, an increase of $22,114 or 7.4% due to increases of $29,961 in operating expenses, $357 in City grants program expenses as there were more expenses incurred for community-based organization services, and $150 decrease in amortization, refunding loss, and issuance cost due to $230 decrease in bond premium offset by decreases of $40 in issuance cost, and $40 in refunding loss amortization offset by a decrease of $8,354 in interest expenses due to lower interest rate compared to prior year and a decrease in outstanding bond principal balance. The increase of $29,961 in operating expenses was mainly due to increases of $20,866 in general and administrative and other operating expenses mainly due to higher capital project expenses related to the SSIP Biosolids Digester Project, $9,051 in depreciation expense due to more capitalized assets put in service, $1,004 in services provided by other departments mainly for Department of Public Works general administration and building repair services, General Services Agency (GSA) facilities management services, and City risk management services, and $100 in materials and supplies mainly due to water sewage treatment supplies for Bayside Operations. These increases were offset by a decrease of $564 in personnel services mainly due to $7,873 decrease in other post-employment benefits based on actuarial report offset by increases of $4,574 in expenses related to pension due to increase in retirement contribution rates, $2,051 in salaries and fringe benefits due to a 3% increase in cost of living adjustment (COLA), and $684 in workers' compensation claims. Other decrease included $496 in contractual services mainly due to lower professional and specialized services.

Net transfers of $2,748 included transfer out of $4,000 in art enrichment fund to the San Francisco Art Commission for the Southeast Plant Biosolids Digester Facilities, 1550 Southeast Community Center, and Treasure Island Capital Improvement Projects, $156 to Recreation & Park for Crocker Amazon Park, and $32 to the Office of the City Administrator for the Surety Bond Program, offset by $1,440 transfer in from General Fund for the Sidewalk Garden Grants Project.

Sewer System Improvement Program

The Sewer System Improvement Program (SSIP) is the SFPUC's wastewater capital improvement program which includes multiple projects to improve the existing wastewater system. The implementation of the SSIP projects and their associated expenditures will be phased over 20 years. In March 2016, the refined program scope and budget increased from $6.9 billion to $7.0 billion was endorsed by the Commission, referred to as the "2016 SSIP Baseline". In December 2020, the Commission approved the 2020 SSIP Baseline, increasing the budget for SSIP Phase 1 program to $3,655 million from $2,910.4 million in 2016. The SFPUC is transitioning away from the original intent of three distinct SSIP phases and instead implementing capital improvement projects as part of a rolling Ten-Year capital plan.

As of June 30, 2022, 38 projects or 54.3% totaling $373 million were completed, 7 projects in pre-construction phase, 12 projects in construction phase, and 13 projects in close-out phase. The SEP 521/522 and Disinfection Upgrades Project was completed on June 30, 2021 with reported project expenditures of $44.8 million. The major components of the project are modifications to the existing SEP 521 building to include a new Effluent Sampling Station, new DCS Control Station, and upgrade to the existing bathroom for ADA compliance, new building (SEP 522) to house electrical and hydraulic controls, among others. The Southeast Water Pollution Control Plant New Headworks Facility is on-going construction. The project is reported at 47.0% completion and forecasted final completion is on February 29, 2024. Program expenditures as of June 30, 2022 totaled $1,943.8 million. Additional details regarding the SSIP are available at https://sfpuc.org/construction-contracts/sewer-system-improvement-program.

Sewer System Improvement Program

The Sewer System Improvement Program (SSIP) includes three phases over 20 years to improve the existing wastewater system. In March 2016, the refined program scope and budget increased from $6.9 billion to $7.0 billion was endorsed by the Commission, which is now referred to as the 2016 SSIP Baseline program.

As of June 30, 2021, 37 projects or 52.9% totaling $367 million were completed, 8 projects in pre-construction phase, 18 projects in construction phase, and 7 projects in close-out phase. The OSP Condition Assessment Repairs was completed on January 29, 2021 with reported project expenditures of $11.6 million. The project includes planning, design, and environmental review of major improvements to the plant including rehabilitation of building structures, rehabilitation or replacement of mechanical and electrical equipment, and seismic retrofit of process tanks and buildings. Improvements focus on maintaining operational reliability and extending the service life of buildings that are required to remain in operation for 30 years or more. The SEP Seismic Reliability and Condition Assessment Improvements Project is on-going construction. The project is reported at 86.0% completion and forecasted final completion is on March 8, 2022. Program expenditures as of June 30, 2021 totaled $1,546.1 million. Additional details regarding the SSIP are available at https://sfpuc.org/construction-contracts/sewer-system-improvement-program.

Debt Administration

As of June 30, 2022, 2021, and 2020, the Enterprise's debt from revenue bonds, revenue notes, commercial paper, certificates of participation, and State revolving fund loans were $2,988,713, $2,363,086, and $1,945,080, respectively, as shown in Table 4. More detailed information about the Enterprise's debt activity is presented in Notes 6, 7, and 8 to the financial statements.

		2022	2021	2020	2022-2021 Change	2021-2020 Change

The increase of $625,627 was mainly due to $373,700 Revenue Bonds 2021 Series A (SSIP/Green) and 2021 Series B (Non-SSIP) net of premium, $350,823 Revenue (Green) Notes 2021 Series AB net of premium, $200,702 aggregate new State Revolving Fund loans for the Biosolids Digester, OSP Digester Gas Utilization Upgrade, and Headworks Replacement projects, and $80,639 issuance of commercial paper, offset by $340,000 retirement of commercial paper, $26,148 repayment of outstanding debt, $9,970 of premium amortizations, and $4,119 SRF OSP debt reduction for the $4,000 loan principal forgiveness component and $119 unreimbursed loan claim.

Credit Ratings and Bond Insurance – As of June 30, 2022 and 2021, the Enterprise carried underlying ratings of "Aa2" and "AA" from Moody's and Standard & Poor's (S&P), respectively.

Debt Service Coverage – Pursuant to the Indenture for the Wastewater bonds, the Enterprise covenants to collect sufficient net revenues each fiscal year, together with any Enterprise funds (except Bond Reserve Funds) that are available for payment of debt service and are not budgeted to be expended, at least equal to 1.25 times annual debt service for said fiscal year. During fiscal years 2022 and 2021, the Enterprise's net revenues, together with fund balances available to pay debt service and not budgeted to be expended, were sufficient to meet the rate covenant requirements under the Indenture (see Note 8).

Debt Authorization – Pursuant to the Charter Section 8B.124, the Enterprise can incur indebtedness upon two-thirds vote of the Board of Supervisors. As of June 30, 2022, the Enterprise had $4,005,292 in combined debt issuance authorization from the Board of Supervisors under Proposition E, with $3,145,625 issued against this authorization. The Enterprise has a $750,000 authorized commercial paper program, with $379,157 in tax-exempt commercial paper outstanding as of June 30, 2022 and $638,518 in tax-exempt commercial paper outstanding as of June 30, 2021.

Cost of Debt Capital – The coupon interest rates on the Enterprise's outstanding revenue bonds ranged from 1.0% to 5.8%, with a blended true interest cost of 2.9%, after factoring in federal interest subsidy receipts on Build America Bonds at June 30, 2022. The 2009 Series C certificates of participation carried coupon interest rates from 2.0% to 5.0% and 2009 Series D certificates of participation carried coupon interest rates from 6.4% to 6.5% in fiscal years 2022 and 2021, respectively. The interest rates on short-term debt ranged from 0.1% to 1.4% during fiscal year 2022 and from 0.1% to 0.2% during fiscal year 2021. The State revolving fund loans (CWSRF loans) carried original interest rates ranging from 0.8% to 1.8% for a weighted average of 1.3% during fiscal year 2022. The State has elected to apply administrative service and grant charges to certain agreement repayment schedules in lieu of receiving interest payments; these charges will not affect the installment payments or increase the repayment amounts.

Rates and Charges

Rate Setting Process

Proposition E, as approved by the voters in November 2002, amended the City Charter by adding the new Article VIIIB, entitled "Public Utilities," which established the Commission's authority to issue new revenue bonds and set wastewater rates. The Commission is required to:

- Establish rates, fees, and charges based on cost of service;
- Retain an independent rate consultant to conduct cost of service studies at least every five years;
- Consider establishing new connection fees;
- Consider conservation incentives and lifeline rates;
- Adopt a rolling five-year forecast annually; and
- Establish a Rate Fairness Board.

Pursuant to the City and County of San Francisco Charter section 8B.125, an independent rate study is performed at least once every five years. In compliance with City Charter section 8B.125, a water and wastewater rate study was completed in April 2018 and resulted in four-year wastewater rate increases from July 1, 2018 through June 30, 2022. The rates effective July 1, 2021 for fiscal year 2022 will remain unchanged for fiscal year 2023, which are effective July 1, 2022. These rates exclude those changed by the Consumer Price Index from the Controller's Office of the City and County of San Francisco, as well as rates adjusted by the 20-City Average Construction Index (CCI) published by Engineering News-Record (ENR) Magazine. The SFPUC Rates Schedules and Fees is available at https://sfpuc.org/accounts-services/water-power-and-sewer-rates.

The following table is the Enterprise's ten-year approved average rate adjustments:

(1) Description of Reporting Entity

The San Francisco Wastewater Enterprise (the Enterprise), formerly known as the San Francisco Clean Water Program (the Program), was established in 1977 following the transfer of all sewage system-related assets and liabilities of the City and County of San Francisco (the City) to the Program.

In 1976, the electorate of the City approved a proposition authorizing the City to issue $240,000 in revenue bonds pursuant to the Revenue Bond Law of 1941 of the State of California for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, improving, and financing improvements to the City's municipal sewage treatment and disposal system. Since then, the City's Board of Supervisors has adopted resolutions (Wastewater Resolutions) providing for the issuance of various sewer revenue and refunding bond series. The Wastewater Resolutions require the City to keep separate books of records and accounts of the Enterprise.

The Enterprise was placed under the jurisdiction of the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC or the Commission) in 1996. The Commission, established in 1932, is responsible for providing operational oversight of the public utility enterprises of the City, which includes the Enterprise along with the City's power and water utilities (i.e., Hetch Hetchy Water and Power and CleanPowerSF, of which the Power Enterprise is a component, and the San Francisco Water Enterprise). The Commission is responsible for determining such matters as the rates and charges for services, approval of contracts, and organizational policy.

Until August 1, 2008, the Commission consisted of five members, all appointed by the Mayor. Proposition E, a City Charter SEC. 4.112 amendment approved by the voters in the June 3, 2008 election, terminated the terms of all five existing members of the Commission, changed the process for appointing new members, and set qualifications for all members. Under the amended Charter, the Mayor continues to nominate candidates to the Commission, but nominees do not take office until the Board of Supervisors votes to approve their appointments by a majority (at least six members). The amended Charter provides for staggered four-year terms for the Commission members and requires them to meet the following qualifications:

- Seat 1 must have experience in environmental policy and an understanding of environmental justice issues.
- Seat 2 must have experience in ratepayer or consumer advocacy.
- Seat 3 must have experience in project finance.
- Seat 4 must have expertise in water systems, power systems, or public utility management.
- Seat 5 is an at-large member.

The SFPUC is a department of the City, and as such, the financial operations of the Enterprise, Hetch Hetchy Water and Power and CleanPowerSF, and the Water Enterprises are included in the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report of the City as enterprise funds. These financial statements are intended to present only the financial position, and the changes in financial position and cash flows of only that portion of the City that is attributable to the transactions of the Enterprise. They do not purport to, and do not, present fairly the financial position of the City as of June 30, 2022 and 2021, the changes in its financial position, or, where applicable, the cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP).

(2) Significant Accounting Policies

(a) Basis of Accounting and Measurement Focus

The accounts of the Enterprise are organized on the basis of a proprietary fund type, specifically an enterprise fund of the City. The activities of this Enterprise are accounted for with a separate set of self-balancing accounts that comprise the Enterprise's assets, deferred outflows, liabilities, deferred inflows, net position, revenues, and expenses. Enterprise funds account for activities (i) that are financed with debt that is secured solely by a pledge of the net revenues from fees and charges of the activity; or (ii) that are required by laws or regulations that the activity's costs of providing services, including capital costs (such as depreciation or debt service), be recovered with fees and charges, rather than with taxes or similar revenues; or (iii) that the pricing policies of the activity establish fees and charges designed to recover its costs, including capital costs (such as depreciation or debt service).

The financial activities of the Enterprise are accounted for on a flow of economic resources measurement focus, using the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with the U.S. GAAP. Under this method, all assets and liabilities associated with operations are included on the statements of net position; revenues are recognized when earned, and expenses are recognized when liabilities are incurred. Operating revenues are defined as charges to customers, rental income, and capacity fees.

The Enterprise applies all applicable Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) pronouncements.

(b) Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Enterprise considers its pooled deposits and investments held with the City Treasury to be demand deposits and, therefore, cash and cash equivalents for financial reporting. The City Treasury also holds non-pooled cash and investments for the Enterprise. Non-pooled restricted deposits and restricted deposits and investments held outside the City Treasury with original maturities of three months or less are also considered to be cash equivalents.

(c) Investments

Money market funds are carried at cost, which approximates fair value. All other investments are stated at fair value based upon quoted market prices. Changes in fair value are recognized as investment gains or losses and are recorded as a component of non-operating revenues.

(d) Inventory

Inventory consists primarily of construction materials and maintenance supplies and is valued at average cost. Inventory is expensed as it is consumed.

(e) Capital Assets

Capital assets are defined as assets with an initial individual cost of more than $5 and an estimated useful life in excess of one year. Capital assets with an original acquisition date prior to July 1, 1977 are recorded in the financial statements at estimated cost, as determined by an independent professional appraisal, or at cost, if known. All subsequent acquisitions have been recorded at cost. All donated capital assets are valued at estimated fair value at the time of donation. Depreciation and amortization are computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which range from 1 to 100 years for equipment and 1 to 200 years for building, structures, and improvements. No depreciation or amortization is recorded in the year of acquisition, and depreciation or amortization is recorded in the year of disposal.

(f) Intangible Assets

Under GASB Statement No. 51, Accounting and Financial Reporting for Intangible Assets, intangible assets are defined as identifiable, non-financial assets capable of being separated, sold, transferred, or licensed, and include contractual or legal rights. Examples of intangible assets include rights-of-way easements, land use rights, water rights, licenses, and permits. The accounting pronouncement also provides guidance on the capitalization of internally generated intangible assets, such as the development and installation of computer software by or on behalf of the reporting entity.

According to the standard, the Enterprise is required to capitalize intangible assets with a useful life extending beyond one reporting period. The Enterprise has established a capitalization threshold of $100. GASB Statement No. 51 also requires amortization of intangible assets over the benefit period, except for certain assets having an indefinite useful life. Assets with an indefinite useful life generally provide a benefit that is not constrained by legal or contractual limitations or any other external factor, and therefore, are not amortized (see Note 4).

(g) Construction Work in Progress

The cost of acquisition and construction of major plant and equipment is recorded as construction work in progress. Costs of construction projects that are discontinued are recorded as an expense in the year in which the decision is made to discontinue such projects.

(h) Capitalization of Interest

A portion of the interest cost incurred on capital projects is capitalized on assets that require a period for construction or to otherwise prepare them for their intended use. Such amounts are amortized over the useful lives of the assets (see Note 4). Per the implementation of GASB No. 89, Accounting for Interest Cost Incurred before the End of a Construction Period, no interest was capitalized to capital assets in fiscal year 2022.

(i) Bond Discount, Premium, and Issuance Costs

Bond issuance costs related to prepaid insurance costs are capitalized and amortized using the effective interest method. Other bond issuance costs are expensed when incurred. Original issue bond discount or premium are offset against the related debt and are also amortized using the effective interest method.

(j) Accrued Vacation and Sick Leave

Accrued vacation pay, which may be accumulated up to 10 weeks per employee, is charged to expense as earned. Sick leave earned subsequent to December 6, 1978 is non-vesting and may be accumulated up to six months per employee.

(k) Workers' Compensation

The Enterprise is self-insured for workers' compensation claims and accrues the estimated cost of those claims, including the estimated cost of incurred but not reported claims (see Note 12(b)).

(l) General Liability

The Enterprise is self-insured for general liability and uninsurable property damage claims. Commercially uninsurable property includes assets that are underground or provide transmission and distribution. Maintained commercial coverage does not cover claims attributed to loss from earthquake, contamination, pollution remediation efforts, and other specific naturally occurring contaminants such as mold. The liability represents an estimate of the cost of all outstanding claims, including adverse loss development and estimated incurred but not reported claims (see Note 12(a)).

(m) Arbitrage Rebate Payable

Certain bonds are subject to arbitrage rebate requirements in accordance with regulations issued by the U.S. Treasury Department. The requirements generally stipulate that earnings from the investment of the tax-exempt bond proceeds that exceed related interest costs on the bonds must be remitted to the federal government on every fifth anniversary of each bond issue. No arbitrage liability is due as of June 30, 2022 or 2021.

(n) Refunding of Debt

Gains or losses occurring from refunding of debt prior to maturity are reported as deferred outflows and deferred inflows of resources from refunding of debt. Deferred outflows and deferred inflows of resources are recognized as a component of interest expense using the effective interest method over the remaining life of the old debt or the life of the new debt, whichever is shorter.

(o) Income Taxes

As a department of a government agency, the Enterprise is exempt from both federal income taxes and California State franchise taxes.

(p) Revenue Recognition

Sewer service charges are based on water usage as determined by the San Francisco Water Enterprise. Effective July 1, 2013, the majority of residential and non-residential customers are billed on a monthly basis except for building and contractor customers which are billed on a bi-monthly basis. Revenues earned but unbilled are accrued as charges for services and reflected as a receivable on the statements of net position. The unbilled amount for the fiscal years ending June 30, 2022 and 2021 were $15,704 and $14,175, respectively.

(q) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(r) Accounting and Financial Reporting for Pollution Remediation Obligations

According to GASB Statement No. 49, Accounting and Financial Reporting for Pollution Remediation Obligations, a government would have to estimate its expected outlays for pollution remediation if it knows a site is polluted and any of the following recognition triggers occur:

- Pollution poses an imminent danger to the public or environment and a government has little or no discretion to avoid fixing the problem;
- A government has violated a pollution prevention-related permit or license;
- A regulator has identified (or evidence indicates it will identify) a government as responsible (or potentially responsible) for cleaning up pollution, or for paying all or some of the cost of the cleanup;
- A government is named (or evidence indicates that it will be named) in a lawsuit to compel it to address the pollution; or
- A government begins or legally obligates itself to begin cleanup or post-cleanup activities (limited to amounts the government is legally required to complete).

As a part of ongoing operations, situations may occur requiring the removal of pollution or other hazardous material. These situations typically arise in the process of acquiring an asset, preparing an asset for its intended use, or during the design phase of projects under review by the project managers. Other times, pollution may arise during the implementation and construction of a major or minor capital project. Examples of pollution may include, but are not limited to: asbestos or lead paint removal, leaking of sewage in underground pipes or neighboring areas, chemical spills, removal, and disposal of known toxic waste, harmful biological and chemical pollution of water, or contamination of surrounding soils by underground storage tanks (see Note 13(d)).

(s) Leases

Leases are defined as a contract that conveys control of the right to use another entity's underlying asset for a specified period. The Enterprise is a lessee and a lessor for various noncancellable leases of land, building, equipment, vehicles, easements, etc.

Short-term Leases

For leases with a maximum possible term of 12 months or less at commencement, the Enterprise recognizes lease revenue if the Enterprise is the lessor of the lease or lease expense if the Enterprise is the lessee of the lease based on the provisions of the lease contract. Liabilities are only recognized if payments are received in advance, and receivables are only recognized if payments are received subsequent to the reporting period.

Leases Other Than Short-term

For all other leases (i.e., those that are not short-term) the Enterprise recognizes a lease liability and intangible right-to-use lease asset for the Enterprise as lessee leases, or lease receivable and deferred inflow of resources for the Enterprise as lessor leases.

Measurement of Lease Amounts (Lessee)

The Enterprise's lease liability is recorded at the present value of future minimum lease payments as of the date of inception. Subsequently, the lease liability is reduced by the principal portion of lease of payments made. The lease asset is initially measured as the initial amount of the lease liability, less lease payments made at or before the lease commencement date, plus any initial direct costs ancillary to placing the underlying asset into service, less any lease incentives received at or before the lease commencement date. Subsequently, the lease asset is amortized into depreciation and amortization expense on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the lease term or the useful life of the underlying asset. If the Enterprise is reasonably certain of exercising a purchase option contained in a lease, the lease asset will be amortized over the useful life of the underlying asset.

Measurement of Lease Amounts (Lessor)

The Enterprise's lease receivable is measured at the present value of payments expected to be received during the lease term, reduced by any provision of estimated uncollectible amounts. Subsequently, the lease receivable is reduced by the principal portion of lease payments collected. The deferred inflow or resources is initially measured as the initial amount of the lease receivable, less any lease incentives paid to, or on behalf of, the lessee at or before the commencement of the lease term, plus lease payments received from the lease at or before the commencement of the lease term that related to future periods. Subsequently, the deferred inflow of resources as lease revenue is on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

Key Estimates and Judgements

Key estimates and judgements include how the Enterprise determines (a) the discount rate it uses to calculate the present value of the expected lease payments, (b) lease terms, (c) lease payments, and (d) materiality threshold for equipment.

- The Enterprise generally uses its estimated incremental borrowing rate as the discount rate for leases unless the rate is implicit in the lease. The City's incremental borrowing rate (IBR) is established using the average of Municipal Market Data (MMD) AAA benchmark interest rate index maturity date (year 1 to 30+), plus the average credit spread based on City's Aa/AA, COP, Tax-exempt to generate the yield curve and discount rate table. The City's incremental borrowing rate for leases is based on the rate of interest it would need to pay if it issued general obligation bonds to borrow an amount equal to the lease payments under similar terms at the commencement or remeasurement date.

- The lease term includes the noncancellable period of the lease, plus any additional periods covered by either lessee or lessor unilateral option to (1) extend for which it is reasonably certain to be exercised, or (2) terminate for which it is reasonably certain not to be exercised. Periods in which both the lessee and lessor have an option to terminate (or if both parties have to agree to extend) are excluded from the lease term.

- Payments are evaluated by the Enterprise to determine if they should be included in the measurement of the lease receivables or lease liabilities, including those payments that require a determination of whether they are reasonably certain of being made, such as residual value guarantees, purchase options, payments for termination penalties, and other payments.

- Equipment and other leases have a capitalization threshold of $100. 70% below market rent and/or ground leases are determined to be below market rent (BMR), excluded from lease capitalization.

Remeasurement of Lease

The Enterprise monitors changes in circumstances that may require remeasurement of a lease. When certain changes occur that are expected to significantly affect the amount of the lease receivable or lease liability, the receivable or liability is remeasured and a corresponding adjustment is made to the deferred inflow of resources or lease asset, respectively.

Presentation in Statement of Net Position

Lease assets are reported with non-current assets, lease liabilities are reported with current and long-term liabilities in the statement of net position.

(t) Other Post-Employment Benefits Other Than Pensions (OPEB)

As prescribed under GASB Statement No. 75, Accounting and Financial Reporting for Postemployment Benefits Other than Pensions, net OPEB liability, deferred outflows/inflows of resources related to OPEB, and OPEB expense are actuarially determined on a citywide basis. Net OPEB liability is measured as the portion of the present value of projected benefit payments to be provided to current active and inactive employees attributed to those employees' past service, less the amount of the Retiree Healthcare Trust Fund investments measured at fair value (see Note 10(b)).

(u) New Accounting Standard Adopted in Fiscal Year 2022

1) In June 2017, the GASB issued Statement No. 87, Leases. GASB Statement No. 87 establishes a single model for lease accounting and requires reporting of certain lease liabilities that currently are not reported. The new standard is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2021. The Enterprise adopted the provisions of Statement No. 87 in fiscal year 2022 (see Note 9 for more details). As a result of adoption, the cumulative effect of applying this Statement is recorded as beginning balances for the following accounts as of July 1, 2020:

	FY 2021 Beginning Balance	FY 2021 Activities	FY 2021 Ending Balance
Right-to-use Assets	$ 8,247	$ —	$ 8,247

The new standard is effective for periods beginning after December 15, 2020. The Enterprise adopted the provisions of Statement No. 89 in fiscal year 2022.

3) In January 2020, the GASB issued Statement No. 92, Omnibus 2020. GASB Statement No. 92 addresses practice issues that have been identified during implementation and application of certain GASB Statements. The new standard is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2021. 4) In March 2020, the GASB issued Statement No. 93, Replacement of Interbank Offered Rates (IBOR). The objective of this Statement is to address those and other accounting and financial reporting implications that result from the replacement of an IBOR. The new standard is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2021. The Enterprise adopted the provisions of Statement No. 93 in fiscal year 2022, which did not have a significant effect on its financial statements.

(v) GASB Statement Implemented in Fiscal Year 2021

The new standard is effective for periods beginning after December 15, 2019. The Enterprise adopted the provisions of this Statement in fiscal year 2021, which did not have a significant effect on its financial statements.

2) In August 2018, the GASB issued Statement No. 90, Accounting and Financial Reporting for Majority Equity Interests. GASB Statement No. 90 provides clarification when a government should report a majority equity interest in a legally separate organization as either a component unit or an investment. The new standard is effective for periods beginning after December 15, 2019. The Enterprise adopted the provisions of this Statement in fiscal year 2021, which did not have a significant effect on its financial statements.

3) In June 2020, The GASB issued Statement No. 97, Certain Component Unit Criteria, and Accounting and Financial Reporting for Internal Revenue Code Section 457 Deferred Compensation Plans – an amendment of GASB Statements No. 14 and No. 84, and a supersession of GASB Statement No. 32. GASB Statement No. 97 clarifies rules related to reporting of fiduciary activities under Statements No. 14 and No. 84 and enhances the accounting and financial reporting of IRS Code section 457 plans that meet the definition of a pension plan. The new standard is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2021. 4) In October 2021, the GASB issued Statement No. 98, The Annual Comprehensive Financial Report. GASB Statement No. 98 updates existing accounting standards by changing the name of the Comprehensive Annual Financial Report to the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report. The new standard is effective for periods ending after December 15, 2021. The Enterprise adopted the provisions of this Statement in fiscal year 2021, which did not have a significant effect on its financial statements.

(w) Future Implementation of New Accounting Standards

1) In May 2019, the GASB issued Statement No. 91, Conduit Debt Obligations. GASB Statement No. 91 enhances the compatibility and consistency of conduit debt obligation reporting and reporting of related transactions by State and local government issuers. 2) In March 2020, the GASB issued Statement No. 94, Public-Private and Public-Public Partnerships and Availability Payment Arrangements. The primary objective of this Statement is to improve financial reporting by addressing issues related to public-private and public-public partnership arrangements (PPPs). The new standard is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2022. The Enterprise will implement the provisions of Statement No. 94 in fiscal year 2023.

3) In May 2020, the GASB issued Statement No. 96, Subscription-Based Information Technology Arrangements. This Statement provides guidance on the accounting and financial reporting for subscription-based information technology arrangements (SBITAs) by a government. The new standard is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2022. The Enterprise will implement the provisions of Statement No. 96 in fiscal year 2023.

4) In April 2022, the GASB issued Statement No. 99, Omnibus 2022. This Statement enhances comparability in accounting and financial reporting and to improve the consistency of authoritative literature by addressing (1) practice issues that have been identified during implementation and application of certain GASB Statements and (2) accounting and financial reporting for financial guarantees. The new standard is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2023. The Enterprise will implement the provisions of Statement No. 99 in fiscal year 2024.

5) In June 2022, the GASB issued Statement No. 100, Accounting Changes and Error Corrections. This Statement enhances accounting and financial reporting requirements for accounting changes and error corrections to provide more understandable, reliable, relevant, consistent, and comparable information for making decisions or assessing accountability. The new standard is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2023. The Enterprise will implement the provisions of Statement No. 100 in fiscal year 2024.

6) In June 2022, the GASB issued Statement No. 101, Compensated Absences. This Statement is to better meet the information needs of financial statement users by updating the recognition and measurement guidance for compensated absences. The new standard is effective for periods beginning after December 15, 2023. The Enterprise will implement the provisions of Statement No. 101 in fiscal year 2025.

(x) Reclassifications

The Enterprise has reclassified certain amounts relating to the prior period to conform to its current period presentation. These reclassifications had no effect on previously reported changes in net position.

(3) Cash, Cash Equivalents, and Investments

The Enterprise's cash, cash equivalents, and investments with the City Treasury are invested in an unrated City pool pursuant to investment policy guidelines established by the City Treasurer. The objectives of the policy guidelines are, in order of priority, preservation of capital, liquidity, and yield. The policy addresses soundness of financial institutions in which the City will deposit funds, types of investment instruments as permitted by the California Government Code, and the percentage of the portfolio that may be invested in certain instruments with longer terms to maturity. The City Treasurer allocates income from the investment of pooled cash at month-end in proportion to the Enterprise's average daily cash balances. The primary objectives of the Enterprise's investment policy are consistent with the City's policy.

The restricted cash for bond reserves is held by an independent trustee outside the City investment pool. The balances as of June 30, 2022 and 2021 were $39,358 and $10,196, respectively. Funds held by the trustee established under the 2003 Indenture are invested in "Permitted Investments" as defined in the Indenture. "Permitted Investments" include money market funds registered under the Federal Investment Company Act of 1940 and whose shares are registered under the Federal Securities Act of 1933 and having a rating by S&P of "AAAm-G," "AAAm," or "AAm" and a rating by Moody's of "Aaa," "Aa1," or "Aa2."

The Enterprise categorizes its fair value measurements within the fair value hierarchy established by GAAP. The hierarchy is based on the valuation inputs used to measure fair value of the assets. Level 1 inputs are quoted prices in active markets for identical assets; Level 2 inputs are significant other observable inputs; and Level 3 inputs are significant unobservable inputs. The inputs and techniques used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of risk associated with investing in those securities.

The following is a summary of the restricted and unrestricted cash and investments outside City Treasury and the fair value hierarchy as of June 30, 2022 and 2021.

Commercial paper is valued using a variety of techniques such as matrix pricing; market corroborated pricing inputs such as yield curve, indices, and other market related data. Commercial paper, money market investments, and cash and cash equivalents are exempt from fair value treatment under GASB Statement No. 72.

The restricted cash and investments outside City Treasury as of June 30, 2022 and 2021 included a $0 unrealized gain due to changes in fair values on Commercial Paper.

The Enterprise's cash, cash equivalents, and investments are shown on the accompanying statements of net position as follows:

(m) Certificates of Participation Issued for the 525 Golden Gate Avenue Headquarters Building

In October 2009, the City issued $167,670 in certificates of participation to fund the headquarters building of the SFPUC at 525 Golden Gate Avenue. The 2009 Series C were issued for $38,120 and 2009 Series D for $129,550 as "Build America Bonds" on a taxable basis under the 2009 American Recovery and Reinvestment Act. The 2009 Series C certificates carry interest rates ranging from 2.0% to 5.0% and mature on November 1, 2022. The 2009 Series D certificates carry interest rates ranging from 6.4% to 6.5% and mature on November 1, 2041. After adjusting for the federal interest subsidy, the true interest cost averages 3.4% and 4.3% for Series C and Series D, respectively.

Under the terms of a memorandum of understanding (MOU) between the City and the SFPUC dated October 1, 2009, the City conveyed the real property to the Trustee, the Bank of New York Mellon Trust Company, N.A., which was replaced by U.S. Bank in March 2014 under a property lease in exchange for the proceeds of the sale of the certificates. The Trustee has leased the property back to the City for the City's use under a project lease. The City is obligated under the project lease to pay base rental payments and other payments to the Trustee each year during the 32-year term of the project lease. The Commission makes annual base rental payments to the City for the building equal to annual debt service on the certificates. There are no events of default stated in this MOU.

Each of the three Enterprises has an ownership interest in the building equal to their projected usage of space as follows: Water (73%), Wastewater (15%), and Power (12%). Similarly, each Enterprise is responsible for a portion of the annual base rental payment based on their ownership percentages less contributed equity. The percentage share of base rental payments for the Enterprises is as follows: Water (71.4%), Wastewater (18.9%), and Power (9.7%).

Variable lease payments

Variable lease payments, other than those payments that depend on an index or rate or are fixed in substance, are excluded for the measurement of the lease liability. Such amounts are recognized as lease expenses in the period in which the obligation for those payments is incurred.

Certain equipment or facility rental leases require the Enterprise to make variable lease payments that based on usage, related to the property taxes levied on the lessor, and insurance payments made by the lessor, these amounts are generally determined annually. The amounts recognized as expense for variable lease payments not included in the measurement of the lease liability were $207 and $130 during the year ended June 30, 2022 and 2021, respectively.

(10) Employee Benefits

(a) Pension Plan

The Enterprise participates in a cost-sharing multiple-employer defined benefit pension Plan (SFERS Plan). The SFERS Plan is administered by the San Francisco City and County Employees' Retirement System (SFERS). Contributions are recognized in the period in which they are due pursuant to legal requirements. For purposes of measuring the net pension liability, deferred outflows/inflows of resources related to pensions, pension expense, information about the fiduciary net position of the SFERS Plan, and additions to/deductions from the SFERS Plan's fiduciary net position have been determined on the same basis as they are reported by the SFERS Plan. Benefit payments (including refunds of employee contributions) are recognized when currently due and payable in accordance with the benefit terms. Investments are reported at fair value.

GASB Statement No. 68 requires that the SFERS Plan reported results must pertain to liability and asset information within certain defined timeframes. For this report, the following timeframes are used:

Fiscal year 2022
Valuation Date (VD)	June 30, 2020 updated to June 30, 2021
Measurement Date (MD)	June 30, 2021
Measurement Period (MP)	July 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021

Fiscal year 2021
Valuation Date (VD)	June 30, 2019 updated to June 30, 2020
Measurement Date (MD)	June 30, 2020

SFERS Plan – The City is an employer of the SFERS Plan with a proportionate share of 94.64% as of June 30, 2021 (measurement date), and 94.39% as of June 30, 2020 (measurement date). The Enterprise's allocation percentage was determined based on the Enterprise's employer contributions divided by the City's total employer contributions for fiscal years 2021 and 2020. The Enterprise's net pension liability/(asset), deferred outflows/inflows of resources related to pensions, amortization of deferred outflows/inflows, and pension expense is based on its allocated percentage. The Enterprise's allocation of the City's proportionate share was 1.99% as of June 30, 2021 and 2.03% as of June 30, 2020 (measurement dates).

Plan Description – The SFERS Plan provides basic service retirement, disability, and death benefits based on specified percentages of defined final average monthly salary and provides annual cost of living adjustments (COLA) after retirement. The SFERS Plan also provides pension continuation benefits to qualified survivors. The San Francisco City and County Charter and the Administrative Code are the authorities which establish and amend the benefit provisions and employer obligations of the SFERS Plan. The Retirement System issues a publicly available financial report that includes financial statements and required supplementary information for the SFERS Plan. That report may be obtained on the Retirement System's website http://mysfers.org or by writing to the San Francisco City and County Employees' Retirement System, 1145 Market Street, 5th Floor, San Francisco, CA 94103 or by calling (415) 487-7000.

Benefits – The Retirement System provides service retirement, disability, and death benefits based on specified percentages of defined final average monthly salary and annual COLA after retirement. Benefits and refunds are recognized when due and payable in accordance with the terms of the SFERS Plan. The Retirement System pays benefits according to the category of employment and the type of benefit coverage provided by the City and County. The four main categories of SFERS Plan members are:

a) Miscellaneous Non-Safety Members – staff, operational, supervisory, and all other eligible employees who are not in special membership categories.

b) Sheriff's Department and Miscellaneous Safety Members – Sheriffs assuming office on and after January 7, 2012, and undersheriffs, deputized personnel of the Sheriff's Department, and miscellaneous safety employees hired on and after January 7, 2012.

c) Firefighter Members – firefighters and other employees whose principal duties are in fire prevention and suppression work or who occupy positions designated by law as firefighter member positions.

d) Police Members – police officers and other employees whose principal duties are in active law enforcement or who occupy positions designated by law as police member positions.

The membership groups and the related service retirement benefits are included in the Notes to the Basic Financial Statements of San Francisco Employees' Retirement System.

All members are eligible to apply for a disability retirement benefit, regardless of age, when they have 10 or more years of credited service and they sustain an injury or illness that prevents them from performing their duties. Safety members are eligible to apply for an industrial disability retirement benefit from their first day on the job if their disability is caused by an illness or injury that they receive while performing their duties.

All retired members receive a benefit adjustment each July 1, which is the Basic COLA. The majority of adjustments are determined by changes in Consumer Price Index with increases capped at 2%. The SFERS Plan provides for a Supplemental COLA in years when there are sufficient "excess" investment earnings in the SFERS Plan. The maximum benefit adjustment each July 1 is 3.5% including the Basic COLA. Effective July 1, 2012, voters approved changes in the criteria for payment of the Supplemental COLA benefit, so that Supplemental COLAs would only be paid when the SFERS Plan is also fully funded on a market value of assets basis. Certain provisions of this voter-approved proposition were challenged in the Courts. A decision by the California Courts modified the interpretation of the proposition. Effective July 1, 2012, members who retired before November 6, 1996 will receive a Supplemental COLA only when the SFERS Plan is also fully funded on a market value of assets basis. However, the "full funding" requirement does not apply to members who retired on or after November 6, 1996 and were hired before January 7, 2012. For all members hired before January 7, 2012, all Supplemental COLAs paid to them in retirement benefits will continue into the future even where an additional Supplemental COLA is not payable in any given year. For members hired on and after January 7, 2012, a Supplemental COLA will only be paid to retirees when the SFERS Plan is fully funded on a market value of asset basis and in addition for these members, Supplemental COLAs will not be permanent adjustments to retirement benefits. That is, in years when a Supplemental COLA is not paid, all previously paid Supplemental COLAs will expire.

Funding & Contribution Policy

SFERS Plans – Contributions are made by both the City and the participating employees. Employee contributions are mandatory as required by the Charter. Employee contribution rates varied from 7.5% to 13.0% as a percentage of gross covered salary in fiscal years 2022 and 2021. Most employee groups agreed through collective bargaining for employees to contribute the full amount of the employee contributions on a pretax basis. The Enterprise is required to contribute at an actuarially determined rate. Based on the July 1, 2020 actuarial report, the required employer contribution rate for fiscal year 2022 was 19.91% to 24.41%. Based on the July 1, 2019 actuarial report, the required employer contribution rate for fiscal year 2021 was 22.40% to 26.90%.

Employer contributions and employee contributions made by the employer to the SFERS Plan are recognized when due and the employer has made a formal commitment to provide the contributions. The City's proportionate share of employer contributions recognized by the Retirement System in fiscal years ended June 30, 2021 and 2020 (measurement periods) were $791,736 and $701,307, respectively. The Enterprise's allocation of employer contributions for fiscal year 2021 and 2020 were $16,083 and $14,352, respectively.

For the year ended June 30, 2022, the City's actuarial determined contribution was $729,578. Wastewater's share was $14,543 for fiscal year 2022 and will be recognized as a reduction of the net pension liability in the subsequent fiscal period.

Pension Liabilities/(Assets), Pension Expenses, Deferred Outflows, and Inflows of Resources Related to Pensions

Fiscal Year 2022

As of June 30, 2022, the City reported net pension assets (NPA) for its proportionate share of the net pension (asset) of the SFERS Plan of $2,446,564. The City's net pension asset for the SFERS Plan is measured as the proportionate share of the net pension asset. The net pension asset of the SFERS Plan is measured as of June 30, 2021 (measurement date), and the total pension (asset) for the SFERS Plan used to calculate the net pension (asset) was determined by an actuarial valuation as of June 30, 2020 rolled forward to June 30, 2021 using standard update procedures. The City's proportion of the net pension (asset) for the SFERS Plan was based on a projection of the City's long-term share of contributions to the pension plan relative to the projected contributions of all participating employers, actuarially determined. The Enterprise's allocation of the City's proportionate share of the net pension (asset) for the SFERS Plan as of June 30, 2022 was ($48,770).

For the year ended June 30, 2022, the City's recognized pension (benefit) was ($922,979), which includes Retirement Benefit Plan pension expense of $28,735. The Enterprise's allocation of pension (benefit) including amortization of deferred outflows/inflows related pension items was ($20,601).

The City's net pension liability for the SFERS Plan is measured as the proportionate share of the net pension liability. The net pension liability of the SFERS Plan is measured as of June 30, 2020 (measurement date), and the total pension liability for the SFERS Plan used to calculate the net pension liability was determined by an actuarial valuation as of June 30, 2019 rolled forward to June 30, 2020 using standard update procedures. The City's proportion of the net pension liability for the SFERS Plan was based on a projection of the City's long-term share of contributions to the pension plan relative to the projected contributions of all participating employers, actuarially determined. The Enterprise's allocation of the City's proportionate share of the net pension liability for the SFERS Plan as of June 30, 2021 was $103,746.

Discount Rate

SFERS Plan – The beginning and end of year measurements are based on different assumptions and contribution methods that may result in different discount rates. The discount rate was 7.40% as of the June 30, 2021 (measurement date) and June 30, 2020 (measurement date).

The discount rate used to measure the total pension liability as of June 30, 2021 was 7.40%. The projection of cash flows used to determine the discount rate assumed that SFERS plan member contributions will continue to be made at the rates specified in the Charter. Employer contributions were assumed to be made in accordance with the contribution policy in effect for July 1, 2020 actuarial valuation. That policy includes contributions equal to the employer portion of the Entry Age normal costs for members as of the valuation date, a payment for the expected administrative expenses, and an amortization payment on the unfunded actuarial liability.

The amortization payment is based on closed periods that vary in length depending on the source. Charter amendments prior to July 1, 2014 are amortized over 20 years. After July 1, 2014, any Charter changes to active member benefits are amortized over 15 years and changes to inactive member benefits, including Supplemental COLAs, are amortized over 5 years. The remaining unfunded actuarial liability not attributable to Charter amendments as of July 1, 2013 is amortized over a 19-year period commencing July 1, 2014. Experience gains and losses and assumption or method changes on or after July 1, 2014 are amortized over 20 years. The full amortization payment for the 2015 assumption changes is phased in over a period of 5 years. For the July 1, 2016 valuation, the increase in the unfunded actuarial liability attributable to the Supplemental COLAs granted on July 1, 2013 and July 1, 2014 are amortized over 17-years and 5-years, respectively. All amortization schedules are established as a level percentage of payroll so payments increase 3.25% each year. The unfunded actuarial liability is based on an actuarial value of assets that smooths investment gains and losses over five years and a measurement of the actuarial liability that excludes the value of any future Supplemental COLAs.

While the contributions and measure of actuarial liability in the funding valuation do not anticipate any future Supplemental COLAs, the projected contributions for the determination of the discount rate include the anticipated future amortization payments on future Supplemental COLAs for current members when they are expected to be granted. For members who worked after November 6, 1996 and before Proposition C passed (Post 97 Retirees), a Supplemental COLA is granted if the actual investment earnings during the year exceed the expected investment earnings on the actuarial value of assets. For members who did not work after November 6, 1996 and before Proposition C passed, the market value of assets must also exceed the actuarial liability at the beginning of the year for a Supplemental COLA to be granted. When a Supplemental COLA is granted, the amount depends on the amount of excess earnings and the basic COLA amount for each membership group. The large majority of members receive a 1.50% Supplemental COLA when granted.

Because the probability of a Supplemental COLA depends on the current funded level of the Retirement System for certain members, an assumption was developed as of June 30, 2021 for the probability and amount of Supplemental COLA for each future year. A full Supplemental COLA will be paid to all retired members, and their beneficiaries, who were retired effective July 1, 2021. The table below shows the net assumed Supplemental COLA for members with a 2.00% basic COLA for sample years.

Assumed Supplemental COLA for Members with a 2.00% Basic COLA

The projection of benefit payments to current members for determining the discount rate includes the payment of anticipated future Supplemental COLAs.

Based on these assumptions, the Retirement System's fiduciary net position was projected to be available to make projected future benefit payments for current members for all future years. Projected benefit payments are discounted at the long-term expected return on assets of 7.40% to the extent the fiduciary net position is available to make the payments and at the municipal bond rate of 2.16% to the extent they are not available. The single equivalent rate used to determine the total pension liability as of June 30, 2021 was 7.40%.

The long-term expected rate of return on pension plan investments was 7.40%. It was set by the Retirement Board after consideration of both expected future returns and historical returns experienced by the Retirement System. Expected future returns were determined by using a building-block method in which best-estimate ranges of expected future real rates of return were developed for each major asset class. These ranges were combined to produce the long-term expected rate of return by weighting the expected future real rates of return by the target asset allocation percentage and by adding expected inflation. Target allocation and best estimates of geometric long-term expected real rates of return (net of pension plan investment expense and inflation) for each major asset class are summarized in the following table.

Long-Term Expected Real Rates of Return

The full amortization payment for the 2015 assumption changes is phased in over a period of 5 years. While the contributions and measure of actuarial liability in the funding valuation do not anticipate any future Supplemental COLAs, the projected contributions for the determination of the discount rate include the anticipated future amortization payments on future Supplemental COLA's for current members when they are expected to be granted. For members who worked after November 6, 1996 and before Proposition C passed (Post 97 Retirees), a Supplemental COLA is granted if the actual investment earnings during the year exceed the expected investment earnings on the actuarial value of assets. Because the probability of a Supplemental COLA depends on the current funded level of the Retirement System for certain members, an assumption was developed as of June 30, 2020 for the probability and amount of Supplemental COLA for each future year. There were no excess earnings during the fiscal year ending June 30, 2020; consequently, no Supplemental COLA will be paid effective July 1, 2020. (b) Other Post-Employment Benefits

The Enterprise participates in the City's single employer defined benefit other postemployment benefits plan (the Plan). The Plan is maintained by the City and is administered through the City's Health Service System. The plan provides postemployment medical, dental and vision insurance benefits to eligible employees, retired employees, surviving spouses, and domestic partners. Health benefit provisions are established and may be amended through negotiations between the City and the respective bargaining units. The City does not issue a separate report on its other post-employment benefit plan.

GASB Statement No. 75 requires that reported results must pertain to liability and asset information within certain defined timeframes. For this report, the following timeframes are used.

The Enterprise's proportionate share percentage of the Plan was determined based on its percentage of citywide "pay-as-you-go" contributions for the year ended June 30, 2021. The Enterprise's net OPEB liability, deferred outflows/inflows of resources related to OPEB, amortization of deferred outflows/inflows and OPEB expense to each department is based on the Enterprise's allocated percentage. The Enterprise's proportionate share of the City's OPEB elements as of June 30, 2021 and 2020 measurement dates was 1.33%.

Additionally, under the City Charter, active officers and employees of the City who commenced employment on or after January 10, 2009, shall contribute to the Retiree Health Care Trust Fund (Trust Fund) a percentage of compensation not to exceed 2% of pre-tax compensation. The City shall contribute 1% of compensation for officers and employees who commenced employment on or after January 10, 2009 until the City's GASB Actuary has determined that the City's portion of the Trust Fund is fully funded. At that time, the City's 1% contribution shall cease, and officers and employees will each contribute 50% of the maximum 2% of pre-tax compensation.

Starting July 1, 2016, active officers and employees of the City who commenced employment on or before January 9, 2009, shall contribute 0.25% of pre-tax compensation into the Trust Fund. When the City's GASB Actuary has determined that the City's portion of the Trust Fund is fully funded, the City's 1% contribution shall cease, and officers and employees will each contribute 50% of the maximum 1% of pre-tax compensation.

Additional or existing contribution requirements may be established or modified by amendment to the City's Charter.

For the fiscal years ending June 30, 2022 and 2021, the City's funding was based on "pay-as-you-go" plus a contribution of $41,841 and $39,555 to the Retiree Healthcare Trust Fund, respectively. Discount Rate

Fiscal Year 2022

The discount rate used to measure the Total OPEB Liability as of June 30, 2021 was 7.0%. Based on the assumption that plan member contributions will continue to be made at the rates specified in the Charter, it was determined that the Plan's projected fiduciary net position will be greater than or equal to the benefit payments projected for each future period. As such, the long-term expected rate of return on plan investments was applied to all periods of projected benefit payments to determine the total OPEB liability.

The long-term expected rate of return on OPEB plan investments was 7.0% based on expected future returns and historical returns experienced by the Trust Fund. Expected future returns were determined based on 10-year and 20-year capital market assumptions for the Trust Fund's asset allocation. Target allocation for each major asset class and best estimates of geometric real rates of return are summarized in the following table:

SFPUC's 75-year lease agreement with the San Francisco Recreation and Parks Department, for the use of parking spaces for its fleet of vehicles at the Civic Center Garage, commenced on February 1, 2011. Total payment under this agreement is $6,274, which was fully made as of fiscal year 2015. The expenses and prepayments among the three SFPUC Enterprises are based on 525 Golden Gate occupancy. As of June 30, 2022, the Enterprise's allocable shares of expenses and prepayment were $22 and $1,145, respectively, and as of June 30, 2021 were $21 and $1,167, respectively.

(12) Risk Management

The Enterprise's Risk Management program includes both self-insured (i.e., self-retention) and insured exposures at risk. Risk assessments and purchasing of insurance coverage are collaboratively coordinated by SFPUC Risk Management and the City's Office of Risk Management. With certain exceptions, the City and the Enterprise's general approach is to first evaluate the exposure at risk for self-insurance. Based on this analysis, internal mitigation strategies and financing through a self-retention mechanism is generally more economical as the SFPUC in coordination with the City Attorney's Office, administers, adjusts, settles, defends, and pays claims from budgeted resources (i.e., pay-as-you-go fund). When economically more viable or when required by debt financing covenants, the Enterprise obtains commercial insurance. At least annually, the City actuarially determines general liability and workers' compensation risk exposures. The Enterprise does not maintain commercial earthquake coverage, with certain minor exceptions, such as a sub-limit for fire-sprinkler leakage due to earthquake under the SFPUC Property Insurance program. In the past three years, there was no settlements that exceeded insurance coverage.

	Risk Types	Coverage Approach
(a)	General Liability	Self-Insured
(b)	Workers' Compensation	Self-Insured Through City-wide Pool
(c)	Property	Purchased Insurance and Self-Insured
(d)	Public Officials Liability	Purchased Insurance
(e)	Employment Practices Liability	Purchased Insurance
(f)	Cyber Liability	Purchased Insurance
(g)	Crime	Purchased Insurance
(h)	Electronic Data Processing	Purchased Insurance and Self-Insured
(i)	Surety Bonds	Purchased and Contractual Risk Transfer
(j)	Errors and Omissions	Purchased and Contractual Risk Transfer
(k)	Builders' Risk	Contractual Risk Transfer

(a) General Liability

Through coordination with the Controller's Office and the City Attorney's Office, the general liability risk exposure is actuarially determined and is addressed through pay-as-you-go funding as part of the budgetary process. Associated costs and estimates are recorded as expenses as required under GAAP for financial statement purposes for both the Enterprise and the City and County of San Francisco's Annual Comprehensive Financial Report. The claim expense allocations are determined based on actuarially determined anticipated claim payments and the projected timing of disbursement.

The changes for the general liability (damage claims) for the years ended June 30, 2022 and 2021 were as follows:

Fiscal years	Beginning of year	Claims	Claims paid and changes in estimates	End of year
2022	$ 16,713	8,812	(13,480)	12,045

(b) Workers' Compensation

The City actuarially determines and allocates workers' compensation costs to the Enterprise according to a formula based on the following: (i) the dollar amount of claims; (ii) yearly projections of payments based on historical experience; and (iii) the size of the Enterprise's payroll. The administration of workers' compensation claims and payouts are handled by the Workers' Compensation Division of the City's Department of Human Resources. Statewide workers' compensation reforms have resulted in budgetary savings in recent years. The City continues to develop and implement improved programs, such as return-to-work programs, to lower or mitigate the growth of workers' compensation costs. Programs include accident prevention, investigation, and duty modification for injured employees with medical restrictions so return to work can occur as soon as possible.

The changes in the liabilities for workers' compensation for the years ended June 30, 2022 and 2021 were as follows:

Fiscal years	Beginning of year	Claims and changes in estimates	Claims paid	End of year
2022	$ 6,582	3,207	(2,243)	7,546

(c) Property

The Enterprise's property risk management approach varies depending on whether the facility is currently under construction, the property is part of revenue-generating operations, the property is of high value, or is mission-critical in nature. During the course of construction, the Enterprise requires each contractor to provide its own insurance, while ensuring the full scope of work be covered with satisfactory levels to limit the Enterprise's risk exposure. Once construction is complete, the Enterprise performs an assessment to determine whether liability/loss coverage will be obtained through the commercial property policy or self-insurance. The majority of property scheduled in the insurance program is for either: (1) revenue generating facilities, (2) debt-financed facilities, (3) mandated coverage to meet statutory requirements for bonding of various public officials, or (4) high-value, mission-critical property or equipment.

(d) Public Officials Liability

All Enterprise public officials with financial oversight responsibilities are provided coverage through a commercial Public Officials Liability Policy.

(e) Employment Practices Liability

A Policy is retained to protect against employment-related claims and liabilities.

(f) Cyber Liability

A Policy is retained to protect against cyber-related claims and liabilities.

(g) Crime

The Enterprise also retains a Commercial Crime Policy, in lieu of bonding its employees, to provide coverage against liabilities or losses due to third-party crime or employee fraud.

(h) Electronic Data Processing

The Electronic Data Processing policy protects selected high-value electronic property in case of damage or loss.

(i) Surety Bonds

Bonds are required in most phases of the public utilities construction contracting process for such phases as bid, performance, and payment or maintenance. Additionally, bonds may be required in other contracts where goods or services are provided to ensure compliance with applicable terms and conditions such as warranty.

(j) Errors and Omissions

Errors and omissions, also known as Professional Liability, are commonly transferred through contract to the contracted professional, or retained through self-insurance on a case-by-case basis depending on the size, complexity, or scope of construction or professional service contracts. Examples of such contracts are inclusive of services provided by engineers, architects, design professionals, and other licensed or certified professional service providers.

(k) Builders' Risk

Builders' risk policies of insurance are required to be provided by the contractor on all construction projects for the full value of construction.

(13) Commitments and Litigation

(a) Commitments

As of June 30, 2022 and 2021, the Enterprise has outstanding commitments with third parties of $1,037,607 and $633,255, respectively, for various capital projects and other purchase agreements for materials and services.

(b) Grants

Grants that the Enterprise received are subject to audit and final acceptance by the granting agency. Current and prior year costs of such grants are subject to adjustment upon audit.

(c) Litigation

The Enterprise is a defendant in various legal actions and claims that arise during the normal course of business. The final disposition of these legal actions and claims is not determinable. However, in the opinion of management, the outcome of any litigation of these matters will not have a material effect on the financial position or changes in net position of the Enterprise.

(d) Environmental Issue

As of June 30, 2022, and 2021, the Enterprise recorded $8,060 and $7,800 in pollution remediation liability, respectively. The increase of $260 in pollution remediation liability in fiscal year 2022 is due to violation penalties of $240 at the Southeast Plant for the discharge of secondary treated and disinfected wastewater and $20 at the Oceanside Plant for failure to meet the District permit condition-imposed standards relating to gas released into the atmosphere from digesters. As of June 30, 2022, the pollution remediation liability of $8,060 consisted of $7,800 for the Yosemite Creek toxic sediments and $260 aggregate violation fines at the Southeast Plant and Oceanside Plant. In fiscal year 2021, the pollution liability of $7,800 was based on cleanup cost estimates for the toxic sediments at Yosemite Creek.

(14) Subsequent Events

(a) Wastewater Revenue Bonds, Series 2022B Issuance

On July 6, 2022, the SFPUC issued its San Francisco Wastewater Revenue Bonds, 2022 Sub-Series B (Refunding) with an aggregate principal of $137,080 to refund a portion of the SFPUC's outstanding 2013 Series A and 2013 Series B Wastewater Revenue Bonds.

(b) Wastewater Interim Funding Program – Credit Providers

On July 7, 2022, the SFPUC entered into a $75 million Revolving Credit and Term Loan Agreement with TD Bank N.A. (TD Bank) (Series A-4) which expires July 6, 2027. The Series A-4 Revolving Credit and Term Loan Agreement replaced the $75 million Revolving Credit and Term Loan Agreement from the Toronto Dominion Bank which expired July 8, 2022.

(c) Fourth Extension of Shutoff, Liens, and Fines Moratorium for COVID-19 Relief

On September 13, 2022, the Commission approved to extend moratorium on shutoff of sewer service for residents in the City through June 30, 2023 and granted the General Manager discretion to restart severance and liens processes to multifamily residential accounts carrying balances greater than $25 which are 90 days or more past due.

The Honorable Mayor and Board of Supervisors

City and County of San Francisco: We have audited, in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, the financial statements of San Francisco Wastewater Enterprise (the Enterprise), as of and for the year ended June 30, 2022, and the related notes to the financial statements, which collectively comprise the Enterprise's basic financial statements, and have issued our report thereon dated January 27, 2023.

Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements, we considered the Enterprise's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Enterprise's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Enterprise's internal control.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the entity's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph of this section and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies. Given these limitations, during our audit we did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses. However, material weaknesses or significant deficiencies may exist that were not identified.

Report on Compliance and Other Matters

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the Enterprise's financial statements are free from material misstatement, we performed tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the financial statements. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no instances of noncompliance or other matters that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards.

Purpose of This Report

The purpose of this report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the Enterprise's internal control or on compliance. This report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the entity's internal control and compliance. Accordingly, this communication is not suitable for any other purpose.

Upon issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds, Jones Hall, A Professional Law Corporation, and Alexis S. M. Chiu, Esq., Co-Bond Counsel, propose to render their final approving opinions in substantially the following form:

[Dated Date]

Members of the Commission:

We have acted as co-bond counsel to the Public Utilities Commission of the City and County of San Francisco (the "Commission"), a commission duly constituted under the Charter (the "Charter") of the City and County of San Francisco (the "City"), in connection with the issuance by the Commission of the wastewater revenue bonds captioned above, dated April 19, 2023 (collectively, the "Bonds"). In such capacity, we have examined such law and such certified proceedings, certifications, opinions and other documents as we have deemed necessary to render this opinion.

The Bonds are issued pursuant to authority granted by the Charter of the City, and an Indenture, dated as of January 1, 2003, by and between the Commission and U.S. Bank Trust Company, National Association (as successor in interest to U.S. Bank, National Association), as trustee (the "Trustee"), as amended and supplemented (the "Original Indenture"), and as further supplemented by a Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture dated as of April 1, 2023 (the "Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture" and together with the Original Indenture, the "Indenture") by and between the Commission and the Trustee. The Bonds are also being issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 110-22 passed by the Board of Supervisors of the City on June 14, 2022, and approved by the Mayor of the City on June 24, 2022 (the "Ordinance") and Resolution No. 23-0063 of the Commission adopted on March 28, 2023 (the "Resolution"). Capitalized terms used but not defined herein have the definitions set forth in the Indenture.

Regarding questions of fact material to our opinion, we have relied on representations of the Commission contained in the Indenture, and on certified proceedings and other certifications of public officials furnished to us, without undertaking to verify the same by independent investigation. Regarding certain questions of law material to our opinion, we have assumed the correctness of certain legal conclusions contained in the written opinions of the general counsel to the Commission, without undertaking to verify the same by independent investigation.

Based upon the foregoing, we are of the opinion, under existing law, as follows:

1. The Fifteenth Supplemental Indenture has been duly authorized, executed and delivered by the Commission, and the Indenture constitutes the valid and binding obligation of the Commission enforceable upon the Commission.

2. The Indenture creates a valid lien on the Net Revenues of the Enterprise to secure the payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds, as and to the extent set forth in the Indenture and subject to the provisions of the Indenture permitting the application thereof for the purposes and on the terms and conditions set forth therein.

3. The Bonds have been duly authorized and issued by the Commission and constitute the valid and binding limited obligations of the Commission.

4. The Bonds are limited obligations of the Commission and are payable exclusively from and are secured by a pledge of the Net Revenues of the Enterprise. The general fund of the City is not liable and the credit or taxing power of the City is not pledged for the payment of the Bonds or the interest thereon. The Bonds are not secured by a legal or equitable pledge of, or charge, lien or encumbrance upon, any of the property of the City or of the Commission or any of their income or receipts, except the Net Revenues.

5. The interest on the Bonds is excluded from gross income for federal income tax purposes and is not an item of tax preference for purposes of the federal individual alternative minimum tax. It should be noted however that interest on the Bonds may be subject to the corporate alternative minimum tax. The opinions set forth in the preceding sentences are subject to the condition that the Commission comply with all requirements of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, that must be satisfied subsequent to the issuance of the Bonds in order that the interest thereon be, and continue to be, excludable from gross income for federal income tax purposes. The Commission has made certain representations and covenants in order to comply with each such requirement. Inaccuracy of those representations, or failure to comply with certain of those covenants, may cause the inclusion of such interest in gross income for federal income tax purposes, which may be retroactive to the date of issuance of the Bonds.

6. The interest on the Bonds is exempt from personal income taxation imposed by the State of California.

We express no opinion regarding any other tax consequences arising with respect to the ownership, sale or disposition of, or the amount, accrual or receipt of interest on, the Bonds.

The rights of the owners of the Bonds, and the enforceability of the Bonds and the Indenture, are limited by bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, moratorium and other similar laws affecting creditors' rights generally, by limitations on legal remedies imposed on actions against public entities, by laws relating to conflicts of interest, and by equitable principles, whether considered at law or in equity.

This opinion is given as of the date hereof, and we assume no obligation to revise or supplement this opinion to reflect any facts or circumstances that may hereafter come to our attention, or any changes in law that may hereafter occur. Moreover, our opinions are not a guarantee of a particular result, and are not binding on the Internal Revenue Service or any court; rather, our opinions represent our legal judgment based upon our review of existing law that we deem relevant to such opinions, and any assumptions expressed herein, and in reliance upon the representations, certifications and covenants referenced above. Our engagement with respect to this matter has terminated as of the date hereof.

Respectfully submitted,

If the Dissemination Agent is not the SFPUC, the SFPUC shall provide the Annual Report to the Dissemination Agent not later than 15 days prior to said date. However, if the audited financial statements of the SFPUC are not available by the date required above for the filing of the Annual Report, the SFPUC shall submit unaudited financial statements and submit the audited financial statements as soon as they are available. SECTION 7. Dissemination Agent. The SFPUC may, from time to time, appoint or engage a Dissemination Agent to assist it in carrying out its obligations under this Disclosure Certificate, and may discharge any such Dissemination Agent, with or without appointing a successor Dissemination Agent. The Dissemination Agent shall have only such duties as are specifically set forth in this Disclosure Certificate.

SECTION 8. Amendment; Waiver. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Disclosure Certificate, the SFPUC may amend or waive this Disclosure Certificate or any provision of this Disclosure Certificate, provided that the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) If the amendment or waiver relates to the provisions of Sections 3(a), 4 or 5(a), it may only be made in connection with a change in circumstances that arises from a change in legal requirements, change in law, or change in the identity, nature or status of an obligated person with respect to the 2023ABC Bonds or the type of business conducted;

(b) The undertaking, as amended or taking into account such waiver, would, in the opinion of the City Attorney of the City and County of San Francisco or nationally recognized bond counsel, have complied with the requirements of the Rule at the time of the original issuance of the 2023ABC Bonds, after taking into account any amendments or interpretations of the Rule, as well as any change in circumstances; and

(c) The amendment or waiver either (i) is approved by the owners of a majority in aggregate principal amount of the 2023ABC Bonds or (ii) does not, in the opinion of the City Attorney or nationally recognized bond counsel, materially impair the interests of the Holders.

In the event of any amendment or waiver of a provision of this Disclosure Certificate, the SFPUC shall describe such amendment in the next Annual Report, and shall include, as applicable, a narrative explanation of the reason for the amendment or waiver and its impact on the type (or in the case of a change of accounting principles, on the presentation) of financial information or operating data being presented by the SFPUC. Nothing in this Disclosure Certificate shall be deemed to prevent the SFPUC from disseminating any other information, using the means of dissemination set forth in this Disclosure Certificate or any other means of communication, or including any other information in any Annual Report or notice of occurrence of a Listed Event, in addition to that which is required by this Disclosure Certificate. If the SFPUC chooses to include any information in any Annual Report or notice of occurrence of a Listed Event in addition to that which is specifically required by this Disclosure Certificate, the SFPUC shall have no obligation under this Disclosure Certificate to update such information or include it in any future Annual Report or notice of occurrence of a Listed Event.

Failure by the SFPUC to comply with any provision of this Disclosure Certificate shall not be deemed an Event of Default under the Indenture and the sole remedy under this Disclosure Certificate in the event of any failure of the SFPUC to comply with this Disclosure Certificate shall be an action to compel performance.

SECTION 11. Beneficiaries. This Disclosure Certificate shall inure solely to the benefit of the SFPUC, the Dissemination Agent, the Participating Underwriters and Holders and Beneficial Owners from time to time of the 2023ABC Bonds, and shall create no rights in any other person or entity.

APPENDIX E

SECURITIES DEPOSITORY AND THE BOOK-ENTRY SYSTEM

The information in this Appendix E has been obtained from DTC for use in securities offering documents, and the SFPUC takes no responsibility for the accuracy or completeness thereof. The SFPUC cannot and does not give any assurances that DTC, DTC Participants or Indirect Participants will distribute to the beneficial owners either (a) payments of interest, principal or premium, if any, with respect to the 2023ABC Bonds or (b) certificates representing ownership interest in or other confirmation of ownership interest in the 2023ABC Bonds, or that they will so do on a timely basis or that DTC, DTC Participants or DTC Indirect Participants will act in the manner described in this Official Statement. The current "Rules" applicable to DTC are on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission and the current "Procedures" of DTC to be followed in dealing with DTC Participants are on file with DTC.

As used in this Appendix E, "Securities" means the 2023ABC Bonds, "Issuer" means the SFPUC, and "Agent" means the Trustee.

1. The Depository Trust Company ("DTC"), New York, NY, will act as securities depository for the securities (the "Securities"). The Securities will be issued as fully-registered securities registered in the name of Cede & Co. (DTC's partnership nominee) or such other name as may be requested by an authorized representative of DTC. One fully-registered Security certificate will be issued for each issue of the Securities, each in the aggregate principal amount of such issue, and will be deposited with DTC. If, however, the aggregate principal amount of any issue exceeds $500 million, one certificate will be issued with respect to each $500 million of principal amount, and an additional certificate will be issued with respect to any remaining principal amount of such issue.

2. DTC, the world's largest securities depository, is a limited-purpose trust company organized under the New York Banking Law, a "banking organization" within the meaning of the New York Banking Law, a member of the Federal Reserve System, a "clearing corporation" within the meaning of the New York Uniform Commercial Code, and a "clearing agency" registered pursuant to the provisions of Section 17A of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. DTC holds and provides asset servicing for over 3.5 million issues of U.S. and non-U.S. equity issues, corporate and municipal debt issues, and money market instruments (from over 100 countries) that DTC's participants ("Direct Participants") deposit with DTC. DTC also facilitates the post-trade settlement among Direct Participants of sales and other securities transactions in deposited securities, through electronic computerized book-entry transfers and pledges between Direct Participants' accounts. This eliminates the need for physical movement of securities certificates. Direct Participants include both U.S. and non-U.S. securities brokers and dealers, banks, trust companies, clearing corporations, and certain other organizations. DTC is a wholly-owned subsidiary of The Depository Trust & Clearing Corporation ("DTCC"). DTCC is the holding company for DTC, National Securities Clearing Corporation and Fixed Income Clearing Corporation, all of which are registered clearing agencies. DTCC is owned by the users of its regulated subsidiaries. Access to the DTC system is also available to others such as both U.S. and non-U.S. securities brokers and dealers, banks, trust companies, and clearing corporations that clear through or maintain a custodial relationship with a Direct Participant, either directly or indirectly ("Indirect Participants"). DTC has a Standard & Poor's rating of AA+. The DTC Rules applicable to its Participants are on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission. More information about DTC can be found at www.dtcc.com. The information contained on this Internet site is not incorporated herein by reference.

3. Purchases of Securities under the DTC system must be made by or through Direct Participants, which will receive a credit for the Securities on DTC's records. The ownership interest of each actual purchaser of each Security ("Beneficial Owner") is in turn to be recorded on the Direct and Indirect Participants' records. Beneficial Owners will not receive written confirmation from DTC of their purchase. Beneficial Owners are, however, expected to receive written confirmations providing details of the transaction, as well as periodic statements of their holdings, from the Direct or Indirect Participant through which the Beneficial Owner entered into the transaction. Transfers of ownership interests in the Securities are to be accomplished by entries made on the books of Direct and Indirect Participants acting on behalf of Beneficial Owners. Beneficial Owners will not receive certificates representing their ownership interests in Securities, except in the event that use of the book-entry system for the Securities is discontinued.

4. To facilitate subsequent transfers, all Securities deposited by Direct Participants with DTC are registered in the name of DTC's partnership nominee, Cede & Co., or such other name as may be requested by an authorized representative of DTC. The deposit of Securities with DTC and their registration in the name of Cede & Co. or such other DTC nominee do not effect any change in beneficial ownership. DTC has no knowledge of the actual Beneficial Owners of the Securities; DTC's records reflect only the identity of the Direct Participants to whose accounts such Securities are credited, which may or may not be the Beneficial Owners. The Direct and Indirect Participants will remain responsible for keeping account of their holdings on behalf of their customers.

5. Conveyance of notices and other communications by DTC to Direct Participants, by Direct Participants to Indirect Participants, and by Direct Participants and Indirect Participants to Beneficial Owners will be governed by arrangements among them, subject to any statutory or regulatory requirements as may be in effect from time to time. Beneficial Owners of Securities may wish to take certain steps to augment the transmission to them of notices of significant events with respect to the Securities, such as redemptions, tenders, defaults, and proposed amendments to the Security documents. For example, Beneficial Owners of Securities may wish to ascertain that the nominee holding the Securities for their benefit has agreed to obtain and transmit notices to Beneficial Owners. In the alternative, Beneficial Owners may wish to provide their names and addresses to the registrar and request that copies of notices be provided directly to them.

6. Redemption notices shall be sent to DTC. If less than all of the Securities within an issue are being redeemed, DTC's practice is to determine by lot the amount of the interest of each Direct Participant in such issue to be redeemed.

7. Neither DTC nor Cede & Co. (nor any other DTC nominee) will consent or vote with respect to Securities unless authorized by a Direct Participant in accordance with DTC's MMI Procedures. Under its usual procedures, DTC mails an Omnibus Proxy to Issuer as soon as possible after the record date. The Omnibus Proxy assigns Cede & Co.'s consenting or voting rights to those Direct Participants to whose accounts Securities are credited on the record date (identified in a listing attached to the Omnibus Proxy).

8. Redemption proceeds, distributions, and dividend payments on the Securities will be made to Cede & Co., or such other nominee as may be requested by an authorized representative of DTC. DTC's practice is to credit Direct Participants' accounts upon DTC's receipt of funds and corresponding detail information from Issuer or Agent, on payable date in accordance with their respective holdings shown on DTC's records. Payments by Participants to Beneficial Owners will be governed by standing instructions and customary practices, as is the case with securities held for the accounts of customers in bearer form or registered in "street name," and will be the responsibility of such Participant and not of DTC, Agent, or Issuer, subject to any statutory or regulatory requirements as may be in effect from time to time. Payment of redemption proceeds, distributions, and dividend payments to Cede & Co. (or such other nominee as may be requested by an authorized representative of DTC) is the responsibility of Issuer or Agent, disbursement of such payments to Direct Participants will be the responsibility of DTC, and disbursement of such payments to the Beneficial Owners will be the responsibility of Direct and Indirect Participants.

9. DTC may discontinue providing its services as depository with respect to the Securities at any time by giving reasonable notice to Issuer or Agent. Under such circumstances, in the event that a successor depository is not obtained, Security certificates are required to be printed and delivered.

10. Issuer may decide to discontinue use of the system of book-entry-only transfers through DTC (or a successor securities depository). In that event, Security certificates will be printed and delivered to DTC.

The information in this section concerning DTC and DTC's book-entry system has been obtained from sources that SFPUC believes to be reliable, but the SFPUC takes no responsibility for the accuracy thereof.

Subject: Film SF Annual Report FY 21-22

Dearest colleagues,

Film SF | San Francisco Film Commission is excited to present its Annual Report for FY 21/22. Our report showcases the significant economic impact that productions have on our city's economy. The economic benefits extend far beyond the industry itself, boosting tourism and strengthening San Francisco's reputation as a global cultural hub.

Overall, 343 productions shot here estimated spending more than $24 million dollars in San Francisco and providing thousands of jobs to our local crew and actors. We welcomed numerous shows from Apple's Surface to Starz's Blindspotting Season 2, created Bay Area natives Rafael Casal and Daveed Diggs. Food Network's Chef Dynasty: House of Fang, featuring San Francisco's beloved chefs Kathy and Peter Fang, leveraged our Scene in San Francisco Rebate Program.

I hope you are proud of our work in San Francisco as we are. Thank you for your ongoing support of the film and media industry in our cinematic city.

40 LOOKING AHEAD

INTRODUCTION FROM THE MAYOR

San Francisco is undeniably a cinematic city. We have won the hearts of dreamers since the first moving images of our city were captured over a century ago. We are also a resilient city. While we are emerging from a turbulent few years, we know the vital role arts plays in bringing us together. 2021-2022 was quite a year for film production in San Francisco, including when our beloved Castro Theatre hosted the world premiere of The Matrix Resurrections, shining a spotlight on our incredible city.

While thousands of theaters are on the road to recovery, the streaming content companies (many of which started right here in the Bay Area) have become massive production engines, providing millions of hours of stories for viewers across the world. The San Francisco Bay Area benefited tremendously from this resurgence, including the AppleTV series Surface, Showtime's limited-series Super Pumped: The Battle for Uber, Starz's Blindspotting Season 2, Boots Riley upcoming Amazon series I'm A Virgo, Food Network's new series Chef Dynasty: House of Fang featuring SF's own Kathy Fang and Peter Fang, and independent films Fairyland, Fremont, and Earth Mama, all premiered at Sundance.

Our ability to do so was a direct result of the incomparable work of the Film SF team, led by our newly sworn-in Executive Director Manijeh Fata. With more than 20 years of experience and a deep understanding of what film means to San Francisco, Manijeh has shepherded numerous film and TV productions such as The Last Black Man in San Francisco, The Matrix Resurrections, Venom, Hulu's Chance, and Netflix's The OA, and many others. All of which involved significant coordination and built relationships with studios, neighborhoods and merchant groups, city departments and local filmmakers.

There is still a challenge ahead of us, however, and I am looking to Manijeh, the film office, the SF Film Commission, and all members of the industry to continue to elevate San Francisco's prominence on the world stage.

San Francisco is well on its way to economic recovery. Films and TV shows are the best tools we have to market and advertise San Francisco to the world. The economic activity that takes place during a production is one thing – the local film industry employs thousands of workers in good-paying jobs, and also supports numerous diverse businesses from restaurants and dry cleaners to lumber yards and clothing stores.

But when our City takes over the screen, it reaches another level. Those images drive vital tourism activity as people travel from all around the world to see not only the iconic places like the Golden Gate Bridge, but also to visit Mrs. Doubtfire's house, or drive the same streets Bullitt did, or ride the same Muni bus in which Shang-Chi unleashed his otherworldly fighting skills. All that tourism activity brings dollars into San Francisco and our local businesses, and helps drive our economy.

Film SF and the Film Commission have my full support, and I look forward to working with Manijeh and the Office of Economic & Workforce Development to revitalize our city and showcase our remarkable beauty, talent, and crew to the world.

Mayor Breed at world premiere of
The Matrix Resurrections, Castro Theatre

London Breed

WHY FILM IN SAN FRANCISCO?

The responses we receive from filmmakers to that question are as diverse and varied as the city itself. And while the decision to film here completely depends on the needs of each production, ultimately it all starts with the story.

More often than not, San Francisco is selected because the story requires a setting that can evoke the City's unique perspective and place in the world, where our history and culture play an important role, and where our diverse landscape and world-recognized icons frame the location in the viewers' minds. San Francisco has never been camera shy.

The San Francisco Travel manifesto states that "no other city is as adept at combining disparate elements to create something new; taking the familiar and marrying it to the unknown; merging people's expectations to moments of unpredictability; uniting long-held notions with startling innovations."

It's easy to see, therefore, why so many directors view the City by the Bay as a separate and distinct character in their films, far more interesting and complex than many other destinations. San Francisco is never simply a backdrop. Its selection is purposeful, intentional.

And while more often than not a director is seeking the globally-recognized icons as a way to ground their film in this aspirational city, San Francisco can also stand in for cities around the world, as in the case of 2012's Hemingway & Gelhorn. The film was set in nine different countries, and every one was captured within 25 miles of the City.

"I knew I wanted to make this film in San Francisco because of all the cities in the world, San Francisco had the most variable kinds of locations that could be molded and transformed into what I was looking for. I know this city. And there's so much talent here, so many wonderful locations; the crews, the extras, the atmosphere, the food and the city's co-operation all make it a great place to film."

Philip Kaufman Director

WHY FILM IN SAN FRANCISCO?

While the story is paramount, and the location is essential to help tell the story, as Kaufman suggests there are many other criteria filmmakers use to make their decision to film here.

Examples include our status as the technology and innovation capital, our diverse Bay Area crew and strong talent base. We are a City that provides a strong film incentive within a state that has a robust film tax credit. And our city agencies that support productions to the key stakeholders, film organizations and media companies all are instrumental to our thriving film ecosystem in San Francisco, and all contribute to make this a dynamic and compelling destination for filming.

OUR WORK

Film SF and San Francisco Film Commission champion filming in San Francisco to support a diversity of storytellers and our thriving production community. Film SF, a division of the Office of Economic Workforce Development, strives to:

- Attract filmmakers to the cinematic city of San Francisco and support our local storytellers to foster filming in order to stimulate economic development
- Create jobs and local spending
- Share the beauty of the City with the rest of the world, which attracts tourism and strengthens our economy

Film and media productions are economic engines which drive job creation, economic stability and sustainability of the City and its residents.

"Despite the challenges of the last few years, San Francisco remains an incredibly aspirational destination to people across the country and around the world. And one of the primary ways people learn about - and fall in love with - this city is via the incredible range and diversity of movies and television shows that are filmed here. From the historical, such as Bullitt and Dirty Harry to the more current, such as Marvel Studios' Shang-Chi and The Legend of the Ten Rings, and The Last Black Man in San Francisco, the City by the Bay and all of its famous icons show up beautifully, dramatically, and perfectly on film. Global destinations such as New Zealand have done expensive ROI studies to determine the value of production as an economic driver, but I know intuitively it's one of the best marketing vehicles we have in our toolbox, and no matter where I go in the world, it's one of the first things people say to me about their desire to visit here."

Film Commission

The Film Commission is made up of 11 Commissioners who are appointed and serve at the will of the Mayor. Commissioners help to guide the vision and direction of Film SF, providing support and utilizing their individual skills, experiences and networks to advance the work of the department – and the City as a production destination.

Commissioners contribute in a wide variety of ways – participating in marketing research to gain an understanding of ways other film offices are attracting productions; attending screenings and film festivals to strengthen relationships with local industry members; and meeting with other local organizations (such as SF Travel, merchant/neighborhood groups, etc.) to build citywide partnerships with key stakeholders.

ECONOMIC IMAPACT

Every dollar invested in bringing productions to San Francisco - whether for films, TV shows, commercials, or digital content - returns significant dollars to the City. When productions film here, the majority of people employed are local residents - cast and crew, electricians, carpenters, people both behind the camera and in front of it. The film industry here supports thousands of good-paying jobs.

Every year, productions spend millions of dollars locally on hotel nights, car rentals, catering, hardware, lumber, office supplies, wardrobe, props and equipment rentals.

Any crew that travels to San Francisco for the production spends the same way tourists do - on hotels, restaurants, transportation, and so much more. They spend days and sometimes weeks in the City, and help support all of the businesses they visit.

In addition, when this photogenic City is seen on screen around the world, it compels people to visit here, and the economic impact from the number of tourists who've come to San Francisco as a result of seeing it on screen is impossible to measure specifically but anecdotally gigantic.

> "Over the past century through the present day, San Francisco has been the backdrop for both cinema and television. Teamster members and other skilled crafts that make up film and TV production are proud to be a part of the global entertainment industry. These jobs provide wages and conditions that ensure working women and men continue to have financial stability and security."

“Film production in San Francisco helps us share our culture and our city with the rest of the world. It also creates opportunities for economic growth. The Hotel Council of San Francisco is ready to work cooperatively with our partners to help enhance film production in our city, thereby helping our tourism industry to thrive.”

Alex Bastian
President & CEO,
San Francisco Hotel Council

According to the Motion Picture Association of America, “When a movie or television show shoots on location, it brings jobs, revenue, and related infrastructure development, providing an immediate boost to the local economy. Our industry pays out $27 billion per year to more than 359,000 businesses in cities and small towns across the country—and the industry itself is comprised of more than 110,000 businesses, 89 percent of which employ fewer than 10 people. As much as $250,000 can be injected into local economies per day when a film shoots on location. In some cases, popular films and television shows can also boost tourism.”

“The motion picture industry is an integral part of the city. Film and TV production here provides good-paying middle-class jobs for hundreds of IATSE Local 16 technicians and related crafts. The industry contributes to the vitality of the city, provides substantial growth to local businesses and employment, and helps ensure families can continue to afford living in the beautiful Bay Area.”

ECONOMIC IMPACT

Businesses, neighborhood groups, local non-profits and filmmakers, crew, and talent all benefit from film and media production in our City.

San Francisco is home to numerous advertising and creative production companies with talent developing content for local, national and international clients. San Francisco organizations are training a new workforce and developing pathways for young adults to gain access in the local film and media industry. When San Francisco filmmakers get their stories told and their vision realized (often by Film SF's attractive rebate), their films are supported by local film festivals and theaters which attract audience members from all over to our City. Businesses are featured in many films, commercials and television shows, and hotels not only house talent and crew from out of town, but also can also serve as filming locations.

Overall, San Francisco has a thriving production community and millions of dollars are spent locally each year due to the activity of productions.

“I've always loved filming in San Francisco because it looks like no other city on film. The unique topography of the city gives filmmakers a ton of diverse visual options that give San Francisco films a distinct vibe. For Bitter Melon, I was worried about shooting a film in my hometown, on my stomping grounds, because of the potential expense but we managed to do a whole airport shoot as well as capture The Excelsior District and The Mission because of the massive rebates we got from Film SF.”

Our group has been preserving and beautifying Telegraph Hill for over 65 years, which is why it’s an incredibly sought-after location for filmmakers. We’ve worked closely with Film SF and Location Managers on countless projects ensuring a smooth experience for residents and productions visiting our distinct neighborhood. Film SF goes out of their way to collaborate with us to make sure productions are respectful guests in our neighborhood.”

Al Fontes
President,
Telegraph Hill Dwellers

San Francisco is one of the most beautiful and iconic US cities, allowing for the most incredible backdrops and locations. More so, it is home to some of the most incredibly talented crew in all fields of production who are extremely passionate about the work they do. The SF Film Commission’s role in ensuring that productions can film here is imperative as it is what supports this large and talented community of people and brings revenue to the city. I would love to see the industry here grow and continue to show the world what this city has to offer, not only in locations but also in the talent that exists here. I am proud to have Avocados and Coconuts headquartered in SF.”

Film production opportunities are extremely valuable to our hotel and destination. They provide an additional source of revenue and increase awareness for the Palace and the city of San Francisco. We worked closely with Surface to arrange filming at times that did not disrupt business. This collaboration allowed for seamless production and a continued flow of staffing – which is very important for our associates. The entire team was proud to see the Palace featured in Apple TV’s Surface.”

"I'm extremely appreciative of the local film industry's interest and support of the Potrero Hill Community. As an individual that has lived and worked in the community over the past 50 years, I am proud of the fame and recognition bestowed upon us through the many movies, television series, and commercials filmed here on the hill. I have fond memories of playing "name that place" while watching the popular TV series Streets of San Francisco with my brothers as a child.

I am thankful for the many opportunities to partner with the vast variety of film crews and cast, serving as the canteen, base location, and even part of the scenery. These partnerships have infused the needed resources to relieve the constant budget shortfalls that continue to plague our youth programs, as well as inspire our youth on the many career opportunities available to them."

San Francisco has so much to offer for any type of film and television production…incredibly talented crews, diverse and amazing on-camera talent, brilliant media trainers, and gorgeous locations."

"My most recent experiences as the San Francisco Unit Production Manager on This Is Us and the Surface reminded me of why I moved here from Los Angeles 10 years ago. It's all about the hundreds of local talent and crew who work every day to ensure that all visiting productions are able to realize their vision. The crew know how to shop local equipment and supplies, navigate the physical challenges of San Francisco's hills and work tirelessly to leave a neighborhood feeling proud of its prominence. I'll never leave!"

Filming in San Francisco gave us a real opportunity to capture some gorgeous key landmarks - The Golden Gate Bridge, the Palace of Fine Arts - as well as the texture and grit of the city itself - all of which added so much scope to our series!”

“There aren't a lot of words that can describe the feeling when helping set up locations to capture the beauty of the City. There are a lot of words to describe what it takes to accomplish the work we do. Film SF has done an amazing job streamlining processes in the City, helping productions navigate complicated requests and are great liaisons between communities and productions. We love the exposure films bring to the city and as the exposure grows, it allows Bay Area crew an opportunity to make a living utilizing special skills the industry requires.”

“We recently wrapped up a 5 year film production called “Postcard from San Francisco” that featured Scottish action sports and Red Bull athlete Danny MacAskill. The film featured Danny trials riding his bike at 24 locations within the City of San Francisco. During this time we worked extensively with Film SF. Not only did they issue permits for the locations that were under their jurisdiction, they also helped connect the dots with other city agencies, including Recreation and Parks Department, Port, SFMTA, Pier 39 and the National Parks Service. We could not have done this project without their support and hard work.”

“As a San Francisco based producer, I was determined to shoot Fairyland locally. Capturing an authentic and magical San Francisco of the 70’s and 80’s on a tight budget and schedule seemed daunting, if not impossible. But working with an amazingly knowledgeable local crew and utilizing SF resources, we pulled off the impossible. Through diligent scouting and guidance from the Film SF team we shot in locations throughout the city: Golden Gate Park, The Mission, The Haight, The Castro and North Beach that are quintessentially San Francisco, but viewed through a fresh eye. We moved throughout the city safely and efficiently and local residents and business owners could not have been more supportive. We had an amazing experience throughout production. Given the opportunity, I’d shoot all my films in San Francisco.”

One of my favorite things about finding locations in SF is getting to have amazing scout lunches. It's such a great way to get producers and directors immediately excited about San Francisco and ultimately about the locations they choose. Recently for Blindspotting and I'm A Virgo we were at the Embarcadero waterfront and the North Beach/Chinatown border. You can't ask for better places to get the flavor of SF!"

Our Bay Area unit for Blindspotting Season 2 was a huge success. We filmed in Oakland, San Francisco, and the surrounding area in April of 2022. The Bay, with its history, style, and cultural charm are quite literally a character in our show, and there is no substitute for capturing this experience on location. We relied heavily on the talented local crew, local businesses, Oakland Film Office and Film SF to help achieve our vision, and they always came through."

Like all San Franciscans I know the City to be a beautiful place. At night that beauty is enhanced with drama that one finds with dark skies and bright lights of a vibrant urban icon. That drama was used to good effect in the Showtime series Super Pumped: The Battle for Uber, which followed the complicated and controversial journey of Travis Kalanick, the CEO who turned Uber into the large company it is today. Just as San Francisco is playing a part in the changing of our society, images of San Francisco belong in the telling of those stories.

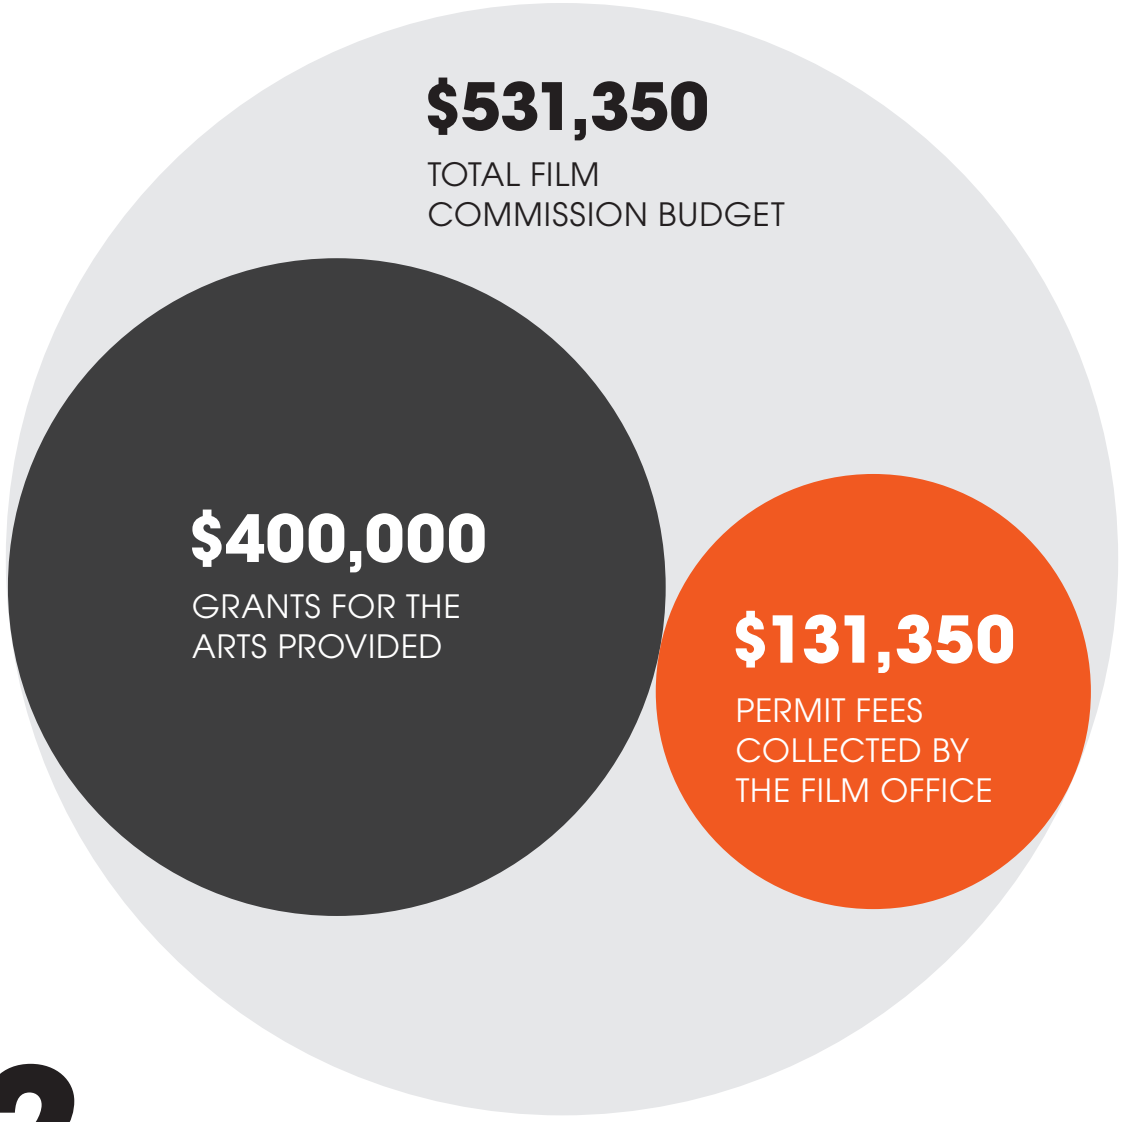
SAN FRANCISCO FILM COMMISSION

Funding for the San Francisco Film Commission comes from the collection of permit fees and funding from Grants for the Arts. For FY21/22 Grants for the Arts provided $400,000. Permit fees collected by Film SF in FY 21/22 totaled $131,350.



The Scene in San Francisco Rebate Program was created in 2006 to:

- Increase the number of Film & TV productions based in San Francisco
- Increase the number of City residents employed in the filmmaking industry
- Encourage the resulting economic benefits of increased local hires, local spend and tourism

In October 2018, the Board of Supervisors unanimously supported extending the highly successful Scene in San Francisco Rebate Program to June 30, 2028, allotting up to $1 million per year for nine years.

Since its creation in 2006, 35 productions have used the program, including La Mission, Milk, Trauma, Hemingway & Gelhorn, Blue Jasmine, HBO's Looking, The Diary of a Teenage Girl, Netflix's Sense8, Steve Jobs, The Last Black Man in San Francisco, Jexi, Nash Bridges and a number of small, independent films.

Since 2006, the City has rebated $6,592,159 to productions. These productions have:

- Hired more than 15,640 local crew and actors who are members of IATSE Local 16, Teamsters 2785 and SAG/AFTRA
- Employed 204 First Source Hires (First Source Hires on productions often work as production assistants on set or in the office, getting invaluable experience to help them move on to other film production jobs. These positions provide access, education and employment for economically disadvantaged individuals.)
- Paid $24,816,471 in wages to local SF crew and background actors
- Spent $66,125,772 on goods & services on items such as gas, hotels, car rentals, location fees, office supplies, lumber, security, equipment rentals, catering, etc.

For every dollar rebated since 2006, productions have spent $13.75 locally.

In Fiscal Year 21/22, The Scene in San Francisco Rebate Program was used by two productions: Goodbye, Mr. Chips and Food Network's Chef Dynasty: House of Fang. These two productions shot a total of 52 days, hiring 62 local San Franciscan crew and talent, paid $581,026 in local wages, and hired 2 First Source hires with wages of $10,131.21. The total rebated to the two productions in FY 21/22 was $202,658.53. The productions spent $407,240 locally, not including wages. For every dollar rebated in FY 21/22, $4.88 was spent locally in San Francisco.

"It was truly a joy to be given the opportunity to tell the story of people who are such an integral part of this great community, and to be able to shine a light on some of the vibrant culture that is woven into the fabric of San Francisco. Film SF was with us every step of the way, helping us achieve our goals, and produce a world-class show fitting of a world-class City!"

"The San Francisco Film Commission was instrumental in allowing Goodbye, Mr. Chips to be made in San Francisco. The rebate was vital to the viability of the budget and the funds saved allowed us to make the best film possible. We were also pleased to employ a number of San Francisco residents, including the director, costume designer, hair and makeup designer and set designer among many others, and to patronize local businesses for catering, dry-cleaning and expendables."

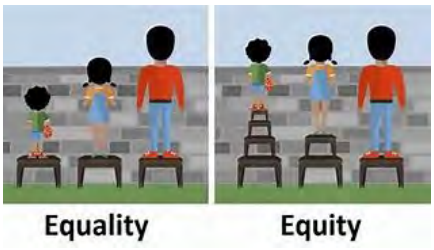
FILM OFFICE PROGRAMS

FILM SF SAVINGS PROGRAM

Film SF established a Vendor Discount Program in 2010 in order to offer additional financial incentives to productions when shooting in San Francisco. The program provides an opportunity for production companies and their crew members to receive discounts while encouraging local spending at participating businesses and local merchants.

After meeting with the San Francisco Council of District Merchants Association in 2019 and hearing about their desire to get more productions to shop in the neighborhoods they were filming in. Film SF rebranded the Vendor Discount Program, renaming it the Film SF Savings Program. Film SF worked with SF-based design/creative agency Teak to create a new logo which productions will be able to easily download and show to merchants in order to qualify for the discounts they offer. More than 120 local businesses participate in the current program, including 34 hotels, 16 restaurants, 2 major airlines, as well as car rental agencies, entertainment venues and gift shops. Film SF plans to onboard many more merchants in the coming year and focus on the Downtown economic core and neighborhoods that may not be currently participating,

RACIAL EQUITY



In 2019, the City and County of San Francisco enacted legislation creating the Office of Racial Equity ("ORE") under the Human Rights Commission. This trailblazing legislation required each City agency within the City and County of San Francisco to develop a Racial Equity (RE) Action Plan by December 31, 2020. ORE provided all departments with a template so that all departments would align mission, vision, goals, actions, indicators, and outcomes towards ORE's policy objectives. Phase I of the plan focuses on internal human resources practices, organizational culture, and policy bodies and commissions. In 2020, OEWD began building staff and leadership infrastructure to uncover and address inequities within OEWD and to help guide development of the RE Action Plan. The OEWD Racial Equity Action Working Group was formed with staff across all divisions. The Working Group created seven sub-committees on special topics based on the RE Action Plan.

Throughout FY 21/22, Film SF staff have been involved heavily in the execution of the RE Action Plan, including participating in the Policy Boards and Commissions Committee. The Film Commission adopted the Ramaytush Ohlone Land Acknowledgement Resolution and Film SF and Commissioners continued to invite guests to speak on their involvement with racial equity in the film and media industry.

- ARRAY Director of Industry Relations, Meredith Shea, shared information about the ARRAY crew database, a database of below the line production crew members from diverse backgrounds committed to creating inclusive production sets all over the world. She also discussed the importance of representation behind the camera and the positive impact of working on a set that reflects the world around us.
- Commissioner Jack Song facilitated a conversation with David Magdael who has more than 17 years of experience in public relations, strategic planning, development, marketing, community outreach and entertainment and media relations in North America, Europe and Asia.

- President Villy Wang invited four young BIPOC filmmakers from San Francisco to share their experience working in the film industry. Speakers included Ginger Yifan Chen, Ryan Baker, James Parker Pennington and Alex Sorto.

Film SF will continue implementing the Racial Equity Action Plan including revising Commission bi-laws and as the RE Action Plan moves into the next phase, support opportunities to ensure a more racially equitable film and media industry in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO FILM COMMISSION FILM SPACE GRANT FY19-21

The San Francisco Film Commission Film Space (SFFCFS) grant provides financial assistance to non-profit organizations in San Francisco that assist locally based independent filmmakers. They provide low-cost office and film production space, industry mentorship, and curated professional development programming in order to facilitate film production activities in San Francisco. Organizations must support at a minimum of five filmmakers, two must be residents of San Francisco and at least one of the filmmakers must be working on a film which will shoot 55% of its shoot days in San Francisco.

During FY 21/22, FilmHouse, a year-round film residency program run by SFFILM continued its use of the two-year grant.

“Our mission is to make the FilmHouse space the cultural hub for the local filmmaking community, for our residents, supported-filmmakers and the wider film industry. SFFILM hosted 21 FilmHouse Residents in 2022. The residents' diversity in experiences and voices are a beautiful reflection of the vibrant, local filmmaking community. Residents participated in a wide-range of programs to develop and nurture their cinematicexpertise, including production meetings, resident roundtables, peer-to-peer workshops and much more. This year, 2022, marked the reopening of our FilmHouse space, now located in the heart of SoMa. SoMa has always been home to the filmmaking community and it continues to be so with various media-arts organizations and companies blocks away from FilmHouse. We were thrilled to host a robust array of in-person programming, including Industry Days during the SFFILM Festival, table reads with supported filmmakers, and networking events, and we have much more planned in 2023.”

LOOKING AHEAD TOGETHER TO CALL SAN FRANCISCO OUR HOME FOR STORYTELLING

By reading these pages and hearing directly from those this industry impacts, we are reminded why we love this work and this City. From the location manager who is the first one on location and the last to leave, to the producer who juggles countless details to create one scene, San Francisco continues to be home to extraordinary talent, a place that cultivates its storytellers and draws others to realize their cinematic vision. Our stories come to life only through collaboration and a collective group effort.

As we look ahead into 2023 together, we will continue to instill hope and create opportunities for filmmakers to film affordably in San Francisco. We're hopeful that as a result of increased production activity, crews and talent will have more steady work. We're also intentional about where we will focus our energy to bring together the community of filmmakers and its supporters to build the infrastructure and processes to keep filmmaking vibrant in San Francisco.

To attract more productions to San Francisco, the California Film and Television State Tax Credit Program and access to a soundstage will continue to be instrumental in making this a reality. Without them, bigger productions are lured away by attractive incentives in other states and abroad.

We are inventing new ways to market San Francisco and grow our brand that amplifies our vision. Our downtown has been a favorite for commercial productions, so we will continue to promote our economic core for production activity. From bringing more production to vacant office spaces, activating venues for film events and screenings, to supporting the development of new film and media businesses to make San Francisco its home, we will partner with the industry to support the city's economic recovery.

We will continue to build opportunities for diverse San Franciscans to get their stories told and gain access into the film and media industry through our deep partnerships with community-based organizations, unions and production houses. We will continue to support our new and long-standing film festivals that have local and international reach and to draw audiences back to our theaters.

We at the San Francisco Film Commission and the Film SF team know how vital filmmaking is to the cultural and economic vibrancy of our city. We are the City's creative problem solvers for productions and have the determination to ensure San Francisco remains a preeminent destination for storytellers.

We are excited to build from our accomplishments in this report and work even more closely with you this year. We are proud to be a city that brings both blockbuster productions and nurtures its homegrown independent filmmakers. That is who we are. A bold, cutting edge and independently spirited city that never forgets its roots. Together with you, we will always call San Francisco our home for storytelling.

Subject: Issued: Survey of the cleanliness of San Francisco's streets and sidewalks shows varying results

Honorable Board of Supervisors,

Pursuant to Charter Appendix § F1.102 (a) (2), the City Services Auditor (CSA) division of the Controller's Office and Public Works collaborated to:

i. Develop objective and measurable standards for street and sidewalk maintenance
ii. Issue an annual report on the state of City streets and sidewalks

This report satisfies requirement ii. above. The City Performance Unit of the Controller's Office today released the [Street & Sidewalk Maintenance Standards
Calendar Year 2021 – 2022 Annual Report, which provides a snapshot of the state of public streets and sidewalks in San Francisco].

Please refer to the distribution e-mail below.

Office of the Controller
City & County of San Francisco

The Controller's Office evaluates residential and commercial streets and sidewalks by looking for elements that affect public perceptions of cleanliness.

This is the first time since 2016 that the standards for cleanliness and maintenance of San Francisco's streets and sidewalks have been updated, making 2022 a pilot year for establishing a new baseline for data comparison year-over-year. Based on a snapshot sampling of more than 3,000 street and sidewalk segments, we can see how specific issues, from instances of graffiti and cracked sidewalks to illegal dumping, varied in severity and location across the city.

For each street and sidewalk element evaluated, the result is presented as a simple percentage score between 0% and 100%, where 0% means no issue was observed in any evaluations and 100% means the issue was observed in all the evaluations.

Highlights from the report:

- Litter was found on more than 40% of surveyed routes and 60% of commercial area routes. Eight percent of inspected trash cans had overflowing trash.
- Street and sidewalk litter was less common in Noe Valley, Visitacion Valley, and the Castro / Upper Market neighborhoods, and more common in the Mission, Tenderloin, and South of Market neighborhoods.

- Sidewalk pavement defects — the presence of cracking, breakage, and uneven surfaces — was a commonly observed issue both Citywide and in commercial areas. About 75% of sampled sidewalks in the Citywide and commercial samples had moderate-to-severe pavement issues.
- The presence of broken glass was the highest detected hazard, present on 47% of inspected routes.

Based on these most recent findings, the Controller's Office plans to focus on refining the evaluation methodology in FY24. This process with Public Works will drive deeper analytical work that aims to support the City's operational decisions. Year-over-year results will be annually reported to track the trend in cleanliness over time.

About This Report

The City Services Auditor (CSA) Charter Amendment requires that the Controller's Office and San Francisco Public Works Department develop and implement standards for street and sidewalk maintenance. The Charter Amendment mandates that the City Services Auditor issue an annual report of the City's condition under the standards. This report provides an overview of the new standards, highlights the results of the evaluation conducted in Calendar Year 2021-22 ("CY 2021-22" or "CY22"), and includes recommendations for future work involving the maintenance standards.

The Standards used in this report measure the cleanliness and appearance of public streets and sidewalks. These assets are rated on the presence of litter, graffiti, broken glass, general maintenance, and other conditions. This new set of features is evaluated differently from past reports, using the new version of the evaluation standards. The feature scores presented in this report, in percentage (%), tell us the likelihood (odds) of anyone experiencing specific ratings when randomly visiting any street segment in CY22.

The evaluation team conducted 3,000+ evaluations across San Francisco through two surveys – the Core Citywide Survey and the special Key Commercial Areas Survey. The maps below show all the street segments evaluated for the Core Citywide Survey and Key Commercial Areas Survey in CY22.

Executive Summary

This calendar year 2022 (CY22) report is the first since 2016 to use new, objective standards to evaluate residents' experiences of cleanliness on City streets and sidewalks. Through comprehensive surveys of the City's residential and commercial streets, the results presented here tell us the likelihood of experiencing specific cleanliness issues. From street litter and illegal dumping, to broken glass, we can see how specific issues varied in terms of severity and location.

STREETS

64% OF KEY COMMERCIAL AREA EVALUATIONS HAVE STREET LITTER

Over 60% of the evaluated streets of San Francisco had moderate to severe levels of street litter in 2022 in the Key Commercial Areas survey. These results varied significantly across commercial areas of the City.

- Street litter conditions were better in Visitacion Valley, Noe Valley, and the Castro/Upper Market.
- In contrast, street litter was worse in the Mission, Tenderloin, and South of Market.

FIGURE A

Residential streets were relatively cleaner. More than 40% of the evaluated streets had moderate to severe levels of street litter in the Core Citywide survey, while about 60% had no or little amounts of litter.

44% OF EVALUATIONS HAVE SIDEWALK LITTER

Similar to street litter, 44% of the sampled sidewalks had moderate to severe levels of sidewalk litter in the Core Citywide Survey. However, there was much more sidewalk litter in Key Commercial Areas at 67%.

- Sidewalk litter was relatively better in Chinatown, the Inner Richmond, and Noe Valley.
- Sidewalk litter conditions were far worse in the Mission, Tenderloin, and South of Market.

FIGURE D

Insights from the City Survey 2023

Citizens' perceptions of street and sidewalk cleanliness matter. According to the City Survey 2023, for street and sidewalk cleanliness, respondents gave the City an average rating of:

C+

8% OF EVALUATED SIDEWALKS HAD OVERFLOWING TRASH

Trash receptacles on the sidewalks can be another source of litter, especially if the receptacle is full or overflowing. However, the likelihood of seeing overflowing trash bins on sidewalks was low in CY22. In fact, on sidewalks that had a trash receptacle present, 8% of evaluations had overflowing trash in the Citywide survey. Similarly, 11% of evaluations in Key Commercial areas reported trash overflowing from receptacles.

- Neighborhoods where overflowing trash bins were more likely to be seen included Visitacion Valley, Haight Ashbury, and Neighborhood Group 2 - Oceanview/Merced/Ingleside and West of Twin Peaks.
- 3% of evaluations in the Financial District/South Beach and Bayview Hunters Point observed overflowing trash bins.

MORE THAN 30% OF EVALUATED SIDEWALKS HAD CLEARANCE ISSUES

Related to overflowing trash is the feature of sidewalk clearance. This category evaluates if larger objects, such as a tree branch, litter, or other bulky items obstructed a sidewalk. Essentially, if walking along a sidewalk is impeded vertically or horizontally, the evaluation team notes these objects as clearance issues. Clearance issues varied considerably across neighborhoods.

FIGURE E

Citywide, 31% of evaluations had clearance issues; in Key Commercial areas, 12% of busy sidewalks had obstructed pathways. This means that someone walking around a residential area would be more likely to observe sidewalk clearance issues, like a fallen tree branch, compared to a commercial area.

- Sidewalk obstructions were less common in Haight Ashbury (3% of evaluations) and the Marina (2%), Glen Park had no reported clearance issues
- South of Market had the highest proportion of sidewalk clearance issues (27%), followed by Bayview Hunters Point (23%), and Visitacion Valley (22%)

75% OF EVALUATED SIDEWALKS HAVE MODERATE TO SEVERE PAVEMENT DEFECTS

These surveys also examine the condition and quality of the sidewalk pavement. In this category, both Citywide and in Key Commercial Areas, a significant proportion of evaluations found sidewalks with moderate-to-severe pavement issues, such as cracking, breakage, and uneven surfaces.

FIGURE F

In the core Citywide sample, 75% of observations indicated moderate to severe defects in pavement conditions.

The severity of pavement conditions was the same in commercial areas, with 75% of evaluations indicating moderate to severe pavement defects.

Conditions varied significantly across Key Commercial Area neighborhoods (see Figure G).

- Visitacion Valley had no severe sidewalk defects, and more minor defects were found in the Inner Sunset and Noe Valley.
- Sidewalk pavement conditions were the most severe in Lone Mountain/USF, the Mission, Nob Hill, and South of Market.

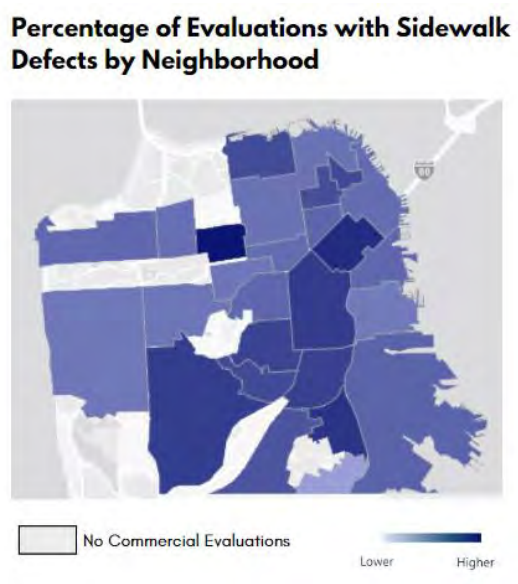

FIGURE G

STREETS & SIDEWALKS

MORE THAN 30% OF EVALUATIONS REPORT ILLEGAL DUMPING

Illegal dumping on streets and sidewalks remains a serious issue. Tracking illegal dumping is important, as it can make streets and sidewalks inaccessibile and unsafe for pedestrians and drivers. More than 30% of evaluations in the Citywide Survey found illegal dumping, and nearly half of the evaluations in commercial areas.

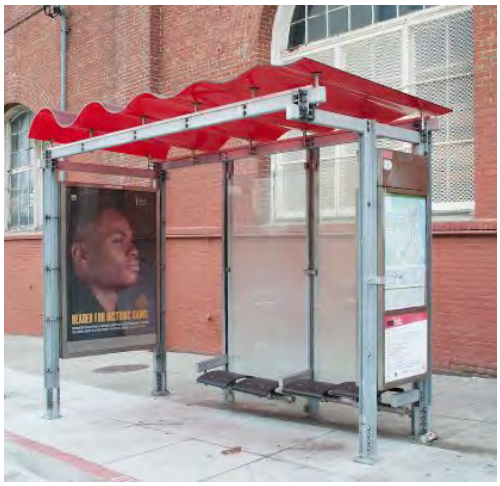
It should be noted that the neighborhood-level results represent illegal dumping findings in Key Commercial areas only. Residential areas are excluded in this sample. Recology and Public Works regularly respond to illegal dumping throughout the City.

FIGURE H

In commercial areas, some neighborhoods were more likely to have illegal dumping problems.

- Illegal dumping was less severe in the Financial District/South Beach and Mission Bay.
- Illegal dumping problems were worse in Bernal Heights, Portola, the Castro/Upper Market, and the Mission.

MORE THAN 80% OF TRANSIT SHELTERS ON EVALUATED STREETS & SIDEWALKS HAD CLEANLINESS ISSUES



Transit Shelters, when present on streets and sidewalks, were highly likely to have cleanliness issues. About 83% of transit shelters in the Core Citywide survey had at least one type of cleanliness issue, such as litter, broken glasses, or illegal dumping, among other issues.

Key Commercial Areas were much more likely to have transit shelters present, and of these, more than 90% had cleanliness issues.

ABOUT 20% OF EVALUATED STREETS & SIDEWALKS HAVE GRAFFITI, BUT GRAFFITI MORE COMMON IN COMMERCIAL AREAS

Graffiti is another important street and sidewalk evaluation feature that includes illicit text, symbols, and images marked on buildings, sidewalks, street pavement, trees, and other stationary objects that are visible to the public. Legally, graffiti is an act of vandalism and is categorized as a quality-of-life crime.

If evaluators see graffiti on the street and sidewalk, they count how much graffiti they see, and also note the type of property it appeares on, such as SF government property, private property, and other government or utility agency property.

Citywide, 21% of evaluations found moderate to severe levels of graffiti. In contrast, commercial areas were far more likely to have moderate to severe graffiti at 71%.

In terms of actual counts of graffiti observed, there were about 10 times (160,000 vs. 16,000 respectively) as many instances of graffiti reported in the Key Commercial Areas survey in comparison to the Citywide sample.

The Key Commercial Areas survey revealed significant variation in graffiti at the neighborhood level.

- Visitacion Valley was the only neighborhood reporting only low levels of graffiti, with no moderate or severe graffiti present. Graffiti was also less common in Bayview Hunters Point and Noe Valley.
- Graffiti was worse in Haight Ashbury, the Mission, and Bernal Heights.

HAZARDS

These surveys further evaluate various types of public health hazards on streets and sidewalks – including broken glass, feces, syringes, condoms, dead animals, and odors. The likelihood of observing one of these hazards varied significantly across these categories:

FIGURE I

- Broken glass was the most commonly observed hazard, on approximately 50% of surveyed streets and sidewalks. There was less variance in broken glass findings between commercial and non-commercial streets, as well as less variation between different parts of the City.
- Feces was another notable observed hazard, on approximately 50% of street segments in Key Commercial Areas and 30% in the Citywide survey
- Other hazards, such as dead animals, syringes, condoms, and odors were rarely observed. When reported, these hazards were concentrated in the Mission, Tenderloin, and South of Market, with fewer issues on other areas of the City.

ALMOST 50% OF CITY STREETS AND SIDEWALKS REPORT BROKEN GLASS

Seeing broken glass on City streets and sidewalks was much more likely than seeing syringes. Specifically, 47% of streets and sidewalks reported broken glass in the Citywide survey, while about 1% reported seeing syringes. Broken glass was also more likely to be seen in commercial areas at 58%, and was an issue observed across San Francisco's neighborhoods. In Key Commercial Areas:

- Broken glass was less severe in the Castro/Upper Market, Chinatown, and Glen Park.
- Severe levels of broken glass were most common in the Tenderloin, South of Market, and the Mission.

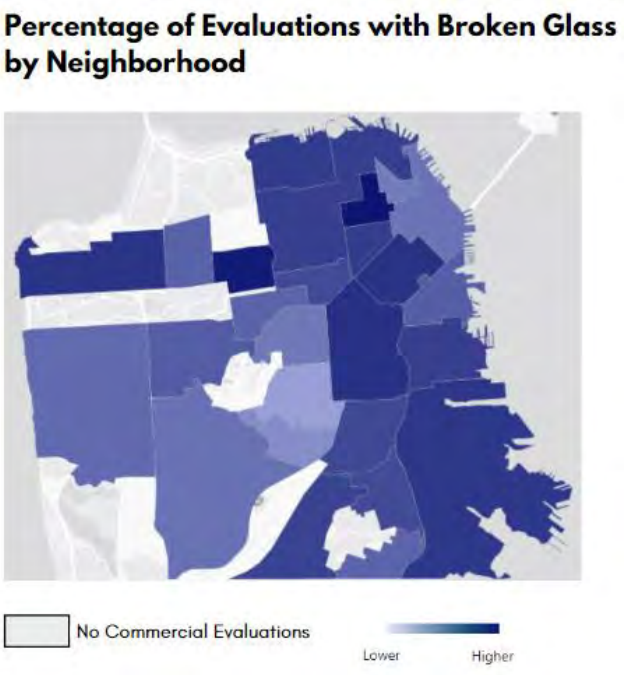


FIGURE J

ABOUT 30% OF EVALUATED STREETS AND SIDEWALKS REPORT FECES

Observations of human and animal feces were less common in the Core Citywide sample, with about 30% of evaluations observing feces on the street or sidewalk.

In contrast, almost half (47%) of evaluations in all Key Commercial Areas observed feces. At the neighborhood-level:

- Feces on streets and sidewalks were least likely to be found in Noe Valley and Glen Park.
- Feces were most common in the Tenderloin, Nob Hill, the Mission, and South of Market.

WHAT'S NEXT: FURTHER RESEARCH

This is the first year the Controller's Office evaluated streets and sidewalks using the new Evaluation Standards. Based on CY22 findings, the Controller's Office plans to focus on refining the evaluation methodology in the 2023 survey.

This collaborative process with SF Public Works will drive deeper analytical work that aims to support operational decisions. Year-over-year results will be annually reported to track the trend in cleanliness over time. The three major areas of further research below describe future endeavors that the Controller's Office will facilitate in partnership with Public Works stakeholders:

1. Refine Standards & Sampling Methodology

- In collaboration with SF Public Works stakeholders, the Controller's Office will refine survey standard feature definitions and sampling methodology.

2. Performance Standard Process

- The Controller's Office will use these pilot-year findings as a baseline to inform a future performance standard setting process with relevant stakeholders, including the SF Sanitation and Streets Commission.

3. Working Paper Series & Qualitative Research

- The findings from the CY22 survey provide a rich source of data for several potential areas of research. The Controller's Office plans to report on additional special topics that build on the findings in this report and support SF Public Works decision making.

1. Introduction

As in the past, the CY22 Street and Sidewalk Maintenance Standards Report offers a snapshot of the state of public streets and sidewalks in San Francisco. The purpose of this chapter is to provide readers the context and information necessary to use this report productively. We will cover the following essential topics:

A. CY22 Key Findings
B. About The Program - Why We Performed the Evaluations
C. What We Evaluated – By Features And Geography
D. How To Use Our Data
E. Who Is Responsible For Street And Sidewalk Maintenance?
F. How We Organized the Report

A. CALENDAR YEAR 2022 KEY FINDINGS

- Litter was found on more than 40% of surveyed routes and 60% of commercial area routes. 8% of inspected trash cans had overflowing trash.
- Street and sidewalk litter was less common in Noe Valley, Visitacion Valley, and the Castro / Upper Market neighborhoods, and more common in the Mission, Tenderloin, and South of Market neighborhoods.
- Sidewalk pavement defects – the presence of cracking, breakage, and uneven surfaces - was a commonly observed issue both Citywide and in commercial areas. About 75% of sampled sidewalks in the Citywide and commercial samples had moderate-to-severe pavement issues.
- 20% of the City streets sampled had graffiti. However, graffiti was much more common at 71% in Key Commercial Areas.

The table below (Figure 1.1) highlights key findings from the report, focusing on ratings that showed the percentage of streets and sidewalks with the issue present. For survey feature categories with a rating scale, we combined the "Moderate" and "Severe" ratings to indicate the presence of the issue. The detailed ratings are presented in the main body of the report. Results are reported for both the Core Citywide Survey and the Key Commercial Areas Survey.

B. ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Streets and Sidewalks Standards Program is a voter mandate.

In November 2003, San Francisco voters amended the City Charter through the passage of Proposition C. This legislation requires the City Services Auditor (CSA) division of the Controller's Office and Department of Public Works to create standards for cleanliness and maintenance of the City's streets and sidewalks. Together, the Controller's Office and Public Works collaborate to:

i. Develop objective and measurable standards for street and sidewalk maintenance
ii. Issue an annual report on the state of City streets and sidewalks

This report satisfies requirement ii. above.

C. WHAT AND WHERE WE EVALUATED

i. What We Evaluated - Street and Sidewalk Features

In CY22, the evaulation team assessed 3,000+ sampled street and sidewalk segments by reviewing 14 specific features or evaluation categories below:

Streets Only
- Street Litter

Sidewalks Only
- Sidewalk Litter
- Trash Receptacles
- Sidewalk Clearance
- Sidewalk Pavement Condition

Streets & Sidewalks Together
- Illegal Dumping
- Hazards
    - Glass
    - Feces
    - Syringes
    - Condoms
    - Dead Animals
    - Odors
- Graffiti
- Transit Shelters

This new set of features is evaluated differently from past reports, using the new version of the evaluation standards. Please see Appendix B for detailed information about the new evaluation standard.

ii. Where We Evaluated

In addition, the team conducted evaluations across San Francisco geographically in two surveys - Core Citywide Survey and the Key Commercial Areas Survey.

1. Core Citywide Survey includes 957 randomly selected street segments, comprised of 817 evaluations in residential areas and 140 evaluations in commercial areas. This sufficiently sized sample represents all the streets and sidewalks across the entire City and County San Francisco. See Fig 1.2. However, due to insufficient sample sizes at the neighborhood-level in the CY22 Core Citywide survey, neighborhood-level results are not reported here. The survey results provide the baseline Citywide score for each feature and for future years.

2. Key Commercial Areas Survey focuses on the 769 high-use commercial routes, selected based on their historical 311 request volume. See Fig 1.3. Each route was evaluated two or three times in CY22. Compared to the more residential-focused Core Citywide Survey, Key Commercial Areas tend to see more pedestrian traffic and business activity, which can attract more issues like litter and graffiti. This survey gives us the data needed to determine a score for each feature for these Key Commercial areas at both the citywide and neighborhood level.

   Neighborhood-level findings are presented in the Key Commercial Areas Survey because it has sufficiently large sample sizes.[1] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

D. HOW TO USE THIS DATA

For each street and sidewalk feature, the team condensed all the evaluation data into a simple score – percentage of evaluations with issue present. For example, for the Street Litter feature in the Core Citywide Survey, 41% of evaluations had issue present in CY22. 0% means no issue was observed in any evaluations. 100% means the issue was observed in ALL the evaluations. All of the scores fall between 0% and 100%. In addition, the score also indicates the likelihood (odds) of anyone experiencing an issue when randomly visiting any City streets in CY22.

E. WHO IS RESPONSIBLE

Who is responsible for cleaning and maintaining streets and sidewalks?

We all play a part in maintaining San Francisco's street and sidewalk cleanliness.

The City and County of San Francisco (City) provides many services to keep our streets and sidewalks clean, safe, and sustainable. This effort is larger than any single agency. Everyone in our community plays a role in keeping San Francisco beautiful by picking up after their pets, removing litter, and disposing of bulky items properly.

Generally, San Francisco Public Works (SFPW) and other City agencies maintain public streets and City property on or along the sidewalk. Private property owners are responsible for removing graffiti from their buildings and keeping sidewalks and curbs in front of their property clean and maintained. Local, state, and federal agencies, as well as private utilities, are responsible for other features like power lines, highways, regional transit shelters, and schools. In some areas, property owners and merchants form community benefits districts to fund sidewalk maintenance and cleaning operations. See Figure 1.4 below and Appendix D for more information.

In addition, anyone observing any street and sidewalk cleanliness issues can call 311 or submit an online SF311 form to make a work request. Once submitted, it is a relevant department's responsibility to mitigate the issue. Each department has additional performance metrics that measure the volume of their 311 requests and how well they fulfill their 311 requests.[2]

[2] See DataSF "311 Cases" dataset, available at https://data.sfgov.org/City-Infrastructure/311-Cases/vw6y-z8j6.

F. REPORT STRUCTURE

This report organizes our findings by the locations of the features:

1. Streets: describes features related only to street conditions
2. Sidewalks: describes features related only to sidewalk cleanliness
3. Both Streets & Sidewalks: describes features that apply to both streets and sidewalks

Within each feature, we review the relevant feature scores from the Core Citywide Survey. We will also compare scores from the Core Citywide Survey to those from the Key Commercial Areas Survey. Please see Appendix A, Glossary to understand the terms used frequently in the report.

For each feature, we also include two new sections to provide useful information to our readers – "Who is Responsible" and "How Concerned Citizens Can Help".

2. Streets

Streets free of loose litter are important for overall cleanliness and safety. Streets are evaluated based on the presence and amount of litter accumulated. Street litter includes loose litter, generally less than the size of a piece of 8" x 11" paper, that is present on a street or gutter. Street litter zone begins at the vertical wall of the curb on one side and ends at the vertical wall of the curb at the other side of the street ("curb-to-curb"). This includes medians and other DPW fixtures in the street.

Street Litter Excludes:

- Litter located on the sidewalk (see Sidewalk Litter section)
- Large, abandoned items (see Illegal Dumping Section)
- Spillage (grime or inorganic debris)
- Organic debris, such as leaves, twigs, and grass clippings

A. STREET LITTER

41% OF EVALUATIONS HAVE STREET LITTER

Overview

The street litter feature of a street segment/route is visually evaluated using the five descriptive ratings shown in Figure 2.1. Evaluators report the most severe rating observed anywhere along the route. For example, if one side of the street has no litter and the other side has severe litter, then the entire route is reported as having a "Severe" rating. This is a more stringent approach in that the worst score along a route will represent the score for the entire evaluated route.

The Street Litter scores are the percentages of street routes evaluated having the Moderate or Severe ratings.

Who is Responsible?

Street litter and maintenance issues are SF Public Works' responsibility "curb to curb." SF Public Works performs street sweeping operations regularly per cleaning schedule to keep street surfaces clean. It also responds to 311 street cleaning requests. In addition, SFPW repairs potholes and other damage to road surfaces. While SFPW is not responsible for the litter others may generate, it does manage several outreach and engagement programs to proactively encourage private property owners and communities to help maintain their local streets and sidewalks. More information about these programs is available in Appendix C.

1. Findings - Core Citywide Survey

The Street Litter scores from the Core Citywide Survey form the baseline scores in this report and represent a component of the overall street and sidewalk cleanliness for the City. In CY22, 41% of the evaluated streets of San Francisco had moderate-to-severe levels of street litter in, while about 60% had had no or little amounts of litter.

This means that in CY22, the likelihood of walking down a street free of litter in residential and commercial neighborhoods was about 60%.

About a quarter (25%) of evaluations had moderate amounts of litter observed, while 15% had severe litter.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

The Key Commercial Areas Survey consists of routes selected from high traffic commercial street segments across the City using the historical volume of 311 requests for service within neighborhoods. Some neighborhoods did not have routes surveyed because of the low number of commercial corridors located in them.

Figure 2.2 shows the Street Litter scores of evaluated Citywide and Key Commercial street segments across San Francisco. Highly used Key Commercial street segment/routes have generally more street litter than those in the baseline Core Citywide street as expected, at 64% vs 41% respectively. For example, while 15% of evaluations in the Core Citywide survey indicated severe street litter, this feature almost doubled (27%) in the Key Commercial Areas survey.

The maps on the following pages (Figure 2.3 and Figure 2.4) show neighborhood- and street-level results. The full neighborhood results can be found in Appendix E. Table I.[3]

- Neighborhoods with the most "Moderate-to-Severe" street litter rating:
  - 83% of the evaluations in the Tenderloin neighborhood,
  - 82% in the Mission neighborhood, and
  - 81% in the Nob Hill
- Neighborhoods with the lowest "Moderate-to-Severe" litter rating:
  - 33% in Visitacion Valley,
  - 42% in Noe Valley,
  - 44% of the evaluations in the Castro/Upper Market,

[3] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the street litter results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the entire neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

How Concerned Citizens Can Help

Concerned citizens can request street cleaning by calling 311 or online https://sf311.org/services/street-or-sidewalk-cleaning. For more information on SF Public Works street sweeping programs, please visit https://sfpublicworks.org/services/mechanical-street-sweeping-and-street-cleaning-schedule. Please see Appendix C. City Street & Sidewalk Programs for additional information.

3. Sidewalks

Sidewalks are designated places where people can safely move about the City, so their cleanliness is essential. The sidewalk generally begins at the vertical edge of the curb and extends to the fronting building or property line.

Sidewalk litter includes loose litter, generally smaller than 8"x11" paper, observed on the sidewalk or immediately next to the sidewalk. Sidewalk litter also includes litter located in tree wells, bushes, lawns, utility boxes, and most spaces within 6 feet of the sidewalk.

Our team evaluates Sidewalks by visually assessing the four separate features below:

a. presence and amount of litter
b. trash receptacles
c. sidewalk clearance
d. sidewalk pavement conditions

Sidewalk Litter EXCLUDES:

- Litter located in the street (see Street Litter Section)
- Litter located on private property behind a physical barrier, such as a fence or gate
- Broken glass (see Broken Glass Section)
- Large, abandoned items (See Illegal Dumping Section)
- Health hazards such as syringes, feces, used condoms, and dead animals (See Hazard Section)
- Spillage, such as grime or inorganic debris)
- Organic debris, such as leaves, twigs, and grass clippings

A. SIDEWALK LITTER

44% OF EVALUATIONS HAVE SIDEWALK LITTER

Overview

The sidewalk litter feature of a street segment/route is visually evaluated in one of five descriptive scales/ratings shown in Figure 3.1. Evaluators report the most severe rating observed anywhere along the route. For example, if one side of the sidewalk has no litter and the other side has severe litter, then the entire route is reported as having a "severe" rating. This is a more stringent approach in that the worst score along a route will represent the entire evaluated route.

The Sidewalk Litter score is the percentage of evaluated street segments/routes with the Moderate or Severe ratings shown in Figure 3.1.

Who is Responsible?

Private property owners are responsible for sidewalk cleanliness in front of their property, except for curb ramps, sidewalks on public property maintained by Public Works, Public Works catch basins, and trash receptacles provided by waste management operators. Sidewalk elements that property owners are responsible for may include trees, landscaping, or streetscape furnishings.[4] For additional information, Please see Appendix D, as well as CA Streets and Highways Code, Chapter 22. Maintenance of Sidewalks.

1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey

Similar to street litter, 44% of the sampled sidewalks had moderate-to-severe levels of sidewalk litter in the Core Citywide Survey. On average, more than half of the Citywide evaluations had low amounts of sidewalk litter (56%).

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

However, there was much more sidewalk litter in Key Commercial Areas at 67%. About a third (33%) of the commercial evaluations had low amounts of sidewalk litter observed.

[4] For more information on maintenance responsibilities, see SF Better Streets Maintenance Responsibilities.

The maps below (Figure 3.3 and Figure 3.4) show neighborhood- and street-level results. The full neighborhood results can be found in Appendix E. Table II.[5]

- At least half of the evaluations in the following five neighborhoods had low amounts of litter: 50% in Chinatown, 53% in the Inner Richmond, 79% in Noe Valley, 57% in Potrero Hill, and 56% in Visitacion Valley
- 58% of the evaluations in the Mission neighborhood had severe litter, followed by 53% in the Tenderloin, and 50% in the South of Market
- Haight Ashbury had the highest proportion of moderate sidewalk litter at 67%

[5] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the sidewalk litter results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

The map in Figure 3.4 below shows the average rating per street segment. Here, we can see which specific sidewalk segments had the most severe levels of sidewalk litter. On average, more moderate-to-severe rated sidewalk litter was concentrated in the downtown area.

B. TRASH RECEPTACLES

8% OF EVALUATED SIDEWALKS HAD OVERFLOWING TRASH

Overview

Overflowing trash bins are highly visible signs of sidewalk litter, but how common are they in San Francisco? According to the survey results, the chances of seeing overflowing trash bins were actually quite low in CY22, around 8%.

Trash receptacles are defined as fixed or semi-permanent waste bins along the public right of way (usually sidewalks). In evaluating trash receptacles, evaluators indicate whether any trash receptacles on a sidewalk segment are overflowing with litter. If trash receptacles are present, then the evaluator counts the number of bins that are full or overflowing. If there are no receptacles on a route segment, then this question is marked as "Not applicable."

Who is Responsible?

Overflowing trash receptacles and maintenance issues are generally Recology's responsibility. SF Public Works is responsible for installing and removing trash receptacles, as well as righting cans that have been tipped over. Public Works aims to install or remove receptacles within 20 calendar days, address damaged trash receptacles within 3 calendar days, and respond to overflowing receptacles or right receptacles that have been tipped over within 2 hours if a 311 request is submitted by any concerned citizen. See Appendix D for additional information

1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey

The Citywide findings here show the amount of overflowing trash receptacles observed in 957 evaluations. As shown in Figure 3.5, 81% of evaluations had no trash receptacle observed. Among the evaluations with a trash receptacle, 8% had overflowing trash, while most (92%) had no overflowing trash. This means that the likelihood of walking down a sidewalk in the City and seeing overflowing trash from a receptacle is rare.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

In comparison to the Citywide sample, Key Commercial Areas were more likely to have trash receptacles present (63%) and had slightly more observations of overflowing trash. When trash receptacles were present in commercial areas, similar to the Citywide survey, 11% of evaluations had overflowing issue.

The maps in Figure 3.7 and Figure 3.8 show neighborhood- and street-level results.[6] By neighborhood, we can see where overflowing trash was found.[7] The full neighborhood results can be found in Appendix E. Table III.

- Visitacion Valley had the highest proportion of overflowing trash bins at 22% of evaluations, followed by Haight Ashbury (17%), and Neighborhood Group 2 - Oceanview/Merced/Ingleside and West of Twin Peaks at 17%.

[6] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the trash receptacle results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

[7] As described in the neighborhood sampling methodology section of Appendix B., "Neighborhood Group #1" consists of Japantown, North Beach, Pacific Heights, Russian Hill, and Western Addition. "Neighborhood Group #2" consists of Oceanview/Merced/Ingleside and West of Twin Peaks.

- Notably, 3% of evaluations in the Financial District/South Beach neighborhood observed overflowing trash bins, as well as in Bayview Hunters Point (3%).
- Thirteen neighborhoods with commercial corridors had less than 6% overflowing trash bins, including: Bayview Hunters Point (3%), Financial District/South Beach (3%), Glen Park (0%), Inner Richmond (1%), Inner Sunset (4%), Lone Mountain/USF (4%), Mission Bay (4%) Neighborhood Group 1 - Japantown, North Beach, Pacific Heights, Russian Hill, and Western Addition (4%), Nob Hill (4%), Noe Valley (4%), Potrero Hill (3%), South of Market (2%), and the Tenderloin (6%).

Taking a closer look at the street segment level, Figure 3.9 shows the average rating per street segment for routes that had a trash receptacle present. The green lines indicate that "No overflowing trash" was observed, and the red lines mean that "Yes, overflowing trash" was observed. Overflowing trash receptacles were not concentrated in specific neighborhoods, and when present, could be observed across the City.

How Concerned Citizens Can Help

If you observe overflowing trash bins in San Francisco, the SF311 website provides additional information about what to do: https://sf311.org/services/garbage-containers. For more information on SF Public Works cleaning programs, see https://sfpublicworks.org/services/cleaning-programs and Appendix D. City Street & Sidewalk Programs.

C. SIDEWALK CLEARANCE

MORE THAN 30% OF EVALUATED SIDEWALKS HAD CLEARANCE ISSUES

Overview

Sidewalks should be fully accessible to pedestrians, meaning that there should be no obstructions impeding people's movement on City sidewalks. It is important that sidewalks allow for sufficient space not just for people walking, but also for pedestrians with assistive devices (such as strollers, wheelchairs, or guide animals).

The sidewalk clearance evaluation criteria identifies if the sidewalk is obstructed by a narrow or missing path, or if any object or person obstructs the vertical and horizontal clearance of the path. This includes insufficient clearance caused by temporary objects (such as waste bins), fixed objects (such as utility boxes), parked cars, improperly parked bikes and scooters, sleeping people,[8] loose soil or debris, and sidewalk design (such as trees or pavement that ends abruptly).[9] If defects in sidewalk pavement reduce the walkway clearance to less than 4 feet wide, and the defects are severe enough that a person with assistive devices cannot reasonably move along the pavement, then surveyors identify pavement condition as the cause for this obstruction.

When asessing sidewalk clearance, evaluators determine if sidewalk clearance is less than 4 feet wide or 8 feet high at any point. If evaluators observe and obstruction, then they specify the cause. For example, a scooter, tree, or other temporary or fixed objects. The threshold for vertical clearance is set at 8 feet to align with San Francisco's Pruning Standards for Trees (2006). However, ADA regulation requires a minimum of 80 inches (6 feet, 8 inches) of vertical clearance.

Who is Responsible?

Depending on the type of clearance issue, different public agencies may be responsible. For example, SF Public Works would be responsible for a publicly maintained tree branch obstructing a sidewalk, while a property owner would be responsible for any objects blocking sidewalk clearance in front of their business. The expected response time also varies depending on the obstruction – from 72 hours to clear a scooter to 5 days to move a dumpster.[10] See Appendix D for additional information.

[8] If any individuals obstructing the sidewalk who appear to be unconscious, then surveyors report this as a Sidewalk Clearance issue. Individuals who are awake and active are not reported.

[9] Sidewalk clearance excludes pedestrian curb ramps.

[10] For additional information on expected response times, see https://sf311.org/services/blocked-pedestrian-walkway.

1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey

Sidewalks were more likely to be obstructed in the Citywide sample of residential and commercial areas at 31%, compared to 12% in Key Commercial Areas.

This means that someone walking around a residential area would be more likely to observe sidewalk clearance issues, like a fallen tree branch, compared to a commercial area.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

12% of evaluations had sidewalk clearance issues, or 88% of busy commercial sidewalks reporting clear pathways.

Figure 3.11 shows neighborhood- and street-level results.[11] By neighborhood, we can see how sidewalk clearance issues varied.[12] The full neighborhood results can be found in Appendix E, Table IV. Highlights of key neighborhood findings:

[11] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the sidewalk pavement results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

[12] As described in the neighborhood sampling methodology section of Appendix B., "Neighborhood Group #1" consists of Japantown, North Beach, Pacific Heights, Russian Hill, and Western Addition. "Neighborhood Group #2" consists of Oceanview/Merced/Ingleside and West of Twin Peaks.

- At 27%, South of Market had the highest proportion of sidewalk clearance issues, followed by Bayview Hunters Point (23%), and Visitacion Valley (22%)
- Sidewalk obstructions were less common in Haight Ashbury (3% of evaluations) and the Marina (2%), and Glen Park had no reported clearance issues

Figure 3.11 also shows the average rating per street segment for routes that had a sidewalk clearance issue. The green lines indicate that "No clearance issue" was observed, and the red lines mean that "Yes, a clearance issue" was observed. Sidewalk clearance issues align with the neighborhood findings, showing more issues in South of Market, and to a lesser degree, Bayview Hunters Point.

How Concerned Citizens Can Help

If you observe sidewalk clearance issues in San Francisco, the SF311 website provides additional information about what to do: https://sf311.org/services/blocked-pedestrian-walkway. For more information on SF Public Works cleaning programs, see https://sfpublicworks.org/services/cleaning-programs and Appendix C. City Street & Sidewalk Programs.

D. SIDEWALK PAVEMENT CONDITIONS

75% OF EVALUATED SIDEWALKS HAVE PAVEMENT DEFECTS

Overview

Sidewalk defects can entail both existing defects that have not been marked for repair, as well as defects that have been marked but have not yet been repaired. Sidewalk pavement defects can include the following:

- Missing pavement
- Raised, sunken, or uneven pavement with a vertical displacement of ½ inch or more from the abutting pavement or curb
- Voids, cracks, chips, holes, or gaps that are ½ inch or more in width and/or depth from the abutting pavement or curb
- Missing sewer vent covers

Note that defects resulting from active construction or sidewalk maintenance are not counted.

Evaluators assess the severity of defects at each route in three categories show below – minor, moderate, and severe. The score here represent percent (%) of all evaluations with moderate or severe ratings.

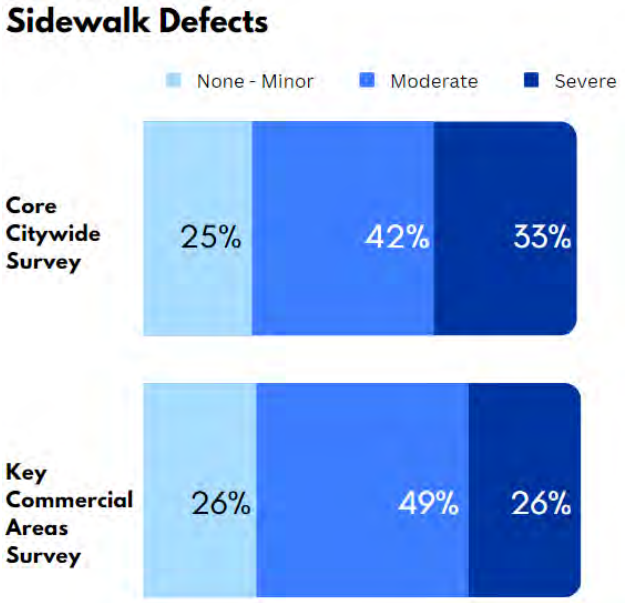
Who is Responsible?

Generally, property owners are responsible for maintaining the sidewalk in front of their properties. Depending on the more specific type and location of the sidewalk defect, different entities may be responsible. For example, SF Public works is responsible for cracks and other defects in curb ramps. SF Public Works notifies property owners if repairs are needed; if property owners fail to make repairs, SF Public Works repairs sidewalks and bills owners. For additional information, please see Appendix D.

1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey



3.13

In the core Citywide sample, observations of sidewalk defects were common, with 75% of evaluations indicating moderate-to-severe pavement issues. About 25% of evaluations had none or minor pavement issues.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

The severity of pavement conditions was the same in commercial areas, with 75% of evaluations indicating moderate-to-severe pavement defects (Figure 3.13).

Figure 3.14 and Figure 3.15 show neighborhood- and street-level results.[13] By neighborhood, we can see how sidewalk pavement conditions varied.[14] Below, we highlight key neighborhood findings. The full neighborhood results can be found in Appendix E, Table V.

- Neighborhoods with some of the highest proportions of severe sidewalk defects included: Lone Mountain/USF (50% of 24 evaluations), the Mission (29%), Nob Hill (35%), and South of Market (28%)

[13] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the sidewalk pavement results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

[14] As described in the neighborhood sampling methodology section of Appendix B., "Neighborhood Group #1" consists of Japantown, North Beach, Pacific Heights, Russian Hill, and Western Addition. "Neighborhood Group #2" consists of Oceanview/Merced/Ingleside and West of Twin Peaks.

- Almost half of the evaluations conducted in the Inner Sunset (48%) had minor defects, followed by 29% in Noe Valley
- Visitacion Valley had no severe sidewalk defects

At a more granular level, the map in Figure 3.15 below shows the average rating per street segment for pavement conditions. As this map highlights, moderate to severe pavement defects could be found on longer segments of commercial corridors throughout the City, with smaller segments indicating no pavement issues.

4. Streets & Sidewalks

The Program evaluated the following features across both Streets and Sidewalks:

A. Illegal Dumpling
B. Hazards
- Broken glass
- Syringe(s)
- Feces
- Dead animal(s)
- Open/used condoms
- Odors

C. Graffiti (non-etched)
D. Transit Shelters

A. ILLEGAL DUMPING

MORE THAN 30% OF EVALUATIONS REPORT ILLEGAL DUMPING

Overview

Illegal dumping includes large abandoned items and debris on both the street and sidewalk. Examples of illegal dumping may include: construction debris, appliances, electronics, furniture, mattresses, automobile parts, and bags of garbage. Generally, any litter or abandoned items that are too large or bulky to fit into a covered waste receptacle fall under this category.[15]

Tracking illegal dumping is important, as it can make streets and sidewalks inaccessibile and unsafe for pedestrians and drivers. In evaluating streets and sidewalks, surveyors count the number of large abandoned items they observe. Each larger, abandoned item is counted as one instance of illegal dumping.

[15] Authorized bulk trash disposal bags provided by SF Public Works may also be counted as illegal dumping.

Who is Responsible?

Street litter and maintenance issues are SF Public Works' responsibility "curb to curb." SF Public Works performs street sweeping operations to keep street surfaces clean and repairs potholes and other damage to road surfaces.

It is illegal to leave furniture, appliances, and other large objects on the sidewalks. Through Recology, SF Public Works offers free bulky item collection to residents – including homeowners and renters.

Private property owners are responsible for sidewalk cleanliness in front of their property, except for curb ramps, sidewalks on public property maintained by Public Works, Public Works catch basins, and trash receptacles provided by waste management operators. Sidewalk elements that property owners are responsible for may include trees, landscaping, or streetscape furnishings.[16] For additional information, see Appendix D as well as CA Streets and Highways Code, Chapter 22. Maintenance of Sidewalks.

1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey

More than 30% of evaluations in the Citywide Survey found illegal dumping, and nearly 64% found no illegal dumping.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

On average, almost half (49%) of evaluations of Key Commercial Areas found illegal dumping present in contrast to 36% in the Core Citywide sample. This finding may indicate that high-traffic commercial corridors are more likely to be sites for illegal dumping compared to residential areas.

[16] For more information on maintenance responsibilities, see SF Better Streets Maintenance Responsibilities.

The following maps (Figure 4.2 and Figure 4.3) show neighborhood- and street-level results.[17] By neighborhood, we can see where in the City's commercial areas illegal dumping was more concentrated. The full neighborhood results can be found in Appendix E. Table IX.

- More than 65% of the evaluations in the following neighborhoods found illegal dumping: 86% in Bernal Heights (42 evaluations), 83% in Portola (24 evaluations), 74% in the Castro/Upper Market (27 evaluations), and 65% in the Mission (225 evaluations).
- In larger neighborhoods, almost half (48%) of the 144 evaluations in Chinatown and more than half (56%) of the 204 evaluations in the Tenderloin found instances of illegal dumping, as well as 54% of the 153 evaluations in the Outer Richmond
- Relatively lower amounts of illegal dumping were observed in the following larger neighborhoods: the Financial District/South Beach (30%, 159 evaluations), and Mission Bay (28%, 75 evaluations).

It should be noted that the neighborhood-level results above represent illegal dumping findings in Key Commercial areas only. Residential areas are excluded in this sample. Recology and Public Works regularly respond to illegal dumping throughout the City.

At the street level, the map in Figure 4.3 below shows the average rating per street segment. The green lines indicate that "No illegal dumping" was observed, and the red lines mean that "Yes, illegal dumping" was observed. As this map highlights, illegal dumping could be found on segments of commercial streets throughout the City, but with more observations in the Mission and Tenderloin neighborhoods.

[17] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the illegal dumping results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

B. HAZARDS

Overview

Health hazards entail a few subcategories – broken glass, used condoms, feces, syringes, dead animals, and odors. These items are health hazards because their presence on City streets and sidewalks pose a risk to public health. The following sub-sections report each of these health hazards observed in both the Core Citywide Survey and Commercial Corridor Survey.

B. I. BROKEN GLASS: ALMOST 50% OF CITY STREETS AND SIDEWALKS REPORT BROKEN GLASS

Broken glass includes any instances of broken glass present in the street, on the sidewalk, or immediately next to the sidewalk (within 6 feet). It should be noted that the survey does not specify what type of glass is observed on streets and sidewalks, e.g., glass from broken car windows, bottles, or other objects.

Rating Criteria

Broken glass includes any instances of broken glass present in the street, on the sidewalk, or immediately adjacent to the sidewalk (within 6 feet).

Reporting categories:

- No broken glass present: 0 instances
- Broken glass present: 1 instance or more

1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey

Broken glass was fairly common in both the Core Citywide sample (47%), as well as in selected commercial areas (58%). There were 451 total counts of broken glass in the Citywide Core Survey, compared to 1,333 in the Key Commercial Areas survey.

Comparing the Citywide and Commercial surveys shows that the likelihood of seeing broken glass on a busier commercial street or sidewalk is about 11 percentage points higher.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

The 2,300+ evaluations conducted among commercial areas revealed that broken glass was observed in almost 60% of evaluations. This means that the likelihood of an individual seeing broken glass on a commercial street segment may be fairly common.

The following maps (Figure 4.5 and Figure 4.6) show neighborhood- and street-level results.[18]

By neighborhood, we can see that most SF neighborhoods with commercial areas had broken glass. The full neighborhood results can be found in Appendix E. Table VI.

[18] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the broken glass results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

- Among neighborhoods where more evaluations were conducted, the survey shows: 66% in the Tenderloin reported broken glass, and in nearby South of Market, 71%; followed by 72% in the Mission, and 70% in the Outer Richmond
- Neighborhoods where the severity of broken glass fell below 35% include: Castro/Upper Market (33%), Chinatown (33%), Glen Park (22%), and Noe Valley (13%)
- Although the Lone Mountain/USF neighborhood had relatively fewer evaluations, 83% reported observations of broken glass in this area.

The map in Figure 4.6 shows the average rating per street segment. The green lines indicate that "No broken glass" was observed, and the red lines mean that "Yes, broken glass" was observed. Concentrations of broken glass could be found across major commercial areas throughout the City, specifically the downtown South of Market area, the Mission, Bayview Hunters Point, and the Richmond.

For more information on SF Public Works cleaning programs, see https://sfpublicworks.org/services/cleaning-programs and Appendix C. City Street & Sidewalk Programs.

B. II. FECES: ABOUT 30% OF EVALUATED STREETS AND SIDEWALKS REPORT FECES

1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey

Any observations of human and animal feces found along the street and sidewalk are counted during evaluations.[19]

Observations of human and animal feces were less common in the random, Citywide sample of 957 residential and commercial evaluations, with 70% of evaluations finding no feces on the street or sidewalk, and 30% observing feces.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

In contrast to the Core Citywide survey, almost half 47% of evaluations in commercial areas observed feces.

At the neighborhood level, observations of feces in Key Commercial Areas were more common in the Tenderloin, South of Market, the Mission, and the Marina. Key neighborhood findings:

- Among some of the highest observations of feces included Nob Hill (89%), the Tenderloin (74%), Neighborhood Group 1 – Japantown, North Beach, Pacific Heights, Russian Hill, and Western Addition (67%), and the Mission (61%).
- Nine neighborhoods had 50% or more of evaluations that observed feces
- Two neighborhoods observed instances of feces below 20%: Glen Park (11%) and Noe Valley (17%)

[19] Feces also includes bags filled with feces that are not inside trash receptacles. Feces that are spread or smeared on the street, sidewalk, or other objects along the evaluation route are counted. Stains that appear to be related to feces but have been cleaned are not counted. Bird droppings are excluded.

The map in Figure 4.9 shows the average rating per street segment. The green lines indicate that "No feces" was observed, and the red lines mean that "Yes, feces" observed. There were concentrations of observations in the Tenderloin, South of Market, Mission, and Marina neighborhoods, but smaller street segments throughout the City also had some higher frequencies.

How Concerned Citizens Can Help

For more information on SF Public Works cleaning programs, see https://sfpublicworks.org/services/cleaning-programs and Appendix C. City Street & Sidewalk Programs.

[20] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the feces results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

B. III. SYRINGES: 1% OF EVALUATED STREETS AND SIDEWALKS REPORT SYRINGES

Syringes on the streets and sidewalks of San Francisco are some of the most visible signs of open-air substance use. Moreover, they pose a serious risk to public health and safety. The survey results here provide an estimate of the likelihood of observing discarded syringes in the City.

Surveyors evaluated this category by counting any abandoned syringes found along or immediately adjacent to the street and sidewalk. Included in these counts are syringe barrels and needles; plungers or caps alone are excluded from the syringe count.

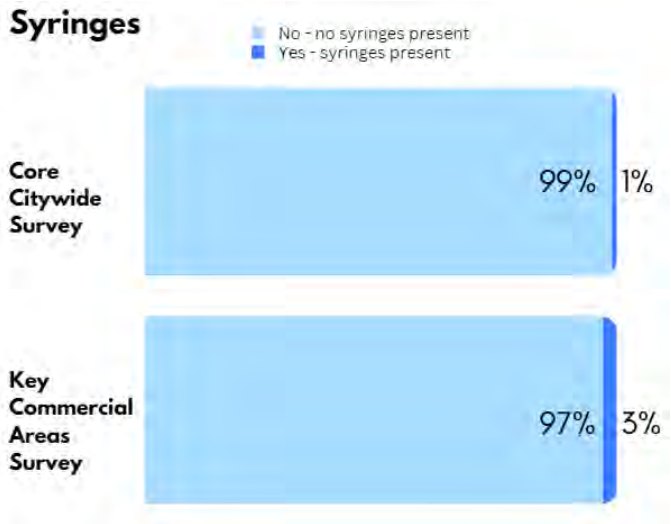
1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey

Observations of syringes were very rare in the random, Citywide sample of 957 residential and commercial evaluations, with 1% of evaluations finding syringes on the street or sidewalk, and the remaining 99% reporting no syringes.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

Similar to the core Citywide sample, instances of syringes on select commercial areas were quite infrequent, at about 3% of the total evaluations conducted. The likelihood of seeing syringes in commercial areas was slightly greater when compared to residential areas.

The following maps (Figure 4.11 and Figure 4.12) show neighborhood- and street-level results.[21] By neighborhood, we can see that observations of syringes in San Francisco's commercial areas were very rare across most of the City. The full neighborhood results can be found in Appendix E.



- Notably, 59% of the 27 neighborhoods evaluated reported no observations of syringes, including the Financial District/South Beach, Chinatown, Sunset/Parkside, and Mission Bay.

[21] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the syringe results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

- South of Market and the Tenderloin reported the highest frequency of evaluations observing syringes (11% and 7% respectively).
- In neighborhoods where more evaluations were conducted, such as the Mission and the Outer Richmond, relatively lower proportions of evaluations reported abandoned syringes – 4% in the Mission and 1% in the Outer Richmond.

The map below in Figure 4.12 shows the average rating per street segment. The green lines indicate that "No syringes" were observed, and the red lines mean that "Yes, syringes" observed. Syringes were found in a few neighborhoods – the Tenderloin, South of Market, and the Mission.

B. IV OTHER HEALTH HAZARD CATEGORIES: 5% OF EVALUATIONS REPORT DEAD ANIMALS & 0.1% REPORT CONDOMS

The following subsections summarize high-level results for other health hazard categories where very few instances were observed in evaluations. These categories include dead animals, used condoms, and odors.

i. Dead Animals

As part of health hazard observations, dead animals are also included in evaluations of City streets and sidewalks. Evaluators count the number of dead animals on a given route. In the random, core Citywide sample, observations of dead animals comprised about 5%, with most instances occuring in residential areas. In the Key Commercial Areas Survey, observations of dead animals made up 0.5% of all evaluations.

How Concerned Citizens Can Help

If you observe dead animals on the streets or sidewalks in San Francisco, the SF311 website provides additional information about what to do: https://sf311.org/services/animal-care-and-control.[22] For more information on SF Public Works cleaning programs, see https://sfpublicworks.org/services/cleaning-programs and Appendix C. City Street & Sidewalk Programs.

ii. Used Condoms

Used and opened condoms are counted as part of the street and sidewalk evaluations. Among the 957 evaluations in the core Citywide sample, 0.1% of evaluations reported used or open condoms on streets or sidewalks. In commercial areas, there were slightly more observations of condoms – 0.5% of evaluations found condoms on streets or sidewalks.

How Concerned Citizens Can Help

If you observe used or open condoms on the streets or sidewalks in San Francisco, the SF311 website provides additional information about what to do: https://sf311.org/services/street-or-sidewalk-cleaning. For more information on SF Public Works cleaning programs, see https://sfpublicworks.org/services/cleaning-programs and Appendix C. City Street & Sidewalk Programs.

iii. Odors

Odors are defined as any strong, unpleasant or offensive odors that may be present along an evaluated street or sidewalk. While their detection by the noses of our evaluators is generally subjective, odors detected may include urine, feces, sewage, and other foul spillage. Included in this category are odors emanating from drains, sewers, catch basins, and waste bins. Our evaluators do not rank the intensity of the odors.

Citywide, there were 17 observations of odors, of which, 24% were associated with sewers and catch basins. Results in this category were higher when examining Key Commercial Areas, which found 78 odor observations, of which, 15% came from sewers.

C. GRAFFITI

ABOUT 20% OF STREETS & SIDEWALKS HAVE GRAFFITI, BUT GRAFFITI MORE COMMON IN COMMERCIAL AREAS

Overview

Graffiti is defined as illicit text, symbols, and images marked on buildings, sidewalks, street pavement, trees, and other stationary assets that are visible to the public. Legally, graffiti is an act of vandalism and is categorized as a quality of life crime.

Graffiti includes the following that are difficult to remove and costly to mitigate:

- Stickers;
- Markings with paint, pen, marker, acid, and other permanent or semi-permanent materials used for writing;
- Physical etchings on buildings, windows, and objects that are clearly visible from the sidewalk or path

Graffiti does not include:

- Temporary or washable mediums, like chalk or dirt;
- Graffiti on mobile or temporary objects that one person can easily remove, such as personal waste bins, construction cones, litter, and automobiles;
- Markings on large abandoned items that are counted as illegal dumping;
- Murals or other artwork permitted by a property owner
- Etchings or indentations in cement, asphalt, or concrete that is part of the sidewalk, street, or path;
- Marking that identify sidewalk defects to be repaired;
- Markings that identify underground utilities.

In evaluating graffiti, surveyors distinguish between graffiti on private property (most buildings and sidewalks); property owned, managed, or maintained by the City and County of San Francisco; and other property maintained by other public agencies. Depending on the property type, different agencies are responsible for removal, as described in Figure 4.13 below.[23]

City Property	Utilities & Other Agencies	Private Property	Sidewalks
Street surfaces and public trash receptacles, some trees	Street signs, parking meters, mailboxes, bus stops, and most other public street property maintained by other government or corporate entities (such as BART, Caltrain, CalTrans, PG&E). Public Works will abate this graffiti and bill the responsible agency.	Storefronts, newspaper stands, and other non-sidewalk privately owned property. Public Works notifies property owners to abate graffiti on their property.	Storefronts, newspaper stands, and other non-sidewalk privately owned property. Public Works notifies property owners to abate graffiti on their property.

Rating Criteria

Graffiti is grouped into the following categories based on the number of instances surveyors report.

- None - Minor: 0 – 25 instances
- Moderate: 26 – 100 instances
- Severe: more than 100 instances

1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey

Observations of graffiti were not typical in the Citywide sample of residential and commercial routes, with just over 20% of evaluations finding moderate to severe graffiti.

By property type, almost 60% of graffiti observations in the Citywide sample were on public property that the City and County of San Francisco maintains (see Figure 4.15).

[23] For more information on rules and resources for removing graffiti on private property, see: https://sfpublicworks.org/services/graffiti-private-property.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

On average, 71% of all commercial area evaluations in San Francisco had moderate to severe graffiti. Overall, almost a third of evaluations (29%) had low levels of graffiti. By property type, graffiti was more likely to appear on private property compared to the Citywide sample.

- Most graffiti observed by neighborhood fell into the moderate category on average, at 46%.
- 72% of evaluations in Haight Ashbury were found to have severe graffiti, followed by 71% of evaluations in the Mission, and 69% of evaluations in Bernal Heights
- Visitacion Valley was the only neighborhood reporting only low levels of graffiti, with no moderate or severe graffiti present

The map on the following page (Figure 4.17) shows the average rating per street segment. As this map highlights, severe graffiti was more likely to be observed in the Mission and Tenderloin.

[24] It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the graffiti results shown for neighborhoods in the Key Commercial Areas survey should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

[25] As described in the neighborhood sampling methodology section of Appendix B., "Neighborhood Group #1" consists of Japantown, North Beach, Pacific Heights, Russian Hill, and Western Addition. "Neighborhood Group #2" consists of Oceanview/Merced/Ingleside and West of Twin Peaks.

D. TRANSIT SHELTERS

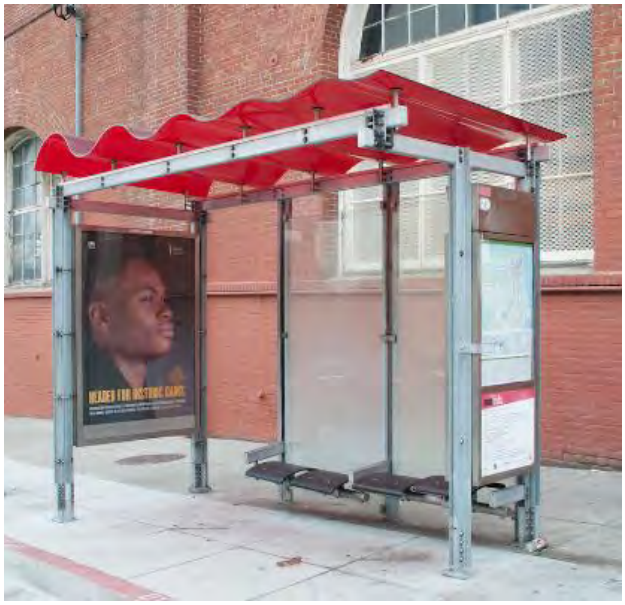
Overview

Transit shelters are defined as covered structures located at designated transit stops to provide protection from the elements as well as seating for waiting transit users. When present along an evaluation route, evaluators examine the physical structure and space within the transit shelter, as well as the area immediately next to the shelter.



Transit shelters, when present on evaluated routes, are examined for any occurrences of the same cleanliness issues:

- Litter
- Sidewalk clearance/obstruction (such as an improperly parked scooter or bicycle)
- Illegal dumping
- Hazards
- Broken glass
- Dead animal(s)
- Feces
- Open/used condom
- Syringe(s)
- Graffiti (non-etched)

Note that evaluators can report multiple issues, such as litter and graffiti, for a single transit shelter. Additionally, the issues noted for transit shelters should also be reflected in other survey questions. For example, if a evaluator observes graffiti on a transit shelter, they would count the number of tags and add it to the total for SF government property under the graffiti question.

Who is Responsible?

The SF Municipal Transit Authority (SFMTA) is responsible for the maintenance of transit shelters, including cleaning, graffiti removal, and repairs.

1. Findings – Core Citywide Survey

In the Citywide sample of nearly 1,000 evaluations, 6% of evaluations had transit shelters present. Of these evaluations with transit shelters, more than 80% of transit shelters reported cleanliness issues, such as litter, broken glass, or other cleanliness issues. See Figure 4.19 below.

2. Findings – Key Commercial Areas Survey

Transit shelters were more likely to be found in commercial areas, with 33% of evaluations reporting their presence along a sidewalk. Similar to the Core Citywide Survey, 94% of evaluations with transit shelters present identified cleanliness issues. See Figure 4.20.

Considering that transit shelters are places where people wait for public transportation, we might expect there to be a high frequency of cleanliness issues. Future analyses could shed more light onto the types of cleanliness issues that take place at transit shelters.

How Concerned Citizens Can Help

If you observe issues with transit shelters in San Francisco, the SF311 website provides additional information about what to do: https://www.sfmta.com/services/maintenance-requests/bus-shelter-maintenance-requests. For more information on SF Public Works cleaning programs, see https://sfpublicworks.org/services/cleaning-programs and Appendix C. City Street & Sidewalk Programs.

5. Further Research

This is the first year the Controller's Office evaluated streets and sidewalks using the new Evaluation Standards. Based on the CY22 findings, the Controller's Office plans to focus on refining the evaluation methodology in the 2023 survey.

This collaborative process with SF Public Works will drive deeper analytical work that aims to support operational decisions. The three major areas of further research below describe future endeavors that the Controller's Office will facilitate in partnership with Public Works stakeholders:

1. Refine Standards & Sampling Methodology

- In collaboration with SF Public Works stakeholders, the Controller's Office will refine survey standard feature definitions and the collection methodology to publish an updated Survey Standards Reference Manual.
- The Controller's Office plans to enhance the sampling methodology to increase the number of random, Core Citywide Survey evaluations. This revision will allow for a sufficiently large sample size to evaluate features at the neighborhood level.

2. Performance Standard Process

- The Controller's Office will use these pilot-year findings as a baseline to inform a future performance standard setting process with relevant stakeholders, including the SF Sanitation and Streets Commission.
- Through this process, the Controller's Office and Public Works stakeholders will decide on the appropriate performance standards to use for each survey feature category. These performance standards will allow for tracking progress against performance targets over time, which will be published in future Annual Reports.

3. Working Paper Series

The findings from the CY22 survey provide a rich source of data for several potential areas of research. The Controller's Office plans to report on additional special topics that build on the findings in this report and support SF Public Works operational decision making.

Potential topics that could be published as part of a future working paper series:

- Examine the relationship between Public Works' CY22 street sweeping schedules and the survey findings, such as street litter and sidewalk litter scores. This paper will also analyze score sensitivity over time. For example, how many hours after street cleaning are streets still clean? When does more litter start accumulating?
- Similar analyses may also be applied to Public Works' CleanCorridorsSF Program, which provides coordinated cleaning services every week in designated neighborhood commercial areas. Such a study may involve examining the conditions of streets and sidewalks in CleanCorridors before cleaning, conditions after cleaning, and analysis of how long these areas remain clean.

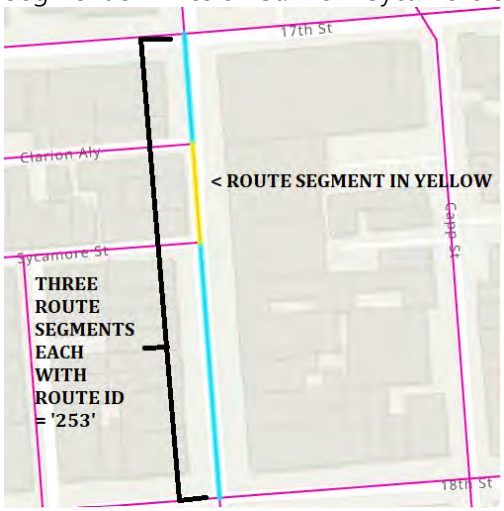
- Conduct root cause analyses of the various factors contributing to streets and sidewalks that do not meet cleanliness standards, such as cleaning schedules, encampments, and inclement weather. This analysis could further entail developing a logic model for maintaining street and sidewalk cleanliness.
- Compare neighborhood-level findings with Census tracts and other data points, such as level of investment, median wage, poverty rates, and demographic characteristics.
- Conduct further geographic analyses by Public Works Work Zones and Supervisorial Districts.

Incorporate Qualitative Research
- Calibrate survey data with relevant findings from the City Survey Public Perception Study of the City's cleanliness
- Incorporate findings from a new DPW Field Operations Perception Study to supplement the quantitative survey findings

APPENDICES

Appendix A: Glossary of Terms

- Corridor: a street with at least one route. For example, Mission St. is a corridor where it has at least 1 route where it is the street
- Encampment: San Francisco Police Code §169 defines an "encampment" as "a tent or any structure consisting of any material with a roof or any other upper covering or that is enclosed by sides that is of sufficient size for a person to fit underneath or inside while sitting or lying down."
- Evaluation: a route evaluated at a specific time and date.
- Residential: Residential describes routes that are in zones defined by SF Planning zoning as predominantly residential.
- Commercial: Commercial describes routes that are in zones defined by SF Planning as predominantly commercial
- Route: one standard street block along one street; one route may have at least one street segment
- Street segment: One subsection of an existing corridor route. A subsection is essentially a block from street corner to street corner. For example, on Mission St. from 17th St to 18th St (route ID #253), there are three streets segments in between, intersected by Sycamore St. and Clarion Alley. These three smaller sections of a route are called segments, or subsections of an existing route. They all have the same route ID (#253):
    - Segment 1 - Mission St. From 17th St. To Clarion Alley
    - Segment 2 - Mission St. From Clarion Alley to Sycamore St.
    - Segment 3 - Mission St. From Sycamore St. To 18th St.



- Street: a street is part of the standard DPW inventory of city streets. This data can be found at https://data.sfgov.org/Geographic-Locations-and-Boundaries/Street-Names/6d9h-4u5v

Sampling Method

WHERE WE EVALUATED

The evaluation team sampled 3,000+ street and sidewalk segments by reviewing 14 specific features to assess the cleanliness and conditions of the City's streets and sidewalks. Specifically, the team conducted evaluations across San Francisco through two surveys – the Core Citywide Survey and the special Key Commercial Areas Survey.

The Core Citywide Survey includes nearly 1,000 randomly selected street segments. This sample represents all the streets and sidewalks across the entire City and County of San Francisco. About 80% of our sample is residential streets and sidewalks, which tend to be cleaner than the commercial ones. The results from this survey provide the baseline Citywide score for each feature and for future years.

The Key Commercial Areas Survey includes 769 high-use corridors sampled from commercial, industrial, or mixed-use street segments. Compared to the more residential-focused Core Citywide Survey, high-use commercial areas tend to see more pedestrian traffic and business activity, which can attract more issues like litter and graffiti. This survey gives us the data needed to determine a score for each feature for these commercial areas at citywide and neighborhood levels.

The maps below show all the street segments evaluated for the Core Citywide Survey and Key Commercial Areas Survey in CY22. In the Core Citywide Survey, commercial street segments are green and residential ones are blue. In the Key Commercial Areas Survey, commercial street segments are light green and Key Commercial Area segments are darker green.

Sampling Approach for Core Citywide Survey

Using a sample size calculator for the total population of San Francisco street segments of 17K, at a 95% confidence level and 10% margin of error, the sample of 817 evaluations in residential areas and 140 evaluations in commercial areas in the Core Citywide sample is sufficiently large for statistical significance. Due to insufficient sample sizes at the neighborhood-level in the Core Citywide survey, neighborhood-level results are not reported here.

Neighborhood Sampling Approach for the Key Commercial Areas Survey

To account for neighborhoods with small sample sizes; for example, 9 evaluations in Japantown, we combined some neighborhoods into two new merged neighborhoods. We took this approach to avoid misrepresenting survey findings in neighborhoods where fewer evaluations were conducted.

- "Neighborhood Group #1" consists of Japantown, North Beach, Pacific Heights, Russian Hill, and Western Addition
- "Neighborhood Group #2" consists of Oceanview/Merced/Ingleside and West of Twin Peaks

It is important to note that the neighborhood-level findings for the Key Commercial Areas survey only represent commercial and not residential street segments. This means that the results shown here should not be interpreted as representing the overall cleanliness of the neighborhood, as residential areas are excluded.

Rating Criteria

STREET LITTER

Street litter includes loose litter present in a street or gutter. The street begins at the vertical wall of the curb on one side and ends at the vertical wall of the curb at the other side of the street. This includes medians and assets in the street. Evaluators select the category that best describes the amount and distribution of litter on the street.

Reporting Categories:

None-Minor	None - the street is free of litter
	A few traces - the street is predominantly free of litter except for a few small traces
Moderate	More than a few traces but no accumulation - there are no piles of litter, and there are large gaps between pieces of litter
Severe	Distributed litter with some accumulation - there may either be large gaps between piles of litter or small gaps between pieces of litter
	Widespread litter with significant accumulation

Street litter excludes: Litter located on the sidewalk; Large abandoned items (illegal dumping); Spillage (grime or inorganic debris); and Organic debris such as leaves, twigs, and grass clippings.

SIDEWALK LITTER

Sidewalk litter includes loose litter present on the sidewalk or immediately adjacent to the sidewalk. This includes litter located in tree wells, bushes, lawns, utility boxes, empty lots, parks, plazas, and most spaces within 6 feet of the sidewalk. The sidewalk begins at the vertical edge of the curb and extends to the fronting building or property line. Evaluators select the category that best describes the amount and distribution of litter on the sidewalk.

Reporting Categories:

None-Minor	None - the sidewalk is free of litter
	A few traces - the sidewalk is predominantly free of litter except for a few small traces
Moderate	More than a few traces but no accumulation - there are no piles of litter, and there are large gaps between pieces of litter
Severe	Distributed litter with some accumulation - there may either be large gaps between piles of litter or small gaps between pieces of litter
	Widespread litter with significant accumulation

Sidewalk litter excludes: Litter located in the street; Litter located on private property behind a physical barrier (such as a fence or gate); Broken glass (but include unbroken glass items); Large abandoned items (illegal dumping); Syringes, feces, used condoms, and dead animals (health hazards); Spillage (grime or inorganic debris); Organic debris such as leaves, twigs, and grass clippings.

TRASH RECEPTACLES

Fixed or semi-permanent waste bins along the public right of way and maintained by the City, such as permanent cement, metal and mechanized receptacles. Evaluators count the number of trash receptacles that are full or overflowing.

This category excludes: Personal waste bins, such as moveable plastic bins; Large industrial dumpsters, such as those used for commercial bulk disposal.

SIDEWALK CLEARANCE

Sidewalk clearance identifies if the sidewalk is obstructed by a narrow or missing path, or if any object obstructs the vertical clearance of the path. Evaluators check for insufficient clearance caused by temporary objects (such as waste bins), fixed objects (such as utility boxes), parked autos, improperly parked bikes and scooters, loose soil or debris, and sidewalk design (such as trees or pavement that ends abruptly).

The threshold for horizontal clearance is set at 4 feet to align with standards determined by the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and standards adopted by San Francisco Public Work in other design and engineering requirements.

The threshold for vertical clearance is set at 8 feet to align with San Francisco's Pruning Standards for Trees (2006), though ADA regulation require a minimum of 80 inches (6' 8") vertical clearance.

Sidewalk clearance excludes pedestrian curb ramps.

SIDEWALK PAVEMENT CONDITION

Evaluators assess the condition of sidewalk pavement along an assigned route for (1) existing defects that have not been marked for repair and (2) defects that have been marked but that have not yet been repaired. Defects include:

- Missing pavement
- Raised/sunken/uneven pavement with a vertical displacement of 1/2 inch or more from the abutting pavement or curb
- Voids, cracks, chips, holes, or gaps that are 1/2 inch or more in width and/or depth from the abutting pavement or curb
- Missing sewer vent covers

Reporting Categories:

Minor	Cracks, chips, and voids up to 1 inch exist but they are isolated. Alligator cracking may exist but there is no missing or unstable pavement. There is no raised/sunken/uneven pavement with a vertical displacement greater than 1/2 inch. There are no protrusions, no missing sewer vent covers, and no exposed steel curb facing.
Moderate	Cracks, chips, and voids larger than 1 inch exist but they are generally isolated. Alligator cracking exists with missing or sunken pavement. There is no raised/sunken/uneven pavement with a vertical displacement greater than 1 inch. Small protrusions may exist and there may be minor exposure of steel curb facing. One or more sewer vent covers are missing.
Severe	Large areas of missing or deteriorated pavement with widespread spalling. Pavement rocks or moves under traffic. Raised/sunken/uneven pavement exists with a vertical displacement greater than 1 inch. Large protrusions that may pose a tripping hazard are present. Steel curb facing is significantly damaged or exposed.

ILLEGAL DUMPING

Illegal dumping generally includes large abandoned items and large debris along the street or sidewalk such as construction debris, appliances, electronics, furniture, mattresses, automobile parts, and bags of garbage. Generally, any litter or abandoned items that are too large or bulky to properly fit into a covered waste receptacle are included in this category. However, there may be instances in which smaller items could be counted as illegal dumping.

Evaluators count the number of large, abandoned items. All items contained in a box or bag count as one object.

Illegal dumping excludes: Items counted as Street Litter or Sidewalk Litter; Items marked or tagged for bulk pickup; Construction waste or debris contained within a construction site; Items that clearly appear to serve a purpose. (For example, exclude cones that notify people of hazards, but include cones that appear to be abandoned.)

BROKEN GLASS

Broken glass includes any instances of broken glass present in the street, on the sidewalk, or immediately adjacent to the sidewalk (within 6 feet).

Reporting categories:

No broken glass present	0 instances
Broken glass present	1 instance or more

HEALTH HAZARDS

- Feces: Evaluators count the number of instances of feces observed along the street and sidewalk. This includes bags filled with feces that are not inside of a waste bin, and animal and human waste, but excludes bird droppings.
- Syringes: Evaluators count the number of syringes observed along the street and sidewalk. This includes syringe barrels and needles but excludes any plungers or caps found on their own or syringes being used.
- Condoms: Evaluators count the number of used and opened condoms present on the street and sidewalk.
- Dead Animals: Evaluators count the number of dead animals on a given route.

Reporting Categories:

None present	0 instances
Hazard present	1 instance or more

ODORS

Evaluators check for the presence of any strong, unpleasant or offensive odors. This includes odors such as urine, feces, sewage, and other foul spillage. This also includes odors emanating from drains, sewers, catch basins, and waste bins.

This category excludes strong odors from paint, cleaning solutions, and other chemical compounds as well as ambient odors from fires.

Reporting Categories:

Yes	Odor detected
No	No odors detected

Graffiti includes illicit text, symbols and images marked on buildings, sidewalks, street pavement, trees, and other stationary assets visible from the public right of way. Evaluators count the number of instances of graffiti present on the sidewalk, street, or other visible building or permanent object.

Graffiti includes:

- Stickers;

- Markings with paint, pen, marker, acid and other permanent or semi-permanent materials used for writing (such as lipstick);
- Physical etchings on buildings, windows and objects that are clearly visible from the sidewalk or sanctioned path.

Graffiti excludes:

Reporting Categories:

None-Minor	0-25 instances
Moderate	26-100 instances
Severe	More than 100 instances

- Litter
- Illegal dumping
- Broken glass
- Dead animal
- Feces
- Open/used condom
- Syringe
- Graffiti (non-etched)
- Grime
- Improperly parked scooter or bicycle

Appendix C. City Street & Sidewalk Programs

In this section, one can learn more about the City's proactive street, sidewalk, and cleaning programs. While SF Public Works is not responsible for all aspects of street and sidewalk maintenance, the department does manage or participate in outreach and engagement programs to proactively encourage private property owners and communities to maintain their local streets and sidewalks. The list below includes a sample of these programs. More information is available at https://sfpublicworks.org/services.

CLEANING PROGRAMS

- Bayview Illegal Dumping Initiative: This program brings together Public Works crews and Recology to run proactive illegal dumping runs four days a week, Tuesday – Friday, in known illegal dumping hotspots in the Bayview neighborhood.

- Chinatown Clean: This neighborhood program provides manual block sweeping seven days a week in Chinatown. The Chinese Newcomers Service Center performs these sweeping services.

- Cigarette Butt Ash Can Pilot: This pilot program involves Public Works corridor workers emptying and strategically placing cigarette butt receptacles in busy commercial areas. This program began in the Richmond and Sunset pilot neighborhoods and is set to expand to more neighborhoods.

- CleanCorridorsSF: Launched in 2020, this program is a coordinated effort to deep-clean designated neighborhood commercial districts every Thursday. SF Public Works deploys a large team to power wash and sweep the sidewalks, flush down the roadway, remove litter, pick up trash, and wipe out graffiti. These cleanings occur once a week in different neighborhoods, covering at least ten blocks. This program is a partnership between Public Works and community members and has resulted in noticeable improvements to the cleanliness of the targeted areas. The CleanCorridorsSf cleaning schedule is posted on the program's website: https://sfpublicworks.org/cleancorridorssf.

- Community Corridors Program: The program began in 2006 to address cleaning and greening needs along San Francisco's busiest commercial corridors. As part of the Corridors Program, local residents who are unemployed or underemployed are hired and trained as Corridor Ambassadors. These 145 Ambassadors help preserve cleaning services along 700 blocks of San Francisco's busiest commercial corridors by helping sweep sidewalks, remove graffiti, identify and report deficiencies, and landscape public spaces and tree basins. To learn more, please visit: https://sfpublicworks.org/services/community-corridors-partnership.

- Doo the Right Thing Campaign: This initiative aims to encourage canine owners to clean up their dogs' waste. Public Works distributes free dog waste bags to participating businesses for them to give away to customers.

- Garbage Can Sensors: To prevent overflowing, intelligent sensors have been installed on more than 800 public trash cans to signal when they are nearing capacity.

- Garbage Can Steam Cleaning: To clean more than 3,000 public trash cans at least once a month the Community Youth Center steam cleans public trash cans at least once a month, and more frequently in downtown neighborhoods.

- Graffiti Team: The Graffiti Team abates tags from City property and works with other government agencies and private property owners to remove graffiti from their assets.

- Graffiti-opt-in for Private Property: This pilot is a two-year initiative launched in fall 2022. This program provides courtesy graffiti abatement on private properties in neighborhood commercial corridors. This service is available for business and property owners who choose to participate.

- Hot Spots: The Hot Spots program is comprised of four crews responsible for cleaning encampments seven days a week.

- Love Our City: Neighborhood Beautification Day: Public Works organizes this volunteer cleaning program in different neighborhoods throughout the City to support landscaping and gardening projects, graffiti removal, and litter cleanup. These beautification days take place every month except December. Additionally, Public Works' Community Engagement Team hosts and organizes Love Our City volunteer greening events almost every day of the year with businesses, neighborhood groups, and schools. To learn more, please visit: https://sfpublicworks.org/LoveOurCity.

- Mechanical Bike Lane Sweepers: These sweepers clean protected bike lanes that cannot be accessed by the regular, wider mechanical sweeping trucks Public Works uses.

- Mechanical Street Sweeping: Regular street sweeping services cover 150,000 curb miles along 90% of San Francisco's streets.

- Median cleanup: As part of a workforce development program, this effort provides routine litter removal and weeding along select medians.

- Neighborhood Enhancement Action Team (NEAT): The NEAT team is responsible for overnight encampment cleaning in alleyways.

- Night Shift: Public Works' Night Shift crews clean from 10:30 pm to 6:30 am. These crews focus on downtown areas and City Plazas, and also respond to emergencies.

- Outreach and Enforcement Team (OnE Team): The OnE Team is responsible for both educating the public about their rights and responsibilities regarding street and sidewalk cleanliness and enforcing City codes to meet sanitation standards. Assigned to geographic zones, team members attend community meetings, investigate complaints, enforce city codes through foot inspections and citations, and resolve issues of public concern. The team also supports other Public Works programs. To learn more, please visit: https://sfpublicworks.org/oneteam.

- Public Information Officers (PIO): In addition to the OnE Team, PIOs educate and inform the public and key Public Works partners about federal, state, and local laws and ordinances. PIOs work with the public, residents, merchants, and private property owners to perform a variety of functions, such as: provide information on cleanliness standards, investigate complaints, inspect City streets and sidewalks, and write citations and Notices of Violation when warranted. To learn more, please visit: https://sfpublicworks.org/oneteam.

- Swing Shift: The Swing Shift works from 12 pm to 9:30 pm and focuses on service requests and emergency response.

- TLClean: This Tenderloin neighborhood program provides manual sweeping seven days a week.

- Zone Cleaning: Zone Cleaning is both proactive and request based. Workers are split into six geographic zones and operate from 6:00 am to 3:00 pm, The program includes litter patrol trucks, steamers, and apprentices.

STREETS

More information on street programs is available at https://sfpublicworks.org/streets.

- Adopt-A-Street Program: This program, which began in 1998, is a partnership between the City and its merchants and residents. Groups or individuals agree to adopt an area and take responsibility for keeping the street, sidewalk, and storm drain clean. In return, Public Works provides free street cleaning supplies, and litter and compostable leaf bag pickup. The program, which now has thousands of individuals and merchant associations signed on, aims to strengthen community ties while also creating a cleaner, more pleasant environment. To learn more, please visit: https://sfpublicworks.org/get_involved/adopt-street-program.

- The Committee for Utility Liaison on Construction and Other Projects (CULCOP): This Committee holds a monthly meeting chaired by Public Works. Its members include a representative from each city agency and utility company who performs excavation work within the public right of way Admin. Code 5.63a. CULCOP members are committed to coordinating street excavation, utility work, paving and other construction projects in the public right of way in order to minimize the impact of construction on our streets and in our neighborhoods. Meetings are held the third Thursday of every month. The public is welcome to attend. For additional information, see: https://sfpublicworks.org/services/culcop.

- Pothole Repair: Pothole repair is an ongoing operation of Public Works' street and sewer repair program. Repairs include the patching of potholes, depressions, bumps, and other defects on city streets. Sometimes other agencies, such as the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission or private utility companies, are responsible for repairing potholes and other street defects resulting from inadequately restored utility cuts. If the repair is the responsibility of another agency, Public Works will notify that agency. If it is the responsibility of Public Works, a street repair crew will pave over the pothole. To learn more, please visit https://sfpublicworks.org/services/potholes.

SIDEWALKS

More information on sidewalk programs is available at https://sfpublicworks.org/streets. For information on sidewalk inspection and enforcement services, see: https://sfpublicworks.org/inspection-and-enforcement.

- Accelerated Sidewalk Abatement Program (ASAP): The ASAP program inspects and expedites corrective action for sidewalks in extremely poor condition along residential and commercial throughways, as defined by the City's Better Streets Plan. The Program inspects and expedites corrective action on claim and accessibility-related sidewalk complaints, as well as high-priority pedestrian right-of-way conditions referred by the public and verified by inspection staff. ASAP also inspects and initiates corrective action on sidewalks around City-maintained trees and fronting several City agencies. To learn more, please visit: https://sfpublicworks.org/inspection-and-enforcement.

- Curb Ramp Program: The objective of the Curb Ramp Program is to provide accessible path of travel for all public sidewalks throughout San Francisco through the installation of curb ramps. Public Works provides the engineering to design the curb ramps. Curb ramp requests and projects come from Public Works' paving projects, DPT, MUNI, Mayor's Office on Disability, SFUSD (School District) and the Recreation and Park Department. For more information on the American with Disabilities Act (ADA) and or to report a grievance, please visit the Mayor's Office on Disability website. If you are a resident and use a wheelchair, walker, or scooter, you can request a curb ramp in your neighborhood by calling 311. To learn more, please visit: https://sfpublicworks.org/curbrampprogram.

- Sidewalk Inspection and Repair Program (SIRP): Launched in 2007, this proactive program inspects and repairs sidewalks throughout the City on a 25-year cycle. The SIRP program informs all responsible parties (both public and private property owners) of sidewalk damage. The Department then coordinates repairs in an expedited time frame to increase efficiency and improve pedestrian safety. Sidewalks identified with the greatest number of these community elements are inspected and repaired first. To learn more, please visit: https://sfpublicworks.org/sirp.

- Great Streets Program: In 2005, the Great Streets Program was established to improve neighborhood streets across the city by demonstrating best practices in design and the value of landscaping, lighting and pedestrian safety. These projects are funded through a multi-year federal transportation bill called the Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity Act (SAFETEA) and other federal and state grants: A streetscape improvement project is coordinated through multiple city agencies and the community in consultation with The Better Streets Plan, The Bicycle Plan, The Transit Effectiveness Project (TEP), and many other existing plans and programs. To learn more, please visit: https://sfpublicworks.org/services/great-streets-program.

- Pit Stop Pilot Program: SF Public Works launched the Pit Stop program in 2014. This program provides clean and safe public toilets, sinks, used needle receptacles and dog waste stations in San Francisco's most impacted neighborhoods. The program utilizes both portable toilets, which are trucked to and from the sites daily after overnight servicing at a remote location, and the semi-permanent JCDecaux self-cleaning toilets. Learn more about the program, hours of operation, and locations by visiting https://sfpublicworks.org/pitstop.

- Street Parks: This program is a partnership between Public Works, the San Francisco Parks Alliance and the residents of San Francisco to develop community managed spaces on City-owned land. The Street Parks program transforms vacant lots into gardens, trash and illegal dumping spots into greenery, and hillsides into parks. Since the program's inception in 2004, more than 100 Street Parks have been established and more are in progress. Learn more about this program and what you can do to contribute by visiting https://sfpublicworks.org/streetparks.

Appendix D. SF Public Works Maintenance Responsibilities

Not all evaluated elements are the responsibility of the Department of Public Works to maintain. Generally, SF Public Works' maintenance responsibilities are streets "curb-to-curb," while sidewalk maintenance is the responsibility of private property owners.

Private property owners are responsible for removing graffiti from their buildings and keeping sidewalks and curbs in front of their property clean and maintained. In some areas, property owners and merchants form community benefits districts to fund sidewalk maintenance and cleaning operations.

San Francisco Public Works and other City agencies maintain public streets and City property on or along the sidewalk. This includes curb ramps, trees, and bus shelters. Agencies partner with local groups to provide specialized services or resources. This includes teams with Public Works, SFMTA, the Public Utilities Commission, and Mayor's Office of Economic and Community Development.

Local, state, and federal agencies, as well as private utilities, are responsible for other features like power lines, highways, regional transit shelters, and schools.

	SF Public Works Responsible	Private Property Responsible	Other Public Agencies Responsible
Streets	Litter and maintenance issues are SF Public Works' responsibility "curb to curb." SF Public Works performs street sweeping operations to keep street surfaces clean and repairs potholes and other damage to road surfaces.	--	--
Sidewalks	Responsible for curb ramps and odors emanating from SF Public Works-maintained assets.	City sidewalks are private property and the responsibility of fronting property owners. Illegal sidewalk dumping is the responsibility of property owners. SF Public Works notifies property owners if repairs are needed; if property owners fail to make repairs, SF Public Works repairs sidewalks and bills owners.	Light poles, traffic signs, signal boxes, retaining walls, and other public property on the sidewalk are maintained by other public agencies (e.g., BART, MTA, or PUC).

Graffiti	Responsible for graffiti removal on trash receptacles and street surfaces.	Graffiti on sidewalk surfaces and other private property (e.g., newspaper stands) is the responsibility of the property owner. If SF Public Works finds this graffiti, they will send a notice to the property owner, who must clean the graffiti or face blight penalties.	If SF Public Works finds graffiti on non-SF Public Works property, they remove the graffiti and bill the appropriate City agency.
Trash Receptacles	SF Public Works owns the City's trash receptacles. Some are cleaned and maintained directly by SF Public Works, while others are maintained by an independent contractor, Recology.	Private trash bins are not evaluated.	--

Subject: Q4 CY 2022 Reporting on City-Funded 100% Affordable Housing Projects (Ordinance 216-18; File #180547)

Good afternoon!

Please find attached the quarterly 100% affordable housing report for Quarter 4 of Calendar Year 2022, the period from October 1, 2022, through December 31, 2022.

This report is the first issued following the issuance of the Budget and Legislative Analyst (BLA)'s report, titled "Performance Audit of Affordable Housing Financing," released on April 4, 2023. MOHCD worked closely with the BLA to provide information on financing, permitting, and overall development processes. In partnership with the BLA, MOHCD has incorporated its recommendations regarding these quarterly reports starting with this iteration (Q4 CY 2022).

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to myself or Sheila Nickolopoulos, CCed on this email.

Thank you!

Re: Q4 CY 2022 Reporting on City-Funded 100% Affordable Housing Projects (Ordinance 216-18; File #180547)

To the Honorable Mayor Breed and Members of the Board of Supervisors, Enclosed please find the quarterly report on MOHCD's 100% affordable housing projects, as required by City Ordinance 216-18 and as part of OEWD's Executive Directive 17-02, covering Quarter 4 (Q4) of Calendar Year (CY) 2022, the period from October 1, 2022, through December 31, 2022.

This report is the first issued following the issuance of the Budget and Legislative Analyst (BLA)'s report, titled "Performance Audit of Affordable Housing Financing," released on April 4, 2023. MOHCD worked closely with the BLA to provide information on financing, permitting, and overall development processes. In partnership with the BLA, MOHCD has incorporated its recommendations regarding these quarterly reports starting with this iteration (Q4 CY 2022).

As referenced in Administrative Code Section 109.3, this report is required and has been updated to include:

(a) a list of every 100% Affordable Housing Project that has applied for approval, permit, or other City authorization from the Department of Building Inspection, Public Works, Fire Department, Mayor's Office on Disability, or Planning Department;

(b) information regarding the financing and financing-related deadlines for each 100% Affordable Housing Project;

(c) any approval, permit or other City authorization each 100% Affordable Housing Project is waiting to receive from the department or office; and

(d) the date of any application and current status of each pending approval, permit or other City authorization for each 100% Affordable Housing Project.

As such, you will find three different sections in this report:

1) Financing. This section indicates types of funding received or awarded to each project, key submission dates for funding programs, and construction loan closing information. This data and information determine the final local subsidy amount per unit and the timeline to reach Certificate of Occupancy, as local subsidy amounts depend on which funding is received from State or other sources, and Certificate of Occupancy issuance date depends on when the construction loan closes.

2) Permitting. This section indicates what types of permits were issued or applied for, departmental review updates, and what steps have been taken to coordinate and streamline the permitting process. These permit issuance dates also impact a project's Certificate of Occupancy date, as a project must obtain site permits and relevant addenda in order to complete specific portions of the project by certain deadlines in order to satisfy a number of project requirements. This includes not only those set by the San Francisco Department of Building Inspection in order to reach a point where the project is considered substantially complete, but also requirements set by conditions in approved agreements between the development team and other funding sources and programs (e.g. Low-Income Housing Tax Credits, State of California affordable housing grant programs, MOHCD gap financing loans, etc.).

   The requirement for reporting on permit status was codified in 2018 by Ordinance 216-18 and was intended to bring "clarity and speed" to the pre- and post-entitlement permitting process for 100% percent affordable projects in conjunction with the City's new priority permitting program to address permitting delays. Since the ordinance took effect, permit tracking has been made available online at the following link: https://dbiweb02.sfgov.org/dbipts/.

   Additionally, since the passage of Senate Bill 35, which grants ministerial approval for 100% affordable housing projects, permitting is no longer a primary cause of delay for affordable housing projects in San Francisco.

3) MOHCD Allocations Tool. This is a point-in-time, three-year snapshot (Fiscal Years 22-23, 23-24, and 24-25) of the Allocations Tool, an internal working document that MOHCD utilizes to ensure that the City is able to fully fund its pipeline of projects as they move through the development process. It is continually updated as funding sources, project costs, and project schedules change.

   The snapshot shows balances for the 32 funding sources that MOHCD manages, which are committed to pipeline projects. While the snapshot projects out three years, these commitments can stretch over a five-year period given that development timelines vary widely, most often due to circumstances beyond the City's control.

   Since this is the first report in which this tool has been provided, please note that the data included is current through May 1, 2023.

Looking forward, MOHCD's Housing Development team and Data Evaluation and Compliance team are working to incorporate these specific fields into existing online databases, as this information is currently gathered and updated manually. This will result in a more efficient and responsive reporting process by centralizing affordable housing data.

If you have any further questions, please contact Sheila Nickolopoulos, Director of Policy and Legislative Affairs for MOHCD, at sheila.nickolopoulos@sfgov.org.
