Message to the Board of Supervisors, Mayor and SFMTA

From your constituent Jude Gabbard

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Jenna Kaiser

The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered.

I have asked you to rod meters to e corkage shoppers and tourists alike. Instead you want to charge people $8 for 2 hrs to window shop?!!? That is ludicrous. If anything meters should Pause charging or charge as little as $2 for a whole day to encourage people from far to come here to work and play, without needs to break-even on the cost of arriving here. Please.

Thank you.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Hello SF Board of Supervisors,

Just writing in to note my support of the SFMTA's plan to extend metered parking hours starting this year. Our transit agency is in a financial crisis, and we are in a climate crisis, as well as a crisis of traffic violence and fatalities, and moving forward on this is the prudent choice.

Thank you,
Lian

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

My elderly parents find the city hard enough to navigate and Sunday is the only day they feel comfortable because they can park in my neignborhood without the stress of a parking ticket. This is a terrible example of yet another charge in San Francisco that falls most heavily on the poor and on the service workers. Plain and simple, this is a terrible idea!

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am a business owner in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business, our neighbor's businesses and their employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.
Sincerely,

Elaine Coombs

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an employee of Urban Putt, located at 1096 South Van Ness Ave.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Cheers,
Jenna Dominello

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

This is not cool. How about not paying some fucking san francisco drag laureate $55,000 a year and putting that in place of ripping off people with this new meter tax.

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Mahudiel Ramirez

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
April Yarahmadi

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Subject: Public comment: Item 41, Delay Implementation of Meter Hour Extension
Date: Monday, May 22, 2023 4:50:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

This letter is intended as public comment for tomorrow's Board of Supervisors meeting.

I am writing to push back against the idea that equity demands we delay implementation of the Meter Hour Extension, as the resolution entitled "Urging SFMTA to Delay Implementation of Meter Hour Extension" requests SFTMA do. There is also little reason to believe that extended hours would be bad for business.

First, equity is more complex than only looking at restaurant workers, as was argued for in the SF Chronicle (https://www.sfchronicle.com/bayarea/article/sf-parking-meters-extended-hours-18097068.php). Equity is being able to move around the city quickly and efficiently without a car. SFMTA is facing a $130M hole in its FY25 (over $200M in FY26) in its operational budget. This change to meter regulations was directly in response to that hole, as one way to start to close it. The nearly $20M the change in metering would raise is enough to support three entire bus lines of service. Even if the city fails to find alternative funding - and I have seen no plan from any Supervisor or city official on how the deficit will be filled - keeping the metering changes will at least reduce the extreme pain on transit dependent riders.

Low income workers that have to drive due to insufficient MUNI service after 10pm (and indeed, it is very insufficient after 10pm, even more so after midnight) do need better transportation solutions. The right long term solution is to properly fund and support transportation. But since the city is not there yet, may I suggest two other options:

* Include workers in RPP programs.
* Allow workers to apply for a geo-fenced meter exemption.
* Extend the Emergency Ride Home program to workers who are unserved by public transit.
* Or, less expensive than that, work with the Mayor to design funding for MUNI that would allow it to run proper night time service.

Second, there is little evidence in literature to suggest the meters reduce business revenue, and much to suggest that they do the opposite. By actively stimulating turn over, meters help businesses avoid non-customers who simply take up the parking and walk away. Almost all businesses in SF compete with local residential parking at night after meters turn off. By keeping meters on it helps ensure most spaces will be taken up by customers, not by local residents.

While Scott Winer continues to push for state level operational funding, the change that state legislators act sufficiently this year is grim. Without action, SFMTA will start to cut service this summer. The additional $20M that extended meters will bring in will help to delay those cuts. If the Board can not bring itself to support extended hours, then it needs to put forth additional general fund transfers to make up the difference. SFMTA has very limited revenue options without Board or state action. If the Board believes that the meter proposal is unjust, then it must make a counter offer on how we will keep MUNI on life support.

Cheers,
Cyrus Hall

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors & Honorable Mayor Breed:

Extending the hours for parking meters is a misguided, if arguably well-intentioned, attempt to solve the impending fiscal cliff facing public transit by unduly burdening precisely the people who can least afford it: the residents and workers for whom parking rent is just one more unaffordable housing cost burden.

The vast majority of people park on the street in the evenings for 2 reasons:

- they are residents who can barely afford housing rent let alone parking rent, or
- they are the essential workers at the restaurants, bars and retail stores so critical to our economy, our tourist appeal, and our quality of life.

We can't permit the most vulnerable from being unduly taxed so we can avoid a transit fiscal cliff.

And creating one more impediment to residents patronizing their favorite eateries and entertainment venues is antithetical to avoiding the "doom loop" scenario.

There has to be a better solution!

I know you all love San Francisco as much as I do, or you wouldn't be in public service. I strongly encourage you to reconsider this ill-advised proposal. We can do better.

Sincerely,

Tim Runde

Hi! I am a business owner/resident/employee in District 10.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Thank you for considering my plea to action and block the parking hike!

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

11 years ago, I was priced out of San Francisco and moved to Oakland. I am a Bay Area native, lived in The City for 15 years. When I drive into the city for work and play on a Sunday, or for dinner in the evening, the last thing I want to do is worry about my meter running!! What a ridiculous tax for those of us who've been in the Bay our whole lives!!
(The following is the form email, which I also agree with.)

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Denise Doyle

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors, locals and local businesses - adding more financial strain, in the forms of both initial parking fees and fines and inevitable penalties for expired meters, which now can be incurred for a much larger portion of the day and on weekends.

Frankly, this move seems intended primarily not to extend the hours in which parking meter fees can be collected, but first and foremost to expand the number of opportunities to CITE drivers for expired meters. Drivers who have parked on the street for an evening with family or friends should not have to be running out to their cars every two hours to avoid an $80-or-more parking citation. Operating parking meters promote parking turnover, which is important during normal business hours. But the interruption that this proposal would impose upon slower evening activities — during hours when many businesses have closed — seems unjustifiable. Indeed, it seems transparently designed to create more opportunities to ticket cars whose drivers have reasonably become absorbed in their evening or Sunday afternoon activities and are understandably not preoccupied with their cars.

This extension will disproportionately affect restaurant workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner of La Méditerranée located at 288 Noe Street, 2210 Fillmore Street, and 1624 Powell street.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening,

Vanick Der Bedrossian, La Méditerranée

Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

As an alternative, I suggest that the SFPD start enforcing motor vehicle moving violations and ticketing bad drivers. The streets are increasingly dangerous since the pandemic with people driving at high rates of speed, blocking crosswalks that puts pedestrians at risk, and barely even stopping at stop signs. Start to enforce moving violations and leave it to the traffic court. This will increase revenue as these violations are much more costly than mere parking meter violations.

We are still waiting for the SFPD to do something visibly constructive to improve our city and this would be an effective start.

Thank you.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator/employee of Scopo Divino restaurant, located at 2800 California Street.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Isabella Serrano

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am the chef/owner of Gozu restaurant, located at 201 Spear Street.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will beaffected.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.
I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.
Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Board of Supervisors,

I'm barely hanging on in this city and the SFMTA keeps making it tougher. The parking meter hour expansion affects me directly and my likelihood of going to restaurants in the evening. It will have a prohibitive effect. Don't tell me to take the bus; the 38 ride is miserable and I go to the last stop. The road surface and aging suspension systems in your vehicles have combined to make deafening chatter and manic vibration the chief "entertainment". Impossible to read when seated... Arthritis is taking its toll and bicycle riding is becoming more problematic.

I also use my car when working late night catering gigs in, say Dogpatch, and your additional parking fees are a flat tax coming straight out of my modest wages.

I keep wondering why people would visit a city who's outstretched hand is only to collect their money while providing them no protection against thieves smashing their windows and taking their suitcases.

An angry voter,
David Page

Sincerely,
David Page

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I doubt this will be read, but I am an employee of Wayfare Tavern restaurant located at 558 Sacramento Street.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

The hospitality industry & other small businesses are already having an extremely hard time finding employees in the City, we cannot pay people enough to keep up with inflation, we cannot afford to pay for private parking for all our employees like the financial & big tech companies in our area. Full-service restaurants only average between 3 – 5% profit if everything goes well, operating in the city is extremely difficult, and downtown is already suffering with people not returning to the office. There is nowhere to park for our employees who get off work late, who are now driving in daily from Anitoch, Modesto, Vallejo ect.. they are already paying bridge tolls, gas, for new windows "that will eventually get bashed in" ect... Just to commute to work our staff is looking at +$60 a day to park, or $500+ a month for private parking. Not to mention our customers, who spend time searching the area for parking while private garages close at 8pm or don't even open anymore.. There has to be a better way, this is so drastic and extreme. Maybe a permit for hourly workers, or a lower day rate? You have to understand we will have no one to work for us. The cost of the city has made it impossible to work & live here, so all our employees live far away... That means no restaurants, bad service, and a worse downtown (doom loop) we can't operate without people.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds. I take Muni daily, I didn't have a car for years, but people working in SF come from all different financial backgrounds, changes like this only hurt the people already hurting, the rich can pay the rate, take an uber, or pay a ticket. But when you are working paycheck to paycheck these types of financial changes can make all the difference in your life. I wish you could see the fear in my staff's eyes when they heard this news, they are already doing the math, they are already looking for new jobs outside the city. I am sure you have done the math on how this will affect you but $60 a day x 5 days a week = $15,600 a year. That is impossible for someone making even $70,000 a year, even $100,000 a year.. that is what you are asking from line cooks, dishwashers, housekeepers, servers, baristas. People working 2-3 jobs commute into our city daily. The people actually showing up to their jobs daily who don't have the luxury of working from home. Add in a broken window repair, gas prices, bridge tolls, flat tires.. parking for your job shouldn't cost 1/2 your daily wage.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner of the soon to open Conservatory at One Sansome Street and Holbrook House restaurant opening in the heart of the Fidi at One Sansome in mid-August of 2023.

This is flat out the wrong time to even consider such a change to our parking meters. Small businesses need help and the city is failing us. We are paying private companies to clean the neighborhood streets. We are paying private security companies for protection. We are over paying labor to even consider coming in to San Francisco. We are doing this because our government doesn't provide cleanliness. Our government doesn't provide safety. Now we want to make it MORE expensive to spend time here?

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

It's time to value our small businesses. It's time to value our visitors and our residents. It's not the time to continue to tax the only people left supporting the city. Be better.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Karen Mondon Scarpulla

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator of ROOH restaurant (s), located at 333 Brannan Street, San Francisco.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Thanks ,

Anu Bhambri

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Brian F

Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

My name is John Bissell
My email address is jab2748@yahoo.com

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
John Bissell

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors, compromise neighborhood parking for residents and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. If SFMTA is not earning enough from Parking Meters, then they should eliminate the free-for-all parklets that have taken over a majority of parking spaces in our retail corridors and return the parking spaces to automobiles in the current time frames.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Debbie Low

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner of Blue Plate restaurant (s), located at 3218 Mission St.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. This is a terrible idea. Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator of Jaxson, located at 3231 Fillmore Street.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Regards,

Jeff Jurow

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Karen Yee

To Whom it May Concern -

I am a resident and business owner, primarily dealing in District 5. I am a life long resident of San Francisco. I think the proposal to extend parking meter hours until 10pm is abhorrent. This is not a way to help gap the loss of income and the inefficiency of the SFMTA. This will punish employees, and customers alike. Never have I seen such greed and contempt on display as I do when dealing with MTA. People are hurting, off street parking has become a bit of a myth in the City - like finding the lost city of El Dorado. Because of this, resident, employees, customers alike must fight for street parking. Don't penalize us more because MTA has been so poorly organized for so many generations.

Do not vote to extend metered hours.

Very truly yours,

Mark Brennan

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Alan Fox

Dear Supervisors & SFMTA,

I am a writer/media in District 5.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. In fact, as a resident of 22 years and a member of the media, I am asking you table this permanently and not make us go through this again. We already had to flood your offices with emails when you tried to do this years ago. It is sad when cities have meters on at such hours and is a sure sign of regression. Please look for other sources for your income and don't continue to milk small businesses and tight-pocketed residents who rely on evenings with at least a few more options for parking to be able to go out and support our local businesses who desperately need our support.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, NOT to small business, middle to lower income residents (who this most impacts) and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on ALL of us residents, as if we already aren't suffering enough with the squalor/trash, rampant theft, constant car break-ins, closed businesses on half our neighborhood streets and unchecked drug dealing. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to physical impairments, late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city. Most small businesses are still reeling and have not made any money back from all they lost during the pandemic, especially restaurants and the like... our life's blood and cultural reputation globally as well as great joy locally. Having yet more business turned away because of steep parking costs is yet another roadblock these neighborhoods DO NOT NEED.

We — and all residents of my household — are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. This will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Downtown, SoMa and FiDi are already often deserted and in shambles.

Our city — which is fully and only best because of its vibrant small businesses and world renowned restaurants — is still trying to recover from COVID closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences. But overall this is just a bad idea for the city in general. As someone constantly traveling to other cities for work, we always comment on how pathetic it is when a city has to keep running meters past 6 PM. It's second or third tier cities and pains small businesses, our life's blood & character, and the few hundred thousand of us living paycheck to paycheck. Let's not go there, please. Now or ever.

Thank you,

Virginia Miller

But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Ryan Gee

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner of ELIXIR, located at 3200 16th Street. I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

If you haven't walked 16th and Valencia recently I highly recommend that you do. It is a sad state, with low foot traffic, tons of graffiti and a dramatic loss of business. We don't need any more challenges.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Cheers,

H.

Aren't there ways to mitigate our massive SFMTA issues through smart partnerships with state and federal government? Why put another hardship on residents and businesses after all the hardships of the last few years?

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

What about all the non-paying Metro riders, excluding the students?
Every day hundreds of Metro riders do not pay the fee. I use Muni every day and every day I see eligible pay riders get on without paying. Where are the Muni security workers checking to see paid their fares?

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business resident in District 7.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA implement the extended parking meter rollout.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city.

This planned change is crucial for businesses, employees, and residents. While many people take public transportation, others do drive, and finding parking can be a difficult endeavor. Extensive research has shown that charging for parking frees up spots in vital, lively commercial areas.

I am also for the 18-month extended rollout across the city, which will ensure the implementation is done equitably and intentionally. Ensuring there are free parking spaces in commercial areas will make it easier for customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. The shopping and restaurant industries are still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and need all the help they can get.

Thanks for listening,

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I own Isa on 3324 Steiner St. I heard the news about the upcoming changes to the parking meters from 6 to 10 pm. I understand that in our city we need every cent of the new revenue to pay for the obligations but this move will have a significant negative impact on the city revenue from outside and cisty guests spending during the dinner hours. The biggest challenge and barrier for east bay, south bay and Marin guests is the parking issue. It is already very challenging with free parking after 6 pm and if we nickle and dime this 6 to 10 pm then the many guests will choose other towns due to this already ongoing inconvenience of the parking. We are already struggling with an economic downturn, facing negative press about crimes, drugs, homelessness, vandalism and litter all over the place, and this move will put further dent in the struggling city economy. Restaurants are an important part of the city economy and the tax revenue lost, unemployment and other economic impacts will reduce city revenue by many multiple times. This is a very SHORT SIGHTED IDEA of an inexperienced official/member who brought this resolution, without assessing the risks from this.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA not implement this or at least delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12- 24 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

Please vote to support this resolution be killed or at least consider a 12 - 24 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Mike Henseler

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am a business owner in District 10.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

Some of my employees make minimum wage.
The installation of these meters WILL have a severe NEGATIVE IMPACT on my business. We are already considering whether to continue calling San Francisco home. If we cannot retain workers, this will only further make us question whether this city is business friendly.

The meters will have demand responsive pricing, meaning the hourly rate can range from .75 per hour to $9.00+ PER HOUR. With the SF Minimum Wage going up to $18.07 per hr. in July, workers could find themselves taking home half of what they earn and giving the other $9.00 to a parking meter.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Dear Mayor London Breed, Members of the Board of Supervisors, and SFMTA Leaders,

I am an employee working for the Museum of Craft and Design in District 10.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling and commute locations that are not serviced by BART or other public transit systems.

They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

For me personally, a resident of San Francisco, the recent re-do of bus routes has left me without a reasonable way to get to work via public transit. I rode the 48 line into work for eight years; but during the pandemic, the rerouting of the bus line no longer serviced my neighborhood and left me having to walk around 1.5 miles daily unless I wanted to catch a second bus. The wait times for the second bus proved unreasonable, so I have decided to drive into work.

I recognize that the area has had an influx of drivers due to the construction and launch of the Chase Center, but that burden should not be put upon employees, businesses, and residents of the Dogpatch.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am the owner/operator of Asiento located at 2730 21st street. While we don't have meters in front of my bar, I understand the negative impact it will have on the business corridors driving customers away to places with free parking at night.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Hello Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but placing another economic burden on small businesses just can't be a viable solution.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. I myself am the owner of the business and have to park here for 12-16 hours a day. The cost of paying for parking will be devastating to my personal finances.

I've made the decision to keep my business in San Francisco because I love being here; This new rollout will force me and my employees to reconsider our position here in the Dogpatch.

Thanks,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Oscar Faoro

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Barbara Hartley

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Marc Joseph Rabideau

Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Helane Rappaport

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask that SFTMA abandon the extended parking meter rollout. Impacts must be studied further and you must allow small businesses more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small businesses, property owners and workers for funds.

I would also encourage the City to begin steps to decrease its bloated budget, for which these parking meter changes will be paying for. We do not need that many City employees, many of whom can't seem to do more than one job at a time. Small business owners are constantly having to multi task and wear different hats. City employees should be able to do this also. After all, they are getting paid top dollar.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on service employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am worried that the extended parking meter hours will also discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Small businesses are still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

We are being held hostage in this City by the homeless needs, criminals and City Hall and its never ending taxes and fees.

I respectfully urge you to suspend the additional hours for parking meters and I strongly encourage you to decrease unnecessary and wasteful City spending.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

As the owner of a small business in the Richmond who already loses event business because people can't find parking for our events, I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors. We are working so hard to attract people to the Richmond District with our vibrant programming and it's feels like such an uphill battle. We need more easy parking, not more expensive parking. I have people circling for hours to find parking before GIVING UP and then never coming to an event again; people warn their fans if they do book a show to come hours early to find parking. If they now have to pay for those shows, I can forget it. It's hard to stay hopeful sometimes.

I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,
In what would be a first- how about you act with some common sense! Maybe focus your efforts on cleaning up the filth of a city that San Francisco has become vs. trying to squeeze every penny from residents and visitors. People have plenty of options to shop in other areas without the outrageous parking fees SFMTA is trying to implement. Maybe they can look at their inflated salaries and overly generous benefits as a cost cutting initiative while the BOS and mayor try to clean up the city and attract visitors again.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors,

As someone that frequently visits SF and supports our family's small business in San Francisco, we strongly oppose the current proposal to increase parking meter hours.
While we recognize the financial challenges facing SFMTA, to put a larger burden on small businesses and their employees will only create more business failures as they try to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

The proposed change in parking meter hours needs further review.

Thanks for your consideration.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco’s evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
michael pedroni

Dear Supervisors,

I am an architect and have a number of dental and medical office clients throughout the city of San Francisco. we also live in the city and writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses in the city have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.
We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.
We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening,

Regards,
Deepak Patankar, AIA, LEED AP

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Rebecca Tico

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner in District 9 (SOMA) and I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures and its continued impact on downtown San Francisco.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thank you for listening,

Sarah Garand

I am against them because I am able to get friends & family members to meet me here on Sundays & now that it stays light longer, on weekdays & weekends for fun in the city & of course, spending $ at restaurants & stores. Margo Rudd, 1654 Filbert St., SF 94123.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge. It's already extremely hard for residents to go out for a meal and a movie as it is, and the metering has already had a negative impact on merchants and theaters.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Jocelyn Reynolds

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Jeffrey Laffranchini

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay or cancel the extended parking meter rollout. This planned change will have a significant negative financial impact on many people. It will discourage visitors to the city since many people do not want to pay for parking and/or disrupt their visit to move their cars. This planned move will also have a negative impact on the businesses along the routes. I strongly urge the Supervisors to oppose SFMTA's latest plans on extending the parking meter hours

Kind Regards,
Maya

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner/resident in San Francisco.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening,

Tiffany Yam

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Denise parry

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

As a working musician in San Francisco, I have trouble understanding why the city keeps making it harder for me, and others like me, to get to work, with our tools, and park. It feels like you're not in touch with the realities of business in the city. Our streets, driving lanes and parking spaces are constantly being taken away. I know you want this city to be livable for everyone (not just the very wealthy), but your actions speak otherwise.

I've watched the city work to kill small businesses for the 28 years I've live in the outer Richmond. Please stop. Don't let the Elon Musks of the world be right about the future of this great city.

I implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Raffi Kondy

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

This is Eduardo Sánchez, business owner in District 11, I totally disagree this attempt to enforce parking meters beyond 6PM. You were elected to protect us no to find ways on how to deteriorate our fragile economy.

If you want to collect more money you must to affect drugs, cigars, liquors taxes, you can create a new rule that only will affect if somebody break it, but no something that widely affect our community and business.

This will be the iceberg that can bring conflicts between your supervisor boards and our community, we will take actions today and in the next supervisor election as well.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Ray Fleitas

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

To All -

It is unconscionable that you are trying to extend parking meter hours to 10 pm. It means it will be expensive and even more difficult for my suburban family members to have dinner at my home or to just visit me at home.

More difficult to find parking because, for one, those who live in the City will no longer be able to park overnight on metered streets, which will put them in contention for non-metered street parking.

More expensive to visit me at my home because, for one, they will have to feed meters every two hours just to have dinner with me.

ENOUGH! Please stop. Give us widespread, dependable public transportation before you try to get any more cars off selected streets or increase parking restrictions. Most of us who live here have suburbanite relatives. Public transportation from any exit off the bridges is nominal at best. In the case of the Marina District, it's non-existent from the Golden Gate Bridge.

Respectfully,
Evelyn Graham, SF Resident

Dear President Peskin and Supervisors:

I urge the Board to reject the proposed resolution urging SFMTA to delay implementation of evening and Sunday afternoon parking meter enforcement. It is already well established that parking meters promote parking turnover, which enhances customer access to nearby businesses. Claims that extended parking meter enforcement will harm restaurants are unfounded. The study that the resolution calls on SFMTA to undertake is simply a delay tactic that is highly unlikely to generate any significant new information.

Moreover, Muni desperately needs the new revenue that extended meter hours will raise. If the Board decides to adopt the resolution, it should amend the resolution to identify what alternative revenue it will provide SFMTA to compensate for the lost parking revenue and identify exactly what services SFMTA should cut in the absence of such revenue.

San Francisco officials love to proclaim their allegiance to the City Charter's Transit First Policy and to portray themselves as determined to address the climate crisis. Adoption of this resolution would be yet another instance where City Hall's actions contradict its purported ideals. Please vote against the resolution. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Christopher Pederson

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message to the Board of Supervisors, Mayor and SFMTA

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

This is CRAZY. Many of the merchants on my stretch of Geary Street are on life support, and this measure will kill their business. There is massive waste in San Francisco's expenditures, so deal with that first before extracting quarters out of everyone's pockets.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option. Patrolling meters on Sundays will cause the same problems, and needlessly cost the City in excess personnel equipment and facilities utilization, while depriving our DPT workers of their day of rest.

Finally, seeking to pad the City coffers using tickets and fines represents a regressive tax, and conveys a mean-spirited nastiness that is antithetical to the spirit and soul of San Francisco.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner/resident of Brenda's French Soul Food (Tenderloin) & Brenda's Meat & Three (Fillmore)

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening,

Michelle Rosales for Brenda Buenviaje

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours (Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587). Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Do you remember the time in 2013 that BOS and SFMTA enacted Sunday meters? And after one year of insane revenue ($11 million dollars Sunday payments and parking tickets) ended it. The mayor (Lee) said dropping the charge would make the public "more receptive" to embracing those long-term measures "rather than be nickled and dimed every Sunday" at parking meters, especially because a good part of the money raised is from tickets. "People are getting shocked at it and not expecting it on Sunday."

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will everyone with an additional cost, which is already 30% more expensive than pre-pandemic thanks to inflation and rising food, wage and operations expenses.

Meter until 10pm will impact restaurants and retailers whose non-local workers will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking - which will make it harder to find workers and will most likely increase wages to cover the extra cost.

I hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner of two locations in San Francisco. Kasa Indian eatery in the Castro (18th and Noe) and on the corner of Polk and Pine. Founded in 2008. And a resident since 2000. I have two children now 21 and 18 who also live here.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

Businesses are struggling with a lack of support from multiple agencies of the city and this change will further negatively impact us. Whilst I write this letter, I am to be fairly honest and frank not optimistic about the board of supervisors ability to make rational decisions or trust that they are in touch with the concerns of residents and businesses in general. You seem to have your own agenda and are absolutely tone deaf to anyone else's plight.

Businesses are struggling

- We are incurring extra costs with vandalism. There is a grant to help with two occurences a year, however, most businesses are incurring 5 to 6 occurences of broken glass, doors and theft.
- It is extremely difficult to find staff and those who do decide to drive in will be paying a lot extra to park in order to work, whcih is yet another cost that the businesses will have to bear.
- Personally I cannot take public transport as I need to commute between three restaurants often carrying boxes between stores. I set multiple timers to avoid expensive parking tickets. Most people would have given up and sold their business. I love my business and the city, and am somewhat insane to continue doing so. I have seen a lot of my peers quit and leave the city choosing to do business elsewhere.
- Customers are less likely to want to come to dinner and set timers to run out to add parking to their meters, that is if they want to pay fluctuating rates along with a high price dinner in the first place.
- Tourism has greatly depreciated due to the street conditions.
- Our staff is constantly harassed and picking up trash or cleaning toilets being used for drugs and showers.
- Cost of goods is much higher due to the impact of COVID and shipping issues in general

- Downtown offices have not come back to work, which means we are serving fewer catering clients.
- PGE is a lot more expensive and we are also functioning with outages.
- These are but a few struggles we are dealing with

Everytime SFMTA comes up with some way to solve their financial issues, or create some kind of street "improvement" such as on Polk st or Mission Street (which now has an incredible number of shuttered businesses)The results have been devastating for small businesses which help foster happy and safe communities.

Over the last 15 years that I have done business in the city, in my opinion the SFMTA and other agencies have had a lack of accountability. Has anyone studied whether the Polk corridor or Mission st corridor has improved with any of the changes? From my observation, it has negatively impacted small businesses.

I understand that there is a balance that the department has to achieve in serving every group of the city, but unfortunately small businesses have had about enough of SFMTA's lack of understanding of the small business community and its struggles.

If SFMTA is financially struggling perhaps as a first step they take an internal look at the way they operate and work on figuring out efficiencies within the department before simply using one and only one measure that seems to be the only thing that the city does which is. penalize its long term residents and small businesses.
Those who are not committed to the city have left, they have had enough. For those of us who remain here, committed and entrenched, we would appreciate support, not further pressure.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening and PERHAPS WE CAN HAVE A PERMIT FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS OR WORKERS OF THE CITY AS A COMPROMISE.

Dear Supervisors,

I am a resident in District 2 and a business owner in the Financial District. My law firm represents many businesses in San Francisco's the hard hit hospitality industry.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. Dear Supervisors,

On behalf of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association (GGRA) , I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. We join in asking that an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. We have been told by SFMTA that meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour! While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

We would like to offer to convene a working group to discuss how more affordable parking can be made available to our workers.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator of Humphry Slocombe Ice Cream, Lazy Susan, Horsefeather, Last Rites, B-Side, Neighbor Bakehouse with locations throughout the city - 1 Ferry Building, 2790 Harrison St, 811 Ulloa Street, 205 Fell Street, 528 Divisadero Street, 718 14th Street.

I am also on the Board of Directors of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city - something that our staff and customers depend on. However, we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small businesses and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, further exasperating our staffing challenges.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator of New Delhi Restaurant located at 160 Ellis Street, San Francisco CA94102.

We are also a legacy business

I am also on the Board of Directors of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

With Warm Regards,
President

Extraordinary Indian Cuisine Elegantly Served

We have a unique and affordable menu to choose from that will satisfy your craving for delicious Indian food while keeping you safe.

New Delhi Restaurant by Chef Ranjan Dey is an immigrant and mixed family owned, oldest Indian restaurant of San Francisco and a Legacy Business since 1988.We're delighted to be open and serving you again. We can't wait to see you all! Namaste!

New Delhi Restaurant has been serving guests from around the world from the same location for over 30 years. It is located in a 100 year old former hotel ballroom built in 1914. Decorated like a Maharajah's private banquet room, the restaurant serves cuisine made from recipes culled from the royal Indian menus dating back 300 to 400 years using the freshest local ingredients. Chef and owner, Ranjan Dey, star of the documentary series – "MY INDIA" creates daily specials with his six gourmet spice blends, available nation wide under New World Spices. Get this unique Gift Set of gourmet Indian spice blends with a complete Indian meal planner.

On January 27th, 2020, New Delhi Restaurant was proud to be recognized as a Legacy Business. This honor has only been given to 239 business and we were the first Indian restaurant and South Asian owned business to be included. The Legacy Business Program acknowledges longstanding and community serving establishments that help make up the "soul of the city" and preserves the unique character of San Francisco.

Since 1988 we have catered over 50 weddings every year. We are exclusive preferred caterers to over 200 wedding locales including hotels, wineries and historical venues in the Bay Area and beyond. We specialize in all regional cuisines of India, and celebrate the beauty of diverse delicacies from the North, South, East and West.

New Delhi Bar has been the favorite hot spot for many, working in the downtown restaurant and hotel industry, since its inception in 1988. It is famous for its "Double-Happiness-Happy Hour". The first from 5:30pm to 7:30pm and the second from 10:00pm to 12 midnight – because not everybody works 9 to 5! New Delhi is a great place to try inventive cocktails like Madras Madness or Oh! Calcutta. Sip specialty infused Mango or Lychee Martinis. Soak up the lively atmosphere and friendly company.

New Delhi Restaurant transforms into Compassionate Chefs Cafe twice a year in May and November. We raise funds to help underprivileged kids right across the street in the Tenderloin in San Francisco and across the ocean at the three biggest slums opposite Gandhi Ashram in Ahmedabad in India. Our goal and mission is to help the kids become global citizens by connecting them through several ongoing programs.

If you are interested to help please contact Chef Ranjan.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am a partner in a small law firm in the Financial District which specializes in hospitality law. I represent many restaurants, bars and nightclubs in San Francisco. I am also on the Board of Directors of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on the many people employed by my clients. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city at a time when finding employees is already an enormous challenge.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around

San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when the hospitality industry needs them more than ever. The hospitality industry in San Francisco is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions, this is in addition to the many challenges of running a business in San Francisco. Adding the parking meter rollout will be another blow to the industry and could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support the resolution before you and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our clients, their employees and our agencies employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our clients employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator of McCalls Catering & Events as well as multiple museum cafes: SFMOMA, Legion of Honor, DeYoung Museum.

I am also on the Board of Directors of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association, and San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator of Senor Sisig restaurant (s), located at 990 Valencia St & in San Francisco's Ferry Building.

I am also on the Board of Directors of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Regards,

SF Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

Thanks for your time. I'm the owner of Kitava, a restaurant in the Mission located at 16th & Mission.

I highly encourage you to support the proposed resolution to delay SFMTA's extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until the city's small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I also support an independent study to examine the impact this rollout will have on workers, customers, and businesses.

While SFMTA's financial challenges are understandable, I recommend seeking other creative ways to close the funding gap that do not risk further harming small businesses and SF workers. The fact is, squeezing small businesses and our employees for pennies will not solve the SFMTA's budgetary woes. There are other avenues to pursue the large amount of funding required to support our public transportation system, and we should not be looking to small businesses and their workers to fund the current shortfall.

To be clear, this planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night — especially in the Mission. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars, something that's highly disruptive to a restaurant business. They also cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work, which may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city. We simply cannot risk this happening, as labor is already extremely hard to find for our industry.

I'm also concerned an 18 month rollout will cause both inequity and confusion, for businesses and consumers. It may discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Best,
Bryan

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

Dear Supervisors,

I am a longtime San Francisco resident in District 5.

I oppose your resolution urging SFMTA to delay its implementation of meter our extension. Free parking is harmful to our city and its residents. It is a wealth transfer from poor to rich that hurts those least able to work outside the system and secure long term parking. Metering will help SFMTA survive in a critical time.

Free parking is also environmentally unfriendly and dangerous for pedestrians. Free parking means that cars drive around more at low speeds searching for available spots, emitting harmful toxins and CO2 into the air. Free parking means that cars drive more in areas with dense foot and bicycle traffic and kill more people.

I ask that you defer to SFMTA in managing their own policies. SFTMA knows better than the board of supervisors how to manage transit in San Francisco.

Make the environmentally friendly, pedestrian safe choice, and stop opposing sensible transit policy.

Thanks,
Michael Graczyk

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

BOS,
Please do not allow SFMTA to extend parking meter hours.
The city's grab for more revenue just hits those who depend on evening and weekend shopping and dining when this suffering city needs it the most.

If you really wanted to encourage public transport, you might consider 100% free Muni as they do in Luxembourg.

No more shakedowns of the middle class. In fact, you should consider a moratorium on area parking permits. The 'S' zone that I live and work in has plenty of street parking now with downtown so empty.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator of Perry's Restaurants restaurant(s), located at 1944 Union Street & 155 Steuart Street. We also operate two restaurants in Marin County.

I am also on the Board of Directors of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Hello,

I am writing in support of extended parking hours. As someone who relies on public transit and alternative forms of transportation, I am in opposition of giving free parking to drivers, while public transit languishes.

Businesses are as usual in opposition and while I am sympathetic to the needs of small owners, the reality is that with climate change, we need to do more to encourage the use of public transit. Making driving more expensive and creating more reliable transit is one way to achieve this.

Please do the right thing to support transit and extend the parking hours.

Best,

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors,
I am a business owner/resident in District 9.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.
We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.
We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Good afternoon Commissioners:

My name is Joseph J. Railla, I am an AIA Architect doing projects in C/C San Francisco.

I strongly OPPOSE the extension of parking meter hours to 10pm Monday-Saturday and 12pm Sundays. I am very concerned this will cause our workmen to incur significant costs for parking meters which can charge up to $9.25 per hour! This change could cause customers not to come to dine at restaurants due to having to pay the meters, not to mention our workers who ready are concerned of persons breaking into their parked vehicles and being physically assaulted.

Please pause or stop this until a study can be conducted.

Thank you,

Joseph J. Railla AIA Architect

To whom it may concern,

Extending parking meters past 6pm and on Sundays would negatively impact our business and be a big inconvenience for our staff. The city tried to do metered parking on Sundays before, when I was working on Mission Street, and we had a lot of negative feedback from customers (some of which made it to our Yelp page). Many of them received tickets (which are now $89!) and this deterred them from coming back to our establishment. Many of our customers are tourists (local and non-local), with a large percentage of families). With the current state of the 16th and 24th street Bart stations, we are not recommending customers take public transportation. Until the city is able to make these stations clean and safe, we do not feel comfortable recommending public transportation as a viable option to get to our establishment in the Mission district.

As you know, restaurants have had a hard time building up our sales to pre-pandemic levels. With constant news of petty theft and random violence, there are already many deterrents for people to come to San Francisco. Many of our patrons are families, and safety is a big concern for them. We are often asked by them if it is safe to walk the 2 blocks back to their cars after dark.

For our employees – many of whom are paid minimum wage – this would be a huge burden as their shifts are busy and intense. Metered parking at night would mean they would have to use their break times to feed their meters instead of resting or eating. I anticipate that they would end up getting a few tickets, which would be difficult to pay.

City revenue disparities should be addressed with parcel and business taxes. Not with measures such as these, which will be further deterrents to visit San Francisco and hurt restaurant/late night workers.

Cheers,

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I also want to mention we live near what will be the new construction site for 730 Stanyan which will already reduce parking during the construction period. It is in a highly trafficked area for tourists in the summer months and will make it a hardship on the community and businesses for people to find already hard to find parking spaces.

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner and resident in District 5, whose clients often need to come after work.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening,

Ian Blei

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner/resident in the Marina Distric and own the following restaurants:

- Westwood 2036 Lombard Street
- The Annex 3200 FIllmore Street
- Wilder 3154 Fillmore Street
- Rockwell 3200 Fillmore Street

II also own the following in SOMA and Mission:

- Trademark/Golden Girls Kitchen 1123 Folsom Street
- Dahlia Lounge1799 Mission Street

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

Thanks for listening,

Kingston, on behalf of:

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

You need to find areas of city government / expenditure to reduce before you put the deficit on the backs of local residents and businesses by “nickel and diming” us to death.

A little common sense goes a long way. Consolidate, automate and get more efficient as that is the solution. Not killing residents and businesses. Enough have already left.

Thank you. Scott

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

In particular it will hurt restaurants because of the restricted parking in the evenings. Why don't you try to save money or generate new income by stopping the money spent on slow streets (like Cabrillo and 23rd Ave which are rarely used in the Richmond district), bicycle "improvements" etc which only serve 2% of the SF residents that use bicycles as their primary form of transportation (and has not increased much over the past few years) and instead focus on a more reliable and safe Muni and fewer obstacles to car use (which has RISEN despite all the efforts to discourage driving) which is the preferred mode of transportation for many more people than bicyclists.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to strongly SUPPORT the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will positively impact transit ridership, reduce GHG emissions, and add needed funds to the city's coffers.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanding transit and paying for this by extending meter hours will make their overall enjoyment from such activities much more sustainable.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers. Making transit both readily available and much cheaper in comparison is clearly the way to go.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to approve this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

Please just stop with this plan. I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

You have to understand that the city is such a destination for those who live outside of it. Some of those friends and family are former residents. By continuing to penalize everyday people every single day, you will continue to lose people who are interested in coming to visit San Francisco.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking.

Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

Dear Supervisors,

I am a resident of District 5 and a strong supporter of small businesses in San Francisco.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA terminate the extended parking meter rollout which will impact many small businesses that have already suffered from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds. It is time to look to corporate entities to pay their fair share for transportation.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city. I'm also against the 18-month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for businesses and consumers. I am very worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever.

The industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions as well as additional challenges and consequences.

Respectfully yours,
Ed Evans

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.
