I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Maureen Rowland

Dear Board of Supervisors and everyone else,

My sincere personal message to all involved is this:

Returning home from work after 6pm and parking at a meter overnight (because no available spots are found after driving around and around our home for 20 minutes - true with or without a G permit sticker) these meters after 6pm have been a staple in our life. They provide a place to park overnight so my wife and I can go work at Kaiser as first responders early in the morning.

A softball question, am I, who am in bed by 9pm, now supposed to not go to bed at 9pm anymore because someone has to feed the meter through 10pm? I mean, for real. In our area, some meters are 30 minutes max, or 2 hours is their limit, so again if I park just after 6pm I cannot even pay enough upfront to leave the car and not worry about it until the morning. Wow.

This new proposal will make our lives hell, disrupt our sleep patterns, and certainly affect our work.

And I can prove this using a very recent example. In March we looked to relocate closer to the Mission Bay Kaiser and literally decided against it because of the parking meter schedule in that area. I am not joking. We passed up on new housing options in an area into which the Supervisors WANT people to move.

We love the parks and the location, but I am not exaggerating we said no thank you because the parking meters would have made living in Mission Bay stressful, and we felt unwelcome.

And please one final thought, since I see it happen and the resolution's language pushes a falsehood. When a car pulls out of a metered parking spot do not assume that means oh hey a parking space (net net) has been made available. Incorrect. Over half the time when we leave a meter is it because we have no choice but to leave to find, ta da, another place to park. So, please, the argument that new extended pay hours will make parking more available is a false equivalency. False equivalency for $1000, Alex.

Leave the parking meters as they are, please. Add a penny to the gas tax if you really need this money.

Sincerely,
Jeffrey Fell, resident of SFO since 1994.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Amy Jang

Dear Board of Supervisors,

So let me get this straight. SFMTA, our rogue bumbling imperial agency Blows a Billion on their Subway to Nowhere, and now their Budget is 130 mill short. So they're going to Stick It To Us by doubling the Meter Hours all over. This is SICK. This will Kill Downtown, Kill Restaurants. Kill Small after hours Businesses. And For WHAT? SFMTA's inability to keep to their Bloated Massive Budget??

Message to the Board of Supervisors, Mayor and SFMTA

From your constituent Taysir El Abed

Email tay55@hotmail.fr

I live in District

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Margie HomBrown

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

I understood completely why restaurants were allowed to have outdoor seating during Covid, but the pandemic has been officially lifted, and all of these temporary structures should be removed allowing for more public parking and generating more revenues for the city.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Victoria Falcon

Therefore, I implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered.
This is completely misguided and will not be tolerated by the citizens of San Francisco. Any tourist coming here,will not feel welcomed by yet another added cost to their trip.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Marjorie Fulbright

Dear Board of Supervisors,

What is happening to our city? I am a native and keep trying to defend all of the not so pleasant changes that keep happening. We need to make this city more inviting, not more difficult to live and visit here. San Francisco is such an amazing city. We need to start adding positive additions, not negative ones.

Please do not extend the meter parking!

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

This Covid lockdown, vaccine card idiocy, retarded school closure, useless mask mandates, and pathetic ensuing hysteria gave me 10+ good reasons to leave SF, now THIS is certainly the straw that broke the camel's back. I pay you little scammers thousands of dollars each year to NOT fix the thousands of potholes and then I ruin my suspension and brakes on the dumbass speed bumps that are now everywhere. Which by the way increase air pollution and decrease gas mileage... Eff this place, and I'll see you all in hell!!

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Jeffries

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.
And fire Tumlin!

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

Enough already. Stop nickel-and-diming City residents and start focusing on quality of life. The tyranny of the SFMTA is out of control and has reached epic proportions, to everyone's detriment. San Francisco does not have a revenue problem, it has a spending problem. And SFMTA is the most guilty bureaucracy of them all. They don't need or deserve more money; they need half of what they have, and to spend it far more wisely.

So who amongst you has the backbone to do the right thing for once?

C'mon. Surprise and impress me.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

This is a regressive tax that will increase inequities within our local economy and disproportionally impact San Francisco residents working and living in meter corridors.

Expanding parking meter hours will add more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families as well as restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees.

And if you have to risk an expensive ticket to dine in SF…this will reduce demand. I have seen this firsthand when a friend from Marin got nailed on the Embarcadero last month and now says she will never go to an SF restaurant again.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
William Perasso

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.
I have an idea… how about putting meters in Lake Street?
EVERYONE not just restaurant and retail workers must oppose and protest this ridiculous proposal. Has anyone even seen a cost study/analysis of this plan? What will it cost the city to keep DPT workers on the books until 10 pm? Will meter revenue more than make up for this OR is the city counting on revenue from violations? That would be EVIL. That would be tantamount to entrapment. I have lived in this beautiful city all my life and I have defended it against those who feel that it has gone in the wrong direction and lost its soul. I realize SF is facing hard times right now but I don't believe that the answer is to make it MORE expensive to live here. Can’t we capitalize on what we have while at the same time entice visitors to come and spend money here WITHOUT driving out loyal San Franciscans? PLEASE reconsider and do not implement this harsh proposal. This could be a real dealbreaker for those remaining citizens who have considered leaving the city by the bay. It’s serious.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Rick Lopes

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I am a teacher at City College and a voting home owner in this city.

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

Additionally, this plan will negatively impact my adult night students, most of whom work all day and come to school at night to improve their job opportunities and plan for a professional future. Running parking meters during their school hours will deter some from coming at all and will disrupt the studies of others as they must pay attention to the meters running out and either move their cars or feed the meters during class hours.

Public transportation is a great resource for those who have the privilege of time. But most of my students have packed schedules and work multiple low wage jobs. Managing a work schedule that pays the bills, a home life, and school responsibilities imposes a "time tax" on our hard working low wage earners that makes it impossible for them to spend a leisurely 45 minutes waiting for Muni to arrive, so they need their cars for life, and many times for work.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Sincerely,
Audrey Wallace

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Bonnie Cohen

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

The City need to find revenue to support their overspending elsewhere!

Expanding parking meter hours will deal a major blow to we locals, and local businesses - adding more financial strain and diminish the wellness of our neighborhood. This resolution threatens access but will diminish the overall experience of the entire City.

As a result, this extension will adversely and disproportionately affect restaurants, retail workers, and your constituents who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward stupid parking fees. You must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our neighborhood, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

As your constituent, I ask you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must not be compromised by this resolution. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Sincerely,
Roger Gee

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

PERSONAL NOTE: This is a Huge mistake. Why are you making things more difficult to get SF up and running after the pandemic and losses of businesses downtown and all over the city. The Richmond District is under attack now for the stupid bus lanes, taking away needed street parking for businesses and residents. Sheesh..... You people have such a lack of imagination!!!! I have suggested, for Dist 1 a plan to turn the dilapidated eyesore of the Akexandria Theater into a central neighborhood parking garage. Do you know how hard it is to park in the Richmond??? Residents could park for free, there could be a free shuttle for people who are shopping and security from all the street vandalism that has taken place. I'm sure there are other "outside - the - box" ideas if you would just really listen to the people who live and work in the city. Please, this nonsensical idea, nickling and diming us to death is not going to save the city. Get your heads out this totally boring thinking, and start finding at other ways to put the shine back on SF. Look at other cities, think creatively, think long term..... My biggest wish is underground travel to the beach!!!!!

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
John Lee

They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
BENITA LEW

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Please reverse the parking meter decision. The lack metered parking spots allows residents to explore the city without the stress of a time crunch. We are already stressed enough. I am in my mid-twenties but have committed to living in my home city very long term, so do not expect my future support if this measure or more like it go through. Short term financial band aids is not worth sacrificing the support of long term residents.

If you want to generate more revenue, then convert the commercial meters all over Union Square and Financial District back to regular parking meters. Leave only one per block per side of the street commercial yellow/ white loading from the hours of 9-3pm. The one where the back of the car is closest to a crass street.

Reduce the bike parking spots as well to sections that are too small for cars to park… allocate those spots to bikes. If the sidewalk is over 7’ wide, then bike parking is only at sidewalk and not taking up parking meter space that can generate revenue. Not all of us can ride bikes so you are discriminating against those that cannot ride bikes, and do not own a bike, nor would ride a bike when coming from far away and mass transit would actually be a hinderance to getting to meetings to generate revenue which the city would gain taxes from.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being. I am in district 11 which was not given as an option...

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Helen Katzenmeyer

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Lila Gee

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors. We deserve some relief from the skyrocketing prices and the anti-car attitude prevalent in SF. Families should have a day they don't have to worry about parking when they take their children out for some recreation. Look to your budget and stop spending money on frivolous things and be for your constituents and not punish them for living here.

San Francisco’s evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Teresa Shaw

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I'm writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

I used to like going downtown on Sundays but this would just kill it for me. Taking Muni would be an option except it doesn't have a complete schedule on Sundays making the trip too long (that's another subject).

This is a horrible way to try to rectify a budget shortfall (if that's why this is even coming up). The assumption is that everybody in the city has money to fill their meters, and while that might be true for many members of our populace, it's going to make life disastrous for restaurant workers, gigging musicians, and people who drive into the city because BART isn't in a great state right now. Why do this?

Are any of the bio-tech/venture capitalists/software giants paying taxes yet? That's where the money is - can't we ask them instead?

This shouldn't fall on locals just trying to eat at a restaurant.

Thank you for reading my comment and I appreciate that you opened up the discussion to the public,

Anne

Sincerely,

Anne Sajdera

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors. Jeffrey Tumlin has been a failure in his leadership of the SFMTA. He pays the Bicycle Coalition a million dollars of our money to sustain a small community (less than 5% of us.) Forgetting that our 7 hilly sq. miles is the 2nd most densely populated city in the country.

This is too blunt an instrument if trying to encourage mass transit use. I would advocate for extending meters for special events like Giants and Warriors games in order to encourage mass transit use, however, those meters should not be extended in areas close to transit hubs.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
David Ferguson

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I'm a business owner in San Francisco, and I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587.

My business relies on being able to serve residents in their homes, and extended parking meters will harm my ability to provide home care services to residents in metered areas.

Overall, extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

The proposal to extend parking meter hours is profoundly wrongheaded, and will without question be harmful to San Francisco businesses, many of whom are still struggling to regain sustainable foot traffic in the wake of the pandemic, and a wave of negative reporting in major news media. Even well before the pandemic, SF has earned the dubious reputation for being a difficult, if not outright hostile city in which to own or operate a motor vehicle. Between vehicle thefts and break-ins to major street closures, that reputation isn't underserved.

Though my own leanings are toward a transit-first, pedestrian-friendly philosophy of urban planning, it often seems that SFMTA deliberately aims to make it punishingly expensive and inconvenient to own a car in SF, or even to visit by car. The impact of that falls disproportionately upon small businesses, restaurants and retailers, as motorists who feel unfairly put upon simply take their business elsewhere. So in one of already the most expensive places in the country insofar as parking is concerned, to propose extending meter hours seems blithely inconsiderate and out of touch.

i implore you—please support resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Brandon Loberg

This will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

We need a SMTA Board that is even-handed, and responsible to voters. One that is not funded by special interest. One that doesn’t use slanted surveys and self serving logic to further its “grand” plans.

Therefore, I ask you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Kraig Beale

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Jeffrey Roos

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Christine Lansing

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
craig hyde

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Wallace Lee

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Jeanne Milligan

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. Expanding parking meter hours will deal a blow to visitors and local businesses. Will people have to get up in the middle of a meal to move their car? Or maybe skip dessert? Or skip dining out entirely?

In addition, the extension will add more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. It will also disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees.

We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Are you fucking kidding. Give us a break just one time.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Devon Flynn

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
danielle chavanon

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Patricia Nguyen

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Jiyoung Yoon

It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.
Consider that your vote against this measure could turn into a vote for you.

Sincerely,
William Hilton

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Patrick Kroboth

Hello all,
I am a business owner/resident/employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. Not to mention this will cost an estimated $18,720 a year! This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Please take this into consideration.

Sincerely,
Paola Torres

Subject: I am Looking for the Physical Home Addresses of Gavin Newsom, Randy Shaw, and Krista Blyth-Gaeta (they are not Federal government officials)

Date: Monday, May 29, 2023 3:35:20 PM

This is a private matter that took place in California.

Please email me the addresses of Gavin Newsom, Randy Shaw, and Krista Blyth-Gaeta, and their physical addresses if you know their last known physical locations. Anonymously is fine if you prefer to send their addresses anonymously, send it to me to:

Antonio Vaz

SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94141

You can also leave a voicemail anonymously to 415-814-0334

If San Francisco Police and San Francisco District Attorney's Office do not respond to investigate these corrupt criminals, I will take things into my hand by filing In Pro Per LAWSUIT and have the bounty serve them at their residences. They are behind all the problems we had when Krista Gaeta was SF Director of In-Home Supportive Services.

This is a personal matter (TRO). The lady who failed her TRO told me that she was getting information about my problems with Randy Shaw, Gavin Newsom, Krista Gaeta, and others through IHSS higher up when Krista Gaeta was director of that agency. The lady contended that I don't like White people which is untrue. She also threatened me by saying "Wait and see what is going to happen to you, they don't like niggers from the tree, African…punk bitch…"

Fighting against corruption has nothing to do with race.

My problem with Discrimination, Racism, and Prejudice involving Randy Shaw, Gavin Newsom, and Krista Gaeta began in or about the years 2009 - 2013 when they lost and settled outside the court system and requested to avoid going to trial. That was Tenderloin Housing Clinic, Mission Hotel, etc.

I am for Justice and I have no problem with different races or ethnicities. This is personal. These specific White corrupt individuals violated me. I did not start this. I mind my business. They are racist against Blacks (court records show). They are the ones who initiated Housing Discrimination against me. Then, they lost. Due to the White Supremacy mentality, they could not live with themselves then they started Harassing me (harassment and retaliation). I am not racist against any race or group. They are!

If they want to escalate this let's do it in court. Gavin Newsom was not in his state official capacity when he engaged in conspiracy, (criminal conspiracy?), gossiping, and racist targeting and plotting. It was done in secret in private between him, Randy Shaw, Krista Gaeta, and other allegedly co-conspirators. There was no immunity for Gavin Newsom when the Governor engages in plotting against innocent poor civilians after hours.

Disclaimer: Not related to the killing of Ms. Weldon at UCSF. Justice for Ms. Weldon is an ongoing matter. I contacted UCSF to obtain all the medical records. Still waiting for Park Station and Taraval Station police investigators and detectives' responses as well as San Francisco District Attorney's Office.

P.S. Stop using the state and county public tools to oppress, harass and discriminate! We need to fight back against corruption and coverups in San Francisco.

Send me their addresses, including private offices or places they frequent and are often present, please

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Mayor Breed and Chief Scott,

A recent analysis of SFPD traffic enforcement data has shown that traffic enforcement across San Francisco has collapsed as dangerous driving continues to plague our city resulting in the death of 18 people so far this year.

https://url.avanan.click/v2/___https://transpomaps.org/san-francisco/ca/sfpd-traffic-enforcement___.YXAzOnNmZHQyOmE6bzo1YTE2ZjczNWNjZGNkZTQ3ODVjYTlkNWNmMjFlODhmYzo2OjE2MWU6MzAzNjFlZDgzZTM0MmFkOWM0MzQ3NTdkZTVmYWQwMDg3NzE3ZmNhMDQxOWQxZTRlYzgzMTBmZTZlMWMyYWE2MjpwOlQ

According to the Department of Public Health, a driver crashes their car and injures someone approximately every four hours in San Francisco. This is unacceptable and it's past time to take serious action to slow drivers down and make our streets safer for everyone.

Out of SFPD's 2023 sworn officers, only 50 are currently enforcing our traffic laws and those 50 are writing on average a mere 10 citations per day across the entire city, down from 74 per day in 2019. And of all citations written, only ~35% are "Focused on the Five" (FOTF) most dangerous violations that cause serious injuries and death such as speeding and running red lights. Within our Equity Priority Communities (EPCs), only ~20% of all citations written quality as FOTF which means that the SFPD is disproportionately targeting residents of EPCs for non-life-threatening moving violations such as broken taillights and expired tags—citations often used to initiate pretextual stops.

To be clear, the solution to safer streets is not more policing. Safer and more accessible streets can only truly be achieved by allowing the SFMTA to redesign our streets to prioritize non-car transportation such as walking, biking and public transit. As you know this has been mandated within our charter as a "Transit-First" city for fifty years. However, because redesigning our streets for the safety of people outside cars is such an unnecessarily arduous and controversial process we must, in the interim, enforce our traffic laws by citing Focus on the Five violations on the High Injury Network (where 75% of severe and fatal injuries occur).

Here are three actions you can take today to make our streets safer through effective traffic enforcement:

1. Mandate that SFPD has its Traffic Division focus entirely on Focus on the Five violations on the High-Injury Network immediately.
2. Mandate that SFPD provide updated data and information on all traffic stops/citations going forward, including all information outlined in the Racial and Identity Profiling Act of 2015.
3. Establish monthly public hearings where SFPD will report on traffic enforcement and, alongside SFMTA and SFDPH, discuss its impact on car-traffic injuries and deaths.

I urge you to work with Stephen Braitsch and Luke Bornheimer, the authors of the aforementioned analysis of SFPD enforcement data alongside leaders within our Equity Priority Communities to institute a transparent, equitable and effective traffic enforcement strategy that will make San Francisco safer for everyone.

Thank you.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Marsha Abrahams

Dear Mayor Breed, and Board of Supervisors,
I am an employee in District 10.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA reconsider the parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small businesses and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Furthermore with the high cost of living in San Francisco and the lack of adequate parking options for residents and employees, this proposal causes an immense burden and furthers inequity in our communities. This plan appears to be unsustainable and unfairly turns to residents and employees to fund SFMTA through predatory policies like this one.

Sincerely,
Natasha Kleit

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Russell Pofsky

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

This a complete outrage, SF shouldn't be considering expanding parking ticket fees when you have the highest parking ticket prices in the country, if not the world. Instead you should be focusing on how to lower the costs of parking tickets drastically, or completely abolish them and defer costs to the tech companies and large corporations that inflate our rents, and destroy our city without our consent. You are afraid of people shying away from the city for often harmless drug use in the tenderloin; well parking tickets are incredibly harmful, they actually can force people to lose their job, home, and force them to the streets and drugs. You need to drastically change the way you view this revenue as it is extremely dangerous and diametrically opposes american values.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear SFMTA Board Chair Eaken, Vice-Chair Cajina, Director Tumlin, Director Maguire and Mayor Breed,

A new analysis of 19 million parking citations and 300 thousand complaints by Stephen Braitsch shows that SFMTA's parking enforcement fails to prioritize public safety-related violations, operates inconsistently across the city and days of the week, lets repeat offenders off the hook and fails to give citizens safety-oriented reporting options.

Please review the findings in Stephen's detailed report, linked below, and immediately demand that the SFMTA adopt a data-driven parking enforcement strategy that prioritizes public safety while ensuring equitable revenue collection.

Hi team,

I own Butter&, a custom cake shop in District 10. I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic. I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds. This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Thank you for your attention and for all you do as a small business here in our beautiful city.

Best,
Amanda, owner of Butter&

Dear Supervisors,

As an almost 50 - year resident our beautiful city, I just want to be abundantly clear that I support Supervisor Peskin's thoughtfulness and caution in requesting a delay of the extended parking meter rollout.

I wish I was as articulate and thorough as my neighbor, as my thoughts and opinions are identical to the ones she so eloquently outlined below. I am sending this email to add my voice to those requesting a delay to the extended parking meter rollout. Though I am copying and affirming my agreement with the arguments outlined below, this in no way diminishes my heartfelt concern about this important issue.

"I am writing to support Supervisor Peskin in his request that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures and company relocations. This is not the time to further discourage the patronage of shoppers, spectators and diners to local venues, nor is it the time to penalize workers, residents and owners with ever increasing costs of living in our city.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to take from small business and workers for its funds. SFMTA has been spending heavily on many projects, not all of which are supported by the majority of businesses or residents. At the same time services have been and will continue to be reduced. Furthermore, safety issues aboard public transportation discourage ridership.

This planned change will have a major negative financial impact not only on residents but also the workers who come to the city. Many take public transportation, some must drive due to late hours or scheduling. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them to not take jobs here and there are staffing shortages already contributing to long time businesses closing or significantly reducing their hours of service.

We are against the 18 month extended rollout across the city which will cause inequity and confusion, for businesses and consumers alike.

The city is experiencing a downturn, the people who live and work here feel it and media outside of the city and state report challenges that San Franciscans face at this time. Do not make life in the city more difficult still or cause further unintended or unanticipated negative consequences to our population because SFMTA is now facing a deficit.

Please listen and delay the extended parking meter rollout."

Sincerely,
~Andrea Nachtigall

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear SFMTA Board Chair Eaken, Vice-Chair Cajina, Director Tumlin, Director Maguire and Mayor Breed,

A new analysis of 19 million parking citations and 300 thousand complaints by Stephen Braitsch shows that SFMTA's parking enforcement fails to prioritize public safety-related violations, operates inconsistently across the city and days of the week, lets repeat offenders off the hook and fails to give citizens safety-oriented reporting options.

Please review the findings in Stephen's detailed report, and immediately demand that the SFMTA adopt a data-driven parking enforcement strategy that prioritizes public safety while ensuring equitable revenue collection.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
JUDITH MANN

Hi Jeffrey,

If the goal is to increase income for SFMTA, what are your thoughts on charging employees a monthly parking permit? That way SFMTA can still make revenue on both small business employees who need to drive while still charging visiting customers to the neighborhood.

For example, our employees have to move their cars 3 times a day because they are moving from free spot to free spot. They are not able to afford the daily rate on the meters. But if you offered an alternative that was more reasonable for the monthly rate, I'm sure they would pay, because they do value their time. That could be a win-win!

What do you think?

Thanks for your consideration.

Still, we support Board President Peskin's request for an independent economic analysis and believe it will show that extending parking meter hours is, in fact, good for businesses.

> Changing meter hours to match when neighborhood commercial districts are open is happening in cities throughout California and the U.S. When parking meters are operating, parking spaces turn over more quickly, and it makes finding a space easier. This makes customers want to return to neighborhoods where finding parking was previously frustrating. Fewer drivers circling the block to look for parking also means reduced traffic congestion, less air pollution and fewer greenhouse gas emissions.

It is especially important that San Francisco extend parking meters now, because the money that will be generated from this policy is needed to prevent cuts to Muni service. Muni service is essential to a vibrant and functioning San Francisco.

For more information, I encourage you to read our recent blog: San Francisco To Extend Parking Meter Hours Citywide | SFMTA

Thank you again for reaching out and for being such an important part of the vibrant, diverse and thriving San Francisco we all love and support.

Hi team,

I own Butter&, a custom cake shop in District 10. I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic. I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds. This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Thank you for your attention and for all you do as a small business here in our beautiful city.

Best,

Amanda, owner of Butter&

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

To Whom This May Concern,

I am an employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Thanks for your consideration,
Michelle

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
William Harter

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

This is ridiculous. Get your monies elsewhere!

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Gee

Dear Board of Supervisors,

Please don't make San Francisco even more unlivable and more disdainful to out-of-town visitors. At least we now have one day where friends and family members from out-of-town can almost tolerate coming to San Francisco. San Francisco has become very unlivable. Being able to drive to and park near local businesses is what makes these businesses thrive. And friends and family being able to visit and socialize is essential to our total well-being. I considering leaving San Francisco even though many of my friends are still here. The price tag to live here is already too high. The people with the money to make the City work are the same people who are leaving because it isn't working. Try to make this City more livable, not less so.

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Janet Fowler

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I learned this last night from my sushi chef and server in the Soma. It's going to hurt their bottom line (basically costing them their tips), as well, they'll need to either feed the meter, and/or potentially move their cars during service.

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses.

Please, don't hurt are already traumatized service workers, right after they just got back on their feet from a global pandemic. Makes no sense.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

This city is unaffordable for working class, middle class and service workers. More meter hours is a tax on people who can least afford to stuff $4 per hour in the meter every time they go to a store or try to eat out.

The solution, of course, is to shop online more with free shipping, and order carry-out rather than stuff the meters with more money. The rich don't care if meter hours are extended - just as they don't care about the $500 million a year that MUNI pulls in from street cleaning days' violations, since the rich have garages for their cars and when they're going to their $150 a meal dinners, an extra $10-$16 in the meter doesn't affect them.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

As a resident of San Francisco, I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours.

The SFMTA should be seeking to improve public transportation options rather than imposing additional fees and restrictions. This impacts not only residents, but the small businesses that may not be frequented as much due to the parking. Until public transportation is markedly improved, primarily the routes, the safety of the buses, the cleanliness, you should not be foucisng on increasing fees, but rather doing the job of improving transportation. Closing roads (or refusing to clean the great highway) does a disservice to all. It results in greater greenhouse emissions from drivers circling blocks to look for free parking on streets, drivers getting re-routed when the highway is closed rather than opened when it should be and having to drive additional miles to a roadthat is open, further clogging those roadways. Please, SFMTA, please do the job that is being asked. Clean the roads. Managed your budget. And, remember the citizens that purportedly you are tasked with helping to support with transportation.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives and those of small businesses, many of whom are struggling to survive.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dee Doley

I am a business owner/resident/employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

The City lost street parking due to the construction of parklets for restaurants and bike hubs. Rather than continue the assault on car owners who may not have alternatives to private vehicles, e.g., parents retrieving their children from private schools on Broadway. Maybe we should tax the owners of the bike hubs and restaurants using parklets.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Subject: City Budget Public Comment: San Francisco Needs to Fund Solutions to End the Drug Crisis in This Year's Budget
Date: Tuesday, May 23, 2023 1:15:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I'm a San Francisco resident who sees a failure by our elected officials to address the fentanyl-fueled drug epidemic that is devastating our city. The drug epidemic is linked to all of the problems San Francisco faces, including homelessness, mental health, public safety, and economic vitality. You must make ending open-air drug markets and funding more city-sponsored recovery programs the main priority of this year's budget cycle.

We thank Mayor London Breed, Governor Gavin Newsom, District Attorney Brooke Jenkins and Speaker Emerita Nancy Pelosi for working together on State and Federal law enforcement coordination; and appreciate those members of the Board of Supervisors who have been vocally supportive of these efforts. We ask for continued cooperation and coordination with state and federal agencies to permanently eradicate open-air drug markets.

In order to ensure sustained action, I'm demanding that you include the following in the next budget:

Law Enforcement: The District Attorney and the Police Department must work together to arrest and prosecute drug dealers in San Francisco, as well as coordinate with state and federal law enforcement to address cartels bringing drugs to the city. The city can ensure this happens by including the following in the next budget:

- Funding to eventually meet the recommended number of 2,182 sworn officers
- Enough academy classes to meet that goal with new officers
- Enough police staffing aides to allow officers to answer high-priority calls
- Enough additional officers this coming year to make Operation Disruption permanent in high drug trafficking areas, including the Tenderloin, Southern, and Mission Stations
- Investment in personnel training and narcotics equipment to effectively close the open air drug markets
- Funding for a nationwide recruitment search with a focus on lateral hires to expedite hiring

City-Sponsored Recovery Programs: Recovery has to be the goal. City departments need to work cross-functionally to make this happen in order to give users the chance to live healthy lives and shrink demand for drugs on the street. This means funding true treatment on demand in the next budget, which includes:

- Creating 24/7 pickup vans for people seeking to enter drug treatment programs, and 24/7 intake centers where they can go for initial screening
- Stabilization centers with a minimum stay time and on-site medical staff, where people can stay temporarily before entering longer-term drug treatment programs
- Improving access to recovery beds to meet the city's obligation to provide drug treatment on demand:
    - Increase the number of residential drug treatment beds
    - Increase the number of step-down beds, a vital component of the services spectrum where people re-learn skills for independent living before entering permanent housing
- Offer recovery options that are completely drug-free
- Offer more secure mental health beds so people who need care aren't forced to stay in jail or return to the streets
- Make employment as a member of program staff more sustainable and rewarding:
    - Increase staffing capacity through reassignments to match program expansion
    - Additional funding to address the staffing shortage of licensed staff/behavioral nurses
    - Address the pay gap between nonprofit and city licensed behavioral staff

I know that completely eradicating drug use is unrealistic. What I'm demanding is a visible reduction in the open-air drug sales and drug use that is eroding our city. San Francisco should be a place where those who are not involved in drug sales and drug use are not negatively impacted by drug sales and drug use.

Sincerely,
Natalie Chu

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Hello,
I've worked and commuted to the Dogpatch from the sunset district for 12 years now. We've independently grown our business from scratch to 50+ employees, not including a retail location in Hayes Valley. I follow SF public policy closely and as a designer feel I have the ability to objectively see multiple sides of an issue with the end goal of designing the best outcome. I've also never written to anyone about any issues in SF, but I felt compelled to in this case.

The Dogpatch has obviously changed quite a bit in the last 10 years but ultimately it's still zoned as industrial, and as a result supports a massive number of small businesses similar in scale or smaller than ours that require in-person work that deals with physical stuff. We've lost a good number of our workforce over the last few years and while obviously the pandemic has been a big contributor to that, a contributing factor has been the added cost and complexity of finding parking since the meters went in a few years ago. It's such a big barrier to our employees that we've had to subsidize their parking expenses in order to encourage them to come into the office. Ironically, It used to be that all the available parking spots for a 6 block radius were taken up around our building at 20th and 3rd. Since the meters went in, there are always a ton of extra spots open. But almost all of those spots are too far away from the retail/ restaurant zones for people to use for casually coming to the neighborhood for shopping/dining. Almost certainly they were spots that were previously occupied by workers commuting by car since let's be honest, public transportation to the dogpatch Is pretty terrible unless you happen to live along a major transportation line that doesn't require a transfer. The majority of those folks didn't start taking the train, they just come to the office less or not at all.

All that is to say, while I support longer meter times in shopping/dining focused neighborhoods, that isn't the warehouse area of the dogpatch. At least not yet. SF has a long history of these industrial neighborhoods being a vital part of the city's economic fabric and I think it would be a mistake to further squeeze that economic diversity out of the city, particularly in the wake of our tech-work monoculture backfiring the way it has post-pandemic. We need a diversity of businesses and to support what little manufacturing and physical product-based work SF has left. Please do what you can to help enable that, not make it harder and more costly.

I do understand that with the Warriors stadium there are some additional parking dynamics. One idea is to issue employee-based permits for parking, which would allow for higher meter rates during special events and late hours, without penalizing everyone just trying to get to work.

Thank you.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

As an example, many patrons of the arts in the Civic Center are currently able to park at meters when attending performances at the Jazz Center, SF Conservatory of Music, Opera House, Davies Symphony Hall, etc. Where will those people park if meters hour are extended to 10 pm? I attend many performances and there have been times when the Performing Arts Garage has been full and I had been unable to park there. Please do not tell us to rely on public transportation or to bike to these venues. There are many patrons such as myself, who are senior citizens and will not take public transportation especially at 10 or 11 pm after a performance. And we are certainly not going to bike there. You need to start listening to people and groups other than the Bike Coalition. The performing arts has taken a tremendous hit with the COVID-19 situation. If people cannot park in areas such as the Civic Center, the performing arts and restaurants in the area will take another hit. If you are looking for revenue to shore up MUNI by making drivers pay more to park, look instead to enforce payment of fares by non-paying members of the public who use public transportation.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
constance kobe

Why not install metering systems on some of the bike racks? Are the rental scooters taxed in the same way that other vehicle rentals are taxed? A lot of money is spent to make improvements for all vehicles and that features bicycle improvements, what fees do those drivers pay to contribute to the function of the streets?

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong support to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision appropriately considers the realities of our daily lives.

Extending the meter hours will make it easier to find street parking late at night.

In addition to these new additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to simultaneously seek solutions to address parking issues, such as extended public transportation hours and/or increasing frequency.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
James Meiners

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek improving public transportation or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Kristen Foley

Dear Supervisors,

My Name is Nikki DeWald and I am a business owner AND resident in District 9

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay or squash entirey!!!!!!the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. My business of 32 years is struggling (more now than during the height of the pandemic) and can not take this hit.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but penalizing my staff and potential patrons is going to crush my business and ability to staff.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This will most definitely cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening,

Nikki DeWald, owner of Blondie's

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Jamie Wong

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear SF City Planners and SFMTA Officials,

I am an employee and community member in District 10.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

My company had to lay off its entire staff during the pandemic, and the only way we were able to cling to life was through PPP loans, and by drastically overhauling our catering business. Now that we have, we are coming out of the pandemic stronger than ever, and providing a lifeline of service and employment not only here in district 10, but all over the city, especially in our beleaguered downtown district. We offer corporate catering, and are a direct incentive to employees to return to their office spaces in the City.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

Having been a front line worker during the pandemic, I can tell you that the residents and the workers of this city are already tapped out. It's hard enough for us to hold on, not to mention paying God only knows how much more in parking meters.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

I hope you all take the time to read this, and carefully consider the impact.
It does no one any help to think that a proposed plan can already be set in stone.
Or that the people we've elected into positions of power aren't actually willing to listen to their constituents.

Thank you for your time.

I frequent The Nail Hall on weekends (Sun) to avoid parking meters. Why would you want to make small businesses suffer more by having fewer customers? Are you not in favor of successful small minority owned businesses? You already removed parking in front of The Nail Hall between 10th and 11th on Mission which has impacted this business already. Please find other sources of revenue instead of hurting existing businesses struggling to survive. I want to be able to enjoy an evening out without having to worry about feeding the meters or getting a parking ticket. Don't add more to the already diminishing reputation of SF.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator/employee/customer of_Brickhouse restaurant (s), located at 426 Brennan St.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions, and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

It's already so hard to survive in SF!! And city is so hostile to drivers, cars and motorcycles.

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
LaVive Kiely

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours to 10:00 pm!!!

As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. Some places charge almost $9 hour! It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

BTW, l hear that people should simply just ride Muni at night. It’s not safe. There’s no police etc. l nearly got shot on the 49 Van Ness, about 3:00 in the afternoon. The man had his hand on his gun threatening me. The bus driver didn’t call the police and he said to me, “He was after me too.” Gee, thanks.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Regards,

Susan Stockdale

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking. I think raising money by making lives difficult for people who need to park is not a good answer to any financial problems. It's as if you hate anyone who has a car. I am a disabled senior. I cannot drive a bicycle. I cannot walk far. I am a female and don't wish to be out on the street alone after dark. I do have a handicapped placard, but I worry for people who are having enough financial challenges living here. And for people who just can't afford.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options, expanding parking facilities, and repairing existing parking meters and boxes, which are impossible to read and therefore hard to use.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives. Please think about people who are trying to live here. Don't make it even harder for the everyday worker and resident of our beautiful city.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

The city is wrong to raise more money on the backs of the citizens. This city is expensive, meter costs already vary from street to street, and post-Prop 13 home owners pay prohibitive taxes that go up and up. Most citizens know that there is huge monetary waste that is generated by unidentified expenditures. I hope you can find the savings there.

Subject:	City Budget Public Comment: San Francisco Needs to Fund Solutions to End the Drug Crisis in This Year's Budget
Date:	Tuesday, May 23, 2023 4:32:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I'm a San Francisco resident who sees a failure by our elected officials to address the fentanyl-fueled drug epidemic that is devastating our city. The drug epidemic is linked to all of the problems San Francisco faces, including homelessness, mental health, public safety, and economic vitality. You must make ending open-air drug markets and funding more city-sponsored recovery programs the main priority of this year's budget cycle.

We thank Mayor London Breed, Governor Gavin Newsom, District Attorney Brooke Jenkins and Speaker Emerita Nancy Pelosi for working together on State and Federal law enforcement coordination; and appreciate those members of the Board of Supervisors who have been vocally supportive of these efforts. We ask for continued cooperation and coordination with state and federal agencies to permanently eradicate open-air drug markets.

In order to ensure sustained action, I'm demanding that you include the following in the next budget:

Law Enforcement: The District Attorney and the Police Department must work together to arrest and prosecute drug dealers in San Francisco, as well as coordinate with state and federal law enforcement to address cartels bringing drugs to the city. The city can ensure this happens by including the following in the next budget:

- Funding to eventually meet the recommended number of 2,182 sworn officers
- Enough academy classes to meet that goal with new officers
- Enough police staffing aides to allow officers to answer high-priority calls
- Enough additional officers this coming year to make Operation Disruption permanent in high drug trafficking areas, including the Tenderloin, Southern, and Mission Stations
- Investment in personnel training and narcotics equipment to effectively close the open air drug markets
- Funding for a nationwide recruitment search with a focus on lateral hires to expedite hiring

City-Sponsored Recovery Programs: Recovery has to be the goal. City departments need to work cross-functionally to make this happen in order to give users the chance to live healthy lives and shrink demand for drugs on the street. This means funding true treatment on demand in the next budget, which includes:

- Creating 24/7 pickup vans for people seeking to enter drug treatment programs, and 24/7 intake centers where they can go for initial screening
- Stabilization centers with a minimum stay time and on-site medical staff, where people can stay temporarily before entering longer-term drug treatment programs
- Improving access to recovery beds to meet the city's obligation to provide drug treatment on demand:
    - Increase the number of residential drug treatment beds
    - Increase the number of step-down beds, a vital component of the services spectrum where people re-learn skills for independent living before entering permanent housing
- Offer recovery options that are completely drug-free
- Offer more secure mental health beds so people who need care aren't forced to stay in jail or return to the streets
- Make employment as a member of program staff more sustainable and rewarding:
    - Increase staffing capacity through reassignments to match program expansion
    - Additional funding to address the staffing shortage of licensed staff/behavioral nurses
    - Address the pay gap between nonprofit and city licensed behavioral staff

I know that completely eradicating drug use is unrealistic. What I'm demanding is a visible reduction in the open-air drug sales and drug use that is eroding our city. San Francisco should be a place where those who are not involved in drug sales and drug use are not negatively impacted by drug sales and drug use.

Sincerely,
Rachel Barnard

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am an employee in District 10 and a resident of District 8.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Thank you,
Daniel Mitchell

We are residents of San Francisco and are writing to tell you we absolutely OPPOSE the SFMTA's proposal to extend metered parking on week days and into weekends.

Your agency has caused such tremendous hardship already for hard working, tax-paying residents and small businesses with all your street closures, bicycle lanes and removal of parking spots, it's unfathomable that you want to continue destroying and disrupting small businesses and residents' daily lives even further. Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Judy Hollingsworth

To All Involved,

I strongly encourage you Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin to please read below.

I am an the chef and partner of 25 Lusk Restaurant located at 25 Lusk Street here in SOMA.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees, especially that of my neighbors, friends, and colleagues. It is duplicitous and needs to be reassessed. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. The retail reality of San Francisco is overly challenged and fractured, this worsens this reality. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward. We beg of you.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

PLEASE NO extension of parking meter hours.

Please consider the substantial hardships this causes for the regular citizens of this city, especially if you want to revitalize businesses, restaurants, bars, and the wonderful nightlife we had in this city. We need people to get out of their homes and live life. The parking meter hours extension will only hurt efforts to re-energize the city, right when we need it the most. Please reconsider this.

Joanne Chan
-resident of SF for over 40 years

Sincerely,
Joanne Chan

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Ignacio Arreguin

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
John Kirtland

To Whom It May Concern,

I am vehemently opposed to the proposed extension of parking meter hours.

If the MTA is looking for ways to guarantee the City continues its slow post-pandemic recovery, this is it!! Extending parking meter hours will encourage/force many more to shop and recreate outside of SF, where parking is freely available. Buying goods online will become even more attractive.

I urge you not to implement this proposal, a de facto regressive form of taxation on the average citizen.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Dean Sereni

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I don't understand it. You let criminals break into our cars, which we have to pay to repair. You make our kids walk over human waste and hyperdermic needles, which we have to pay to clean up. Our schools are a disaster which means we need to pay for tutoring or private schools AND now you want us to pay more. At what point do you think the citizens are going to say enough is enough and leave? I sometimes think I would be treated better if I lived on the streets, stealing and taking drugs. At that point you - the mayor and supervisors - would ask nothing of me, and instead give and give and then give some more.

To SF Board of Supervisors,
I am a business owner/resident/employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.
Thank you for reading! We hope you can support our views here- especially after all we have gone through the pandemic. Regards, Sher Rogat

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Are you aware that when parking at a meter, for example, near Oracle Park costs more for several hours than parking in a paid garage...Sometimes more than $60!!! Don't make it worse by extending to nighttime and weekends...

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Leanna Dawydiak

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a native and resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

David Ayerdi
Homeowner and Tax Payer

Sincerely,
David Ayerdi

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Jim ONeil

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

If this is a policy decision to bring in more city revenues to make up for the budget shortfall, it is surely a misguided one. The city currently spends $17B a year, and has one of the highest spend per capita of any city in the world. I exhort you to work to improve communication between departments, and find ways to increase operational efficiencies as an alternative to raising more capital to deploy ineffectively.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Seema Gokhale

Dear Supervisors,

I am a resident in District 8 with residential property in district 7 and commercial property in district 5 while my office is in district 2.

I am active in all parts of the city and interact with residents, builders, businesses services and visitors from all walks of life. I have been a resident in the city as well as a Realtor here for almost 50 years. I served as past president of the San Francisco Association of Realtors and was a previous commissioner on the Assessment Appeals Board.

I am writing to support Supervisor Peskin in his request that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures and company relocations. This is not the time to further discourage the patronage of shoppers, spectators and diners to local venues, nor is it the time to penalize workers, residents and owners with ever increasing costs of living in our city.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to take from small business and workers for its funds. SFMTA has been spending heavily on many projects, not all of which are supported by the majority of businesses or residents. At the same time services have been and will continue to be reduced. Furthermore, safety issues aboard public transportation discourage ridership.

This planned change will have a major negative financial impact not only on residents but also the workers who come to the city. Many take public transportation, some must drive due to late hours or scheduling. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them to not take jobs here and there are staffing shortages already contributing to long time businesses closing or significantly reducing their hours of service.

We are against the 18 month extended rollout across the city which will cause inequity and confusion, for businesses and consumers alike.

The city is experiencing a downturn, the people who live and work here feel it and media outside of the city and state report challenges that San Franciscans face at this time. Do not make life in the city more difficult still or cause further unintended or unanticipated negative consequences to our population because SFMTA is now facing a deficit.

Please listen and delay the extended parking meter rollout.

Thank you for your consideration.

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Greg Holmes

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Margaret O'Driscoll

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin, and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities. I am supposing that none of you are looking to be re-elected?

Seriously, In the current economic climate with serious inflation, tech sector lay offs, when San Francisco already has one of the most negative media images globally, a vacant downtown area, has been one of the most expensive cities to live in and visit for decades, and is needing to bounce back from the Pandemic -- this is NOT a smart way to help the City budget. This is yet another serious expense and burden on residents and visitors that will undoubtedly prevent people from wanting to come into the city to shop, visit arts and cultural destinations (already suffering greatly from the Pandemic), and more!

Meter hours until 10 pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, visitors who cannot afford yet another added expense who may be considering a day trip or renting a car to tour the city and the State, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco.

Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter and your VOTING residents.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

Are you out of your minds?

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Cary Fulbright

Sincerely,

Cary Fulbright

Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Joie Ryan

Good morning,

I am an employee in District 10. I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until the impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Thank you,
Marie

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin, and SFMTA Board Members,

I hope that you are well.

I write to you because I oppose the proposed plan to extend the parking meter hours. I can't see how this will help small businesses - especially restaurants, bars, and performing arts organizations which all operate in the evening hours.

In fact, other Bay Area cities or institutions have free parking at night. Stanford University garages are free after around 4:30 pm. Santana Row does not charge for parking day or night. The City of Burlingame's parking meters stop charging at 6pm.

Extending paid paring hours makes SF a less desirable place to visit when considering the nearby options. Honestly, one must be a somewhat "brave" even to visit SF these days.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Best,

Especially adding in Sundays is religious discrimination. Many churches have services that go after 12pm and will make it a burden on church attendees and the churches themselves.

Not only that, but it will make many districts less appealing for going out to eat in the evenings.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Ken Bentubo

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Supervisor,

I am a business owner/resident/employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until the impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA faces and strongly support the city's need for a robust public transportation system. Still, we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small businesses and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Thank you for your attention and all you do as a small business here in our beautiful city.

Supervisor Stefani,
When I first heard a member of the Board of Supervisors had called for an investigation of John Elberling, I rolled my eyes. I do not know, nor have I ever met Mr. Elberling. But I would juxtapose this City Hall gadfly, with that of a tone death city official.

I do not expect any member of the Board to read this SF Examiner article about what John Elberling did for one of my sisters, but it is worth reading:

There needs to be contrast. And art is orchestrated contrast. A bit of joy arises and surprises, pleases and guides. We LOVE art!

Mercury Café is a maker, a creator, a poetic transformer of things like water and coffee and butter and flour and apples and eggs into experiences of pure joy and surprise, even wonder!

Friday, May 26, from 6:30 to 9:00 Mercury Café is inviting all of its fellow creative spirits and makers of joy and surprise to come and join us in doing this art thing together.

The motive is clear, the end of the month is near, cash is needed, and cash is unquestionably king around here.

Yes, Mercury Café's art hustle is officially on. Come adopt a persona, read a poem, act a scene, play a tune, be a buffoon, and put out your tin pot, your felt hat, and collect coins. It's all yours to keep. Sign up at the café for those wishing to perform. Or send us an email, if that's your norm. Stake out a space to display your crafts, but arrive early, first come first serve.

We all got to dance at the end of the month. Why not dance together? Why not share a bit of joy and surprise together? It's more fun that way…

Speaking of joy,

Renovations have come our way, but, hey, we're still open every day...

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Alice Herwill

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Hirsch

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Suzanne Nason

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
James Testa

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,
I do not live in the City, but I do work in SF.
As a Business owner, I object to the increased parking fees, The homeless squatting on the streets and the dereliction of what was once a beautiful city.
Raising the parking fees and keeping people away is not going to help.
I, for one, am not renewing my Best of Broadway series due to the condition of the city.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Jorge Carcamo

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Michael Greenberg

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

I live in the lower Haight, and we had parking meters added to our street within the last year. Those meters are in what is a completely residential neighborhood, and despite speaking out against them at MTA meetings, anyone coming for weeknight dinner or a Saturday get together has to feed the meter. Yet most other neighborhoods in the city don’t face this additional inconvenience. Now the plan is to add charge for Sundays as well - it’s absolutely ridiculous.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Message to the Board of Supervisors, Mayor and SFMTA

From your constituent	Karen Pfaumartinez
Email	kpfau2001@gmail.com
I live in District

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Arjuna Balasingham

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

James Meyering

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Danielle Trower

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear President Peskin and the Board of Supervisors,

The West of Twin Peaks Council (WTPCC), an organization comprised of 18 homeowner associations, opposes SFMTA's plan to extend parking meter hours. Extending hours until 10 pm and Sundays will have a tremendous adverse impact on small businesses and places of worship looking to recover from pandemic and will burden small businesses trying to remain viable in this difficult economy.

Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors, and add financial stress to residents who already feel the instability and impact of the economic downturn.

San Franciscans and tourists deserve to visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Extended meter hours will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option. Furthermore, the institution of Sunday meter hours targets the faith community. Churches, synagogues, temples, and mosques host many evening activities and weekend worship services. Much of this constituency is elderly or families with young children. Seniors, families, and other worship service attendees should not be burdened with paying just to attend churches, temple, synagogues, or mosques.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to do everything we can to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already high.

Reject the ill-considered extended hours and look towards cost savings and other efficiency in MUNI. We support the resolution demanding an economic impact study prior to instituting any meter increases.

Sincerely,

Stephen Martin-Pinto

Dear San Francisco Community Leaders,

I am a business owner/resident/employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Zoe Edwards

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator/employee of __COPRA_____ restaurant (s), located at _____1700 FILLMORE ST _____.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I was about to write to you to suggest the opposite plan, reducing parking fees to encourage people to shop more when I saw this news posted to NextDoor. This is the exact wrong way to go. With the current post-pandemic state of our city, we need you to do more things to benefit residents and make this city a better place to live, not penalize them for patronizing businesses. Getting less than 5 minutes for a quarter makes me minimize my errands to anywhere which requires parking meters.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors,

I'm a business owner in Fisherman's Wharf. I don't oppose parking meter changes but I think the proposed rates are too high for customers, employees, and residents/visitors alike. Having to pay $24 for meter parking to grab dinner in the city is just too much. If you are going to extend hours until 10pm, why can't the rate be more reasonable, or at least start lower and steadily increase over 5 years?

Thanks for listening,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Terrie Gigliotti

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an employee of The Chapel+Curio restaurant & concert venue located at 777 Valencia St. Extending parking meter hours to 10pm is a terrible idea. I am writing to ask that SFMTA kill the idea.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system with adequate safety measures (police) in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on us. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This will cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. As someone who lives in Oakland and works in San Francisco I can tell you this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. I already don't drive to San Francisco for entertainment or diniing. It's so much hassle & expense already, that unless I can take BART, I stay home. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to kill the idea, or at least consider a 12 month pause to assess and determine a better way forward.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities,discontinue the practice of eliminating street parking spaces for other non revenue generating ideas.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
S Olson

Dear Supervisors,

I am a neighbor of the proposed project. I have lived for 26 years on Rausch St., on the same block as 1147-1178 Folsom.

I STRONGLY SUPPORT using that building for transitional-age youth housing.

This proposed use seems like an outstanding way to keep young people from falling further into homelessness and becoming a greater burden on our city.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Mike Kakunda

Supervisor Peskin,
I hope you understand that I respect your position. However, none of what you state in Today's Examiner Forum is achievable if we do not have a paradigm shift in strategy.

First, we cannot out slick criminals (drug dealers) but we can outsmart them. I know of what I speak based in part on ten years of counseling and teaching teenaged murderers, rapist and gang members from 1983 to 1993 in the maximum security unit of juvenile hall without incident as a start.

What have I been doing since? Largely being ignored by City Hall.

I live less than a block from UN Plaza at 50 Jones Street. It's District 5 not 6 as I may have stated earlier. I will be in my apartment during this grandstanding event.

Your Q&A with the mayor will not get one person in jail, in treatment or off the street. And the only way to get city agencies to collaborate or buy in, is to come up with something new.

But don't listen to me, I've only been here since 1960. And don't worry, I'm working on the paradigm shift. :) I promise you will like it.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Amy Carr

Dear Major Breed, Supervisors, Directors Walton, Tumlin and Wilson,

My name is Mishi Nova and I've owned a small business in San Francisco for 15 years. My current location is in District 10 after we were priced out of downtown.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. Our part time stylists and salon assistants - working as contractors - cannot afford to live in San Francisco and have to drive into the city to work. They often work long continuous hours. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work.

Charging them up to $9.00/hour for parking is untenable. That's almost half of what they make in an hour! The only people hurt by this are the people who already can't afford to live in our beautiful city and must commute long distances for the access to clients they need.

Not to mention that our clients may have to pay an additional 10-20+% of their service charge to park in our neighborhood. It's too much to ask of our clients!

Please reconsider this entirely, or at least delay it while the impact is studied.

Mishi Nova

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

As a San Francisco native with family members who have moved out of the city, I can tell you that non-residents generally choose not to come to SF if it's not absolutely necessary. They either fear taking public transportation or prefer not to deal with the challenges of driving in the city. With fewer drivers during the evenings, that was a potential option. With this parking meter change, I'm sure even fewer will come.

But that's not my biggest concern. I understand the drive to push for a more pedestrian lifestyle in SF, however, the truth is that families don't have the luxury of living, working, and learning in the same neighborhood. Taking the bus to drop off 3 kids to 3 different locations is not feasible for the many people who work 2+ jobs, let alone others.

This is a short sighted solution that will only further degrade this city, forcing people to move away. I have overcome many challenges so that I can move back into SF. I am a professor and I work in the arts. I give a lot to my city, which I love. With changes like this, my faith in city leadership degrades a little each day. It's very disappointing. Still, I will keep fighting for the city I know and love.

From a respectful voter,
Kathy Zarur

Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Michael Cohen

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Musicians and artists need to use cars to transport equipment to our jobs. We will not be able to afford to work at all: we DEPEND upon being able to park at meters for free in the evening and on Sundays.

As a tax payer, I did not get a chance to vote on this.

This will drive more artists and long time residents out of the area.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Stacy Hawkins

Perhaps if the SFMTA and the BOS had not lost all credibility for me they would find more support.

I have lived in SF for over 45 years. I own a home in the Richmond district. I previously supported Transit First and other initiatives for public transportation.

Having seen these initiatives morph into from public transit first to bicycle first/anti car by coercion, I'm disgusted and will not longer vote for funding for the SFMTA. It's a corrupt bureaucracy where the city gives over a million dollars to lobbying organizations like the Bicycle Coalition and Kid Safe who then in turn stack surveys and public hearings to influence policy. SF Park and Rec is similar and dedicated to monetizing GG Park.

Look at the Slow Streets. SFMTA agendas that state four streets would be considered for permanence with Lake being deferred ended up being approval of over a dozen streets for permanence when THEY ARE NOT EVEN BEING USED like Cabrillo St and 23rd Avenue.

Closing the Great Highway was an even bigger mistake greatly affecting the western side of SF since you have eliminated 1 of only 3 major north south transit routes, diverting 20,000 cars/day to the nearby residential areas. This was accomplished by fiat by Gordon Mar and he lost his seat. I realize this is now under Park and Rec jurisdiction which is even worse.

Park and Rec has no sand clearing equipment, they depend on the DPW for the equipment which is stored remotely across town. According to someone who lives adjacent to the Great Highway, in 2023 the GH was open to cars AS AGREED upon (Mon-Fri noon) for only 23 days. I not infrequently refer to Google Maps and 511 to see if the GH is open so I can go down to the Peninsula or do chores such as going to Home Depot (for instance) only to find the GH is closed contrary to the schedule. This erratic opening and closing is maddening. The last time this happened to me on a weekday there was no discernible reason as to why the gates had not been opened.

The city totally ignores the UC Riverside report showing CO2 emissions climbed five fold between 2020 and 2021 along 19th Avenue. https://www.sfchronicle.com/bayarea/article/sf-air-quality-17633562.php. So much for the environmental arguments for closing the GH.

From the SF Chronicle article about it:

"This would partially explain why San Francisco's 19th Avenue saw a fivefold increase in carbon dioxide levels between 2020 and 2021, according to the study. Additionally, Bay Area commuters who used the Great Highway to get through the city might have shifted their drive to 19th Avenue when the coastal route closed, adding to vehicle emissions there.to vehicle emissions there."

Extending concerts around Outside Lands is another example of ignoring the needs of residents in the western part of SF. Outside Lands is totally disruptive in terms of traffic, cutting off access to the Park, noise, blocked driveways etc. Does the City and Park and Rec care? Obviously no.

So, sorry no. No longer interested in supporting public transit in SF like this news statement begs for. No interest until the City and the SFMTA, Park and Rec, etc realize that only 2% of the residents in the western part of the city use bicycles as the main form of transportation. Cars remain the primary modality. Share roads. Create protected bike routes. Have pedestrians walk on sidewalks. Enforce traffic violations by ALL users including bicyclists. STOP trying to coerce people into giving up their cars by closing streets, eliminating parking etc

I use public transportation where it is convenient and efficient (Asian and European cities, NYC). You can induce people to use alternatives to cars by providing them. You can't force people to give up their cars until viable alternatives are provided and I mean viable. Not bicycles. Not scooters. The SFMTA should stop wasting energy and money on things like slow streets and bicycling infrastructure where even their own studies show it did not result in an increase in bicycle use as the primary mode of transportation. Had I seen that they were focusing on Muni and not these extraneous activities where Kid Safe and the SF Bike Coalition were on full display then the SFMTA would have continued to receive support from the greater population.

P.S. SFMTA just allocated $5 million to the SF Bicycle Coalition for "bicycle education" related matters over the next 2 years. There's lots in their budget to remove parking spaces and close and redesign streets to create difficulties for drivers, but nothing for improving MUNI.

PRESS STATEMENT
SFMTA DIRECTOR OF TRANSPORTATION JEFFREY TUMLIN STATEMENT ABOUT MUNI'S IMPENDING FISCAL CLIFF

MESSAGE FROM DIRECTOR OF TRANSPORTATION JEFFREY TUMLIN: San Francisco cannot afford to lose public transit. But that is the direction we're heading in if the state legislature doesn't change course and make California public transit a priority.

The SFMTA is doing everything possible to keep Muni running. We've limited our hiring to priority positions. We've proposed new sources of revenue from a modernized parking meter plan. We're stretching our federal relief funds out as far as they'll go, and we're cutting costs everywhere we can. But it still won't be enough to fill our budget gap.

Without state funding, we will have no choice but to scale back Muni to pandemic levels of service when we had 40% fewer Muni routes, service ended at 10 p.m. and the hilly neighborhoods of San Francisco were barely served.

57% of Muni riders are people of color and 70% of riders make less than $50,000 a year. Without funding support from the state, 40,000 daily riders will be directly stripped of their primary means of getting around San Francisco. Seniors and people with disabilities will have to walk twice as far to catch Muni to the grocery store or a medical appointment, and that simply isn't feasible for many people. Without Muni, many more people will choose to drive, which will lead to more cars on our streets and more greenhouse gas emissions.

Before the SFMTA makes any Muni cuts, we will work with community members to understand the most pressing needs, analyze new travel patterns and prioritize neighborhoods with residents who depend on transit most. But there is no good way to make cuts of this magnitude. In the end, cuts to transit will hurt all San Franciscans and our prospects for a strong economic recovery. It is imperative that the state legislature extend a lifeline to Muni and other transit agencies across the state that face similarly massive financial shortfalls. The people of San Francisco, and California, are depending on it.

We will continue to focus on making Muni service better within our current financial constraints. To make Muni cleaner, we're cleaning vehicles continuously and have added custodians. To make Muni safer, we've added on-board transit ambassadors and budgeted for more safety positions, including staff to analyze the video footage we've used to help the police successfully apprehend so many of the recent suspects involved in crime and harassment on Muni. None of those budgeted positions can be filled if the state doesn't act to support public transit.

To: Honored Chair Peskin and other Honorable Members of the SFBOS

More Transit Money

Dear Chair Peslom and other members of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors:

At last Thursday's BATWG meeting, the attendees were of one mind regarding the clamor of the Bay Area's transit agencies for more operating and capital funding from the State and federal governments. It's not that we're necessarily against the State and Fed helping to keep these properties afloat. What galls us and is of major concern to us is the tendency of the large transit bureaucracies including MTC to demand outside help while showing little if any interest in tightening their own belts.

As Chair of the Assembly Budget Committee Assemblyperson Phil Ting is getting hammered by the pro-side and we think the situation warrants a countervailing opinion. As indicated, we're not opposed to outside help, provided there are strings attached. So far none of the Bay Area's large transit bureaucracies has displayed any apparent interest in cutting costs, unless forced to by a looming fiscal cliff. Yet opportunities to tighten up abound at BART, Caltrain, SCVTA, SMART, SFMTA, AC Transit and MTC. (If examples of past waste and current cost-cutting opportunities are needed we can provide).

For the above reasons there are two actions that we are convinced should accompany any outside governmental subsidies.
The first is that the transit properties demonstrate a concerted effort to reduce their own costs where possible.
The second is that the sponsoring State and federal agencies should take a much more active oversight role henceforth in making certain that any and all State and Federal subventions are prudently spent in the public interest.
Sincerely yours,

Dear Supervisor Melgar,

I'm a resident of District 7. I believe that dealers of deadly fentanyl should be arrested and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, and that illegal open-air drug dealing in the Tenderloin, Soma, and other neighborhoods should not be tolerated. We must enforce our laws against criminals who are flagrantly breaking them and killing people in the process. These dealers, who have killed more San Franciscans than Covid, should face appropriate consequences, including jail time.

The regular, law-abiding residents of San Francisco deserve safe streets free of crime. Children in the Tenderloin deserve to be able to walk to school without being accosted by drug dealers. Seniors in SOMA deserve to be able to walk to the grocery store without having to step over dirty needles and human waste. All San Franciscans deserve a city that enforces our laws.

I support GrowSF's "Safe Streets Pledge" and I hope you do too.

Thank you.

My comment is in support of ceasing acceptance of new cannabis retail applications.

Current retail businesses in SF, many of whom are owned and operated by social equity applicants are struggling to stay open for a multitude of reasons. Security, taxes, lack of banking. But what is unique to large cities like San Francisco is the over-saturation of retail locations. There are already too many open retail stores per ratio to individual per square block. Retail stores are competing for the shrinking number people who live and work here, let alone the people who use cannabis.

Unless the city can attract more tourists or folks from surrounding counties to come and spend in San Francisco, it looks extremely bleak for current retail stores without some sort of retail advantage. For these reasons, I support the ceasing of accepting new cannabis retail applications.
