San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

This is greedy and senseless. People will leave. I love this city and call it home, but as of now, with the threat of meters until 10 pm at night and less parking spaces on Geary, it's clear San Francisco leaders do not care about the residents. I am extremely disappointed.

Also, buses are virtually empty. That will not change anytime soon. People will leave the city before they will commit to taking the bus. So many routes are on minimal schedules. It's all ridiculous.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Good afternoon,

My name is David Yoshimura, I am the business owner/resident of Nisei & Bar Iris located in Russian Hill on Polk & Union St.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

I understand the significant financial challenge that SFMA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small businesses and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from COVID closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
Best Regards,

David Yoshimura | Chef/Owner david@restaurantnisei.com | 832-483-4471

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

The slow suicide of San Francisco continues. I predict that when the leases run out on the financial district high rises in the next five years, tax revenues will plummet and SF will have to file a chapter 11 (?) case in the US Bankruptcy Court in DC. Our City Attorney will file the case at 5 pm on a Friday afternoon and emerge from Bankruptcy before the markets open Monday AM. City pensions will be cut in half and the bond holders will be wiped out. Time to wake up, guys…..and I also wish to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Mayor Breed, Sup Walton and SFMTA board,

I am a an employee in District 10 in the American Industrial Center. I am writing in profound opposition to the extended parking meter roll out. This is another financial burden the city is imposing on everyday workers and families, many of whom don't have access to garages or parking lots. Asking businesses, employees and families in the area, which already face reduced parking due to the Shared Spaces program parklets to pay exorbitant hourly fees during peak hours (9-5 employees who already struggle with increased bridge tolls, etc) is the wrong direction to go. Any budget shortfalls should be addressed by other means, possibly with State and Federal subsidies. If San Francisco wants to recover from the economic losses of the pandemic, it needs to make the city more attractive by making it easier to visit, work and live in. Gauging working people is not the way to accomplish this.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Diana Dubash

Dear Board of Supervisors,

This outrageous and ill-considered 'decision' is pathetic. The SFMTA, after Blowing Billions on their Subway to Nowhere, and on other bad projects like the Van Ness fiasco, find that they Can't can't live within their massive and bloated Budget? I say NO to Killing more neighborhoods and businesses with this plainly stupid idea!

Also, I was just at a meeting last night that had the 'Destruction of the Geary Corridor for 120 seconds of MUNI time' discussed, and OPPOSED by fully 80% of the people gathered there!

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it will stop people from going to restaurants, opera, symphony, theaters which require more than two hours parking after 6:00pm weekdays and Sunday matinees. This action will definitely hurt the city's economy.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Terry Matsuoka

Dear people,

I am an employee in District 10.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Also, you may want to investigate 24th Street east of Illinois. Sheedy has been parking their trailers and equipment for years violating the no overnight parking for long vehicles ordinance. See attached photo dating from 2016 when it was p*ossible* to park along this stretch of public road. This has also been reported to SF311 at least twice. Your unfairly enforced policies hurt the average worker and allow big business to flaunt the rules.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Judi Yabumoto

Are all of you actually trying to cripple small businesses in SF ? Or just making transit/families at the bottom of your list of worthy citizens in San Francisco ? You all are in the pockets of big developers and anti-neighbor conglomerates. You are all our least supporting SF members - that is, if you even live in the confines of San Francisco which I doubt. Come on up - if you can get from the Sunset to the Richmond on weekdays, that is. You stink. I wish lousy parking for all of you.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

The SFMTA could rake in SO MUCH MORE money if they would simply concentrate on eliminating MUNI fare evaders - HUNDREDS of THOUISANDS of DOLLARS per year which are now lost due to cheating fare evaders.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
ROSTISLAV SMIRNOV

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I am a San Francisco resident/ registered voter writing to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours. I support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents and workers who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Especially in summer months, San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter. It is very much appreciated!

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner/operator of Nightbird restaurant st 330 Gough St, in Hayes Valley.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
D F Owen

Dear Board of Supervisors,

Retail is dying in San Francisco, and SFMTA wants to increase parking meter hours to Sundays. SFMTA is being incredibly short-sighted. To them, all that matters is getting people to stop driving via "carassment" tactics like this. They need to understand that there is more to cities than how people get around -- this includes the businesses that form part of the social fabric of our city.

As such, I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

I strongly disagree with the proposed extension of meter hours and the substantial increase in parking costs being proposed.

Parked cars in commercial districts equal customers patronizing small business and the workers necessary to run and operate those business.

The city should work to properly police and clean up the streets to encourage commerce and tax revenue - not add to the already long list of reasons to avoid visiting SF, working there, or operating a business by increasing parking rates.

Pushing this change under the guise of greenhouse gas reduction and equity is shameful and dishonest. Call it what it is - taking from ordinary folks to cover governmental mismanagement.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

As a lifetime resident and taxpayer in this city, it has become harder and harder to both drive and park, and this often prevents me from going out to dinner or visiting friends in other areas of town. This proposal will increase both the cost and availability of parking when visiting friends and negatively impact the lives of people like me.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Marc Brenman

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

The Honorable President and members of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

I am writing on behalf of our organization to ask for your support for President Peskin's resolution urging the SFMTA to delay the implementation of a meter hour extension roll out until a comprehensive economic impact analysis is conducted to weigh the benefit and drawback impacts of a meter extension on low-income communities.

Our organization's goal and objective is to provide affordable housing to low-income residents with HIV/AIDS in the Mission who would be adversely affected by a meter hour extension roll out as proposed from the SFMTA.

SFMTA and other transit agencies are facing a serious transit financial crisis but shaking down workers, residents and small businesses with extended meter hours will not solve this fiscal crisis and there must be stronger advocacy at the state and federal levels for additional support. Extending meter hours will not cover the $130M deficit SFMTA is facing, but it will harm tourism, small businesses, residents, and workers at a time when our neighborhoods need every opportunity to bounce back from the impacts of the COVID pandemic.

Respectfully, I submit our support of President Peskin's resolution Item 41 - Urging SFMTA to Delay Implementation of Meter Hour Extension, File#230587, and ask the Board of Supervisors to support it.

Best regards,

Michael Rouppet

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
richard brandi

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner in District 6.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening,

Jennifer Hall, The Nail Hall

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Maria Sousa

Dear Supervisors,

I own The Beer Hall in District 6.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening,

Jennifer Hall

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
jimmy lew

Dear Board of Supervisors,

There is an old adage, "When you are in a hole, stop digging." This asinine idea of extending parking meter hours will further destroy bars, restaurants, movie theaters and further poison the attitude of the San Francisco populace. Five minutes of parking at Laurel Village already costs 25 cents! After feeding the meter, we are already thinking "better save money." This is exactly the opposite of what businesses need. Business need people walking into them feeling good and ready to buy things, more things than they need.

If MUNI needs money terminate employees.

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
jay cellini

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am the owner of The Beer Hall at 1 Polk Street which is two blocks from City Hall. We have been there for 10 years and have barely been able to survive the last 3. I'm currently at 40% of pre-pandemic sales.

Small business is dying here and you come up with this idea? It's hard enough to attract employees, regular patrons and out of town visitors to our neighborhood and now you're going to make it worse for all of us.

Also the fact that you're deciding to punish anyone who depends on parking in this city because the SFMTA is fiscally irresponsible shows how out of touch you are with the citizens of this city that you pretend to represent.

Please stop destroying small businesses. We are what make SF the amazing place it is, not the SFMTA.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

DISNEY: GOOD FIT FOR SAN FRANCISCO

TO: Mayor London Breed and Board President Aaron Peskin

CC: Board of Supervisors and Mayor's Office of Economic & Workforce Development

Besides pulling the $1 billion Disney office complex in Orlando, Florida risks losing $17 billion in Walt Disney World investments. In many ways, San Francisco is a natural fit for Disney---and The Walt Disney Company would get strategic value by investing in San Francisco.

The proposed 1.8 million square feet and 2,000 employee newly-constructed facility, in Florida, could be an urban campus in central San Francisco---by economical reimagining of existing structures/ spaces, linked by greenways and possibly "futuristic" autonomous microtransit.

San Francisco is already a Disney creativity hub, with Letterman Digital Arts Center, Industrial Light & Magic, LucasFilm, LucasArts, Pixar and Disney's "Mecca" at the Walt Disney Museum. San Francisco would be geographically central to Disney parks in Hong Kong, Shanghai, Tokyo, Anaheim, Orlando and Paris. San Francisco's large Asian and diverse population would mesh well with Disney's global clientele and imagery. San Francisco is known as "The Paris of the West" and her sister cities include Paris and Shanghai.

San Francisco's free-spirited inclusivity and tolerance is a good fit for Disney, with mutually-beneficial economic benefits. Best Regards, Howard Wong, AIA

https://www.nytimes.com/2023/05/18/business/disney-ron-desantis-florida.html

In March, Disney called Gov. Ron DeSantis of Florida "anti-business" for his scorched-earth attempt to tighten oversight of the company's theme park resort near Orlando. Last month, when Disney sued the governor and his allies for what it called "a targeted campaign of government retaliation," the company made clear that $17 billion in planned investment in Walt Disney World was on the line. "Does the state want us to invest more, employ more people, and pay more taxes, or not?" Robert A. Iger, Disney's chief executive, said on an earnings-related conference call with analysts last week.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Kathy D'Or

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Georgina Costales

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I write to share my objection to the proposed extension of parking meters. This proposal fails to consider the day to day difficulties we presently face in finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

SFMTA needs to find alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Message to the Board of Supervisors, Mayor and SFMTA

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco for nearly 50 years I am car-dependent and drive and park my car all over this beautiful city. If I can't park I don't go. I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking. It's just another attack on cars in San Francisco.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as expanding parking facilities.

Respectfully submitted,

Sincerely,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Charley Stern

Alternative solutions that should be considered is that residents who already pay a huge amount of property taxes and rent should not have to absorb the cost for SFMTA’s shortfall. Speaking specifically to District 4, we get virtually ignored by SFMTA. Our public transit is negligible compared to other parts of the city and now you want to charge us even more to park? It’s shameful.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Message to the Board of Supervisors, Mayor and SFMTA

I live in District

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

Do NOT increase the cost of parking. More meters, more hours, is taking money from residents already dealing with inflation.

One of many reasons to NOT extend meter hours: evening metering will discourage me and others from going out to dinner at SF restaurants. This will hurt restaurant owners.

The SFMTA is the only "small business" that will benefit from increased parking costs.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Brett Lilienthal

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Terry McDevitt

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Regarding Resolution 230587 (Board of Supervisors) for Tuesday, May 23--

I am adding my personal thoughts to the statement below. Some 10 years ago, SFMTA managed to impose enforcement of meters on Sundays throughout the City, though without extending the hours for enforcing parking meters on weekdays. Then Mayor Lee, whom I did not always agree with, said something to the effect, let's stop nickle and diming people to squeeze extra revenue out of residents and visitors and work instead to achieve a comprehensive parking plan. SFMTA's proposal is that old plan for increasing Sunday parking revenue on steroids. The statement I saw from SFMTA said they would thereby achieve maybe 10% of the additional revenue ultimately needed, though at considerable cost to the public.

The fact is, the ramifications of this proposal are not yet known and appear to be based on a lot of wishful thinking. Instead, let's authorize an economic impact study of this problem and the proposed solution before allowing the rules to allow an expansion of rules on meter enforcement to go into effect.

Coincidentally, a recent news story reported another transit initiative schedule over the next two years which would end up with "More than 1K street parking spaces to be removed in SF due to new bus guidelines" at <https://url.avanan.click/v2/___https://abc7news.com/parking-san-francisco-sfmta-spaces-sf-bust-stop-rules-bus-guidelines/12567051/>___.YXAzOnNmZHQyOmE6bzo3NDc1ZDYwYTJmYTFkYWNmMjc4MmEwYjVlMzMzODQxNTo2OjdiZGE6ZWY5MmE4ZDJlMDVjNmU4NWM2YTVkMzU4OGI4NWIzMzY3NTdjMmYxZmUyNTVhZDY3MGU2ZGI2ZTc0MTU4ZGFkMjp0OlQ:. This says to me that we don't have the full story about what the full costs and impacts of the proposed parking meter plans will be. Since it would be hard to reverse any such plan, let's make sure that it makes ene first before it is put into effect. (The message below asks you to finding alternative fiscal sources for bringing in this money short of pushing this painful parking meter enhancement measure).

Also consider this:

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Judith Wing

From your constituent Angela Montemayor

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Shelly Schaenen

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Kim Russo

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am opposed to extending the parking meter hours. Please do not allow it.

Little by little, the types of actions are making it harder and harder to get around, to shop locally and enjoy living here. They are squeezing the life out of the City.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to generate revenue such as expanding parking facilities.

Thank you for your consideration.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

During this time, when businesses & restaurants are trying to revitalize, this proposal is nothing but detrimental to the economy of SF.

Muni us trying to impose these meter extensions to make up for loss of revenue on public transport. My own recent experiences showed that less than 50% of the riders pay; they get on the back of the bus to avoid paying.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities and providing safety on the buses.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear "Supervisors"
I am an employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Vijay Krishnan

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Susan Tanaka

Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Anna-Lisa Helmy

Dear San Francisco,

I am a PROUD manufacturing business owner in District 10 and I am asking as an employer in San Francisco for you to reconsider additional metered parking in the American Industrial area of the Dogpatch in which most parking is for folks who work long 8-12 hour shifts or work two jobs in the area for a total of 16 hours. We can not continue to be priced out of a neighborhood where we have spent the last 12 years cultivating a culture that is susatainable and has provided several jobs especially inside the AIC over the last 3 decades. For a city that is said to be built on diversity, inclusivity and equity the funds can not continue to come from the residents, staff and small business owners. It will be equally as difficult for some of the long term residents who have been here pre-high income status and force them to move outside of a city that they love and want to support, taking away any culture or diversity.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, unsafe bus routes, no direct bus routes or scheduling. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city and we have worked very hard to keep manufacturing jobs inside the city limits of San Francisco. For employees to be able to build their skills in manufacturing so they never have to work another entry level job again has been a goal for us since inception. The additional costs of metered parking as well as the disruption of folks having to constantly move their cars adds even more expenses to companies like Nana Joes Granola who have already and continue to stay in San Francsico even though moving out of the city would become more profitable.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

Thank you for taking the time to read our email. Also, the support the city of San Francisco has given to us and continues to give us does not go unnoticed. We know how hard you all work to make sure jobs and residents stay in San Francisco. Now let's make sure small businesses stay. Because when asked "why do you stay in San Francisco isn't it expensive?" my reply is always "Why would I leave when I can stay and provide manufacturing jobs in San Francisco and opportunities to folks so they can advance their careers?". Our team has been with us for 12 years and we will do everything in our power to keep them close to home and employed. Please help us stay in the city we love.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Today, for example, I ran an errand that lasted a few minutes longer than I thought it would. I returned to my car and found meter violation ticket for $89!! To think that is the amount of money someone who depends on street parking will have to pay if they don't feed the meter after they come home from work is just completely insane. Imagine trying to have dinner with your family or help your child with homework and then have to run out to feed a meter on a week right until 10p? Ridiculous.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Rudolph Ragan

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

On a personal note... I really think this is poor timing for this city, given the current struggles (especially downtown) to increase our cost of living. This is a lot more than just having to drop a few more quarters in the meter. San Francisco has one of the highest parking fines in the US. This not only hurts residents, but it's going to be a rude awakening for tourists. Why give them another reason to not come back to SF?

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dan Furtado
- 30 year SF resident. Lifelong bay area resident

Sincerely,
Dan Furtado

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

Dear Board of Supervisors,
I am an employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. We will now have to pay for parking and disrupt our work to move our cars. We cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause us not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants. Additionally, the Dogpatch is not an easy area to get to by public transport, with travel times being 8 times longer by bus than by car. For those that work later, me included, getting to work by car is just about my only option.
Sincerely,
Breanna

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

While this email appears to be in a copy/paste format, it reflects my viewpoint accurately and succinctly. I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Cristina Gutterman

To whom it may concern,
I am a business owner/resident/employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking. This city is already expensive and becoming unlivable when compared to other cities that are affordable.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I strongly encourage you to Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

My name is Mitch Hughes and I am a sales rep with US Foods and I work directly with restaurants across the city.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Thanks,

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner in District 3. I have several retail businesses on Fisherman's Wharf with over 100 employees.

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives. Enough is enough.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Chris Michalik

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. The LAST thing we need is to increase impediments for residents and visitors to enjoy and appreciate our city.

As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities. While these would not immediately increase revenue, they would make it easier and more attractive to spend money in the city, increasing tax revenue and spending directly with city employers.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. Jennifer

Dear Mayor Breed, Board of Supervisors President Peskin, and Supervisors:

Please stop MTA's plan to extend parking meter hours and days. Extending parking meter hours and days would make it more difficult and costly for:

- potential customers to visit restaurants, stores and other businesses
- tourists
- employees who work in person
- contractors, tradespeople, salespeople
- people to go to doctor appointments, physical therapists, occupational therapists, chiropractors and the like
- caregivers to help clients in their homes
- service providers of all kinds to serve customers
- parents to take their children to and from school, lessons, sports, and other afterschool and weekend activities

Downtown would be especially harmed by MTA' s plan. More and more sections of Market Street have been closed to vehicles over the past decade. All of Market Street east of Van Ness is now permanently closed to vehicles. Central Subway construction has eliminated vehicles from some streets. Many metered spaces have been converted from general parking to commercial parking or loading zones in recent years, and general parking hours have been shortened. The cost of parking at garages and at metered street spaces has increased. Pre-pandemic, many downtown retail spaces were vacant. Fewer people were going downtown for shopping, restaurants, entertainment, cultural events and doctor’s appointments. There were many reasons for this, including the difficulty of driving and parking downtown. This has only gotten worse since the pandemic.

For many years, the parking meters on Bush east of Kearney and some of the nearby streets were commercial parking or loading until 6 PM, with general, free parking thereafter. A few years before the pandemic, MTA changed it to 7 PM and, at the beginning of the pandemic, 8 PM. Each extension made it much more difficult for people having dinner at the restaurants at Belden Place, Bush and the vicinity to find parking. I've been there since the change to 8 PM, and it is much more difficult to find parking. The popular dinner times in that area are before 8 PM. The management and staff at a restaurant I go to are quite unhappy that MTA has made it harder for their patrons to find parking. There shouldn't be general public parking on those blocks during the day. But by around 6:30 PM, and certainly 7 PM, there's little vehicle traffic on those blocks of Bush and Pine, and there was no valid reason for extending the parking restriction. This is an example of MTA being oblivious to the needs of businesses and customers, and having a punitive parking policy.

People with mobility disabilities rely heavily on cars and would be harmed by extending parking meter hours and days. Please see the attached memo, which I've sent you several times over the years. It is as true today as it was a few years ago, if not more so.

Also, not everyone uses a cell phone. It would be physically difficult for those who don't to keep feeding parking meters after the initial time has expired. Would this be equitable?

For many years, MTA has lacked empathy for those who rely on cars, and has lacked common sense in its parking policy. Even so, it's almost unfathomable that MTA would increase parking meter hours and days in light of the economic, logistical, and safety difficulties caused and exacerbated by the pandemic. There is no need to study the potential impact of MTA's plan – just ask and listen to businesses, residents, visitors, and customers. Frankly, no consultants hired by MTA could be trusted. And the methodology they would use would almost certainly be fatally flawed. Studies are no substitute for common sense.

San Francisco is known nationwide as a poorly run city (this predates Mayor Breed) – the $1.7 million public toilets are a visible and widely known symbol, but there are many other examples. Allowing MTA to extend parking meter hours and days would be one more case of SF city government shooting itself in the foot.

Please make this email part of the official record of every Board of Supervisors meeting, including committee meetings, that has an agenda item related to parking meters and/or parking policy.

Sincerely

Howard Chabner

PEOPLE WITH MAJOR MOBILITY DISABILITIES RELY HEAVILY ON AUTOMOBILES AND PARATRANSIT

By Howard Chabner

Transportation is essential to living a full, independent life - attending school, working, spending time with family, socializing, volunteering, participating in civic life, attending religious, cultural, entertainment and sports events, shopping, maintaining a home, going on vacation. Broadly speaking, the goal of the disability rights laws is to ensure that disabled people have an equal opportunity in all areas of life. Accessible transportation, and an equal opportunity to choose among modes of transportation, are essential disability rights.

Civil rights laws prohibit discrimination on the basis of disability in programs of local government, use of streets and sidewalks, and transportation. The Disabled Persons Act, California Civil Code Section 54(a), provides: "Individuals with disabilities or medical conditions have the same right as the general public to the full and free use of the streets, highways, sidewalks, walkways… public facilities, and other public places." Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act requires local governments to provide people with disabilities an equal opportunity to benefit from all of their programs, services and activities. Sidewalks, streets and parking are programs provided by ADA Title II entities, and therefore are subject to ADA requirements.

Most people with major mobility disabilities are unable to bike, ride a motorcycle or motorbike, or use a skateboard, razor style scooters, rollerblades or roller skates. Most slow walkers (people who walk slowly and with difficulty, and who may or may not use devices such as canes, crutches or walkers) and manual wheelchair users can go only a limited distance. Although many pedestrians who use electric wheelchairs and scooters are able to go far, some of them, too, can go only a limited distance. Terrain is also a factor for everyone with a mobility disability - the steeper the terrain, the shorter distance they can go and the more difficult it is. Weather greatly affects our mobility. What can be an easy and pleasant stroll in good weather can be effectively impossible in rain, snow, cold or wind.

Many people with major mobility disabilities are unable to hold an umbrella, especially while in their wheelchair or when using a cane, crutches or walker, so rainy weather is especially difficult. The upper legs of people in wheelchairs are horizontal, making a larger target for raindrops than people who are upright. Wheelchairs can get quite wet. Some disabled individuals have difficulty in hot weather (e.g., those with spinal cord injuries) or cold weather (e.g., those with neuromuscular diseases). Carrying shopping bags and packages is difficult or impossible for many.

Finding a taxi that can accommodate an electric wheelchair, non-folding manual wheelchair or scooter has been difficult for many years.

Transportation network companies such as Lyft and Uber didn't provide wheelchair accessible transportation for almost the first 10 years of their existence, which led to lawsuits throughout the country. In 2018 California passed a law requiring a degree of access, and the California Public Utilities Commission is still working out the details. Suffice it to say that wheelchair users still can't count on accessible transportation from TNCs. And TNCs unfairly compete with taxis, threatening the viability of the taxi industry and making it even more difficult to find an accessible taxi.

Public transportation has major access limitations, flaws and gaps. In San Francisco, for example, many of the light rail stops still aren't accessible. In some places the accessible rail boarding platform is after the regular (inaccessible) stop, and at rush hour the first car (the only car that wheelchair passengers can board) is full by the time it reaches the accessible platform, so passengers in wheelchairs are passed up even though there may be space in the second car and often despite being at the accessible platform well before other passengers are at the regular stop. Unlike regular stops, the accessible boarding platforms aren't sheltered from the elements (except those along the Embarcadero, where the regular platform is accessible).

Elevators break. Often, they are dirty and smell of urine. Instead of leading directly to the boarding platform, the elevators in some underground Muni stations (Civic Center, Powell and Montgomery) lead to a potentially dangerous long alley beyond the platform, and passengers in the alley aren't visible to those at the boarding platform.

In San Francisco during rush hour, the buses are often so crowded that there isn't space for any passengers in wheelchairs. For years, I've essentially given up trying to take the bus during rush hour in the crowded direction. Some bus stops are flag stops, which can be difficult for people with mobility disabilities to access. Not all bus stops have shelters. The tiedowns on the buses are not designed to accommodate all types of wheelchairs. Sometimes the tiedowns are broken. Some bus boarding platforms, especially on Market Street, are too narrow for a wheelchair, so passengers in wheelchairs must board and exit in the street. Sometimes both wheelchair spaces on a bus are already occupied.

Cable cars, understandably, are not accessible.

Public transportation has limited operating hours. BART, for example, didn't operate after midnight before the pandemic, and its hours are shorter now.

Individual circumstances also limit many disabled people's ability to use public transportation. As bus stops are being removed and the distance between stops is increasing, it's becoming more difficult for some disabled people and seniors to use the bus. Some bus routes are too steep for some people with mobility disabilities. As described above, it is especially difficult, or impossible, for some of us with major mobility disabilities to use public transportation in the rain, or in cold or windy weather. Fatigue is a factor for many people with mobility disabilities, and using public transportation is more tiring than driving or riding in a car.

Many people, including disabled people, are uncomfortable using public transportation at night or in certain neighborhoods. Also, if they have a choice, it is prudent for everyone, disabled and able-bodied alike, to avoid public transportation when they have a contagious illness or feel they are becoming sick. This was true before the pandemic, and it's even more imperative now.

Public transportation routes, hours and frequency have been reduced during the pandemic, and it's unclear whether and when service will return to pre-pandemic levels. During the pandemic many people have been understandably reluctant to use public transportation, and it's quite possible that this reticence will continue.

Many people with mobility disabilities rely on paratransit. But in order to be eligible for paratransit service, one has to be unable to use regular public transportation, so not everyone with a mobility disability qualifies. Paratransit has limited availability, must be scheduled in advance, requires a wide time window and allows little or no spontaneity. In some places, paratransit does not provide intercounty or intercity service, making it difficult or impossible to use for certain destinations and precluding commuting to work in a different city or county from where one lives.

Many people with mobility disabilities rely heavily on automobiles not only because of the limitations, disadvantages and, in some cases, complete unavailability of some of the other forms of transportation, but also because of the great advantages autos afford. Like everyone else, we appreciate the privacy of an automobile, especially on a date or special occasion, with friends, family and colleagues, and when dressed up. An auto is often the fastest transportation mode, especially when one is making several stops far from each other. It's also the most convenient and safest mode when carrying perishables, valuables or packages. Autos also have major advantages for parents, especially parents of small children. And autos are the only practical way to get to many places outside the city, whether for a drive in the country or dinner with friends.

Whether they drive or are always a passenger, many slow walkers and manual wheelchair users own or rent regular automobiles.

If he or she owns a vehicle, almost everyone who uses an electric wheelchair, and some who use scooters and manual wheelchairs, have a lowered floor minivan with a passenger-side ramp. (Lowered floor minivans are also available with the ramp in the rear, but this configuration is rare except in taxis. Adapted full-size vans have also become increasingly rare.) Many wheelchair users own these vehicles even if they don't drive and are always passengers.

Regular car rental companies such as Hertz or Avis don't offer accessible vehicles (although some offer standard vehicles with manual hand controls, which accommodate the needs of some drivers who use manual wheelchairs). The short-term, urban car rental companies such as Zipcar or Getaround either don't offer accessible vehicles or, at best, have extremely limited availability. There are specialized companies that rent accessible minivans, almost always with side ramps. Renting one is much more expensive than renting an ordinary vehicle, and these companies don't have physical locations or parking lots, so one must arrange for delivery and drop-off, usually for a costly fee. The fleets are small, availability is limited, and reservations often must be made far in advance.

For those with accessible minivans with a ramp on the side (in other words, almost all accessible minivans) and vans with a lift on the side, all street parking spaces (except perpendicular and angled spaces, those on the driver's side of a one-way street, those blocked by planters or trees, and those on a steep hill) are, in effect, accessible even though they are not designated accessible spaces (in California, blue zones). In fact, disabled people park in regular street parking spaces far more often than in blue zones because: (a) there are far fewer blue zones and they are often occupied; and (b) quite often a regular space is available closer to the destination than a blue zone.

Therefore, removing street parking spaces, replacing parallel spaces with perpendicular or angled ones, replacing regular spaces with loading or commercial spaces, and moving the parking lane away from the curb (which makes it difficult and dangerous to deploy a ramp or to exit the passenger side of a vehicle) disproportionately impact people with major mobility disabilities.

There is another way in which those with mobility disabilities rely heavily on automobiles. Many rely on service providers coming to their homes, and, therefore, are especially affected by parking scarcity, the high cost of parking, and traffic congestion.

We have caregivers who come to our homes to help us with activities of daily living. Some caregivers live far from their clients and driving is the most feasible (in some cases only) way to get to their clients, especially for caregivers who see more than one client in a day. (I've had one caregiver quit because it was too hard to find parking, and another was frequently late.) We get food from Meals on Wheels; home visits from nurses, social workers and physical, respiratory, occupational and other therapists; and sales visits and repair service from wheelchair and other disability equipment dealers. These providers mostly use cars, vans and trucks, so as parking and traffic lanes are removed, as free parking is replaced with meters, as time limits at meters get drastically reduced (either directly or by the replacement of ordinary zones with green, white, yellow or red zones), and as metered parking becomes more expensive, it is becoming more difficult, time-consuming and expensive to provide these services, and people with mobility disabilities are being increasingly impacted.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Shannon DiDonna

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

Date: Monday, May 22, 2023 6:31:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner of La Mediterranee restaurant, located at 288 Noe Street, San Francisco, Ca 94114. We are a Legacy Business and Certified Green Business. We are also still recovering from the pandemic and struggling to do so in an every changing economy. The last thing we need is for the city to hurt small businesses with the extended parking meter roll out, which we strongly oppose.

We are opposed to the extension but at the very least, I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

A better alternative would be to tax Uber busses, robot cars, and all of the other high impact users of our streets rather than folks who are shopping and dining at our local small businesses.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Marc Rabideau

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner of Waterbar and EPIC Steak restaurants, located at 399/369 The Embarcadero.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Sincerely,

Pete Sittnick, Managing Partner

Re: SFMTA Meter Extensions

Dear President Peskin and Board of Supervisors,

The San Francisco Latinx Democratic Club is writing to formally oppose the SFMTA extended meter rollout to 10pm and Sunday extensions until a comprehensive economic impact analysis is studied and completed on the benefits and drawbacks of a meter extension, particularly in low-income communities of color.

The goals and objectives of the SFLDC are to promoting and empower the Latinx community in areas of immigration and social justice issues, such as economic development for Latinx jobs and businesses. We strive to be at the forefront of quality-of-life issues concerning violence prevention, youth development, health, transportation, and education. In addition, we also focus on supporting candidates who will advocate and promote issues and legislation that advance the Latino community's agenda.

SFMTA and other transit agencies are facing an impeding transit fiscal cliff but nickel and dime'ing workers, residents and small businesses with extending meter hours with not solve the fiscal cliff alone, that will require federal and state intervention to save transit. Extending meter hours will not cover the $130M deficit SFMTA is facing, but it will harm tourism (San Francisco's number one industry), small businesses, residents and workers, in a time where our neighborhoods need to bounce back from the impacts of the pandemic.

The Latino community is a transit first community, with many of our community taking it as a lifeline and only mode of transit. However, our transit infrastructure is imperfect in many ways, and some have to drive - for those living with disabilities and special needs, large and multi-generational households, or work service and trades jobs requiring commuting with tools, among others. Extending meter hours without analyzing the full economic impacts will harm our communities unintentionally, as well as a delayed rollout that will cause confusion city wide.

We respectfully submit our support of President Peskin's resolution Item 41- (Urging SFMTA to Delay Implementation of Meter Hour Extension) and ask the Board of Supervisors to support as well.

Best regards,

The San Francisco Latinx Democratic Club

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Marny Homan

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Eleanor Pollak

Please do not do Sunday parking meters and 10pm meters.
You are ruining the city. Downtown is a disgusting mess that no one wants to visit.
And stop people from looting Walgreens - we need Walgreens.
And Get the Fentanyl off the street.

Stick to street cleaning revenue and get MUNI to work reliability.
San Francisco can do Better. Mayor Breed ... are you listening?
Shamann - are you listening?

The SFMTA has announced a plan to extend parking meter enforcement in the neighborhood until 10 pm Monday through Saturday, and on Sundays from 12 pm to 6 pm. The plan is scheduled to roll out in Dogpatch first on July 1st, 2023.

Here is a link to the proposed plan: https://na01.safelinks.protection.outlook.com/?url=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.sfmta.com%2Fprojects%2Fmodernizing-san-franciscos-parking-meter-hours&data=05%7C01%7C%7C0b87d6893edd431b69ab08db5b10399b%7C84df9e7fe9f640afb435aaaaaaaaaaaa%7C1%7C0%7C638203897463389438%7CUnknown%7CTWFpbGZsb3dfeyJWIjoiMC4wLjAwMDAiLCJQIjoiV2luMzIiLCJBTiI6Ik1haWwiLCJXVCI6Mn0%3D%7C3000%7C%7C%7C&sdata=FxqeV0KHY29RkurQk%2FZ1hkoXZsFtpMefPU9PZCTNVTk%3D&reserved=0
And the timeline for the roll out: https://na01.safelinks.protection.outlook.com/?url=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.sfmta.com%2Freports%2Fextended-meter-hours-implementation-phasing-plan&data=05%7C01%7C%7C0b87d6893edd431b69ab08db5b10399b%7C84df9e7fe9f640afb435aaaaaaaaaaaa%7C1%7C0%7C638203897463389438%7CUnknown%7CTWFpbGZsb3dfeyJWIjoiMC4wLjAwMDAiLCJQIjoiV2luMzIiLCJBTiI6Ik1haWwiLCJXVCI6Mn0%3D%7C3000%7C%7C%7C&sdata=OfvkFP3RiJKZmS85sinwNBk5Tss2oZsuM53TfhV5Bc%3D&reserved=0

The meters will have demand responsive pricing, meaning the hourly rate can range from .75 per hour to $9.00+ PER HOUR. With the SF Minimum Wage going up to $18.07 per hr. in July, workers could find themselves taking home half of what they earn and giving the other $9.00 to a parking meter. We believe it will make it more difficult to recruit and retain workers. It will also make it much more difficult and expensive for those of you that must drive to work.
We also feel this plan may deter potential customers planning to visit restaurants and other retail stores in the neighborhood.
SFMTA needs revenue, but we feel that taking it from essential workers in a PDR zoned industrial neighborhood is the wrong way to do it.

If you feel this plan may negatively impact your business or ability to find parking in the neighborhood, here are a few ways you can add your voice:
Write an email to Mayor London Breed, the SF Board of Supervisors, Shaman Walton (the Supervisor for Dogpatch and all of District 10) to SFMTA Director, Jeffrey Tumlin and Hank Wilson, Policy Manager, Parking and Curb Management, SFMTA.

Dear _____,
I am a business owner/resident/employee in District 10.
I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout in Dogpatch until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic.
I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.
This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our business and our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city, which is not something any of us wants.

Subject: Delay Parking Meter Increase!!!

Dear Supervisors and Director Tumlin,

I am an owner of Brickhouse restaurant, located at 426 Brannan Street, San Francisco, CA 94107.

I am writing to ask that SFMTA delay the extended parking meter rollout for at least 12 months, until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures. I would also like to see an independent study be conducted to consider the consequences on workers, customers and businesses, all of who will be affected.

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to other funding areas to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a significant cost and negative financial impact on our employees. SFMTA meters in higher use corridors, where many restaurants are located, may charge in the range of $6 to $7 dollars per hour. While many of our employees do take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours, challenges around scheduling, or concern for their safety at night. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also concerned that the 18 month extended rollout across the city, will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. I am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Please vote to support this resolution and consider a 12 month pause to access and determine a better way forward.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong objection to the proposed extension of parking meter hours. As a resident of San Francisco, I believe this decision fails to consider the realities of our daily lives and the challenges we already face when it comes to finding parking.

Extending the meter hours will only add to the financial burden on residents and visitors who rely on street parking. It will disproportionately impact those who work non-traditional hours or have limited transportation options. Additionally, it could discourage people from visiting local businesses and hurt the city's economy.

Instead of imposing additional fees and restrictions, I urge the SFMTA to seek alternative solutions to address parking issues, such as improving public transportation options or expanding parking facilities.

I kindly request that you reconsider this proposal and prioritize the needs and concerns of the community when making decisions that directly impact our daily lives.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Linda Mathews

RE: Supporting Resolution urging the SFMTA to halt any further implementation of its proposal until an independent economic impact report can be prepared and reviewed by the SF Board of Supervisors and SFMTA Board.

Dear Supervisors,

Chinatown TRIP strongly supports Supervisor Peskin's resolution to delay the implementation of extended meter hours into the evening and weekends due to the immense impact it will have on reducing the number of visitors to Chinatown. Chinatown TRIP was founded during the craft worker's strike in 1976 when a group of Muni bus drivers formed a shuttle service to transport elderly Chinatown seniors to their medical appointments and care workers to homebound seniors. Chinatown TRIP continues to advocate for transit services, traffic circulation, quality of life, and pedestrian safety in the community.

In the past three years, COVID-19 has highly affected the economic well-being of the businesses within Chinatown. Many businesses are still struggling to recover. Chinatown is a cultural hub with thriving businesses where many community members still access medical and social services, in addition, to shopping for daily needs. During the pandemic, SFMTA went back on their promise of supporting the Chinatown community by indefinitely suspending the Park and Ride program, which was in response to tearing down the freeway. Park and Ride have existed since the early 1990s and to this day, Chinatown TRIP receives inquiries asking when Park and Ride returns. The extension of metered hours into the evening and weekends will undoubtedly hurt businesses in Chinatown for people who need to drive in, especially the food and hospitality industries in Chinatown. Furthermore, this prevents car-dependent seniors, families, and people with disabilities from accessing in-language services and goods that Chinatown uniquely provides.

Although the MTA recognizes that this plan is inequitable for low-income communities and will phase out Chinatown as one of the last neighborhoods, delaying it does not mitigate the impact that it will have on our community. TRIP understands the financial challenges that SFMTA is facing. We strongly support a robust public transportation system in the city, as Muni is an essential resource for serving hundreds of thousands of riders, however, not at the expense of the livelihood of small businesses and cutting off low-income, elderly, and disabled communities from receiving critical in-language services. We strongly encourage SFMTA to do a full economic impact report on how meter extension proposal affects communities.

Chinatown TRIP 華埠交通改善會 | Transportation Research and Improvement Project

Sincerely,

Jonathan Hee, Co-Chair of Chinatown TRIP

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Carolyn Butler

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

This extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I ask you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
David Romano

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Paula Rothe

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

Why does MTA continue to take every step possible to make using a car more inconvenient and expensive? Advocating for transit first is admirable; punishing drivers is offensive.

Please vote against this increase in parking meter hours.

Thank you.

Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Vivian Lem

Dear Supervisors,

I am a business owner of multiple districts in San Francisco.

Business names are The Korner Store Bites & Vibes (zip 94112), BoBop ((zip 94110) and Matko (zip 94105)

I am writing to ask that SFTMA delay the extended parking meter rollout until impacts can be studied further and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

We understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds.

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on our employees. While many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling.They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

We are also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers. We are worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Our industry is still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Thanks for listening,

Ina Jungin Lee

But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Peter Kong

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

I would like to raise a few questions about the proposed extended time for metered parking. It would seem that there are potential consequences beyond the raising of money for the SFMTA.

1) What is the projected increase in revenues?
What assumptions were made for this projection?
Obvious nonsense assumptions like 100% parking meter usage, or even the same as current parking meter usage should immediately send this proposal back to the drawing board.

2) What are the revenue consequences for the city when people don't dine out as often, resulting in a decrease in taxes paid, and restaurants going out of business?
Does the Franchise Tax Board have an opinion on this loss of revenue?
What projections do they offer? Without their approval, it would seem that the necessary groundwork has not been done on showing that extended parking hours will result in a net increase of funding for the city.

It's almost funny that the SFMTA, which is trying to eliminate cars in San Francisco, is depending upon them to fund the MUNI. I see the figures $18 million to be raised by this parking measure, but there will be a $130 million shortfall by 2025 -- not a solution for SFMTA's problems.

As Supreme Court Justice John Marshall observed in 1819, "The power to tax involves the power to destroy." An ill considered parking "tax" may have disastrous consequences. It might be interesting to propose a job performance review of the persons proposing extending parking hours -- how accurate are their projections?

Thank you for considering sending this parking measure back to the source until sufficient backup is provided to show the likely consequences and thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Kenneth Shaffer

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Kerry Young

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Robert Mizono

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Add me to the list for updates on this issue.

Mayor Breed, Board of Supervisors, and Jeffery Tumlin:

re: Board of Supervisors' Resolution #230587 item 41 on the May 23, 2023 agenda

We urge you to approve Board of Supervisors' Resolution 230587 at Tuesday's SF Supervisors board meeting, May 23, 2023, to delay the implementation of parking meter hour extensions until a proper analysis of the impact of the businesses is conduced as requested by Supervisors Peskin and Walton.

We believe that extending the paid street parking hours on weeknights and Sundays will stall San Francisco's economic recovery, put a lot of people out of business, cost the city a lot of jobs, and give more residents a reason to leave the city. These are economically challenging times and we need some certainty and some stability in order to recover.

Please support the resolution.

Sincerely ,

We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Remember, the former Mayor Lee tried this program years ago, only to reverse the measure after viewing the negative impact to the City. Please don't make this mistake again!

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Robert Quan

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

This is not about money, it is not about budgets, it is not about fairness. This is about an activist MTA that has declared war on cars and their drivers for the last 5 years. Each and every member is receiving monetary gain from narrowing streets, shutting streets to traffic, "beautifying streets", reducing meters available for normal cars which is destroying the lives of disabled drivers, and eliminating the hours that parking is free across the city. The Board needs to understand all of these efforts harm POOR and MIDDLE INCOME people. They don't affect the rich, and they harm the quality of life for everyone. This is a war on minorities and an outright regressive tax on the poor. They want parking ticket revenue, not meter revenue. Thy should fire half their enforcement staff and save money that way. More than half the tickets they issue go to people of color. They will eventually destroy the city

This will dramatically reduce revenue for restaurants and other businesses and make life impossible for the poor and the elderly. Replace these activists with people who care about transit, not bike activists waging a personal war on cars, and stop them from abusing their authority.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal.

Thank you for considering the rights and desires of the people who elect you and pay the expenses of this government.

Sincerely,
Zachary Abrams

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Monica Samaniego

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Reuven Asher

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

In addition to the below concerns by many of us i would like to also suggest alternative approaches are considered.
While.i do not have the financial details, i do believe alternative approaches can be considered.
Sundays should be preserved as nonnpaym we tried before and it did not work. It also dramatically affect the quality of life of your constituents.
I am convinced that alternate options can be considered before.makimg this dramatic and destructive change.
For example, start meters earlier 8 instead of 9) increase to 7pm, raise the rate in high traffic zones
As well as remove the many unused yellow zones or reduce their windows.to morning only. Downtown in particular, considering the sluggish business conditions the yellow zones are plenty and unused. These could be used as metered for regular parking all days long!

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Kate English

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am utterly dismayed over the decision to extend parking meter hours!!

Where is the czar of common sense in this town.

The amount of additional money the City will receive is not worth the 'bad vibes' and backlash that will surely develop with this insensitive measure. A pathetic move by MTA.

Dear SFMTA Board Chair Eaken, Vice-Chair Cajina, Director Tumlin, Director Maguire and Mayor Breed,

A new analysis of 19 million parking citations and 300 thousand complaints by Stephen Braitsch shows that SFMTA's parking enforcement fails to prioritize public safety-related violations, operates inconsistently across the city and days of the week, lets repeat offenders off the hook and fails to give citizens safety-oriented reporting options.

Please review the findings in Stephen's detailed report, linked below, and immediately demand that the SFMTA adopt a data-driven parking enforcement strategy that prioritizes public safety while ensuring equitable revenue collection.

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Dear San Francisco Elected Official:

I'm writing to each of you, again, and I'm extremely disappointed that I've not received one single response from any of you, after my first email dated April 17, 2023, with concerns on the attack on my ex-husband Don Carmignani and the safety of our minor children.

I'm writing to every one of you today and I would very much appreciate a response from someone. I am very angry, frustrated and disappointed and I fear for the life of my ex-husband and my children, by the ongoing incidents transpiring since the initial attack on Don Carmignani, on April 5, 2023.

I understand the reasoning for Mr. Doty being released from jail, however I do not understand how any of you can continue to allow Garret Doty, Nathaniel Roye and Ashley Buck to taunt and threaten Don, his family and my children.

It is my understanding that a police report was filed this past week as one of the homeless men made credible threats of stabbing and killing Don.

Despite civil and criminal restraining orders, this trio of homeless drug addicts, which includes Garret Doty, continue to reside on the block of Don and my children's residence. Since Saturday, May 13, 2023. the three mentioned above have remained on the blocks of Lombard, Buchanan, Laguna, Chestnut and Magnolia, nearly blocking the entrance of a garage of Don's residence.

No one is safe, especially my minor children. My ex-husband is recovering from life threatening injuries and was just back into the ER due to complications from what Mr. Doty did on April 5, 2023.

It is unsafe for my children to return to their home freely or the neighborhood, they have grown up in. Numerous 911 calls have been made over this past week due to the presence of Mr. Doty. He could go anywhere else in San Francisco, yet chooses to return to the scene of the crime and make threats. This is absolutely unacceptable, it is your responsibility to provide a safe environment for everyone involved, most importantly innocent and defenseless residents, including my children.

Why is 911 not sending anyone out to arrest Mr. Doty for violating the criminal protective order? Why is the DA's office not enforcing the criminal protective order?

I request that these individuals be removed from the area and not allowed to return. There is absolutely no reason for them to be allowed to continue to taunt and threaten my family. You are all accountable if any further harm is caused due to your negligence of not upholding the criminal protective order.

They have remained in the neighborhood surrounding my children's home since April 5, 2023. I have photos and videos to support this statement from the past week as evidence. Attached please see just a few photos from just this past week. Today they have been staked out on the corner of Magnolia and Laguna, this is absolutely unacceptable.

Sincerely,

Yvette Corkrean

Subject: Recent increase in violent crimes in SF and brutal attacks

Yvette Corkrean formerly Carmignani

San Francisco, CA 94115

Dear Mayor Breed, Members of the Board of Supervisors, District Attorney Jenkins and Police Chief Scott

I am writing to you today to express my deepest concerns about the recent increase in violent crimes, robberies, homelessness, and drug-related issues in what us to be one of the most beautiful cities in our country, San Francisco. I am also writing because this is very personal and has had a direct impact on my family. Don Carmignani, is my ex-husband and the father of my 2 beautiful children. Don and myself share 50-50% custody of our children, when my children are with their father they live at the location of their fathers attack.

It has taken time for me to write all of you, as these last two weeks have been extremely stressful and traumatizing on several levels. Resurfacing old emotions and memories and creating new fears and anger, not only for myself, my children, but also for every resident, visitor and tourist in San Francisco. This violent and almost deadly attack on my ex-husband could have happened to any one of us is San Francisco. If this attack happened to someone of a smaller size, an elder or child, they would have died a very painful and violent death. No one is safe living or visiting San Francisco in any neighborhood.

What is even more infuriating and frightening is after the attack on Don, the two homeless people affiliated with Mr. Doty remained outside the family home for several more days after repeated requests for removal. I am petrified for my children to walk outside their home due to the lawlessness that has been allowed in San Francisco.

It is because of your direct decisions and policies implemented over the last several years that have created an environment of lawlessness, tolerance and the catch and release of criminals. Decriminalizing theft, drug use, assaults, prostitution and overall crime, including defunding our beloved law enforcement, your policies have led to the deterioration of San Francisco.

The recent rise in violent crimes, including shootings, stabbings, assaults, and robberies, is alarming. It has caused fear and insecurity among residents, visitors and tourist alike. The increasing number of homeless individuals on our streets, struggling with poverty, mental health issues, and addiction, is also a pressing concern. Additionally, the proliferation of drug-related activities and open drug use in public spaces is posing a threat to public health and safety.

As elected leaders, it is your collective responsibility to address these issues and take proactive measures to safeguard our community. Our Law enforcement officers are doing the best that they can with the limited resources they have been provide by the direct result of your defunding decisions and actions. I urge you, Mayor London Breed, members of the Board of Supervisors, and District Attorney Jenkins to take decisive action for ensuring the safety and well-being of our citizens. Here are some specific areas that require attention:

1. Law enforcement: We need to ensure that our law enforcement agencies are adequately staffed, trained, and equipped to effectively combat crime in our city. This includes increasing your efforts to adequately recruit officer's, increase presence in high-crime areas, enhancing community policing efforts, and providing the necessary resources for law enforcement agencies to carry out their duties effectively.
2. Urges the local prosecutor's office to work closely with law enforcement agencies to ensure that cases are thoroughly investigated, evidence is properly collected and preserved, and charges are filed and prosecuted in a timely and effective manner.
3. Homelessness: While San Francisco and California have become the sanctuary city and state for the countries homeless, the nations homeless crisis should not fall solely of the responsibility of the San Francisco tax paying residence. We need national funding for a national crisis to address the underlying causes of homelessness, such as mental health, and addiction services.
4. Drug-related issues: We need to implement evidence-based strategies to combat drug-related issues, including prevention, treatment, and enforcement. This includes working with healthcare providers and addiction specialists to provide comprehensive treatment options for individuals struggling with addiction. Most importantly, we need to increase enforcing laws against drug trafficking and distribution.
5. Accountability and transparency: We need to ensure that city leaders are held accountable for their actions, decisions, and policies. This includes regular reporting and transparency in addressing the concerns of the community, engaging in open and honest communication, and taking action to rectify any failures or shortcomings.

The entire nation is looking at San Francisco right now. Between violent crimes, vandalism, frightening reduction of law enforcement, as well as activist judges and extreme ideological leadership, San Francisco is a ticking time bomb for more chaos, crime and even death.

As a concerned resident, I expect my elected city leaders to take swift and effective action in addressing these pressing issues. The safety and well-being of our community should be the top priority, and I urge you to work diligently in implementing measures to combat violent crimes, homelessness, and drug-related issues in San Francisco.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. I look forward to hearing back from you regarding the positive actions you will be taking to correct the policies you implemented that have lead to the deterioration of San Francisco.

Sincerely,

Yvette Corkrean

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

This only hurts those who can least afford it

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco’s evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Jose Martinez

Re:
May 23, 2023 Meeting
Item 41, Resolution #230587

Dear Supervisors,

I am a small business owner in D6 and am an advocate for small business.

I am writing in support of President Aaron Peskin's resolution urging the San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency (SFMTA) to delay implementing meter hour extension until the completion of an independent economic impact report that specifically analyzes the projected impact to San Francisco small businesses, City revenues, and the City's overall economic recovery and said report is reviewed by the Board of Supervisors and the SFMTA Board and until our small businesses have more time to recover from the economic devastation of the pandemic closures.

The SFMTA has announced a plan to extend parking meters until 10 pm Monday through Saturday, and on Sundays from 12 pm to 6 pm. I strongly oppose this plan as I feel there is a high risk that this change could negatively affect customers' willingness to drive into San Francisco, and it will add costs for our restaurant, bar, and retail workers who need to drive to work and park. Additionally - I have been informed that while these rates vary, it is not unusual that busy neighborhood corridors with restaurants/shops could see rates around $6 - $7 dollars per hour!!! I was at the ballgame on Saturday and parking at a meter for 5 hours cost $45.00 ($9.00 per hour!) This could mean that for an employee to park for 4 hours near their place of work that it would cost them $24 to $28 dollars!

I understand the significant financial challenges that SFMTA is facing and strongly support the need for a robust public transportation system in the city, but we need to look to the state and federal government to help with the scale of funding needed for our transportation systems, not look to small business and workers for funds. What I cannot wrap my head around is that parking is being removed on Geary Boulevard, Taraval Street, Geneva Avenue and other parts of the city and SFMTA is seeking more revenue from parking meters?

This planned change will have a cost and negative financial impact on employees. Many take public transportation, some have to drive, due to late hours or challenges around scheduling. They will now have to pay for parking and disrupt their work to move their cars. They cannot apply for residential parking permits for their work. This may cause them not to want to take jobs in the city.

I am also against the 18 month extended rollout across the city, which will cause both inequity and confusion, for business and consumers and am worried that this will discourage customers from the communities around San Francisco who want to drive into the city to dine and shop, at a time when we need them more than ever. Businesses are still trying to recover from Covid closures and disruptions and additional challenges could have devastating consequences.

Sincerely,

Henry Karnilowicz

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco’s evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Stan Tichomirov

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

I keep hearing from officials how much they lament The fact that visitors to the downtown area have dropped precipitously. I'm sure that extending meter hours and adding Sunday hours will only exacerbate this and keep people at home or have them visit other cities that do not have the same restrictions. Also people who live in these neighborhoods with meters such as in and around Geary Street in the Richmond will also need to find other parking when they come home.
I understand that ridership is down and therefore revenue is down but misguided efforts to raise revenue by making it more difficult and inconvenient for visitors to our business districts it's not the right way to go. I know of a number of people who have given up on "the city that can't" and have moved to the suburbs and now only visit the city when they absolutely must. The intent is to free up housing by having taxpayers leave then by all means might as well make meters 24 hours, 7 days a week!

There seems to be very little creativity among the leaders in this fine City. Rather than continually raising taxes fees and regulations, perhaps we should try stimulating business by making it easier, not harder. Perhaps selling monthly or annual parking passes could increase revenue?

The way I see it if nobody is buying what you are selling i.e. public transportation, then raising the price and increasing the supply is not going to reverse the trend, but basic economics seems to elude City Hall on a regular basis.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Carl Kaufman

I live in District

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Nancy Keane

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

I oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours!

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Meter hours until 10pm will materially impact restaurant and retail workers who will be feeding meters and spending 2 to 3 times more on parking. Many service employees live outside San Francisco, and public transportation is frequently not an option.

If we want to boost our local economy and revitalize restaurants and tourist areas, we need to incentivize evening and Sunday customers, take care of workers, and not pile on additional costs at a time when rents and the price of food and necessary items are already so high.

I sincerely hope the Board of Supervisors votes to reject this plan. Please consider the needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the overall interests of San Francisco. Thank you for your careful consideration of this matter.

Message:

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Extending meter hours will negatively impact local businesses, discourage out-of-town visitors and add financial stress to local residents who already feel the instability and impact of an impending recession.

San Franciscans and tourists visit neighborhood business districts in the evenings to relax, unwind, and share a meal with their loved ones. Expanded parking meter hours will burden potential customers (especially seniors, the disabled, and families) with an additional cost, detracting from their overall enjoyment and inhibiting them from such activities.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Diane Fenster

Dear Board of Supervisors and Mayor Breed -

I vote. So do my neighbors across multiple districts. We will be working hard to remove you from your post as our employees if the parking meter charges go into effect. It's that simple, and this is not a threat but a promise. We've been very clear with you, as the constituents who hired you - we don't want our small businesses impaired, nor our parking impaired, nor our finances impaired, nor our transit options impaired any further. Mayor Breed - if you are looking to get yourself fired, then please proceed with this poor idea. Again, this is very simple - it's your call whether or not to follow the clear instructions provided to you by your employer.

Specifically, I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

The SFMTA Board should concentrate to train drivers, so it is safe to take MUNI. I myself stay away from MUNI, because it is torture to use it. Maybe public officials should be required to open a small business, before they are allowed to seek public office, so they can see how it is to live in this town.

Dear Supervisors, Mayor Breed, Mr. Tumlin and SFMTA Board Members,

I write to oppose the plan to extend parking meter hours and to support the Board of Supervisors' resolution 230587. Dear Board of Supervisors, Regarding late night/Sunday parking meter enforcement, we will go to Marin in the evenings and on Sundays instead of going to dinner or stores in San Francisco like we do now. We have a choice and will choose to not provide the SFMTA with this revenue.

That SFMTA will collapse is inevitable. It's only a matter of timing. So the BOD needs to focus on starting the gradual defunding of the SFMTA instead of focusing on the infliction of more destruction upon the City.

It's clear that the BOD can't but do the wrong thing. Or is there hope?

Damian Inglin
District 2

Sincerely,
Damian Inglin

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposal of extending parking meter hours and to lend my support to the resolution 230587 by the Board of Supervisors.

This is yet another opportunity for you to make another change that will have negative impact to this city. We have so many negatives right now. Do we need to add yet another?

San Francisco's evenings are vibrant and beloved by locals and tourists alike. They offer a chance to unwind, spend time with loved ones, and explore the diverse culinary offerings of our neighborhoods. But now, expanding parking meter hours will deal a needless blow to visitors and local businesses - adding more financial strain, especially for seniors, people with disabilities, and families. This not only threatens access but will diminish the overall experience, depriving them of precious moments, memories, and enjoyment.

As a result, this extension will disproportionately affect restaurant and retail workers, who will be forced to allocate more of their hard-earned income toward parking fees. We must prioritize incentivizing evening and weekend customers, ensuring the welfare of our workers, and avoiding the imposition of additional costs during a period of economic challenge.

Therefore, I sincerely implore you to vote against this proposal. The needs of our local businesses and residents, as well as the broader interests of San Francisco, must be carefully considered. As we work to invigorate our local economy and revitalize cherished restaurants and tourist destinations, we must support the well-being of our community.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication and commitment to our city's well-being.

Sincerely,
Anna Cornell-Pape
