

From: Board of Supervisors, \(BOS\)
To: BOS-Supervisors
Cc: Wong, Linda \(BOS\); Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: 846 letters regarding File No. 200567 and 200568
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 5:02:38 PM
Attachments: 846 letters regarding File No. 200567 and 200568.pdf

Hello Supervisors,

Please find the attached 846 letters regarding File No. 200567 and 200568.

File No. 200567 - Budget and Appropriation Ordinance appropriating all estimated receipts and all estimated expenditures for Departments of the City and County of San Francisco as of July 31, 2020, for the FYs ending June 30, 2021, and June 30, 2022.

File No. 200568 - Annual Salary Ordinance enumerating positions in the Annual Budget and Appropriation Ordinance for the FYs ending June 30, 2021, and June 30, 2022, continuing, creating, or establishing these positions; enumerating and including therein all positions created by Charter or State law for which compensations are paid from City and County funds and appropriated in the Annual Appropriation Ordinance; authorizing appointments or continuation of appointments thereto; specifying and fixing the compensations and work schedules thereof; and authorizing appointments to temporary positions and fixing compensations therefore.

Regards,

Jackie Hickey
Board of Supervisors
1 Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett Place, City Hall, Room 244
San Francisco, CA 94102-4689
Phone: (415) 554-5184 | Direct: (415) 554-7701
jacqueline.hickey@sfgov.org | www.sfbos.org

From: Nicole Joe
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:00:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nicole Joe

This email was sent by Nicole Joe via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nicole provided an email address (njoester@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nicole Joe at njoester@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Neshea Burrell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:01:45 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Neshea Burrell

This email was sent by Neshea Burrell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Neshea provided an email address (neshea.b@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Neshea Burrell at neshea.b@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Wendy Mitchell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:02:09 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Wendy Mitchell

This email was sent by Wendy Mitchell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Wendy provided an email address (mikemitchell03@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Wendy Mitchell at mikemitchell03@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Patricia Amorello
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:02:09 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Patricia Amorello

This email was sent by Patricia Amorello via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Patricia provided an email address (Patricia.amorello@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Patricia Amorello at Patricia.amorello@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Zhuoshan Liang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:02:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Zhuoshan Liang

This email was sent by Zhuoshan Liang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Zhuoshan provided an email address (Zliang@sflower.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Zhuoshan Liang at Zliang@sflower.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kevin Qin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:03:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin Qin

This email was sent by Kevin Qin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kevin provided an email address (kqin@swater.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kevin Qin at kqin@swater.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Diane McHenry
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:03:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Diane McHenry

This email was sent by Diane McHenry via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Diane provided an email address (dmchenry@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Diane McHenry at dmchenry@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maria Lechuga
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:05:20 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Maria Lechuga

This email was sent by Maria Lechuga via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maria provided an email address (maria.lechuga@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maria Lechuga at maria.lechuga@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: James Woods
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:05:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

James Woods

This email was sent by James Woods via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however James provided an email address (jpwoodsv@berkeley.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to James Woods at jpwoodsv@berkeley.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ken Olivencia
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:06:24 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ken Olivencia

This email was sent by Ken Olivencia via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ken provided an email address (kolivrnica@sewater.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ken Olivencia at kolivrnica@sewater.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Toborri Wright
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:06:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Toborri Wright

This email was sent by Toborri Wright via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Toborri provided an email address (toborri.wright@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Toborri Wright at toborri.wright@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maira Scherer
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:06:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Maira Scherer

This email was sent by Moira Scherer via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Moira provided an email address (moira5133@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Moira Scherer at moira5133@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Eva Tong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:07:34 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Eva Tong

This email was sent by Eva Tong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Eva provided an email address (eva_tong@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Eva Tong at eva_tong@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Allan Montuya
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:08:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Allan Montuya

This email was sent by Allan Montuya via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Allan provided an email address (al-glen@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Allan Montuya at al-glen@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kimberly Moon-Baicoianu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:08:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kimberly Moon-Baicoianu

This email was sent by Kimberly Moon-Baicoianu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kimberly provided an email address (kim.s moon@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kimberly Moon-Baicoianu at kim.s moon@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bart Admonius
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:09:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Bart Admonius

This email was sent by Bart Admonius via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bart provided an email address (bartvincent@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bart Admonius at bartvincent@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Guglielmino
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:09:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Guglielmino

This email was sent by Michael Guglielmino via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (mikeguglielmino@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Guglielmino at mikeguglielmino@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Theresa Rutherford
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:09:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Theresa Rutherford

This email was sent by Theresa Rutherford via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Theresa provided an email address (Terry1calbert@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Theresa Rutherford at Terry1calbert@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Raffaella Wilson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:10:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Raffaella Wilson

This email was sent by Raffaella Wilson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Raffaella provided an email address (RaffaellaWilson.RN@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Raffaella Wilson at RaffaellaWilson.RN@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jean Guerrier
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:11:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jean Guerrier

This email was sent by Jean Guerrier via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jean provided an email address (jcguerrier10@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jean Guerrier at jcguerrier10@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Paula Mason
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:11:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Paula Mason

This email was sent by Paula Mason via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Paula provided an email address (pmasonellenberg@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Paula Mason at pmasonellenberg@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Winnie Yu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:11:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Winnie Yu

This email was sent by Winnie Yu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Winnie provided an email address (dkwong287@att.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Winnie Yu at dkwong287@att.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dexter Philmon
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:12:11 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Dexter Philmon

This email was sent by Dexter Philmon via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dexter provided an email address (adilmon30@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dexter Philmon at adilmon30@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Keith Tom
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:12:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Keith Tom

This email was sent by Keith Tom via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Keith provided an email address (keithdabutch@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Keith Tom at keithdabutch@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lynette Gifford
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:12:20 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lynette Gifford

This email was sent by Lynette Gifford via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lynette provided an email address (lynngifford204@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lynette Gifford at lynngifford204@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rinzing Dolma
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:12:23 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rinzing Dolma

This email was sent by Rinzing Dolma via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rinzing provided an email address (rinzingdolma21@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rinzing Dolma at rinzingdolma21@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Debora Warren
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:12:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next. I have been a dedicated and loyal civil servant for over 30 years and this is what is given to the loyal and dedicated worker.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Debora Warren

This email was sent by Debora Warren via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Debora provided an email address (forhammons@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Debora Warren at forhammons@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carmen Gavidia
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:13:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Carmen Gavidia

This email was sent by Carmen Gavidia via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carmen provided an email address (carmengavidia940@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carmen Gavidia at carmengavidia940@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tiyana Coleman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:13:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tiyana Coleman

This email was sent by Tiyana Coleman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tiyana provided an email address (tiyana.coleman@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tiyana Coleman at tiyana.coleman@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Hilda Hooker
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:14:16 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Hilda Hooker

This email was sent by Hilda Hooker via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Hilda provided an email address (hilda hooker@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Hilda Hooker at hilda hooker@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Josephine P. Macaraig
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:14:24 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Josephine P. Macaraig

This email was sent by Josephine P. Macaraig via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Josephine P. provided an email address (Josephinemacaraig@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Josephine P. Macaraig at Josephinemacaraig@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lisette Osorio
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:15:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lisette Osorio

This email was sent by Lissette Osorio via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lissette provided an email address (srlsstt@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lissette Osorio at srlsstt@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kristin Hardy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:16:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Kristin Hardy

This email was sent by Kristin Hardy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kristin provided an email address (khardy@mail.ccsf.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kristin Hardy at khardy@mail.ccsf.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yahminah Suber
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:17:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yahminah Suber

This email was sent by Yahminah Suber via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yahminah provided an email address (yahminah1st@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yahminah Suber at yahminah1st@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jasmin Pimley
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:18:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
JASMIN M Pimley

This email was sent by Jasmin Pimley via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jasmin provided an email address (jasmin.pimley@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jasmin Pimley at jasmin.pimley@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Milton Turner
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:19:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Milton Turner

This email was sent by Milton Turner via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Milton provided an email address (bigboy9699@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Milton Turner at bigboy9699@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michaela C
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:20:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michaela C

This email was sent by Michaela C via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michaela provided an email address (michaela.cote@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michaela C at michaela.cote@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Traci Logan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:20:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Traci Logan

This email was sent by Traci Logan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Traci provided an email address (traci.logan.ca@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Traci Logan at traci.logan.ca@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Norma García
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:21:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Norma García

This email was sent by Norma García via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Norma provided an email address (normega123@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Norma García at normega123@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sneh Rao
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:21:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sneh Rao

This email was sent by Sneh Rao via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sneh provided an email address (snehrao@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sneh Rao at snehrao@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Leonardo Cruz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:21:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Leonardo Cruz

This email was sent by Leonardo Cruz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Leonardo provided an email address (leocross415@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Leonardo Cruz at leocross415@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Marina Mancillas
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:22:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Marina Mancillas

This email was sent by Marina Mancillas via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Marina provided an email address (marina.mancillas@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Marina Mancillas at marina.mancillas@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Hyun Lee-Bible
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:22:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Hyun Lee-Bible

This email was sent by Hyun Lee-Bible via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Hyun provided an email address (hyunleebible@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Hyun Lee-Bible at hyunleebible@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alyah Allen
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:22:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alyah Allen

This email was sent by Alyah Allen via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alyah provided an email address (alyah_allen@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alyah Allen at alyah_allen@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: xiaojun wang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:22:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

xiaojun wang

This email was sent by xiaojun wang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however xiaojun provided an email address (xjwang1017@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to xiaojun wang at xjwang1017@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: QuanHuan Li
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:23:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

QuanHuan Li

This email was sent by QuanHuan Li via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however QuanHuan provided an email address (philipyklaw88@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to QuanHuan Li at philipyklaw88@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Barbara Casey
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:23:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Barbara Casey

This email was sent by Barbara Casey via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Barbara provided an email address (Barbara.casey@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Barbara Casey at Barbara.casey@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nikisha Narayan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:23:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nikisha Narayan

This email was sent by Nikisha Narayan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nikisha provided an email address (bignangnn@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nikisha Narayan at bignangnn@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Muhammed Dadabhoai
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:23:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Muhammed Dadabhoai

This email was sent by Muhammed Dadabhoai via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Muhammed provided an email address (muslimswagg49@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Muhammed Dadabhoai at muslimswagg49@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Delynda Adair
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:23:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Delynda Adair

This email was sent by Delynda Adair via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Delynda provided an email address (delyndaadair@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Delynda Adair at delyndaadair@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maria Cumiskey
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:25:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Maria Cumiskey

This email was sent by Maria Cumiskey via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maria provided an email address (sanfrancisco.201221@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maria Cumiskey at sanfrancisco.201221@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kelsi Macklin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:26:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kelsi Macklin

This email was sent by Kelsi Macklin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kelsi provided an email address (kelsi macklin@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kelsi Macklin at kelsi macklin@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sandy Carter
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:27:31 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Sandy Carter

This email was sent by Sandy Carter via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sandy provided an email address (scarter@bren.ucsb.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sandy Carter at scarter@bren.ucsb.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ron Davis
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:27:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ron Davis

This email was sent by Ron Davis via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ron provided an email address (email@sfmoby.us) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ron Davis at email@sfmoby.us.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mary Payette
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:28:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Payette

This email was sent by Mary Payette via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mary provided an email address (mcpforesthik@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mary Payette at mcpforesthik@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mireya Lopez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:28:23 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mireya Lopez

This email was sent by Mireya Lopez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mireya provided an email address (mi_reyalopez@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mireya Lopez at mi_reyalopez@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Susanna Lopez-Meneses
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:28:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Susanna Lopez-Meneses

This email was sent by Susanna Lopez-Meneses via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Susanna provided an email address (susanna.meneses@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Susanna Lopez-Meneses at susanna.meneses@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Susan Priano
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:28:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Susan Priano

This email was sent by Susan Priano via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Susan provided an email address (smpriano@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Susan Priano at smpriano@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Janine deManda
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:29:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Janine Demanda

This email was sent by Janine deManda via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Janine provided an email address (jdemanda@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Janine deManda at jdemanda@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Giao Tran
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:29:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Giao Tran

This email was sent by Giao Tran via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Giao provided an email address (giaoh.tran@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Giao Tran at giaoh.tran@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tanya Castillo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all not just the mayor and all the rest of San Francisco's Supervisors who are able to sit and receive checks whether or not they work. I'm out on my job dealing with the public on a daily generating revenue for San Fra...
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:29:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tanya Castillo

This email was sent by Tanya Castillo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tanya provided an email address (tanyacastillo16@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tanya Castillo at tanyacastillo16@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gregory Quinn
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all!!
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:30:10 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gregory Quinn

This email was sent by Gregory Quinn via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gregory provided an email address (quinngreg@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gregory Quinn at quinngreg@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kevin Mullane
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:30:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin Mullane

This email was sent by Kevin Mullane via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kevin provided an email address (kevin.mullane@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kevin Mullane at kevin.mullane@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jovelin Randall
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:31:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jovelin Randall

This email was sent by Jovelin Randall via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jovelin provided an email address (Joviet111@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jovelin Randall at Joviet111@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Edwin Narvaez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:31:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Edwin Narvaez

This email was sent by Edwin Narvaez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Edwin provided an email address (enarvaez25@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Edwin Narvaez at enarvaez25@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: David Libunao
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:31:57 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

David Libunao

This email was sent by David Libunao via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however David provided an email address (david.libunao@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to David Libunao at david.libunao@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shaoping Lai
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:32:08 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shaoping Lai

This email was sent by Shaoping Lai via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shaoping provided an email address (shaopinglai603@Yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shaoping Lai at shaopinglai603@Yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jason Hecker
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:32:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jason Hecker

This email was sent by Jason Hecker via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jason provided an email address (jasonhecker.sf@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jason Hecker at jasonhecker.sf@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Danielle Del Valle
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:32:29 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Danielle Del Valle

This email was sent by Danielle Del Valle via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Danielle provided an email address (danielle.delvalle@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Danielle Del Valle at danielle.delvalle@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dimitra Stathopoulos
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:32:31 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dimitra Stathopoulos

This email was sent by Dimitra Stathopoulos via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dimitra provided an email address (dimitra.stathopoulos@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dimitra Stathopoulos at dimitra.stathopoulos@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shirlnella Munar
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:33:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shirlnella Munar

This email was sent by Shirlnella Munar via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shirlnella provided an email address (smunar82@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shirlnella Munar at smunar82@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Stephanie Flippin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:33:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Stephanie Flippin

This email was sent by Stephanie Flippin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Stephanie provided an email address (sflippin70@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Stephanie Flippin at sflippin70@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sharon Phillips
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:33:44 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sharon Phillips

This email was sent by Sharon Phillips via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sharon provided an email address (Sharon.Phillips@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sharon Phillips at Sharon.Phillips@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Christine Johnson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:34:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Christine Johnson

This email was sent by Christine Johnson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Christine provided an email address (chris.johnson2243@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Christine Johnson at chris.johnson2243@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Khai Huynh
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:34:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Khai Huynh

This email was sent by Khai Huynh via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Khai provided an email address (Khai.huynh@sfpl.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Khai Huynh at Khai huynh@sfpl.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alfred Fernandez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:34:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alfred Fernandez

This email was sent by Alfred Fernandez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alfred provided an email address (alfernandez1021@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alfred Fernandez at alfernandez1021@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mirian Alfaro
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:34:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mirian Alfaro

This email was sent by Mirian Alfaro via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mirian provided an email address (mirianalfaro01@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mirian Alfaro at mirianalfaro01@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sherri Merrick
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:34:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sherri Merrick

This email was sent by Sherri Merrick via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sherri provided an email address (Smerrick@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sherri Merrick at Smerrick@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sheena Simon
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:35:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sheena Simon

This email was sent by Sheena Simon via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sheena provided an email address (sheenasimon@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sheena Simon at sheenasimon@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karaline Bridgeford
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:36:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Karaline Bridgeford

This email was sent by Karaline Bridgeford via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karaline provided an email address (karalinebridgeford@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karaline Bridgeford at karalinebridgeford@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jesusa Reyes
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:36:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jesusa Reyes

This email was sent by Jesusa Reyes via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jesusa provided an email address (jesusa.reyes@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jesusa Reyes at jesusa.reyes@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: angela Chan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:36:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

angela Chan

This email was sent by angela Chan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however angela provided an email address (akchan@sewater.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to angela Chan at akchan@sewater.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Enkhtuya Bliss
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:37:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Enkhtuya Bliss via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues

they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Enkhtuya provided an email address (enkhtuya.bliss@flyso.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Enkhtuya Bliss at enkhtuya.bliss@flyso.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Diana Oquendo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:37:42 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Diana Oquendo

This email was sent by Diana Oquendo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Diana provided an email address (rblkpug0104@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Diana Oquendo at rblkpug0104@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Margaret Miller
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:37:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

margaret miller

This email was sent by Margaret Miller via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Margaret provided an email address (megmmiller@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Margaret Miller at megmmiller@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Theresa Leung
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:38:11 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Theresa Leung

This email was sent by Theresa Leung via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Theresa provided an email address (tgleung@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Theresa Leung at tgleung@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Otis Morgan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:38:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Otis Morgan

This email was sent by Otis Morgan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Otis provided an email address (otis.morgan@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Otis Morgan at otis.morgan@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Zelda Saeli
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:38:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Zelda Saeli

This email was sent by Zelda Saeli via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Zelda provided an email address (zsaeli@sflower.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Zelda Saeli at zsaeli@sflower.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bessa Makoni
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:39:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Bessa Makoni via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues

they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bessa provided an email address (bessa.makoni@sfdph.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bessa Makoni at bessa.makoni@sfdph.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Juawn Burks
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:39:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Juawn Burks

This email was sent by Juawn Burks via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Juawn provided an email address (Natre.Burks@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Juawn Burks at Natre.Burks@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Adriana Ortiz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:39:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Adriana Ortiz

This email was sent by Adriana Ortiz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Adriana provided an email address (aortiz23@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Adriana Ortiz at aortiz23@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Monica autry
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:40:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Monica autry

This email was sent by Monica autry via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Monica provided an email address (autrymonica@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Monica autry at autrymonica@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anna Kirsch
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:41:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Anna Kirsch

This email was sent by Anna Kirsch via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anna provided an email address (anna.l.kirsch@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anna Kirsch at anna.l.kirsch@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Xiao Yang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:41:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Xiao Yang

This email was sent by Xiao Yang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Xiao provided an email address (jane_xpy@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Xiao Yang at jane_xpy@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: John Kennedy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:41:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

John Kennedy

This email was sent by John Kennedy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however John provided an email address (john.thomas.kennedy@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to John Kennedy at john.thomas.kennedy@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Heather Ali
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:41:34 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

Since the pandemic began, we have had to speak out to get barely adequate safety plexiglass in our very cramped Bed Control office at ZSFGH. To add to the stress, the raise that had been negotiated and agreed to and that we were supposed to get on July 1st was frozen/delayed. These actions add to an environment where we don't feel that management cares.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Heather Ali

This email was sent by Heather Ali via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Heather provided an email address (heatherali333@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Heather Ali at heatherali333@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kathleen Fontenot
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:41:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kathleen Fontenot

This email was sent by Kathleen Fontenot via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kathleen provided an email address (kathleen_fontenot@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kathleen Fontenot at kathleen_fontenot@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bon Harris
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:42:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Bon Harris

This email was sent by Bon Harris via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bon provided an email address (bon.harris@sfpl.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bon Harris at bon.harris@sfpl.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Edward Liu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:42:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Edward Liu

This email was sent by Edward Liu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Edward provided an email address (edwardliunp@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Edward Liu at edwardliunp@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Amanda Pineda
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:42:34 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Amanda Pineda

This email was sent by Amanda Pineda via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Amanda provided an email address (amanda.pineda@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Amanda Pineda at amanda.pineda@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bertha Mendez Morales
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:42:42 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Bertha Mendez Morales

This email was sent by Bertha Mendez Morales via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bertha provided an email address (jrquiscebo@att net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bertha Mendez Morales at jrquiscebo@att net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: george.triplitt
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:42:42 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

George Triplitt

This email was sent by george triplitt via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however george provided an email address (george.triplitt@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to george triplitt at george.triplitt@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sonam Yangzom
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:43:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sonam Yangzom

This email was sent by Sonam Yangzom via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sonam provided an email address (yangzo@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sonam Yangzom at yangzo@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Patricia Law
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:44:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Patricia Law

This email was sent by Patricia Law via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Patricia provided an email address (patricia.law@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Patricia Law at patricia.law@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Denease Leavy-Jordan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:44:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Denease Leavy-Jordan

This email was sent by Denease Leavy-Jordan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Denease provided an email address (denease.leavy-jordan@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Denease Leavy-Jordan at denease.leavy-jordan@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tuya Bliss
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:44:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hi,

My names Enkhtuya Bliss, I work for San Francisco International Airport as a leading draftsperson. Guys and gals like me design and draft essential construction drawings. We are in house city workers carry lots of load, for example in my section we are short of 2-3 draftsperson, and we lack of timely training. Therefore I/we wear double hats and strive for the best. However, it's disappointing to hear that we the lower paying professionals getting the treat of layoff like nobody. Therefore I propose the following:

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are INDESPENSABLE in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Tuya Bliss via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tuya provided an email address (tuyabliss@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tuya Bliss at tuyabliss@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Teresa Davis
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:44:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Teresa Davis

This email was sent by Teresa Davis via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Teresa provided an email address (tiredavis@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Teresa Davis at tiredavis@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anna Elias
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:44:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Anna Elias

This email was sent by Anna Elias via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anna provided an email address (acelias@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anna Elias at acelias@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sonia Van Braden
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:45:39 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sonia Van Braden

This email was sent by Sonia Van Braden via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sonia provided an email address (svanbraden@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sonia Van Braden at svanbraden@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Blanche Rice
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:45:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Blanche Rice

This email was sent by Blanche Rice via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Blanche provided an email address (endzone1466@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Blanche Rice at endzone1466@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Diane Harper
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:46:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Diane Harper

This email was sent by Diane Harper via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Diane provided an email address (diane.j.harper@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Diane Harper at diane.j.harper@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Derek Chan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:46:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To Whom it may concern,

I am a technical engineer who works for San Francisco Public Works and am opposed to the Mayor's proposed budget.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat them as expendable in the next.

The budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers have already had to step up to continue working during these troubled times, which goes double for essential workers on frontlines of COVID-19 along with already having to give back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco,

the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Derek Chan

This email was sent by Derek Chan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Derek provided an email address (derek.h.chan@sfdpw.gov) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Derek Chan at derek.h.chan@sfdpw.gov.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Richard Mathews
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:46:10 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Mathews

This email was sent by Richard Mathews via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Richard provided an email address (Rmathews67@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Richard Mathews at Rmathews67@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Snider
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:46:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Snider

This email was sent by Michael Snider via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (msnider@ccsf.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Snider at msnider@ccsf.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Chris Kocher
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:47:23 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Chris Kocher

This email was sent by Chris Kocher via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Chris provided an email address (silverwolf1501@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Chris Kocher at silverwolf1501@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Judie White
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:47:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Judie White

This email was sent by Judie White via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Judie provided an email address (whitej@sfusd.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Judie White at whitej@sfusd.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Suzette Meyer
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:48:24 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Suzette Meyer

This email was sent by Suzette Meyer via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Suzette provided an email address (suzettemeyer656@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Suzette Meyer at suzettemeyer656@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Diane Bryan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:48:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Diane Bryan

This email was sent by Diane Bryan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Diane provided an email address (diane.bryan@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Diane Bryan at diane.bryan@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: joseph alhayawa
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:49:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

joseph alhayawa

This email was sent by joseph alhayawa via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however joseph provided an email address (tj200819@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to joseph alhayawa at tj200819@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: DAVID JABONETA
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:49:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

DAVID JABONETA

This email was sent by DAVID JABONETA via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however DAVID provided an email address (jjd363123@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to DAVID JABONETA at jjd363123@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kin Tam
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:50:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kin Tam

This email was sent by Kin Tam via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kin provided an email address (ktam@ccsf.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kin Tam at ktam@ccsf.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karen Fitzgerald
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:50:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Karen Fitzgerald

This email was sent by Karen Fitzgerald via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karen provided an email address (kmfitzgerald_3@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karen Fitzgerald at kmfitzgerald_3@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Adeleine De Jesus
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:50:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Adeleine De Jesus

This email was sent by Adeleine De Jesus via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Adeleine provided an email address (adeleinedejesus@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Adeleine De Jesus at adeleinedejesus@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bi Huang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:51:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Bi Huang

This email was sent by Bi Huang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bi provided an email address (bi.huang@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bi Huang at bi.huang@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Antonio Caceres
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:51:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hello supervisors,

My name is Antonio Caceres. I work for SFRPD for the Requity team. Our department has been formed to address the needs of our families living in housing project all across the city. Due to the nature of our population we have had to meet our client where they are at. This means daily visits to parts of the city hit hardest by this pandemic. I take pride in providing recreational activities for young people whose parent can not afford to enroll in summer camps. Me and my team never hesitate or question the importance of what we do, but I question whether all of you do. We stepped up when we were asked to and now we need yall to step up to represent us.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Antonio Caceres

This email was sent by Antonio Caceres via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Antonio provided an email address (Coachtonysf@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Antonio Caceres at Coachtonysf@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Roger Liu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:51:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Roger Liu

This email was sent by Roger Liu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Roger provided an email address (sfnori@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Roger Liu at sfnori@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Vivian Wu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:52:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Vivian Wu

This email was sent by Vivian Wu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Vivian provided an email address (vivian.h.wu@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Vivian Wu at vivian.h.wu@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gary Gregerson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:52:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gary Gregerson

This email was sent by Gary Gregerson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gary provided an email address (dmfeelings@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gary Gregerson at dmfeelings@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Amanda Barden
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:53:36 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Amanda Barden

This email was sent by Amanda Barden via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Amanda provided an email address (a_barden@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Amanda Barden at a_barden@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anthony Saucier
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:53:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Anthony Saucier

This email was sent by Anthony Saucier via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anthony provided an email address (asaucier99@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anthony Saucier at asaucier99@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sherrie Gaines
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:53:57 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sherrie Gaines

This email was sent by Sherrie Gaines via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sherrie provided an email address (sherriegaines@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sherrie Gaines at sherriegaines@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Amy Miller
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:53:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Amy Miller

This email was sent by Amy Miller via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Amy provided an email address (millera@sfusd.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Amy Miller at millera@sfusd.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tzulun Mai
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:54:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tzulun Mai

This email was sent by Tzulun Mai via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tzulun provided an email address (tarotallen@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tzulun Mai at tarotallen@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rosaura Ramos
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:54:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rosaura Ramos

This email was sent by Rosaura Ramos via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rosaura provided an email address (geyes2730@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rosaura Ramos at geyes2730@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Georgia Kerford
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:54:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Georgia Kerford

This email was sent by Georgia Kerford via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Georgia provided an email address (18gkerford@shcp.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Georgia Kerford at 18gkerford@shcp.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Xiu Ya Huang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:54:49 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Xiu Ya Huang

This email was sent by Xiu Ya Huang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Xiu Ya provided an email address (xiuyahuang@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Xiu Ya Huang at xiuyahuang@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Eileen Rizzo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:54:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Eileen Rizzo

This email was sent by Eileen Rizzo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Eileen provided an email address (eileen.rizzo@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Eileen Rizzo at eileen.rizzo@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jessica Thompson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:55:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jessica Thompson

This email was sent by Jessica Thompson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jessica provided an email address (jessicaj717@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jessica Thompson at jessicaj717@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kristina Nelly
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:55:07 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Kristina Nelly

This email was sent by Kristina Nelly via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kristina provided an email address (kristina.nelly@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kristina Nelly at kristina.nelly@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Eugene Chang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:55:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Eugene Chang

This email was sent by Eugene Chang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Eugene provided an email address (eugene.chang@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Eugene Chang at eugene.chang@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maria Yap
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:55:57 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Maria Yap

This email was sent by Maria Yap via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maria provided an email address (yapm1@sfusd.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maria Yap at yapm1@sfusd.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jia Ni Arreola
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:55:57 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jia Ni Arreola

This email was sent by Jia Ni Arreola via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jia Ni provided an email address (jennyliu0322@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jia Ni Arreola at jennyliu0322@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tonia Canavan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:55:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tonia Canavan

This email was sent by Tonia Canavan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tonia provided an email address (tcheidelberg@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tonia Canavan at tcheidelberg@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mina Chong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:56:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mina Chong

This email was sent by Mina Chong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mina provided an email address (mina613c@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mina Chong at mina613c@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Robin Gottschall
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:56:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Robin Gottschall

This email was sent by Robin Gottschall via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Robin provided an email address (robin626@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Robin Gottschall at robin626@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Andrew Baker
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:57:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Baker

This email was sent by Andrew Baker via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Andrew provided an email address (bakerandrewj@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Andrew Baker at bakerandrewj@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Hannah Gribetz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:58:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

I am a Disaster Service Worker serving in the Joint Information Center within the Covid Command Center. I see the City's Situation Report every day and I create the materials the City uses to spread information about how to stop the spread of COVID-19. I am acutely aware of the dangers facing the city of San Francisco and its citizens, especially its frontline workers.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat them like they are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Hannah Gribetz

This email was sent by Hannah Gribetz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Hannah provided an email address (hannahgribetz@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Hannah Gribetz at hannahgribetz@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shronda Jackson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:58:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shronda Jackson

This email was sent by Shronda Jackson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shronda provided an email address (genesworld@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shronda Jackson at genesworld@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Stephanie Cano
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 12:59:45 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Stephanie Cano

This email was sent by Stephanie Cano via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Stephanie provided an email address (scano@ccsf.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Stephanie Cano at scano@ccsf.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anita Ho
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:00:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Anita Ho

This email was sent by Anita Ho via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anita provided an email address (anita.ho@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anita Ho at anita.ho@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Naj Daniels
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:00:24 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Naj Daniels

This email was sent by Naj Daniels via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Naj provided an email address (najuawanda.daniels@seiu1021.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Naj Daniels at najuawanda.daniels@seiu1021.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shan Christy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:00:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shan Christy

This email was sent by Shan Christy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shan provided an email address (sbonaguide@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shan Christy at sbonaguide@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Pauline Harris
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:01:29 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Pauline Harris

This email was sent by Pauline Harris via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Pauline provided an email address (pauline@pauline nu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Pauline Harris at pauline@pauline.nu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Williams Peralta
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:01:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Williams Peralta

This email was sent by Williams Peralta via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Williams provided an email address (williamsperalta64@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Williams Peralta at williamsperalta64@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Janet Jackson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:01:49 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Janet Jackson

This email was sent by Janet Jackson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Janet provided an email address (janetjackson_28@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Janet Jackson at janetjackson_28@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Paulina Brizuela
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:02:08 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Paulina Brizuela

This email was sent by Paulina Brizuela via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Paulina provided an email address (pbrizuela@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Paulina Brizuela at pbrizuela@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karlyne Konczal
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:02:20 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Karlyne Konczal

This email was sent by Karlyne Konczal via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karlyne provided an email address (karrikon@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karlyne Konczal at karrikon@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: MELANIE Lasic
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:02:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

MELANIE Lasic

This email was sent by MELANIE Lasic via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however MELANIE provided an email address (bellalasic03@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to MELANIE Lasic at bellalasic03@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Monica Nolan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:03:08 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Monica Nolan

This email was sent by Monica Nolan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Monica provided an email address (monica@monicanolan.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Monica Nolan at monica@monicanolan.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Victor Medrano
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: DrSan Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:03:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Victor Medrano

This email was sent by Victor Medrano via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Victor provided an email address (vhmedrano@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Victor Medrano at vhmedrano@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Amada Ramos
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:03:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Amada Ramos

This email was sent by Amada Ramos via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Amada provided an email address (amadajean@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Amada Ramos at amadajean@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: alicia broussard
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:03:44 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

alicia broussard

This email was sent by alicia broussard via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however alicia provided an email address (abrouss2003@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to alicia broussard at abrouss2003@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Peter Kreiden
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:04:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Peter Kreiden

This email was sent by Peter Kreiden via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Peter provided an email address (peter.kreiden@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Peter Kreiden at peter.kreiden@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Brett Miller
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:04:42 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Brett Miller

This email was sent by Brett Miller via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Brett provided an email address (1021members@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Brett Miller at 1021members@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Elizabeth Thacker
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:05:34 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Elizabeth Thacker

This email was sent by Elizabeth Thacker via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Elizabeth provided an email address (thackereli@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Elizabeth Thacker at thackereli@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: James Ell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:05:45 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

James Ell

This email was sent by James Ell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however James provided an email address (elljim773@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to James Ell at elljim773@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mohammad Latif
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:06:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mohammad Latif

This email was sent by Mohammad Latif via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mohammad provided an email address (molat46@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mohammad Latif at molat46@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Annelita Lacap
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:06:19 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Annelita Lacap

This email was sent by Annelita Lacap via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Annelita provided an email address (ac.lacap@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Annelita Lacap at ac.lacap@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jose Mendoza
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:06:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jose Mendoza

This email was sent by Jose Mendoza via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jose provided an email address (Jemen222@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jose Mendoza at Jemen222@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yves Augustin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:06:34 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yves Augustin

This email was sent by Yves Augustin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yves provided an email address (yves.augustin@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yves Augustin at yves.augustin@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Patricia Servellon
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:06:44 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Patriciaservellon18@gmail.com Servellon

This email was sent by Patricia Servellon via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Patricia provided an email address (patriciaservellon18@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Patricia Servellon at patriciaservellon18@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Albert Hsieh
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:06:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Albert Hsieh

This email was sent by Albert Hsieh via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Albert provided an email address (sfalbert84@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Albert Hsieh at sfalbert84@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anzhong Yang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:06:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Anzhong Yang

This email was sent by Anzhong Yang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anzhong provided an email address (anzhongy@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anzhong Yang at anzhongy@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Christopher Nayan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:07:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Christopher Nayan

This email was sent by Christopher Nayan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Christopher provided an email address (Christopher_nayan21@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Christopher Nayan at Christopher_nayan21@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carl Nguyen
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:07:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Carl Nguyen

This email was sent by Carl Nguyen via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carl provided an email address (cvwinn@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carl Nguyen at cvwinn@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Quennie Santos
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:07:49 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Quennie Santos

This email was sent by Quennie Santos via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Quennie provided an email address (nathan81509@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Quennie Santos at nathan81509@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: SUSAN BUFKA
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:08:01 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

SUSAN BUFKA

This email was sent by SUSAN BUFKA via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however SUSAN provided an email address (sbufka@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to SUSAN BUFKA at sbufka@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Amy Vesper
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:08:11 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Amy Vesper

This email was sent by Amy Vesper via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Amy provided an email address (amycvesper@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Amy Vesper at amycvesper@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kelsey Russom
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:08:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kelsey Russom

This email was sent by Kelsey Russom via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kelsey provided an email address (kelsey.russom@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kelsey Russom at kelsey_russom@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Juan Moreno
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:08:16 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Juan Moreno

This email was sent by Juan Moreno via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Juan provided an email address (juan.moreno@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Juan Moreno at juan.moreno@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sydney Richardson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:08:36 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Sydney Richardson

This email was sent by Sydney Richardson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sydney provided an email address (sydneyrichardson3@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sydney Richardson at sydneyrichardson3@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Brian Griffin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:08:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Brian Griffin

This email was sent by Brian Griffin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Brian provided an email address (griffinb102@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Brian Griffin at griffinb102@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Roman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:09:10 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Michael Roman

This email was sent by Michael Roman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (miroman382@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Roman at miroman382@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: KIMBERLY DAO
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:09:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

KIMBERLY DAO

This email was sent by KIMBERLY DAO via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however KIMBERLY provided an email address (kd0423@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to KIMBERLY DAO at kd0423@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Harrison Baker
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:09:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Harrison Baker

This email was sent by Harrison Baker via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Harrison provided an email address (harrisonbaker@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Harrison Baker at harrisonbaker@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Victor Pesina
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:10:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Victor Pesina

This email was sent by Victor Pesina via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Victor provided an email address (pesinavictor@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Victor Pesina at pesinavictor@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michelle Waddy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:10:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michelle Waddy

This email was sent by Michelle Waddy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michelle provided an email address (jesterwaddy@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michelle Waddy at jesterwaddy@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dora Torres
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:12:19 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dora Torres

This email was sent by Dora Torres via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dora provided an email address (ceazlia@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dora Torres at ceazlia@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Robin Grotch
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:12:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Robin Grotch

This email was sent by Robin Grotch via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Robin provided an email address (robingrotch@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Robin Grotch at robingrotch@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maria Pacheco
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:13:24 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Maria Pacheco

This email was sent by Maria Pacheco via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maria provided an email address (maria.pacheco1206@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maria Pacheco at maria.pacheco1206@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anthony D'Acci
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:13:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Anthony D'Acci

This email was sent by Anthony D'Acci via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anthony provided an email address (ajdacci3@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anthony D'Acci at ajdacci3@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maria-Elena Healy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:15:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Maria-Elena Healy

This email was sent by Maria-Elena Healy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maria-Elena provided an email address (sfhealy@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maria-Elena Healy at sfhealy@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Amanda Eckels, RN
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:15:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Amanda Eckels, RN

This email was sent by Amanda Eckels, RN via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Amanda provided an email address (amandaeckels@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Amanda Eckels, RN at amandaeckels@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maura Darrow
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:16:19 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Maura Darrow

This email was sent by Maura Darrow via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maura provided an email address (maura.darrow@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maura Darrow at maura.darrow@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rose Morales
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:16:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rose Morales

This email was sent by Rose Morales via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rose provided an email address (morales.rose1415@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rose Morales at morales.rose1415@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gemma Rabino
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:16:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gemma Rabino

This email was sent by Gemma Rabino via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gemma provided an email address (gemmalyn_rabino@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gemma Rabino at gemmalyn_rabino@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Juan Diaz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:17:11 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Juan Diaz

This email was sent by Juan Diaz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Juan provided an email address (juanmajcher@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Juan Diaz at juanmajcher@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Zachary Davidson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:17:20 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Zachary Davidson

This email was sent by Zachary Davidson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Zachary provided an email address (davidson.zachary44@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Zachary Davidson at davidson.zachary44@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nicole Ambriz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:17:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nicole Ambriz

This email was sent by Nicole Ambriz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nicole provided an email address (silverladee@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nicole Ambriz at silverladee@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Harris
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:18:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Harris

This email was sent by Michael Harris via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (Michha@live.gse.upenn.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Harris at Michha@live.gse.upenn.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Elsa Sanchez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:20:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

I have been a nurse for the city and county at SF General for 13 years now. When I started we had support services such as phlebotomy, EKG techs, and CNAs on the floor, basic services that are common place in all other hospitals. Little by little, year by year, they have stripped essentially all supportive services and placed all those additional responsibilities on the nurses. We have travel nurses that think it's remarkable that they have to do everything and have zero CNAs to at least help feed and clean patients. I have been mortified to have to tell a patient that they have to sit soiled until I can find someone to assist me, usually another nurse with their own patient load or the charge nurse that moonlights as a nursing assistant during her shift.

The decrease in quality of care and the amount of stress and burnout we have been experiencing, even before the pandemic, stretched beyond the nursing staff. Every department, except administration, is short staffed. When we have a bed break down and need a new one, when a food tray is missing, when vital supplies to do our work are out of stock, nurses are required to pick up the slack and are asked to go to different departments and even different buildings to pick up the replacement bed, the food, the gloves, etc. and leave the patients that we are assigned to care for on the unit or sit in place for a PCA coach while they run to get the items and hope that our patients don't need us because we can't leave the coach patients.

Year by year, it has already become a near impossible place to work and provide the quality of care that is not only ingrained in us and is our pride, but is also expected of us. It has become a demoralizing work environment where our good nature and professionalism is taken for granted and exploited, as stated in an opinion article for the New York Times by Dr. Danielle Ofri. As she stated, nurse's and doctor's professionalism is a resource that is seemingly infinite and free and hospitals, including SFGH have taken advantage of. But I am here to state that it is not infinite, our tanks are tapped and we are working off fumes.

To strip the resources of already strangled departments is a crime. Our staff, patients and their families deserve better. We are a dedicated group, a group that works with the disenfranchised populations of this city, the populations that others rather not work with and/or wish didn't exist was made clear to me with a statement made by a nurse at UCSF "I don't know how you work with these people" when giving report on a homeless patient being transferred to her care. It was a statement that has left a lasting impression on me. We treat them like the humans they are. It's the type of treatment they don't get from many, apparently, including in healthcare. We bring our patients food, donate clothing, bring books and magazines, come in on our days off to bring in these resources. We frequently get verbally and physically assaulted. Yet we remain dedicated to our patients even though we have chronically felt unappreciated and replaceable.

It's time that that dedication is emulated by the city and administration to their staff that day-in and day-out sacrifice so much not only emotionally and physically, but now also by putting our lives on the line. Something that is not done by those sitting in an office or with the ability to zoom conference in their work.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Elsa Sanchez

This email was sent by Elsa Sanchez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Elsa provided an email address (esanchez010@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Elsa Sanchez at esanchez010@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: James Catarius
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:21:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

R

3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positionse.

result

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

James Catarius

This email was sent by James Catarius via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however James provided an email address (catariusjschool@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to James Catarius at catariusjschool@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Veronica D. Thorne-Dixson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:23:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Veronica D. Thorne-Dixson

This email was sent by Veronica D. Thorne-Dixson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Veronica D. provided an email address (veronica.thorne-dixson@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Veronica D. Thorne-Dixson at veronica.thorne-dixson@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Monica Martinez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:23:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

I appreciate my work and hope you do to. Pandemic or not we are on the job. Please help us be able to live adequately in the Bay Area. I only ask for what we earn-our take home pay after all taxes and discounts is about half of what we Earn on paper. Please pay us our cost of living increase, we are only trying to make ends meet like everyone else.

Yours sincerely,
Monica Martinez

This email was sent by Monica Martinez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Monica provided an email address (monimart2013@outlook.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Monica Martinez at monimart2013@outlook.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mallory Arbeloa
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:24:44 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mallory Arbeloa

This email was sent by Mallory Arbeloa via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mallory provided an email address (mal1985@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mallory Arbeloa at mal1985@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alan Guevara
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:24:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alan Guevara

This email was sent by Alan Guevara via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alan provided an email address (alanguerag@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alan Guevara at alanguerag@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michelle Lawless
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:25:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michelle Lawless

This email was sent by Michelle Lawless via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michelle provided an email address (mlawless1990@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michelle Lawless at mlawless1990@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jerry Nalls Jr
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:26:57 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jerry Nalls

This email was sent by Jerry Nalls Jr via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jerry provided an email address (jerrynalls31@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jerry Nalls Jr at jerrynalls31@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jenny McGrane
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:26:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jenny McGrane

This email was sent by Jenny McGrane via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jenny provided an email address (jhmcrane@ail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jenny McGrane at jhmcrane@ail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Graciela olascoaga-Selu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:27:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Graciela olascoaga

This email was sent by Graciela olascoaga-Selu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Graciela provided an email address (olascoagraciela@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Graciela olascoaga-Selu at olascoagraciela@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Myrna Labutay
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:27:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Myrna Labutay

This email was sent by Myrna Labutay via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Myrna provided an email address (yrna_1@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Myrna Labutay at yrna_1@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sarah Mikulin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:29:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Sarah Mikulin RN
San Francisco General Hospital

This email was sent by Sarah Mikulin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sarah provided an email address (nellmikRN@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sarah Mikulin at nellmikRN@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co
To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Elvira Ayran
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:29:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Elvira Ayran

This email was sent by Elvira Ayran via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Elvira provided an email address (ea012259@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Elvira Ayran at ea012259@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Selena Guillory
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:30:11 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Selena Guillory

This email was sent by Selena Guillory via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Selena provided an email address (selg8814@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Selena Guillory at selg8814@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Justine Sibuyan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:30:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Justine Sibuyan

This email was sent by Justine Sibuyan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Justine provided an email address (jsibuyan@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Justine Sibuyan at jsibuyan@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Chela lucas
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:31:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Chela lucas

This email was sent by Chela lucas via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Chela provided an email address (chela.lucas9@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Chela lucas at chela.lucas9@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Patricia Williams
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:32:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Patricia Williams

This email was sent by Patrivia Williams via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Patrivia provided an email address (patriciawilliams811@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Patrivia Williams at patriciawilliams811@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Harun David
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:33:24 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Harun David

This email was sent by Harun David via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Harun provided an email address (mitoharun@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Harun David at mitoharun@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jeffrey Smith-Hayzer
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:34:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jeffrey Smith-Hayzer

This email was sent by Jeffrey Smith-Hayzer via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jeffrey provided an email address (jps13@outlook.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jeffrey Smith-Hayzer at jps13@outlook.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yu Chup Chu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:34:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yu Chup Chu

This email was sent by Yu Chup Chu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yu Chup provided an email address (ychup8@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yu Chup Chu at ychup8@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Xing Ling Su
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:35:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Xing Ling Su

This email was sent by Xing Ling Su via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Xing Ling provided an email address (xinglingsu@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Xing Ling Su at xinglingsu@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alice Chu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:36:31 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alice Chu

This email was sent by Alice Chu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alice provided an email address (shop4alice@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alice Chu at shop4alice@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jacky Chu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:36:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jacky Chu

This email was sent by Jacky Chu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jacky provided an email address (bluezageron@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jacky Chu at bluezageron@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Patrick Williams
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:37:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Patrick Williams

This email was sent by Patrick Williams via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Patrick provided an email address (patrick94114@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Patrick Williams at patrick94114@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karen Oh
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:38:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Karen Oh

This email was sent by Karen Oh via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karen provided an email address (karenop@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karen Oh at karenop@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Cerise Waiters
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:39:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Cerise Waiters

This email was sent by Cerise Waiters via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Cerise provided an email address (cerise.waiters@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Cerise Waiters at cerise.waiters@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ladron Durio
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:39:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ladron Durio

This email was sent by Ladron Durio via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ladron provided an email address (ladrondurio@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ladron Durio at ladrondurio@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Desiree Perez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:40:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Desiree Perez

This email was sent by Desiree Perez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Desiree provided an email address (heydez@ymail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Desiree Perez at heydez@ymail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carlito Aniag
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:42:45 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Carlito Aniag

This email was sent by Carlito Aniaq via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carlito provided an email address (carsit_30@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carlito Aniaq at carsit_30@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kevin Shue
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:44:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin Shue

This email was sent by Kevin Shue via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kevin provided an email address (Kevin.shue@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kevin Shue at Kevin.shue@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shirley Luo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:44:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shirley Luo

This email was sent by Shirley Luo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shirley provided an email address (guanshi.luo@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shirley Luo at guanshi.luo@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kay Rodrigues
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:45:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

As a native San Franciscan, graduate from SFSU and Mercy High School; SF home owner; RPD staff for 27 years and now with HSA...please dont penalize me for the City's financial results of this pandemic.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kay Rodrigues

This email was sent by Kay Rodrigues via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kay provided an email address (kayrodrigues50@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kay Rodrigues at kayrodrigues50@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Leilani Leao
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:45:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Leilani Leao

This email was sent by Leilani Leao via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Leilani provided an email address (leilani.leao@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Leilani Leao at leilani.leao@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Stacey Porciuncula
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:47:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Stacey Porciuncula

This email was sent by Stacey Porciuncula via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Stacey provided an email address (porciunculastacey@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Stacey Porciuncula at porciunculastacey@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Elizabeth Travelslight
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:50:09 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Elizabeth Travelslight

This email was sent by Elizabeth Travelslight via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Elizabeth provided an email address (elizabeth@artandactivism.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Elizabeth Travelslight at elizabeth@artandactivism.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Andrew Beetley-Hagler
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:51:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Beetley-Hagler

This email was sent by Andrew Beetley-Hagler via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Andrew provided an email address (abeetley@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Andrew Beetley-Hagler at abeetley@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rebecca Paras
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:52:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rebecca Paras

This email was sent by Rebecca Paras via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rebecca provided an email address (rmaesalazar@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rebecca Paras at rmaesalazar@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ashley Wheeler
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:53:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ashley Wheeler

This email was sent by Ashley Wheeler via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ashley provided an email address (awheeler8466@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ashley Wheeler at awheeler8466@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kimberly Tavaglione
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:53:19 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kimberly Tavaglione

This email was sent by Kimberly Tavaglione via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kimberly provided an email address (kim@sflaborcouncil.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kimberly Tavaglione at kim@sflaborcouncil.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sarah Takapu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:53:40 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sarah Takapu

This email was sent by Sarah Takapu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sarah provided an email address (acetsarah@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sarah Takapu at acetsarah@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Brenda Barros
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:54:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Brenda Barros

This email was sent by Brenda Barros via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Brenda provided an email address (brendabarros@rocketmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Brenda Barros at brendabarros@rocketmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mark Leach
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:54:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mark Leach

This email was sent by Mark Leach via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mark provided an email address (mleach@ibt856.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mark Leach at mleach@ibt856.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Susan Noble
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:56:01 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

The budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services!!! Enough with the loopholes for the rich!!! STOP granting tax exemptions to wealthy corporations!

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Susan Noble

This email was sent by Susan Noble via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Susan provided an email address (one4007@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Susan Noble at one4007@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rachel Tan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:56:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rachel Tan

This email was sent by Rachel Tan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rachel provided an email address (rachmt5@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rachel Tan at rachmt5@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rowina Molina-Ley
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:57:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Rowina Molina-Ley

This email was sent by Rowina Molina-Ley via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rowina provided an email address (molinalley83@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rowina Molina-Ley at molinalley83@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Faustino Relova
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:58:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Faustino Relova

This email was sent by Faustino Relova via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Faustino provided an email address (Frelova77@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Faustino Relova at Frelova77@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michelle Brinkman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 1:58:19 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Michelle Brinkman

This email was sent by Michelle Brinkman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michelle provided an email address (michelle.brinkman@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michelle Brinkman at michelle.brinkman@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kim Giang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:03:29 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kim Giang

This email was sent by Kim Giang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kim provided an email address (kim_giang@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kim Giang at kim_giang@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anna Shirin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:13:24 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Anna Shirin

This email was sent by Anna Shirin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anna provided an email address (Anna.Shirin@SFGov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anna Shirin at Anna.Shirin@SFGov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jelani Avant
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:13:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jelani Avant

This email was sent by Jelani Avant via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jelani provided an email address (jelani.avant@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jelani Avant at jelani.avant@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Minh Vi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:14:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Minh Vi

This email was sent by Minh Vi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Minh provided an email address (jimmy.vi@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Minh Vi at jimmy.vi@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jessica Bishop
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:15:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jessica Bishop

This email was sent by Jessica Bishop via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jessica provided an email address (jessicalbishop@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jessica Bishop at jessicalbishop@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ryan Nebres
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:16:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ryan Nebres

This email was sent by Ryan Nebres via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ryan provided an email address (ryanpaul.nebres@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ryan Nebres at ryanpaul.nebres@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lila Louie
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:17:40 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Lila Louie via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lila provided an email address (lilalouie211@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lila Louie at lilalouie211@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kaitlin Saleh
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:17:40 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kaitlin Saleh

This email was sent by Kaitlin Saleh via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kaitlin provided an email address (kaitlin.saleh@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kaitlin Saleh at kaitlin.saleh@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Baby Jacquelyn Balancio
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:18:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Baby Jacquelyn Balancio

This email was sent by Baby Jacquelyn Balancio via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Baby Jacquelyn provided an email address (jacq_virgo@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Baby Jacquelyn Balancio at jacq_virgo@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shelley Mitchell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:18:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shelley Mitchell

This email was sent by Shelley Mitchell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shelley provided an email address (sdeneel@fmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shelley Mitchell at sdeneel@fmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Wendy Louie
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:19:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Wendy Louie

This email was sent by Wendy Louie via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Wendy provided an email address (wendy.louie@ucsf.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Wendy Louie at wendy.louie@ucsf.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Natalya Sturtz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:19:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Natalya Sturtz

This email was sent by Natalya Sturtz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Natalya provided an email address (natalyavsturtz@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Natalya Sturtz at natalyavsturtz@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jenny Lim
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:20:20 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jenny Lim

This email was sent by Jenny Lim via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jenny provided an email address (tweetyjames@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jenny Lim at tweetyjames@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: George Habash
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:23:36 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

George Habash

This email was sent by George Habash via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however George provided an email address (mrgeorgehabash@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to George Habash at mrgeorgehabash@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jay Bergers
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:24:21 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jay Bergers

This email was sent by Jay Bergers via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jay provided an email address (jay@jaybergers.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jay Bergers at jay@jaybergers.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rosanna Saechao
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:27:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rosanna Saechao

This email was sent by Rosanna Saechao via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rosanna provided an email address (rosannac822@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rosanna Saechao at rosannac822@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Justine Peace
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:28:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Justine Peace

This email was sent by Justine Peace via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Justine provided an email address (steeny34@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Justine Peace at steeny34@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Latara Thomas
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:29:08 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Latara Thomas

This email was sent by Latara Thomas via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Latara provided an email address (latarajt@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Latara Thomas at latarajt@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Wesley Whisenton
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:30:21 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Wesley Whisenton

This email was sent by Wesley Whisenton via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Wesley provided an email address (Wesley_Whisenton@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Wesley Whisenton at Wesley_Whisenton@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karla Garcia
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:33:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Karla Garcia

This email was sent by Karla Garcia via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karla provided an email address (karlagarcia415@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karla Garcia at karlagarcia415@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gary Sakita
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:35:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gary Sakita

This email was sent by Gary Sakita via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gary provided an email address (fp_sleepy@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gary Sakita at fp_sleepy@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lisa Dean
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:35:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lisa Dean

This email was sent by Lisa Dean via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lisa provided an email address (lismaxima@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lisa Dean at lismaxima@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Katedra Morales
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:43:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Katedra Morales

This email was sent by Katedra Morales via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Katedra provided an email address (dkjasmorales73@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Katedra Morales at dkjasmorales73@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Craig Kelliher
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:44:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Craig Kelliher

This email was sent by Craig Kelliher via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Craig provided an email address (craig.kelliher@sfpl.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Craig Kelliher at craig.kelliher@sfpl.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Linda Leung
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:52:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Linda Leung

This email was sent by Linda Leung via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Linda provided an email address (hippoatlarge@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Linda Leung at hippoatlarge@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tracy Gregory
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:53:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tracy Gregory

This email was sent by Tracy Gregory via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tracy provided an email address (tjgregory@ccsf.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tracy Gregory at tjgregory@ccsf.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Salini Nand
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:53:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Salini Nand

This email was sent by Salini Nand via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Salini provided an email address (nshalini12@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Salini Nand at nshalini12@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mayra Lopez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:57:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mayra Lopez

This email was sent by Mayra Lopez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mayra provided an email address (mlopezdy@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mayra Lopez at mlopezdy@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Steve Dickison
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:57:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires—there are something like 70 of them who live here—and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Steve Dickison

This email was sent by Steve Dickison via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Steve provided an email address (steved@sfsu.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Steve Dickison at steved@sfsu.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rene Hinojosa
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:59:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rene Hinojosa

This email was sent by Rene Hinojosa via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rene provided an email address (renehinojosa@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rene Hinojosa at renehinojosa@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Patricia Arreola
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 2:59:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Patricia Arreola

This email was sent by Patricia Arreola via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Patricia provided an email address (arreola_patricia@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Patricia Arreola at arreola_patricia@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gualberto Lacebal
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:00:01 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gualberto Lacebal

This email was sent by Gualberto Lacebal via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gualberto provided an email address (glacebal@famsf.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gualberto Lacebal at glacebal@famsf.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tuti Suardana
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:00:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tuti Suardana

This email was sent by Tuti Suardana via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tuti provided an email address (tuti.suardana@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tuti Suardana at tuti.suardana@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rachelle Henley
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:07:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rachelle Henley

This email was sent by Rachelle Henley via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rachelle provided an email address (rachel_henley@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rachelle Henley at rachel_henley@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Danielle Langit
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:11:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Danielle Langit

This email was sent by Danielle Langit via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Danielle provided an email address (danielle_jones113@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Danielle Langit at danielle_jones113@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: James Jeske
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:11:42 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

James Jeske

This email was sent by James Jeske via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however James provided an email address (jacobus5619@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to James Jeske at jacobus5619@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Annam Janjua
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:12:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Annam Janjua

This email was sent by Annam Janjua via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Annam provided an email address (ajanjua415@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Annam Janjua at ajanjua415@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Madelyne Wimberley
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:17:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Madelyne Wimberley

This email was sent by Madelyne Wimberley via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Madelyne provided an email address (madelyne23@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Madelyne Wimberley at madelyne23@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Vincenza Chiodo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:17:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Vincenza Chiodo

This email was sent by Vincenza Chiodo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Vincenza provided an email address (vchiodo@sflower.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Vincenza Chiodo at vchiodo@sflower.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Naomi Lewis
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:23:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Naomi Lewis

This email was sent by Naomi Lewis via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Naomi provided an email address (omil5846@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Naomi Lewis at omil5846@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mark Antonio
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:26:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Mark Antonio

This email was sent by Mark Antonio via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mark provided an email address (markantonio523@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mark Antonio at markantonio523@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Benmichael Flores
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:27:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Benmichael Flores

This email was sent by Benmichael Flores via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Benmichael provided an email address (benmichael_flores@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Benmichael Flores at benmichael_flores@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nicole Stein
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:30:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nicole Steon

This email was sent by Nicole Stein via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nicole provided an email address (nicole.stein@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nicole Stein at nicole.stein@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Guiqin Zhang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:31:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Guiqin Zhang

This email was sent by Guiqin Zhang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Guiqin provided an email address (guiqin.zhang@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Guiqin Zhang at guiqin.zhang@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Craig Smith
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:32:10 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Craig Smith

This email was sent by Craig Smith via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Craig provided an email address (clsb370880@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Craig Smith at clsb370880@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Julia Kay
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:36:01 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Julia Kay

This email was sent by Julia Kay via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Julia provided an email address (julia.l.kay@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Julia Kay at julia.l.kay@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jamila Hill
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:46:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jamila Hill

This email was sent by Jamila Hill via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jamila provided an email address (jamilahill1980@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jamila Hill at jamilahill1980@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yuan Wu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:51:49 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yuan Wu

This email was sent by Yuan Wu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yuan provided an email address (yuan.wu@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yuan Wu at yuan.wu@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jan Bryan Reyes
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:56:40 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jan Bryan Reyes

This email was sent by Jan Bryan Reyes via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jan Bryan provided an email address (burritos4me16@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jan Bryan Reyes at burritos4me16@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Frank DELLIGATTI
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:56:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Frank DELLIGATTI

This email was sent by Frank DELLIGATTI via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Frank provided an email address (sfdelligatti@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Frank DELLIGATTI at sfdelligatti@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dulce Mae Riofrio
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 3:57:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Dulce Mae Riofrio

This email was sent by Dulce Mae Riofrio via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dulce Mae provided an email address (dulcemae riofrio@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dulce Mae Riofrio at dulcemae riofrio@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dominador Ronquillo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:03:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dominador Ronquillo

This email was sent by Dominador Ronquillo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dominador provided an email address (leonguinto@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dominador Ronquillo at leonguinto@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yuk Lam
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:05:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yuk Lam

This email was sent by Yuk Lam via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yuk provided an email address (stellala168@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yuk Lam at stellala168@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Susan Fink
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:12:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Susan Fink

This email was sent by Susan Fink via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Susan provided an email address (susan.fink@sfpl.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Susan Fink at susan.fink@sfpl.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nina Pogosyan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:15:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nina Pogosyan

This email was sent by Nina Pogosyan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nina provided an email address (npogosya@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nina Pogosyan at npogosya@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Angelina Tong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:16:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Angelina Tong

This email was sent by Angelina Tong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Angelina provided an email address (toangelinat@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Angelina Tong at toangelinat@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Samuel Hill
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:19:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Samuel Hill

This email was sent by Samuel Hill via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Samuel provided an email address (samuelhill8@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Samuel Hill at samuelhill8@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Johnnie williams
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:19:20 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Johnnie williams

This email was sent by Johnnie williams via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Johnnie provided an email address (jw5555@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Johnnie williams at jw5555@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Robin Tremblay-McGaw
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:22:10 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Robin Tremblay-McGaw

This email was sent by Robin Tremblay-McGaw via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Robin provided an email address (rtremblaymcgaw@bard.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Robin Tremblay-McGaw at rtremblaymcgaw@bard.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Stephanie Maxwell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:23:44 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Stephanie Maxwell

This email was sent by Stephanie Maxwell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Stephanie provided an email address (stephmax23@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Stephanie Maxwell at stephmax23@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Melinda Martinez Becker
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:24:34 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Melinda Martinez Becker

This email was sent by Melinda Martinez Becker via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Melinda provided an email address (melindaebecker@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Melinda Martinez Becker at melindaebecker@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Julie Roe
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:25:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Julie Roe

This email was sent by Julie Roe via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Julie provided an email address (julieroe13@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Julie Roe at julieroe13@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Paul Jones
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:29:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Paul Jones

This email was sent by Paul Jones via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Paul provided an email address (mr.p.jones@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Paul Jones at mr.p.jones@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Khanh Lu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:36:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Khanh Lu

This email was sent by Khanh Lu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Khanh provided an email address (cookieplu@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Khanh Lu at cookieplu@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Aileen Pablo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:38:17 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Aileen Pablo

This email was sent by Aileen Pablo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Aileen provided an email address (aileen.pablo@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Aileen Pablo at aileen.pablo@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Diane Yep
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:38:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Diane Yep

This email was sent by Diane Yep via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Diane provided an email address (sasikidiane@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Diane Yep at sasikidiane@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jose Herrera
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:49:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jose Herrera

This email was sent by Jose Herrera via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jose provided an email address (herrera666@msn.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jose Herrera at herrera666@msn.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Fariba Mahmoudi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:58:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Fariba Mahmoudi

This email was sent by Fariba Mahmoudi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Fariba provided an email address (fariba.mahmoudi@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Fariba Mahmoudi at fariba.mahmoudi@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gerald Booker
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 4:59:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gerald Booker

This email was sent by Gerald Booker via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gerald provided an email address (book-peg@pacbell.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gerald Booker at book-peg@pacbell.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lily Lozano
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:00:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lily Lozano

This email was sent by Lily Lozano via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lily provided an email address (lalozano_2000@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lily Lozano at lalozano_2000@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mary Ryan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:00:29 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Ryan

This email was sent by Mary Ryan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mary provided an email address (ryanm@sfusd.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mary Ryan at ryanm@sfusd.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karen Sanchez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:01:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Karen Sanchez

This email was sent by Karen Sanchez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karen provided an email address (liltoto72@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karen Sanchez at liltoto72@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nicholas Peraino
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:01:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nicholas Peraino

This email was sent by Nicholas Peraino via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nicholas provided an email address (nicholas.peraino@seiu1021.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nicholas Peraino at nicholas.peraino@seiu1021.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carmelita Rogers
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:01:09 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Carmelita Rogers

This email was sent by Carmelita Rogers via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carmelita provided an email address (titalhet2@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carmelita Rogers at titalhet2@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Edgar Alonso
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:02:49 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Edgar Alonso

This email was sent by Edgar Alonso via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Edgar provided an email address (edjalonso87@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Edgar Alonso at edjalonso87@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shavonne Charity
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:09:07 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shavonne Charity

This email was sent by Shavonne Charity via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shavonne provided an email address (shavonnejc@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shavonne Charity at shavonnejc@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: michael hill
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:11:21 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

michael hill

This email was sent by michael hill via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however michael provided an email address (nminodob@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to michael hill at nminodob@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Danny Chan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:15:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Danny Chan

This email was sent by Danny Chan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Danny provided an email address (dnq1122@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Danny Chan at dnq1122@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karen Gamboa
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:17:39 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Karen Gamboa

This email was sent by Karen Gamboa via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karen provided an email address (karen.n.hernandez@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karen Gamboa at karen.n.hernandez@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Laura O'Reilly-Jackson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:18:42 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Laura O'Reilly-Jackson

This email was sent by Laura O'Reilly-Jackson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Laura provided an email address (Laurathelibra@webtv.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Laura O'Reilly-Jackson at Laurathelibra@webtv.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Hector Mero
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:20:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Hector Mero

This email was sent by Hector Mero via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Hector provided an email address (hmero@sftc.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Hector Mero at hmero@sftc.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Elieth Malfatti
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:22:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Elieth Malfatti

This email was sent by Elieth Malfatti via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Elieth provided an email address (eobando_sfc@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Elieth Malfatti at eobando_sfc@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Richard Deutman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:24:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Mayor:

It's time to ensure that the real

Front line workers are taken care of such as doctors nurses staff at SFGH.

As for myself and many of my direct and indirect reports at SFO facilities/ custodial / we are stealing city money at this time. Yes we come to work. My work day is not productive at this time. From high passenger counts of 80 thousand a day to 11 thousand is the number you need to understand. Minimal passenger counts means less cleaning hours are needed to maintain SFO high standards of pre and post COVID-19 hygiene cleanliness and safety for passengers and fellow staff.

At SFO we are well paid maintaining our paycheck is desired. To request that the City break into emergency / rainy day funds is premature.

I applaud governor Newsom and mayor London Breed leadership during the pandemic it has been a model of precaution and care for all San Francisco residents.

What is important ? Children can return to school safely, that local businesses reopen that tourist return to SF.

As for my personal wishes it would be that my work day is fulfilling, that incentives be proposed for those wishing to retire, that enterprises such as SFO and the Union work together to bring dignity to all workers. Dignity being defined is an honest days work. I also have noticed that SEIU has not offered to lower defer my substantial Union dues, when will SEIU do their part ?

We need the Board of Supervisors to take the necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, not only for today but with foresight into 2023 or beyond.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Deutman

This email was sent by Richard Deutman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Richard provided an email address (rf160x@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Richard Deutman at rf160x@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joanna Pablo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:36:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joanna Pablo

This email was sent by Joanna Pablo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joanna provided an email address (joannapablo@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joanna Pablo at joannapablo@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jonathan Velasco
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:42:39 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jonathan Velasco

This email was sent by Jonathan Velasco via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jonathan provided an email address (jonathan.velasco@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jonathan Velasco at jonathan.velasco@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ann McWalters
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:46:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ann McWalters

This email was sent by Ann McWalters via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ann provided an email address (amcwalters@msn.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ann McWalters at amcwalters@msn.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Niko Abisla
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:51:36 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Niko Abisla

This email was sent by Niko Abisla via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Niko provided an email address (nabisla@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Niko Abisla at nabisla@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ronald Radoc
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:57:24 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ronald Radoc

This email was sent by Ronald Radoc via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ronald provided an email address (ronald.radoc@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ronald Radoc at ronald.radoc@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dwayne Farrell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:00:57 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dwayne Farrell

This email was sent by Dwayne Farrell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dwayne provided an email address (def2251@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dwayne Farrell at def2251@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Viviana Fernandez-Strouds
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:11:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Viviana Fernandez-Strouds

This email was sent by Viviana Fernandez-Strouds via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Viviana provided an email address (vfernandez1986@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Viviana Fernandez-Strouds at vfernandez1986@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Siotha King
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:15:16 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Siotha King

This email was sent by Siotha King via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Siotha provided an email address (siothathomas@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Siotha King at siothathomas@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tobias Price
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:21:17 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tobias Price

This email was sent by Tobias Price via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tobias provided an email address (tobiasprice13@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tobias Price at tobiasprice13@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Robert Vogt
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:26:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Robert Vogt

This email was sent by Robert Vogt via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Robert provided an email address (vogtrocom@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Robert Vogt at vogtrocom@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sandra Schlechter
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:34:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sandra Schlechter

This email was sent by Sandra Schlechter via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sandra provided an email address (ritasky@sonic.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sandra Schlechter at ritasky@sonic.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lillian Abughrib
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:45:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lillian Abughrib

This email was sent by Lillian Abughrib via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lillian provided an email address (lillianabu@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lillian Abughrib at lillianabu@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jennifer Hickman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:46:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jennifer Hickman

This email was sent by Jennifer Hickman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jennifer provided an email address (jenygee@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jennifer Hickman at jenygee@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lawrence Lucas
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:46:23 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lawrence Lucas

This email was sent by Lawrence Lucas via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lawrence provided an email address (MrLLucas66@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lawrence Lucas at MrLLucas66@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: David Reyla
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:50:49 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

David Reyla

This email was sent by David Reyla via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however David provided an email address (david.reyla@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to David Reyla at david.reyla@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jacqueline Cao
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:56:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jacqueline Cao

This email was sent by Jacqueline Cao via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jacqueline provided an email address (jacquelinecao1@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jacqueline Cao at jacquelinecao1@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: George Tran
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:57:45 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

George Tran

This email was sent by George Tran via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however George provided an email address (george.tran@sfpl.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to George Tran at george.tran@sfpl.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Martha Hawthorne
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 7:02:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Martha Hawthorne

This email was sent by Martha Hawthorne via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Martha provided an email address (marta222@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Martha Hawthorne at marta222@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Thomas Harrison
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 7:08:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Thomas Harrison

This email was sent by Thomas Harrison via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Thomas provided an email address (tomharrison261@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Thomas Harrison at tomharrison261@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alison Burek
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all. Defund SFPD and Sheriff!
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 7:32:16 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.
- 4.) Reallocate funding from SFPD and the Sheriff's Department. Defund SFPD Now has outlined 37 line item cuts totaling $296 million that should be made to SFPD's budget.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions. In spite of our sacrifice, many of us are relegated to "temporary" status, ineligible for benefits, though we've been doing the same job for years. I spend my days serving the youth and elders of San Francisco. All I ask in return is a living wage and guaranteed healthcare, for me and my fellow workers.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alison Burek

This email was sent by Alison Burek via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alison provided an email address (alison.Burek@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alison Burek at alison.Burek@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joe Chmielewski
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 7:47:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next. What we're learning is the important roll that essential workers are playing in response to the COVID-19 spread. Instead of calling us 'essential workers' we should be known as "at-risk workers"; "vulnerable workers". The dangers we face warrant recognition. We not only want our wages, we want legislative workers rights and protections that demonstrate a gratitude toward our service. We aren't heroes to be applauded, there's nothing 'heroic' about the grim reality of economic survival.

The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services. We need to divest power from the growing technocracy, privatized companies, and governmental institutions, and siphon it back into the hands of the laborer.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joe Chmielewski

This email was sent by Joe Chmielewski via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joe provided an email address (jcin506@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joe Chmielewski at jcin506@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Hassan Nowroozi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 7:54:21 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Hassan Nowroozi

This email was sent by Hassan Nowroozi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Hassan provided an email address (hassan.nowroozi@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Hassan Nowroozi at hassan.nowroozi@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: timothy leaupetele
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 7:56:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

timothy leaupetele

This email was sent by timothy leaupepetele via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however timothy provided an email address (ztsl1212@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to timothy leaupepetele at ztsl1212@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: manuel castro
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:00:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

manuel castro

This email was sent by manuel castro via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however manuel provided an email address (mannyhue@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to manuel castro at mannyhue@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Aero Feth
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:02:36 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Aero Feth

This email was sent by Aero Feth via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Aero provided an email address (aero.feth@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Aero Feth at aero.feth@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Meg Buckwalter
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:09:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Meg Buckwalter

This email was sent by Meg Buckwalter via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Meg provided an email address (mbuckwal@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Meg Buckwalter at mbuckwal@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joseph Turmes
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:09:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joseph Turmes

This email was sent by Joseph Turmes via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joseph provided an email address (jturmes@mail.ccsf.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joseph Turmes at jturmes@mail.ccsf.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Korey Wong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:09:16 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Korey Wong

This email was sent by Korey Wong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Korey provided an email address (korey.wong@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Korey Wong at korey.wong@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Phong Sy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:10:00 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Phong Sy

This email was sent by Phong Sy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Phong provided an email address (jamie ngo522@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Phong Sy at jamie ngo522@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jen Woo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:12:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jen Woo

This email was sent by Jen Woo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jen provided an email address (jenniferjwoo@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jen Woo at jenniferjwoo@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mary Ellen Massa
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:17:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Ellen Massa

This email was sent by Mary Ellen Massa via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mary Ellen provided an email address (mariposazul531@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mary Ellen Massa at mariposazul531@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kathleen Owens
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:27:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kathleen Owens

This email was sent by Kathleen Owens via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kathleen provided an email address (owens_kathy@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kathleen Owens at owens_kathy@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Baojie Yan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:37:44 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Baojie Yan

This email was sent by Baojie Yan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Baojie provided an email address (ybaojie@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Baojie Yan at ybaojie@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mary Zhong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:41:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Zhong

This email was sent by Mary Zhong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mary provided an email address (mzhong115@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mary Zhong at mzhong115@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Richard Carvalho
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:47:39 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Carvalho

This email was sent by Richard Carvalho via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Richard provided an email address (richcarvalho1452@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Richard Carvalho at richcarvalho1452@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kim McNeSe
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:50:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kim McNeSe

This email was sent by Kim McNeSe via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kim provided an email address (kckimber3@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kim McNeSe at kckimber3@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Vilma Barrera
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 9:01:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Vilma Barrera

This email was sent by Vilma Barrera via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Vilma provided an email address (vilma.barrera@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Vilma Barrera at vilma.barrera@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Laurie Kassel
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 9:15:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Laurie Kassel

This email was sent by Laurie Kassel via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Laurie provided an email address (lauriekassel@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Laurie Kassel at lauriekassel@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jimmy Liu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 9:32:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Jimmy Liu

This email was sent by Jimmy Liu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jimmy provided an email address (liu.jimmy.11@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jimmy Liu at liu.jimmy.11@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sarah Larson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 9:47:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sarah Larson

This email was sent by Sarah Larson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sarah provided an email address (sarah.larson@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sarah Larson at sarah.larson@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Allison McCarthy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 9:49:19 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Allison McCarthy

This email was sent by Allison McCarthy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Allison provided an email address (Mccarthy.ali@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Allison McCarthy at Mccarthy.ali@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nikki Santana
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 9:49:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nikki Santana

This email was sent by Nikki Santana via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nikki provided an email address (nikki.santana@sfsph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nikki Santana at nikki.santana@sfsph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maritza Molina
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 9:51:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Maritza Molina

This email was sent by Maritza Molina via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maritza provided an email address (maritza.molina@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maritza Molina at maritza.molina@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Betsy Levine
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 10:10:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Betsy Levine

This email was sent by Betsy Levine via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Betsy provided an email address (westiegrrl@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Betsy Levine at westiegrrl@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Robert Clendening
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 10:15:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Robert Clendening

This email was sent by Robert Clendening via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Robert provided an email address (robclen110@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Robert Clendening at robclen110@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Steven Huey
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 10:24:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hi,

My name is Steven Huey and I have always been proud to be San Franciscan since birth. I've always appreciated how hard working our public workers were to keep San Francisco one of the most beautiful cities to live in or visit. About four years ago, I joined San Francisco Public Works (BOE, HYD) and realized how many workers it takes to run a city, especially after volunteering for the EOC (planning dept) during this pandemic. To hear that Mayor London Breed is threatening to cut jobs to San Francisco public workers is an outrage especially since we have a surplus of $1 billion stacked away for such an event like this... I can say that my colleagues and I work tirelessly to keep San Francisco running and we do not deserve to be threatened like this...

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Steven Huey

This email was sent by Steven Huey via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Steven provided an email address (Steven.H.Huey@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Steven Huey at Steven.H.Huey@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Birgul Polat
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 10:40:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Birgul Polat

This email was sent by Birgul Polat via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Birgul provided an email address (birgul.polat@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Birgul Polat at birgul.polat@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Megan Papedo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 10:42:21 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Megan Papedo

This email was sent by Megan Papedo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Megan provided an email address (megan4224@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Megan Papedo at megan4224@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ginny Valerio
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 11:26:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ginny Valerio

This email was sent by Ginny Valerio via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ginny provided an email address (genevieve.valerio@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ginny Valerio at genevieve.valerio@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lennie Gragasin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 11:37:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lennie Gragasin

This email was sent by Lennie Gragasin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lennie provided an email address (lgragasin@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lennie Gragasin at lgragasin@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Mehari
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 11:58:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Mehari

This email was sent by Michael Mehari via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (michaelmehari89@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Mehari at michaelmehari89@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Giannina Miranda
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:05:14 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Giannina Miranda

This email was sent by Giannina Miranda via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Giannina provided an email address (Giannina miranda@att.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Giannina Miranda at Giannina miranda@att.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Benny Ng
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:53:32 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Benny Ng

This email was sent by Benny Ng via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Benny provided an email address (cbennyng@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Benny Ng at cbennyng@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Wendy Xu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:07:52 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Wendy Xu

This email was sent by Wendy Xu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Wendy provided an email address (wendyyue.xu@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Wendy Xu at wendyyue.xu@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kristyna Castaneda
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 3:55:09 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kristyna Castaneda

This email was sent by Kristyna Castaneda via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kristyna provided an email address (kristyna.nguyen93@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kristyna Castaneda at kristyna.nguyen93@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dennes Hernandez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 5:16:33 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dennes Hernandez

This email was sent by Dennes Hernandez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dennes provided an email address (DennesHernandez@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dennes Hernandez at DennesHernandez@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Leedia Urteaga
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:29:00 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
lalaleedia@gmail.com Urteaga

This email was sent by Leedia Urteaga via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Leedia provided an email address (lalaleedia@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Leedia Urteaga at lalaleedia@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Henry Palacios
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:44:56 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Henry Palacios

This email was sent by Henry Palacios via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Henry provided an email address (spartan29x@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Henry Palacios at spartan29x@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lucas Leiva
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:55:49 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lucas Leiva

This email was sent by Lucas Leiva via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lucas provided an email address (simplyll@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lucas Leiva at simplyll@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Elena Norberg- Brown
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 7:03:03 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

As someone who has worked tirelessly for years to ensure that youth, adults and seniors have opportunities for art experiences through classes provided by our talented and dedicated staff, i feel it is a detriment to our city to lose sight of the health benefits that art has on the well being of people. We all need creative outlets if expression to balance the stressors of life and bring value to and understanding to our place in the world. Cuts to the SF Recreation and Parks Department directly affects cuts to recreation and limits our ability to serve the families of our city. this is a mental health issue, as it has been proven that art and recreation provide vital outlets for well-being. We have been building our capacity to serve the most vulnerable and provide access to recreation for families in our city's equity zones. We do not want to neglect our residents.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Elena Norberg- Brown

This email was sent by Elena Norberg- Brown via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Elena provided an email address (elena.norbergbrown@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Elena Norberg- Brown at elena.norbergbrown@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Elio West
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 7:19:53 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Sincerely,

Elio West

This email was sent by Elio West via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Elio provided an email address (n.bonnepart@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Elio West at n.bonnepart@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Suzanne Portnoy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 7:22:36 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Suzanne Portnoy

This email was sent by Suzanne Portnoy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Suzanne provided an email address (pamela.portnoy@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Suzanne Portnoy at pamela.portnoy@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alejandro de Jesus
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 7:43:31 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alejandro de Jesus

This email was sent by Alejandro de Jesus via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alejandro provided an email address (adejesus2004@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alejandro de Jesus at adejesus2004@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Eric Scotton
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 7:46:09 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Eric Scotton

This email was sent by Eric Scotton via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Eric provided an email address (yungwolftongue@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Eric Scotton at yungwolftongue@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Travis Mathews
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 7:52:32 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Travis Mathews

This email was sent by Travis Mathews via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Travis provided an email address (travisdmathews@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Travis Mathews at travisdmathews@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Francisco Villa
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:02:53 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Francisco Villa

This email was sent by Francisco Villa via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Francisco provided an email address (javier94014@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Francisco Villa at javier94014@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alfredo Jauregui
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:03:49 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alfredo Jauregui

This email was sent by Alfredo Jauregui via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alfredo provided an email address (alfredojauregui14@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alfredo Jauregui at alfredojauregui14@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tilroe Stevenson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:08:02 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tilroe Stevenson

This email was sent by Tilroe Stevenson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tilroe provided an email address (pataylo@sonic.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tilroe Stevenson at pataylo@sonic.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Susan Nawbary
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:11:37 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Susan Nawbary

This email was sent by Susan Nawbary via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Susan provided an email address (snawbary@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Susan Nawbary at snawbary@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Taylor Cheatham
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:14:48 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Taylor Cheatham

This email was sent by Taylor Cheatham via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Taylor provided an email address (taylorchristinebarry01@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Taylor Cheatham at taylorchristinebarry01@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Vanessa Hardy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:20:08 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

As a Disaster Service Worker at the Food Bank I have come face to face with the crisis that this pandemic has caused. Day after day thousands of San Franciscans line up for hours for a bag of groceries, Day after day we pack thousands of bags for seniors who cannot leave their homes. It has been shocking to witness the extent of the need.

Feeding San Francisco is essential work. It has been a privilege to do it. I don't expect praise, though praise has liberally been given. But San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us as if we are expendable the next.

That is what the Mayor's proposed budget does. In assuming that we will further defer our raises, the Mayor is not only trying to balance the budget on our backs, she is arrogantly ignoring the fact that we have a legal contract.

That contract specifies that in the event of a budget deficit we will defer our July raise until December. We have done that, and saved the City $50 million this year. Our disaster service work is also bringing in FEMA dollars. More than that, we have put countless hours of sweat equity into saving our City. The Mayor rightly points out that San Francisco has done a good job. Well, who has done that job? We have kept our side of the contract, and more. Now it is time for the Mayor to keep hers.

In her July 31 presser the Mayor claimed that no public employee had lost their job. That may technically be true, but not all employees are getting paid. Some have had to sign up for unemployment benefit. Some have had to take early retirement. This has not been an easy time for any of us, as we have tried to balance the requirements and risks of frontline work with our personal health and family needs.

Looking forward, San Francisco is going to need its public employees to provide the services that will carry us through the pandemic. The Mayor rightly wants to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. How is she going to do that without us? Why is she threatening to lay us off?

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Vanessa Hardy

This email was sent by Vanessa Hardy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Vanessa provided an email address (vanessa.hardy@sfpl.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Vanessa Hardy at vanessa.hardy@sfpl.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Richard McIsaac
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:24:13 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Richard McIsaac

This email was sent by Richard McIsaac via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Richard provided an email address (yorichy@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Richard McIsaac at yorichy@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shirley Boado
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:37:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Shirley Boado via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues

they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shirley provided an email address (shirley.boado@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shirley Boado at shirley.boado@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jamie Lee
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:37:32 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jamie Lee

This email was sent by Jamie Lee via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jamie provided an email address (jalee21@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jamie Lee at jalee21@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Linda Caravelli
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:37:36 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Linda Caravelli

This email was sent by Linda Caravelli via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Linda provided an email address (Linda.Caravelli@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Linda Caravelli at Linda.Caravelli@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Autumn Cleave
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:38:17 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Autumn Cleave

This email was sent by Autumn Cleave via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Autumn provided an email address (autumn@cleave.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Autumn Cleave at autumn@cleave.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: John Aynsley
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:39:50 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

John Aynsley

This email was sent by John Aynsley via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however John provided an email address (john.aynsley@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to John Aynsley at john.aynsley@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Priyanka Karki
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:40:31 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Priyanka Karki

This email was sent by Priyanka Karki via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Priyanka provided an email address (banalysispk@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Priyanka Karki at banalysispk@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: N Rosario
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:40:46 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

N Rosario

This email was sent by N Rosario via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however N provided an email address (nrosario@sflower.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to N Rosario at nrosario@sflower.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tamam abdallah
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:43:23 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Tamam abdallah via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues

they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tamam provided an email address (tamam.abdallah@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tamam abdallah at tamam.abdallah@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Solomon
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:44:44 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Solomon

This email was sent by Michael Solomon via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (michael.solomon@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Solomon at michael.solomon@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kevin Barteaux
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:45:04 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider two steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin Barteaux

This email was sent by Kevin Barteaux via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kevin provided an email address (kbarteaux@sflower.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kevin Barteaux at kbarteaux@sflower.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Aracelli Frías
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:45:20 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Aracelli Frías

This email was sent by Aracelli Frías via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Aracelli provided an email address (ghoulfiend@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Aracelli Frías at ghoulfiend@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nick Palm-Song
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:45:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nick Palm-Song

This email was sent by Nick Palm-Song via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nick provided an email address (nicholas.song@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nick Palm-Song at nicholas.song@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Loran Hollander
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:45:57 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Loran Hollander

This email was sent by Loran Hollander via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Loran provided an email address (loranhollander@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Loran Hollander at loranhollander@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: SAFIRA DE SOUZA
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:46:28 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

SAFIRA DE SOUZA

This email was sent by SAFIRA DE SOUZA via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however SAFIRA provided an email address (SAFIRA.DESOUZA@SFGOV.ORG) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to SAFIRA DE SOUZA at SAFIRA.DESOUZA@SFGOV.ORG.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Guadalupe Perez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:47:41 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Many of us are so underpaid, and so overworked, doing the work of more than one person. We have been so stressed but patient for so many, many years. We can only take so much. Please have corporations pay their fair share!
Thank you for your time and attention.

Yours sincerely,

Guadalupe Perez

This email was sent by Guadalupe Perez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Guadalupe provided an email address (teresa.perez@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Guadalupe Perez at teresa.perez@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maureen Conefrey
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:48:00 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Maureen Conefrey

This email was sent by Maureen Conefrey via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maureen provided an email address (maureen.conefrey@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maureen Conefrey at maureen.conefrey@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Roderick Hamilton
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:48:00 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Roderick Hamilton

This email was sent by Roderick Hamilton via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Roderick provided an email address (Roderickhmltn@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Roderick Hamilton at Roderickhmltn@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anna Muaswes
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:48:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Anna Muaswes

This email was sent by Anna Muaswes via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anna provided an email address (anna.muaswes@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anna Muaswes at anna.muaswes@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lyndon Ganda
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:48:52 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lyndon Ganda

This email was sent by Lyndon Ganda via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lyndon provided an email address (lyndon.ganda@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lyndon Ganda at lyndon.ganda@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jill Uyeda
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:49:36 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Jill Uyeda via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jill provided an email address (jill.uyeda@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jill Uyeda at jill.uyeda@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Huy Thai
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:50:51 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Huy Thai

This email was sent by Huy Thai via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Huy provided an email address (thaihuy29@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Huy Thai at thaihuy29@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yee Shin Tseng
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:51:43 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yee Shin Tseng

This email was sent by Yee Shin Tseng via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yee Shin provided an email address (ytseng@sewater.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yee Shin Tseng at ytseng@sewater.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Guy Keenan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:52:09 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.
- 4) Have management take a cut in pay as well.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Guy Keenan

This email was sent by Guy Keenan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Guy provided an email address (guy.keenan@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Guy Keenan at guy.keenan@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anne Ferrel
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:52:16 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Anne Ferrel via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues

they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anne provided an email address (anne ferrel@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anne Ferrel at anne ferrel@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Christina Moy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:52:23 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Christina Moy

This email was sent by Christina Moy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Christina provided an email address (chdang713@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Christina Moy at chdang713@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mongkol Mahavongtrakul
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:52:54 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mongkol Mahavongtrakul

This email was sent by Mongkol Mahavongtrakul via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mongkol provided an email address (mongkol.mahavongtrakul@sfport.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mongkol Mahavongtrakul at mongkol.mahavongtrakul@sfport.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Matt Ball
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:55:45 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Matt Ball

This email was sent by Matt Ball via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Matt provided an email address (matt.ball@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Matt Ball at matt.ball@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Deborah Tutson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:56:12 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Deborah Tutson

This email was sent by Deborah Tutson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Deborah provided an email address (dtitson@msn.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Deborah Tutson at dtitson@msn.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Asia Harrigan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:58:13 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Asia Harrigan

This email was sent by Asia Harrigan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Asia provided an email address (asiadominique@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Asia Harrigan at asiadominique@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: nicholas l
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:58:59 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
nicholas l

This email was sent by nicholas l via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however nicholas provided an email address (nicholas.leo@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to nicholas l at nicholas.leo@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Beth McDowell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:59:02 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Beth McDowell

This email was sent by Beth McDowell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Beth provided an email address (elizabeth.mcdowell@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Beth McDowell at elizabeth.mcdowell@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carlos Sandoval
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:59:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Caros Sandoval

This email was sent by Carlos Sandoval via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carlos provided an email address (carlosandoval2127@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carlos Sandoval at carlosandoval2127@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dalmar Ismail
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:00:53 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dalmar Ismail

This email was sent by Dalmar Ismail via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dalmar provided an email address (dalmar.ismail@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dalmar Ismail at dalmar.ismail@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jennifer Valencia
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:03:07 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jennifer Valencia

This email was sent by Jennifer Valencia via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jennifer provided an email address (jennifer.valencia@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jennifer Valencia at jennifer.valencia@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tim Paez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:08:25 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tim Paez

This email was sent by Tim Paez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tim provided an email address (tim.paez@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tim Paez at tim.paez@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joel Ruidera
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:08:42 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joel Ruidera

This email was sent by Joel Ruidera via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joel provided an email address (jortek@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joel Ruidera at jortek@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Simin Liang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:09:06 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Simin Liang

This email was sent by Simin Liang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Simin provided an email address (simin.liang@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Simin Liang at simin.liang@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ying Wu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:10:00 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ying Wu

This email was sent by Ying Wu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ying provided an email address (reflectiononthewater@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ying Wu at reflectiononthewater@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mercedes Biscocho
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:11:20 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mercedes Biscocho

This email was sent by Mercedes Biscocho via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mercedes provided an email address (mercedes.biscocho@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mercedes Biscocho at mercedes.biscocho@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ali Syed
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:17:47 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Ali Syed

This email was sent by Ali Syed via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ali provided an email address (ali.syed@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ali Syed at ali.syed@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sara Stacy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:18:20 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Mayor London Breed,

I find it in poor form to take away my colleagues and my raises. We can hardly afford to live and thrive in Bay Area. My colleague Susan worked for five years to negotiate this raise.

Your decision is undermining the livelihood of individuals and families.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sara Stacy

This email was sent by Sara Stacy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sara provided an email address (snturner11@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sara Stacy at snturner11@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mu Aung
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:20:56 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mu Aung

This email was sent by Mu Aung via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mu provided an email address (mu.aung@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mu Aung at mu.aung@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sean Kinson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:24:48 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sean Kinson

This email was sent by Sean Kinson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sean provided an email address (kinsons@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sean Kinson at kinsons@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ranjit Parhar
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:24:54 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ranjit Parhar

This email was sent by Ranjit Parhar via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ranjit provided an email address (rparhar@sflower.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ranjit Parhar at rparhar@sflower.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nick Holsapple
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:26:02 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nick Holsapple

This email was sent by Nick Holsapple via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nick provided an email address (nick.holsapple@sfdsp.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nick Holsapple at nick.holsapple@sfdsp.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Richard Kung
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:27:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Kung

This email was sent by Richard Kung via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Richard provided an email address (richard.kung@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Richard Kung at richard.kung@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Daren Murphy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:27:31 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Daren Murphy

This email was sent by Daren Murphy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Daren provided an email address (dmurphy215@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Daren Murphy at dmurphy215@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Daniel Kwon
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:30:47 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Daniel Kwon

This email was sent by Daniel Kwon via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Daniel provided an email address (dkwon@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Daniel Kwon at dkwon@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: patcharin Reynolds
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:31:40 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

patcharin Reynolds

This email was sent by patcharin Reynolds via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however patcharin provided an email address (pat.reynolds@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to patcharin Reynolds at pat.reynolds@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Andrew Johnson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:31:53 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Johnson

This email was sent by Andrew Johnson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Andrew provided an email address (aaj2251977@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Andrew Johnson at aaj2251977@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Trina Hill
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:36:00 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Trina Hill

This email was sent by Trina Hill via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Trina provided an email address (trinahill.th@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Trina Hill at trinahill.th@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Julia Laue
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:36:50 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Julia Laue

This email was sent by Julia Laue via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Julia provided an email address (jlaue@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Julia Laue at jlaue@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karina Lairt
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:41:40 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Karina Lairt

This email was sent by Karina Lairet via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karina provided an email address (karinalairet@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karina Lairet at karinalairet@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: mavis Cheung
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:44:20 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

mavis.cheung@sfgov.org Cheung

This email was sent by mavis Cheung via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however mavis provided an email address (mavis.cheung@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to mavis Cheung at mavis.cheung@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Diego Sanchez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:00:40 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Diego Sanchez

This email was sent by Diego Sanchez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Diego provided an email address (diegorsanchez@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Diego Sanchez at diegorsanchez@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Daniel Sanchez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:08:15 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Daniel Sanchez

This email was sent by Daniel Sanchez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Daniel provided an email address (danieljshs@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Daniel Sanchez at danieljshs@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Morgan McGuire
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:08:58 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Morgan McGuire

This email was sent by Morgan McGuire via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Morgan provided an email address (organicmm@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Morgan McGuire at organicmm@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Brian Reyes
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:12:06 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

We have sacrificed for the City to protect public health and safety and money for the City during this crisis. Workers deserve to be rewarded for their sacrifice. Stand with us now!

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Reyes

This email was sent by Brian Reyes via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Brian provided an email address (brian5368@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Brian Reyes at brian5368@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Craig chandler
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:12:40 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Craig chandler

This email was sent by Craig Chandler via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Craig provided an email address (mypianosearch@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Craig Chandler at mypianosearch@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Miko Nadel
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:13:07 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Miko Nadel

This email was sent by Miko Nadel via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Miko provided an email address (nadelmo@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Miko Nadel at nadelmo@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Patricia Cardenas
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:15:49 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Patricia Cardenas

This email was sent by Patricia Cardenas via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Patricia provided an email address (patricia.cardenas@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Patricia Cardenas at patricia.cardenas@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mariane Palisoc
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:22:03 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mariane Palisoc

This email was sent by Mariane Palisoc via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mariane provided an email address (marianne_palisoc@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mariane Palisoc at marianne_palisoc@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Paulita Valera
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:28:49 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Paulita Valera

This email was sent by Paulita Valera via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Paulita provided an email address (ptvalera2@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Paulita Valera at ptvalera2@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Sipourene
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:32:12 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Sipourene

This email was sent by Michael Sipourene via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (knight7219@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Sipourene at knight7219@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: James Smith
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:37:12 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

James Smith

This email was sent by James Smith via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however James provided an email address (james.smith@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to James Smith at james.smith@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ling La
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:39:11 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ling La La

This email was sent by Ling La via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ling provided an email address (ling.la@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ling La at ling.la@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Josephine Wong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:40:56 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Josephine Wong

This email was sent by Josephine Wong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Josephine provided an email address (Josephine.Wang@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Josephine Wong at Josephine.Wang@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ed Ryan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:42:54 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ed Ryan

This email was sent by Ed Ryan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ed provided an email address (eddieryan1970@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ed Ryan at eddieryan1970@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joel Uchi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all No cuts! No Lay off!
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:44:39 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joel Uchi

This email was sent by Joel Uchi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joel provided an email address (joeluchi@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joel Uchi at joeluchi@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sylvia Tse
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:45:43 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sylvia Tse

This email was sent by Sylvia Tse via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sylvia provided an email address (sylviatse88@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sylvia Tse at sylviatse88@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Diane O'Donohue
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:46:30 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions. Our section is down more than 50% in staffing and we are reporting onsite everyday to fulfill the City's permit requirements!

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Diane O'Donohue

This email was sent by Diane O'Donohue via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Diane provided an email address (roonie08@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Diane O'Donohue at roonie08@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jennifer Crane
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:47:46 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jennifer Crane

This email was sent by Jennifer Crane via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jennifer provided an email address (jenn@doylecrane.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jennifer Crane at jenn@doylecrane.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jian Feng He
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:49:39 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jian Feng He

This email was sent by Jian Feng He via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jian Feng He provided an email address (rachelhe2007@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jian Feng He at rachelhe2007@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Lau
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:56:10 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Lau

This email was sent by Michael Lau via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (michaellau80@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Lau at michaellau80@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Javier Barragan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:56:25 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Javier Barragan

This email was sent by Javier Barragan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Javier provided an email address (javierbarragan10@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Javier Barragan at javierbarragan10@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gemma Mirkinson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:59:28 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gemma Mirkinson

This email was sent by Gemma Mirkinson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gemma provided an email address (g.mirkinson@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gemma Mirkinson at g mirkinson@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Frank Piruzmand
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:00:46 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Frank Piruzmand

This email was sent by Frank Piruzmand via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Frank provided an email address (frank.piruzmand@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Frank Piruzmand at frank.piruzmand@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yvonne Moore
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:01:23 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Yvonne Moore via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues

they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yvonne provided an email address (yvonneivy@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yvonne Moore at yvonneivy@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joe Pena
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:03:00 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joe Pena

This email was sent by Joe Pena via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joe provided an email address (sanzibar21@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joe Pena at sanzibar21@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Stephanie Pone
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:05:58 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Stephanie Thurston

This email was sent by Stephanie Pone via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Stephanie provided an email address (rosepone@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Stephanie Pone at rosepone@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lun Yip
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:06:54 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lun Yip

This email was sent by Lun Yip via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lun provided an email address (89cam56ly@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lun Yip at 89cam56ly@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: William Tuck
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:08:20 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

William Tuck

This email was sent by William Tuck via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however William provided an email address (thetuckfamily@sbcglobe.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to William Tuck at thetuckfamily@sbcglobe.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Pamela Horenstein
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:18:10 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Pamela Horenstein

This email was sent by Pamela Horenstein via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Pamela provided an email address (pamel.horenstein@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Pamela Horenstein at pamel.horenstein@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tim Kingston
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:20:32 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tim Kingston

This email was sent by Tim Kingston via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tim provided an email address (tim.kingston@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tim Kingston at tim.kingston@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: John Finnegan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:22:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

John Finnegan

This email was sent by John Finnegan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however John provided an email address (finne4@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to John Finnegan at finne4@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dolores Gamez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:25:14 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dolores Gamez

This email was sent by Dolores Gamez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dolores provided an email address (dolores.gamez@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dolores Gamez at dolores.gamez@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ha Trinh
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:27:53 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ha Trinh

This email was sent by Ha Trinh via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ha provided an email address (iamha78@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ha Trinh at iamha78@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: maura moylan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:29:46 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

maura moylan

This email was sent by maura moylan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however maura provided an email address (MAURA.MOYLAN@SFGOV.ORG) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to maura moylan at MAURA.MOYLAN@SFGOV.ORG.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: michael daly
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:58:43 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

michael daly

This email was sent by michael daly via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however michael provided an email address (michael56daly@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to michael daly at michael56daly@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Matthew Greene
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:09:34 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Matthew Greene

This email was sent by Matthew Greene via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Matthew provided an email address (mattygreene@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Matthew Greene at mattygreene@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Annette Cull
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:09:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Annette Cull

This email was sent by Annette Cull via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Annette provided an email address (annette.cull@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Annette Cull at annette.cull@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Paul De Freitas
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:15:01 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Paul De Freitas

This email was sent by Paul De Freitas via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Paul provided an email address (paul.defreitas@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Paul De Freitas at paul.defreitas@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Elliott Ten
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:16:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Elliott Ten

This email was sent by Elliott Ten via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Elliott provided an email address (elliott.ten@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Elliott Ten at elliott.ten@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jane Glass
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:22:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jane Glass

This email was sent by Jane Glass via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jane provided an email address (ceremonyj@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jane Glass at ceremonyj@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bianca Ferreros
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:23:42 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider FOUR steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds. CITY WORKERS HAVE GIVEN THOUSANDS OF MUCH NEEDED INCOME DURING MAYOR NEWSOME'S TERM IN OFFICE TO KEEP THE CITY AFLOAT.

2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services. REQUIRE THESE CORPORATIONS TO RESIDE WITHIN THE CITY.

4.) INVEST IN BUSINESSES WHICH ARE RESIDENTS OF THE CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO. THE REVENUE GENERATED BY IN HOUSE BUSINESSES RETURN BACK TO THE CITY. REDUCE USAGE OF THIRD PARTIES RESIDING IN OTHER STATES.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Bianca Ferreros

This email was sent by Bianca Ferreros via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bianca provided an email address (bferreros@sflower.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bianca Ferreros at bferreros@sflower.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Patricia Allen
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:24:39 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Patricia Allen

This email was sent by Patricia Allen via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Patricia provided an email address (Patricia0051@att.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Patricia Allen at Patricia0051@att.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joseph Ospital
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:28:01 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joseph Ospital

This email was sent by Joseph Ospital via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joseph provided an email address (basquejoe@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joseph Ospital at basquejoe@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: S.L.L.
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:30:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

stephan leung

This email was sent by SL L via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however SL provided an email address (stephanleung819@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to SL L at stephanleung819@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dennis Oates
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:42:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dennis Oates

This email was sent by Dennis Oates via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dennis provided an email address (dennis_oates@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dennis Oates at dennis_oates@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Almudena Martin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:43:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Almudena Martin

This email was sent by Almudena Martin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Almudena provided an email address (almumar@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Almudena Martin at almumar@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: A.J. Thomas
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:48:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

A.J. Thomas

This email was sent by A.J. Thomas via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however A.J. provided an email address (amar.john.thomas@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to A.J. Thomas at amar.john.thomas@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carla Durden Fay
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:58:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Carla Durden Fay

This email was sent by Carla Durden Fay via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carla provided an email address (carlafaymusic@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carla Durden Fay at carlafaymusic@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Earl Gaffud
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:59:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Earl Gaffud

This email was sent by Earl Gaffud via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Earl provided an email address (ejqgaffud@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Earl Gaffud at ejqgaffud@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: my luc
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:05:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by my luc via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however my provided an email address (myyen.luc@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to my luc at myyen.luc@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dee Meloni
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:08:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dee Meloni

This email was sent by Dee Meloni via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dee provided an email address (deemeloni@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dee Meloni at deemeloni@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: monica pahulu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:12:29 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

monica pahulu

This email was sent by monica pahulu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however monica provided an email address (taulama.monica@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to monica pahulu at taulama.monica@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Fanny Suarez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:31:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Fanny Suarez

This email was sent by Fanny Suarez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Fanny provided an email address (FANISUAREZ@HOTMAIL.COM) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Fanny Suarez at FANISUAREZ@HOTMAIL.COM.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mary Obico
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:48:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Obico

This email was sent by Mary Obico via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mary provided an email address (Obicomary@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mary Obico at Obicomary@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Heidi Kline
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:52:07 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Heidi Kline

This email was sent by Heidi Kline via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Heidi provided an email address (SCRUBJAY6@YAHOO.COM) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Heidi Kline at SCRUBJAY6@YAHOO.COM.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Evgenia Kushpil
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:55:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Evgenia Kushpil

This email was sent by Evgenia Kushpil via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Evgenia provided an email address (sheniakl@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Evgenia Kushpil at sheniakl@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Moyra Fernandez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:58:42 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Moyra Fernandez

This email was sent by Moyra Fernandez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Moyra provided an email address (mya256@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Moyra Fernandez at mya256@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Luis Miller
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:28:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Luis Miller

This email was sent by Luis Miller via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Luis provided an email address (luiswmiller+seiu@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Luis Miller at luiswmiller+seiu@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Majid Ayyoub
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:28:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Majid Ayyoub

This email was sent by Majid Ayyoub via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Majid provided an email address (majid.ayyoub@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Majid Ayyoub at majid.ayyoub@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Timothy Johnston
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:31:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Timothy Johnston

This email was sent by Timothy Johnston via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Timothy provided an email address (tjohnst@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Timothy Johnston at tjohnst@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yannet Interian
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:33:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yannet Interian

This email was sent by Yannet Interian via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yannet provided an email address (yannet@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yannet Interian at yannet@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gilmer Valdes
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:34:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gilmer Valdes

This email was sent by Gilmer Valdes via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gilmer provided an email address (gilmervaldes2002@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gilmer Valdes at gilmervaldes2002@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Isao Kaji
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:38:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Isao Kaji

This email was sent by Isao Kaji via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Isao provided an email address (Harrisonkaji@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Isao Kaji at Harrisonkaji@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Robin Hansen
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:40:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

In the last 4 years, my work load has tripled due to lack of CCSF hiring and it has become very stressful. I have worked above and beyond to keep up with the multiple design build construction projects. To add insult to injury, SFO has hired multitudes of outside contractors that lack a lot of airport specific knowledge. This is turning me into a trainer of outside consultants who are being paid by the city for knowledge they do not possess. This takes an enormous amount of time to get these people up to speed only to have them disappear when the project is over. Often they leave work incomplete or with flaws not readily apparent until they have taken their money and gone.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out. Especially at SFO!
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Robin Hansen

This email was sent by Robin Hansen via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Robin provided an email address (Robin.Hansen@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Robin Hansen at Robin.Hansen@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: gabriel.ortega
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:49:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

gabriel ortega

This email was sent by gabriel ortega via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however gabriel provided an email address (gardenaloha@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to gabriel ortega at gardenaloha@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Donna Alschuler
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 3:10:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I respectfully request that you vote no on the Mayor's proposal to waive City workers' wage increases for the next two years and to vote no on City worker lay-offs.

City workers are essential. Since the pandemic began, City workers have stepped up to continue to provide essential services out in the field to the citizens of San Francisco at great personal risk to their own lives and to those of their families and communities.

City workers are making sacrifices. Their July raises have already been postponed to December, 2020, thereby saving the City some $55 million.

If you waive raises, if you lay workers off, you will put the City's economy, the Bay Area's economy at additional peril. When people have less money, they spend less, so local businesses have even less revenue; they shut down and more unemployment results. Even pre-pandemic, City workers were struggling financially. Waiving raises for the next two years and/or laying workers off would only make things worse, putting City workers and their families at risk of becoming homeless and stifling the local economy even more.

There is a solution. Open the rainy day funds. During this perilous period, that is just what they are for.

Please acknowledge the worth of City workers. Please do not cut services to the citizens of San Francisco. Please vote no on waiving City worker raises. Please vote no on layoffs. Please open the rainy day funds for the good of San Francisco.

Thank you very much for your consideration.

Donna

This email was sent by Donna Alschuler via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Donna provided an email address (donna.alschuler@sfcityatty.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Donna Alschuler at donna.alschuler@sfcityatty.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: T. George Weeks
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 3:26:07 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

T. George Weeks

This email was sent by T. George Weeks via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however T. George provided an email address (theresaweeks@earthlink.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to T. George Weeks at theresaweeks@earthlink.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gerald Valdez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 3:39:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gerald Valdez

This email was sent by Gerald Valdez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gerald provided an email address (valdezgerald62@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gerald Valdez at valdezgerald62@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: christa Irwin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 3:56:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

christa Irwin

This email was sent by christa Irwin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however christa provided an email address (babyburrito@sonic.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to christa Irwin at babyburrito@sonic.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: joseph ameperosa
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 3:56:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

joseph ameperosa

This email was sent by joseph ameperosa via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however joseph provided an email address (microsensation@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to joseph ameperosa at microsensation@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Allen Mathis
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 4:18:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Allen Mathis

This email was sent by Allen Mathis via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Allen provided an email address (mathisallen@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Allen Mathis at mathisallen@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Roberto Lopez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 4:34:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Roberto Lopez

This email was sent by Roberto Lopez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Roberto provided an email address (rlpz64@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Roberto Lopez at rlpz64@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Crystal Figlietti
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 5:05:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Crystal Figlietti

This email was sent by Crystal Figlietti via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Crystal provided an email address (cfiglietti@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Crystal Figlietti at cfiglietti@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tamar Eggers
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 5:10:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline and essential workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. San Francisco/Bay Area is an economically challenging place to live even when we are not in a pandemic. The social inequity gap will continue to grow wider if this city does not work hard to make this a city where all can live here. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tamar Eggers

This email was sent by Tamar Eggers via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tamar provided an email address (tamar.eggers@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tamar Eggers at tamar.eggers@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Blair Callaway
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 5:12:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Blair Callaway

This email was sent by Blair Callaway via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Blair provided an email address (blair.callaway@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Blair Callaway at blair.callaway@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Fraser Murison Smith
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 5:21:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Fraser Murison Smith

This email was sent by Fraser Murison Smith via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Fraser provided an email address (kaifelice@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Fraser Murison Smith at kaifelice@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Khun Thi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 5:31:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Khun Thi

This email was sent by Khun Thi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Khun provided an email address (khunthi@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Khun Thi at khunthi@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Liz McCarthy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all.
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 5:51:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Liz McCarthy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Liz provided an email address (liz@mccarthyliz.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Liz McCarthy at liz@mccarthyliz.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lolita Moore-Churchill
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:11:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions. To propose cuts and layoffs is a slap in the face to those who keep the City running, especially as I am a frontline worker at SFGH working with COVID positive patients daily.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lolita Moore-Churchill

This email was sent by Lolita Moore-Churchill via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lolita provided an email address (l1olachurch@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lolita Moore-Churchill at l1olachurch@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Daniel Helminiak
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all We are keeping the city running g. Exposed daily to unmasked building occupants. We have worked the food pantries when there weren't enough volunteers. He Covid hotels.This budget is a slap in the face.
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:46:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Daniel Helminiak

This email was sent by Daniel Helminiak via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Daniel provided an email address (helminiakdan@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Daniel Helminiak at helminiakdan@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Chen
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:50:49 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Chen

This email was sent by Michael Chen via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (mchen28@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Chen at mchen28@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Natalia Gongora
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 7:26:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Natalia Gongora

This email was sent by Natalia Gongora via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Natalia provided an email address (nataliadlt82@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Natalia Gongora at nataliadlt82@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jill Nierman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:25:31 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jill Nierman

This email was sent by Jill Nierman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jill provided an email address (jillian@ix netcom.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jill Nierman at jillian@ix netcom.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Peskin, Aaron \(BOS\)
To: Matthew Greene; Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: Re: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:12:02 PM

Thank you Mr. Greene.
Aaron

From: Matthew Greene <campaigns@good.do>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:08:59 PM
To: Breed, Mayor London (MYR) <mayorlondonbreed@sfgov.org>; BOS-Supervisors <bos-supervisors@sfgov.org>
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Matthew Greene

This email was sent by Matthew Greene via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Matthew provided an email address (mattygreene@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Matthew Greene at mattygreene@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Reza Ebrahimi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:50:09 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Reza Ebrahimi

This email was sent by Reza Ebrahimi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Reza provided an email address (info@dirtyhertz.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Reza Ebrahimi at info@dirtyhertz.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tavana Faataui
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:13:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tavana Faataui

This email was sent by Tavana Faataui via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tavana provided an email address (faataui21@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tavana Faataui at faataui21@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yunuhen Bernavich
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:13:45 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yunuhen Bernavich

This email was sent by Yunuhen Bernavich via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yunuhen provided an email address (juniesuarez1@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yunuhen Bernavich at juniesuarez1@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bernadine Hill
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 3:23:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Bernadine Hill

This email was sent by Bernadine Hill via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bernadine provided an email address (Bernadine_Hill@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bernadine Hill at Bernadine_Hill@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Fara Richardson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 7:14:31 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Fara Richardson

This email was sent by Fara Richardson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Fara provided an email address (fararichardson@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Fara Richardson at fararichardson@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: jeffrey speirs
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 7:17:18 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

jeffrey speirs

This email was sent by jeffrey speirs via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however jeffrey provided an email address (jeffrey.speirs@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to jeffrey speirs at jeffrey.speirs@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lin Lu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 7:26:40 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Lin Lu

This email was sent by Lin Lu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lin provided an email address (sabrinalu@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lin Lu at sabrinalu@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Linda Ajello
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 8:10:26 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Linda Ajello

This email was sent by Linda Ajello via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Linda provided an email address (linda.ajello@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Linda Ajello at linda.ajello@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: MarQuis Reid
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 9:24:50 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions. Everyday I come to work scared yet knowing that what we're doing is essential to the health of the public. We're already sacrificing our lives, we only want equity.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

MarQ'uis Reid

This email was sent by MarQ'uis Reid via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however MarQ'uis provided an email address (marquisreid@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to MarQ'uis Reid at marquisreid@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: John D White
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 9:45:07 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

My wife is a longtime city employee as a physical therapist at Laguna Honda. San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

John White

This email was sent by John D White via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however John D provided an email address (jdwhiteedit@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to John D White at jdwhiteedit@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sharifa Rahman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 9:45:17 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sharifa Rahman

This email was sent by Sharifa Rahman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sharifa provided an email address (alima4260@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sharifa Rahman at alima4260@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Christena Jenkins
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 10:19:18 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Christena Jenkins

This email was sent by Christena Jenkins via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Christena provided an email address (christenaj2001@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Christena Jenkins at christenaj2001@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bibi Tucker
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 12:51:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Bibi Tucker

This email was sent by Bibi Tucker via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bibi provided an email address (bibs.tucker@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bibi Tucker at bibs.tucker@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Audrey Merlone
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 1:03:00 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Audrey Merlone

This email was sent by Audrey Merlone via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Audrey provided an email address (abutkus2@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Audrey Merlone at abutkus2@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: CHRIS BANKS
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 1:42:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

CHRIS BANKS

This email was sent by CHRIS BANKS via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however CHRIS provided an email address (Chris.Banks@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to CHRIS BANKS at Chris.Banks@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: rose auguste
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 2:12:10 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

rose auguste

This email was sent by rose auguste via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however rose provided an email address (rose.auguste@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to rose auguste at rose.auguste@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ian Hespelt
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: Respect the Contract
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 3:46:00 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ian Hespelt

This email was sent by Ian Hespelt via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ian provided an email address (ithespelt@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ian Hespelt at ithespelt@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jerry Gabriel Rendón
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 4:27:36 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Jerry Gabriel Rendón

This email was sent by Jerry Gabriel Rendón via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jerry Gabriel provided an email address (jgabrielrendon@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jerry Gabriel Rendón at jgabrielrendon@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rosahlie Borgonia
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 4:29:03 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Rosahlie Borgonia

This email was sent by Rosahlie Borgonia via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rosahlie provided an email address (borg_sahlie@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rosahlie Borgonia at borg_sahlie@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: KIM LIT
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 5:32:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

KIM LIT

This email was sent by KIM LIT via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however KIM provided an email address (kimlit@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to KIM LIT at kimlit@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jenesh Dobie
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 6:36:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jenesh Dobie

This email was sent by Jenesh Dobie via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jenesh provided an email address (dobiejenes@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jenesh Dobie at dobiejenes@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maurice Colvin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 7:51:19 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

And we need affordable housing!!!

Yours sincerely,

Maurice Colvin

This email was sent by Maurice Colvin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maurice provided an email address (maurice.colvin@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maurice Colvin at maurice.colvin@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: michael wiles
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 10:38:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
michael wiles

This email was sent by michael wiles via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however michael provided an email address (michael_wiles2000@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to michael wiles at michael_wiles2000@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lander Cai
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 11:50:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lander Cai

This email was sent by Lander Cai via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lander provided an email address (landercai@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lander Cai at landercai@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tak Hou Fong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 5:43:08 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Tak Hou Fong

This email was sent by Tak Hou Fong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tak Hou provided an email address (takhou.fong@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tak Hou Fong at takhou.fong@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alexandra Weaver
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 6:50:01 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Alexandra Weaver

This email was sent by Alexandra Weaver via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alexandra provided an email address (alexandra.h.weaver@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alexandra Weaver at alexandra.h.weaver@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Means
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 8:49:17 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Means

This email was sent by Michael Means via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (wfpacks@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Means at wfpacks@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Thanh Nguyen
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 10:30:41 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Thanh Nguyen

This email was sent by Thanh Nguyen via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Thanh provided an email address (bft72@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Thanh Nguyen at bft72@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Annie Tang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 10:49:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Annie Tang

This email was sent by Annie Tang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Annie provided an email address (annie.tang@sfpl.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Annie Tang at annie.tang@sfpl.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Liza Ly
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 10:51:12 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Liza Ly

This email was sent by Liza Ly via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Liza provided an email address (yuet.ly@sfpl.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Liza Ly at yuet.ly@sfpl.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gregory Hom
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 10:53:15 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear SF Board of Supes:

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us as expendable in the next. The idea of the City putting off raises for lengthy periods, when we did our part to voluntarily put them off, is downright disrespectful. We have rent to pay, we have bills, we have families to support.

The Mayor's budget attempts to balance the budget on the backs of public employees, many of us people of color, many of us risking our lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services!

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gregory Hom, Librarian and deployed DSW worker

This email was sent by Gregory Hom via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gregory provided an email address (greg.hom@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gregory Hom at greg.hom@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sharon Chen
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 10:53:39 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Sharon Chen

This email was sent by Sharon Chen via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sharon provided an email address (sharonchen8845@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sharon Chen at sharonchen8845@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Andrea Lei
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 11:08:37 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Andrea Lei

This email was sent by Andrea Lei via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Andrea provided an email address (andrealei1020@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Andrea Lei at andrealei1020@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Katrina Sadler
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 11:11:45 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Katrina Sadler

This email was sent by Katrina Sadler via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Katrina provided an email address (katrina.sadler@sfpl.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Katrina Sadler at katrina.sadler@sfpl.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Miguel Molina
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 11:13:22 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Miguel Molina

This email was sent by Miguel Molina via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Miguel provided an email address (mgl.molina@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Miguel Molina at mgl.molina@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lillian Lum
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 11:16:50 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lillian Lum

This email was sent by Lillian Lum via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lillian provided an email address (lillian.lum.kaku@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lillian Lum at lillian.lum.kaku@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ann Dunn
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 11:25:15 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Ann Dunn

This email was sent by Ann Dunn via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ann provided an email address (ann.dunn@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ann Dunn at ann.dunn@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yael Schwartz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 11:43:09 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

I have responded in good faith with CCSF as I have been deployed to 3 DSW assignments so far: Food Bank worker, Site Monitor at emergency housing, and currently, Contact Tracer with DPH. San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Yael Schwartz

This email was sent by Yael Schwartz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yael provided an email address (yael1206@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yael Schwartz at yael1206@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Janel Holland
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 1:00:40 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Janel Holland

This email was sent by Janel Holland via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Janel provided an email address (janelhol@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Janel Holland at janelhol@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anthony Travis
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 4:52:19 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Anthony Travis

This email was sent by Anthony Travis via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anthony provided an email address (tonytravjr@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anthony Travis at tonytravjr@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Randy Mcdowell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 5:01:01 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Randy Mcdowell

This email was sent by Randy Mcdowell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Randy provided an email address (mcdowellrandy554@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Randy Mcdowell at mcdowellrandy554@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sophia Miller
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 7:04:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sophia Miller

This email was sent by Sophia Miller via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sophia provided an email address (sophialegría@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sophia Miller at sophialegría@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Donna Castelli
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 9:21:00 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Donna Castelli

This email was sent by Donna Castelli via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Donna provided an email address (donnaglorysunset@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Donna Castelli at donnaglorysunset@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carlos Navarro
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 9:41:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

As a library worker who has helped our community as a hotel monitor at Q&I sites, provided food for the needy at the food bank and most recently performs contact tracing work during this pandemic for the City of San Francisco cannot feel more insulted by the proposed budget.

The budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Carlos Navarro

This email was sent by Carlos Navarro via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carlos provided an email address (Carlos_Navarro_00@Yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carlos Navarro at Carlos_Navarro_00@Yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Pearline Hawkins-Williams
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 6:19:19 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Pearline Hawkins-Williams

This email was sent by Pearline Hawkins-Williams via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Pearline provided an email address (blackpyrl33@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Pearline Hawkins-Williams at blackpyrl33@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ronald Sanders
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 7:56:06 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ronald Sanders

This email was sent by Ronald Sanders via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ronald provided an email address (Ronaldsands1963@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ronald Sanders at Ronaldsands1963@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jessica O'Rourke
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 8:44:08 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jessica O'Rourke

This email was sent by Jessica O'Rourke via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jessica provided an email address (jessicaorourke@Yahoo.comm) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jessica O'Rourke at jessicaorourke@Yahoo.comm.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Board of Supervisors, (BOS)
To: BOS-Supervisors
Subject: FW: Budget hearing Aug 14th
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 8:45:00 AM

-----Original Message-----

From: Magick Altman <magicktarot11@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:33 PM
To: Board of Supervisors, (BOS) <board.of.supervisors@sfgov.org>
Subject: Budget hearing Aug 14th

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Clerk, SEND TO SUPERVISORS Fewer, Ronen, Yee, Mandelman, and Walton.

It is beyond obvious that after the public waited 10 hours to speak, and have our time reduced to 1 minute, we look at our so-called representatives reading, eating and obviously not listening.

Don't you know you paid to at least act like you care?

In truth, Magick

From: Melissa Keesor
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 9:35:20 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Melissa Keesor

This email was sent by Melissa Keesor via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Melissa provided an email address (melissakeesor@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Melissa Keesor at melissakeesor@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Neville Langit
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 9:37:53 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Neville Langit

This email was sent by Neville Langit via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Neville provided an email address (nlangit@sflower.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Neville Langit at nlangit@sflower.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Salina Sabalvaro
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 9:41:08 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Salina Sabalvaro via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues

they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Salina provided an email address (salina.sabalvaro@sfport.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Salina Sabalvaro at salina.sabalvaro@sfport.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dr. David Pursell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 9:49:02 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

During the COVID-19 shelter-in-place, I was deployed as a Disaster Service Worker, where I interacted directly with SF residents who were quarantined because they had been infected. When I came home every night, I worried that I might transmit the disease to my family.

San Francisco government cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next. Yet the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 does not ensure that we will be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. David Pursell

This email was sent by Dr. David Pursell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dr. David provided an email address (david.s.pursell@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dr. David Pursell at david.s.pursell@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Luis Moreno
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 9:52:51 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Luis Moreno

This email was sent by Luis Moreno via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Luis provided an email address (luis.moreno@flsfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Luis Moreno at luis.moreno@flsfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Derek Adams
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 9:55:23 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Derek Adams

This email was sent by Derek Adams via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Derek provided an email address (Derek.Adams@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Derek Adams at Derek.Adams@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Diane Huang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:06:02 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

I have been working as a DSW since this April doing community outreach and education.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. After the new fiscal year (July 6th, 2020), my (and other colleagues') working hours are cut off from 40 hours to 20 hours, cause I am a part-time employee of the city. It is also frozen our wages raise. This kind of cutting is not only unsecure my family, also make the DSW assignment harder to catching up the situation changing in this COVID-19 pandemic. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves which originally designed for using in situations like this COVID-19 pandemic, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Diane Huang

This email was sent by Diane Huang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Diane provided an email address (diane1998@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Diane Huang at diane1998@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Erin McAuliff
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:06:27 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Erin McAuliff

This email was sent by Erin McAuliff via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Erin provided an email address (erin.mcauliff@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Erin McAuliff at erin mcauliff@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ben Richey
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: Don't balance San Francisco's budget by cutting Essential worker pay
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:08:01 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

The budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ben Richey

This email was sent by Ben Richey via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ben provided an email address (richey.ben@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ben Richey at richey.ben@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Miguel Guzman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:14:51 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Miguel Guzman

This email was sent by Miguel Guzman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Miguel provided an email address (mg3000j@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Miguel Guzman at mg3000j@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Caitlin Vejby
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:15:35 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Caitlin Vejby via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues

they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Caitlin provided an email address (cait.vejby@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Caitlin Vejby at cait.vejby@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Esther Lane
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:16:19 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Esther Lane

This email was sent by Esther Lane via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Esther provided an email address (esther.lane@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Esther Lane at esther.lane@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Seth Pardo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:18:13 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This is not a time for politics. It is a time for community to stand together for the PEOPLE who serve each other every day. Please do the right thing. Protect us and our hard work. Thank you.

Yours sincerely,

Seth Pardo

This email was sent by Seth Pardo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Seth provided an email address (seth.pardo@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Seth Pardo at seth.pardo@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anastastia Disi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:19:07 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Anastastia Disi

This email was sent by Anastastia Disi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anastastia provided an email address (anyadisbrow@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anastastia Disi at anyadisbrow@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kevin MacMillan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:20:45 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin MacMillan

This email was sent by Kevin MacMillan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kevin provided an email address (kevinjmacmillan@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kevin MacMillan at kevinjmacmillan@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Melissa Jeong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:20:48 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Melissa Jeong

This email was sent by Melissa Jeong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Melissa provided an email address (mejeong@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Melissa Jeong at mejeong@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jude Diebold
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:23:31 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Jude Diebold

This email was sent by Jude Diebold via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jude provided an email address (Diebold210@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jude Diebold at Diebold210@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Cedric Concon
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:24:23 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Cedric Concon

This email was sent by Cedric Concon via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Cedric provided an email address (cconcon2@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Cedric Concon at cconcon2@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Melanie Kushnir
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:24:30 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Melanie Kushnir

This email was sent by Melanie Kushnir via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Melanie provided an email address (melaniekushnir@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Melanie Kushnir at melaniekushnir@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kim Westrick
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:24:40 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kim Westrick

This email was sent by Kim Westrick via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kim provided an email address (kpwestri@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kim Westrick at kpwestri@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carina Gomez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:26:59 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Carina Gomez

This email was sent by Carina Gomez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carina provided an email address (carinagomez95@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carina Gomez at carinagomez95@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Erin Bachus
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:26:59 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Erin Bachus

This email was sent by Erin Bachus via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Erin provided an email address (erin.bachus@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Erin Bachus at erin.bachus@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alana Toliver
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:27:36 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alana Toliver

This email was sent by Alana Toliver via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alana provided an email address (atoli24@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alana Toliver at atoli24@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Hong Hunt
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:29:55 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Hong Hunt

This email was sent by Hong Hunt via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Hong provided an email address (honghunt@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Hong Hunt at honghunt@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jeff Lai
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:30:07 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jeff Lai

This email was sent by Jeff Lai via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jeff provided an email address (jeff.lai@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jeff Lai at jeff.lai@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: MICHELLE KIRIAN
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:35:45 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

MICHELLE KIRIAN

This email was sent by MICHELLE KIRIAN via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however MICHELLE provided an email address (michellekirian@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to MICHELLE KIRIAN at michellekirian@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sophia Scherr
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:35:56 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Sophia Schett

This email was sent by Sophia Scherr via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sophia provided an email address (sophiascherr@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sophia Scherr at sophiascherr@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ron Sheredy
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:39:28 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make ensure that wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, resultant global recession and systemic racism. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ron Sheredy

This email was sent by Ron Sheredy via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ron provided an email address (ronald.sheredy@SFDPH.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ron Sheredy at ronald.sheredy@SFDPH.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Darrell Durst
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:39:40 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Darrell Durst

This email was sent by Darrell Durst via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Darrell provided an email address (dldurst09@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Darrell Durst at dldurst09@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Peter Moore
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:43:34 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Peter Moore

This email was sent by Peter Moore via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Peter provided an email address (nomountain@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Peter Moore at nomountain@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Cathy Ko
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:44:43 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Cathy Ko

This email was sent by Cathy Ko via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Cathy provided an email address (cathy ko@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Cathy Ko at cathy ko@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Minzhi He
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:46:11 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Minzhi He

This email was sent by Minzhi He via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Minzhi provided an email address (minzhi.he@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Minzhi He at minzhi he@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: ERIKA MARTIN
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:47:22 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

ERIKA MARTIN

This email was sent by ERIKA MARTIN via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however ERIKA provided an email address (emartin_arc@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to ERIKA MARTIN at emartin_arc@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Erica Major
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:48:36 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Erica Major

This email was sent by Erica Major via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Erica provided an email address (enksonline@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Erica Major at enksonline@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Khun Thi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:51:40 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Khun Thi

This email was sent by Khun Thi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Khun provided an email address (Khun.Thi@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Khun Thi at Khun.Thi@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jesse Rosemoore
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:54:17 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jesse Rosemoore

This email was sent by Jesse Rosemoore via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jesse provided an email address (jesse.rosemoore@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jesse Rosemoore at jesse.rosemoore@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Christina Leal
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:54:23 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Christina Leal

This email was sent by Christina Leal via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Christina provided an email address (cleal@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Christina Leal at cleal@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Janet Ng
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:57:54 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Janet Ng

This email was sent by Janet Ng via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Janet provided an email address (janetc5@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Janet Ng at janetc5@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Steve Mungovan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:00:14 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Steve Mungovan

This email was sent by Steve Mungovan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Steve provided an email address (smungovan@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Steve Mungovan at smungovan@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shahram Sabaghpour
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:01:01 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shahram Sabaghpour

This email was sent by Shahram Sabaghpour via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shahram provided an email address (shahram1347@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shahram Sabaghpour at shahram1347@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gary Gee
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:03:08 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gary Gee

This email was sent by Gary Gee via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gary provided an email address (rangreg@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gary Gee at rangreg@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: John Francis
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:03:51 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

As a city employee working every day to help move forward the City's affordable housing priorities, I believe it is critically important to remain invested in the the City's talented And hard-working staff.

Yours sincerely,

John Francis

This email was sent by John Francis via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however John provided an email address (jmfrancis81@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to John Francis at jmfrancis81@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Jacobson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:06:08 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Jacobson

This email was sent by Michael Jacobson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (michael.jacobson@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Jacobson at michael.jacobson@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Teri Dowling
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:06:09 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Teri Dowling

This email was sent by Teri Dowling via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Teri provided an email address (teri.dowling@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Teri Dowling at teri.dowling@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Andrea Alfonso
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:07:26 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Andrea Alfonso

This email was sent by Andrea Alfonso via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Andrea provided an email address (andrea.alfonso@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Andrea Alfonso at andrea.alfonso@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Amabel Chow
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:07:39 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Amabel Chow

This email was sent by Amabel Chow via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Amabel provided an email address (amabel.chow@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Amabel Chow at amabel.chow@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Richard Finn
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:09:16 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Finn

This email was sent by Richard Finn via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Richard provided an email address (re_finn@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Richard Finn at re_finn@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Saidah Shabazz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:09:45 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

I work in one of the Community Health Clinics and come into work from the East Bay Monday-Friday to be supportive of not only my staff/co-workers but for our patients as well.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Saidah Shabazz

This email was sent by Saidah Shabazz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Saidah provided an email address (saidah.shabazz@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Saidah Shabazz at saidah.shabazz@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Georgina Shore
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:10:30 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Georgina Shore

This email was sent by Georgina Shore via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Georgina provided an email address (emilyshore@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Georgina Shore at emilyshore@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Brian James
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:11:38 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Brian James

This email was sent by Brian James via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Brian provided an email address (brian.r.james@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Brian James at brian r.james@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jessica Look
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:14:15 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jessica

This email was sent by Jessica Look via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jessica provided an email address (jessicamlook@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jessica Look at jessicamlook@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jane Wan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:15:06 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Jane Wan

This email was sent by Jane Wan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jane provided an email address (jane.wan@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jane Wan at jane.wan@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ranferi Cruz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:16:32 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ranferi Cruz

This email was sent by Ranferi Cruz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ranferi provided an email address (ranferi.cruz@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ranferi Cruz at ranferi.cruz@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lorrie Tanioka
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:20:27 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lorrie Tanioka

This email was sent by Lorrie Tanioka via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lorrie provided an email address (ltanioka@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lorrie Tanioka at ltanioka@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tommy Chow
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:21:09 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Tommy Chow

This email was sent by Tommy Chow via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tommy provided an email address (supra33202@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tommy Chow at supra33202@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kester Koh
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:21:13 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kester Koh

This email was sent by Kester Koh via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kester provided an email address (krskoh@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kester Koh at krskoh@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maria Soledad
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:21:50 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Please provide an early retirement option like the 3+3 passed in FY 2008. This option will provide a different narrative than lay-offs and will protect the vulnerable citizen of San Francisco.

Yours sincerely,

Maria Soledad

This email was sent by Maria Soledad via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maria provided an email address (macorazon4@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maria Soledad at macorazon4@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: John Torell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:23:25 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

John Torell

This email was sent by John Torell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however John provided an email address (jtorell@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to John Torell at jtorell@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: John Galloway
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:24:03 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

John Galloway

This email was sent by John Galloway via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however John provided an email address (john@JohnGalloway.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to John Galloway at john@JohnGalloway.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bernice Casey
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:34:32 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Bernice Casey

This email was sent by Bernice Casey via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bernice provided an email address (bernicemcasey@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bernice Casey at bernicemcasey@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Wendy Lu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:34:41 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Wendy Li

This email was sent by Wendy Lu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Wendy provided an email address (wendy.lu@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Wendy Lu at wendy.lu@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Maura Prendiville
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:36:23 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Maura Prendiville

This email was sent by Maura Prendiville via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Maura provided an email address (maura.prendiville@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Maura Prendiville at maura.prendiville@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Linda Ray
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:37:27 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services. I am a retired Public Health Nurse and did some disaster service work following the 1989 earthquake and some bad weather mobilizations at shelters but it was not as long standing as the current COVID-19 pandemic. I did learn that it is important to listen to those on the front lines since they often know first hand what the issues are and I have seen cutbacks over the years while the super rich and corporations were given tax breaks. We need to correct that trend and support those doing the essential work and we citizens who depend on that work.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Linda Ray

This email was sent by Linda Ray via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Linda provided an email address (dadaray2002@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Linda Ray at dadaray2002@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Hannah Brosnan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:37:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Hannah Brosnan

This email was sent by Hannah Brosnan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Hannah provided an email address (hannah.brosnan@sfsph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Hannah Brosnan at hannah.brosnan@sfsph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Winy Saputra
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:39:51 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Winy Saputra

This email was sent by Winny Saputra via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Winny provided an email address (wjtanojo@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Winny Saputra at wjtanojo@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mario Hernandez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:40:50 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mario Hernandez

This email was sent by Mario Hernandez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mario provided an email address (mr.maha@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mario Hernandez at mr.maha@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rey Bernardo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:42:36 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rey Bernardo

This email was sent by Rey Bernardo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rey provided an email address (danpaff@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rey Bernardo at danpaff@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Leung Chan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:43:08 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Leung Chan

This email was sent by Leung Chan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Leung provided an email address (chanbru@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Leung Chan at chanbru@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ben Volberding
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:44:04 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ben Volberding

This email was sent by Ben Volberding via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ben provided an email address (bvolberding@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ben Volberding at bvolberding@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Xiaowen Zhao
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:48:05 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Xiaowen Zhao

This email was sent by Xiaowen Zhao via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Xiaowen provided an email address (vivian.zhao@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Xiaowen Zhao at vivian.zhao@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jody Reichel
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:52:08 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jody Reichel

This email was sent by Jody Reichel via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jody provided an email address (sfojody@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jody Reichel at sfojody@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Valerie Wiggins
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 11:57:36 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Valerie Wiggins

This email was sent by Valerie Wiggins via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Valerie provided an email address (vwiggins4@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Valerie Wiggins at vwiggins4@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Cary Dare
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:00:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next. I am currently working at Moscone in addition to trying to ensure my permanent position of duties

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Cary Dare

This email was sent by Cary Dare via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Cary provided an email address (carykdare@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Cary Dare at carykdare@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Huy Dao
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:03:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Huy Dao

This email was sent by Huy Dao via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Huy provided an email address (hdao@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Huy Dao at hdao@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Silvia Pac Yurrita
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:04:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Silvia Pac Yurrita

This email was sent by Silvia Pac Yurrita via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Silvia provided an email address (pac.silvia@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Silvia Pac Yurrita at pac.silvia@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: JULIETA KUSNIR
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:04:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

JULIETA KUSNIR

This email was sent by JULIETA KUSNIR via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however JULIETA provided an email address (julieta kusnir@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to JULIETA KUSNIR at julieta kusnir@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dorys Lorio
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:05:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dorys Lorio

This email was sent by Dorys Lorio via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dorys provided an email address (dorys.lorio@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dorys Lorio at dorys.lorio@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: My Dang
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:06:00 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

My Dang

This email was sent by My Dang via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however My provided an email address (my.dang@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to My Dang at my.dang@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rafael Alcaraz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:11:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rafael Alcaraz

This email was sent by Rafael Alcaraz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rafael provided an email address (raalcara@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rafael Alcaraz at raalcara@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joel Del Rosario
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:19:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joel Del Rosario

This email was sent by Joel Del Rosario via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joel provided an email address (jdr_guitar@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joel Del Rosario at jdr_guitar@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Napone Phommachakr
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:20:49 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Napone Phommachakr

This email was sent by Napone Phommachakr via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Napone provided an email address (napone@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Napone Phommachakr at napone@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Stephanie Francisco
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:21:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Stephanie Francisco

This email was sent by Stephanie Francisco via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Stephanie provided an email address (sam097@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Stephanie Francisco at sam097@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sarah Li
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:21:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Boying Li

This email was sent by Sarah Li via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sarah provided an email address (sarah.li@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sarah Li at sarah.li@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Eric Boatwright
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:22:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Eric Boatwright

This email was sent by Eric Boatwright via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Eric provided an email address (morpheus mind@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Eric Boatwright at morpheus mind@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Balaji Guda
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:26:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Balaji Guda

This email was sent by Balaji Guda via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Balaji provided an email address (balaji.guda@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Balaji Guda at balaji.guda@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jocelyn Pou Rivera
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:40:23 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jocelyn Pou

This email was sent by Jocelyn Pou Rivera via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jocelyn provided an email address (jeprivera@bankovitch.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jocelyn Pou Rivera at jeprivera@bankovitch.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: April Monegas
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 12:54:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

April Monegas

This email was sent by April Monegas via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however April provided an email address (amonegas@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to April Monegas at amonegas@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dean Goodwin
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:00:44 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dean Goodwin

This email was sent by Dean Goodwin via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dean provided an email address (dean94114@gamil.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dean Goodwin at dean94114@gamil.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shayda Haghgoo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:06:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shayda Haghgoo

This email was sent by Shayda Haghgoo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shayda provided an email address (shayda.haghgoo@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shayda Haghgoo at shayda.haghgoo@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karl Johnson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:06:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Karl Johnson

This email was sent by Karl Johnson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karl provided an email address (karl.johnson@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karl Johnson at karl.johnson@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Brian Quinn
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:07:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

I've recently moved from District 6. I'm a worker behind the scenes on mapping server infrastructure in the Department of Technology.

The budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers. This is not OK as we work to ensure continuity of City services.

There is another path forward. The City has reserves, thousands of vacancies not yet frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, I urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Quinn

This email was sent by Brian Quinn via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Brian provided an email address (nuke@bq.bz) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Brian Quinn at nuke@bq.bz.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jess C.
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:09:00 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jess C.

This email was sent by Jess C. via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jess provided an email address (exetera_etc@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jess C. at exetera_etc@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Voltaire Almendrala
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:09:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors & City Leaders,

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

I work in the San Francisco Police Department Technology Division. Our team is already understaffed in supporting both sworn & civilian staff during this extraordinary crisis. Any budget cuts would have a lasting & devastating impact to our ability to provide our officers & staff with the technology platforms they need to do their jobs.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Voltaire Almendrala

This email was sent by Voltaire Almendrala via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Voltaire provided an email address (voltaire.almendrala@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Voltaire Almendrala at voltaire.almendrala@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: JP Torres
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:15:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

JP Torres

This email was sent by JP Torres via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however JP provided an email address (jptorres@sflower.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to JP Torres at jptorres@sflower.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lily Tan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:24:00 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

We do not want postpone our raise again due to the rise of living costs in San Francisco. We had postpone our raise in July 2020 to end of this year. Postponing another raise would be devastating to our members. Some of member's family members has lost job or cut hours. Their income is important to their household. My income is important to me to support my parents who lost their job at a restaurant due to covid 19. Also my work department have a budget cut and freeze job hires. I do appreciate having a job and having a great union to stand with their members and support members through this difficult time. Please reconsider not postponing our raise.

This email was sent by Lily Tan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lily provided an email address (Lily324tan@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lily Tan at Lily324tan@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kiely Hosmon
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:31:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Kiely Hosmon

This email was sent by Kiely Hosmon via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kiely provided an email address (khosmon@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kiely Hosmon at khosmon@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jason Merman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:34:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jason Merman

This email was sent by Jason Merman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jason provided an email address (jason.merman@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jason Merman at jason.merman@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Charles Breaux
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:40:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Charles Breaux

This email was sent by Charles Breaux via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Charles provided an email address (charles.breaux@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Charles Breaux at charles.breaux@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Brendan Loftus
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:43:36 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Brendan Loftus

This email was sent by Brendan Loftus via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Brendan provided an email address (bloftus@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Brendan Loftus at bloftus@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Andrew Perry
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 1:52:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Perry

This email was sent by Andrew Perry via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Andrew provided an email address (andrew.perry@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Andrew Perry at andrew.perry@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yan Okupnik
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 2:01:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yan Okupnik

This email was sent by Yan Okupnik via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yan provided an email address (yakov.okupnik@sfport.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yan Okupnik at yakov.okupnik@sfport.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: JESSICA BOWKER
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 2:05:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

JESSICA BOWKER

This email was sent by JESSICA BOWKER via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however JESSICA provided an email address (jlbowker@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to JESSICA BOWKER at jlbowker@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Elizabeth Nakagoshi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 2:19:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Elizabeth Nakagoshi

This email was sent by Elizabeth Nakagoshi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Elizabeth provided an email address (elizabethnakagoshi@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Elizabeth Nakagoshi at elizabethnakagoshi@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jeanette Good
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 2:30:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jeanette Good

This email was sent by Jeanette Good via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jeanette provided an email address (subtonda@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jeanette Good at subtonda@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sandra Valmana
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 2:36:53 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Sandra Valmana

This email was sent by Sandra Valmana via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sandra provided an email address (lafirulinasf@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sandra Valmana at lafirulinasf@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Heather Rudolph
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 3:24:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Heather Rudolph

This email was sent by Heather Rudolph via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Heather provided an email address (chippednailsinsf@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Heather Rudolph at chippednailsinsf@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nikkie Ho
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 3:39:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nikkie Ho

This email was sent by Nikkie Ho via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nikkie provided an email address (nikke.ho@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nikkie Ho at nikke.ho@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rena Faagau
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 3:46:39 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Rena Faagau

This email was sent by Rena Faagau via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rena provided an email address (tala5ah@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rena Faagau at tala5ah@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jennifer Li
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 4:13:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jennifer Li

This email was sent by Jennifer Li via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jennifer provided an email address (jenniferli.d9@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jennifer Li at jenniferli.d9@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Pano Ray
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 5:40:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Pano Ray

This email was sent by Pano Ray via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Pano provided an email address (pano.f.ray@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Pano Ray at pano.f.ray@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Robert Wong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 5:53:59 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Robert Wong

This email was sent by Robert Wong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Robert provided an email address (wongrob2@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Robert Wong at wongrob2@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Steven lee
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 6:14:09 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Steven lee

This email was sent by Steven lee via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Steven provided an email address (tecklee@rocketmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Steven lee at tecklee@rocketmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Arvel Hernandez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); Fewer, Sandra \(BOS\); Stefani, Catherine \(BOS\); Peskin, Aaron \(BOS\); Mar, Gordon \(BOS\); Preston, Dean \(BOS\); Yee, Norman \(BOS\); Mandelman, Rafael \(BOS\); Ronen, Hillary; Walton, Shamann \(BOS\); Safai, Ahsha \(BOS\); Haney, Matt \(BOS\); BOS-Supervisors; BOS-Legislative Aides
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 6:27:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hi my name is Arvel Hernandez and I have lived in San Francisco for 15 years and worked in San Francisco for 13 years.

I am writing to demand public safety for all.

We must defund SFPD in this year's budget cycle and redirect those funds to investments which make us ALL safe, including public health, housing, reparations for communities most targeted by policing and imprisonment such as Black, Indigenous, and People of Color, trans communities, and our unhoused neighbors.

Let me reiterate -- we demand that SFPD be defunded THIS BUDGET CYCLE. Those who tell us to wait are telling our most marginalized communities that their lives do not matter. That brutalization, suffering, and oppression does not deserve an urgent response. That equity and justice is not a right, but a privilege.

Police don't keep us safe.

American policing began with slave patrols. Modern day policing was a response to the rise of labor unions. Today, approximately 99% of SFPD calls for service are in response to non-violent issues. Most calls are related to public health, unhoused people, traffic/parking, and noise complaints.

Worse than that, police harm our communities.

When the police talk about "public safety", they're speaking in code. The word "public" is not referring to marginalized communities. It's not referring to Alex Nieto, Mario Woods, Jessica Williams, or Luis Góngora Pat. It's referring to the people the system of policing was designed for. The slave owner. The union buster. The wealthy homeowner.

This is reflected not just in the lived experiences of BIPOC, trans people, and unhoused people. It's also reflected in the numbers.

- Black San Franciscans make up only 5% of the city's population, but account for 40% of police searches, 54% of our jail population, and 40% of people killed by police.
- In the fourth quarter of 2019, 76% of all uses of force by SFPD were against people of color.
- In 2019, SFPD officers pointed a gun at San Franciscans an average of 2.4 times PER DAY.

Only 14 of the 868 incidents were in defense of self or others.

- After 4 years of DOJ mandated reforms, non-gun related SFPD uses of force have only decreased from 1,142 to 1,110.

Policing can't be reformed because it's working as intended.

SFPD is a violent, racist, and explicitly anti-Black institution. Cal DOJ and the SFPD's implicit bias trainer recently described the level of anti-Black bias in SFPD as "extreme." This presents a clear and imminent danger to our most marginalized communities. The first step towards public safety for all is disbanding SFPD and eliminating that danger.

Disbanding SFPD is an act of harm reduction. It is just one step on the way towards achieving public safety for all. We can't be safe until EVERYONE has access to fundamental human rights -- housing, food, education, healthcare, opportunity.

DefundSFPDNow, a Black-led campaign in San Francisco, has identified at least $295 million in SFPD line item budget cuts as a step towards reducing the threat to public safety and reinvesting in solutions that begin building public safety.

What can you do as my elected official? Defund SFPD, reinvest in our communities, and reimagine the path to public safety that uplifts ALL San Franciscans.

We are not asking for chaos.

Chaos is responding to someone experiencing a mental health crisis with a gun and combat training instead of care and services.

Chaos is stopping a Black driver for a broken tail light to threaten and harass them instead of offering to replace the light.

Chaos is spending $23 million a year on police units that criminalize poverty instead of providing housing and opportunity.

We are not asking for chaos. We are asking that you be reasonable.

Defund SFPD, Defund Sheriffs, refund our communities, and reimagine the path to public safety.

Thank you for your time,

Arvel Hernandez
703 Haight St.
San Francisco, CA
94117

(562) 230-9906

From: Edward Ho
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 7:07:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Edward Ho

This email was sent by Edward Ho via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Edward provided an email address (edho99@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Edward Ho at edho99@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lia Kantor
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 7:41:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lia Kantor

This email was sent by Lia Kantor via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lia provided an email address (lia.b.kantor@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lia Kantor at lia.b.kantor@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sarah Blain
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 8:13:58 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sarah Blain

This email was sent by Sarah Blain via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sarah provided an email address (sarahblain@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sarah Blain at sarahblain@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Tan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 8:45:12 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Tan

This email was sent by Michael Tan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (tan.michael21@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Tan at tan.michael21@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Winifredo Cristobal
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 9:24:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Winifredo Cristobal

This email was sent by Winifredo Cristobal via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Winifredo provided an email address (wristobal17@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Winifredo Cristobal at wristobal17@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joan Kruckewitt
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 9:27:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joan Kruckewitt

This email was sent by Joan Kruckewitt via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joan provided an email address (joan@kruckewitt.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joan Kruckewitt at joan@kruckewitt.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rinaldi Wibowo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:39:01 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rinaldi Wibowo

This email was sent by Rinaldi Wibowo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rinaldi provided an email address (rinaldiwibowo@ifpte21.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rinaldi Wibowo at rinaldiwibowo@ifpte21.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bradley Dunn
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:45:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Bradley Dunn

This email was sent by Bradley Dunn via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bradley provided an email address (bradleyjdunn@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bradley Dunn at bradleyjdunn@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jason Crawford
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 7:05:11 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jason Crawford

This email was sent by Jason Crawford via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jason provided an email address (crawford074@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jason Crawford at crawford074@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Gloria Roman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 8:12:08 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Gloria Roman

This email was sent by Gloria Roman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Gloria provided an email address (groman25@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Gloria Roman at groman25@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shannon Rivers
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 9:02:05 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shannon Rivers

This email was sent by Shannon Rivers via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shannon provided an email address (srovers317@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shannon Rivers at srovers317@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Wilson Castro
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 9:43:32 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Wilson Castro

This email was sent by Wilson Castro via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Wilson provided an email address (willyboi85@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Wilson Castro at willyboi85@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Andrew Tran
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 10:34:26 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Tran

This email was sent by Andrew Tran via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Andrew provided an email address (andrew.tran@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Andrew Tran at andrew.tran@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: David Chan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 10:36:26 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

David Chan

This email was sent by David Chan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however David provided an email address (david.chan@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to David Chan at david.chan@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Deanna Chan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:45:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Deanna Chan

This email was sent by Deanna Chan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Deanna provided an email address (deanna.w.chan@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Deanna Chan at deanna.w.chan@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: David Kim
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 1:17:18 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

David Kim

This email was sent by David Kim via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however David provided an email address (ilikepublictransit@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to David Kim at ilikepublictransit@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Teresa Yu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:06:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Teresa Yu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Teresa provided an email address (teresayu16@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Teresa Yu at teresayu16@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Qingwen Xi
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:29:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Qingwen Xi

This email was sent by Qingwen Xi via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Qingwen provided an email address (qingwen.xi@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Qingwen Xi at qingwen.xi@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Darcy Burkhalter
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:34:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Darcy Burkhalter

This email was sent by Darcy Burkhalter via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Darcy provided an email address (darcyburkhalter@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Darcy Burkhalter at darcyburkhalter@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Cynthia Cai
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:35:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Cynthia Cai

This email was sent by Cynthia Cai via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Cynthia provided an email address (cynthiacai009@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Cynthia Cai at cynthiacai009@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Linda Caravelli
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:37:20 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Linda Caravelli

This email was sent by Linda Caravelli via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Linda provided an email address (Linda.Caravelli@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Linda Caravelli at Linda.Caravelli@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Annette Dimperio
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:37:31 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Annette Dimperio

This email was sent by Annette Dimperio via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Annette provided an email address (annettedimperio@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Annette Dimperio at annettedimperio@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Karl Kramer
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:38:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Karl Kramer

This email was sent by Karl Kramer via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Karl provided an email address (sflivingwage@riseup.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Karl Kramer at sflivingwage@riseup.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Suzanne Wong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:39:49 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Suzanne Wong

This email was sent by Suzanne Wong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Suzanne provided an email address (suzanne.wong@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Suzanne Wong at suzanne.wong@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Teri Dowling
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:40:02 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Teri Dowling

This email was sent by Teri Dowling via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Teri provided an email address (mtdowling55@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Teri Dowling at mtdowling55@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dimitra Stathopoulos
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:40:11 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dimitra Stathopoulos

This email was sent by Dimitra Stathopoulos via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dimitra provided an email address (dnstathopoulos@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dimitra Stathopoulos at dnstathopoulos@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Daniel Lam
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:41:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Daniel Lam

This email was sent by Daniel Lam via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Daniel provided an email address (daniel.lam@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Daniel Lam at daniel.lam@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: George Cuza
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:41:50 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

George Cuza

This email was sent by George Cuza via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however George provided an email address (cuza@att net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to George Cuza at cuza@att net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kirtlye Wheeler
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:41:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kirtlye Wheeler

This email was sent by Kirtlye Wheeler via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kirtlye provided an email address (kirtlyew@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kirtlye Wheeler at kirtlyew@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Edward Clark
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:55:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Edward Clark

This email was sent by Edward Clark via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Edward provided an email address (edward.clark2@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Edward Clark at edward.clark2@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Drew Yurkov
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:57:11 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Drew Yurkov, MSW

This email was sent by Drew Yurkov via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Drew provided an email address (drewyurkov@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Drew Yurkov at drewyurkov@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lamar Seymore
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:03:08 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Lamar Seymore via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lamar provided an email address (llamarseymore@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lamar Seymore at llamarseymore@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Meung Saelaw
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:03:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Meung Saelaw

This email was sent by Meung Saelaw via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Meung provided an email address (meung.saelaw@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Meung Saelaw at meung.saelaw@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Linda Ma
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:03:45 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Linda Ma

This email was sent by Linda Ma via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Linda provided an email address (winsor.lma@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Linda Ma at winsor.lma@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Linda Banks
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:03:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Linda Banks

This email was sent by Linda Banks via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Linda provided an email address (lindalbanks2006@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Linda Banks at lindalbanks2006@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ken Tray
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:12:30 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ken Tray

This email was sent by Ken Tray via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ken provided an email address (ktray@uesf.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ken Tray at ktray@uesf.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anantpong Malison
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:12:44 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Anantpong Malison via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anantpong provided an email address (amalison@ccsf.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anantpong Malison at amalison@ccsf.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Liliana Diaz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:13:00 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Liliana Diaz

This email was sent by Liliana Diaz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Liliana provided an email address (7lunasnuevas@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Liliana Diaz at 7lunasnuevas@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: HUNG PHAM
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:13:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

HUNG PHAM

This email was sent by HUNG PHAM via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however HUNG provided an email address (hpham333@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to HUNG PHAM at hpham333@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Willis Logsdon
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:18:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Willis Logsdon

This email was sent by Willis Logsdon via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Willis provided an email address (willis.logsdon@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Willis Logsdon at willis.logsdon@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jacky Chan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:19:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jacky Chan

This email was sent by Jacky Chan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jacky provided an email address (jacky.kong.chan@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jacky Chan at jacky.kong.chan@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Soe Thu
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:26:00 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Soe Thu

This email was sent by Soe Thu via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Soe provided an email address (thu_soe@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Soe Thu at thu_soe@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Edward Donnelly
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:26:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Edward Donnelly

This email was sent by Edward Donnelly via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Edward provided an email address (etdsf@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Edward Donnelly at etdsf@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Victor Kong
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:28:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Victor Kong

This email was sent by Victor Kong via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Victor provided an email address (victor.kong@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Victor Kong at victor.kong@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Bharti Muni
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:31:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Bharti Muni

This email was sent by Bharti Muni via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Bharti provided an email address (bharti.muni@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Bharti Muni at bharti.muni@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Ivan Mejia
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:34:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Ivan Mejia

This email was sent by Ivan Mejia via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Ivan provided an email address (ivan.mejia@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Ivan Mejia at ivan.mejia@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Reangsey Lao
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:34:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Reangsey Lao

This email was sent by Reangsey Lao via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Reangsey provided an email address (khmerean@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Reangsey Lao at khmerean@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Arlena Winn
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:49:33 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Arlena Winn

This email was sent by Arlena Winn via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Arlena provided an email address (arlena.winn@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Arlena Winn at arlena.winn@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: GERALD BUSTOS
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:50:26 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

GERALD BUSTOS

This email was sent by GERALD BUSTOS via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however GERALD provided an email address (BUSTOSGERALD11@GMAIL.COM) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to GERALD BUSTOS at BUSTOSGERALD11@GMAIL.COM.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Koa Pickering
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:52:10 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Koa Pickering

SF Public Works

This email was sent by Koa Pickering via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Koa provided an email address (Koa.Pickering@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Koa Pickering at Koa.Pickering@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Benjamin Cohen
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 4:06:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Benjamin Cohen

This email was sent by Benjamin Cohen via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Benjamin provided an email address (benjamingcohen@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Benjamin Cohen at benjamingcohen@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Amy Fowler
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 4:16:09 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Amy Fowler via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Amy provided an email address (amy.fowler@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Amy Fowler at amy.fowler@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yasmin Landaverde
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 4:19:31 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yasmin Landaverde

This email was sent by Yasmin Landaverde via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yasmin provided an email address (yasminlandaverde@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yasmin Landaverde at yasminlandaverde@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Farha Fatima
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 4:21:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Farha Fatima

This email was sent by Farha Fatima via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Farha provided an email address (farha.fatima@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Farha Fatima at farha.fatima@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mose Johnson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 4:23:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Mose Johnson

This email was sent by Mose Johnson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mose provided an email address (thacity415@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mose Johnson at thacity415@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Catherine Chilton
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 4:27:29 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Catherine Chilton

This email was sent by Catherine Chilton via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Catherine provided an email address (dreamcloud_05@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Catherine Chilton at dreamcloud_05@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Raisa Kimelman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 5:06:45 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Raisa Kimelman

This email was sent by Raisa Kimelman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Raisa provided an email address (raisakimelman@sbcglobal.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Raisa Kimelman at raisakimelman@sbcglobal.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Brion Hildebrand
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 5:19:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Brion Hildebrand

This email was sent by Brion Hildebrand via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Brion provided an email address (Brionh1986@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Brion Hildebrand at Brionh1986@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Marcy Ballard
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 5:42:44 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next. Who is crazy enough to reductions in a crisis.Hasty decision making.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Marcy Ballard

This email was sent by Marcy Ballard via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Marcy provided an email address (marcyballatd@me.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Marcy Ballard at marcyballatd@me.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mary Delgado
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 6:04:01 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Delgado

This email was sent by Mary Delgado via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mary provided an email address (vivaire7@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mary Delgado at vivaire7@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Yinlo Chun
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 6:16:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Yinlo Chun

This email was sent by Yinlo Chun via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Yinlo provided an email address (yinlochun@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Yinlo Chun at yinlochun@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Antonia Ruiz
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 6:19:17 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Antonia Ruiz-Koffman

This email was sent by Antonia Ruiz via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Antonia provided an email address (antoniaruiz18@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Antonia Ruiz at antoniaruiz18@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Wayne Williams
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 6:21:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Wayne Williams

This email was sent by Wayne Williams via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Wayne provided an email address (wayne321will@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Wayne Williams at wayne321will@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Cathy Sullivan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 6:34:37 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Cathy Sulli

This email was sent by Cathy Sullivan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Cathy provided an email address (cathysullivan99@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Cathy Sullivan at cathysullivan99@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Eric Mar
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 6:40:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Eric Mar via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Eric provided an email address (emailericmar@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Eric Mar at emailericmar@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lisa Palella
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 7:10:41 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lisa Palella

This email was sent by Lisa Palella via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lisa provided an email address (lisa.palella@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lisa Palella at lisa.palella@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dwayne Robinson
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 7:21:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dwayne Robinson

This email was sent by Dwayne Robinson via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dwayne provided an email address (d.robinsonrep@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dwayne Robinson at d.robinsonrep@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alice Lau
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 7:48:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alice Lau

This email was sent by Alice Lau via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alice provided an email address (apylau01@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alice Lau at apylau01@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sandra Goff
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 7:58:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sandra Goff

This email was sent by Sandra Goff via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sandra provided an email address (2016sagoff@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sandra Goff at 2016sagoff@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jenny McGrane
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 8:29:15 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jenny McGrane

This email was sent by Jenny McGrane via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jenny provided an email address (jhmcrane@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jenny McGrane at jhmcrane@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: joseph alhayawa
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 9:19:05 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
joseph alhayawa

This email was sent by joseph alhayawa via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however joseph provided an email address (alhayawaj@aol.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to joseph alhayawa at alhayawaj@aol.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mark Philpot
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all. I'm on my 2nd deployment working tirelessly to serve this city. My regular job is working with the homeless of this city.
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 9:20:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mark Philpot

This email was sent by Mark Philpot via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mark provided an email address (mphilpot59@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mark Philpot at mphilpot59@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joseph Sylva
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 9:31:17 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joseph Sylva

This email was sent by Joseph Sylva via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joseph provided an email address (joesylva10@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joseph Sylva at joesylva10@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Mary Merryman
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 9:31:48 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Mary Merryman

This email was sent by Mary Merryman via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Mary provided an email address (mbmhello@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Mary Merryman at mbmhello@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Iara Bachmann
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 10:17:10 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Iara Bachmann

This email was sent by Iara Bachmann via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Iara provided an email address (bachmann32@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Iara Bachmann at bachmann32@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nancy Lacap
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 11:09:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nancy Lacap

This email was sent by Nancy Lacap via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nancy provided an email address (nncylacap@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nancy Lacap at nncylacap@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tim Coné
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 12:02:25 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tim Coné

This email was sent by Tim Coné via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tim provided an email address (timrcone@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tim Coné at timrcone@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: MIGUEL Lopez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 7:34:00 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

MIGUEL Lopez

This email was sent by MIGUEL Lopez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however MIGUEL provided an email address (miggylo@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to MIGUEL Lopez at miggylo@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Al Barber
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: Good Day SF Supervisors, As you know San Francisco needs a budget for ALL, not just "the few" ... we've prepared for this "rainy day" and now it's time to use those funds.
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 8:23:52 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Good Day SF Supervisors,

I hope you are having an AWESOME & AMAZING day in the Bay like myself and all is well with you and your families.

My name is Al Barber and I am a Real Property Appraiser in the Assessor Recorders Office. My IFPTE Local 21 colleagues and I are responsible for completing commercial and residential real property tax assessments and defending these valuations on an annual basis which generates over a third of the revenue for the City and County of San Francisco and its residents. With the anticipated passage of Prop 15 "Schools & Communities 1st", we Real Property Appraisers will be instrumental in generating additional revenue for the City's budget by reassessing commercial properties benefiting from Prop 13 so that large corporations that have NOT paid their fair share in over 50 years will help fund San Francisco's public schools and communities. It is estimated that the work of our Local 21 IFPTE Members alone will contribute an estimated $895 BILLION to the City's Budget!!!

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

Yes, these are unprecedented times, but our preparedness from lessons learned in the past has been met with this opportunity we are now faced with acting upon.

As you know San Francisco needs a budget for ALL, not just "the few". We've prepared for this "rainy day" and now it's time to use those funds.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoid the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Al Barber

Real Property Appraiser

Assessor-Recorders Office

P.S. We are working harder now, more than ever to help this city and its residents survive and thrive. So, please don't forget about those that make the city "go round and round" ... there's strength in numbers and we are all in this together.

This email was sent by Al Barber via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Al provided an email address (alfred.barber@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Al Barber at alfred.barber@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alexis Maxwell
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 8:56:26 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alexis Maxwell

This email was sent by Alexis Maxwell via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alexis provided an email address (amaxwell@larkinstreetyouth.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alexis Maxwell at amaxwell@larkinstreetyouth.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rickey Pickens
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:03:58 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rickey Pickens

This email was sent by Rickey Pickens via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rickey provided an email address (rpickens@larkinstreetyouth.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rickey Pickens at rpickens@larkinstreetyouth.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: donscha Bethea
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:29:37 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by donscha Bethea via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues

they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however donsha provided an email address (sbethea@larkinstreetyouth.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to donsha Bethea at sbethea@larkinstreetyouth.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Meesha Parker
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:41:53 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise workers as essential one moment and treat us like we are expendable the next.

The budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the impact of COVID-19. It attempts to balance the budget on the backs of public workers.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that we cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share of taxes.

City workers have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take the necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve each day.

Yours sincerely,

Meesha Parker

This email was sent by Meesha Parker via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Meesha provided an email address (meesha.parker@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Meesha Parker at meesha.parker@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Muhammad Yasir
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:45:32 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Muhammad Yasir

This email was sent by Muhammad Yasir via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Muhammad provided an email address (ynkhi79@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Muhammad Yasir at ynkhi79@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: jessica Bennett Roberts
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:57:34 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by jessica Bennett Roberts via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however jessica provided an email address (jessicabennetroberts309@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to jessica Bennett Roberts at jessicabennetroberts309@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jenny Sotelo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 10:05:21 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jenny Sotelo

This email was sent by Jenny Sotelo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jenny provided an email address (jennysotelo@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jenny Sotelo at jennysotelo@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Anne Woods
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 10:18:10 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,
Anne Woods

This email was sent by Anne Woods via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Anne provided an email address (anile02@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Anne Woods at anile02@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: LaVonda Williams
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 10:26:05 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

LaVonda Williams

This email was sent by LaVonda Williams via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however LaVonda provided an email address (2nd2none94@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to LaVonda Williams at 2nd2none94@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: K C
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 10:29:59 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

K C

This email was sent by K C via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however K provided an email address (kali.cheung@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to K C at kali.cheung@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Fatima Avellan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 10:49:13 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Fatima Avellan

This email was sent by Fatima Avellan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Fatima provided an email address (fatima.avellan@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Fatima Avellan at fatima.avellan@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Chris Donnelly
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 11:00:37 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Chris Donnelly

This email was sent by Chris Donnelly via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Chris provided an email address (chris.donnelly@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Chris Donnelly at chris.donnelly@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dimitri Shikaloff
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 11:01:59 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dimitri Shikaloff

This email was sent by Dimitri Shikaloff via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dimitri provided an email address (dimitri.shikaloff@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dimitri Shikaloff at dimitri.shikaloff@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Arnie Warshaw
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 11:22:11 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Arnie Warshaw

This email was sent by Arnie Warshaw via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Arnie provided an email address (arnieccsf@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Arnie Warshaw at arnieccsf@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Rudolph Cota
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 11:22:15 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Rudolph Cota

This email was sent by Rudolph Cota via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Rudolph provided an email address (rcota@larkinstreetyouth.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Rudolph Cota at rcota@larkinstreetyouth.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carol Foster
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 11:23:28 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Carol Foster

This email was sent by Carol Foster via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carol provided an email address (cfoster@larkinstreetyouth.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carol Foster at cfoster@larkinstreetyouth.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Deborah Keese
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 11:31:20 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Deborah Keese

This email was sent by Deborah Keese via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Deborah provided an email address (dkeese@larkinstreetyouth.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Deborah Keese at dkeese@larkinstreetyouth.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michele Uzeta
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 11:45:29 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michele Uzeta

This email was sent by Michele Uzeta via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michele provided an email address (mmuzeta@ccsf.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michele Uzeta at mmuzeta@ccsf.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: eric.hill
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 11:46:09 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

Eric Hill
Park Section Supervisor
Lake Merced Complex

The Lake Merced Complex has seen an increase in activity, positive and negative. We have seen many families and individuals visit our parks to enjoy what they can during these very difficult times. This has, unfortunately, created a deeper impact on me and my crew as we try to keep our parks safe, clean, and green. We have seen an increase in homelessness, garbage, and dumping. This, we address diligently, in addition to our gardening responsibilities.

We stretch ourselves thin to steward park property and support park visitors. It is taking a physical and psychological toll.

We know it's going to get worse before we see any improvement, so we surely need your leadership.

Please work to find a better way of solving this budget problem. Help us do our jobs. Let us know that we are appreciated.

Thank you

This email was sent by eric.hill via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however eric provided an email address (eric.hill@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to eric.hill at eric.hill@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jorge Garcíagodos
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 12:18:29 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jorge Garcíagodos

This email was sent by Jorge Garcigodos via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jorge provided an email address (jorge.garcigodos@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jorge Garcigodos at jorge.garcigodos@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Baojie Yan
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 12:20:23 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Baojie Yan

This email was sent by Baojie Yan via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Baojie provided an email address (baojie.yan@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Baojie Yan at baojie.yan@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Aaron Ng
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 12:40:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Aaron Ng

This email was sent by Aaron Ng via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Aaron provided an email address (aaron.ng@flysfo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Aaron Ng at aaron.ng@flysfo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Daniel FEERICK
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 12:59:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Daniel FEERICK

This email was sent by Daniel FEERICK via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Daniel provided an email address (danfee24@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Daniel FEERICK at danfee24@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lena Tran
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:17:09 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lena Tran

This email was sent by Lena Tran via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lena provided an email address (lenatutran@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lena Tran at lenatutran@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jennie Hua
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:20:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jennie Hua

This email was sent by Jennie Hua via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jennie provided an email address (jenniehuamft@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jennie Hua at jenniehuamft@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: PAUL LAM
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:20:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

PAUL LAM

This email was sent by PAUL LAM via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however PAUL provided an email address (pcsl_2000@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to PAUL LAM at pcsl_2000@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Megan Wall Shui
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:21:51 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Megan Wall Shui

This email was sent by Megan Wall Shui via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Megan provided an email address (megan.wall@sfdph.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Megan Wall Shui at megan.wall@sfdph.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Laurie Lenrow
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:24:52 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Laurie Lenrow

This email was sent by Laurie Lenrow via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Laurie provided an email address (tialollie@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Laurie Lenrow at tialollie@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Chris Toomey
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:26:55 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.

- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.

- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Chris Toomey

This email was sent by Chris Toomey via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Chris provided an email address (ctoomey06@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Chris Toomey at ctoomey06@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: HAROLD Gonzales
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:29:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

HAROLD Gonzales

This email was sent by HAROLD Gonzales via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however HAROLD provided an email address (haroldgonzales500@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to HAROLD Gonzales at haroldgonzales500@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Daniela Perez
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:54:09 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

I'm an SF native and proud to serve my community. I've already been displaced during this pandemic and am struggling to house myself. I should be able to afford to live in the city I love and serve. Hearing that the Mayor is taking away our raises is a huge disappointment. Shame on her. As an essential City worker I've been showing up and working hard since this whole pandemic has started putting myself and my loved ones at risk because that's what I signed up for and we (SF workers) can be counted on.

Ms Breed: why can't we count on you to honor your contracts? Trust me, we vote. And so do our families and friends. WE are SF. As highest paid Mayor in the United States you should either figure this our or lead by example an take a pay cut.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Daniela Perez

This email was sent by Daniela Perez via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Daniela provided an email address (danieperez@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Daniela Perez at danieperez@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sherri McEllistrim
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 3:52:06 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sherri McEllistrim

This email was sent by Sherri McEllistim via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sherri provided an email address (sherrimp36@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sherri McEllistim at sherrimp36@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Colby King
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 4:08:04 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

I am a front line worker at Larkin Street Youth Services. I work with San Francisco's homeless youth and foster an environment in a home where they are safe from COVID 19 on the streets and the wild fire season. It is vital that the Board of Supervisors provide a budget that supports front line works in this treacherous time.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

This email was sent by Colby King via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Colby provided an email address (cking@larkinstreetyouth.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Colby King at cking@larkinstreetyouth.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Osha Ashworth
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 4:17:47 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Osha Ashworth

This email was sent by Osha Ashworth via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Osha provided an email address (oashworth@ibew6.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Osha Ashworth at oashworth@ibew6.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Dimitri Stavrakis
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 4:27:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Dimitri Stavrakis

This email was sent by Dimitri Stavrakis via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Dimitri provided an email address (dimitrios.stavrakis@sfdpw.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Dimitri Stavrakis at dimitrios.stavrakis@sfdpw.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Nikki Mixon
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 4:35:21 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Nikki Mixon

This email was sent by Nikki Mixon via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Nikki provided an email address (dmixon35@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Nikki Mixon at dmixon35@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: sonya Escobedo
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 5:08:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

sonya Escobedo

This email was sent by sonya Escobedo via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however sonya provided an email address (SonyaLeonard33@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to sonya Escobedo at SonyaLeonard33@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Samantha Yee
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: Hey!!! San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 5:28:32 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Board of Supervisor Members,

I hope for you and your families' health and safety as we collectively experience multiple crisis. I write to urge you to take the steps outlined below to support the workers that have kept our city moving during these intertwined crises.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Samantha Yee

This email was sent by Samantha Yee via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Samantha provided an email address (samanthayee9@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Samantha Yee at samanthayee9@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Sean Scott
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 5:41:56 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Sean Scott

This email was sent by Sean Scott via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Sean provided an email address (sscott492@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Sean Scott at sscott492@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: CHRISTOPHER REED
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 5:48:23 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

CHRISTOPHER REED

This email was sent by CHRISTOPHER REED via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however CHRISTOPHER provided an email address (chris reed93@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to CHRISTOPHER REED at chris.reed93@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Roseanna Trade
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 5:50:28 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Roseanna Trade

This email was sent by Roseanna Trade via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Roseanna provided an email address (Roseannatrade@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Roseanna Trade at Roseannatrade@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: RHEUBEN JOHNSON
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 5:54:29 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

RHEUBEN JOHNSON

This email was sent by RHEUBEN JOHNSON via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however RHEUBEN provided an email address (rjusnavy2000@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to RHEUBEN JOHNSON at rjusnavy2000@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Harry Bobineaux
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 5:55:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Harry Bobineaux

This email was sent by Harry Bobineaux via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Harry provided an email address (hbobineaux@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Harry Bobineaux at hbobineaux@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Patricia Maloney
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 5:59:22 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Patricia Maloney

This email was sent by Patricia Maloney via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Patricia provided an email address (portolaechoblue@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Patricia Maloney at portolaechoblue@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Eyby Alfaro
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 6:01:35 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Eyby Alfaro

This email was sent by Eyby Alfaro via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Eyby provided an email address (eybyabe7@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Eyby Alfaro at eybyabe7@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Carlos Alfaro
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 6:09:29 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Carlos Alfaro

This email was sent by Carlos Alfaro via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Carlos provided an email address (patoalfa1319@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Carlos Alfaro at patoalfa1319@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Marcus Ponce
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 6:19:38 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Marcus Ponce

This email was sent by Marcus Ponce via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Marcus provided an email address (mapko1981@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Marcus Ponce at mapko1981@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Joseph Huelfenhaus
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 6:27:43 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Joseph Huelfenhaus

This email was sent by Joseph Huelfenhaus via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Joseph provided an email address (jhuelphenhaus@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Joseph Huelfenhaus at jhuelphenhaus@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Emily Stratford
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 6:28:54 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Emily Stratford

This email was sent by Emily Stratford via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Emily provided an email address (emstratish@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Emily Stratford at emstratish@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Annamarie Green
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 7:34:27 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Annamarie Green

This email was sent by Annamarie Green via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Annamarie provided an email address (amjg322@icloud.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Annamarie Green at amjg322@icloud.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alexander Diederich
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 8:12:45 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alexander Diederich

This email was sent by Alexander Diederich via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alexander provided an email address (a.a.diederich@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alexander Diederich at a.a.diederich@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Steven Tso
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 8:13:25 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Steven Tso

This email was sent by Steven Tso via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Steven provided an email address (steven.tso@sfmta.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Steven Tso at steven.tso@sfmta.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Lauren Doyle Kerins
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for ALL
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 8:28:23 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Lauren Doyle Kerins

This email was sent by Lauren Doyle Kerins via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Lauren provided an email address (laurenkerins@comcast.net) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Lauren Doyle Kerins at laurenkerins@comcast.net.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Christopher Brown
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:12:16 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Christopher Brown

This email was sent by Christopher Brown via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Christopher provided an email address (kristopherbrown@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Christopher Brown at kristopherbrown@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tiffany Barba-Padilla
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:50:46 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tiffany Barba-Padilla

This email was sent by Tiffany Barba-Padilla via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tiffany provided an email address (tiffany.barba@sjsu.edu) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tiffany Barba-Padilla at tiffany.barba@sjsu.edu.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kris Fincher
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 3:56:45 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kris Fincher

This email was sent by Kris Fincher via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kris provided an email address (krisfincher1@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kris Fincher at krisfincher1@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Michael Taylor
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 4:45:01 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Taylor

This email was sent by Michael Taylor via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Michael provided an email address (taylormike415@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Michael Taylor at taylormike415@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Tammieka Peacock
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 4:45:53 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Tammieka Peacock

This email was sent by Tammiika Peacock via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Tammiika provided an email address (tammiika.peacock@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Tammiika Peacock at tammiika.peacock@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Shawn Hill
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 5:44:21 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Shawn Hill

This email was sent by Shawn Hill via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Shawn provided an email address (shawnsdh1@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Shawn Hill at shawnsdh1@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Matt Swagler
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 6:20:01 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Matt Swagler

This email was sent by Matt Swagler via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Matt provided an email address (matt.swagler@sfgov.org) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Matt Swagler at matt.swagler@sfgov.org.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Kendra Armitage
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 6:38:11 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Kendra Armitage

This email was sent by Kendra Armitage via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Kendra provided an email address (kendra_armitage@hotmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Kendra Armitage at kendra_armitage@hotmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Jerry moore
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 6:45:34 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Jerry moore

This email was sent by Jerry moore via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Jerry provided an email address (jerrymj44@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Jerry moore at jerrymj44@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Alejandro Contreras
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 6:55:51 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Alejandro Contreras

This email was sent by Alejandro Contreras via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Alejandro provided an email address (alejandrocl743@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Alejandro Contreras at alejandrocl743@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Vanessa Maita
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 8:29:11 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Vanessa Maita

This email was sent by Vanessa Maita via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Vanessa provided an email address (enziomg@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Vanessa Maita at enziomg@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Marvin Mouton
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 8:30:42 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Marvin Mouton

This email was sent by Marvin Mouton via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Marvin provided an email address (moutonmarvin@yahoo.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Marvin Mouton at moutonmarvin@yahoo.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Brian Lease
To: Breed, Mayor London \(MYR\); BOS-Supervisors
Subject: San Francisco needs a budget for all
Date: Thursday, August 20, 2020 9:48:17 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco cannot praise frontline workers as essential one moment and then treat us like we are expendable in the next.

I work as a City gardener for SF Public Works. Our work is considered essential as we perform vital sanitation and public safety functions, cleaning up trash and removing hazardous materials from public right of ways. Our work is hard and dirty but we show up every day because we take pride in our City. Working out in the public during the pandemic has been stressful but we know it has to be done and we are grateful to have our jobs.

But the budget submitted by the Mayor's office on July 21 doesn't ensure that we'll be able to address the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on communities of color. It instead attempts to balance the budget on the backs of the public workers risking their lives to provide disaster services.

There is another path forward. The City has over $1 billion in reserves, thousands of vacancies yet to be frozen, and federal aid on the way. As the Board of Supervisors deliberates on the next budget, we urge you to consider three steps that avoids the crushing, harmful austerity that our community cannot endure:

- 1.) Tap into the city's rainy day and reserve funds.
- 2.) Curtail expensive contracting- and granting-out.
- 3.) Support initiatives to make sure billionaires and wealthy corporations pay their fair share to fund public services.

City workers, in addition to risking our lives every day on the frontlines of COVID-19, have already given back tens of millions in scheduled raises. We are doing more with less each and every day as a result of over $560 million in annualized vacant budget positions.

San Francisco is reeling from the impacts of a global pandemic, systemic racism, and an economy that favors the wealthy. We need the Board of Supervisors to take these necessary steps to protect every resident of San Francisco, the vital public services we all benefit from, and the dedicated workers who serve our residents each day in the face of a dangerous pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Lease

This email was sent by Brian Lease via Do Gooder, a website that allows people to contact you regarding issues they consider important. In accordance with web protocol RFC 3834 we have set the FROM field of this email to our generic no-reply address at campaigns@good.do, however Brian provided an email address (tikijive@gmail.com) which we included in the REPLY-TO field.

Please reply to Brian Lease at tikijive@gmail.com.

To learn more about Do Gooder visit www.dogooder.co

To learn more about web protocol RFC 3834 visit: <https://tools.ietf.org/html/rfc3834>

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Department Budget
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 4:27:30 PM

From: Margaret OSullivan <marg_os@pacbell.net>
Sent: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 4:24 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Department Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear members of the Budget and Appropriations Committee: Supervisors Sandra Lee Fewer, Shamann Walton, Rafael Mandelman, Norman Yee, and Hillary Ronen.

Dear Supervisors:

Please do not further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco.

Crimes like burglaries and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect the public and we can't forget about victims of crime.

Sincerely,
Margaret O'Sullivan
Sunset Neighborhood

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Budget Cut in SF but don't cut our Chinatown Police keep our community safe
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 4:27:22 PM
Attachments: SaveOurPoliceLetterBudgetCommittee \(1\).pdf

From: Edward Siu <edwardsiu@cmuasf.org>
Sent: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 4:21 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Budget Cut in SF but don't cut our Chinatown Police keep our community safe

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Lisa - Budget Committee,

I am writing on behalf of the Chinatown Merchants United Association of San Francisco to appreciate Mayor Breed's response to clarify our concerns regarding the term non-criminal responds in our city on July 15, 2020. After the budget hearing on August 14, our merchants in Chinatown have become nervous and uncomfortable because they are concerned that crimes may not decrease in Chinatown following the reform.

We want to make sure the Chinatown community's voices are considered. We do not wish any budgets to be cut from our police in Chinatown because they are vital to the community's safety, trust, and progression. The police officers in Chinatown have done an excellent job to keep our community safe. They have outstanding communication with the merchants, residents and visitors. Because of their irreplaceable services they provide, the Chinatown police officers have built a professional and intimate relationship with our businesses and community. Their presence and cooperation with the community has significantly helped deter crime, allowing people in Chinatown to feel safe and welcome.

The police of Chinatown are essential to the welfare and wellbeing of the community. In the coming days we will send you names of supporters to show their support for our Chinatown Police; therefore, please do not cut any budgets from our police in Chinatown.

Edward Siu

Chinatown Merchants United Association of San Francisco

816 Stockton Street, San Francisco CA 94108

Tel:1-888-399-7219

email: edwardsiu@cmuasf.org or nancyyulaw@cmuasf.org

August 18, 2020

Dear Budget Committee,

I am writing on behalf of the Chinatown Merchants United Association of San Francisco to appreciate Mayor Breed's response to clarify our concerns regarding the term non-criminal responds in our city on July 15, 2020. After the budget hearing on August 14, our merchants in Chinatown have become nervous and uncomfortable because they are concerned that crimes may not decrease in Chinatown following the reform.

We want to make sure the Chinatown community's voices are considered. We do not wish any budgets to be cut from our police in Chinatown because they are vital to the community's safety, trust, and progression. The police officers in Chinatown have done an excellent job to keep our community safe. They have outstanding communication with the merchants, residents and visitors. Because of their irreplaceable services they provide, the Chinatown police officers have built a professional and intimate relationship with our businesses and community. Their presence and cooperation with the community has significantly helped deter crime, allowing people in Chinatown to feel safe and welcome.

The police of Chinatown are essential to the welfare and wellbeing of the community. In the coming days we will send you names of supporters to show their supports for our Chinatown Police; therefore, please do not cut any budgets from our police in Chinatown.

Sincerely,

Edward Siu

Chairman of Chinatown Merchants United Association of San Francisco

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public comment
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:57:34 PM

From: Sofía Orduña <sc.orduna@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 8:08 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: Haleema Bharoocha <haleema@alliance4girls.org>; Nakia Dillard <nakia@alliance4girls.org>
Subject: Public comment

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Good morning Ms. Wong,

My name is Sofía and I'm a part of the Young Women's Initiative for Alliance for Girls as well as a Bay Area native. As part of the Alliance for Girls, whose member organizations serve 300,000 girls and gender nonconforming youth in the Bay, I want to advocate for myself and my peers - those of us who aren't a part of this board yet whose lives are so affected by your decisions. In our survey of over 250 young people in the Bay, 10% do not have access to food/groceries, 7% do not have a safe place to live, 18% do not have access to financial resources, 8% do not have access to technology with internet, 12% do not have access to private communication with a caring adult, and over 17% need accommodations for their learning style. This data is from June 8, 2020; we have continued getting responses from young folks in the Bay Area stressing the need for resources they do not have during the pandemic. For myself, a huge impact of the pandemic has been my job start date getting repeatedly delayed and not having a way to make money or connect with my peers. But the consequences for other folks have been a lot harsher. One participant shared that, thanks to losing her job, she couldn't support herself financially and had to move back in with her abusive brother.

Young people, especially young people of color, whose access to jobs, education and resources have been reduced by this pandemic, need to have people in their corner who will listen to them and advocate for their needs. In order to make these decisions that directly impact young women and gender nonconforming young people in the Bay Area, you need to get input from and listen to these groups of people. We know that effective prevention and intervention services are grounded in community and responsive to the unique gender, race and cultural identities of the youth they serve. Funding needs to be sent to programs prioritizing young folks' safety and access to resources. This means funding gender-responsive and culturally relevant services, like more funding to provide emergency housing for young moms and gender expansive youth, basic resources such as period products and groceries at easily accessible spaces such as schools, and incentivized check ins with youth across the Bay Area so we can directly impact and lead the solutions to the problems we're facing. These items are vital resources and I am asking the Board to include these items in the proposed budget. We are happy to follow up to present to your board and share additional data from our research. Thank you so much for your time and consideration.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public Comment
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 1:56:42 PM

From: Ralitsa Caneva <ralitsa03@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:37 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public Comment

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hello, my name is Ralitsa Caneva. I am a youth researcher at Alliance for Girls and a resident of San Francisco. Our statewide research initiative which included digital town halls about the needs of girls and gender expansive youth during COVID-19 found that youth need access to basic needs and support. The findings we gathered from our Digital Town Hall about the needs of girls during COVID-19, this includes gender expansive youth. I urge the board to fund basic needs and safety in our communities by investing in gender and culturally responsive, community-driven support systems. While analyzing the data from the survey we distributed to youth in the Bay Area. We learned that over 250 youth from the ages 12-24 are lacking resources such as period products, diapers, etc. More specifically 10% do not have access to food/groceries, 7% do not have a safe place to live, 18% do not have access to financial resources, 8% do not have access to technology with the internet, 12% do not have access to private communication with a caring adult, and over 17% need accommodations for their learning style. While this data is from June 8th, 2020 we have increasing survey responses that highlight the urgency. We are asking that you reinvest in the safety and support of our girls; transgender and gender non conforming youth. We are counting on you to make sure our girls make it through this time. I trust that San Francisco will address this to make sure that all girls can have access to safety and social support during this critical and unprecedented time. We are happy to follow up to present to your board and share additional data from our research. Thank you for your time and consideration.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: Fwd: Public Comment
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 11:09:42 AM

Get Outlook for iOS

From: Ralitsa Caneva <ralitsa03@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:59:59 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: Haleema Bharoocha <haleema@alliance4girls.org>; Nakia Dillard <nakia@alliance4girls.org>
Subject: Public Comment

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hello, my name is Ralitsa Caneva. I am a youth researcher at Alliance for Girls and a resident of San Francisco. Our statewide research initiative which included digital town halls about the needs of girls and gender expansive youth during COVID-19 found that youth need access to basic needs and support. The findings we gathered from our Digital Town Hall about the needs of girls during COVID-19, this includes gender expansive youth. I urge the board to fund basic needs and safety in our communities by investing in gender and culturally responsive, community-driven support systems. While analyzing the data from the survey we distributed to youth in the Bay Area. We learned that over 250 youth from the ages 12-24 are lacking resources such as period products, diapers, etc. More specifically 10% do not have access to food/groceries, 7% do not have a safe place to live, 18% do not have access to financial resources, 8% do not have access to technology with the internet, 12% do not have access to private communication with a caring adult, and over 17% need accommodations for their learning style. While this data is from June 8th, 2020 we have increasing survey responses that highlight the urgency. We are asking that you reinvest in the safety and support of our girls; transgender and gender non conforming youth. We are counting on you to make sure our girls make it through this time. I trust that San Francisco will address this to make sure that all girls can have access to safety and social support during this critical and unprecedented time. We are happy to follow up to present to your board and share additional data from our research. Thank you for your time and consideration.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Dept Budget
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 9:02:38 AM

From: ALICE XAVER <acxavier@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 8:00 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Dept Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors,

Please do not further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco.

Crimes like burglaries and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect the public and we can't forget about victims of crime.

Sincerely,

Alice and Christopher
Xavier
D7

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Department Budget.
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 8:25:05 AM

From: Margaret O'Driscoll <margaret@mission-properties.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 9:09 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Department Budget.

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Members of the Budget Appropriations Committee:
Supervisors Sandra Lee Fewer, Shamann Walton, Rafael Mandelman, Norman Yen and Hillary Ronen,

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing to ask you not to reduce the numbers of police officers in San Francisco.

When all is said and done with Covid, our city will be bankrupt. Is it really fiscally responsible to lay off officers who have spent 8 months in the Police academy training at a cost of between $100,000 to $150,000 per officer to train. Also if you are considering layoffs are you going to lay off the younger more advanced trained officers, who are trained with the reforms in place. Or are you going to layoff officers who have given they best years of their lives to protect and serve? How are you going to do this? Seriously how can any of you suggest or support this absolute irresponsible suggestion.

Not only are the layoffs ridiculous, how about the rise in crime, are you reading the papers, are you even considering the rise in home burglaries up 40%. We are not safe in our homes. Then let's mention the shootings, really every day more and more. Crime is on the rise and you are considering further defunding and layoffs in an already understaffed department.

You talk about reform, have any of you taken a drive to the police training facility in Diamond Heights? A school that was condemned after the 1989 earthquake. You want reform, give them a new state of the art facility to train.

In the words of a great Irishman and politician who died last week. Mr. John Hume.

“you are in politics to solve problems not to get votes”

I don't see any of you trying to solve any city problems right now only creating more.

Sincerely, Margaret O'Driscoll
(415)846-3062

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Dept Budget
Date: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 8:22:29 AM

From: Lillian Wong <earthqueen2001@yahoo.com>
Sent: Wednesday, August 19, 2020 7:37 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Dept Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors:

Please do not further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco.

Crimes like burglaries and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect the public and we can't forget about victims of crime.

Sincerely,

Lillian Wong
Richmond District

Sent from Yahoo Mail on Android

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Department Budget
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 4:47:57 PM

From: Al Hampel <aha1455@icloud.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:41 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Department Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors:

Please do not further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco.

Crimes like burglaries and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect the public and we can't forget about victims of crime.

Sincerely,
Al Hampel
Outer Sunset

Sent from my iPad

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Department Budget
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:11:45 PM

-----Original Message-----

From: Mariel and Paul <batjiaka@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:43 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Department Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Safety of all our citizens will not be well served by further cuts to our police force. We need our Men in Blue to protect all of us and to continue to do the work that have made our citizens proud of them.

Respectfully submitted,

Paul Batjiaka

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: stop defunding the police
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 3:11:30 PM

-----Original Message-----

From: Cheryl Traverse <cheryl@ctraverse.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 2:43 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: stop defunding the police

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

i already feel that we are a lawless society and do have the means to leave sf if you start laying off folks this will make sf more unsafe we need 200 more officers and to think that laying off officers in a city where crimes is on the upswing is bizarre please do not do this regards

cheryl traverse arrived in 1985
44 hopkins ave
sf ca 94131

Sent from my iPhone

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Department Budget
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 1:51:46 PM

From: Lis Worcester <lisworchester@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 1:14 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Department Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors Sandra Lee Fewer, Shamann Walton, Rafael Mandelman, Norman Yee, and Hillary Ronen.
Please do not further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco.

Crimes like burglaries and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect the public and we can't forget about victims of crime.

Sincerely,
Alison Worcester
Mission/Dolores Park

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: DO NOT DEFUND THE POLICE...MAKE OUR STREETS SAFER NOT A WAR ZONE
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:35:22 PM

From: Linda Showaihat D.D.S <linda@lsdds.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:33 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: DO NOT DEFUND THE POLICE....MAKE OUR STREETS SAFER NOT A WAR ZONE

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors:

Please do not further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco. My husband and I have had our cars broken into 8 times in one year, we had three homeless people try to break into our home during Covid-19 due to scaffolding being up against the building, we have seen multiple drug deals right at the bus stop, and trying to walk the dog in the early mornings and evenings feels like we are taking our lives in our hands.

I attempted to go to Union Square to support my friends who are sales people at the anchor stores. I was frightened for my life. There were few people on the streets and those that were, were mentally ill drug addicts or criminals. Either way it was not a safe place to be!

Crimes like burglaries and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco. So many officers are taking early retirement and very few want to work in SF.

Instead of Supervisor Fewer and Kim holding up their middle fingers to the police, we should honor them for trying to keep our streets safe. Let those who want to defund the police spend a day walking without their security through the Tenderloin, Civic Center and the Golden Gate Park by the Richmond side. I would strongly suggest that they do it in the late evenings. Then and only then can they make such ridiculous remarks.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect the public and we can't forget about victims of crime.

Sincerely,

Dr. Linda Showaihat
Monterey Heights and Native San Franciscian

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Department Budget
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:18:34 PM

From: Chris Hardy <chrishardysound@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:12 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: Fewer, Sandra (BOS) <sandra.fewer@sfgov.org>; Walton, Shamann (BOS) <shamann.walton@sfgov.org>; Mandelman, Rafael (BOS) <rafael.mandelman@sfgov.org>; Yee, Norman (BOS) <norman.yee@sfgov.org>; Ronen, Hillary <hillary.ronen@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Department Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear members of the Budget and Appropriations Committee: Supervisors Sandra Lee Fewer, Shamann Walton, Rafael Mandelman, Norman Yee, and Hillary Ronen:

Please do not further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco.

Crimes like burglaries and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment.

Laying off police officers will affect the newest and most diverse members of the force who come from the communities they serve — the kind of officers we need more of.

Fewer police officers will negatively impact neighborhoods that have been long-ignored, especially where immigrant communities are often vulnerable to crime. Residents are asking for more police officers who are bi-lingual and culturally sensitive, which requires investment not defunding.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect the public and we can't forget about victims of crime.

Sincerely,

Christopher Hardy
Sunset Resident

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Budget
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:18:28 PM

-----Original Message-----

From: DIANE TRIBULATO <dmt844246@aol.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:10 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

As a native San Franciscan, I am totally against defunding of the police. If anything we need more officers. Apparently, the officials in our once beautiful city are turning a blind eye to the increased crime, drug addicts and homeless. What you are doing is not working. Why make it worse for those of us who are hardworking, law abiding citizens. It seems as if you are extending an invitation for all criminals. It's time for a change. Protect our citizens. Get tough on crime. Save our police.

Sent from my iPhone

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Department Budget
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:07:04 PM

From: William McCarthy <wmmccarthy1880@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 11:36 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Department Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors Sandra Lee Fewer, Shamann Walton, Rafael Mandelman, Norman Yee, and Hillary Ronen :

Please do not further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco.

Crimes like burglaries and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect the public and we can't forget about victims of crime.

Sincerely,
William McCarthy
Forest Knolls Neighborhood

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Department Budget
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:06:57 PM

From: William Spina <bspina@mindspring.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 11:40 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Department Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Members of the Budget and Appropriations Committee: Supervisors Sandra Lee Fewer, Shamann Walton, Rafael Mandelman, Norman Yee, and Hillary Ronen.

Dear Supervisors:

Please do not further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco.

Crimes like burglaries and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect the public and we can't forget about victims of crime.

Sincerely,
William Spina MD
Russian Hill
Sent from Bill's iPhone.

Sent from Bill's iPhone.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Police Department Budget
Date: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 12:06:51 PM

From: Hub Stackhouse <hubstack3469@hotmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, August 18, 2020 11:26 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Police Department Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors Ronen, Fewer, Walton, Mandelman, and Yee:

Please do NOT further reduce the number of police officers in San Francisco.

Crimes like burglaries, bike theft, car break-ins, littering, sidewalk camping, and homicide are up while our police staffing is low due to a record number of retirements and resignations. Yet the movement to defund the police continues to call for even fewer police in San Francisco.

The New York Times recently featured SFPD as a model of reform. We can embrace more reforms. We can shift police calls away from situations best suited for social workers. We can value a diverse police force while ensuring they serve the community at the highest standard. This requires investment and additional officers.

Arbitrarily cutting beat officers will not make SFPD better or residents safer. We still need police to protect and serve the entire public and we can't forget about innocent victims of crime.

Sincerely,
Herbert Stackhouse
The Portola District

From: Google Form - Comment on Proposed Budget
To: Boilard, Chelsea \(BOS\); BOS - Budget
Subject: New Submission on Comment on the Proposed Budget
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 9:47:38 PM
Attachments: 7 Aug 16, 2020.pdf

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

A comment has been submitted via the Comment on Budget Web page

NOTE: DO NOT REPLY TO THIS EMAIL.

If you wish to reply to the sender copy and paste the following email address belljoshua7991@yahoo.com

Here are the results.

Name	Joshua Bell
Subject	Funding for Lyon Martin Health Services
Email	belljoshua7991@yahoo.com
Verify Email	belljoshua7991@yahoo.com
Comments	As a student doctor and SF citizen, I am writing this comment to ask that the budget requests made by Lyon Martin Health Services be met. Lyon Martin has been operating at reduced capacity due to an extended hiring freeze instituted by HealthRight, reducing staff drastically over two years while the demand for services has increased. Funding is necessary for restoring staffing, increasing Lyon Martin's capacity, and paying for the costs associated with the rebuilding of infrastructure necessary once separated from HealthRight. Lyon Martin Health Services provides crucial, inclusive care for women, gender nonconforming people, and transgender people of all gender identities in SF. Clinics that provide its type of care are exceedingly rare, and its services are required now more than ever.

Sent via Google Form Notifications

Name	Joshua Bell
Subject	Funding for Lyon Martin Health Services
Email	belljoshua7991@yahoo.com
Verify Email	belljoshua7991@yahoo.com

Comments

As a student doctor and SF citizen, I am writing this comment to ask that the budget requests made by Lyon Martin Health Services be met. Lyon Martin has been operating at reduced capacity due to an extended hiring freeze instituted by HealthRight, reducing staff drastically over two years while the demand for services has increased. Funding is necessary for restoring staffing, increasing Lyon Martin's capacity, and paying for the costs associated with the rebuilding of infrastructure necessary once separated from HealthRight. Lyon Martin Health Services provides crucial, inclusive care for women, gender nonconforming people, and transgender people of all gender identities in SF. Clinics that provide its type of care are exceedingly rare, and its services are required now more than ever.

This PDF is generated with the Google Forms Notification add-on.

To generate customized PDFs from Google Forms, download Document Studio (video demo).

These messages are not added in the premium version.

From: Google Form - Comment on Proposed Budget
To: Boilard, Chelsea \(BOS\); BOS - Budget
Subject: New Submission on Comment on the Proposed Budget
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 5:34:48 PM
Attachments: 6 Aug 16, 2020.pdf

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

A comment has been submitted via the Comment on Budget Web page

NOTE: DO NOT REPLY TO THIS EMAIL.

If you wish to reply to the sender copy and paste the following email address deena.abramson@gmail.com

Here are the results.

Name	Deena Marlo Abramson
Subject	Fund Lyon Martin and Trans Health!
Phone Number	9732167195
Email	deena.abramson@gmail.com
Verify Email	deena.abramson@gmail.com
	Long-time San Francisco Community Mental Health Social Worker, Deena Abramson, here requesting that you please consider intensive and immediate restaffing of and long-term and independent funding (from HealthRight 360) for Lyon Martin. Lyon Martin has been a place of health, solace and survival for so many for so many years. This clinic provides vital primary medical care, sexual/reproductive health care, and mental health services for women, gender non-conforming people, and transgender people of all gender identities and sexual orientations. As you are already aware, trans and gender non-conforming individuals face disproportionate amounts of violence, hate-crime, unemployment, suicidality, and compromised mental health due to the neglect of the archaic systems that surround them. San Francisco prides itself in being a progressive, forward-thinking, inclusive and LGBTQIA historically driven place of acceptance and support. As a provider who has supported and advocated with trans individuals in this city, I have heard and directly experienced (when accompanying folks to appointments) the particular warmth, humility and thoughtful care provided at Lyon Martin.

Comments

I am imploring you to invest in the future of this clinic so that people of all genders and sexual orientations can have access to the health care they need and deserve. It is the right of all humans to be met with and cared for by compassionate and informed practitioners. Thank you for doing the right thing and doing everything in your power to ensure that Lyon Martin and the clients it serves have a future in San Francisco.

Sent via Google Form Notifications

Name	Deena Marlo Abramson
Subject	Fund Lyon Martin and Trans Health!
Phone Number	9732167195
Email	deena.abramson@gmail.com
Verify Email	deena.abramson@gmail.com

Comments

Long-time San Francisco Community Mental Health Social Worker, Deena Abramson, here requesting that you please consider intensive and immediate restaffing of and long-term and independent funding (from HealthRight 360) for Lyon Martin.

Lyon Martin has been a place of health, solace and survival for so many for so many years. This clinic provides vital primary medical care, sexual/reproductive health care, and mental health services for women, gender non-conforming people, and transgender people of all gender identities and sexual orientations. As you are already aware, trans and gender non-conforming individuals face disproportionate amounts of violence, hate-crime, unemployment, suicidality, and compromised mental health due to the neglect of the archaic systems that surround them. San Francisco prides itself in being a progressive, forward-thinking, inclusive and LGBTQIA historically driven place of acceptance and support. As a provider who has supported and advocated with trans individuals in this city, I have heard and directly experienced (when accompanying folks to appointments) the particular warmth, humility and thoughtful care provided at Lyon Martin. I am imploring you to invest in the future of this clinic so that people of all genders and sexual orientations can have access to the health care they need and deserve. It is the right of all humans to be met with and cared for by compassionate and informed practitioners. Thank you for doing the right thing and doing everything in your power to ensure that Lyon Martin and the clients it serves have a future in San Francisco.

This PDF is generated with the Google Forms Notification add-on.

To generate customized PDFs from Google Forms, download Document Studio (video demo).

These messages are not added in the premium version.

From: Google Form - Comment on Proposed Budget
To: Boilard, Chelsea \(BOS\); BOS - Budget
Subject: New Submission on Comment on the Proposed Budget
Date: Sunday, August 16, 2020 3:17:33 PM
Attachments: 5 Aug 16, 2020.pdf

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

A comment has been submitted via the Comment on Budget Web page

NOTE: DO NOT REPLY TO THIS EMAIL.

If you wish to reply to the sender copy and paste the following email address
Charlotte.young@ucsf.edu

Here are the results.

Name	Charlotte Young
Subject	Fund Lyon-Martin
Email	Charlotte.young@ucsf.edu
Verify Email	Charlotte.young@ucsf.edu
Comments	Trans and gender non-conforming individuals have been historically harmed and marginalized by the healthcare system. Today in SF, there are still few healthcare environments where trans and non-binary individuals can receive evidence-based and gender-affirming care. Supporting and augmenting Lyon Martin through funding and public policy changes is a necessary step towards creating health equity.

Sent via Google Form Notifications

Name	Charlotte Young
Subject	Fund Lyon-Martin
Email	Charlotte.young@ucsf.edu
Verify Email	Charlotte.young@ucsf.edu
Comments	Trans and gender non-conforming individuals have been historically harmed and marginalized by the healthcare system. Today in SF, there are still few healthcare environments where trans and non-binary individuals can receive evidence-based and gender-affirming care. Supporting and augmenting Lyon Martin through funding and public policy changes is a necessary step towards creating health equity.

This PDF is generated with the Google Forms Notification add-on.

To generate customized PDFs from Google Forms, download Document Studio (video demo).

These messages are not added in the premium version.

From: Google Form - Comment on Proposed Budget
To: Boilard, Chelsea \(BOS\); BOS - Budget
Subject: New Submission on Comment on the Proposed Budget
Date: Saturday, August 15, 2020 2:10:02 AM
Attachments: 4 Aug 15, 2020.pdf

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

A comment has been submitted via the Comment on Budget Web page

NOTE: DO NOT REPLY TO THIS EMAIL.

If you wish to reply to the sender copy and paste the following email address mareillyenfj@gmail.com

Here are the results.

Name	Mars R.
Subject	Save Lyon Martin!
Email	mareillyenfj@gmail.com
Verify Email	mareillyenfj@gmail.com
Comments	Please fund lifesaving care for trans folks by approving the budget requests from organization Lyon Martin. They have been hit hard by the pandemic, and have needed to reduce staff. They need money from the city to help them taking care of SF's transgender residents. Trans folks are some of the most vulnerable in society— please help them while they are still alive by helping a organization which prioritizes trans lives.

Sent via Google Form Notifications

Name	Mars R.
Subject	Save Lyon Martin!
Email	mareillyenfj@gmail.com
Verify Email	mareillyenfj@gmail.com
Comments	Please fund lifesaving care for trans folks by approving the budget requests from organization Lyon Martin. They have been hit hard by the pandemic, and have needed to reduce staff. They need money from the city to help them taking care of SF's transgender residents. Trans folks are some of the most vulnerable in society— please help them while they are still alive by helping a organization which prioritizes trans lives.

This PDF is generated with the Google Forms Notification add-on.

To generate customized PDFs from Google Forms, download Document Studio (video demo).

These messages are not added in the premium version.

From: Google Form - Comment on Proposed Budget
To: Boilard, Chelsea \(BOS\); BOS - Budget
Subject: New Submission on Comment on the Proposed Budget
Date: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:47:32 PM
Attachments: 3 Aug 14, 2020.pdf

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

A comment has been submitted via the Comment on Budget Web page

NOTE: DO NOT REPLY TO THIS EMAIL.

If you wish to reply to the sender copy and paste the following email address samloveswolves@yahoo.com

Here are the results.

Name	Sam Claude
Department commenting on (if applicable)	Lyon Martin
Subject	Lyon Martin is a critical service for the Transgender community
Email	samloveswolves@yahoo.com
Verify Email	samloveswolves@yahoo.com
Comments	It is critical for the City of San Francisco to fully invest in the survival and growth of Lyon Martin. Lyon Martin is my healthcare provider and has given me access to lifesaving healthcare and procedures. To not support this organization would be to escalate the growing attacks on the Transgender community.

Sent via Google Form Notifications

Name	Sam Claude
Department commenting on (if applicable)	Lyon Martin
Subject	Lyon Martin is a critical service for the Transgender community
Email	samloveswolves@yahoo.com
Verify Email	samloveswolves@yahoo.com
Comments	It is critical for the City of San Francisco to fully invest in the survival and growth of Lyon Martin. Lyon Martin is my healthcare provider and has given me access to lifesaving healthcare and procedures. To not support this organization would be to escalate the growing attacks on the Transgender community.

This PDF is generated with the Google Forms Notification add-on.

To generate customized PDFs from Google Forms, download Document Studio (video demo).

These messages are not added in the premium version.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Pay equity for DCYF grantee non-profit workers!
Date: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:57:04 PM
Attachments: DCYF Budget Hearing Public Comment.pdf

From: Laurene Chan <laurene@cameronhouse.org>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:56 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>; Peskin, Aaron (BOS) <aaron.peskin@sfgov.org>
Subject: Pay equity for DCYF grantee non-profit workers!

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

My name is Laurene Chan. I was born and raised here in San Francisco, a third generation Chinese American from grandparents who immigrated here through Angel Island. For 20 years - and the last 13 as Director of Youth Ministries - I've worked for the community through Donaldina Cameron House, a long standing, faith-based community agency in Chinatown. I started as a community kid in their summer programs at the age of 6. My parents trained for leadership and service through their programs starting at the age of 12. My mother is now 87 years old and braving this pandemic. Her memory is sometimes fuzzy, but as a San Franciscan, she's experienced and does remember how this City - time and time again - has stood up and done right by the people of this City.

I urge you to give a 10% increase in the cost of doing business for all youth-serving nonprofit workers contracted through DCYF to address the inequity gap between comparable City employee position wages and City contracted nonprofit worker wages. The average difference shows a 45% greater salary for public sector workers than nonprofit workers.

I give public comment today, because of my ancestors. My work in an immigrant community honors my ancestors who experienced life here as immigrants. The needs of immigrant families still remain - and even more so because of this pandemic. Each DCYF grantee is called to the vital role of healing, peacemaker, as a change agent of hope at a time when families in need are not feeling very hopeful. We must continue to build-up a generation of vitality and hope, who will care about this City, and give a hoot about us when we reach 87 years old. I thank the Board of Supervisors and committee members for the positive action they will take to invest an additional $9.8

million in our youth-serving DCYF grantees! Do right by the people! Thank you!

--

Laurene Chan

Director of Youth Ministries

laurene@cameronhouse.org T 415-781-0401 x142

(pronouns: she/her)

My name is Laurene Chan. I was born and raised here in San Francisco, a third generation Chinese American from grandparents who immigrated here through Angel Island. For 20 years - and the last 13 as Director of Youth Ministries - I've worked for the community through Donaldina Cameron House, a long standing, faith-based community agency in Chinatown. I started as a community kid in their summer programs at the age of 6. My parents trained for leadership and service through their programs starting at the age of 12. My mother is now 87 years old and braving this pandemic. Her memory is sometimes fuzzy, but as a San Franciscan, she's experienced and does remember how this City - time and time again - has stood up and done right by the people of this City.

I urge you to give a 10% increase in the cost of doing business for all youth-serving nonprofit workers contracted through DCYF to address the inequity gap between comparable City employee position wages and City contracted nonprofit worker wages. The average difference shows a 45% greater salary for public sector workers than nonprofit workers.

I give public comment today, because of my ancestors. My work in an immigrant community honors my ancestors who experienced life here as immigrants. The needs of immigrant families still remain - and even more so because of this pandemic. Each DCYF grantee is called to the vital role of healing, peacemaker, as a change agent of hope at a time when families in need are not feeling very hopeful. We must continue to build-up a generation of vitality and hope, who will care about this City, and give a hoot about us when we reach 87 years old. I thank the Board of Supervisors and committee members for the positive action they will take to invest an additional $9.8 million in our youth-serving DCYF grantees! Do right by the people! Thank you!

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: SYC Learning Hub Request
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:12:48 AM

From: Mcdonald, Courtney (BOS) <courtney.mcdonald@sfgov.org>
Sent: Sunday, August 16, 2020 9:10 PM
To: Work <misha@unitedplayaz.org>
Cc: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Re: SYC Learning Hub Request

Thank you for sending this Misha. Cc'ing the Budget Clerk Linda Wong here, it looks like the email you used for her was a little off.

Best,

Courtney McDonald
Legislative Aide
Office of Supervisor Matt Haney
C: 858-663-0564

From: Work <misha@unitedplayaz.org>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 11:21:02 AM
To: linda.wong@sdgov.org <linda.wong@sdgov.org>
Cc: Haney, Matt (BOS) <matt.haney@sfgov.org>; Zou, Han (BOS) <han.zou@sfgov.org>; Mcdonald, Courtney (BOS) <courtney.mcdonald@sfgov.org>; Su, Maria (CHF) <maria.su@dcyf.org>; Stefani, Catherine (BOS) <catherine.stefani@sfgov.org>; Peskin, Aaron (BOS) <aaron.peskin@sfgov.org>; Mar, Gordon (BOS) <gordon.mar@sfgov.org>; Preston, Dean (BOS) <dean.preston@sfgov.org>; Yee, Norman (BOS) <norman.yee@sfgov.org>; Mandelman, Rafael (BOS) <rafael.mandelman@sfgov.org>; Ronen, Hillary <hillary.ronen@sfgov.org>; Walton, Shamann (BOS) <shamann.walton@sfgov.org>; Safai, Ahsha (BOS) <ahsha.safai@sfgov.org>; Jones, De'Anthony (MYR) <deanthony.jones@sfgov.org>
Subject: SYC Learning Hub Request

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hello Budget Committee and Supervisors,

United Playaz and Westbay Pilipino Multiservice Center submit our request for $800,000 to provide a year round Community Learning Hub for a minimum of 100 youth.

100% of Bessie Carmichael Students are performing at a minimum 40 points below standard academically. The distance learning of the Spring was an abject failure for them and without support this Fall, violence prevention data shows that these students will end up in jail or dead.

We were the only Soma provider to offer in person summer program at a loss of $150k to our combined orgs. We successfully completed 8 weeks of in person program with NO Covid cases. The improvement in the children's mental health and well being was immediately visible and it is extremely important to us to be able to continue to provide this service.

We are ready. We are willing. We need your support to make it happen! I can't make public comment as we are staffing the food distribution at Bessie right now. Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions or require additional info.

In peace,

Misha Olivas
Director of Community and Family Engagement

https://docs.google.com/document/d/15fYFf6KBGczjgyOwJslQCaH4e6sunYbYi_h0aO-2BKw/edit

Sent from my iPhone

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: DCYF Budget -Budget Increase for CBO's Operating Community Learning Hubs & Our SoMa SYC Budget Request
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:14:49 AM

From: Carla Laurel <carla@westbaycentersf.org>
Sent: Saturday, August 15, 2020 10:43 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Fwd: DCYF Budget -Budget Increase for CBO's Operating Community Learning Hubs & Our SoMa SYC Budget Request

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Begin forwarded message:

From: Carla Laurel <carla@westbaycentersf.org>
Date: August 13, 2020 at 6:30:13 PM PDT
To: linda.wong@sfgov.org
Cc: Matt.Haney@sfgov.org, Han Zou <han.zou@sfgov.org>, Courtney McDonald Haney's Office <courtney.mcdonald@sfgov.org>, Maria Su <maria.su@dcyf.org>, Catherine.Stefani@sfgov.org, Aaron.Peskin@sfgov.org, Gordon.Mar@sfgov.org, Dean.Preston@sfgov.org, Norman.Yee@sfgov.org, Rafael.Mandelman@sfgov.org, Hillary.Ronen@sfgov.org, Shamann.Walton@sfgov.org, Ahsha.Safai@sfgov.org, "Chinchilla, Monica (BOS)" <monica.chinchilla@sfgov.org>, De'Anthony Jones <deanthony.jones@sfgov.org>
Subject: DCYF Budget -Budget Increase for CBO's Operating Community Learning Hubs & Our SoMa SYC Budget Request

Dear Budget Committee and Supervisors,

My name is Carla Laurel, the Director of West Bay Pilipino Multi Service Center. United Playaz and West Bay Pilipino Multi Service Center are asking that DCYF increase funding for Community Learning Hubs doing in person programming. We are submitting our request for $800,000 to provide a year round Community Learning Hub for a minimum of 100 youth. It is only equitable for CBO's willing to do this level of programming to have increases in their budgets, but also, that are comparable to city employees asked to be emergency responders.

SoMa needs to be prioritized. The students we serve are already behind the average of the school district's in performance. The majority of our students are from Bessie Carmichael where ALL students are below grade level in math & reading. We also have the most homeless students compared to any other SFUSD school in the district. Since virtually learning in March, almost all of our students could not get the support they needed.

Regardless of not having enough funding and space limitations, we prioritized in person summer programming as soon as it was permitted by DPH. We were the only two orgs to offer in person summer programming in SoMa this summer for 8 weeks. We had 0 Covid cases.

Our students were behind before virtual learning. Now that it is virtual learning through fall, we are committed to supporting our young people because it is life and death. We are not teachers. But we are willing to provide as much in person support to make sure our kids have a chance to be successful. Currently, we are not funded to do that. Our DCYF funding is for after-school programming. Asking orgs to go from after-school support to full-day support, without an increase in funding, is impossible. Those orgs willing to do Community Learning Hubs amidst COVID 19 (and the health risks, preparations, & protocols of in person programming) should have an increase in funding because it is only fair and equitable. Please increase funding for CBO's doing Community Learning Hubs and fund our request of $800,000 so that CBO staff that are risking their lives to do in person work are being paid comparably to other city employees.

Feel free to reach out for any questions and we would be happy to provide more information.

Thanks,
Carla

Carla Laurel
Executive Director
West Bay Pilipino Multi-Service Center
175 7th Street
San Francisco, CA 94103
(415) 431 - 6266
M: (415) 748 - 4864
www.westbaycenter.org

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: SF needs to fund safety and to fight the horrendous crime rate
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:14:57 AM

From: Meina Young <meinayoung1@gmail.com>
Sent: Saturday, August 15, 2020 12:45 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Re: SF needs to fund safety and to fight the horrendous crime rate

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear budget committee,

Top story today is that people are leaving SF. Families with kids don't want to live here.

All evidence shows that SF is a colossal failure. While all city departments need to review for efficiency, government-funded nonprofits also need to be evaluated for overlaps and effectiveness. The pandemic is hurting everyone; a rich city like SF should have assistance for people to pay rents and should save for rainy days. Please stop increasing taxes. Please refund money to taxpayers who are hurting now.

Schools are failing. Instead of indoctrinating social divide and entitlement, reform schools to restore respect for traditional family values, work ethics and self-reliance to help our population succeed in global competition. Train people better skills and hold them higher expectations for a productive life.

Meina Young

SF resident

On Fri, Aug 14, 2020 at 8:17 PM Meina Young <meinayoung1@gmail.com> wrote:

chasa boudin is lying.

Police report burglary spike in San Francisco during pandemic

<https://www.kron4.com/news/bay-area/police-report-burglary-spike-in-san-francisco-during-pandemic/>

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: SF needs to fund safety and to fight the horrendous crime rate
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:15:08 AM

From: Meina Young <meinayoung1@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:17 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: SF needs to fund safety and to fight the horrendous crime rate

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

chasa boudin is lying.

Police report burglary spike in San Francisco during pandemic

<https://www.kron4.com/news/bay-area/police-report-burglary-spike-in-san-francisco-during-pandemic/>

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: DEFEND Police
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:15:16 AM

From: Terry C <focusgrow@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 7:39 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: Breed, Mayor London (MYR) <mayorlondonbreed@sfgov.org>; Ronen, Hillary <hillary.ronen@sfgov.org>; Haney, Matt (BOS) <matt.haney@sfgov.org>; Mandelman, Rafael (BOS) <rafael.mandelman@sfgov.org>; Fewer, Sandra (BOS) <sandra.fewer@sfgov.org>; Yee, Norman (BOS) <norman.yee@sfgov.org>; Walton, Shamann (BOS) <shamann.walton@sfgov.org>; Dean Preston <lan@votedean.com>; Eva Chao <mhcllc000@gmail.com>; Meina Young <meinayoung1@gmail.com>; Ellen Lee Zhou <ellenzhou888@yahoo.com>; Ellen Lee <ellen999333@yahoo.com>; Wendy Wong <ccue.wendywong@gmail.com>; Lisa Tsang (volunteer) <lisa.tsangusa@hotmail.com>; Lisa Remmer <LisaRemmer@gmail.com>; Lou Ann Bassan <louann.bassan@gmail.com>; Kitty Cheng <mwcheng_94122@yahoo.com>; Teresa Duque <terdq@yahoo.com>
Subject: DEFEND Police

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Mayor and Supervisors,

I do not know what the total budget for police is, and what % of funding and personnel are estimated to be cut.

I am okay if there was excess or overstaffed, and a small percentage to be re-allocated for better avenues to address social issues, mental health, homeless, basic necessities, drug addiction / rehab, skill training.

If there was a LOT of repeated offenders with drug or mental health issues recycling in-and-out of jail, then, the "system" is not working. We should re-direct some fund for Social services to provide OUTREACH, HOUSING, MENTAL HEALTH / Health care, DRUG REHAB, FOOD, Basic Necessities and SKILL TRAINING.

We dump A LOT of money into WELFARE infrastructure. it is NOT yielding result. We have MORE CRIMES and Homelessness and TENT CITY. NOT right!

Money was not well spent to create results. A lot went to NPOs for ADULTS' JOBS and BENEFITS. Worst yet, NPOs spent lot training ACTIVISTS, create medias, posters, campaigns and host PROTESTS.

NPOS's Money was spent to perpetuate "Racial Injustice" rhetoric. While many middle-income blacks since the passage of a Civil Rights Act 55 years ago achieved great accomplishments were not mentioned. Poor blacks need help. But Not all blacks. It should be ECONOMIC based, not skin-color based.

Sincerely,
Terry Chong

We do NOT

--

Sent from Gmail Mobile

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: SF must Budget to fight crimes & protect law abiding residents
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:15:48 AM

From: Meina Young <meinayoung1@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:39 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: SF must Budget to fight crimes & protect law abiding residents

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear budget committee,

SF has three times the crime rates compared to CA and national numbers:

<https://www.areavibes.com/san+francisco-ca/crime>

SF being the richest city should do much better than that. Whatever you are doing is making SF a disgrace, the laughing stock of the world. People are leaving the City. Safety is a top priority for residents. Please put aside your political agenda, protect your constituents' safety and livelihoods, and keep this beautiful city world class.

Meina Young
SF resident

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public Comment - Budget and Appropriations Committee - City Administrator's Budget Hearing
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:16:04 AM

From: Annette Wong <awong@caasf.org>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:34 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public Comment - Budget and Appropriations Committee - City Administrator's Budget Hearing

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hi Ms. Wong,

I am writing to submit public comment on today's Budget and Appropriations Committee Special Meeting for the City Administrator's Budget.

"My name is Annette Wong, Director of Programs at Chinese for Affirmative Action. Thank you for the opportunity to provide public comment today. The City Administrator's office has been crucial in prioritizing services to immigrant communities through the Office of Civic Engagement and Immigrant Affairs (OCEIA), for which community groups like CAA are grateful for, particularly in these times. Specifically, OCEIA funds language access work and service navigation which has been crucial during San Francisco's COVID recovery phase, alongside civic engagement of immigrant communities which are the communities most impacted by COVID and the economic fallout.

In the last several months, immigrant communities have faced an immense gap in information and access to services, due to language barriers, digital barriers, and social isolation. Community organizations have been able to bridge this gap, and work directly with city departments to improve access, and bridge with the City's most vulnerable immigrant communities to ensure that information is circulated and accessible. The services community organization's provide in these times are crucial to the City's recovery as a whole as immigrant community members make up such a large percentage of the City's population. Funding reductions to these programs would limit the sustainability of immigrant families in San Francisco, at a time when there is a public health crisis, and a federal climate that is overtly xenophobic and anti-immigrant. San Francisco history and legacy as a beacon for immigrants must be upheld, not just in word, but in deed.

Thank you to the Budget and Appropriations Committee and the City Administrator's office for upholding the City's values and commitment to immigrant inclusion."

Thank you!

-- Annette

--

Annette Wong 王浩儀

Director of Programs 項目主任 Chinese for Affirmative Action 華人權益促進會

17 Walter U. Lum Place, San Francisco, CA 94108

415-274-6750x301 | awong@caasf.org Join our Movement Forward! : Facebook | Twitter | Website

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: A request for sustainable public safety resources over the coming years.
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:16:14 AM

From: John Zwolinski <johnzwo@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 5:15 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: A request for sustainable public safety resources over the coming years.

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

August 13, 2020

Dear Supervisors,

I m writing you on my own behalf, from the perspective of a parent, teacher, community member and one who has worked closely with SFPD as a representative on Taraval Station's Community Police Advisory Board, and with SF SAFE as a neighborhood watch block captain, to very earnestly request that you maintain adequate funding levels for SFPD and community-focused public safety initiatives like CPAB and the crime prevention and education work that SF SAFE does citywide.

While the national movement to provide funding for other means of responding to emergencies i our communities is powerful and deeply worthy, a properly funded police department, well trained in Problem Oriented Policing, as well as partner community organizations such as CPABs and SF-SAFE, remain vital elements in maintaining public safety.

Thank you for your consideration.

Most Sincerely,

John Zwolinski

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Please DO NOT defund police dept
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:16:21 AM

-----Original Message-----

From: Yuen lee <yuenylee@hotmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 4:53 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>; Yee, Norman (BOS) <norman.yee@sfgov.org>; Breed, Mayor London (MYR) <mayorlondonbreed@sfgov.org>
Subject: Please DO NOT defund police dept

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

I have been a resident of SF since 1967. I grew up in this SF, I love SF but SF is no longer the city I knew. Crime rate, burglaries, home invasion, shootings... have been increasing every year. I lived in different neighborhoods during these years and I felt safe but I am not sure if I can feel this way anymore. There are not enough police to care or patrol all the district in SF. Our hearts go to the families that were affected by police brutality. Yes, there are some bad policemen out there but not all police officers are evil. Many police officers are very dedicated to their job and they are at a high risk profession to protect SF citizens. Pleas do not defund the police department. SF is a city with diverse culture and people. The funding should assist those in need and not just to one specific race group. Thank you for your consideration

Yuen Lee
Sent from my iPad

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: No cut police fund
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:16:33 AM

-----Original Message-----

From: Cecelia Ng <cecelia@californiadelicious.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 4:35 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: No cut police fund

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Please don't cut the police funding, we need police to protect us. Thanks

Sent from my iPhone

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Budget & Appropriations Cmte Hearing, 8/14 E-Comment
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:16:42 AM

From: Leticia Arce <Leticia@cjjc.org>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 4:32 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>; Fewer, Sandra (BOS) <sandra.fewer@sfgov.org>; Waltonstaff (BOS) <waltonstaff@sfgov.org>; Yee, Norman (BOS) <norman.yee@sfgov.org>; MandelmanStaff, [BOS] <mandelmanstaff@sfgov.org>; Ronen, Hillary <hillary.ronen@sfgov.org>
Subject: Budget & Appropriations Cmte Hearing, 8/14 E-Comment

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Good afternoon to the members of the Budget & Appropriations Cmte,

My name is Leticia Arce, I am a tenant of 12 years in SF and the SF housing lead organizer with Causa Justa :: Just Cause. I am a resident of district 7. I am submitting this comment on behalf of our organization, our membership, and the clients we serve on our tenant counseling hotline.

The current budget, as proposed, is an increase for SFPD in 2021 and eliminates ZERO officers over the next two years. This budget is dangerous in the middle of a global health pandemic and will cause more harm. We must disarm and disband the SFPD and Sheriff. We know that the safest communities don't have the most cops or Sheriffs; they have the most resources available to their disposal.

After the past month of protests and public hearings, it is no longer possible to pretend that a silent majority of San Franciscans see policing and incarceration as solutions to our city's problems, or want to see our city's funds spent on the SFPD rather than on reinvestment in education, social services, and community resources. I attended the hearing on July 8th and heard most callers also speak to the need to Defund SFPD and protect the existing safety net. In my conversations with our membership regarding this topic, folks have brought up that they don't feel safe or supported by police and also believe that critical resources should be protected at this time. Sadly, I also know about tenants who have been evicted by police on more than one occasion.

It is crucial to protect the existing safety net and services people have access to at this time. We have already seen how this pandemic has disproportionately impacted Black, Latinx, and immigrant communities; our people are dying and losing employment at higher rights. We must do all that we can to protect the most vulnerable populations in our city; this includes funding the services that are needed to combat displacement and the wave of evictions that we know is coming. With just over half of the SFPD budget, $320 million dollars, we can house every unhoused person in San Francisco, while still having money left over to invest in healthcare, free public transit, education, universal childcare, and alternative safety programs that actually keep us all safe.

Rather than cutting funding from this department that provides much needed services in the time of a housing crisis and global health pandemic, the City should be cutting the budget of the SFPD and the Sheriff to reallocate those funds to much needed community services. Again, no cuts to other community services and make cuts from SFPD and Sheriff departments budgets instead.

Sincerely,

Leticia Arce

--

Leticia Arce
SF Housing, Land, & Development Lead Organizer
Causa Justa :: Just Cause
415-487-9203 Ext. 209
Full contact information at www.cjjc.org

CONFIDENTIAL NOTICE: This email is for the sole use of the intended recipient(s) and may contain confidential and/or privileged information. Any review, use, disclosure or distribution by persons other than the intended recipient(s) is prohibited. Thank you.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public Comment, City Administrator's Budget Hearing
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:17:07 AM
Attachments: Public Comment City Budget Hearing SF.pdf

From: Rebecca Dean <rebecca@carecensf.org>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 4:23 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public Comment, City Administrator's Budget Hearing

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hello,

I am writing to submit a public comment for today's City Administrator's Budget Hearing, on behalf of Carecen SF and the Language Access Network. Please see my attached comments in the Word document. If there is anything else I need to do, please let me know.

Sincerely,

--

Rebecca Dean, MSW

Case Manager

rebecca@carecensf.org

main: 415-872-7465 | direct: (415) 617-5108

3143 Mission Street, San Francisco, CA 94110

carecensf.org

CENTRAL AMERICAN RESOURCE CENTER
CENTRO DE RECURSOS CENTROAMERICANOS

Support CARECEN SF by making a donation today

GSA/ OCEIA Budget Hearing Talking Points

Hi, my name is Rebecca Dean and I am a case manager at Carecen San Francisco. On behalf of Carecen and the Language Access Network, I first would like to thank the city administrator's office for continuing to fund our efforts around language access advocacy and education during these uncertain times.

Carecen, along with our Language Access Network partners, is working extremely hard during the COVID-19 pandemic to provide services to our immigrant community. As an OCEIA grantee, Carecen prioritizes family advocacy and direct services by providing education to immigrant families on their language access rights, and helping our clients navigate interpretation in order to benefit from city economic recovery programs.

Over the past 6 months, the pandemic has exacerbated the need for language access services among immigrant families in our city. Due to office closures and the shut-down of a majority of businesses, our clients have faced challenges in accessing basic services such as food, health insurance, transportation, and housing. The OCEIA grant has enabled our family wellness program to remove barriers faced by immigrants, including the digital divide, lack of interpretation, and complex program applications.

Carecen is grateful to the city for sustaining funding for these vital services throughout the pandemic. We know that now, more than ever, language access services are critical for immigrants in San Francisco, many of whom are at higher risk for contracting the virus because they are essential workers. We also know that the federal climate remains hostile to immigrants. Almost every day we hear of new policies attempting to keep migrants out of our country: changes to DACA, the executive ruling on asylum, and USCIS fee increases, for example.

Today we are asking that San Francisco continue to send a strong message to immigrant families that they are welcome here, and serve a necessary role in our economy and community. Thank you again for your ongoing commitment to fund non-profit organizations in our city working with immigrant families.

Sincerely,

Rebecca L. Dean

Case Manager, Carecen SF

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public Comment - OCEIA Budget
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:17:15 AM

From: David Imhoff <david@dscs.org>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 4:15 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public Comment - OCEIA Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To whom it may concern,

My name is David Imhoff, and I am an employee of Dolores Street Community Services, where I coordinate the SF Immigrant Legal & Education Network (SFILEN). As an activist and an immigrant rights advocate, I want to express my strong support for the SF Day Laborer and Women's Collective (DLP/WC) programs, as well as the Deportation Defense and Legal Advocacy Program (DDLAP) of DSCS.

The DLP/WC serve over 350 day laborers and domestic workers yearly as a community gathering and personal development space, offering job readiness programs, and front line social services as well as service connection for a diverse community of low wage workers. The DLP/WC serves particularly vulnerable populations: recent immigrants, women, many which are unhoused or living in congregate settings, with culturally appropriate personal and professional services. DDLAP, a member of SFILEN, provides free immigration consultations and regular clinics to provide screenings, orientations, and assistance with urgent legal filings. The program also advocates for dreamers through Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) Screening and Processing.

Given the essential services that these programs provide to vulnerable community members most impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic, I would like to urge the Budget and Appropriations Committee to protect essential funding for the Office of Civic Engagement & Immigrant Affairs, in particular for their focused community projects and affirmative relief and immigration programs. I also want to echo the call to commit to closing County Jail 4 (located at 850 Bryant Street), defund the Sheriff's Department, and divest from punishment, policing, and criminalization in this budget cycle.

In response to COVID-19 and its devastating impact on immigrant communities, I ask that you:

- Keep our organizations whole by not cutting our budget allocations
- Allocate sufficient resources to sustain our ability to continue to serve as first responders for essential workers during COVID-19;
- Plan to fund recovery for our community, as the City should, to ensure that a vulnerable and highly impacted population can recover from the COVID-19 disaster.

Thank you,

David Imhoff, SFILEN Coordinator

SF Immigrant Legal & Education Network

Dolores Street Community Services

Pronouns: he/him/they/them/él/elle

938 Valencia St., San Francisco, CA 94110

T: (415) 282-6209 x *115 | F: (415) 282-2826

E-mail: david@dscs.org

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: 支持警察维持治安稳定,不可削減他們的經費,,
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:17:28 AM

-----Original Message-----

From: Sherry Fung <slaufu@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 3:34 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: 支持警察维持治安稳定,不可削減他們的經費,,

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

市府的defunding 有如:手指流血受伤了,应该去治疗而不是把整个手臂掉。一直以来他们对罪犯强
调correction 修正,不捉他们,但对一两个苹果的懲罰是整个警队。坏苹果一两个,坏人一大堆,这些钱用作教育
和安装监控,起诉和执法,不应再放入某个族群的福利。

Sent from my iPhone

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public comment for 8/13 Budget Hearing
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:17:39 AM

From: Hannah F. <hannahforsberg@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:18 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public comment for 8/13 Budget Hearing

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

- My name is Hannah Forsberg. I am a queer white woman and public health researcher and I was born and raised in San Francisco. Supervisors, I am writing in support of the demand that you secure funding to protect Lyon Martin. As the past Clinic Manager, I can offer insight into the amazing programs and services that DPH funding will save.
- I started at the Clinic as a Health Worker Volunteer. The Clinic's innovative health worker program trains community members to become health care providers. 96% of volunteers become health care professionals. Many of our past volunteers are on the front line of this pandemic.
- All volunteers are trained in cultural inclusion, client-centered care, and harm reduction. These skills are necessary for serving all people, and especially marginalized people. For example, I know clients who avoided getting their pap smear at all costs-- until they built trusting relationships with our health workers and clinicians.
- Lyon Martin is one of the only clinics that provides trans and queer-inclusive abortion care. A recent national study found that almost a quarter of trans and non-binary participants who got pregnant had an abortion. Stigma and gendering of these services makes it more difficult for trans, non-binary and queer people to access them. Lyon Martin is critical in providing these sensitive services to our communities.
- Our communities avoid basic health care because the cisgender and hetero-centric health care system harm us. The lifetimes of mistreatment that make us avoid health care do not go away in a pandemic. Coronavirus testing is no different. Patients need their community to provide them care during this crisis.
- In a public health crisis, communities who are marginalized in non-crisis times are experiencing increased and compounded negative impacts. Trans, non-binary and queer people, and especially those of color, must be prioritized in this moment. DPH has the power to do that by funding Lyon Martin.

- It is crucial that both the requests for continuing services and for separating from HealthRight360 are funded. The clinic needs funding to separate and build infrastructure in order to sustain services. This is literally life or death for our communities. Please protect this critical community resource.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public Comment from TGIJP: Budget and Appropriations Committee (Special)
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:17:47 AM

From: Alex Binsfeld <alex@tgijp.org>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 2:11 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>; Board of Supervisors, (BOS) <board.of.supervisors@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public Comment from TGIJP: Budget and Appropriations Committee (Special)

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Good afternoon,

TGI Justice Project (TGIJP) is a group of transgender, gender variant, and intersex (TGI) people—inside and outside of prisons, jails and detention centers—creating a united family in the struggle for survival and freedom. TGIJP is a Black trans led organization that serves TGI people, especially Black trans women, who are currently and formerly incarcerated. The communities we serve have suffered severe harm from the current criminal legal system. They are overpoliced; face high rates of abuse by law enforcement, arrest, prosecution, and incarceration; and receive disparate treatment once incarcerated.

TGIJP recognizes that policing is just one part of the criminal legal system that causes harm to Black and Brown communities, especially TGI communities. We recognize that this system must be transformed in its entirety if we are to stop the cycle of state violence against these communities. In addition to abolishing and divesting from police, we must abolish prisons and jails, defund the District Attorney, and defund the probation and juvenile probation departments. To stop the cycle of structural racist violence, San Francisco must invest in our communities and in models that actually keep people safe. TGIJP asks San Francisco to follow Black trans leadership, as Minneapolis did when they abolished their police department. We ask that San Francisco accept TGIJP's demands, which are as follows:

Demand: Defund the Police Department

-
- Cut the SFPD budget by
 - 100% this year
 -
 -
 - End SFPD minimum staffing requirement in city charter by passing measure on the November 2020 Ballot

-
-
- Ban SFPD from bringing revenue
- from sources outside the city budget
-
-
- Do not engage in bargaining
- with police unions
-
-
- Prohibit private/other
- forms of police funding
-

Demand: Disarm and Demilitarize All San Francisco Communities

-
- No City or County department or entity shall own, purchase,
- rent, store, or use weapons, vehicles, tools, or equipment that can inflict harm, including
- but not limited to: kinetic impact projectiles, chemical agents/irritants or lachrymator agents, acoustic weapons, directed energy weapons, water cannons, disorientation devices, ultrasonic cannons, firearms, tasers, batons, riot shields, battering rams, cameras
- or surveillance infrastructure, cars, motorcycles, MRAP, bearcats, tanks, helicopters, vans, or paddywagons, or any other device that is designed to be used on individuals or multiple individuals to cause pain or discomfort
- -
 - Destroy all existing inventory;
 - no sale or transfer to other departments or entities.
 -
-
- Return all military equipment
- to federal government and ban military training exercises
-
-
- Disband gang task force
- initiatives and other explicitly racist policing
-
-

- Remove SFPD from SF Public
- Schools
- -
 - Rescind MOU for SFPD within
 - our public schools
 -
 -
 - Remove all surveillance
 - and school surveillance equipment such as metal detectors
 -
-
- Remove SFPD from community
- programs, including but not limited to:
- -
 - Police Activities League
 -
 -
 - Reserve Police Officer Program
 -
 -
 - Wilderness Adventure Program
 -
 -
 - Operation Genesis
 -
 -
 - Limited English Proficiency
 - Service
 -
 -
 - SAFE (Safety Awareness for
 - Everyone)
 -

Demand: Defund and Dismantle the Jails

-
- Cut Sheriff's Department
- budget by 100% this year
-

- Close all SF jails now by:
 - -
 - Working with judges and district attorneys to free everyone from the jails
 -
 -
 - Instating a hiring freeze for the SF Sheriff's Office
 -
 -
 - Cutting all investment in new training for SF Sheriff employees
 -
 -
 - Absolutely no new investments in jails
 -
-
- Disband and transition Sheriff Department personnel to other roles in alignment with SF labor laws
-
-
- Eliminate extensive bargaining with correctional officers' unions
-
-
- Ban Sheriff Department from holding people convicted on federal and state felony charges
-
-
- Release all people from county jails now
-
-
- Close all jails, police headquarters, precinct stations, and other physical infrastructure
-
-
- Renovate and give infrastructure to local community groups working on non-carceral, non-violent solutions for community care
-

Demand: Defund the Probation Department

-
- Cut Probation Department
- and Juvenile Probation Department budget by 100% this year
-
-
- End Electronic Monitoring
-
-
- End drug testing
-
-
- Redirect funding within
- the Probation Department to grassroots community programs that provide life-affirming and restorative resources for all San Franciscans without criminalization or punishment, including those that provide child care and dependent care, education, food security,
- harm reduction, housing security, job development, mental health and physical health care, parenting resources, transportation assistance, and other interventions and supportive services, especially those services that are culturally competent for those most
- impacted by the prison industrial complex
-

Demand: Defund Other Forms of Policing

-
- Defund and disband transit
- policing
-
-
- Continue refusing to collaborate
- with ICE
-

Demand: Reconciliation and Reparations

-

- Offer all former sheriffs
- and police officers reassignment and require them to go through non-violence workshops, training, and presentations detailing the harms done by the prison industrial complex
-
-
- Invest funding that had
- been used for branches of the prison industrial complex in communities who have suffered the most harm, such as Black and Indigenous people, especially transgender, gender-variant, and intersex Black and Indigenous people and other multiply marginalized Black
- and Indigenous people. Fund community infrastructure and basic needs such as housing, food, education, and physical/mental healthcare
-
-
- Develop, build, and sustain
- systems of transformative justice, including:
- -
 - Skills for violence and
 - crisis intervention
 -
 -
 - Accountability systems that
 - do not rely on police intervention or carceral punishment, such as restorative justice programs
 -
 -
 - Community based re-entry
 - services for people being released, which are not tied to prison industrial complex agencies and departments, especially those that are culturally competent for those most impacted by the prison industrial complex
 -

Please let me know if you have any questions. I can be reached at alex@tgijp.org or 415-554-8491.

Thank you,
Alex Binsfeld

--

Alex Binsfeld
Pronouns: They/Them
Legal Director
alex@tgijp.org

TGI Justice Project

415.554.8491 | Web | Facebook | Instagram | Twitter

Mailing address: 370 Turk Street, PMB 370 SF CA 94102

Make it happen, Mama! Consider donating as we celebrate 15 years of Black trans freedom fighting!

<https://donatenow.networkforgood.org/TGIJP>

NOTICE: This email is confidential and may contain legally privileged information. It is intended solely for the person or entity to which it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, any disclosure, copying, distribution, action taken or not taken in reliance of the email is prohibited and may be unlawful. If you received the email in error, please reply to the sender immediately.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW:
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:18:05 AM

From: Yuk Mei Ng <yukmeing1243@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:36 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject:

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

please don't cut policeman
Thank you

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public Comment Letter - Miguel from Day Labor Program & La Colectiva
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:18:14 AM

From: Miguel Albarran-Fernandez <MFernandez@dscs.org>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 1:13 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: Francisco Herrera <francisco@dscs.org>
Subject: Public Comment Letter - Miguel from Day Labor Program & La Colectiva

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hi Linda,

I would like to submit the letter below as my public comment for today's Budget and Appropriations Committee. I will be unable to wait until public comment, but hoping to make my voice heard. I hope you are able to share it during public comment.

Hi my name is Miguel Albarran-Fernandez and I am Lead Organizer with the SF Day Labor & La Colectiva Program of Dolores Street Community Services, serving primarily in San Francisco. I am writing this to express my concern over budget decisions that may affect the most vulnerable populations in the city, Day Laborers and Domestic Workers, and to advocate the defunding of criminalization (jails and police) so that we can protect and expand much more needed community resources for working class black and brown families during this global crisis.

The Day Labor Program and La Colectiva serves over 350 day laborers and domestic workers yearly as a community gathering and personal development space, offering job readiness programs, and front line social services as well as service connection for a diverse community of low wage workers. The DLP/WC serves particularly vulnerable populations: recent immigrants, women, many which are unhoused or living in congregate settings, with culturally appropriate personal and professional services.

As a program, and as someone who comes a working class families similar to the ones I work with under my role, I would like to express the power and impact that programs like ours and many other community service organizations across the city have on these families. During this pandemic, our community has been at the frontlines of outreach. Our program has done it through education, advocacy, a hotline, relief funds, partnership with the Latino Task Force hub, engaging city departments, expanding contact tracing program, and campaigns for safety and health; stretching out capacity to ensure undocumented and immigrant communities were not left out of local, state, and national economic recovery effort. We echo the call to commit to closing County Jail 4 (located at 850 Bryant Street), defund the Sheriff's Department, and divest from punishment, policing, and criminalization in this budget cycle. At a time like this, we need more health and support, not jails and policing.

In response to COVID-19 and its devastating impact on our community, we ask that you:

- Keep our organizations whole by not cutting our budget allocations
- Allocate sufficient resources to sustain our ability to continue to serve as first responders for essential workers during COVID-19;
- Plan to fund recovery for our community, as the City should, to ensure that a vulnerable and highly impacted population can recover from the COVID-19 disaster.

Thank you for your time and your efforts in modeling what a city can do when it makes a conscious effort to uplift the most vulnerable in our society at a time of international emergency. May you all receive good karma you are putting into the world. Sincerely,

Miguel Angel

Miguel Albarran-Fernandez
mfernandez@dscs.org
760-969-8749

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public comment for 8/14 Budget and Appropriations Committee Hearing, Item 1 - City Administrator's Budget
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:18:35 AM

-----Original Message-----

From: Karina Almanza <keam_14@outlook.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 12:25 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: aherrera <aherrera@dscs.org>
Subject: Public comment for 8/14 Budget and Appropriations Committee Hearing, Item 1 - City Administrator's Budget

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Good morning,

My name is Karina Almanza and I am a Program Assistant with the Deportation Defense and Legal Advocacy Program of Dolores Street Community Services, where I work with attorneys to provide legal services for DACA recipients through support from the City Administrator's Office of Civic Engagement and Immigrant Affairs (OCEIA). I have personally benefitted from OCEIA's services myself as I am a DACA recipient and was lucky enough to participate in the DreamSF Fellowship program's 2014 cohort, where I received mentoring and gained professional skills that I still use to this day. It was through this program that I first became involved in giving back to my community through working in the immigration legal field.

I believe it is important to continue funding legal services for DACA recipients because it makes an incredible difference for recipients to be able to live in this country with some kind of hope and some kind of safety net and stability, amidst all the chaos that is happening in our country right now.

We have dreams, goals, aspirations, just like everyone else, and the protections and benefits that DACA provides us with have made it possible for many of us to have access to the resources we need to succeed. Being able to apply for DACA does not solely affect the recipients themselves, but also their families, as we share every success with them, not to mention sharing our financial support. And, of course, our communities at large also benefit through the work and the love we give back.

I think given the constant attacks from the government to the DACA program, and the uncertainty of its future, it is especially important to show our support as allies now and fight in solidarity with them against the injustices created by our corrupt immigration system. We need to help empower our communities, and protect their health and mental wellbeing. We need to show them that we see them; we need to show them that they matter; we need to show them that we are here for them.

It is crucial that organizations like us at Dolores Street continue to provide assistance with DACA services from OCEIA for our clients at low or no cost. Many of them are low-income and struggle to pay for the filing fee, and would definitely not be able to afford to pay a private attorney for their services. Thus, the City's funding of our legal services for DACA recipients through OCEIA is what makes it possible for these community members to be able to apply for DACA and gain some of the basic human rights that they so deserve but would otherwise be denied to them.

Thank you for taking the time to listen and I hope you take this into consideration in deciding the budget and continuing to fund the Office of Civic Engagement and Immigrant Affairs (OCEIA) through the City Administrator's Office.

Sincerely,

Karina Almanza
Program Assistant
Deportation Defense Program
Dolores Street Community Services

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public comment 8/14 Budget & Appropriations Committee item 1
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:19:09 AM

-----Original Message-----

From: Ana Herrera <aherrera@dscs.org>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:59 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public comment 8/14 Budget & Appropriations Committee item 1

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Comment for Item 1- following presentation from City Administrator's Office.

Good afternoon Supervisors,

My name is Ana Herrera and I am the Legal Director of Dolores Street Community Services, located in the Mission, and providing legal and community services throughout all of San Francisco. Our programs receive financial support from the City Administrator's Office of Civic Engagement and Immigrant Affairs (OCEIA) for both our Day Labor/La Colectiva program and our DACA legal services program. Since 2012, OCEIA has funded us to assist hundreds of San Francisco's DACA-eligible youth (sometimes known as "Dreamers")- teens and young adults who were raised in our community but due to our broken immigration system have no lawful status. We are able to provide these essential legal services - which entail critical protection from deportation and lawful work authorization- only with OCEIA's support and we thank you for supporting their funding ask today. Most, if not all, of these DACA youth identify as people of color, low income, and are students or graduated from SFUSD public schools and our City College. At a time when the federal government has left these community members behind, it is critical we stand with them and continue to renew funding to serve them through OCEIA.

Thank you,
Ana Herrera
Legal Director
Dolores Street Community Services

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Defund Police is Totally Wrong in SF
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:19:27 AM

From: Amy Ca <amycalifornia2016@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:50 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Defund Police is Totally Wrong in SF

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hi,

Defund police is totally wrong on SF.
SF has high crime rate in the US.
Most criminals are from outside of city.
Should not cut any police funding.
I don't want SF become Chicago!!!

Regards,
Amy

Sent from Yahoo Mail for iPhone

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Defund police.
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:19:56 AM

-----Original Message-----

From: winema house <winemahouse@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:17 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Defund police.

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To whom it may concern,

Please vote No to Defend Police! We NEED law enforcement to keep our streets safe for the people, for the tax payers! San Francisco use to be a beautiful city and safe, but now we are on the top of the list has more crime rate in the nation! Please listen to the people, tax payers, voters, DO NOT REFUND THE POLICE!

Sincerely,

Winnie Ma

Sent from my iPad

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Oppose defund polices
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:20:03 AM

-----Original Message-----

From: Lisa Tsang <lisa.tsangusa@hotmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 11:05 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Oppose defund polices

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

All supervisors:

San Francisco total crime rate go up 141% higher than national average, it has report to prove it, everyone knows; please face the fact! One of two bad polices does not represent all! We, you, communities need polices!

Thanks for your time!

San Francisco Voter

Lisa Tsang

Sent from my iPad

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public safety in SF community
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:20:10 AM

From: Kitty Cheng <mwcheng_94122@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:53 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public safety in SF community

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Linda,

SF public safety has been very bad since last few years, and becomes worst lately. We definitely need to keep the police in our city. Please don't defund them.

Thanks,
Kitty Cheng

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Oppose defunding the police $120 million Keep San Francisco Safe for all residents
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:20:23 AM

From: Lee Ellen <ellenzhou888@yahoo.com>

Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 10:45 AM

To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>; Board of Supervisors, (BOS) <board.of.supervisors@sfgov.org>; Fewer, Sandra (BOS) <sandra.fewer@sfgov.org>; Stefani, Catherine (BOS) <catherine.stefani@sfgov.org>; Peskin, Aaron (BOS) <aaron.peskin@sfgov.org>; Mar, Gordon (BOS) <gordon.mar@sfgov.org>; Preston, Dean (BOS) <dean.preston@sfgov.org>; Haney, Matt (BOS) <matt.haney@sfgov.org>; Yee, Norman (BOS) <norman.yee@sfgov.org>; MandelmanStaff, [BOS] <mandelmanstaff@sfgov.org>; Ronen, Hillary <hillary.ronen@sfgov.org>; Walton, Shamann (BOS) <shamann.walton@sfgov.org>; Safai, Ahsha (BOS) <ahsha.safai@sfgov.org>

Cc: Meina Young volunteer <meinayoung1@gmail.com>; Teresa Duque <terdq@yahoo.com>; Wendy Wong <coalition4goodneighborhoods@gmail.com>; Lisa Tsang <lisa.tsangusa@hotmail.com>; Eva Chao <mhcllc000@gmail.com>; Terry C <focusgrow@gmail.com>; Scott, William (POL) <william.scott@sfgov.org>; SFPDCommunityRelations, (POL) <SFPDcommunityrelations@sfgov.org>; SFPDMediaRelations, (POL) <sfpdmediarelations@sfgov.org>; SFPD Central Station, (POL) <sfpdcentralstation@sfgov.org>; SFPD Southern Station, (POL) <SFPDSouthernStation@sfgov.org>; SFPD Bayview Station, (POL) <SFPDBayviewStation@sfgov.org>; SFPD Mission Station, (POL) <SFPDMissionStation@sfgov.org>; SFPD Northern Station, (POL) <sfpdnorthernstation@sfgov.org>; SFPD Park Station, (POL) <SFPDParkStation@sfgov.org>; SFPD Richmond Station, (POL) <sfpdrichmondstation@sfgov.org>; SFPD Ingleside Station, (POL) <SFPDInglesideStation@sfgov.org>; SFPD Taraval Station, (POL) <SFPDTaravalStation@sfgov.org>; SFPD Tenderloin Station, (POL) <SFPDTenderloinStation@sfgov.org>

Subject: Oppose defunding the police $120 million Keep San Francisco Safe for all residents

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Ms. Wong,

Please print this out and hand it to the Board of Supervisors on public today, this morning at 10am. Also put this in public record. Thank you.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

My name is Ellen Lee Zhou and I have been living in San Francisco for more than 33 years. I have been advocating for more police presence in each district to reduce crimes. I am a member or the SFPD ALERT member, helping and defending our police and our city.

To protect victims from crimes such as car break-ins, drug dealings, human trafficking and sex trafficking, we need to defend our police budget, no cut nor no lay off. You will create any more crime victims if you defund $120 millions from the police.

All lives matter throughout all 11 districts in San Francisco, stop cutting any funds from the police department. We love our police and we appreciate their work for our city. Keep San Francisco safe, keep the police in each community in each district. Thank you.

Friday, August 14th, 2020 BOS agenda

https://sfbos.org/sites/default/files/bac081420_agenda.pdf?fbclid=IwAR225l_oc7I2-Bhbkec2JkySxPsDNLzKbTzwutXmgChHCEFMMbSmfk6DSq8

Defunding the Police $120 million

<https://sf-hrc.org/sites/default/files/Reallocation%20of%20SFPD%20Funding%20Report%202.pdf>

Keep the money for the police means protecting you, your families and your love ones in San Francisco. Thank you.

Sincerely;

Ellen Lee Zhou

Ellen Lee Zhou

Mayoral Candidate 2018 / 2019

cc:

San Francisco Coalition for Good Neighborhoods

Revival San Francisco

San Francisco Community Empowerment Center

The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, forbearance, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control. Against such things there is no law. (Bible---Galatians 5:22,23)

Please note: This email may contain confidential and privileged information. Any unauthorized review, use, disclosure or distribution is prohibited. If you are not the intent person/people/parties receiving this email, please delete all contents and notify this sender. Your response is greatly appreciated. Thank you. Ellen Lee Zhou

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: 200567 public comment reference number
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:21:12 AM

From: Board of Supervisors, (BOS) <board.of.supervisors@sfgov.org>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 9:05 AM
To: BOS-Supervisors <bos-supervisors@sfgov.org>
Cc: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: FW: 200567 public comment reference number

From: Rafael Moreno <rafael.moreno@mncsf.org>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 6:38 PM
To: Board of Supervisors, (BOS) <board.of.supervisors@sfgov.org>
Subject: 200567 public comment reference number

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

It is essential that we move quickly in this budget season to divest from a law enforcement, compliance-oriented system to a community-based service delivery system. Current practices and policies are detrimental to our black and brown youth.

The status quo is unacceptable and harmful.

The JPD needs to be rightsized. Reallocate $8 Million.

- Referrals have gone down by 65% in the past decade - with only minor changes in the overall structure and staffing of the department. During this time we have built one of the most effective community-based youth services system in the country. Our bloated Probation system is not only expensive and duplicative, but it emphasizes approaches to youth that are often harmful.
- We have analyzed the Probation Services budget and the most recent organizational and staffing chart, and have made specific recommendations about structural changes based on the need for less fragmented and redundant services. An inflated law enforcement system only emphasizes surveillance and compliance over relationship-oriented, flexible, culturally specific services. At least half of the current staff of Probation Services are no longer needed and should be transferred to more urgent community needs to make better use of the city's limited resources.

- In addition, there is no need for overtime in the Juvenile Hall, with a staff of 90 and a census of 10 - 12. There are also many other superfluous costs which should be addressed.

We need to start now to build the new system.

- $2 Million - The top priority is to restructure our intake system and move all intake into the community - 24/7. This means young people have contact with community agencies from their first point of entry into the system. San Francisco is uniquely positioned to implement this change very quickly. We already have a nationally -recognized community intake system for misdemeanors and non-violent felonies that can be expanded. The decision about whether a young person sleeps in a cell should not rest solely on law enforcement.
- $4 Million - Youth should never be in the Juvenile Hall when it is not mandated by law. Even without an alternative secure facility, there is widespread agreement that half of the children now incarcerated could be in a non-secure setting. Community placements need to be developed immediately to reflect our values. We recommend that enhanced placements be developed now. We are pleased that some money has been found to start this process, but it is nowhere near enough.
- $2 Million - One of the main gaps in our current community-based system is for family support services and incentives for home-based alternatives to detention. That would allow youth to be with their families rather than in a harmful secure setting.

We recommend that the current JPD budget be reduced by $8 Million, and that money be placed on reserve with the full Board of Supervisors pending the submission of a plan for the implementation of the above priorities.

Thank you for your consideration.

Juvenile Justice Providers Association

Rafael Moreno | Youth Services Director

Precita Valley Community Center | Mission Girls | Mission Neighborhood Centers Inc.

Office: (415) 206-7756 | Fax: \(415\) 285-7320285-7320) | Cell: \(415\) 530-0874530-0874)

www.mncsf.org

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public comment for Friday August 14th
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:21:24 AM

-----Original Message-----

From: Carolyn Link <link.carolyn@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:53 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public comment for Friday August 14th

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To Whom it May Concern:

I am writing as public comment to the Budget and Appropriations Committee 10am meeting on 8/14/20.

The budget cuts to sfpd and the sherrif's department are NOT SUFFICIENT! Deeper cuts must be made, especially when so many other departments are seeing deeper cuts.

I believe we need defund the police and sherrif As a lifelong San Franciscan with family in law enforcement, I understand the intense implications of this and the challenge we face in reimagining public services that makes us ALL safer. Even in our idyllic progressive enclave, we still see racist actions and policy from those sworn to serve and protect. The blue code of silence makes us all unsafe.

We need major overhaul and this budget does not go nearly far enough. I do not want my tax dollars funding local terrorism - and thats what police and sheriff bring to our black and brown communities - terrorism. ESPECIALLY during these times, when every dollar in the budget counts - Stop funding terrorism! There are planty of good cops out there, yes, but none seem to get past the blue code of silence. To support these "good cops" and to put our tax dollars towards SUPPORTING our communities, I implore you - reject this budget until more is cut from policing

In addition, get the sheriff out of sf general hospital!!!!

Thank you,
Carolyn Link
Sf resident
Link.carolyn@gmail.com
415-250-0987

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Please adequately fund SFPD
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:21:33 AM

From: Bridget Cannata Denning <bridget.cannata@compass.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:12 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: community@sfsafe.org
Subject: Please adequately fund SFPD

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hi Linda,

As a resident/homeowner in the Richmond neighborhood I would like to support Chief Scott and the need for adequate funding levels of the police.

There are so many amazing community - focused public safety initiatives like the CBAB and crime prevention, education work and community building that SFSAFE promotes citywide supporting all San Francisco communities.

In addition, I have concerns about diverting funding towards other organizations and holding them accountable. The amazing hardworking officers at the Richmond station are expected to do their job, stop crime, manage traffic, be social workers, be neighbor mediation specialists and be community outreach experts. They do a great job but do not have enough support as it is. Please follow Chief Scott's recommendations.

Thank you,
Bridget Cannata Denning
Richmond Resident and Parent

Bridget Cannata Denning

Realtor

d: 415.345.3170

m: 415.722.1333

DRE#: 01880904

bridget.cannata@compass.com

www.compass.com

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: For Board of Supervisors Budget and Appropriations Committee Meeting - Defund the Police comments
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:21:40 AM

From: Elise Piscopos Stupi <emcgyr@yahoo.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:11 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: community@sfsafe.org
Subject: For Board of Supervisors Budget and Appropriations Committee Meeting - Defund the Police comments

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Mayor Breed and Board of Supervisors,

If "defunding the police" means transferring the responsibility for policing traffic, homelessness, and mental health incidents to other agencies, then "defund the police" from these responsibilities and let the police do the job they're meant to do: protect and serve the community.

If "defunding the police" means reducing the existing police force, then DO NOT defund the police as San Francisco already has a deficit in headcount. We need more officers, not less, to maintain public order and safety, enforce the law, and prevent, detect, and investigate criminal activity.

If "defunding the police" means dismantling SF SAFE, DO NOT defund the police as SF SAFE, in partnership with our SFPD, has educated our City's citizens to build safer neighborhoods. There's more work for SF SAFE to do which I can see in my own neighborhood. This program and the services it provides are vital to a stronger and safer community.

While the national movement that supports divesting funds from police departments and reallocating them to non-policing forms of public safety and community support is compelling, a properly funded police department and its existing partners, such as SF SAFE, are critical in maintaining public safety. Thus, I urge you to strongly consider the safety of our community by providing adequate funding for our police department to protect our beloved City. Thank you.

Respectfully,
Elise Piscopos Stupi
Member, Taraval Community Police Advisory Board

Native San Franciscan

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Juvenile Probation Department budget - agenda 200567
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:21:49 AM

From: Margaret Brodtkin <margaret@margaretbrodtkin.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 8:05 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Juvenile Probation Department budget - agenda 200567

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Members of the Budget and Appropriations Committee,

As a member of the Juvenile Probation Commission, I voted against the budget because I felt it was primarily a reflection of the status quo. The budget process is our opportunity change the balance of resources to reflect our values and our goals for reform. I believe it is now our responsibility to divest from an outdated system that not only wastes money, but can often be harmful and undermine the positive growth and development of our young people. The size of JPD no longer reflects the number of youth actually served, nor does it have an approach focused primarily on the support of young people. It remains a system focused on surveillance and compliance.

My positions on the JPD budget are not intended as a critique of the current staff, nor a comment on the excellent and thoughtful leadership of the Juvenile Probation Department Chief, Katherine Weinstein-Miller. They are a critique of an approach that has changed far too little over the decades – not just in San Francisco, but throughout the country. I know because I have been involved juvenile justice reform in San Francisco since 1979 when I became Executive Director of Coleman Advocates for Children and Youth. While we have made much progress, the basic structure of JPD has remained unchanged. For example, JPD has a placement unit of 9 staff (based on a May, 2020 organization chart) serving the now 36 young people in private placement, and a unit of 7 handling the transition of youth in placement to the community. Not only does this number of staff appear excessive, but the structure leads to fragmented services, and more importantly, helping youth transition to the community is often more effectively done by community-based agencies.

I support the recommendations of the Juvenile Justice Providers Association to right-size JPD and reallocate $8 M from current expenses to important foundational programs and structures that will make our juvenile justice system a beacon not just for San Francisco's young people, but for young people around the country.

I recommend making long overdue reductions in the JPD budget and putting those funds on reserve with the full Board of Supervisors for up to six months, pending receipt of a specific plan to create a community-based intake process, expand placement alternatives for youth, and provide families with the concrete supports they need to make home detention possible for more youth.

Thank you for your consideration.

Margaret Brodtkin, Long-time San Francisco child advocate

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Please adequately fund SFPD
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:21:56 AM

From: Alexandra Jansen <aljamieson@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 7:17 AM
To: community@sfsafe.org; Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Please adequately fund SFPD

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hi Linda,

I am not able to call into the BOS as I will be taking care of my two small children. As a member of the Community Police Advisory Board and a member of the Richmond neighborhood I would like to support Chief Scott and the need for adequate funding levels of the police.

There are so many amazing community - focused public safety initiatives like the CBAB and crime prevention, education work and community building that SFSAFE promotes citywide supporting all San Francisco communities.

Furthermore, I have concerns about diverting funding towards other organizations and holding them accountable. For example, when I last called the homeless outreach team to support members of our unhoused community, the voicemail said they are not working due to COVID and to call the police instead. In my neighborhood the amazing hardworking officers at the Richmond station are expected to do their job, stop crime, manage traffic, be social workers, be neighbor mediation specialists and be community outreach experts. They do a great job but do not have enough support as it is. Please follow Chief Scott's recommendations.

Thank you,
Alexandra Jansen
Richmond Resident and Mom

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public Comment: Budget & Finance Committee
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:22:02 AM

From: Ilsa Lund <ILund@larkinstreetyouth.org>
Sent: Friday, August 14, 2020 6:48 AM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>; MandelmanStaff, [BOS] <mandelmanstaff@sfgov.org>; Fewer, Sandra (BOS) <sandra.fewer@sfgov.org>; shamman.walton@sfgov.org; Stewart-Kahn, Abigail (HOM) <abigail.stewart-kahn@sfgov.org>; Whitley, Gigi (HOM) <gigi.whitley@sfgov.org>
Subject: Public Comment: Budget & Finance Committee

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors Fewer, Mandelman, and Walton, Director Stewart-Kahn, and Deputy Director Whitley:

As I was unable to stay until the end of last night's hearing to offer public comment, I am writing early this morning to share what I'd hoped to say.

Thank you Director Stewart-Kahn and Deputy Director Whitley for your hard work in preserving HSH investments in homelessness through CBOs like Larkin Street Youth Services in this proposed budget. Special thanks to you, Director Stewart-Kahn, for taking time to speak specifically to the needs of TAY, and acknowledging the ways in which they've been underserved by COVID response, how they're unrepresented in the current recovery plan, and for your commitment to addressing the very real health and economic impacts of COVID on TAY experiencing homelessness.

Thank you, as well, Supervisor Walton, for your special attention to TAY, and especially TAY who are unhoused and Black.

Thank you, Supervisor Mandelman for acknowledging the success of the Safe Sleeping Villages, the limits of Coordinated Entry, and those who have been left out of the SIPs and other interventions during COVID--it is heartbreaking as service providers to have to tell young people that we have no indoor options to offer them while shelters are closed, the youth SIP site is full, and Emergency Housing Vouchers are over-subscribed. It's untenable and unacceptable that TAY have no safe places to sleep.

And thank you, Chair Fewer, for pushing us all to consider every available option and to be creative in finding ways to move people inside safely.

I am grateful to all of you for your ongoing work with CBO partners to understand and support the work that we are trying to do in partnership with the City to keep young people safe and help them thrive.

Clearly, we must do everything we can to unlock those Prop C funds, and ensure that all City homelessness dollars are equitably invested in young people with a particular eye on ensuring that TAY who are Black and Brown are not being left out of the homeless response system.

Finally, I share HSH's commitment to:

- 1) engaging youth with lived experience in re-building our system;
- 2) thinking very hard together with CBOs to amp up a prevention strategy that will work; and
- 3) working in partnership to make sure that CBOs like Larkin Street can spend all of our contract dollars as quickly as possible to benefit young people.

Thank you, and I'll see you on Public Comment Day on August 24!

Sincerely,

Ilsa Lund
Chief of Strategy
Larkin Street Youth Services
134 Golden Gate Avenue
San Francisco, CA 94109
Cell – 347-267-1321

She/her pronouns

Larkin Street's mission is to create a continuum of services that inspires youth to move beyond the street. We will nurture potential, promote dignity, and support bold steps by all.

The information in this email and in any attachments is confidential and may be legally privileged. If you are not the intended recipient, please destroy this message, delete any copies held on your systems and notify the sender immediately. If you are not the intended recipient of this email, you should not retain, copy, or use this email for any purpose, nor disclose all or any part of its content to any other person. Thank you.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Budget Hearing: August 13, 2020 - Technical Glitch
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:22:14 AM

From: Anna Roche <amroche70@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 11:29 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: aflores@ifpte21.org
Subject: Budget Hearing; August 13, 2020 - Technical Glitch

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Greetings,

I was on-hold this evening but wasn't able to speak due to some technical glitch. Therefore, I am providing my comments via email.

Please confirm receipt.

Thank you,
Anna Roche
IFPTE 21
SFPUC - PM II

My name is Anna Roche and I am a member of Local 21. To date, I have dedicated 20 years of my professional career to San Francisco. Currently, I am a Project Manager at the SFPUC with a focus on climate change planning efforts and am managing the Ocean Beach Climate Change Adaptation Project where we are addressing sea level rise induced erosion that is jeopardizing critical wastewater infrastructure. COVID-19 is awful; Climate Change could be worse.

When disaster strikes, it's human nature to worry only about meeting our most immediate needs. But as professionals, we are fully aware that the best way to avoid a disaster is to be proactive.

In order to do that, the City needs a skilled, dedicated, trained and prepared workforce. If San Francisco is serious about being a leader, an advocate for progressive values, a true supporter of sustainable jobs and strong career opportunities for its residents – then you cannot continue to balance city budgets on the backs of your own workforce. Increasingly, your workforce cannot afford to live in the city it serves and the situation gets worse with every contract negotiation. Asking us to forgo much needed cost of living adjustments in these conditions is short-sighted, unnecessary and unreasonable.

Thank you.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: FOR DPH PUBLIC COMMENT-DEANNA CHAN
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:22:22 AM

From: Vivian Araullo <varaullo@ifpte21.org>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:30 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: FOR DPH PUBLIC COMMENT-DEANNA CHAN

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

I am Deanna Chan, president of Local 21's rehab professionals chapter. Deanna is an occupational therapist with the City and County of San Francisco, a city employee for 9 years, and a resident of District Four.

.I am an essential worker. My fiancé is also a city employee. We are proud to be a family of San Francisco public workers.

I have been a deployed disaster service worker providing safety room evaluations to all of the temporary shelter hotels housing thousands of people. My fiancé is also an essential city worker, and he too has been deployed to work at the frontline, at SF general hospital.

During this entire pandemic, my family has faced head-on the public Health Crisis of this city and have bravely worked the frontline, putting ourselves at high risk everyday, every week, every month.

I'm here to express shock that we are now being asked to choose between our jobs and our ability to survive in San Francisco.

If I am unable to afford my mortgage of my sunset district home, how can I continue to serve the public during this pandemic—and beyond?

The City has reserves of more than one billion dollars, thanks to unfilled job vacancies since 2008.

We have already agreed to a six-month deferment of our cost of living allowance. In so doing, we have already saved the City about fifty million dollars during this fiscal year alone.

It's time for the City to use that one billion dollar reserve that we, workers, helped build.

We are already cut to the bone and have given our fair share.

In order to survive this pandemic, you need us, your workers—to be able to survive in the Bay Area and continue delivering services.

There should be no more budget cuts, no or layoffs. Let us continue serving the public during this pandemic. If as you say, we are your heroes—then Invest in us. Thank you.

###

Vivian Z. Araullo

Representative/Organizer
IFPTE, Local 21
1167 Mission Street, Second Floor
San Francisco, CA 94103
415.864.2100 Local 21 Main

Website: www.ifpte21.org

*Your union matters. Join your union today.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: DPH PUBLIC COMMENT-SARAH LARSON
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:22:32 AM

From: Vivian Araullo <varaullo@ifpte21.org>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:35 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: DPH PUBLIC COMMENT-SARAH LARSON

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Supervisors. My name is Sarah Larson, Local 21 . I am a (Mental Health treatment specialist with the City and County of San Francisco and have been a city employee for 24 years. I am an essential worker.

My job is caring for chronically mentally ill indigent seniors

Everyday, I go to work and risk my, and my family's, health, and life for the health of the public and the welfare of the City.

City workers are on the front lines of our healthcare crisis. We are the helpers, not just for those with insurance, but everyone in San Francisco. Many of us are also helping to support extended family and friends. Though the Mayor calls us heroes, she wants to treat us as though we were expendable.

The City has reserves of more than one billion dollars, thanks to unfilled job vacancies since 2008. Use the reserves.

We have agreed to a six-month deferment of our cost of living allowance and saved the City about fifty million dollars during this fiscal year alone.

When times are hard City hall goes after public workers, and every time, we have given back. Now city hall wants to break their contracts with those on the front lines of this disaster.

The same cannot be said for the corporations and their ultrarich executives who have located to San Francisco with huge incentives and tax breaks. Its high time the Mayor puts the health and welfare of our city before the comforts of the super rich and asks that Corporations pay their fair share.

In order to survive this pandemic, you need us, your workers—to continue delivering services. We should have more support, not be asked to give back what we've earned on top of putting ourselves and our families at risk in order to keep this city running.

There should be no more budget cuts, layoffs or contracting out. Let us continue serving the public during this pandemic. If you say, we are your heroes—then Invest in us. Thank you.

Vivian Z. Araullo

Representative/Organizer
IFPTE, Local 21
1167 Mission Street, Second Floor
San Francisco, CA 94103
415.864.2100 Local 21 Main

Website: www.ifpte21.org

Your union matters. Join your union today.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: DPH Public Comment-Zach Vickers
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:22:41 AM

From: Vivian Araullo <varaullo@ifpte21.org>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:36 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: DPH Public Comment-Zach Vickers

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Supervisors. My name is Zach Vickers and im a member of the Local 21 union.

I am a Physical Therapist with the City and County of San Francisco and have been a serving the city for 3 years i am currently working as an essential worker in the shelter in place hotels

Our team is developing and executing a rehab program to ensure people living in these hotels are safe and secure. We are helping to alleviate the excessive dangers that homelessness poses during this pandemic.

I'm here to express shock that we are now being asked to choose between our jobs, keeping SFs community safe and our ability to financially survive in the Bay Area.

If I am unable to afford the cost of living in the Bay Area, how can I continue to serve the public during this pandemic.

The City has reserves of more than one billion dollars, thanks in part to unfilled job vacancies since the 2008 recession.

We have already agreed to a six-month deferment of our cost of living allowance. In so doing, we've saved the City over fifty million dollars during this fiscal year alone.

It's time for the City to use that one billion dollar reserve that has been built on the backs of us workers.

In order to survive this pandemic, you need us, your workers—to be able to survive living in the Bay Area and continue delivering services to protect the public.

There should be no more budget cuts and no furlough or layoffs

If as you say, we are your heroes—then Invest in us.

Thank you for your time.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: DPH PUBLIC COMMENT-CYNTHIA ULLMAN
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:22:48 AM

From: Vivian Araullo <varaullo@ifpte21.org>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 8:33 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: DPH PUBLIC COMMENT-CYNTHIA ULLMAN

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Good afternoon, Supervisors. My name is Cynthia Ullmann, a member of Local 21. I am a Senior Occupational Therapist and been a city employee for 32 years. I am an essential worker.

My job is to supervise a staff of Occupational Therapists, providing therapy services to hundreds of physically disabled children in this City, many of whom are medically very fragile and in need of constant care.

During this pandemic, our OT and PT teams have provided well over a thousand sessions, providing families the essential service of caring for their children at home to avoid major set-backs in their development and prevent loss of function.

I risk my health and life for the benefit of these children and their families...a public service I chose to do, is desperately needed, and is not available to most of them elsewhere.

Some of our staff have been deployed as DSW, leaving remaining staff to work even harder, covering double the caseloads. For the City to now ask us to do more for less, seems disrespectful.

I'm here to express my anger that we are now the ones being asked to give even more on top of what we're already doing.

The City has reserves of more than one billion dollars, thanks to unfilled job vacancies since 2008. Our unit has already been forced to eliminate some of positions.

We have agreed to a six-month deferment of our cost of living allowance, saving the City about fifty million dollars during this fiscal year alone.

It's time for the City to use that one billion dollar reserve that we, the workers, helped build.

This City needs the critical services that we provide, but we cannot afford and should not have to work harder for less when the cost of living in the Bay Area is outpacing our wages.

There should be no more budget cuts or layoffs.

You say we are your heroes—then show us your appreciation by not taking from the very workers you count on every day to provide these essential services. Thank you

Vivian Z. Araullo

Representative/Organizer
IFPTE, Local 21
1167 Mission Street, Second Floor
San Francisco, CA 94103
415.864.2100 Local 21 Main

Website: www.ifpte21.org

Your union matters. Join your union today.

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Comment for BOS Budget Hearing Friday August 14
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:22:54 AM

From: Todd Snyder <todd.clark.snyder@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 9:50 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Subject: Comment for BOS Budget Hearing Friday August 14

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

As a lifelong San Francisco resident, I demand that the Budget and Appropriations Committee amend the budget to reallocate San Francisco Police Department's budget increase to services that our city desperately needs. Specifically, I reject the increase in the Police Department budget by $43 million. In order to do so, Mayor Breed is cutting $40 million from the Department of Homelessness and Supportive Housing. It is unacceptable to steal money from our most vulnerable people in order to increase the police budget! The SFPD already proposed a $23 million haircut to their budget to the Police Commission. Why isn't that reflected in this budget? Was that cut abandoned, and if so, why? Crime is down 30% from a year ago. Police don't prevent crime, they respond to it. 30% less crime means 30% less need for policing; we should free up that money for services that will actually prevent crime and keep this decline going.

In the midst of the economic devastation of the pandemic, it is doubly unjust to continue giving more money to the police department while cutting crucial services that vulnerable people most need.

I urge the Budget and Appropriations Committee to reallocate all of the money from the Police Department's budget increase to the services (Muni, Libraries, Housing) that the People in our city desperately need.

Thank you,
Todd Snyder
1941 Turk street
San Francisco 94115

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: Public Comment Lyon-Martin Health Services
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:23:03 AM

From: Nick Gorton2 <gortonsutter@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 9:17 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: transhealthconsulting@gmail.com
Subject: Public Comment Lyon-Martin Health Services

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Hi,

Below are my comments. Thanks so much for your willingness to take this by email. My clinic was full to capacity today.

Nick

Thank you for the opportunity to submit this comment. At the time of the meeting I was treating patients at Lyon-Martin Health Services.

I started at LMHS over 15 years ago and have treated hundreds of transgender San Franciscans in addition to my Emergency Medicine practice. Others I'm sure have mentioned that about $\frac{2}{3}$ of our patients identify as transgender or gender non-conforming. But I do not believe we have "average" transgender patients in San Francisco. Most of our patients also face tremendous socioeconomic challenges and sometimes profound barriers to accessing health care and social services. I believe that we have a disproportionate share of patients like this for many reasons - we are perceived as a safe space to access care for queer and transgender people who have often suffered discrimination and even violence in health care, we see uninsured, underinsured, and undocumented patients, we go more than the extra mile for all of our patients. I've had numerous patients tell me that LMHS was the first time when they really felt they had a real medical home. I've seen many patients who were discharged from quite a few other clinics succeed at LMHS because we see these patients with significant mental health or social challenges as the ones we most need to lean in for.

While I hope the Budget and Appropriations committee will approve the 2.8 million that Lyon-Martin has requested because it's the right thing to do for transgender San Franciscans, I will also add that the ROI for this will be substantial. Because I not only see these types of profoundly challenged patients at Lyon-Martin but in my ER practice as well. These are the patients that come to the ED with serious and life threatening complications resulting from untreated chronic conditions. They are the patients that are brought to us repeatedly for mental health and social concerns. They are the patients I admit with attempted suicide or who are repeatedly in and out of acute inpatient psychiatric treatment. Every patient that Lyon-Martin engages in care that controls their diabetes or HIV, that gets ongoing mental health care, that accesses social services to help them find housing and in doing so prevents 10 ER visits in a year will SAVE the city (and CA) tens of thousands of dollars. If this funding allows for us to provide that for just 200 of these challenged patients, it will pay for itself. Sometimes an ounce of prevention isn't just worth a pound of cure - it's a bit cheaper as well.

And finally while Lyon-Martin is primarily a direct service organization who over the last decade has helped over 800 patients access gender affirming surgery, over the 15 years that I have worked there, we have also trained hundreds of medical and nursing trainees. Some of these like Dr Laura Erickson-Schroth have gone on to be accomplished health care providers and advocates for the trans community, for example by editing Trans Bodies Trans Selves, the GLMA Handbook on LGBT Health, and authoring "You're in the Wrong Bathroom!": And 20 Other Myths and Misconceptions About Transgender and Gender-Nonconforming People. Corey Bohman, Associate Medical Director at LifeLong Medical Care was also a prior student (and volunteer). A series of trainings Lyon-Martin provided for St Johns Well Child and Family Center over a decade ago helped them start their Transgender Health Program which is now the largest provider of trans health care in the LA area: <https://www.wellchild.org/transgender-health-program/>. With my experience as a provider at Lyon-Martin I have also been able to serve as an expert witness in the only 2 successful cases where a transgender person in prison seeking surgery won the right to have this medically necessary care (Norsworthy v Beard, and Edmo v Corizon and Idaho Dept of Corrections). I was also one of 3 experts in Cruz v Zucker which ultimately guaranteed coverage of all gender confirmation surgeries and hormone treatment to all recipients of NY Medicaid. I consulted for the CA Department of Insurance in drafting their Economic Impact Assessment: Gender Nondiscrimination In Health Insurance which not only resulted in DOI issuing regulations requiring insurers in CA to cover care, but has been used by several other states to justify enacting similar regulations (<https://transgenderlawcenter.org/wp-content/uploads/2013/04/Economic-Impact-Assessment-Gender-Nondiscrimination-In-Health-Insurance.pdf>). Keeping Lyon-Martin open means we will continue to be able to increase capacity and coverage for transgender patients not just in San Francisco, but in California and Nationwide.

Sincerely,

R. Nick Gorton, MD

From: Wong, Linda \(BOS\)
To: Jalipa, Brent \(BOS\)
Subject: FW: In support for FULL FUNDING for SFPD | For 8/14/20 10:00 AM BOS Special Budget & Appropriations Committee meeting
Date: Monday, August 17, 2020 10:23:21 AM

From: Teachme Today <oprahsclass@yahoo.com>
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2020 5:00 PM
To: Wong, Linda (BOS) <linda.wong@sfgov.org>
Cc: community@sfsafe.org
Subject: In support for FULL FUNDING for SFPD | For 8/14/20 10:00 AM BOS Special Budget & Appropriations Committee meeting

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear BOS Special Budget & Appropriations Committee:

During this budget process, please fully fund the San Francisco Police Department, and support the unimaginably difficult and stressful work that this department performs for the residents and visitors of the City and County of San Francisco.

We are not residents who are going to speak at a community meeting because they are too contentious and scary, but there are many quiet people out here like us, who understand the need and the importance of a fully-trained and operational police department, and the community-focused crime prevention and education work provided by SF SAFE. San Francisco has too much crime, violence, robberies, vehicle break-ins, and unstable mentally ill people that roam the streets. This year alone, our neighborhood has had to rely on the Ingleside and Park Station Police Departments more times than we wish to admit, with officers who have been nothing but professional and responsive. Read in any news publication about how tourists are frightened to be in this city and we know that so many tourist dollars are already lost, and won't come back until people feel safe here again. And as a side note, this neighborhood has called 311 multiple times about crime, dangerous situations, and screaming homeless people throwing axes, and nothing gets done, but we make one call to SFPD, and every time someone shows up and gets the job done, despite being under excruciating stress and without support from the city that they serve.

Board of Supervisors - please not only fully fund the SFPD & SF SAFE, but support them as well!

Regards,
Neighbors of Portola Drive