SPECIAL ORDER 2:30 P.M. - Recognition of Commendations

Without objection, Rule 5.36 of the Rules of Order for the Board of Supervisors was suspended to grant privilege of the floor to the following guest(s).

Supervisor Walton formally introduced and welcomed Duke Despanie of Batter Up, Guns Down, presenting him with a Certificate of Honor in recognition of his achievements and his ongoing commitment to uplifting and uniting the Bayview and Hunters Point community and surrounding Bay Area cities together. He also expressed appreciation to Randy Taylor for his support of the program, which is dedicated to strengthening the community by creating positive opportunities and mentorship. Supervisor Walton emphasized that the work goes beyond policy, it is about investing in the people who uplift and empower our neighborhoods.

Supervisor Chan introduced and welcomed James and Ginn Ross of J&G Upholstery, presenting them with a Certificate of Honor in recognition of their decades of experience and exceptional craftsmanship serving customers throughout the Bay Area. A Black-owned business operating since 1978, J&G Upholstery has become an integral part of the fabric of the Richmond District. Supervisor Chan thanked the Ross family for their longstanding commitment to preserving the art of fine craftsmanship and for their dedicated service to the community.

Supervisor Sherrill introduced and welcomed Jesus Mora of the SF Fire Department, presenting him with a Certificate of Honor in recognition of his accomplishments and continued dedication to serving the community. Supervisor Sherrill also expressed appreciation for his leadership as Chief Information Officer, where he has guided the department's technology innovation initiatives. Among his many contributions, his work in advancing the streamlining the computer dispatch system over more than 20 years was especially recognized. Supervisor Mandelman joined in offering commendations and congratulations. Chief Dean Crispen (Fire Department) and Former Chief Joanne Hayes White provided additional commending remarks.

Supervisor Wong introduced and welcomed the American Heart Association, presenting the representatives with a Certificate of Honor in recognition of her accomplishments and continued commitment to community health. Supervisor Wong noted that more than 300,000 cardiac arrests occur each year, yet only 41 percent of individuals receive lifesaving CPR. He highlighted the American Heart Association's critical work in training community members to perform CPR, helping to improve survival rates and save lives.

Supervisor Mahmood introduced and welcomed Phyllis Bowie of the Fillmore neighborhood, presenting her with a Certificate of Honor in recognition of her lifelong dedication to the community. Raised in the Fillmore, Ms. Bowie has been a fierce advocate for food access and food justice for more than two decades. Supervisor Mahmood commended her unwavering commitment to equity and to uplifting the Fillmore community.

Supervisor Dorsey introduced and welcomed Khilynn Fowler of the Community Health Center, presenting her with a Certificate of Honor in recognition of her accomplishments in advancing health and wellness for all. He thanked her for being an inspiration to countless San Franciscans and for pioneering compassionate, innovative models of care for trans women, particularly in the face of stigma and dehumanization. Supervisor Mandelman joined in the commendation.

Supervisor Chen introduced and welcomed Joanne Zhang of the San Francisco International New Concept Film, presenting her with a Certificate of Honor in recognition of her achievements and ongoing commitment to the community. Through her organization, Ms. Zhang has helped the community discover emerging talent and innovative techniques, supporting artists in accelerating their growth and success within the film industry.

Supervisor Mandelman introduced and welcomed Ramón Clark, President of the Glen Park Association, presenting him with a Certificate of Honor in recognition of his accomplishments and continued leadership in community service and beautifying his community. He commended Mr. Clark for his thoughtful work on planning, zoning, and environmental issues, noting that under his leadership, Glen Park has continued to thrive and flourish.
