Dear Linda Wong,

I am writing to recommend Jonathan Alloy to the Citizens General Obligation Bond Oversight Committee.

I met Jonathan 4.5 years ago when he began volunteering for the Noe Valley Farmers Market, where I am a co-founder and board member. From the start, Jonathan stood out as an exceptional member of our volunteer group. He threw himself into his work with professionalism, good humor, and an acute intelligence. While many of the neighbors who volunteer for the market stop after a few months, Jonathan stayed a committed volunteer – and in so doing became increasingly integral to the core group running the market.

We soon invited him to join the NVFM board. His role there has transformed the market. A year into his joining the board, he was named President. He quickly became the key person to help us achieve the long-time goal of obtaining non-profit status. Jonathan brought a rare diligence and dedication to help us achieve this goal – which had been particularly difficult for us for several years. Jonathan quickly figured out what we'd need to get this done – no small task that required many rounds of paperwork filings and negotiations with IRS regulators and the market's lawyer. I can confidently say that without Jonathan's help, we would not be a non-profit today.

Jonathan would bring his same set of experience and talents to the Bond Oversight Committee. His thoughtfulness and smarts would be an asset to those who work with him. He is a person who gets things done, and does them with a an admirable level of perfectionism. You would be fortunate to have Jonathan Alloy as a member of the Committee.

All the best,

Leslie Crawford

Employment

I have worked in audience building and marketing for the past 16 years, starting in Prague for English-language newspaper The Prague Post, working my way up to owning my own consulting firm. Along the way, I have also acted as Financial Director and business manager of several clients, and helped create the Prague Post Film Festival, a subtitled film festival that brought the golden age of Czech film to the screen again in Prague.

Principal, Next Steps Marketing, 2002-present

At Next Steps Marketing, we solve audience-building challenges in a creative and customized way. We use practical "call-to-action" marketing techniques where the return is clearly measurable by clicks, online sign-ups, responses to direct mail, orders from partners, or sales at newsstand.
