12 representing the County of Santa Cruz, becoming Speaker of the California Assembly in 13 1855; and

14 WHEREAS, During his time as Assembly Speaker, William W. Stow made headlines 15 for his anti-Semitism, speaking against Jewish people directly from the Assembly floor; and

16 WHEREAS, Stow tried to pass a Sunday “closing law” for businesses in Santa Clara 17 and Santa Cruz, which he represented at the time, receiving pushback and scrutiny from 18 Jewish tradesman Louis Schwartz, a constituent of Stow, and the larger Jewish community 19 across the State; and

20 WHEREAS, In 1855, Assemblymember Stow declared during session: “I have no 21 sympathy with the Jews and would it were in my power to enforce a regulation that would 22 eliminate them from not only our county but from the entire state! I am for a Jew tax that is so 23 high that [Jews] would not be able to operate any more shops. They are a class of people 24 here only to make money and who leave the country as soon as they make money;” and

1 WHEREAS, In his ongoing efforts against Jewish business owners, Stow proposed a 2 tax on Jews that he claimed "would act as a prohibition to their residence amongst us," 3 demonstrating a clear goal of discouraging Jews from moving to California and 4 disenfranchising the Jewish residents in California; and

5 WHEREAS, In 1856, Assemblymember Stow ran an unsuccessful campaign for 6 Governor of California on the Know-Nothing political party ticket; and

7 WHEREAS, The Know-Nothing party stemmed from a secret society known as the 8 Order of the Star Spangled Banner (OSSB) that was notorious for its xenophobia, whose

13 immigrants; mandatory Bible reading in schools; and the elimination of all Catholics from 14 public office; and

15 WHEREAS, Around 1856, he quit his political career and moved to San Francisco.
16 Stow became a partner in the law firm Patterson, Wallace & Stow, which handled primarily 17 land use issues; and

18 WHEREAS, In 1889, he was appointed to the San Francisco Park Commission and 19 immediately began complaining about the lack of funds for Golden Gate Park, which, 20 ironically, funding he himself cut by half during his tenure as Assembly Speaker; and

21 WHEREAS, Records show that then Commissioner William W. Stow significantly led 22 and fundraised for the development of the lake and the waterfall, known as Huntington Falls

2 according to the park department's historian-in-residence Christopher Pollock, it was common 3 during Golden Gate Park's early days for landmarks to be named after park commissioners;
4 and

5 WHEREAS, It is evidently recorded that William W. Stow promoted racist and 6 exclusionary sentiments and policies; and

7 WHEREAS, A study commissioned by the Jewish Community Federation and 8 Endowment Fund reports that the Bay Area has the fourth largest Jewish population in the 9 country; and

10 WHEREAS, Stow Lake is the biggest lake in Golden Gate Park and attracts many 11 tourists and residents as a prominent site for outdoor enjoyment and activities, making it a 12 landmark representing San Francisco and our values; and 14 community and should not enshrine names of persons who utilize their positions of power to
