Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Today You will decide on plastic bag refusal and a raised fee for plastic bags . It is also noted that your city might also ban reusable cups. Over the past couple administrations I have contacted your city with my GamesOnBags™. While I have not surfaced during London Breeds term. I would like to reiterate my proposals regarding my proprietary works.

GamesOnBags™ has a repertoire of games that encourage bag reuse. As Staff may recall Lottobags™ and Lottobag Tags™ (see copies attached)

Over the years, I have contacted many stores and organizations to co-brand with loyalty programs as well as raising money for various causes. I continue to look forward to joining forces with these and others to promote the use of bags as pawns in games.

As evolution would have it, these games were adapted to work on reusable cups as well!!!!

Well I am not crazy about banning plastic bags- as they can be recycled into things like yarn for knitting. They also form a great barrier to germ control. Since bags have been harder to come by, I have seen an increase of things in parking lots such as dirty diapers, soiled clothing, and biohazards that more than likely would be in a bag near the garbage can overflow. Plastic bags have become a little less handy because they have become less prevalent. I think my GamesOnBags™ will provide a balanced alternative.
