The Honorable Ahsha Safaí
City Hall
1 Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett Place, Room 244
San Francisco, CA 94102

RE: Appointment to the San Francisco Ethics Commission – Quentin Kopp – OPPOSE

Dear Chair Safaí,

On behalf of California Common Cause and our members, I am writing to oppose Quentin Kopp's reappointment to the San Francisco Ethics Commission. Mr. Kopp's efforts to undermine public campaign financing, which are at the heart of San Francisco's campaign finance system, should disqualify him from future service on the Commission.

When he applied to fill a partial term last year, the Rules Committee asked Mr. Kopp whether he opposed public financing of campaigns, a core of the Ethics Commission's responsibility. Notwithstanding his vague response to this committee implying he no longer had strong opinions on public financing, Mr. Kopp recently decided to serve as a plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging a new state law, Senate Bill 1107, which allows all cities and the state to create public financing systems. This action is directly at odds with the Ethics Commission's duty to uphold San Francisco's public financing system.

Kopp's Law and Opposition to San Francisco's Local Autonomy

Mr. Kopp's opposition to public financing is long-standing. In 1988, Mr. Kopp was a co-author of Proposition 73, which banned public financing of campaigns in California, including by local governments. Subsequently, the City of Los Angeles, joined by San Francisco in an amicus brief, successfully challenged that law and won charter cities an exemption from that ban. Mr. Kopp opposed San Francisco's position in that case and sought to deprive San Francisco and other charter cities from having autonomy to create public financing systems. San Francisco's model public financing system is only possible because of this hard-won exception to Kopp's law.

Unfortunately, the court's exemption extended only to charter cities. For nearly thirty years, Kopp's law has prevented the state, counties, general law cities, and all other local governments from enacting public financing.

To address this issue, last year the Legislature passed Senate Bill 1107, which allows the state and local governments to enact public financing programs that meet specified criteria of transparency and nondiscrimination. The San Francisco Ethics Commission voted to support the bill on April 25, 2016, and San Francisco's State Legislation Committee followed suit on May 11. SB 1107 received broad and bipartisan support, including unanimous support from San Francisco's legislative delegation, and was signed into law by Governor Brown.

On Sept. 6, the Board of Supervisors appointed Mr. Kopp to the Ethics Commission. On Sept. 9, Mr. Kopp personally wrote to Governor Brown to urge him to veto SB 1107.

After Governor Brown signed the bill, however, Mr. Kopp went even further. In December 2016, he joined the Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association as a plaintiff to sue the state to invalidate the law. In doing so, he took a public and active position directly at odds with the Commission he at that point sat on. His filing of this suit also eliminates any doubt that, contrary to his representations before this committee, he still opposes public financing just as much as he did thirty years ago and believes that local governments should not be allowed to enact laws like San Francisco's public financing program.

Kopp's Positions Contrary to the Ethics Commission's Duties

When Mr. Kopp came before the Rules Committee on July 28 last year, Supervisor Mar asked him if his views had changed regarding public financing. In addition to his evasive answers to the Rules Committee when asked how he might respond to efforts to change or weaken public financing in San Francisco, he stated that he would "evaluate the arguments ... and make a decision accordingly. I'm not going to let my feelings in the commencement of the Proposition 73 drafting in 1988 control or affect my evaluation, theoretically, in 2016 or 2017 or '18 of public financing in San Francisco." He made similar statements to Common Cause, saying he had "no position" on public financing. Based on these and other comments, we did not take a stance on his application at that time.

However, his actions since demonstrate that he has not, in fact, changed his opinion and continues to oppose and undermine public campaign financing.

Mr. Kopp must not be reappointed to the San Francisco Ethics Commission. While we welcome a healthy exchange of views on the Commission, he has placed himself at odds with the Ethics Commission and its mission to implement and enforce San Francisco's public financing system.

The Ethics Commission's enforcement and policy responsibilities should not be in the hands of someone who is actively seeking to undermine the Commission's mission and San Francisco's policy choice to lift residents' voices over the influence of money in politics. We strongly urge you to reject his application for re-appointment to a full six-year term.

Sincerely,

Helen Grieco

ETHICS COMMISSION APPOINTMENT HON. QUENTIN KOPP -- SUPPORT

Dear Rules Committee Members:

As the active members of Friends of Ethics, we write in support of the reappointment of Judge Quentin Kopp to the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

Friends of Ethics include a former Ethics Commission chair, vice chair, and commissioners whose terms span almost from the Commission's inception, a past foreperson of the San Francisco Civil Grand Jury, chairs of the Civil Grand Jury investigation committee on Ethics in 2012 and 2014, additional former Civil Grand Jury members, past San Francisco Common Cause coordinators with two decades of leadership, and the newspaper columnist whose opinion article prompted the creation of the Ethics Commission.

Last year several of us endorsed Judge Kopp for the vacant seat on Ethics. This year, having closely followed the Commission's work and Commissioner Kopp's involvement, Friends of Ethics voted without a single opposing vote to endorse Commissioner Kopp for a full term.

Prior to Judge Kopp's service on the Commission, there had never been a member with the experience of campaigning and serving in local and state elective office. The expectation was that he would bring unique experience and insight that had been missing from the Commission since it began more than twenty years ago. His service as a California Appeals Court judge additionally adds value to the Commission's deliberations.

We also recognized, as have many others, that he has a keen mind matched with a commitment to advancing the mission of the Ethics Commission.

Friends of Ethics since our inception a decade ago knew the Commission was, in the kindest of assessments, slumbering. What the voters established to set the pace for our city and even the state in clean government instead was in retreat. Our polling showed the public confidence in the effectiveness of the Ethics Commission was so low as to hardly register.

Since joining the Commission, Judge Kopp has exceeded our hopes and is a strong advocate for advancing the policies and practices needed. With a new Executive Director, Leeann Pelham, and Commission President Paul Renne and members Daina Chiu, Beverly Hayon and Peter Keane, the Ethics Commission is engendering greater public trust. In November 2016, Ethics placed a measure on the ballot that received the support of 87% of San Francisco voters, the highest support of any measure on the city or state ballot in that election. It was a full twenty percent higher than the Ethics measure voters approved a year earlier.

Also all eleven Supervisors endorsed it, an unprecedented unanimity on an ethics reform. Commissioner Kopp, we believe, is a factor in this high level of public acceptance.

Today the Commission is moving forward with new resources, a strong agenda that involves the public and a visionary Executive Director. We anticipate the Commission considering and adopting stronger transparency, greater voter-friendly disclosures, dealing with dark money and pay-to-play – all factors that undermine public confidence in city decisions.

Commissioner Kopp gives heft and provides strong value to the Commission's work at this turning point. Our support for his reappointment is without reservation.

We hope that our record of strong local involvement on Ethics issues, our work on behalf of fair and ethical policies and practices, and our direct experience through service on the Commission and the various Civil Grand Juries and good government efforts will be given consideration by you of our strong endorsement for Quentin L. Kopp's appointment to a full term on the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

Dear Mr. Peskin,

I am writing to ask you to oppose Quentin Kopp's reappointment to the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

Mr. Kopp's efforts to undermine public campaign financing, which are at the heart of San Francisco's campaign finance system, should disqualify him from future service on the Ethics Commission.

Mr. Kopp's opposition to public financing is long-standing. In 1988, Mr. Kopp was a co-author of Proposition 73, which banned public financing of campaigns in California, including by local governments. The City of Los Angeles and San Francisco successfully challenged that law and won charter cities an exemption from that ban. Mr. Kopp opposed San Francisco's position in that case.

When he applied to fill a partial term last year, the Rules Committee asked Mr. Kopp whether he opposed public financing of campaigns. His response to the committee was vague implying he no longer had strong opinions on public financing.

Last year the San Francisco Ethics Commission supported Senate Bill 1107. It allowed all cities and the state to create public financing systems and it was passed into law. Mr. Kopp is now a plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging that law.

This action is directly at odds with the Ethics Commission's duty to uphold San Francisco's public financing system. I do not support Mr. Kopp for a seat on the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

Sincerely,
Mr. David Levy

Dear Mr. Yee,

I am writing to ask you to oppose Quentin Kopp's reappointment to the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

I oppose having Mr. Kopp's continued appointment to the SF Ethics Commission. Now more than ever, we must advance integrity in our election/appointment of officials to public service. It's a slippery slope to turn our heads to people's core history and track records. If Mr. Kopp has really changed his earlier positions, he should be clear and visably articulate of that new stance. It is telling that he was less than forthright in his recent vocalization. Caveat Emptor!

Mr. Kopp's opposition to public financing is long-standing. In 1988, Mr. Kopp was a co-author of Proposition 73, which banned public financing of campaigns in California, including by local governments. The City of Los Angeles and San Francisco successfully challenged that law and won charter cities an exemption from that ban. Mr. Kopp opposed San Francisco's position in that case.

When he applied to fill a partial term last year, the Rules Committee asked Mr. Kopp whether he opposed public financing of campaigns. His response to the committee was vague implying he no longer had strong opinions on public financing.

Last year the San Francisco Ethics Commission supported Senate Bill 1107. It allowed all cities and the state to create public financing systems and it was passed into law. Mr. Kopp is now a plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging that law.

This action is directly at odds with the Ethics Commission's duty to uphold San Francisco's public financing system. I do not support Mr. Kopp for a seat on the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

To reappoint Mr. Kopp to the San Francisco Ethics Commission given his opposition to public funding of elections, surely rises to this Trumpian level.

Dear Mr. Farrell,

I am writing to ask you to oppose Quentin Kopp's reappointment to the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

Mr. Kopp's efforts to undermine public campaign financing, which are at the heart of San Francisco's campaign finance system, should disqualify him from future service on the Ethics Commission.

Mr. Kopp's opposition to public financing is long-standing. In 1988, Mr. Kopp was a co-author of Proposition 73, which banned public financing of campaigns in California, including by local governments. The City of Los Angeles and San Francisco successfully challenged that law and won charter cities an exemption from that ban. Mr. Kopp opposed San Francisco's position in that case.

When he applied to fill a partial term last year, the Rules Committee asked Mr. Kopp whether he opposed public financing of campaigns. His response to the committee was vague implying he no longer had strong opinions on public financing.

Last year the San Francisco Ethics Commission supported Senate Bill 1107. It allowed all cities and the state to create public financing systems and it was passed into law. Mr. Kopp is now a plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging that law.

This action is directly at odds with the Ethics Commission's duty to uphold San Francisco's public financing system. I do not support Mr. Kopp for a seat on the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

Sincerely,
Ms. S Wheeler

The City of Los Angeles and San Francisco successfully challenged that law and won charter cities an exemption from that ban. Mr. Kopp opposed San Francisco's position in that case.

When he applied to fill a partial term last year, the Rules Committee asked Mr. Kopp whether he opposed public financing of campaigns. His response to the committee was vague implying he no longer had strong opinions on public financing.

Last year the San Francisco Ethics Commission supported Senate Bill 1107. It allowed all cities and the state to create public financing systems and it was passed into law. Mr. Kopp is now a plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging that law.

This action is directly at odds with the Ethics Commission's duty to uphold San Francisco's public financing system. I do not support Mr. Kopp for a seat on the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

Subject: Oppose Kopp for San Francisco Ethics Commission

Dear Ms. Fewer,

I am writing to ask you to oppose Quentin Kopp's reappointment to the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

Mr. Kopp's efforts to undermine public campaign financing, which are at the heart of San Francisco's campaign finance system, should disqualify him from future service on the Ethics Commission.

Mr. Kopp's opposition to public financing is long-standing. In 1988, Mr. Kopp was a co-author of Proposition 73, which banned public financing of campaigns in California, including by local governments. The City of Los Angeles and San Francisco successfully challenged that law and won charter cities an exemption from that ban. Mr. Kopp opposed San Francisco's position in that case.

When he applied to fill a partial term last year, the Rules Committee asked Mr. Kopp whether he opposed public financing of campaigns. His response to the committee was vague implying he no longer had strong opinions on public financing.

Last year the San Francisco Ethics Commission supported Senate Bill 1107. It allowed all cities and the state to create public financing systems and it was passed into law. Mr. Kopp is now a plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging that law.

This action is directly at odds with the Ethics Commission's duty to uphold San Francisco's public financing system. I do not support Mr. Kopp for a seat on the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

Sincerely,
Mrs. beryl sussman

Mr. Kopp's opposition to public financing is long-standing. In 1988, Mr. Kopp was a co-author of Proposition 73, which banned public financing of campaigns in California, including by local governments. The City of Los Angeles and San Francisco successfully challenged that law and won charter cities an exemption from that ban. Mr. Kopp opposed San Francisco's position in that case.

When he applied to fill a partial term last year, the Rules Committee asked Mr. Kopp whether he opposed public financing of campaigns. His response to the committee was vague implying he no longer had strong opinions on public financing.

Last year the San Francisco Ethics Commission supported Senate Bill 1107. It allowed all cities and the state to create public financing systems and it was passed into law. Mr. Kopp is now a plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging that law.

This action is directly at odds with the Ethics Commission's duty to uphold San Francisco's public financing system. I do not support Mr. Kopp for a seat on the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

The City of Los Angeles and San Francisco successfully challenged that law and won charter cities an exemption from that ban. Mr. Kopp opposed San Francisco's position in that case.

When he applied to fill a partial term last year, the Rules Committee asked Mr. Kopp whether he opposed public financing of campaigns. His response to the committee was vague implying he no longer had strong opinions on public financing.

Last year the San Francisco Ethics Commission supported Senate Bill 1107. It allowed all cities and the state to create public financing systems and it was passed into law. Mr. Kopp is now a plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging that law.

This action is directly at odds with the Ethics Commission's duty to uphold San Francisco's public financing system. I do not support Mr. Kopp for a seat on the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

From Larry Bush, Co-Founder, Friends of Ethics

AN OPEN LETTER TO COMMON CAUSE ABOUT THE SAN FRANCISCO ETHICS COMMISSION

Common Cause and I have a longtime relationship dating back more than twenty years in San Francisco and before that in Washington with John Gardner, Common Cause's founder. I am glad to see you take such a strong interest in the San Francisco Ethics Commission and its ability to meet our city's needs for clean elections, honest government and transparency.

Common Cause's interest in San Francisco during the past is nothing like what we see today. Missed you when we were fighting for a Commission that would fulfill rather than dodge its responsibilities. Missed you when hid out when the Ethics Commission asked voters to approve restoring disclosure by Expenditure Lobbyists, though we understood that you had concerns that you yourselves would have to file when you spend money seeking to influence our City Hall. Missed you when indictments and convictions came down for an incumbent Supervisor, incumbent state senator, the Community College's Chancellor, and now the FBI investigation into the mayor's fundraising.

At the same time, I am deeply disappointed that today's approach is so contrary to the practices originated by Mr. Gardner. Perhaps because in the intervening years you have been so focused on state and national concerns you are getting off on the wrong foot here now.

You are urging that one of your Board members who has never attended any Ethics Commission meeting be appointed to sit on the Commission.

Bear with me while I bring you up to date. This is a critical time for a re-set of our city's Ethics operation. New staffing is being added, new public access is being implemented, and most of all the city is ready for strong action on pay-to-play politics that puts private interests ahead of public interests.

Our long history requires that we be candid with each other. Your goal has a lot less to do with the Ethics Commission or even putting your Board member on the Commission than it does with denying Judge Quentin Kopp reappointment to a full term.

In fact, you have generated (at last count) 127 letters urging the Board of Supervisors to oppose Judge Kopp (pointer for you: sending identically worded letters without actual signatures looks like AstroTurf pushing a button that sends out letters from folks who prearranged for you to use their name when you wish. In fact, it's pretty similar to the Expenditure Lobbying we require to be disclosed but which you didn't support).

You have a dispute with Judge Kopp over a strategy you are pursuing that has absolutely no impact on San Francisco now or in the future. It also is unrelated to our shared interest in public financing, despite your suggestion that it is about public financing. It is totally unrelated to us in San Francisco. It is about the authority to create changes in other cities, by the voters or action by political leaders in Sacramento.

Judge Kopp joined in a lawsuit that objected to your approach of having the state legislature overturn a campaign reform that was passed by the voters. His position is that only the voters should change laws passed by the voters.

That happens to be the same position Friends of Ethics adopted when a proposal was made to allow our Supervisors to rewrite or even abolish laws passed by voters without asking the voters for those changes. In our case, we defeated that proposed end-run around the voters.

To suit your purposes, you now see an opportunity to leverage your position by denying Kopp's appointment, and even mischaracterize his record on campaign reforms to bolster your case.

You and I know that you only turned to this when your effort to cut a back-room deal failed.

Three of your senior officers personally called me to ask me to get Judge Kopp to remove his name from the lawsuit and in turn you would withdraw your objection to his appointment. There were similar suggestions in conversations with others in our group.

Scratch my back and I'll scratch yours.

Actually, that's the kind of backroom politicking that Friends of Ethics opposes, whether it would suit our friends and allies or not. And we do consider Common Cause to be friends and allies, in most other ways.

In fact, I was the person who proposed that the Ethics Commission endorse your goal of allowing other local governments to adopt public financing for elections. We don't disagree that local governments should be allowed that prerogative. We do have a healthy regard for letting voters re-do laws that they passed rather than politicians who stand to benefit rewrite what the voters did.

When it comes to Judge Kopp's record on campaign reform, it appears you have not done your homework. Perhaps you were so focused on your own interest.

Judge Kopp was the author of San Francisco's campaign contribution limits that have been in place for more than forty years, since he won approval for them in 1973.

In 1995, I proposed in my newspaper column that San Francisco adopt a law limiting how much supervisor candidates could spend on their campaigns. Former Supervisor Terrence Hallinan got that put on the ballot.

This is what Quentin Kopp wrote then, including in the Voter Handbook:

"I salute Supervisor Hallinan for a proposal that will please all but the cynical City Hall lobbyists and San Francisco "fixers" who have dominated city government for almost two decades." It pleased the voters, who approved it by a 3-1 margin. If you look back into Common Cause records, you will find that Common Cause also supported that measure.

A court ultimately overturned that law, and Judge Kopp concluded that the only option left was public financing. In November 2000 San Francisco voted for its current public financing measure. Judge Kopp, who you claim is an unrepentant opponent of public financing, did not oppose that shift.

In 2015, before any possibility arose of an Ethics Commission appointment, Judge Kopp personally paid for a ballot argument supporting the Commission's proposal to again require Expenditure Lobbyists to file and disclose their lobbying. You declined to endorse that reform.

As a Commissioner, he supported the 2016 ballot measure before his appointment, and he has consistently supported upholding San Francisco's public financing law. He has instigated changes to increase enforcement when violations are proven, and to move forward on pay-to-play deal-making.

There are without doubt issues where I sharply disagree with the positions Judge Kopp has taken in the past. For that matter, there are issues where all of us disagree with each other, even in our own organizations.

In this instance, Judge Kopp has brought new vigor and focus to the work of the Ethics Commission. He does his homework. He considers the arguments with a judicial eye. He has the experience of campaigning for office and then serving in office, and so knows the wiles and ways that may serve some short-term political objective at the cost of public trust.

The Ethics Commission has been fortunate to have his service over the past six months, and we need his service to continue. As Friends of Ethics, we were far from united when Judge Kopp's appointment first was raised to fill the remainder of an existing term. Having seen his work and leadership, we now are united behind his appointment – and that is the view of four former Ethics Commissioners, six former Civil Grand Jury members who reported on the Ethics Commission, the former local coordinator for Common Cause, and others who have consistently supported ethics reforms here.

I don't expect you to alter your position. I do want to bring to your attention that we object to your disrespecting the local ethics reformers and ignoring our repeated advice to you to talk directly to Judge Kopp. Instead you sought to avoid that conversation and instead have us act as your surrogates.

For our part, we write this as an Open Letter to dispel any misinformation being circulated by you and to correct the record on both Judge Kopp and on Common Cause's approach to this important decision for our City.

Thank you.

RE: Board of Supervisors Candidate selection to the Ethics Commission

Dear Supervisors, my name is Joe Kelly. I am a native San Franciscan and a former member of the San Francisco Civil Grand Jury.

I am writing today in support of Judge Quentin L. Kopp to be appointed to the Ethics Commission for the upcoming term. I have followed Judge Kopp throughout the many years of his public service. I believe the citizens of San Francisco will have a strong advocate in judge Kopp for accountability from all those involved in public service. I have followed the workings of the Ethics Commission for the past five years and have noticed a major upgrade in the past twelve months in the Commissions pursuit of its stated mission. Much of this improvement is a result of judge Kopp's presence on the Ethics Commission. Many of you may not realize that Judge Kopp has been involved with the Ethics Commission since its inception in the 1970's.

I strongly encourage your vote of support for Judge Kopp to insure the Commission continues its assent into the productive Commission which the citizens of San Francisco deserve and desire.

Thank you for your time and consideration of my perspective.

Re: Support for Re-Appointment of Quentin Kopp to Ethics Commission

Dear Rules Committee Members,

I strongly support former Judge Quentin Kopp application for re-appointment to San Francisco's Ethics Commission for a six-year term ending on February 1, 2023. He is clearly the stronger candidate of the two applicants for this seat.

Since his appointment to the Ethics Commission in 2016, Mr. Kopp has served admirably.

Over the 27 years he served as a member of San Francisco's Board of Supervisors, a member of the State Senate, and a Superior Court Judge, Mr. Kopp has long been a strong advocate of open government in our City. Kopp clearly has demonstrated during his tenure on the Superior Court that he is exceptionally impartial, and is obviously very knowledgeable about California state law and San Francisco's open government and ethics laws.

His service as a board member of California's First Amendment Coalition is additional evidence of his dedication to clean, honest government. To the extent Ethics Commissioner Peter Keane was correct in 2016 that Mr. Kopp "can sniff out a rat better than any terrier," Quentin was precisely the type of Commissioner the Ethics Commission was sorely in need of in 2016, and continues to be. Commissioner Kopp is an excellent choice to retain as an Ethics Commissioner.

Please forward a unanimous recommendation in support of Mr. Kopp's re-appointment to Ethics to the full Board of Supervisors. He is extremely competent, and deserves your unanimous support.

Respectfully submitted,

I urge the Rules Committee, and then the entire Board of Supervisors, to promptly act to re-appoint Quentin Kopp to Seat 1 on the SF Ethics Commission.

I do so as a former Ethics Commissioner, as a member of Friends of Ethics, and as an advocate long involved in such "good government" activities as several Grand Juries and service on the Sunshine Ordinance Task Force.

Last year, I initially did not endorse him, knowing his initial term would be very short and that he would have to go through this current process.

I wanted to see how he approached the Ethics Commission in all the work then ahead of it.

He has done an outstanding job in helping re-energize and re-orient the Ethics Commission to be active -- and pro-active.

Even though new to the Commission, he has taken the lead in asking probing questions on pending issues and in making positive suggestions for further Ethics actions.

We need his experience, independence, assertiveness, and deft communications skills.

Apart from personally supporting him and complimenting him to you,

I fully agree with the formal comments from Friends of Ethics and those of some of our individual members regarding how well and carefully he has faithfully carried out his duties as an Ethics Commissioner.

Dear Mr. Chairman,

It is with great enthusiasm and without hesitation that I join with many other San Franciscans to offer my full support for the reappointment of the honorable Quentin L. Kopp to the Ethics Commission.

Judge Kopp is a longtime advocate for curtailing the influence of money and contributors on our politics, and supported San Francisco's efforts to limit campaign contributions and add public financing.

Judge Kopp has been a superb Ethics Commissioner since his appointment to the remaining term of the Board's seat last September. His outstanding service in the short time he has served on the Ethics Commission reflects his experience and knowledge as a former California Appeals Court Judge, years as a member of the California State Senate, and years as a San Francisco Supervisor and is most worthy of appointment to a full term.

Most of all, he remains focused on the Ethics' commission's mission of transparency and accountability that serves the public.

He is the only candidate who has attended Ethics Commission meetings long before he was first appointed to the his current position, and the only candidate to support the Ethics Commission decision to place measures on the ballot favoring increased disclosure and opposing pay-to-play tactics. He has been and will continue to be a strong advocate for the vision of Executive Director LeeAnn Pelham and its implementation with full funding.

As a former mayor who has knows and has worked with the many challenges that San Francisco is faced with every day, I believe that Quentin Kopp adds an important status to the work of the Ethics Commission and has raised its reputation with the public.

It is with this in mind, that I respectfully ask that you support his reappointment for a full term to the Ethics Commission.

Sincerely,

Re: Support for the reappointment of Judge Quentin L. Kopp to the Ethics Commission

Dear Supervisor Safai:

The Golden Gate Restaurant Association (GGRA) was founded in 1936 by a group of San Francisco restaurateurs who recognized the need for an organization to speak on behalf of the local restaurant industry. Early issues GGRA addressed included racketeering and collective labor agreements — even the impact of food rationing during World War II. From that time until today, GGRA has brought the concerns of its members to legislators while keeping its members abreast of industry-related issues; that's why we regularly support qualified candidates that help oversee the role of government and assist in enforcing our laws.

GGRA faces many of the same challenges the founders did 81 years ago, and open and transparent government is important to our members and the overall integrity of our City government. As a long-term member of the business community, we support the reappointment of Judge Quentin L. Kopp. Judge Kopp we have every confidence that he will act in the best interests of not just our organization but all citizens of San Francisco.

As a Supervisor, Senator, Judge and Ethics Commissioner we have appreciated the integrity and conviction of his positions in the past, and so we are confident that he will continue act courageously and clearly for adherence and respect for the law and ethics rules and regulations.

I appreciate your time and effort and strongly urge you to support Judge Kopp to continue to serve as an esteemed member of the Ethics Commission.

RE: Endorsement of Quentin Kopp for a Full Term on the Ethics Commission

Dear Mr. Evans:

I strongly urge the Rules Committee and the Board of Supervisors to keep Quentin Kopp on the Ethics Commission and not replace him with Kathleen Thurmond. He has much longer experience in government, as a Supervisor, State Senator, Judge, and Ethics Commissioner, while her experience pales in comparison and seems almost completely irrelevant for such a sharp and important position. The Ethics Commission always needs people who are willing to confront corruption, who have no axe to grind or people to protect, and who have no need to curry political favor or to dispense it.

The article in today's Examiner seems to demonstrate that she has no knowledge of San Francisco politics and ethical issues, and is plumping for this job out of personal and organizational animus against Mr. Kopp, and I suppose for another line on her tepid resume. Larry Bush is quoted as saying that three senior officers of Common Cause and other members told him that they would withdraw their objection to Mr. Kopp filling the full term if he would disengage from a lawsuit against Common Cause. It looks like you should not only endorse Mr. Kopp, but also ask the Ethics Commission to investigate Ms. Thurmond and Common Cause to discover the extent of their chicanery in this process.

It has been suggested that some people think diversity would be served by having a relatively inexperienced white woman replace an older, very San Francisco-savvy white Jewish man. Actually the Jews are a very small minority, so Kopp meets the definition of diversity with room to spare. He's always seemed pretty independent, and as a conservative he's also in a political minority in San Francisco. It's a good idea to have a principled conservative on the Ethics Commission who will have no political qualms about confronting local officials and others with hard facts.

Very truly yours,

Richard Hack

Greetings Rules Committee,

CA Common Cause response to the article in the Examiner yesterday about us and the Ethics Commission:

Kopp is wrong choice for Ethics Commission

<http://www.sfexaminer.com/kopp-wrong-choice-ethics-commission/>

"An independent City Ethics Commission is key to upholding the integrity of San Francisco's campaign finance and ethics laws." Common Cause wrote those words more than 20 years ago, in support of 1993's Proposition K, which created the Ethics Commission.

We have remained a voice for robust ethics laws and enforcement in San Francisco. We campaigned for 2000's Proposition O, which created The City's public campaign financing program, and 2016's Proposition T, which restricted gifts and campaign contributions from lobbyists, among other important reforms that collectively make San Francisco's ethics laws some of the strongest in the nation.

-To protect these reforms, we adamantly oppose the reappointment of Quentin Kopp to the San Francisco Ethics Commission. Whatever his other contributions to this city and state, Kopp has taken the wrong side on too many of these issues — particularly public campaign financing, which is at the heart of San Francisco's campaign finance reforms. To name a few:

- He opposed Prop. K: If voters had followed his advice, the Ethics Commission would not exist.
- He was an author of 1988's Proposition 73, which would have prohibited public campaign financing in San Francisco.
- As a named plaintiff, he fought The City in the 1992 lawsuit that authorized San Francisco's public financing program.

In 2016, when he applied to a partial term on the Ethics Commission, Kopp portrayed himself as open-minded on the issue of public campaign financing, despite his long history opposing it. But his subsequent actions show that he intends to continue undermining it.

Only three days after his appointment to the Ethics Commission, Kopp wrote to Gov. Jerry Brown, urging him to veto an Ethics Commission-supported bill on public campaign financing. After Gov. Brown signed the bill, Kopp personally joined a lawsuit to challenge the bill.

Contrary to claims published in the Examiner, Common Cause never sought for Kopp to remove his name from the lawsuit. On Dec. 22, our staff spoke with Friends of Ethics' Larry Bush to discuss our concerns about Kopp's reappointment. Bush voiced surprise that Kopp had filed the lawsuit and stated that he would ask Kopp to withdraw. We did not request this, and we did not indicate that Kopp's withdrawal would affect our position on his reappointment. This latest lawsuit merely illustrates Kopp's continued opposition to needed reforms.

For nearly 30 years and continuing today, Kopp has placed himself at odds with the Ethics Commission and its mission to implement San Francisco's public financing program. If the Board of Supervisors were to reappoint Kopp to the Ethics Commission, it would be turning its back on public campaign financing and The City's ethics system.

I have been proud to call San Francisco home for the past seven years. It had been a life-long dream to live in SF, drawn by its diversity, dynamism, and progressive energy. For decades, I have been an advocate for women's rights and promoted women's leadership in business and politics. I am devoted to the principles of political inclusion, transparency, and accountability, and I would be honored to give back to this city I love by safeguarding those values as an Ethics Commissioner. Like many San Franciscans, I am deeply troubled by recent developments in federal politics; in this critical time, it is urgent that all SF residents know that they have a voice, and an honest government, in City Hall. We must not abandon our values by backing away from San Francisco's ethics laws, including our public campaign financing system; instead, we must protect and strengthen them.

Civic Activities:

I served as a Past-President of the board of NAWBO-SFBA (National Association of Women Business Owners), attended Leadership San Francisco and served as a board member of Girls Inc. As a California Common Cause board member and executive team member I supported the organizations efforts to strengthen local and state ethics laws such as San Francisco's Propostion T, including reviewing proposed ordinances and legislation and discussing policy strategy. I also serve as a Senior Advisor and Board Chair of the Alliance for Girls, serve on the NARAL Leadership Council-SF and as a member of the Business Team for Pachamama Alliance. Subject: Recommendation of Kathleen Thurmond

Dear Mr. Evans,

It is my pleasure to recommend Kathleen Thurmond to serve on the San Francisco Ethics Commission. Kathleen has been a colleague and partner in many ventures for over 20 years.

Kathleen is the former owner and CEO of Best Washington Uniform and Linen Supply, an industrial laundry in southern California. In her capacity as CEO of Best Washington, Kathleen partnered with me through the Environmental Protection Agency's Merit Partnership for Pollution Prevention and later the National Environmental Performance Track to develop and demonstrate pollution prevention practices and technologies for the industrial laundry sector. Kathleen took on a leadership role in promoting environmentally sustainable practices in the industrial laundry sector. She became known as a leader in environmentally sound management (she was the first industrial laundry owner in the nation to develop an ISO 14001 environmental management system for her facility) and was consulted by EPA when the agency developed and refined regulations for the sector. The fact that Kathleen began leading the industry in environmental management during her first months as President of Best Washington is a testament to her excellent judgment, ability to learn new subjects quickly and well, and strong leadership skills.

When I served on the Board of Directors of California Common Cause, we were looking for new Board members. At the time, the board largely consists of people in law, government, and the public interest sector, so we were looking for a representative from the business community in Los Angeles. I immediately thought of recruiting Kathleen because she is one of those special people who understands intuitively how important it is for business to play a positive role in the public sector. Kathleen is that rare and wonderful person who has the business savvy to thrive in the private sector and also a passion for public service. She has been a long-term board member at Common Cause where she has really dug in and learned the issues.

I'm confident that Kathleen Thurmond has the experience, ability, and knowledge of the issues to be an excellent member of the San Francisco Ethics Commission. Kathleen always makes great contributions to the organizations, causes, and projects that she chooses to pursue and I know she will be a great asset to the commission.

Please feel free to call me if you have questions.

Dear Selection Committee,

I am writing this letter to strongly recommend that you consider Kathleen Thurmond for a position on your Ethics Commission. I have known and worked with Kathleen for the past 12 years as her Financial Planner and Investment Advisor.

In all my years of experience, certain people stand out for their commitment to great qualities. Kathleen is one of these people. In the many years we have worked together, she has demonstrated in both her personal and professional life, the highest level of honesty, integrity and trustworthiness.

In working with Kathleen, it is clear she is conscientious and concerned with ethical guidelines, fair minded, plays by the rules and cares about doing the right thing. She has applied these high standards of ethical behavior in business, politics and everyday life. Her attention to detail and wanting the best outcome for all involved is one of the main reasons she has achieved such a high level of success in many aspects of her life.

Kathleen has successfully built and sold businesses, raised her family and engaged in many philanthropic programs while using her own code of ethic; which encompasses commitment, honesty and equity for all people.

In summation, due to all the attributes listed above I would strongly recommend Kathleen for a position on your commission. I am confident she would be a great asset to your team.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if I can be of further assistance. I can be reached at seanrichardson@allstreetcapital.com or 213-443-6791.

Dear Mr. Evans,

It is my pleasure to recommend Kathleen Thurmond to serve on the San Francisco Ethics Commission. Kathleen is the chair of the Advisory Board for Alliance for Girls, the largest alliance of girls' organizations in the country with 150 members serving more than 300,000 girls and young women. I have been working with Kathleen for three years.

Kathleen is a strong and culturally sensitive communicator. Alliance for Girls' Advisory Board includes a wide variety of people including girls, direct service providers, corporate executives and elected officials. Kathleen is always fair and thoughtful when she leads the Advisory Board meetings, and is respected by all members of the board.

Kathleen is also ready and able to go the extra mile when it comes to issues of fairness and ethical conduct. For instance, Alliance for Girls was invited to participate in a committee to review the rape procedures of the San Francisco District Attorney's office. I was unable to attend the meetings. To make sure Alliance for Girls was represented and able to support the mission of the committee, Kathleen joined the committee instead, attending the meetings, and keeping me informed of the committee's progress.

As the Executive Director of Alliance for Girls, I meet with Kathleen bi-monthly. I have gotten to know her well. She is strong, unafraid to speak up for what is right. She is firm in her beliefs. She is always aware of who is not in the room, as much as who is, and makes sure all stakeholder voices are heard on critical issues.

I am confident that Kathleen Thurmond has the experience, ability, and knowledge of the issues to be an excellent member of the San Francisco Ethics Commission. Kathleen's leadership has enabled Alliance for Girls' success as a nonprofit, positively impacting the lives of hundreds of thousands of girls. I am confident that she will be a great asset to the commission.

Please feel free to call me if you have questions.

Subject: Recommendation for seat on SF Ethics Commission

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors:

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to highly recommend Kathleen Thurmond for a seat on the San Francisco Ethics Commission.

I have known and worked with Kathleen for the past four years. As a volunteer, she has been part of a team that has helped our organization redesign our educational programs on environmental sustainability and social justice so as to be more attractive and useful to the business community.

I have been impressed by Kathleen's thorough and analytical approach to problem solving and the calm and supportive way that she works as a team member, stepping up and making her voice heard when necessary and easily stepping back and supporting other team members' views when appropriate. She knows how to and naturally contributes to building a highly functional team dynamic that I think is useful on any commission. She is also a person of the highest personal integrity with a strong ethical foundation rooted in a commitment to serve the common good.

For these reasons, coupled with her experience serving on the board of California Common Cause, I think she will be a highly contributing member of the San Francisco Ethics Commission and I strongly urge you to choose her for membership.

Sincerely,

February 20, 2017

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing today to enthusiastically support Kathleen Thurmond's application for a seat on the San Francisco Ethics Commission. I first met Kathleen at the United Nations Conference for Women 4 years ago and we have since crossed paths many times in our efforts to serve women in the Bay Area and beyond who are navigating our current political, economic, and social climates. My approach to this vital work has been primarily through non-profit avenues, leading organizations like How Women Lead, Women's Funding Network, Rise Up and working with The Alliance for Girls, an organization to which Kathleen has shown a deep commitment.

Kathleen is an excellent candidate to serve on the San Francisco Ethics Commission. Her ongoing work as a board member for organizations like California Common Cause and Girls Inc. has given her the experience necessary to participate fully in the commission's work, and her drive to facilitate social change in regards to democracy, environmental concerns, gender equality, and social justice shows that she is uniquely motivated to encourage progress toward fair, equitable, and ethical practices in any arena. Kathleen's expertise in business and policy will serve her well in the commission's public policy reform efforts and regulation enforcement.

My experience with Kathleen has shown her to be an honorable and trustworthy member of the Bay Area community. She has always displayed a commitment to integrity in business and politics, and an unequivocal devotion to her community. I give her the highest recommendation without any reservations. If you have any questions or need further information, please do not hesitate to contact me. I wish you the best with your decision.

Sincerely,

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors

I write this letter with enthusiastic support of Kathleen Thurmond as a candidate for a seat on the Ethics Commission.

As I understand, the mission of the Commission is to practice and promote the highest standards of ethical behavior in government. I know Kathleen to uphold these same high standards as a business owner, trusted advisor, and advocate for women and girls. I have known Kathleen for over ten years having met during our time as members of Women President's Organization here in the Bay Area.

With her combination of expertise in business, non-profit, and policy, and her goals to facilitate social justice, she will bring tremendous experience and wisdom to the Commission. Her diverse skills, extensive and significant leadership positions in the public and private sector coupled with her commitment to life long learning make her an excellent candidate for this position.

Kathleen possesses great leadership skills and in particular is a thoughtful listener, a quality much needed in this role.

Re: Support of Kathleen Thurmond, Candidate for SF Ethics Commission

I am 33-year resident of San Francisco living in my second, single family home and serve on non-profit and civic boards, including ones for the City of San Francisco. I was appointed to the start-up of the Revenue Bond Oversight Committee for the Public Utilities Commission, reappointed, and elected Chair for 5 consecutive years. I currently serve on the Treasurer's Oversight Committee for the City and County of San Francisco. Previously, I was an owner of a national woman-owned and LBE investment banking firm which employed 7-10 employees locally specializing in financing state and local governments and served as both banker or financial advisor to several of the City's departments. Therefore, I understand the significant role of the Ethics Commission and required to follow its regulations and practices.

It is with this knowledge and experience that I write this letter of strong endorsement for Kathleen Thurmond as a candidate for a seat on the Ethics Commission.

I know Kathleen initially from our time as members of Women President's Organization and have since organized advocacy events with her. Her breadth of experience from the business world, including owning and managing her own business as well as consulting to family-owned businesses AND leadership positions in significant non-profit organizations enables her to bring varied experience and diverse knowledge to the Commission. Her advocacy for fairness and social justice has been consistent throughout all her work experience.

I know Kathleen to be open minded and willing to listen to others even while advocating her position. From my experience with Kathleen, she has always been trustworthy and ethical in our mutual pursuits. She has a proven record of leadership in both the business and not-for profit worlds and I have observed and been a beneficiary of her honest approach in assessing and facing challenges. As a member of the San Francisco community, I think adding fresh perspective and new participation from thoughtful community leaders to our City's institutions is vital.

Thank you.

Subject: Support for Kathleen Thurmond for Ethics Commission appointment (today!)

Dear Supervisors Asha Safai, Norman Yee, and Sandra Lee Fewer -

I hope this email reaches you in time for your Rules Committee hearing this afternoon.

I write to urge you to support Kathleen Thurmond's appointment to the Ethics Commission.

It is time to have new energy and new constituency in a very important commission.

With all due respect for Judge Quentin Kopp and his many valuable contributions to the City, I believe that this opportunity should be given to an outstanding individual who has a strong desire to serve the City of San Francisco and committed to ensure that we remain at the forefront while our current US administration appears to ignore our allegiance to ethics, good government, and honor. It is more important than ever for someone who has the entrepreneurial spirit to lead the charge.

Kathleen Thurmond has been on the front lines as the leader of NAWBO-SFBA (National Association of Women Business Owners representing her fellow entrepreneurs in helping break down barriers to opportunities especially in city and federal contracting for women and minorities. She has been a board member for various organizations and in the 10 years she has been involved she focused on numerous ethical issues in regard to multiple city, state and governmental entities.

Kathleen has the support of California Common Cause, a non-partisan, grassroots advocacy organization that urges public participation and ensures that public officials and public institutions are accountable and responsive to not just to their constituencies but to all citizens.

She currently serves as an Executive Board Member on the Board of California Common Cause, Member of NARAL Leadership Council and as a Senior Advisor and Executive Board member of the Alliance for Girls. She is a business/non-profit consultant who previously spent 12 years as the CEO of a uniform rental company in Southern California and 15 years in non-profit management. Ms. Thurmond holds a graduate certificate in Environmental Business from Presidio Graduate School, an MBA from the University of Southern California, an MSW from Washington University, and a BA from Southern Methodist University.

Maraming salamat!

Marily
