18 (a) Findings.

19 Margot Antonetty devoted her 30-year career as a respected public health leader and advocate,
20 helping those who have experienced mental illness, HIV, and homelessness. From the late 1980s
21 through the early 1990s, Antonetty was an AIDS activist and worked at Baker Places, a nonprofit

23 and County of San Francisco, joining the Department of Public Health (DPH) in 1998 as Director of 24 Programs, overseeing funding received under the Ryan White HIV/AIDS program.

1 From 2007 to 2012, Antonetty served as the Deputy Director of Housing and Urban Health, and 2 in that role, she is credited with creating permanent supportive housing as it is known in San 3 Francisco. Antonetty helped to establish the Direct Access to Housing Program (DAH) -- the City's 4 nationally recognized permanent supportive housing program for people experiencing homelessness
5 who have complex medical, mental health, and/or substance use diagnoses. Today, DAH houses over 6 1,700 individuals across 38 sites in the City. In her role, Antonetty served as the community liaison for 7 DPH's permanent supportive housing program, building the Department's most trusted relationships 8 with providers and clients.

9 Antonetty was a champion for housing with as few barriers to entry and as many supports as 10 possible, and was firmly committed to ensuring that people thrived in supportive housing. She was 11 committed to welcoming into such housing the most vulnerable among us, who often fell through the 12 many cracks in the safety net of City services, and providing stability, care, and dignity to as many 13 people as possible.

14 In 2022, the City purchased the property at 1321 Mission Street for use as permanent 15 supportive housing for adults and families exiting homelessness. The 1321 Mission Street development
16 includes services, programs, and amenities inspired by the work of the late Margot Antonetty.
