TO: San Francisco Board of Supervisors
RE: Land Use & Transportation Committee Meeting, May 18 2015
AGENDA ITEM: Short Term Rental Legislation

Please enter this document into the public record for the Land Use & Transportation Committee Meeting noted above. Please distribute a copy to all San Francisco Supervisors.

From Saturday through Monday (April 25-27 2015) I sent 338 emails, addressed to Airbnb (trust@airbnb.com; support@airbnb.com) and the San Francisco Planning Department (shorttermrentals@sfgov.org). Most of these (306 emails) I also CC'd to Mayor Ed Lee (mayoredwinlee@sfgov.org) and my Supervisor London Breed (Breedstaff@sfgov.org).

Each email gives details for a specific current (as of 4-18-2015) Airbnb listing for a San Francisco rental which is apparently not being 'hosted' by a San Francisco resident, based upon what the host lists as their 'Home Location', and therefore is most likely in violation of the terms of the recently enacted San Francisco Short Term Rental legislation. Each email lists the following information, taken from the online listing:

Listing Location: (always San Francisco, CA, United States)
Host ID: #####
Host Name: ??????????
Host Link: <http://www.airbnb.com/users/show/#####>
Host Home Location: (city/state/country/country abbreviation)
Listing ID: #####
Listing Link: <http://www.airbnb.com/rooms/#####>
Listing Description: ????????
Share Type: (Shared room or Private room or Entire home/apt)

Below are all of the emails, and the auto-responses I received from Airbnb, combined. They are in order by date, first to last (I received no responses, automated or otherwise, from the San Francisco Planning Department, nor Mayor Lee, nor Supervisor Breed).

There are 338 Rental IDs (338 emails sent).

For 'Share Types', they are distributed as:

- Entire home/apt = 214
- Private room = 109
- Shared room = 15

Following are the host 'Home Locations' I found, and the count of rentals from each, that are apparently in violation of our STR law (some of the more egregious, by number or location, are noted in bold).

 The following is from San Francisco Planning Department Short-Term Residential Rental Registry webpage <<http://www.sf-planning.org/index.aspx?page=4004>>

Who is eligible to register?

In order to conduct a short-term residential rental you must meet all of the following conditions:

* You must be the Permanent Resident (owner or tenant) of the residential unit that you wish to rent short-term. This means you must live in that specific residential unit for at least 275 nights of any given calendar year. If you are a new resident you must have occupied this specific unit for at least 60 consecutive days prior to your application. If you own a multi-unit building, you may only register the specific residential unit in which you reside.

* You must obtain a San Francisco Business Registration Certificate from the San Francisco Treasurer and Tax Collector's Office <<http://sftreasurer.org/>> .

* You must obtain liability insurance in the amount of no less than $500,000 or provide proof that liability coverage in an equal or higher amount is being provided by any and all hosting platforms through which you will rent your unit.

* Your residential unit must not have any outstanding Planning, Building, Housing, Fire, Health, Police, or other applicable City code violations.

* You may only register one residential unit.

* Please note that residential units that are subject to the Inclusionary Affordable Housing Program and residential units designated as below market rate (BMR) or income-restricted under City, state, or federal law are not eligible to register.

* Important note for tenants: The Planning Department strongly recommends that you review your lease before submitting an application. The registration of your residential unit on the Short-Term Residential Rental Registry does not override any lease agreements, homeowner's association bylaws, Covenants, Conditions & Restrictions (CC&Rs), or any other agreement, law, or regulations that prohibit subletting or use of your unit as a short-term residential rental.

 The following is from San Francisco Planning Department Short-Term Residential Rental Registry webpage
<http://www.sf-planning.org/index.aspx?page=4004>

Who is eligible to register?

In order to conduct a short-term residential rental you must meet all of the following conditions:

You must be the Permanent Resident (owner or tenant) of the residential unit that you wish to rent short-term. This means you must live in that specific residential unit for at least 275 nights of any given calendar year. If you are a new resident you must have occupied this specific unit for at least 60 consecutive days prior to your application. If you own a multi-unit building, you may only register the specific residential unit in which you reside.

You must obtain a San Francisco Business Registration Certificate from the San Francisco Treasurer and Tax Collector's Office.

You must obtain liability insurance in the amount of no less than ,000 or provide proof that liability coverage in an equal or higher amount is being provided by any and all hosting platforms through which you will rent your unit.

Your residential unit must not have any outstanding Planning, Building, Housing, Fire, Health, Police, or other applicable City code violations.

You may only register one residential unit.

Please note that residential units that are subject to the Inclusionary Affordable Housing Program and residential units designated as below market rate (BMR) or income-restricted under City, state, or federal law are not eligible to register.

Important note for tenants: The Planning Department strongly recommends that you review your lease before submitting an application. The registration of your residential unit on the Short-Term Residential Rental Registry does not override any lease agreements, homeowner's association bylaws, Covenants, Conditions & Restrictions (CC&Rs), or any other agreement, law, or regulations that prohibit subletting or use of your unit as a short-term residential rental.

If you own a multi-unit building, you may only register the specific residential unit in which you reside.

You must obtain a San Francisco Business Registration Certificate from the San Francisco Treasurer and Tax Collector's Office.

You must obtain liability insurance in the amount of no less than ,000 or provide proof that liability coverage in an equal or higher amount is being provided by any and all hosting platforms through which you will rent your unit.

Your residential unit must not have any outstanding Planning, Building, Housing, Fire, Health, Police, or other applicable City code violations.

You may only register one residential unit.

Please note that residential units that are subject to the Inclusionary Affordable Housing Program and residential units designated as below market rate (BMR) or income-restricted under City, state, or federal law are not eligible to register.

Important note for tenants: The Planning Department strongly recommends that you review your lease before submitting an application. The registration of your residential unit on the Short-Term Residential Rental Registry does not override any lease agreements, homeowner's association bylaws, Covenants, Conditions & Restrictions (CC&Rs), or any other agreement, law, or regulations that prohibit subletting or use of your unit as a short-term residential rental.

Who is eligible to register?

In order to conduct a short-term residential rental you must meet all of the following conditions:

You must be the Permanent Resident (owner or tenant) of the residential unit that you wish to rent short-term. This means you must live in that specific residential unit for at least 275 nights of any given calendar year. If you are a new resident you must have occupied this specific unit for at least 60 consecutive days prior to your application. If you own a multi-unit building, you may only register the specific residential unit in which you reside.

You must obtain a San Francisco Business Registration Certificate from the San Francisco Treasurer and Tax Collector's Office.

You must obtain liability insurance in the amount of no less than ,000 or provide proof that liability coverage in an equal or higher amount is being provided by any and all hosting platforms through which you will rent your unit.

Your residential unit must not have any outstanding Planning, Building, Housing, Fire, Health, Police, or other applicable City code violations.

You may only register one residential unit.

Please note that residential units that are subject to the Inclusionary Affordable Housing Program and residential units designated as below market rate (BMR) or income-restricted under City, state, or federal law are not eligible to register.

Important note for tenants: The Planning Department strongly recommends that you review your lease before submitting an application. The registration of your residential unit on the Short-Term Residential Rental Registry does not override any lease agreements, homeowner's association bylaws, Covenants, Conditions & Restrictions (CC&Rs), or any other agreement, law, or regulations that prohibit subletting or use of your unit as a short-term residential rental.

 The following is from San Francisco Planning Department Short-Term Residential Rental Registry webpage
<http://www.sf-planning.org/index.aspx?page=4004>

Who is eligible to register?

In order to conduct a short-term residential rental you must meet all of the following conditions:

You must be the Permanent Resident (owner or tenant) of the residential unit that you wish to rent short-term. This means you must live in that specific residential unit for at least 275 nights of any given calendar year. If you are a new resident you must have occupied this specific unit for at least 60 consecutive days prior to your application. If you own a multi-unit building, you may only register the specific residential unit in which you reside.

You must obtain a San Francisco Business Registration Certificate from the San Francisco Treasurer and Tax Collector's Office.

You must obtain liability insurance in the amount of no less than ,000 or provide proof that liability coverage in an equal or higher amount is being provided by any and all hosting platforms through which you will rent your unit.

Your residential unit must not have any outstanding Planning, Building, Housing, Fire, Health, Police, or other applicable City code violations.

You may only register one residential unit.

Please note that residential units that are subject to the Inclusionary Affordable Housing Program and residential units designated as below market rate (BMR) or income-restricted under City, state, or federal law are not eligible to register.

Important note for tenants: The Planning Department strongly recommends that you review your lease before submitting an application. The registration of your residential unit on the Short-Term Residential Rental Registry does not override any lease agreements, homeowner's association bylaws, Covenants, Conditions & Restrictions (CC&Rs), or any other agreement, law, or regulations that prohibit subletting or use of your unit as a short-term residential rental.

<http://www.sf-planning.org/index.aspx?page=4004> <<http://www.sf-planning.org/index.aspx?page=4004>>

Who is eligible to register?

In order to conduct a short-term residential rental you must meet all of the following conditions:

You must be the Permanent Resident (owner or tenant) of the residential unit that you wish to rent short-term. This means you must live in that specific residential unit for at least 275 nights of any given calendar year. If you are a new resident you must have occupied this specific unit for at least 60 consecutive days prior to your application. If you own a multi-unit building, you may only register the specific residential unit in which you reside.

You must obtain a San Francisco Business Registration Certificate from the San Francisco Treasurer and Tax Collector's Office.

You must obtain liability insurance in the amount of no less than ,000 or provide proof that liability coverage in an equal or higher amount is being provided by any and all hosting platforms through which you will rent your unit.

Your residential unit must not have any outstanding Planning, Building, Housing, Fire, Health, Police, or other applicable City code violations.

You may only register one residential unit.

Please note that residential units that are subject to the Inclusionary Affordable Housing Program and residential units designated as below market rate (BMR) or income-restricted under City, state, or federal law are not eligible to register.

Important note for tenants: The Planning Department strongly recommends that you review your lease before submitting an application. The registration of your residential unit on the Short-Term Residential Rental Registry does not override any lease agreements, homeowner's association bylaws, Covenants, Conditions & Restrictions (CC&Rs), or any other agreement, law, or regulations that prohibit subletting or use of your unit as a short-term residential rental.

 Airbnb Customer Experience

Thank you for submitting your support request! At Airbnb, nothing is more important to us than your safety and peace of mind. We will be in touch with you soon; in the meantime, please review these recommendations on how you can protect yourself and ensure for a wonderful travel or hosting experience.

*Keep your communication on the site. All contact info - email, phone number, and address - will be automatically exchanged between guest and host after the room is booked.

*All legitimate payments are transacted online through Airbnb's secure payment system. You should not receive a paper or PDF invoice from a host asking you for payment via Western Union, MoneyGram, etc.

*We are here for you. However, if you ever feel unsafe or threatened, please immediately contact local police or emergency services.

We believe that providing the right environment allows you to make safe, informed decisions. That's why we're constantly working on new features to minimize such incidents. We invite you to periodically check our Trust & Safety Center (<http://www.airbnb.com/safety>) for the latest updates and tips on how to have a positive Airbnb experience.

 Airbnb Customer Experience

Thank you for submitting your support request! At Airbnb, nothing is more important to us than your safety and peace of mind. We will be in touch with you soon; in the meantime, please review these recommendations on how you can protect yourself and ensure for a wonderful travel or hosting experience.

*Keep your communication on the site. All contact info - email, phone number, and address - will be automatically exchanged between guest and host after the room is booked.

*All legitimate payments are transacted online through Airbnb's secure payment system. You should not receive a paper or PDF invoice from a host asking you for payment via Western Union, MoneyGram, etc.

*We are here for you. However, if you ever feel unsafe or threatened, please immediately contact local police or emergency services.

We believe that providing the right environment allows you to make safe, informed decisions. That's why we're constantly working on new features to minimize such incidents. We invite you to periodically check our Trust & Safety Center (<http://www.airbnb.com/safety>) for the latest updates and tips on how to have a positive Airbnb experience.
