21 they committed as youth under the age of 26, and approximately one in six were under 21 22 years old; and

23 WHEREAS, Recognizing that young people's brains are not fully developed until their 24 mid 20s, California has enacted several reforms to address the diminished culpability of 25

1 youthful offenders and individuals on death row and those serving life without parole are 2 excluded from these policies; and

3 WHEREAS, More than one third of people on death row in California have been 4 diagnosed with a serious mental illness and dozens have been diagnosed with intellectual 5 disabilities; and

6 WHEREAS, A study by the National Academy of Sciences estimates that at least four 7 percent of people sentenced to death in the U.S. are innocent and California has already 8 exonerated eight men from death row due to wrongful conviction, all of them people of color; 9 and

10 WHEREAS, California's death penalty system has cost taxpayers $5 billion since 1977,
11 Meanwhile funding for vital victims services are being reduced in California due to Congress's 12 drastic cuts to funding for the Victims of Crime Act; and

13 WHEREAS, Two-thirds of the individuals sentenced to death in California have been 14 there for more than 20 years, and dozens of individuals have been on death row for more than 15 40 years with literally decades of delays caused by California's inability to provide lawyers to 16 handle capital appeals; and

17 WHEREAS, The California Democratic Party Platform supports the full repeal of the 18 death penalty and the Party has twice endorsed initiatives to repeal the death penalty; and

19 WHEREAS, Under the California Constitution, the Governor of California has the power
20 to commute death sentences, with the review and concurrence of a majority of the California 21 Supreme Court justices in certain cases; and

22 WHEREAS, The San Francisco Opera will present from September 14 to 28, 2025, 23 Dead Man Walking, an opera commissioned by San Francisco Opera 25 years ago about 24 Sister Helen Prejean's spiritual journey accompanying a man on death row that informed her 25 fight to end the death penalty in the United States; now, therefore, be it
