Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Based on an increasing number of reports regarding the disproportionate use of violence by police officers toward unarmed African-Americans and people of color around the country, city residents are becoming deeply concerned with the increasing presence of police during peaceful demonstrations that will result in more violence and have a chilling impact on the participation of communities of color. As a private citizen, I therefore respectfully request that the SF City Government, Local Officials, and Agencies please act against increasing police violence and hold them accountable to the harm they have.

Law enforcement nationwide often make racially based stops and interrogations. I am deeply concerned that the presence of the SF Police Department and the surveillance capabilities that will come with it, will further traumatize communities of color. I am also concerned that the aggregation of transportation data on communities of color will be used to justify the use of force and violence in those areas in the guise of VISION ZERO creating "safe streets," and will be used to further repress communities organizing for police accountability. Simply put, the presence of the SF Police Department will not result in community healing. Instead, it will result in community killing. The most disturbing part of it all, is that this outcome is predictable.

As a private citizen, I am calling on SF Mayor London Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and the San Francisco Planning Department to become visionary leaders by pledging to defund the SF Police Department and diverge VISION ZERO "enforcement" funding to "EQUITY" investment in the resources that really keep us safe and healthy, especially in Black communities, Indigenous communities and communities of color. I am calling you to commit to the following:

To never again vote to increase police funding or to increase the police department's budget.

To propose and vote for a $200 million cut from the San Francisco Police budget and move it towards City response to projected COVID-19 shortfalls.

To expand current street safety infrastructure and transportation investment in community-led health and safety strategies in communities of color, instead of investing in police or affluent communities.

To do everything in your power to compel the SF Police Department and all law enforcement agencies to immediately cease enacting violence on community members.

Our cities need your leadership, our people are hurting, and Black communities are crying out for health and safety in the midst of pandemic. Now is the time to invest in a safe, liberated future for our city. We can't afford to keep funding SFPD attacks on Black lives. Asking affected communities to take on the burden of figuring out how to make COVID19 work in a landscape of police violence is dismissive at best and insulting at worst.

As such, we urge you to take a step towards peace, healing and reconciliation by committing and pledging to the points above.

Sincerely,

Christina Nowak

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Sara Ryugo, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past month, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Hi!

My name is Andrew Udell and I live in San Francisco (in Noe Valley)! These past few weeks have helped me reflect on the current state of policing and it's clear we need massive change, especially with regards to our budget and I'm reaching out to you all as public officials.

SFPD gets an insane amount of resources that could otherwise be used to help end homelessness, fight climate change, and make our city more livable. Last year, SFPD had a budget of over $611M and we haven't seen any improvements to important issues like homelessness, climate change, mental health, safety, and housing affordability. Instead, what we have seen is the outcome of heavily armed and quick-to-violence police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Hello,

I am writing today to advocate for my neighbors and my community in saying: we must fund our community services at a greater rate to benefit and advance our oppressed communities. To find these funds for our oppressed and specifically Black communities, we must defund the police.

This money must be taken away from the police because policing as an institution is inherently violent towards Black people and other marginalized groups. I do believe we must develop a model of safety that do not involve police, because police do not promote public safety.

Please let me know what you are using your power to do specifically, to make sure our marginalized communities are advanced and cared for. Please let me know specifically, how you are reallocating funds within the city budget to benefit our Black residents.

Sincerely,
Jamie Reeves

Hello Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Elizabeth Andrews, and I am a resident of San Francisco. These past several weeks, our nation has seen hundreds of thousands of protesters demanding rapid and meaningful change across the country. They're demanding that we drastically change police behavior, end racism/anti-Blackness, and IMMEDIATELY right the awful wrongs that Black people face in America. I stand with them, and I hope you'll stand with them, too.

It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as protestors fight on, which has inspired me to write you today. Historically, the SFPD has proven to be a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, pulled heavily from the San Francisco general fund. While spending extraordinary amounts on policing--spending that arguably harms the Black community--we have not invested in improving safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability--issues that disproportionately and deleteriously affect Black San Franciscans.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget--to stop spending money militarizing our police force--and to instead invest in solving these problems. I truly believe that our courage to change will inspire other city officials--officials who admire the innovation and creativity that exudes from San Francisco--to do the same. Let's be the change we'd like to see in this world.

Hello Supervisors!

My name is Elliot Young, I'm a lifelong resident of San Francisco, I was born here 24 years ago, and I've lived here my entire life. I went to Grattan Elementary School in Cole Valley, the neighborhood I grew up in, then A.P. Gianinni Middle School, and after that, the Ruth Asawa School of the Arts. My point is that this city made me into the adult I am now, and I care deeply about San Francisco, and all of my fellow San Franciscans.

Through my life here in SF I've had the opportunity to meet, and vote for several of you (looking at you specifically, Supervisors Haney and Preston, hello), as I've lived in Cole Valley, Pacific Heights, the Outer Sunset, the Outer Richmond, and now most recently, by USF in the Western Addition/NOPA area. I've lived in all of these different places because, like so many San Franciscans, I don't own a home here, nor do my parents. But that's not why I'm writing to you today.

I want to state my support, as a San Francisco resident and native, for the immediate defunding of the SFPD. We as San Franciscans need to think bigger, and be better, than the history of violent, racist policing in this country.

We need to strip the SFPD's budget as dramatically as possible, with the goal of abolishing the police entirely, in their current iteration, and funding community alternatives, as well as investing further in things that will make a more dramatic difference in our city, such as Education, public health, the homelessness crisis, and the unsustainable cost of living (particularly rent) in this city.

Listen to this email, and hear the protestors in the streets. Enough is enough. We don't want reforms, we want to get rid of the system entirely. We could be on the forefront here in San Francisco, showing the rest of the world what is possible.

Thank you, I hope, for taking the time to read this email. I look forward to hearing back from the board, and as a constituent and resident, I am demanding I get some sort of response. Stay safe and healthy.

With the Utmost Sincerity & Severity,
Elliot M Young

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Chris Konnaris. I am a resident of the Bay Area, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Chris K

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Katie Straub. I lived in San Francisco in 2015 and 2016. I left the city for many reasons; one of them was the lack of support for homelessness, mental health and affordability—especially for Black Americans.

As I watch our nation gripped by protests calling for change, I think of my one-time home of San Francisco and the plight of Black Americans in it.

Our country is calling for an end to racism and anti-Blackness and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America.

Accordingly, I am writing from my own experience in SF, as well as the experiences of my friends and colleagues living there, when I implore: We need fewer dollars spent on police and more dollars spent on proactive measures for public good, especially as it impacts Black lives.

It has come to my attention that last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While the city has been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, it has not seen enough meaningful improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability—issues so crippling that it impacted my move away from San Francisco several years ago. Instead, the city invests in the harmful actions of police.

I call on you to reduce the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, mental health and affordability, which is felt most by Black neighbors and veterans.

I want to see San Francisco claim status as a great, safe and vibrant city for everyone—not just for some. I implore you to give every member of your community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. San Francisco should be a beacon for other cities to follow, if only it had the courage to change.

I thank you for your consideration.

As these protests continue, our city is making decisions about the 2021 budget.

SFPD is a waste of resources with an overexpanded mandate and a failed record. Despite spending over $600 million, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in San Francisco. This should not surprise us, because police forces are neither trained nor designed to solve those problems. Instead, armed response has eaten the budgets for other human services and become the default reaction to crises of all kinds, with the inevitable results of escalation, conflict, and death.

I am heartened to hear that San Francisco is considering fundamental changes to 9-1-1 protocols, and I am writing to voice my support for those first efforts and to encourage you to be bold in slashing the SFPD budget. Put those resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. Use them to invest in mental health care facilities so that every member of our community can safely receive the treatment they need. And re-envision policing as a last resort, with a limited scope of responsibility and the extensive training and preparation to allow officers to safely carry it out.

Greetings,

In a study of abused women, over 80% said they would not call the police again because they were scared that their abuser would only get a "slap on the wrist," and that they would come back and hurt them. Seeing that abused women do not feel safe calling the police to help them escape situations of domestic violence, should we cater to these women and create a new task force? The answer is yes.

We need specialized teams to respond to issues of domestic violence, that are not police. Police simply do not have, and cannot receive the extensive, rigorous training that specialized experts on deescalating domestically violent situations and helping victims escape their abuser require. This takes years of training and education, it's one of many issues that police are simply not fit to handle, like they are expected to today. And I don't just want to see woman officers respond to these calls, because they are still police officers who are not fit to deal with these situations, in terms of the training and education they have.

Defunding the police is about more than the safety of our Black neighbors, which is absolutely vital in itself. It is about making women more safe by ensuring their issues are cared for in a specialized way by trained professionals.

Are you willing to help victims of domestic violence?

Thanks,
Jamie

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Brittany Skyy, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our country has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black, brown, and indigenous people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action with frequent protests in support of the aforementioned reforms.

It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has objectively been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts of money on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. As a woman of color, I have personally been subjected to an abuse of power by SFPD. I was biking to work in the Dogpatch neighborhood and two officers in a marked SUV stopped me, demanded ID, and questioned me for at least 15 minutes because they alleged I went through a stop sign that did not exist.

In another instance, I marched peacefully with protesters on Market Street downtown and when I and dozens of others kneeled down with our hands in the air, the officers in riot gear pointed beanbag guns at our faces.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead direct those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they so desperately need. San Francisco has long been considered at the forefront of meaningful growth and modernization- I know we can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Brittany Skyy

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is [name]. I am a resident of [SF neighborhood], and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).)

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
[name]

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Connie, and I live in Potrero, San Francisco. For weeks our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. I'm heartened to hear discussions from the Mayor's office that efforts to reallocate SFPD funds are underway.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to honor your commitment fully to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Thank you for taking the time to read this email,
Connie

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD is taking a massive amount of our city's budget and taxpayer dollars while terrorizing our BIPOC citizens and not seeing improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans (40% of our homeless population is Black!).

Mayor Breed, please continue to show your courage, as you already have during your term in office, and be on the forefront of this much-needed change!

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers, My name is Julie Jumonville and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Hello Mayor Breed, San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Maddy Leonard. I have emailed some of you before. I am a long-time resident of San Francisco, I live in The Haight, in District 5. This past few weeks the US has seen thousands of protests. Revolutionaries are calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. I also understand that the budget for 2021 is being decided right now, as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources, and a disgrace to this city. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869!!! Most of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. Mayor Breed, you campaigned on a platform that committed to helping homeless folks find stable housing. YOU ARE NOT DOING THAT.

I call on all of you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use ALL of that $611,701,869 towards solving homelessness, providing health care for the most vulnerable, and funding our schools (so that teachers can AFFORD TO LIVE IN THE CITY THEY TEACH IN!) We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness and poverty the resources that they need.

You serve us, listen to our voices. DEFUND THE POLICE.

Sincerely,

Maddy Leonard (She/Her)

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. We know the negative health effects that overt and insidious systemic racism has on children and families. Police brutality that targeting people of color is a glaring example of this. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Stacie Larsen, and I am a resident of San Francisco. Our country is in turmoil and you all have the power to make things a little better.

The American system has been built to help white people. And it's cost the life of far too many Black people. From slavery, to the creation of the Police to monitor mainly black people, to inadequate healthcare for Black folx. This has got to change.

Frankly, I think we should have to start fresh and create a new system of Policing without Qualified Immunity and built on monitoring our communities in a fair and just way. Until that can happen, I urge you to take fund away form SFPD and instead allocate those funds to other existing Social Services as well as work to create new systems to deal with conflict in the city. I don't think a cop needs to be the one to show up for every civil dispute. They aren't even trained well enough to handle a lot of the situations they're faced with.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund.

Please don't just cut a few million. SLASH IT! Take at least a Billion. or 100s of Billions. I don't even feel comfortable with a city as small as ours getting that much money because the numbers don't add up in a way I'm comfortable with. Geographically we're small.. 7x7, we all know that. That shouldn't take over 600B in Policing. Which tells me the Police force has scary weapons. WE DON'T NEED MILITARIZED WEAPONS! Please do something.

Subject: Getting serious about police reform in our city
Date: Friday, June 19, 2020 10:44:15 AM

To Mayor Breed and the San Francisco Supervisors and Elected Officers:

Like many residents of San Francisco, I love this city, but I struggle to find grounds for optimism in its future. Wealthy homeowners have made our city unaffordable, dysfunctional, and inequitable. We have one of the largest budgets per capita, yet utter squalor in the heart of our downtown. Everyone is getting squeezed out, except the uber-rich.

I'm writing today about something very particular: the way we blindly privilege our police. I'm sick of seeing overpaid, under-trained officers turn regular interactions in our city into flashpoints of fear, discrimination, and violence.

Earlier this week, I woke up to the sounds of breaking glass at 4am. Looking out the window, I saw firefighters pulling out shattered panes of glass in a generations-old corner store, cleaning up what some vandal did overnight. Two police cars blocked the road next to the firetruck, lights flashing. Three officers stood by, watching the firemen work, without another soul in sight.

Why am I as a taxpayer funding armed guards to idly watch firemen repairing broken windows? Why do officers harass our unhoused residents who have nowhere to go? Why do we grant total impunity to officers who shoot to kill in San Francisco? Why do we spend more than half a BILLION dollars and rising every year on the wasteful and harmful actions of SFPD, especially against Black people?

I want to some leader, any leader, to step up and enact meaningful reforms:

- Reduce the police budget by at least 25% this year (not the pathetic 3.7% cut proposed earlier this month). Stop feeding the fire, and reallocate those resources to community needs, like addressing the housing crisis.

Require civil lawsuits against police officers to be paid from their pension funds. Officers, like any other society member, should face consequences for misconduct.

- Withhold pensions for cops involved in excessive force incidents.
- Suspend the use of paid administrative leave for cops under investigation.
- Stop re-hiring police officers with misconduct and excessive force records.

Any elected or appointed leader should immediately return donations from the San Francisco Police Officers Association (SFPOA). It should be disqualifying for someone like Paul Henderson (who directs the Department of Police Accountability) to receive four figure donations from SFPOA.

Will our leaders step up to meaningfully reform the shock troops our community pays for in blood and money? If not now, in this moment, then when?

Thank you for your service.

Subject: In Support of re-allocating SFPD budget to community resources

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Jamie Newman, and I am a resident of San Francisco and voter in District 5. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue, and I wanted to write in to express that we need to reallocate funds from SFPD to the community.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see harmful actions from our police that are negatively impacting the lives of our residents. I constantly hear from the mouths of you all, our leaders, the importance of affordable housing, homelessness, and various other community issues. It is time to put your money where your mouth is and actually allocate funds to address these problems.

I call on you to cut the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans, who are also being disproportionately impacted by COVID-19. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Jamie Newman

There are so many issues where an expert in the field would be a better response than an armed police officer, such as domestic disputes and people suffering from mental illness breakdowns. And I am sure SFPD would appreciate not having to answer calls where they do not have a clear solution.

I call on you to greatly reduce the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Victoria Butler, and I am a resident of San Francisco, Parkside. This past month, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

You've taken an important first step in redirecting who responds to 9-1-1 calls, and demanding police only handle "violent" calls. However, I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Anna Gibson, and I am a resident of San Francisco, and I am writing again with concerns about the city's budget for 2021.

As a taxpayer, I am incredibly concerned with the degree to which SFPD has proven to be a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. While I applaud recent actions to dismantle racist statues, such as the Christopher Columbus statue at Coit Tower, I believe we need to pair this work with dismantling of systems of physical and material oppression that we currently support. One easy way to do this is to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Thank you for your time.

My name is Annie, and I'm currently living in San Francisco.

Over these past few weeks, we've seen protests all over the nation, where folks are coming together and fighting for immediate and meaningful change to police behavior, and an overall reform in how Black people are treated in our country. San Francisco has been at the forefront of this fight, and it has come to my attention that the 2021 budget is being set as these protests continue.

Today, I want to specifically call attention to the SFPD budget, and how they have been a tremendous waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, with most of the money coming from the SF general fund. This is an extraordinary amount of money to spend on policing considering there haven't been improvements made to safety, homelessness, mental health or affordability in our city.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and redistribute those resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. Every member of our community needs a place to call home.

I'll cut to the chase: you are reviewing the 2021 budget amidst a national outcry and plea to defund the police and distribute your budget evenly amongst social programs that will help increase people's quality of life -- especially those in minority and oppressed groups.

Subject: Please align budgetary priorities with community investment
Date: Friday, June 19, 2020 1:11:48 PM

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Abby Murray, and I'm writing in support of the city's ongoing efforts to shift resources away from policing and toward community services and infrastructure - especially alternatives to policing (social services, mental health and medical resources), and affordable housing, childcare, and education.

I moved to San Francisco three years ago to work in affordable housing. As a newcomer, the dire humanitarian crisis on our streets shocked me to my core, especially the fact that the majority of unhoused people on our streets are black and people of color. I watched myself slowly become acclimated to this "new normal," feeling helpless. The housing and homelessness crises have felt intractable. I know how incredibly expensive and slow and complicated it is to address these problems. But as our nation has confronted COVID, and protests calling for rapid and meaningful change to policing in America and anti-Black racism, I have been encouraged by the steps San Francisco's leadership has taken. Thank you all for your actions at this time. At the same time, I feel incredibly strongly that we must seize this moment to make large scale, dramatic systems changes that can meaningfully move the needle to creating the kind of equitable society that America should be.

I hope that your 2021 budget will reflect a commitment to, and investment in, the idea that safe communities of opportunity are not created through policing alone - but through economic opportunity, education, and community resources. I respect the role of the police, but believe the city's budget for SFPD is not in balance with other critical investments that we need. And I see the comments from my neighbors on Nextdoor, complaining about the homeless encampment on Geary and 17th, or incidents with people suffering mental episodes, and the break ins, and other issues. I know you have to address the concerns of these neighbors. But I truly hope that you can do so by considering what will actually solve these issues, not just hide them from the view of wealthier residents.

I know that budget reallocation alone can't solve homelessness or fix the enormous wealth and opportunity gap. I understand the SFPD budget was $611M last year, which translates to fewer than 900 units of new affordable housing (not including the ongoing services and operations). But - I want you to know that I support seizing this moment to imagine new and equitable systems, and creating a budget driven by community investment, not "law and order". Please continue your work to invest in affordable housing and set an example of integrating racial justice and investment in black and low-income communities with our budgetary priorities.

Sincerely,

Abby Murray

Subject: Re-allocate police funding

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Advisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Sarah and I'm a resident, physician, and former teacher of San Francisco. Over the past few weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regards to police behavior and an end to systemic and institutionalized racism in the US. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action and we have an opportunity to be leaders in this inflection point in history as we decide our budget for next year.

My understanding is that last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the SF general fund. Although we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, I am continually disappointed to hear of the negative experiences my neighbors have with the police.

I call on you, as the leaders of our city, to make meaningful, significant change by decreasing the SPD budget and reallocating those funds toward much needed social services like public education and solving homelessness, which is most felt by our neighbors of color.

I attended the Police Commissioners meeting last week, and I was both amazed by the number of my neighbors calling in to submit public comments, and saddened by the response to those comments. To me, the participation in that meeting was an example of our democracy working, yet it seemed to be perceived as a nuisance or disturbance by those running the meeting.

I love this city because we have a rich history of daring to do things differently and be a beacon of change, and I'm optimistic we can help bend the moral arc toward justice on this issue too.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Laurel Brown. I am a resident and voter of San Francisco. I am writing to request defunding the police department in 2021, given how obviously fundamentally incompatible our police department is with racial justice.

SFPD has been a waste of resources in a city that clearly suffers from incredible inequality. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. We've been throwing millions of dollars into this department, but we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those resources towards solving homelessness. It is time that we put our money toward protecting our most vulnerable, rather than "protecting" the already privileged within our community.

Sincerely,

Laurel Brown

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. It is time to reconsider how policing, historically created for re-capturing the enslaved, incarceration, and justice is delivered in our city. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

The Mayor's Proposed Budget suggests that for 2020-21 compared to 2020-19 we will see a decrease in budget resources across the board except for Public Protection. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $629,838,175, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. You are also proposing a budget increase of $108,851,311 over the next two years. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see the wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

Additionally, we've seen the rise and fall of poor decisions like the Twitter Tax Break helping wealthy tech industries leach into our city and its' pockets which have been disastrous in housing costs. Pushing citizens into literal homelessness. The police cannot be expected to be mental health counselors or push homeless people in and out of districts because they inconvenience you. We need to create better funding for social services NOT tax breaks for tech/big business, NOT militarizing and increasing the budget for SFPD while other sectors of our city see a stagnant or even declining budget.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans, providing stable housing or even wet housing, expanding behavioral health, and increasing employment services across the city. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

My name is Amy Slawson, and I've been a resident of San Francisco for 5 years. Our city has been at the forefront of much action in the protests for antiracism and immediate reform for a police system that mistreats our Black brothers and sisters. I'm disappointed that the budget last year allocated the SFPD $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. Good day,

I am strongly recommending "less lethal" or "non lethal" ammo for the police force in addition to the other solutions (defunding) you have been working on. These rubber bullets and other safer ideas should be what is used on criminals by police, 100% of the time. Even when someone is violent, like with hostages and such, shoot to kill should never be the solution. In Canada and other countries, people are talked down.

I know we are very upset at police for shooting protesters with rubber bullets, I'm not ok with it either, they should not be doing that to protesters.

What I'm suggesting is when an officer or safety patrol really feels they are in danger, rubber bullets (or something similar) is what you have as your weapon, not lead ones. We can't trust them (the police) with bullets and as a completely non violent person, I think part of the defunding conversation should be, why are we killing and taking an eye for an eye in the first place?

Why don't we stop killing as our criminal solution, and STOP the action in a way we have NEVER THOUGHT OF BEFORE.

I can see a lot of gun lovers hating this idea because of the second amendment. If people want to say, they use their guns to "protect and not kill", then let's put our money and our vote where our mouth is and use a different kind of ammo.

The second amendment says "a well regulated militia", well why can't we arm that militia with guns that do not kill.

Isn't the point we stop the crime, no one said it had to be through death. You can see that a perpetrator can be taken down in more creative ways, without loss of life for the officer or the "criminal".

Please research "non lethal" and "less lethal" weaponry and ammo.

 I can't take full credit for this idea, my husband inspired me. The pointless killings made my husband rethink his weapons (which like I said, I'm non violent and never supported weapons in the first place. I hate guns), and he started looking for "less lethal" and "non lethal" ammo, because he actually doesn't want to kill anyone.

Let's realize, our current system is working as it was intended, to kill and imprison anyone that isn't white. I am suggesting an alternative no one has brought to the table, because one loss of life is too many.

In order to move forward as a critical thinking society, we have to accept, if what we are doing is harmful, WE HAVE TO CHANGE IT.

Please, consider and share my idea with others.

Please implement this idea into regular and standard use, not just for peaceful protesters.

This is all I can do. Now do YOUR part.

Thank you.

A concerned citizen and voter,

Hello,

Happy Juneteenth. My name is Ariane and I am a white resident of San Francisco. I am reaching out to let you know that I think funding the SFPD is a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

We do not need modern-day slave patrols. We need community resources and support for homeless people and quickly dwindling communities of color.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Maggie Walters, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Maggie Walters

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

I am a longtime, voting resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid, more meaningful changes in police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in the treatment of Blacks in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco General Fund. While the city spends extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen significant improvements to safety, homelessness, crime, mental health, or affordability in our city.

Instead, we see wasteful, harmful actions of our police.

The 2021 budget is being finalized as these protests continue, but it is never too late to amend your actions in the pursuit of overdue justice and fairness for our citizens. It is never too late to improve our humanity.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those financial resources towards solving homelessness, poverty, drug abuse and racism felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans.

We implore you to re-allocate funding from the police department to other vital departments that will help decrease unjustified police brutality and facilitate police reform.

Under your leadership and your actions, we can continue to stand as a beacon for other cities to follow if we have the courage and the decency to change.

Sincerely,

I am emailing to express my support for the San Francisco Police Department. Defunding our Police Department would be a mistake. I believe our Police Department is a highly professional organization that enforces the law in a fair and unbiased manner. Perhaps our Police Department needs additional resources to address the recent civil unrest.

I urge you to do everything possible to increase our investment in responsible policing. I am calling on our elected officials to commit to increasing the police budget.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Leyna Swoboda, and I have been a resident of San Francisco for the past ten years. This past month, our country has been uprising in protest for immediate and sincere change in the areas of police behavior, ending racism and anti-Blackness, and reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has shown its solidarity with this movement and we are an example to others. As you make budget decisions for 2021, I ask you to take this into consideration.

I moved here ten years ago to study dance with Alonzo King Lines Ballet on Market and 7th downtown. Coming from a small town with few homeless people, I was shocked by the amount of homelessness I saw in that area. Over the years I have become, regrettably, more accustomed to seeing poverty and homelessness and drug use. Now, when I walk downtown, the change I see is not one of progress. The homeless population has only seemed to grow. The ballet studio often has groups of people with no where to go hanging outside its doors. I've watched people exchanging goods and drugs in the alley behind the studio. I've watched someone overdose and pass out in that alley. It's heartbreaking. The other change has been that nowadays, the streets are filled with wealthy tech workers, who can't be bothered to even notice the disparity around them, as they walk from their company paid lunch meeting to their luxurious office with balconies overlooking the city. Such stark contrast. It makes me sad to hear stories from real natives of San Francisco about how the city used to be about art, and being unique, and welcoming everyone. Now it seems like the priority is wealth, advancements in technology and getting ahead in the world. The artists, such as myself, the poorer communities, the gentrified communities are being left behind in the dust.

I call on you to cut the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Brenna Geehan, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a failed use of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to divest from the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. And we all know how huge of problem housing is in San Francisco!!!! We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Brenna Geehan

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

I urge you to examine the use of funds for the SFPD. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards critical needs that can be addressed through foundational resources (such as housing) or through counseling and crisis de-escalation.

We need to rethink what it means to be safe. We are not safe if mentally ill people cannot access treatment or housing. We are not safe if BIPOC are killed for just sleeping, barbecuing or walking down the street. SURJ Bay Area is organizing this letter-writing campaign.

I'm Nick Krieger, a resident of San Francisco. I have been involved in protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. I am proud to be part of this action, and I'm hopeful that these efforts would lead to lasting change.

I realize that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. Here is what I know about resources. I've recently learned that the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

It is crucial that we see improvement and investment in communities.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Zachary Hanna, and I am a resident of San Francisco. These past weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Zachary Hanna

It is necessary to defund police in order to create a safer community for all Americans. I know it may be scary to dismantle a police department in your little frame of reality, but it is scarier that police regularly terrorize and murder citizens.

Dear SF Community - I hope whoever is reading this message is well at this moment.

I'm a San Francisco resident writing a short note to encourage you to consider how we are spending our precious financial resources.

I've always seen San Francisco as being 'ahead of the curve' in many ways, setting an example for our state and the country. It seems this moment is calling for radical change in regard to allocation of police budget, and I hope we can set an example we are proud of.

With warmth,

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Vix Nolan, and I am a resident and registered voter in San Francisco. For the past several weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police brutality, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

At a memorial service on Tuesday, June 9, Mayor Breed invoked her own upbringing as she promised that she was bringing about change in SF in regards to police brutality. She also urged the crowd not to tell her, as a Black woman, how to do her job. While I respect the sentiment, I must remind Mayor Breed that as an elected official, it is now more important than ever to listen to the voice of your city.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. Breed's mayorship is a continuation of those who have come before her.

I strongly urge you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. Since Mayor Breed personally understands the hardships of the poor Black community, I sincerely hope she understands that defunding the police will directly serve those most in need.

Sincerely,
Vix Nolan

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is [insert your name], and I am a resident of [insert your city/state]. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Nadesh Madrid

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Andrew Stephens. I am a resident of the inner sunset, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Andrew

My name is Sophia, and I am a resident of San Francisco. These past few weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. I also implore you to direct resources towards mental health care and physical health care, as Black people, Indigenous folks, and People of Color are underserved and harmed disproportionately by these institutions as well as policing.

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Tyler Nam, and I am a resident of SF. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Dominica Kriz and I am a resident of Bernal Heights in San Francisco, the neighborhood where Alex Nieto was killed by police in 2014. Six years later, after the last-straw, horrific and unconscionable police murders of black people we have seen in the last months, protests are calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America.

My understanding is that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

San Francisco has a reputation as a progressive city — let's become that, become leaders in this struggle.

I implore you to re-allocate a healthy portion of the SFPD budget to social services. Let's use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

In this time of social chaos, let's seize the moment and have the courage to change. I look to you to act with conscience.

Sincerely,

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Sarah Schear. I am a resident of Mission Bay, SF, and a medical student at UCSF, and I am emailing today to express my support for divestment of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health, such as the San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, SF Department of Public Health, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).)

Thank you for your pledge to remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestment is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,

Sarah Schear--

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Michael Fortier, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Michael Fortier

Greetings,

What steps have you taken today towards defunding the police and reallocating money into community services? If you have not taken any steps, when do you plan to take steps to defund the police and reallocate money into community services?

The safest communities do not have the most police, but the most resources.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Kate Moriarty, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past month, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism, anti-Blackness, white supremacy and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD commandeers and drains many of our resources that could alternatively be used for supportive, restorative community services that look to help instead of uniformly criminalizing and punishing. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police in many instances. I call on you to decrease the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. As well as people who may be experiencing mental health and addiction issues. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Furthermore, using extra resources to support our underfunded public schools- a place where children go to feel safe, supported and have the opportunity to develop the self and social awareness skills and competencies needed to advocate for themselves and the world around them. Teachers and schools need money to provide equitable, trauma-informed, and restorative learning experiences and environments for ALL children, especially Black and BIPOC who endure punitive treatments at disparate rates compared to their white peers. I further want to say Thank you to the elected officials on the Board of Ed for all you do to support our teachers, students and schools.

I understand that defunding doesn't happen overnight and that we still have the need for protection in our communities. But I do believe that there are other avenues to protect and serve that do not involve excessive police presence that in turn takes away money from other vital community services (education, mental health services, dismantling racial injustice, and other social services that look to support and restore vs. punish). We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Thank you for your service and all you do for our city. I appreciate you taking the time to hear my voice and I look forward to learning more about your various viewpoints and perspectives in the coming weeks.

Sincerely,

Kate Moriarty

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Allison Yu, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I am calling on you to reduce the SFPD Budget for 2021, and divert the funds toward meaningful programs that will improve our quality of life. Anti-Black racism, racist police violence, and police brutality have been prevalent for a long time now, but recent events have compelled me to write to you in hopes of enacting meaningful change with regard to police behavior; I implore you to take action to bring an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and take on immediate reform to how Black people are treated in America.

Last year, the SFPD budget was over $600M. I understand there is a need for law enforcement; however, there is an opportunity to divert a portion of this exorbitant budget to improve quality of life for our city and its citizens while at the same time addressing the potential root of criminal activity head on vs. having police waste time and resources to react after the crime (with a poor closure rate at best).

Some of the issues that come to mind are homelessness, mental health, and affordability in our city. Defunding the police is a somewhat risky proposition, but what we have been doing to date has not been working and therefore I believe it is necessary to explore and test new options immediately. Camden, NJ has already disbanded its police department in 2013; the city's homicide rates have since dropped, and community/police relations have significantly improved.

We have an opportunity to lead meaningful change for the nation, and now is the time to act.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards reducing homelessness, amplifying mental health resources, and addressing affordability in our city. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Regards,
Allison Yu

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Stephanie Fong. I am a resident of San Francisco, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Respectfully,
Stephanie Fong

I ask that you vote to include Buchanan Mall in the 2020 San Francisco Health & Recovery Bond.

Certain San Francisco neighborhoods have experienced amazing growth and investment in recent years but others have been left out of that progress. This is an opportunity for San Francisco to address the inequity in investment, community resources, and community wellness between neighborhoods.

This neighborhood has invested years of time, energy, and collaboration to create a vision and plan for this park that has not seen investment in 45 years. The Fillmore neighborhood and community deserve a safe, inviting and culturally rich public space. During this time of sheltering in place we have learned the importance of shared open spaces that support healthy living, recreation and exercise. The Buchanan Mall can offer that to the community.

I sincerely ask that Buchanan Mall be included in the 2020 San Francisco Health & Recovery Bond.

To All SF Politicians Touting "Reform" Under London Breed's Vague Proposed Plan,

Reforms do not work and have not worked as evidenced by expert testimonial here and across the city.

<https://www.sfexaminer.com/news/implicit-bias-trainer-finds-extreme-degree-of-anti-black-sentiment-within-sfpd/>

I have watched London Breed utilize the police in this city to terrorize unhoused citizens and those needing treatment for drug usage. I have seen my Black and Queer communities threatened by police officers for simply existing. We urge you to abolish the police and look into community safety programs instead. To send this email when so few meaningful steps have been taken to abolish the police and end the racist insitution that has killed hundreds of people in just one month and continues to be allowed to use lethal weapon such as rubber bullets and tear gas on our citizens means that you are nowhere near done with the work you must do.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Jessica Katzman, and I am a resident of San Francisco (Sunset District: 94116), as well as a member of Indivisible SF.

This month, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been an ENORMOUS WASTE of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. As someone in the mental health field, I directly witness on a daily basis the outcomes of this bizarre prioritization of police over community resources.

I very much appreciate seeing that Mayor Breed and Supervisor Walton have made first gestures towards this end, and I strongly encourage you to push further with these efforts. Specifically, I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Jessica Katzman

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members-

My name is Raha Hashemi, and I am a resident of San Francisco . I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.

5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Warmest Aloha,
Raha

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Paget Valentzas and I am a resident of San Francisco. I am also a US Army veteran and a retired school teacher from SFUSD.

This month, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has made some considerable reforms and most officers are very professional and courteous. However, what our City needs is more resources for social services. Often the police are called to respond to matters that should not be in their purview. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

During SIP, I am volunteering at SF Marin Food Bank and distributing meals through SFUSD. The needs of people are staggering. I've been riding my bike around and the homeless situation is unbelievable.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Subject: Looking Forward to the 2021 Budget

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Colleen and I am a resident of San Francisco. These past weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Colleen FitzGerald

These past three weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action, and yet SF has a history of violence and racism within the SFPD that is just embarrassing for a city as progressive as we claim to be. Dear San Francisco Change Agents,

My name is Scott Shupert Nadig, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Scott Shupert Nadig

Selfishly, as Twitter and other companies have received tax breaks, I'm being forced by high rents to move out of the city, thus depriving the city of one of its most precious resources: its teachers. But my personal situation is secondary right now to my call on you to dispense the resources in the city more equitably among different groups, including funds for homelessness, mental health, and education.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Officials,

It is essential that you take budget money away from the police and reallocate that money into community services that in turn, will reduce crime, as everyone's needs will be cared for.

Defund the police. Reallocate the funds into community services. Our police are grossly overfunded.

Y'all:

I am a resident of San Francisco. Given recent events and the incredible inappropriateness of the police, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue without much chatter from y'all.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources with no improvement to safety. Why did the Taraval police station show up to a Solidarity March in the Outer Sunset in FULL RIOT GEAR? Was that necessary? Did it send a good message at all? Did it make me feel safe? Absolutely not.

I demand you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, mental health issues, and social issues. It'd be great to come home and not see a mentally ill homeless man peeing on my garage weekly.

STEP UP.

Dear Mayor Breed and San Francisco Supervisors,

As a San Francisco native and lifelong resident, I am writing to urge you to redirect funding from the SFPD towards homelessness outreach, education, social services, drug treatment programs and economic development in San Francisco's black community. The SFPD have a tough job and I was very glad to see that they displayed restraint during the protests compared to many other urban forces and did not resort to violent tactics like the use of rubber bullets or tear gas. However, policing alone cannot solve many of the most critical social problems faced by the residents of our city. An excellent example of this is the congregation of unhoused people on my street corner: it is a public health and safety risk both for neighbors and for the unhoused people themselves, but one that requires dedicated drug and alcohol treatment and housing resources rather than police to solve. As the city faces steep budget cuts in the wake of the Coronavirus pandemic, I urge all of you to strongly prioritize social services, housing and education in the upcoming budget process or I will be forced to vote against you in the next municipal election.

Sincerely,
Matthew Heiden

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD is largely an abused use of resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. We've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, yet have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans; toward equity programs to uplift underprivileged and impoverished communities with attention to education, extra curricular activities, and rehabilitation programs and services; access to healthcare resources, especially for the black community who has suffered in high numbers from COVID-19; access to mental healthcare, for those who have fallen victim to abuse, trauma and neglect as a result of being systemically disadvantaged; financial help for both the small businesses that have suffered from collateral damage from the riots and looting, and the black organizations who are leading this empowering movement and teaching us all how to demand change.

Let our city lead by example by answering the cries that have gone unheard in this nation for centuries.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Corey Turner, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Corey Turner

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

I, like many concerned residents, are questioning the SFPD's use of the budgetary resources and how they are being used to better the community. It's evident that in a lot of the crucial areas it has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. In my own life. I have experienced the death of a relative by the same method that killed George Floyd, except that it was the fire department (another city, not SF) who piled on him and held him down. He was schizophrenic, wasn't posing a danger to anyone else, but agitated in a way that a trained, licensed mental health professional could have de-escalated. Instead, Craig was suffocated to death.

I beseech you to examine ways to improve the services of our city, free up the police department to focus on criminal activities, and reallocate funds to better serve us all. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Deb Good

Subject: Reallocate 50% Police Budget Towards Community Investment
Date: Thursday, June 11, 2020 2:27:34 PM

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and SF Elected Officers

It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is in the works. I and many of your other constituents believe this is an opportunity for true change in our city. I urge you to reallocate 50% of the proposed SFPD budget towards the following:

- Education and after school programs in underserved communities
- Partner with and provide financial support for local non-profits that have proven positive change in BIPOC communities
- Mental Health Services
- Affordable Housing

Immediate steps should be taken on the following:

- Audit 911 calls to determine if someone with a gun is really the best responder--create roles (social workers, mental health professions, etc in correlation with what the actual needs of constituent calls are)
- Require future Police hires to have a degree in social work, mental health studies, or similar.

The SFPD budget for 2019 was $611,701,869. This is absurd. While we've been spending absurd amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements in safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

It is time for us to invest in our communities and dismantle the racial inequalities that are entrenched in our systems. True safety and security is only ensured when root problems are addressed, not criminalized.

Regards,

Kelsey Kelmel

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Fukayna Castellanos, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Fukayna Castellanos

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Aaron. I am a resident of the Mission District, and I am emailing today to demand a divestment of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).)

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Aaron

We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

My name is Barbara Simons, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

Subject: Demanding action in San Francisco

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Angela Hernandez , and I am a resident of San Francisco, CA. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Angela Hernandez

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Molly DeCoudreaux, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Simon Smundak, and I am a resident of San Francisco. These past two weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black, Indigenous and people of color are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, education or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. Yes, the current city budget is negatively impacted by the lower tax revenue as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. Instead of cutting the budgets of schools and other necessary departments, the budget for the police has to be cut to invest in our future instead of the perpetuation of a militant police state.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, and increasing the education department budget which is most needed by broad swaths of our city. I implore you to give every member of our community better resources than what we have available currently while we waste inordinate amounts of our budget on policing while neglecting more important priorities.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Simon Smundak

Subject: San Francisco Resident for Defunding the SFPD

To San Francisco's Mayor Breed, Board of Supervisors, and Elected Officers:

My name is [YOUR NAME], and I am a resident of San Francisco. The nationwide protests call for rapid and meaningful change with regard to policing and putting an end to systemic racism and anti-Blackness. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. It has come to my attention that the budget for the 2020-2021 fiscal year is being decided as these protests continue.

The San Francisco Police Department has been a complete waste of our resources. Last year, the San Francisco Police Department's budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from San Francisco's General Fund. We have been spending extraordinary amounts on policing and yet we have not seen improvements in public safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. What did we get instead? Nothing but violence, trauma, fear, and mistrust in our Black and Brown communities, especially Black trans women who do sex work, undocumented folks, and unhoused/unsheltered folks.

I call on you to take immediate action on two items: (1) slash the SFPD's 2020-2021 budget by at least 30% and re-invest in Black-led community priorities and (2) permanently discontinue any use of General Fund dollars to pay for settlements related to police murder, misconduct, and negligence.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. I implore you to use otherwise unused money, or money used for the destruction of our SF community, to give back to those who have been time and time again targeted by the police force in a harmful way. We need to step it up. Allocate resources for psychiatric training, social work, how to help homeless people, stop over-policing of primarily black neighborhoods, and most of all take care of your SF people, not just the rich white ones.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Maya Baruch

My name is Aneesha Natarajan, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. I urge you to please take these considerations into account and appreciate your time.

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Katie and I am a resident of San Francisco. When I first heard the terms "defund the police" and "abolish the police," I thought those demands sounded a bit radical and impractical. But, as I looked into these ideas it became clear just how rational and necessary it is to start defunding the police and reimagining public safety. You cannot reform an organization born from slave patrols that is designed to protect white property and criminalize and incarcerate black people.

What I'm asking is that you, as a representative of the people, choose the right side of history and join the movement to defund the police.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Even as a non-black person I have never ONCE felt safe in the presence of police. We must cultivate a new system that teaches CARE instead of FORCE. We must be the face of change. This beautiful city has the chance to be as beautiful in its policies and changes as it is in its physical and aesthetic beauty.

Hello!

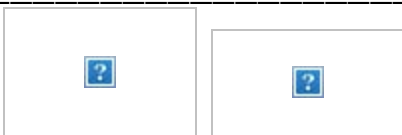

My name is Claire, a social worker in NYC, born and raised in the Bay Area. As we are hearing about police brutality in the US, there are many police departments, like Minneapolis, who are finally taking action to defunding police departments and instead allocating those funds into community organizations.

I am asking that the San Francisco Board of Supervisors take emergency action to defund the SFPD and shift investment to long-term safety strategies for Black communities, such as education, mental health support, local restorative justice services, and employment programs. More officers, guns, jails and prisons are not a solution to longstanding problems of racial disparities, injustice, and police violence.

Something needs to change. We need to overhaul the way that we protect and support communities. Isn't that what the police is for? The first step is to defund the SFPD.

Thank you kindly for your time.
Warm Regards,
Claire

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Ahladini Veerina, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

My name is Alex Rogala, and I am a resident of San Francisco. As the City develops its budget for 2021, I urge all our elected officials to interrogate how our municipal finances support and perpetuate racial violence. The SFPD budget needs to be slashed. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I urge you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Lauren, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Lauren Williamson

Subject: Demanding action in San Francisco

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is [insert your name], and I am a resident of [insert your city/state]. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Lena

Hello Mayor and City Council of San Francisco,

I am calling for the defunding of the police.

Defunding the Police > Police Reform

The way to reduce police violence is to reduce the scope, size, and role of police in our communities.

Why would we continue to throw money away at something we already know is not working?

We need those resources in schools, toward our health, and for our futures.

Signed,
Jamie Reeves

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Ana-Gabriela Barrera, and I am a resident of San Francisco, CA. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,

Ana-Gabriela Barrera

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Charif Shanahan, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman, My name is Jennifer Cowles. I am a resident of the Inner Sunset district, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few. As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change. (With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)). I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression. Sincerely, Jennifer Cowles

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Kaitlin D.

My name is Zoe Feist, and I am a resident of San Francisco. The time for reform is now, and it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as the Black Lives Matter and racial justice protests continue.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. This is an extraordinary budget for any department, much less law enforcement. Is this necessary? I think not. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. I call on you to reallocate much of that budget to other programs that will better benefit the population, especially those at risk. Especially the homeless population.

I demand that the SFPD budget be slashed and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Hello!

My name is Brittany, and I am a resident of Pacific Heights, San Francisco.

Thank you for taking the recent steps to reallocate police resources towards our underserved communities, while also focusing police responses on criminal disturbances.

I am emailing to ask city officials to please continue to reject any proposed budget that increases taxpayer spending on police while cutting funding for important social and community projects. I am asking that city officials lobby the same amount of attention and effort towards finding sustainable, long term change.

Black Lives Matter.

My name is Rosie Schubsda and I am a resident of San Francisco Bay Area. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Rosie Schubsda

Subject: Please defund SFPD immediately and reinvest in the city

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Tina, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I currently live in Mission Bay. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. As the 2021 budget is being actively worked on, I'm calling for significant defunding to SFPD, and equally significant investment in public health, public transit, education, homelessness, and mental health resources. I'm sending this email again to make sure it is not caught by any filters.

SFPD is simply a sink of SF's resources, especially given a global pandemic. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police with limited reprimand.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

SF has always prided itself in being progressive and I believe it can be an exemplary model for other cities to follow if we push for change.

Sincerely,

Tina Xu

Subject: Demanding action in San Francisco
Date: Friday, June 12, 2020 10:16:08 AM

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Marcos Castro, and I am a resident of San Francisco California born & raised. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of Mario Woods, Oscar Grant, George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Marcos Castro

Subject: Please budget money for families and schools instead of cops!

Dear London,

I recently had to move my family away from the city because we could no longer afford to live be there, but I'm a San Franciscan in my heart. I wanted to reach out to you to ask you to please consider reallocating funds from the SF budget from the police force to programs to help families stay and flourish in the city. Affordable housing and money for schools will bring so much to San Francisco. Families and artists will be able to thrive again.

Please consider the good it could do. Cops get paid so much more than school teachers! Teachers and social workers are what we need, not cops.

Sincerely,

Molly

P.S. when you were running for Mayor, on election night, when we went to vote (for you!) at Roosevelt middle school, we saw you chatting with constituents. It made my heart sing to see you. Thank you.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Suzie Pedersen, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Subject: Demanding action in San Francisco
Date: Friday, June 12, 2020 12:55:21 PM

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Emely Sandoval, and I am a resident of San Francisco, CA. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Emely Sandoval

PS: May we remind you that we put you into office to pass laws that benefit the entirety of the community.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Michael Merino, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Michael Merino

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Linda Vi, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Linda Vo

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Martha Deans, and I am a resident of San Francisco in District 7. These past weeks, our nation has seen extensive and unending protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police violence and lack of accountability, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate change to the systemic oppression Black people face everyday in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

I called into the Police Commission meeting earlier this week, and heard only calls for defunding and abolishing the SFPD in favor of bolstering social programs that help our mentally ill, homeless, and disenfranchised populations. There was one caller, from my district I'm sad to admit, who called in to say otherwise and I have to say, we live in an extremely white and wealthy area of San Francisco sheltered from much of the occurrences of violence the police commit against Black and brown members of our community. Respectfully, he is ignorant, whether willfully or not, and I hope you can see through statements like this by our rich white community members who this systematic racism and violence is built to serve.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to significantly lower the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Please continue to push San Francisco towards justice and peace for all its citizens, as we have so often done in the past.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

In addition, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

I don't agree with the attention and prioritization of SFPD when it comes to our city's financial resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. I am frustrated and disappointed. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Micaela Healy, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Micaela Healy

Subject: Demanding action in San Francisco
Date: Friday, June 12, 2020 3:34:15 PM

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Zane Stokesberry, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,

Zane

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Daniel Olarte

Hi,

My name is Andrew Richale, and I am a resident of San Francisco, District 8.

On top of the aggregrious and well documented instances of police brutality in California, I was outraged to learn in the Chronicle today that over half of use-of-force cases used by the local police last year were against Black residents. I'm asking that you defund this unnecessarily large and expensive force and reimagine other programs that better serve the needs of our community along with reinvesting in our parks, libraries, and schools, which lose talented teachers every year because of pay that makes it impossible to live in this city.

I'm also calling on you to redirect resources to housing programs. It's inhumane that we have ample space, including empty hotel rooms, in SF to house humans but instead watch as they suffer on the streets with inadequate support.

I look forward to your action and change in the coming months—and to voting and campaigning for candidates who supportdefunding the SFPD in the next election.

Andrew

Subject: Addressing SFPD 2021 Budget
Date: Friday, June 12, 2020 7:34:08 PM

My name is Irene Xavier, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Irene Xavier

To San Francisco Elected Officers, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and Mayor London Breed

My name is Camila Hernandez, and I live in San Francisco. The past two weeks, nationwide protests challenging racism, anti-blackness, and violence perpetuated by police has been met with even more brutality and excessive force at the hands of police. Police officers are given budgets worth billions of dollars that allow them to not only harass and over-police black and brown communities, but allow them to use tools of war to repress protestors. As these protests continue, the budget for 2021 is being decided.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. SFPD has received more funds than the Recreation and Parks Department, Homeless Services, Public Libraries, and Workforce Development combined. While police are given all the resources they need to hurt our communities, first responders have to work with minimal protective equipment and teachers consistently have to buy their own supplies. This is unacceptable.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful, harmful, and deadly actions caused by your police. Police do not protect us. Police actively work against the safety of low income and communities of color. Policing is not a solution to public health or social issues. It is long overdue to prioritize and redirect the city's funds away from an overinflated police budget, and towards community health and wellbeing.

I call on you to cut the budget of the SFPD and move towards defunding them entirely. Instead, use those billions of dollars towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

I urge you to invest in your community and do the right thing,

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Melissa Kroe and I am writing you today to implore you to defund your overinflated and unjust police department and, for once, fund your people. The only correlation that comes with increased police presence is increased police brutality. Now that the people are speaking up and being heard, you are probably realizing that this country fears the very people who are undertrained and overpaid to “protect” them. You inflate the police department’s budget so as to militarize your police when a mere fraction of crime is violent. Have you considered preventing crime? Or, at the very least, using the ridiculous amount of money you set aside for guns on housing, education, or mental health resources instead? It’s time you stand on the right side of history. For once, listen to your people and fund the resources that allow your underprivileged people and people of color to thrive. Your cops don’t need a cent more. Please consider this.

Best,
Melissa Kroe

Dear city leaders,

First I would like to thank you for your early action and decisive leadership in keeping our city safe during the COVID19 crisis.

I know the city budget is under a lot of pressure across the board, but are 10% cuts from every department equitable or just equal?

Let's not lose this unique opportunity to change the way we invest in our communities.

I work at an education nonprofit with a long track record of providing free books, learning resources and education to young children and families in underserved SF neighborhoods. We are small but mighty and serve over 6,000 children under age 5 in San Francisco every year. We just lost 200,000 dollars of funding from the city and county, forcing us to

- freeze our efforts to hire a community organizer in Bayview/Hunter's Point
- and give up on plans to purchase 10,000 books to build families' libraries at home while child care is less accessible than ever

I'm not asking for our funding to be reinstated. I wouldn't prioritize us ahead of raising preschool teachers' salaries to a living wage while they are working in even more dangerous, exhausting conditions than usual.

I'm just asking:

What could our police department do with $200,000 that will do more to improve outcomes for those 6,000 children and families?

Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

The protests nationwide are calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America, and disappointingly, SF is a huge part of that action. Moreover, the 2021 budget is apparently in talks now.

SFPD is and always has been a waste of our resources. We've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, but haven't seen any improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we our police violate their supposed oath to protect and abuse citizens like absolute garbage.

Slash the SFPD budget and throw resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans and need your leadership and advocacy now. Give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Do your citizens right.

Sincerely,
Gina

Good evening Budget & Appropriations Committee,

I'm a San Francisco resident living in the Haight, and I'm writing with regard to the Proposed Interim Budget and Appropriation Ordinance for Departments - FYs 2020-2021 and 2021-2022, on your docket for next Wednesday's committee meeting. I am unfortunately unable to make the public comment period, so I ask that this email be entered into the record in lieu.

I am deeply concerned that Mayor London Breed's proposed budget for the next two years hand over an additional $57 million increase (FY'20-FY'21) and $144 million (FY'20-FY'22) to the SFPD and Sheriff.

Especially in light of the global pandemic, our funds should be going to better address the needs of our most vulnerable—not to an increased police state. I implore you to not only decline to approve these increases, but to reverse them and decrease the police's budget. That money can be better used for mental health services, housing, and outreach to the homeless. While our Black friends and neighbors are calling out for changes to a system born out of slave patrols, we can show them that we hear their cries for justice, and allocate funds not to increased policing, but to community courts and restorative justice programs.

Tell me—how can we justify cutting the Community Health organizational group budget by $1.7 million next year when we're in the midst of a community health crisis? How can we cut the Homelessness Services department by $74.8 million when the city's most vulnerable are more vulnerable than ever? While we're scrimping and saving and no doubt laying people off to cover $617.3 million in cuts from the total budget this year, why do the police and sheriff's departments get an additional $57 million?

None of this should be the case, and you are in power to do something about it. San Francisco wants to think of itself as a trendsetter on social justice—let's lead on this.

Regards,
Rachael Salisbury

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Ella Fino, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Ella Fino

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Alicia, and I am a resident of San Francisco, CA. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Alicia

My name is Aaron Mayer. I grew up in Berkeley and San Francisco, and now live in Brooklyn, NY.

I have always been proud of the Bay Area's history of progressive culture and policies, and I am calling on you all to make what could be one of the most important policy decisions that my generation would see: to defund the SFPD, and to reallocate those funds to other civil services that will better serve the San Francisco community, and make a measurable impact in the fight against violent and systemic racism in the Bay Area.

I demand that you take immediate and measurable action to:

- 1) Significantly reduce the SFPD's general funding
- 2) Discontinue entirely the use of general funds to pay for settlements due to police murder, misconduct, and negligent actions
- 3) Use those newly freed monies to invest in public health, public housing, education, and other vital services that are being neglected and which are necessary to keeping the San Francisco community safe

This is not a radical act--it's an objective view of what will actually improve the health and safety of the community.

You have the opportunity to once again make San Francisco and the Bay Area a flag bearer for progressive and rational policy. You have the opportunity to reduce death in the black community due to police murder. You have the opportunity to bring much needed funding to crucial community services, especially in the midst of this pandemic.

I urge you to act now.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is [name]. I am a resident of [SF neighborhood], and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Elliott

Dear Supervisors Fewer, Mandelman, and Walton;

I'm Claire Teresko, a resident of District 4 of San Francisco, and I'm emailing to ask you to make substantial cuts to the San Francisco Police Department. I understand that the mayor is implementing some reforms to the police, that the city is planning on directing noncriminal calls to another agency, and Supervisor Walton has worked with the Mayor to plan to redirect some funding from the SFPD towards agencies that support the black community in San Francisco. I think these are great first steps. I'm emailing mostly to ask how much funding you are planning on redistributing, and to ask that it be a substantial, and not superficial cut.

I believe that you need to make significant cuts to the San Francisco Police Department, and significant reinvestment in communities. I understand that this cannot happen overnight and that we need to work to develop other systems for dealing with safety issues and crime, but I am begging you to hear the people that we need substantial cuts. I suggest starting with a 40% or greater cut to the police department budget. If this amount of money were reinvested in drug treatment programs, housing for the homeless, job training programs, education, and other resources that support the community, that would be HUGE and would have a lasting positive effect on the community of San Francisco. While I personally believe that eventually greater cuts need to be made to the police department, I understand that we need to work to build systems for dealing with crime first, and I want to see the city start off with cuts that actually make a difference, which I believe means cuts that are over 40%.

Thank you for your time,
Claire Teresko

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Gabriella Terracciano, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. Please reconsider redistributing the millions of dollars handed to SFPD into low income housing, city clean up and public education.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

My name is Kevin, and I work in San Francisco. As a Black person, I've had almost exclusively negative interactions with the police and I've always remained fearful of what unprovoked action they may take against me in the name of "policing". These past few weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Belle Huang, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Belle Huang

Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Katherine J Flores

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Kaylin Lloyd, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

To Mayor Breed, the SF Board of Supervisors, and SF Elected Officers,

My name is Natalie Kim and I am a resident of San Francisco. It's clear to me and many others that we can improve SF and protect the lives and safety of so many Black residents by significantly defunding the police and investing in education and community programming.

We have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see waste and harm caused by our police department that severely impacts the Black community.

Please reallocate this funding towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We need to spend our public resources to help the people who need it most—NOT hurt and oppress them!

SF has been such a progressive city and example for so much social justice in the past, but this is where we have fallen short. I implore you to please rectify this gross injustice.

Sincerely,

Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Jillian Temple, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. Good evening Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My hope is that these notes offer you pause in their quantity and urgency. My name is Michelle Huang, and I am a resident of San Francisco. It is my privilege to live here, one block away from our North Beach police station, and feel no fear when I pass our officers on duty. I feel no fear because I am Biracial, but I am White-passing. I'm learning that the privileges I enjoy here are not because I live an honest life free of crime - but because I am assumed Good by the lightness of my skin. This has nothing to do with my efforts. The pain of by Black brothers sisters is no longer their pain to suffer alone. It is my pain. It is my duty to speak up. None of us are supported until all of us are supported.

These last few weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city (our beautiful city!) has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the SF general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you, dear team, to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Wynne Chan, and I am a resident in the Richmond district of San Francisco. I am writing to ask you to slash SFPD's budget for 2021, and to reinvest that money on our homeless population.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869. We've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

We are still in a pandemic. A majority of the homeless population in San Francisco have nowhere to go, yet instead of helping them get a hotel room or into a shelter, you have continued to shuffle them around the city, destroying their tents and personal property. Only 300 hotel rooms have been offered when over 3,600 people need beds. That's ridiculous.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget by 50% and redirect resources towards solving homelessness, which have been sidelined for far too many years. You cannot claim to care about San Francisco Residents, especially our Black residents, if you do not 1) commit to reducing police violence and resources through cutting funding to SFPD, and 2) invest in helping our displaced, homeless population get back on their feet.

It is shameful that we call ourselves a progressive city without commitment to changing our existing practices that continue to harm the people of this city.

Black lives matter, and homeless lives matter, too.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Ben Paul. I live and work in SF. I live in District 5 (Hayes Valley) and work in the Financial District.

I am requesting complete defunding of the SFPD and reinvesting of those funds in Black communities. The Minneapolis City Council recently made the decision to abandon incremental police reform in favor of dismantling the police department and investing in systems that actually keep communities safe. We must do the same to ensure the safety and wellbeing of our communities.

We must invest in our communities instead of the police. The SFPD Budget is 2x larger than the Department of Children Youth and their Families, 3x what we spend on homelessness, 4x what we spend on libraries, 40x what we spend on grants to artists.

I know that ALL Departments are already being asked to cut 10% from their budget and an additional 5% the following year. This is not “defunding” the police department — we want REAL cuts and REAL investments for Black communities in San Francisco.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Thank you,

I sent a form letter before, but sounds like for some really weird reason there's speculation about whether or not you actually receive/read those, so here I am, typing with my own words.

I'm writing to implore you to radically defund the SFPD or get rid of them altogether. It is time.

I'm writing this to you as a person who has lived in the Tenderloin for seven years now, just near the police station, and I gotta tell y'all, for all the money you put into SFPD, you'd figure they walk around the community curing cancer. I'm here to tell you that they do not.

In my seven years in this neighborhood, it'd be near impossible to find someone who lives here who actually has a good opinion of SFPD. I've seen countless officers hassling the houseless and intimidating people of color every chance they get. At least once or twice a night I witness the houseless on my block getting harassed by them for reasons that are simply beyond me.

The department is a disgrace, and you should be ashamed for funneling as much money as you have into them. The time for reform has come and gone. We need to defund, clean house, and start something new. As Camden, NJ proved it can be done successfully.

Living in the Tenderloin, you know that I know that YOU KNOW that money can and should be put into community housing and mental health. It is an objective fact that the mental health of the houseless in this community and the greater SF area will never be improved by the police force. Do the right thing and put that money where it will make a difference.

Thank you for your time.

Cheers,

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Kyra Slattery, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Kyra Slattery

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman, My name is Christopher Sattler. I am a resident of Potrero Hill and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few. As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change. (With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)). I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Christopher Sattler, M.D.

All over the country, there have been protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. The budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

I call on you to half the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving social injustice in our city. We need to be piloting programs that are designed by, run by, and monitored by the people who are currently most impacted by homelessness, unemployment, violence, and domestic violence. These are the voices that should be meaningfully empowered to create alternatives to policing.

We can only meaningful be at the forefront of this movement by taking action and reflecting our values against anti-black racism in our budget.

Subject: Please redirect spending on SFPD towards fixing homelessness

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is David Tran, and I am a resident of San Francisco and a Bay Area native. These past few weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

While I respect the work the fine individuals that comprise the SFPD have done even amidst protests where people are shouting profanities and obscenities at them, I urge the city to reconsider spending on SFPD. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

This is an issue near and dear to me. I spend time with members of these communities every week through my volunteer work with Back on My Feet, a nonprofit organization that combats homelessness. Last week, biking by City Hall, it broke my heart to see all of the tent cities, people filling water jars from stations set up at fire hydrants, and needles in the bike lanes. Again, while I see SFPD officers admirably doing great work and remaining calm while asking homeless individuals to relocate and dealing with a lot of anger directed their way, I truly hope there's a better way. There must be a better way.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Subject: Some thoughts as you are considering the 2021 budget

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Alana Yoel and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving other issues we are faced with in this city -- improving our youth education programs, providing more extensive mental health programs for our residents and improving our city's impact on climate change.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Alana Yoel

Dear Mayor Breed, San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Nerissa, and I am a resident of San Francisco. Our nation is experiencing a tsunami of calls for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. At the same time that we are spending this enormous amount on policing, we are facing a homelessness crisis that disproportionately affects Black people. This extraordinary spending has not rendered improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead invest this huge sum of money in housing, supportive mental health and addiction services, job training, and community-based resources for the underserved in our city. I implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to actively combat institutionalized racism and classism.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Alison Maxwell, and I am a resident of San Francisco. Our city's history is rife with police violence fueled by institutional racism and political corruption, and it's long past time you end it. 55% of our city's population is not white. So why are you spending more than half of our city's budget on the police, who have shown, through both their actions and their inactions, that they do not serve the majority of our populace?

I urge you to dramatically reduce the SFPD budget and direct these funds towards departments that will benefit all SF's residents, such as programs supporting those experiencing homelessness, which is felt most by Black people and veterans but affects all of our lives. If you could replace the extraneous tasers, cruisers, gear, gadgets, surveillance, with even just a few more homes, or a little more mental health assistance, or food for the hungry and helpless--why wouldn't you? Nothing is stopping you but your own moral compasses.

Sincerely,
Alison Maxwell

My name is Kristin, and I am a resident of San Francisco.

I have read the Mayor's proposal to reform the police and do not think it goes far enough. It seems to be a placation for what could be a monumental moment for the people of San Francisco and for everyone watching. Demilitarizing the police force over the next 18 months is not what the people were asking for last week. We are not asking for 'reforms.'

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is Courtney, and I am a resident of California. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,
Courtney

Dear Supervisors,

I am very much in favor of re-imagining of law enforcement in San Francisco so that money is redirected to community needs and alternative services for things such as homelessness which take police away from their legitimate role in dealing with crime.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Susannah Brouwer, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Susannah Brouwer

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is [April Padua], and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

[April Padua]

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Greg Walder, and I live (and own) in lower nob hill and have been a SF resident since 2011.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

Living in the lower nob hill and with my wife being an active member of Glide, it has been evident to me that our city is facing a humanitarian crisis that is only getting worse. We need something much bolder to bring about real change in our city.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. My name is Jacob Baca, and I was a resident of San Francisco for 7 years before I was displaced because of the inability to afford SF's high cost of living. Dear Mayor Breed, San Francisco Board of Supervisors and Elected Officers,
I work and reside in San Francisco. In the past two weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in this country. I am proud that San Francisco has been at the forefront of this action. It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

Last year, the SFPD budget was upwards of $600 million dollars, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco General Fund. This is an extraordinarily large amount of money spent on policing, while we have not seen significant improvements to homelessness, mental health care and housing affordability. I urge you to reduce the SFPD budget in favor of acute pressing problems such as homelessness, which is disproportionately experienced by black people and veterans. Like in many progressive policies, San Francisco can set an example for other cities to follow. This change is urgently needed.

Thank you,

My name is Dharmishta Rood, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Dharmishta Rood

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Anton Krukowski, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Anton Krukowski

My name is Anna Silberstein, and I am a resident of the Castro here in San Francisco. I'm writing because my entire life I have believed in and never questioned the notion that the institution of the police was a good one truly designed to serve and protect. As I have looked inward at my own privilege as a white woman in San Francisco and in the US I recognize that this notion is not true and cannot see nor condone this truth.

My name is Sophia Booth Magnone and I am a resident of San Francisco. I write to ask that you substantially cut the SFPD budget and divert those resources toward solving homelessness in our community, with particular emphasis on supporting Black people, transgender people, and others experiencing multiple forms of vulnerability.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Megan Washam, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I've seen reports that there is indeed an intent to make changes, but I have yet to see a plan put out which addresses exactly how the redirection of funds will ensure positive changes happen in the arenas of homelessness and public education. I would ask that you prioritize publishing a full plan for the reallocation of funds as soon as possible.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Allison Sponseller, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Allison Sponseller

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Lauren Barnum. I am a resident of San Francisco. Residents of our city and nation have been out in the streets calling for rapid and meaningful change for our Black, Indigenous, and Brown communities. They have been met with excessive force and violence from police. This is inexcusable. I call on you to take steps to dismantle and address the racism and anti-Blackness that perpetuates police violence in San Francisco. That starts by defunding SFPD.

It has come to my attention that the city's FY 2021 budget is currently being decided. SFPD has been a waste of our resources, and continues to perpetuate the violence that we are calling on you to end.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While the city has been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, I have not seen improvements for homelessness, mental health, education, or affordability in our city. In fact, homelessness has gotten markedly worse in my neighborhood (the Richmond district).

Instead, I see leaders like you, some of whom I elected into office, perpetuating violence by continuing to support and make excuses for the police. Let me be clear: I am not asking for reform. I am asking you to redirect resources away from police and into our communities.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those GF resources toward solving homelessness, offering free mental health services for the community, and supporting the next generation by paying teachers, educators, and school counselors fair wages.

San Francisco can be at the forefront of this movement to right the wrongs of racism. However, this requires the courage to change. Please use your power to defund the police and invest in the things that matter: health, education, and community.

Thank you,
Lauren

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

Hello there, my name is Tina Nguyen, and I'm a resident of San Francisco. In these past few weeks, our nation and city has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I would like to see a good amount of this funding to be moved and redistributed towards programs for homelessness, bettering public infrastructure, and more funding towards education for the youth of our city.

2020 is the year we should see things clearer. I hope to see a lot of change in the near future, starting with the reallocation of our tax money and funds.

Safely,

Budgets are moral documents. Now is the time for San Francisco to invest in solutions that lift up the health and wellbeing of the Black community. Our city's budget should reflect our true values—inclusivity, equity, the common good. It will be even more important in the challenging times ahead to divest from policing and invest in solutions that address the real needs of our communities.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Natalie Walsh, and I am a resident of San Francisco. These past few weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Thank you for the work you have already been doing, and I ask that as roadmaps turn into budgets and policy, we commit to more.

The SFPD budget has bloated over the past decade. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. A public commitment was made to defund the police over the last week, but no specifics given. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget by at least $100 million, and instead use those extraordinary resources towards social programs and solving homelessness. Particularly during COVID, every member of our community experiencing homelessness should have a place to call home and access to the treatment and facilities they need. It should not take a lawsuit to do so, as is currently the case in the Tenderloin.

There have also been public statements committing to accountability and bias training, without acknowledgment of the efforts underway and not completed. We need to see a commitment to completion of the 272 recommendations that the DOJ recommended in 2016, including those that encompass bias training, and a commitment to doing so over a reasonable and firm timeline. In more than three years only 60 of the reforms have been completed. That is unacceptable.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow, if we have the courage to embrace visionary change.

Sincerely,
Natalie Walsh

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Please move towards taking money from the police budget and investing it in homeless services, housing, social services, healthcare, and mental and substance abuse services for Black and Brown communities and for all of San Francisco. The role of the police needs to be narrowed and professionals in other fields need to be tasked and funded in these important areas.

Dear Mayor Breed, San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Patricia Andrews Fearon, and I am a resident of San Francisco in North Beach.

I have been and continue to be so proud of our city's response to COVID-19. I am proud that we didn't wait for other cities to make a move before we decided to prioritize the health and safety of our community by locking down. I admire the bravery it took to make this unprecedented and hard decision on behalf of your citizens.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

I call on you to reallocate large portions of the SFPD budget towards supporting alternate, more appropriate forms of safety promotion and personnel like social workers to meet the community's safety needs. I also call on you to reallocate this funding towards efforts to solve homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. Leading the nation in love is something San Francisco does best.

I believe in you. I believe in us.

Sincerely,

Hello,

I am writing you tonight to advocate for the defunding of the police. I do not feel comfortable with my taxpayer dollars going to a service that makes my Black neighbors feel unsafe.

Instead of funding the police department, I would like to see this sizable chunk of funds reallocated to community services: things that can better our community and help reduce crime in the first place.

I want to see a version of public safety that does not use police. They don't work for us anymore. We have recognized their faults and no longer will accept their violence. Defund the police.

Signed,
Jamie Reeves

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Daniel Sanchez , and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Dear Mayor Breed,

I am writing this email in support of defunding the SF Police Department. I commend the actions taken so far to change disparate policing towards the Black community, but there is still significant work to be done.

I urge you to reallocate the SFPD budget to mental health and other resources for the homeless community such as hiring additional drug counselors and mental health specialists, and funding low income and affordable housing.

We all understand that homelessness is a difficult issue to address. But we must work towards significant positive steps as best we can or we will inevitably find ourselves dehumanizing those who are on the streets in their time of need.

Thank you,

My name is Mariana, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I've lived here my whole life and I've gone to SFUSD schools the whole time I've lived here. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. We need to ban all use of chemical agents and rubber bullets NOW. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue...

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund!!! While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety!!! homelessness!!!!!! mental health!!! or affordability in our city!!! Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. Like murdering alumni from my school.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans!!!! We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Leah and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Leah

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Emily Anderson and I am a resident of San Francisco. I support the efforts the city has announced to stop sending police to non violent calls (e.g. mental health, homelessness). I still do not believe this goes far enough and am concerned the new budget will have only small concessions, not a large scale defunding of police. The police are the danger to SF.

PLEASE slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. I implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Susannah Emerson, and I am a resident of the Sunset District in San Francisco. First, I would like to thank you, Mayor Breed, for speaking at two of the rallies at City Hall that I've attended. I appreciate your voice and your story, and am hopeful that you will listen. As you all know well, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action, and the Mayor's announcement about divesting in the police is a small, but important step. I have been educating myself nonstop since the killings of George Floyd, turning inward and towards evidence-based best practices in order to advocate in alignment with my values and in hopes that I might be part of our citywide and nationwide solution. I would like to weigh in on how the budget is reorganized. As Vanita Gupta was recently quoted as saying in the New York Times, "Budgets are moral documents, reflecting priorities and values."

SFPD is a waste of precious resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, which I understand comes primarily from the San Francisco general fund. Pouring funds into the SFPD has not led to improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget by 20% in 2021 and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness and drug abuse, which is felt disproportionately by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. In 2001, in the middle of their opioid epidemic, Portugal became the first country in the world to completely decriminalize drug use. I have linked to an article that outlines their success and the steps they've taken to curb both drug abuse and overdoses. The entirety of their example isn't possible without a coordinated national response, but there is much to be done on the local level. I am optimistic that Portuguese policy might be a jumping off point for San Francisco and then the rest of the country.

I am of course invested in my city, but more so, I am invested in helping addicts. Two years ago, my father, a white man of great privilege, died of cirrhosis of the liver due to alcoholism. In one instance, when he was found with a bruised face, collapsed and locked outside of the home I grew up in, it was the police who found him outside during an East Coast winter put him in their car and drove him to the hospital. They only came by the house because they had found my runaway dog and read her collar. This should never have been the police's responsibility in the first place, but no addict should be arrested (or if I am correct in suspecting that Rayshard Brooks is an example of a man struggling with substance abuse) or murdered. I am thrilled that neither situation is commonplace in San Francisco; however, we can and should be doing more for the addicts I pass every day on our streets. Addiction is a biological-social-psychological phenomenon, and these three broad, intersecting factors endlessly complicate the search for a solution, part of which also needs to be in our education, housing and public health (especially mental health) systems, all of which we know costs a great deal of money. The police are ill-equipped and will always be ill-equipped to handle homelessness and drug abuse. It's time to reimagine how our city will address two of its most visible problems.

We have served as a leader on progressive policy in the past, and we have the opportunity to do so again with our budget for 2021.

My thanks and my best to all of you,

Susannah Emerson

My name is Caroline Trowbridge, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Caroline Trowbridge

Dear Supervisors,

My name is Roma and I have lived in San Francisco for my entire life. I believe that you should divest from policing, and invest in police reform. We want a moral budget that prioritizes investment in programs to lift up the health and wellbeing of the Black community. We want San Francisco's budget to reflect our city's higher aspirations valuing life, health, education and the common good, prioritizing the most vulnerable people among us. 37% of San Francisco's homeless population is Black, which is why Faith in Action Bay Area has been calling for all unhoused people to be sheltered in hotels during the COVID-19 pandemic. And in the City budget, we are calling for an investment of $50 million to provide individual rental subsidies to 5,000 of our most vulnerable seniors, those paying more than 70% of their income in rent.

Thank you, Roma

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Jay Cazel and I am a resident of 1033 Page Street, San Francisco. My 89 year old Grandma and I are writing to implore you to defund the police department SIGNIFICANTLY this fiscal year and get on a path to replacing the police force entirely. GRANDMA SAYS SHE WAS TAUGHT TO SPIT WHENEVER SHE SAW SFPD BY HER MOTHER, WHO WAS BEATEN BY A COP WHEN SHE ARRIVED HERE IN SF DURING THE DUST BOWL. Not ten days ago I was SHOVED AND HAD A RIFLE PUT IN THE SMALL OF MY BACK as I was peacefully protesting with my hands up on the fifth st block of market street because the SFPD and whoever else was there miliarizing our streets that night, decided that they needed to fire rubber bullets on us to protect a MALL. A damn mall. What a shame. I was barely missed my the bullets but my housemate was hit in the calf and had a bruise a week later. We all agree in this house that the millions of dollars of OUR TAXPAYER MONEY could and should go directly to programs that better the lives of your residents. In addition TAX your MANY rich corporations and residents, create jobs with that money to fix up your community, to provide mental health care and substance use harm reduction/ treatment, fix the streets, free food and activity programs for kids, parks, helping the elderly live independantly, Covid treatment and vaccine rollout plan, and building affordable housing!

Unarmed workers in their own neighborhoods trained in deescalation, mental healthcare and first aid, more city employed paramedics to respond to medical emergencies and car accidents (that are not employees of a company out to make a profit,) enough jobs with fair wages and affordable housing for your poor residents plus real funded programs for those who dont fit into the job market due to mental or other disability will literally SOLVE all the problems that police respond to. I don't wanna hear it about gangs. The police are the biggest armed gang in our city, they are costing us lives and tens of millions of dollars each year. They do not have the support or respect of your constituency because they have lost it, or in the case of the great majority of poor people, black people and people of color —failed to ever earn it. I urge you to defund the SF Police Department effective this quarter. See further information below.

Thanks for reading,

Jay Cazel of 1033 Page and Antoinette Rizzo of 3739 Folsom

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Subject: Reinvest in Community: Reduce the SFPD Budget
Date: Tuesday, June 16, 2020 4:06:15 PM

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Will Dao and I am a resident of San Francisco. As you are planning the City's budget, I am writing to ask that you reduce and reallocate the SFPD budget -- which was $611,710,869.00 in 2019 -- to programs that serve the youth and disadvantaged communities.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

My one and only encounter with the police in 2019 went like this: A friend who was visiting had his car broken into right across the street from my residence in the Duboce Triangle neighborhood. According to NBC Bay Area, there were 23,309 reported thefts from vehicles in the first 11 months of 2019 and this was one of them. When he called the police, instead of coming to the site of the incident to take notes or gather evidence, they made him drive his car -- smashed window and all -- to the police station located in Golden Gate Park to file his report. My friend was already dazed and upset and to have to drive to the police station only added to the trauma. When he got there, he filed a formal complaint. He was told there would be no follow-up because there was "nothing they could do." I accompanied him to the police station and asked one of the police officers why there were so many break-ins and why there was nothing they could do. He called out Mayor Breed's policies as an excuse as to why the SF Police could not do anything about it. He cited that police are not allowed to chase after or arrest suspects even if they see them breaking into cars and that their hands were tied. He said that these crimes were organized by rings in the East Bay so it was out of their jurisdiction. I could not believe how many excuses were coming out of this officer's mouth.

While I am not familiar with any of the policies the officer spoke of that day (or if he was even telling the truth), I do know that with a $611,710,869.00 budget, you should not have 23,309 car break-ins if you were doing your job. You should also not give the people you serve an excuse that there is "nothing you can do."

But let's give the officer I spoke with the benefit of the doubt. Instead, let's strategize on how we can prevent crime from occurring in the first place. What if we reinvest a portion of that $600M into other avenues that are more beneficial and fruitful to our communities in SF: Help curb the homelessness that has risen in our neighborhoods; Bolster after-school programs for children; Give financial support to Black-owned businesses; Fund programs that protect folks from being driven from their homes due to gentrification; Invest in the Arts, especially the small theaters which make SF so special but are now closing because rent is too high. Why are these important services neglected and a police force who will bluntly tell you that they "can't do anything" is reaping in money? Defund the police now.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Will Dao

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman, My name is Marissa Ramon. I am a resident of San Antonio, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few. As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change. (With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)). I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression. Thank you, Marissa Ramon

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Arie Van Antwerp, and I am a resident of San Francisco. These past few weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action.

The extrajudicial murder of San Franciscans, of anyone, by police is unacceptable. No one should die simply for coming into contact with police. When officers not only shoot unarmed community members, but kneel on their necks for 8 minutes and 46 seconds, demilitarizing police is not enough. Disarming police is not enough. The SFPD must be defunded and entirely dismantled. The $611,701,869 we sunk into policing last year should go to ending homelessness, improving mental health resources, and enriching our school systems.

As we decide the 2021 budget, we need to do better. The SFPD must be entirely defunded.

Sincerely,

Arie Van Antwerp

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers;

My name is Lexi Brown, and I am a proud resident of San Francisco. I came here attracted to the liberal, progressive spirit of this city. I have been blessed to watch San Francisco be a true leader in the resistance. In recent weeks, the national focus has been, for the first time, on calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. The fact that almost $612 Million is spent on over-policing black and brown communities while thousands upon thousands of unhoused individuals sleep on the street is appalling. Meanwhile, the technology industry is gentrifying our great city, and families who have lived here from generations are being pushed out.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. Further, we need increased mental health services, greater affordable housing for the middle and lower class, increased social services, and more resources in our educational systems.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Lexi Brown

Hello Mayor and SF City Council,

We need to change the way we view public safety, and move away from the era of policing. The modern law enforcement system is directly bred out of the slave patrols in the early 1700s.

The attempts to reform, or improve, the racist institution of policing may never be sufficient, and therefore I am calling to defund to police.

I would also like to ask you what you are personally doing to reduce police brutality, and if you are on the boat to defund the police?

Sincerely,
Jamie Reeves

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

The SFPD does not provide safety for our community. It is gut wrenching to me that members of our community have guns drawn on them by (presumably) SFPD, and the only recourse is to hide for 4 hours and 45 minutes in hopes of not being murdered before dawn.

It is clear to me that the SFPD does not contribute to the safety of our community. San Francisco deserves to invest its funds into services and institutions that help our community, not murder its members.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. My name is Carolyn Finney and I am a resident of the Mission Bernal area in SF. These past few weeks our nation and city has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of some of this action. It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as the protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. The majority of the SFPD budget of over 600M comes from the SF general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amount on policing we have not gotten our money's worth to improve safety, homelessness, mental health, or the affordability in our city for all. During these protests we have seen wasteful harmful actions by our police.

I have seen several amazing proposals and ideas shared by you all over the last year, and I am calling on you to cut the SFPD budget to make some of those a reality. Using those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. I implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they may need.

We can be a beacon for other cities as we have been in the distant past, if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Colin Lohner, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Colin Lohner

To the leaders of San Francisco,

My name is Jordan Hamel, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I want to be heard loud and clear - you must decrease the SFPD budget! Extra policing has not improved the safety of our city. You must reallocate some of the SFPD funds to fight homelessness, offer mental health services, and improve housing affordability. The excessive SFPD budget is a waste of my taxpayer money.

San Francisco has the opportunity to be a leader for many other U.S. cities. Please make the right decision here!

Thank you,
Jordan Hamel

Subject: Police encounter this past weekend in SF mission district

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Julia Turner, and I am a resident of San Francisco.

Yesterday afternoon, amid all of the unfolding exposure of harm to our Black citizens at the hands of police, I watched a beloved Black neighbor and artist share an account of a terrifying encounter with SF police on Saturday night, one which should not have involved a gun and which has left him badly traumatized.

Yesterday evening, like every evening, I biked home through the Mission. I saw tent after tent, people going through garbage cans for food, and one couple who was struggling to get a wheelchair laden with bags of aluminum cans up onto a curb toward the next trash bin. Last week I came across a man who was sitting on the curb crying. I stopped to listen to him and he said "I've been here for 23 years, I worked so hard, I have nothing at all now". The shelter in place order exposed in high relief how many people here have no shelter, nowhere to go. Putting people in a hotel during a health crisis is a temporary help but isn't the answer we need.

This weekend a block from my house, 3 police cars and multiple officers were dispatched to deal with a disoriented homeless woman, who was unarmed and absolutely no threat. When I think about the resources used to send that many uniformed officers to give someone a ride to a shelter (not to mention the unnecessary trauma to the woman at having to interact with that many police) I'm furious. We pay police officers more than teachers, more than social workers, more than countless people who are better trained than they are to do the jobs they are sent to do, often resulting in unnecessary added trauma and harm.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

Emma, the Mayor, the Board of Supervisors, and SF's HRC,

I don't want to tell y'all how to do your jobs, but the Mayor's press release is literally 5 years behind as is this email I received. SF is trying to comply with 2015 standards just now in 2020? You're telling on yourselves at this point. SFPD has already implemented the seven best preventative measures, so why is there still disproportionate violence against Black residents in SF? SFPD has already implemented the seven best preventative measures, so why is part of their budget still spent on heavy militarization and weapons? Why would they need it if they are truly taught these methods? SFPD has already implemented the seven best preventative measures, so why are there officers who neglect these still on the police force? What does Early Intervention even mean? SFPD has already implemented the seven best preventative measures, so why aren't SFPD's misconduct files open for public viewing? This press release is for saving face.

My last workplace in SF was robbed at knifepoint by a drunken white woman during the holidays. When the police showed up, my coworkers were laughed at and the situation was not taken seriously. They had waited until she was seen lunging a child to finally arrest her and even then we never heard of any action being taken. I fully believe they would have taken them seriously if the person in question was anyone other than white. $700 million for someone to laugh at my coworkers. $700 million to almost let a child be attacked and harmed because they thought the situation was funny.

I have had cops take up seating as my last place of work to make fun of the place of business without supporting it. $700 million for cops to sit around and laugh at me and my coworkers working minimum wage.

SFPD has come to take a look at the population of people experiencing homelessness near my workplace and when asked if they would call or reach out to other departments or services to help them, we were told nothing is available at the moment. I'm being told homeless resources aren't available, but don't worry, there's $700 million lying around so that a fully outfitted police officer with a nice car could tell that to my face.

We want a direct response to defunding and with that we want to see numbers. Cut police spending by 50%. There are so many empty spaces and empty houses in San Francisco. Instead of spending money to build more homes that look completely out of place in SF for "affordable" housing, look into renovating some of these tech or business buildings that are probably going to be empty soon. Look into buying multi-family SF houses that already exist. Look into what it would cost to buy and upkeep housing for marginalized people to live rent free for at least a year or 2 so they can work and build up some sort of savings for themselves or their families. After they have, then funnel them into affordable housing so the next families can come in. I imagine $300+ million a year would go a long way.

And honestly, learn the history of the violence used by SFPD.

In the 1930s SFPD would pocket budget money for illegal payoffs. In 1975, during the SFPD police strike, only African-American officers went to work while other officers striked, picketed, and while doing so would continue to arrest residents. They drank while on strike, shot out streetlights, and bombed the Mayor's home. Through total lack of control and abuse of violence SFPD was able to get the Mayor to grant them their strike wishes within the same month. In the 1990s drugs were stolen by cops and planted multiple times. In the early 2000s and onward cops have been known to cover-up beatings, assaults, etc. Police are being paid over $100,000 a year to steal, beat, sexually assault, kill, plant drugs, be racist, homophobic, transphobic, sexist, etc. Last year I made $16k. It was the highest I have ever made. To know $80k is the starting salary for police, while most police are paid at minimum $130k without overtime is so disgusting and disrespectful. Defund SFPD at least by half. SFPD is the crime we are worried about. And honestly, it means nothing to the residents that the Mayor lived through this. We know she has constantly asked for more police presence and funding, it's not like it's a secret. Stop with the excuses already.

Thank you for contacting the Office of Mayor London N. Breed.

Mayor Breed stands in strong solidarity with the communities across the country who are grieving the senseless killing of yet another Black life. Mayor Breed has lived and breathed this grief as members of her community and her family have died at the hands of police officers. Mayor Breed knows that San Francisco needs a Police Department which protects residents, victims, and their families and we will not stand for the violence that we've seen perpetrated against Black and Brown communities by police officers across this country.

San Francisco has made substantial progress on police reform in recent years, especially in combating use of force, avoiding bias in policing, and prioritizing police accountability, but we know there are structural inequities in our City that continue to impact our African-American community each and every day. On June 11, Mayor Breed announced her vision to fundamentally change the nature of policing in San Francisco. She proposed four priorities to achieve this vision: ending the use of police in response to non-criminal activity; addressing police bias and strengthening accountability; demilitarizing the police; and promoting economic justice. These policies build on the City's ongoing work to meet the standards contained in President Obama's 2015 Task Force on 21st Century Policing. Please see the attached press release.

The Mayor's Office has also worked tirelessly to tackle the underlying causes of these issues by investing in programs that equitably support our youth and their development and provide more opportunities to those in need of a second chance. In tandem with Supervisor

Walton and the Human Rights Commission, Mayor Breed is working to identify programs for funding that can have the biggest positive impact on our Black communities. Subject: Divest SFPD--more radical Changes

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

I appreciate the steps you are taking to make SFPD more accountable, and the minor steps taken to defund the police.

Last night a fellow artist of color was held up by police as he was leaving his studio on 18th St. With guns aimed at him for a burglary that happened nearby he had to make a split second decision to jump back into the locked studio building he was exiting and run and hide out of fear that any wrong move he made could cost him his life. He hid in a corner of his studio under a table for 4 hours in fear as he listened to footsteps through the building.

This is how police act in our own community—there are deep flaws in the whole structure of policing. EVEN IF this artist matched a profile for someone they were looking for when he stepped out of his own building, why could they not just talk to him rather than point guns and demand he put his hands up?—sending him into panicked fear as he had to decide whether dropping the container in his hand full of small tools would spark a shooting, or risk bending over to set it down would do the same. Running is a fear response, and all too often cops take this as an admission of guilt and shoot to kill.

At first I was calling for redistribution of police funds BUT NOW I am calling for a major overhaul of the whole police department. I'm happy that you are looking at the Cahoots program in Oregon for taking police off of calls for homelessness and mental health calls, but the mere $50 million divestment from the SFPD overall budget seems hardly enough to support this AND invest in neighborhood programs to get youth off the streets and job training for the under served. MORE MUST BE DONE!

POLICE UNIONS should be stripped of their power to reinstate police with misconduct records. The culture of protecting terroristic acts on the police force HAS to be brought out into the public and made transparent for all to see! The people, all of us, will stand behind you. ENOUGH IS ENOUGH.

I am white, this is not a privilege to stand idly by while my fellow friends, co-workers, citizens must fear for their lives every time they encounter the police alone, in their cars and even in their homes—it's a disease that is killing and deforming all of us!

PLEASE do something radical to change the concept that Police are her to enforce first, and protect last.

Sincerely,

Alison Pebworth

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Rachel Sadler, and I am a resident of San Francisco and an SFUSD teacher. Our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Dear Mayor Breed et. al.,

Until a couple weeks ago, I had never had a firearm or projectile launcher of any sort aimed at me. Now I have had the experience of being screamed at and threatened with a weapon simply for walking down the sidewalk. I never expected this to happen to me, much less so to have the perpetrators be members of the SFPD.

I am deeply upset, to put it mildly. I feel that the SFPD has demonstrated that is extraordinarily undeserving of the responsibility vested in it. I am very happy to hear that the SFPD will no longer be responding to non-criminal matters, but I do not feel this goes far enough. I urge you to radically rework the armed portion of the SFPD, and deploy its officers only when specifically requested by unarmed first responders. I also urge you to assign it a budget in line with that vastly reduced role.

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

I'm Ivanna, a resident of San Francisco. It's no secret that our very own SFPD has been unnecessarily violent and aggressive towards Black and brown folks.

So I'm curious, how many more police have to be caught on camera committing deadly crimes and abusing their power for us to see that this system isn't working? If a teacher, fireman, doctor or person in any other profession hurt communities in the way the police have done, they'd be fired (and thrown in jail).

It's clear that our tax dollars are being wasted on supporting a police system which has failed to improve safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. For this reason, I am writing today to urge you to sign onto a budget reduction of at least 50% of the SFPD for the Fiscal Year of 2021. This money should be reappropriated to housing, health care, jobs, education, and other sectors that uplift and care for our communities.

I urge you to fight for your constituents' safety and wellbeing and back a budget cut to the SFPD.

Thank you,

Ivanna Patton

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Tim

Dear Mayor Breed, Chief Scott, City Manager Kelly, and San Francisco City Council Members,

My name is [insert your name], and I am a resident of [insert your city/state]. I am writing to you today to demand that you immediately redirect funding from the San Francisco Police Department towards BIPOC communities.

The senseless killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and countless others have demonstrated the infuriating prevalence of police violence and brutality in communities across America. While these events are devastating, they should not come as a surprise. Since the 1600s, policing has been a tool to enforce the social order — an order that oppresses and brutalizes BIPOC Americans.

For too long, policy-makers and law enforcement have upheld a system founded upon racialized fear to brutalize and devastate BIPOC communities. Additionally, most policing reforms (e.g. implicit bias training, diversification, and enhanced accountability) fail to address the root problems inherent to policing, as demonstrated by the implementation (and clear failure) of these programs in the Minneapolis Police Department.

Thus, I am demanding that you take the following actions immediately:

1. Defund the San Francisco Police Department by reinvesting 50% of this budget in BIPOC communities, collaborating with leaders from these communities to identify areas of need (including, but not limited to healthcare, housing, and education). This could mean transforming the role of first responders — for most calls, social workers, mental health experts, and community leaders have the right expertise to solve the problem, as seen in Dallas.
2. Abolish qualified immunity and other legal protections for police officers who have committed acts of violence. Nearly every single officer involved in racialized violence has never faced serious punishment. Hold officers to the same legal standard as the rest of the citizenry and punish these acts of unnecessary violence.
3. Demilitarize the local police force immediately. This includes, but is not limited to, stopping the deployment of excessively militarized police (especially in the ongoing demonstrations), restricting police departments from using federal grant money for military weaponry, returning whatever military equipment has already been received, banning no-knock raids, and restricting the use of SWAT teams.
4. Open investigations into all officers with reports of police abuse and release body counts for all officers.
5. Cut all ties between the San Francisco Police Department and local public schools.
6. Ban ICE from all protests and gatherings in San Francisco.

These actions are only first steps. Racialized police brutality is a systemic problem that requires federal, state, and local action, and I am demanding that you do your part. Black Lives Matter.

Sincerely,

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Colleen Briant. I am a resident of Noe Valley, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Colleen Briant

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Sofia Cassidy, and I am a resident of Marin County. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Sofia Cassidy

My name is Alice Liu, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city, as with all densely populated cities in the US, has been grappling with COVID-19 for the past couple months. It's been interesting to compare the resourcing and response to both these crises.

In both scenarios we are responding to lives - lives in danger, lives that need our support and our help. With COVID-19, I donated an additional $300 to San Francisco's COVID-19 Emergency Response & Recovery Fund because we were not equipped to handle a pandemic outbreak. While sure, the circumstance is rare, we are willing to invest more in the power of violence than the power of health.

I understand that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue, and I'd like to call on you to move the funds from the SFPD budget towards the health and safety of our residents. I usually walk to work everyday along Market Street for a good 2 miles - passing the Mission, Tenderloin and Soma. It's time we invest in our people instead of just in the restraint against people.

We can be an example if only we have the courage to change as the city of the future.

Sincerely,
Alice Liu

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Brooke, and I am a resident of San Francisco.

In the wake of George Floyd's murder Americans are calling for an end to police violence and racism. In San Francisco there is overwhelming, widespread support for the Black Lives Matter movement. San Franciscans have marched through our streets in unprecedented numbers to show that we will no longer tolerate police violence or racism. WE DEMAND REAL CHANGE, OVERSIGHT AND ACCOUNTABILITY. In a healthy society, the values of the people are reflected in its government. As made evident by the volume of the public outcry, it is clear that this is currently not the case.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY TO ACHIEVE REAL CHANGE IN OUR CITY.

REALLOCATE POLICE FUNDS. Stop wasting resources on the SFPD and re-prioritize funding to better serve the community. Invest in social services. Invest in Black and POC youth programs, schools, mental health services, and homeless and addiction services. Consider adopting Our city budget should prioritize the community, not police interests. Data shows that increased funding of police departments does not reduce crime, nor does it support the needs of its constituents. Providing community services does. Policing people does not reduce crime but investing in the community will. Minneapolis, Los Angeles and New York City have already committed to DEFUND THE POLICE. We deserve the same in San Francisco.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Brooke, and I am a resident of San Francisco.

In the wake of George Floyd's murder Americans are calling for an end to police violence and racism. In San Francisco there is overwhelming, widespread support for the Black Lives Matter movement. San Franciscans have marched through our streets in unprecedented numbers to show that we will no longer tolerate police violence or racism. WE DEMAND REAL CHANGE, OVERSIGHT AND ACCOUNTABILITY. In a healthy society, the values of the people are reflected in its government. As made evident by the volume of the public outcry, it is clear that this is currently not the case.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY TO ACHIEVE REAL CHANGE IN OUR CITY.

REALLOCATE POLICE FUNDS. Stop wasting resources on the SFPD and re-prioritize funding to better serve the community. Invest in social services. Invest in Black and POC youth programs, schools, mental health services, and homeless and addiction services. Our city budget should prioritize the community, not police interests. Data shows that increased funding of police departments does not reduce crime, nor does it support the needs of its constituents. Providing community services does. Policing people does not reduce crime but investing in the community will. Minneapolis, Los Angeles and New York City have already committed to DEFUND THE POLICE. We deserve the same in San Francisco.

Sincerely,

Brooke Gilsenan

Hi, I'm Ismael,

I'm a District 5 resident. I'm appalled at the current budget for 2021 SFPD. As we spend incredulous amounts of cash on policing, there's little to show for it in the way of safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability. Instead, the police cost more and more.

I ask you to cut the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources to housing those without homes. Think of our Black neighbors and veterans.

We can help other cities as we've proven in COVID 19 lockup only we have the courage to change. It's time to follow through.

Sincerely,

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Max Blue, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Let us be reminded in these times that we must fund communities of color in every way possible. We must fund schools equitably so that students all over the city receive the same quality of education. We must house those who are unhoused and are dying because of this pandemic. We must work on community gardens to ensure that everyone in the city has affordable and healthy food to consume. We must make sure that we keep our brown and black residents in communities they have built for years. We must hold tech companies accountable for the irreparable social damage they have caused. We must provide the people of San Francisco with the resources they need to thrive and not continuously live in survival mode. Commit to change through policies and advocacy in your offices.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Robert Andrews and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Robert Andrews

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving the issue of transportation for all in San Francisco by providing free muni and Bart. This has been implemented in cities such as Olympia, Washington. Policing on muni and Bart has resulted in a ridiculous amount of intimidation and ticketing for a $3 fare, and has resulted in police brutality death itself.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers
My name is Benjamin Klein, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Benjamin Klein

My name is Ava Vilhauer, and I was born and raised in the Outer Richmond and am a San Francisco resident. I am also a member of the California State Bar and Bar Association of SF and one summer long ago, worked in City Hall for my district supervisor as a high school student.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. And fortuitously, the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

My name is Fatema, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. My name is Natasha Sanjar, and I am a resident of San Francisco. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans and actually giving back to our community and furthering the education of our posterity by putting money back into schools. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

As a volunteer of the community within the Tenderloin, we need to be there for them. You know HOW MANY COPS I HAVE SEEN RIDE BY DRUG DEALS?! More than enough. You know how many cops I have seen stop a homeless person and antagonize them which further stresses their current mental health and is a reminder that they aren't equal?

That money can go to much further causes for the community as a whole, as SF is a city where the people carry each other on their backs. We support one another, challenge another to be leaders in our state and nation and rise up to care for the community and be participants.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Natasha Sanjar

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Emilie Struthers, and I am a 16 year resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards mental health and social services, housing, poverty and solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Emilie Struthers

Hi, my name is Laynie Loper and I live in the Inner Richmond. I am asking that the San Francisco Board of Supervisors take emergency action to defund the SFPD and shift investment to long-term safety strategies for Black communities, such as education, local restorative justice services, and employment programs. More officers, guns, jails and prisons are not a solution to longstanding problems of racial disparities, injustice, and police violence.

Thank you for your time,
Laynie Loper

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is May Lim, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

May Lim

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Fiona. I am a resident of the Richmond district, and I am emailing today to demand a divestment of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestment is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Personal note:

The disparities between the academic performance, and graduation/drop-out rates between the various schools around the city is horrible to see. In my first year in college I had to do a project that analyzed something in our society that needs to be corrected. I decided to look at the public education in San Francisco because I was luckily enough to go to Lowell High School and be in a situation where the entire community supported my academic achievement and goals to go to college. But my friends who went to other public schools, including my sister had very different experiences. If you look at the school "report cards" you can see for yourself that many schools are underachieving and below the states average (which is already very low). I believe if the redistribution of police funds goes toward SFUSD, thousands of students will see the benefits. If we invest in our students and create environments where all students can achieve we will see a brighter and more equal future. If we give all students the chance to receive a good education and want to pursue higher education I trust we will see the benefits! But they cannot succeed if the city does not fully support them!

"The philosophy of the school room in one generation will be the philosophy of the government in the next." - Abraham Lincoln

Sincerely,
Fiona

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Rachel Forbes, and I am a born-and-raised resident of San Francisco, and an elementary school teacher. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Rachel Forbes

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need ASAP.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

I do not want to be scared of police. Even though I am not black, I fear the police and have never quite trusted them seeing what they do to people. I would be taking walks in my neighborhood and hope the black person walking across the street will be okay walking in a predominantly white/Asian neighborhood.

My name is Emily Smith, and I am a proud resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action, and I'm so proud of every citizen who has risked their lives in a pandemic, in the streets, to make visible our collective anger.

It has also come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. I have been the victim of two crimes since the start of this year alone, and not once was there follow-up past being directed to file my report online. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to SLASH the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. Your city demands change.

My name is Casey Nelson, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America.

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

I call on you to reallocate money from the SFPD budget and instead use those potentially life changing dollars towards resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans, and by putting money towards additional resources for people who are struggling in our community. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Furthermore, Police officers MUST BE HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR THEIR ACTIONS. Not protected because their union has extreme power, not protected because the officers before them weren't reprimanded, and not protected for unnecessary acts of violence because they were "just doing their job."

As one of the most progressive cities in the country, it is our duty to lead the way and encourage others to create long overdue change. We must. It's high time.

Do the right thing. Take care of our diverse community. We have waited long enough.

Sincerely,
Casey Nelson
San Francisco resident

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Molly McGuire, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Molly McGuire

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Devon Hunt, and I am a resident of San Francisco, specifically the Tender-Nob neighborhood. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see the continued wasteful and harmful actions of our police force.

My very simple and extremely reasonable request is for you to drastically cut the SFPD budget, and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We, the citizens and your neighbors of San Francisco, implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they deserve as human beings.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Devon Hunt

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman, My name is Ashley Hall. I am a resident of The Mission and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few. As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change. (With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>.) I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Ashley

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Allison Gordon

Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Julianna Van Wieren, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. My name is Ben Nguyen, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our entire nation has protested for rapid and meaningful change regarding the police, a start to end to racism, recidivism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been an unfathomably massive drain in resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Monica Stretten, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Monica Stretten

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Madi Clelland and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Madi Clelland

The city has spent extraordinary amounts on policing, but I have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in the city. Amid the COVID crisis and the rampant police brutality I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. Give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. Healthcare, education, access to food and parks are just a few other vital public services that are in need of greater funding right now and moving forward.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Kira Kwan, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Kira Kwan

My name is Lani Reed, and I am a resident of San Francisco and an SFUSD elementary school teacher. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

We need to allocate our resources better. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

Additionally as a teacher, I can also speak to the fact that public schools remain vastly inequitable and the needs at my school remain far beyond the capacity of our human resources. We are not serving our children. We need more counselors, more social workers, more therapists. Not more police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards providing community-based social workers, therapists and counselors for our schools and greater community, and addressing the issues of homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

My name is Audrey Evers, and I am a lifelong resident of San Francisco. I am 6th generation San Franciscan and I love this city deeply. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. I walked with our youth leaders last week — in awe of the leaders that our city has BUILT!

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. We need to build infrastructure to help all San Franciscans. Mental health resources for homeless and non-homeless are very important to me as I work in the mental health field.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. Addiction is a health issue — not a criminal issue! Schizophrenia & psychosis are HEALTH issues, not criminal issues!

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Angela Kofahl, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Dear Mayor Supervisors

Please reject the nominations of Mr Creed an Ms Tung to the Police commissioin.

Ms Tung has rejected police reform and Mr Creed has virtually no experience in this area.

We need swift and comprehensive reform of SFPD, to change the racist and homophobic culture that now exists within that department.

Catherine Bellin

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Christina Briegleb. I am a resident of Noe Valley, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Enough is enough.

Sincerely,
Christina Briegleb

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is [YOUR NAME], and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Phil Dokas, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Phil Dokas
