I respectfully and very strongly request that you VOTE NO ON #200375. Please consider the effects on us as well. The ordinance mentions that "tenants may find themselves in an ever-deepening financial hole." What about housing providers?

Thank you.

Sincerely,

A hardworking housing provider who has been hit hard by the pandemic while striving to provide quality housing for myself, my family and my renters.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Heather Sievert, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Heather S.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Emma hogan, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Emma hogan

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Chris Womack. I am a resident of Nob Hill, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Chris Womack

My name is Rosalind Gullett. I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change in regard to police behavior, racism, and anti-blackness.

I urge you to take a proactive role in reforming how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of protests for a reason. San Franciscans want change.

It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, or mental health.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead put our extraordinary resources towards community issues, like solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. I implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. I call on you to use that money to create community spaces, to provide safety nets for our at-risk individuals and families, to move toward a safer, more inclusive San Francisco.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to start working toward a better, more equal society.

Subject: Oppose Supervisor Preston's Ordinance #200375
Date: Sunday, June 7, 2020 7:29:14 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Board of Supervisors,

Thank you for your work during this pandemic on behalf of your constituents. During this unprecedented crisis, housing providers as well as tenants are facing tremendous economic pressures. Because of these, we strongly oppose Supervisor Preston's Ordinance #200375 "COVID-19 Tenant Protections" on a number of legal and ethical grounds.

First, #200375 is unconstitutional. It forces courts to interfere with existing private contracts in violation of both the California and U.S. Constitutions. Not even a pandemic should undermine these basic fundamentals that govern our state and country.

Across the board rent forgiveness/permanent eviction moratorium due to COVID-19 could cause many property owners, particularly small "mom-and-pops," to go bankrupt, causing a significant reduction in the amount of available housing inventory in San Francisco and worsening an already bad housing crisis. Many owners are retired and/or barely getting by each month: they have expenses that are not magically going away or being reduced, such as mortgages, property tax, insurance, maintenance costs, etc. This ordinance potentially wipes out all COVID-19 related rent for tenants at the expense of San Francisco housing providers, who are experiencing just as much distress as renters, if not more; many property owners have also lost their jobs. With Mayor Breed's and Governor Newsom's moratoriums forcing housing providers to work out forbearance agreements with renters, the combined effect of this and #200375 will push many housing providers deeper underwater, causing many to drown, financially. Many have spent their entire lives working and saving for their property and could now find themselves in financial ruin by not being able to collect rental income for most of 2020. This loss during their golden years will cause many to be unable to sustain basic needs such as food, medical expenses and, ironically, a roof over their heads.

#200375 encourages tenants without financial distress to decide to stop paying rent just to take advantage of the situation. With multiple government orders in place to stop evictions, nothing can happen to them, even if an unlawful detainer is filed. The devastating combination of reduced rental income combined with steady but most likely increased ownership expenses down the road will cause foreclosures and property owner bankruptcies to skyrocket.

Housing providers are not responsible for this pandemic. Even though we are sympathetic, we are also negatively affected, and, in many cases, barely hanging on as is. We are not all wealthy and many are not strong enough financially to not have any rental income for most of this year; many of us are small "mom and pops" providers who are unable to carry this financial burden. The City should take responsibility for this and follow Los Angeles' lead with their $100M renter relief fund for those facing difficulties paying rent due to COVID-19.

I respectfully and very strongly request that you VOTE NO ON #200375. Please consider the effects on us as well. The ordinance mentions that "tenants may find themselves in an ever-deepening financial hole." What about housing providers?

Thank you.

Sincerely,

A hardworking housing provider who has been hit hard by the pandemic while striving to provide quality housing for myself, my family and my renters.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Margaret Phillips, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Clara Lam, and I am a resident of San Francisco.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action.

Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Clara Lam

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Simone Edwards

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Michael Mullan, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Michael Mullan

Subject: Help SF Form a New Social Contract of Equality and Justice

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers
My name is Anne Kerr, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I am a white woman in my 50s, who wants to add my voice to those calling for justice. I was encouraged to write to you asking you to slash the budget for SFPD and reallocate funds to solving homelessness. I can't in good conscience do that because I doubt that is the best answer. Instead, I call on the elected officials to take this moment to heart, and seek an overarching change in approach to dealing with poverty and justice.

We need an approach that gets people off the streets, by force when necessary, and prevents people with mental illness from wandering free in society. I support the move towards conservatorship, in whatever dosage it takes to make that happen. We need a strong police force to back this up. I encourage an approach to homelessness that is two-fold. We need to design a safety net that keeps people at risk of losing housing from ending up on the streets, and we need to solve the crisis we have created by letting thousands fall through the cracks already. The same resources, people and dollars, should not be working on both efforts or we will never get a better plan.

Our society cannot function without a strong police force, so defunding is not the answer, as it will put more stress on the officers concerned. We need to make sure we are clear about the work they need to do, that we have enough officers so they can do their jobs without burnout, that they have the tools and training to be effective, and that we hold them accountable to a high standard of fairness.

So my ask of you, as you do the hard work of addressing some of society's most difficult challenges, is to keep the protests that have gripped our nation over the past week at the forefront of every policy discussion. Help us all build a new social contract of equality and mutual respect between the citizens and the police force.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change. Thank you for letting my voice be heard.

Sincerely,

Anne Kerr

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Caroline Thompson. I am a resident of Noe Valley, and I am emailing today to demand a divestment of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).)

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestment is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Caroline

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is [YOUR NAME], and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Brandon Cruz-Youll

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Ryan Fleischer. I am a resident of [SF neighborhood], and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Ryan Fleischer

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Anna, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. Subject: Action needed. Defund the SFPD now!

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Evelin Murillo Ruiz, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Evelin Murillo Ruiz
Haight district resident

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, drug rehabilitation or affordability in our city. Just in District 5, we have seen an increase in unhoused/homelessness on the streets with no facilities for hygiene or care during the COVID pandemic. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Stephanie McPeters, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Stephanie McPeters

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Benjamin Wichman, and I am an SF resident.

SFPD's overfunding is a luxury is enjoyed disproportionately by white people like myself. For years this luxury has been conflated with necessity. At this moment in history, we have a chance to show the rest of the world what happens when police funding is redirected toward healthier uses.

The SFPD budget last year was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Alex Toschi and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Alex Toschi

Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Caroline Chick and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

Please, use some of the SFPD funds to create other agencies that have the power to enforce the law in specific areas. Break up the police department. A single agency should not be tasked with responding to a mental health crisis, investigating a murder, intervening in domestic violence, and preventing people from running stop signs. Work with experts in those areas to create these new agencies, and structure them in the ways that make the most sense for their specific purpose.

For the past two weeks, I have been educating myself on the history of police in our country. It is a heritage of Black, worker, and immigrant suppression. It is a repeated story of capitalism using aggressive, deadly tactics to maintain power in the hands of rich, white people. This is not a tradition I believe our city should partake in. San Francisco has been the home of innovative solutions - let this moment be yet another testament to that reputation.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

This is a script I was given. But I wholeheartedly agree with it. @theslacktivists and @nojusticenopeace on Instagram have some excellent examples of what defunding police would look like. I encourage you to check them out. We need to realign what we have cops respond to. Our cops don't need expensive riot gear more than our hospitals need cheap PPE. In the US, police murders by percentage are obscene compared to other countries. Time for change! I been out there this week, because police are as much a public health crisis as COVID-19.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Jennifer Huerta, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Huerta

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Amber Flaharty

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Olivia David and I am a resident of San Francisco, born and raised in the Richmond District. The changes I have seen in the city over my short 25 year lifetime have been disillusioning at best and heartbreaking at worst. My own privileged position could allow me to overlook the ever-growing disparities present in SF but I recognize that it is precisely this privilege that demands me not to do so. Further, my parents are white South Africans who immigrated to the US in the throes of apartheid, largely placing the US and it's values of equality on a pedestal at the time. Hearing firsthand their own disillusionment on realizing that racism is in fact institutionalized in the US in ways reminiscent of the unjust system under which they grew up only highlights to me the severe urgency for radical change in our systems. The events of the past week have highlighted the structural racism underlying the disparities in wealth and access to services in SF, and that addressing the manifestations of structural racism within the fabric of our city is essential in order to foster change. The necessity of these changes is a matter of life or death for many SF residents.

Based on research on the impact of policing as it occurs in the US today, it is evident that diverting funds away from police departments and toward social services that prevent crime to begin with is a key necessary place to start. Our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Spencer Camarda, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. Subject: Divest from the SFPD

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Danielle Benson. I am a resident of the Mission and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Danielle Benson

My name is Alyssa Perez, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I am a current student of the University of San Francisco, and I would like to call for Mayor Breed and the other city personnel to reevaluate their values and realign them with the public interest. My Jesuit education has taught me to care for the whole person as a social justice cause, calling attention to the importance of the values and interests of the individuals our community. With this being said, I do not feel that this city's police department acts in the community's best interest and the city's infrastructure does not do enough in its power to help the vulnerable.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Ariana Bayer, I live in San Francisco and my kids attend SFUSD.

This past week, our nation, our neighbors and family has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Me and my family have been in the streets.

As I have expanded my awareness and research it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards education and housing.

SFUSD provides much more than an education. As we witnessed during the school shut down, San Franciscans rely on schools for food, health, social care and well being. Access to technology is woefully unequal in our city: some kids waiting weeks for a chrome book while others bounce between tablets, mobile phones, laptops that are their own. It's embarrassing and shameful that this seat of Silicon Valley can't even provide basic technology, let alone the budget for staffing and coordination for continuation of the most basic of services to our children.

Before San Franciscans find themselves without a home, they were Likely part of an SFUSD community. If we can care better for our young people and their educators we can shake the roots of homelessness. Homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans- and which is an issue many of you have worked hard at. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Ariana Bayer

Subject: Oppose Supervisor Preston's Ordinance #200375
Date: Sunday, June 7, 2020 9:13:57 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Board of Supervisors,

Thank you for your work during this pandemic on behalf of your constituents. During this unprecedented crisis, housing providers as well as tenants are facing tremendous economic pressures. Because of these, we strongly oppose Supervisor Preston's Ordinance #200375 "COVID-19 Tenant Protections" on a number of legal and ethical grounds.

First, #200375 is unconstitutional. It forces courts to interfere with existing private contracts in violation of both the California and U.S. Constitutions. Not even a pandemic should undermine these basic fundamentals that govern our state and country.

Across the board rent forgiveness/permanent eviction moratorium due to COVID-19 could cause many property owners, particularly small "mom-and-pops," to go bankrupt, causing a significant reduction in the amount of available housing inventory in San Francisco and worsening an already bad housing crisis. Many owners are retired and/or barely getting by each month: they have expenses that are not magically going away or being reduced, such as mortgages, property tax, insurance, maintenance costs, etc. This ordinance potentially wipes out all COVID-19 related rent for tenants at the expense of San Francisco housing providers, who are experiencing just as much distress as renters, if not more; many property owners have also lost their jobs. With Mayor Breed's and Governor Newsom's moratoriums forcing housing providers to work out forbearance agreements with renters, the combined effect of this and #200375 will push many housing providers deeper underwater, causing many to drown, financially. Many have spent their entire lives working and saving for their property and could now find themselves in financial ruin by not being able to collect rental income for most of 2020. This loss during their golden years will cause many to be unable to sustain basic needs such as food, medical expenses and, ironically, a roof over their heads.

#200375 encourages tenants without financial distress to decide to stop paying rent just to take advantage of the situation. With multiple government orders in place to stop evictions, nothing can happen to them, even if an unlawful detainer is filed. The devastating combination of reduced rental income combined with steady but most likely increased ownership expenses down the road will cause foreclosures and property owner bankruptcies to skyrocket.

Housing providers are not responsible for this pandemic. Even though we are sympathetic, we are also negatively affected, and, in many cases, barely hanging on as is. We are not all wealthy and many are not strong enough financially to not have any rental income for most of this year; many of us are small "mom and pops" providers who are unable to carry this financial burden. The City should take responsibility for this and follow Los Angeles' lead with their $100M renter relief fund for those facing difficulties paying rent due to COVID-19.

I respectfully and very strongly request that you VOTE NO ON #200375. Please consider the effects on us as well. The ordinance mentions that "tenants may find themselves in an ever-deepening financial hole." What about housing providers?

Thank you.

Sincerely,

A hardworking housing provider who has been hit hard by the pandemic while striving to provide quality housing for myself, my family and my renters.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Melissa Roska, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Melissa Roska

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Drew Hamlin and I am a resident of San Francisco.

As you know, protests across the country are challenging the status quo, shining light on unjust police behavior including excessive use of force, brutality, and disrespect for the rights — and the lives — of those in our Black community.

We cannot sit still at this time. We must listen to these voices and take action. We have an opportunity to make change on these topics at the local level. I know San Francisco can (and I hope that we will) be a leader for our nation in this movement.

As I understand it, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869 last year. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen strong enough improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

I am asking for you to please re-consider spending levels for SFPD in the next budget and make the case to redirect funds to make progress toward those important challenges that we face, especially including homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans.

I know I can count on you to ensure that San Francisco is on the right side of history. Thank you so much for reading this and for your service to our city.

Respectfully,
Drew

My name is Ryder Freed, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources and grossly overfunded. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, investing in education, mental health services, and restorative justice programs. I ask that SF be a leader, with a vision of clarity based on facts and not holding onto practices that have failed our city, our Black communities, and the people of San Francisco.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change. NOW is the time for change.

Sincerely,

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Dennys Rodriguez, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Dennys Rodriguez

Subject: Oppose Supervisor Preston's Ordinance #200375
Date: Sunday, June 7, 2020 9:37:36 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Board of Supervisors,

Thank you for your work during this pandemic on behalf of your constituents. During this unprecedented crisis, housing providers as well as tenants are facing tremendous economic pressures. Because of these, we strongly oppose Supervisor Preston's Ordinance #200375 "COVID-19 Tenant Protections" on a number of legal and ethical grounds.

First, #200375 is unconstitutional. It forces courts to interfere with existing private contracts in violation of both the California and U.S. Constitutions. Not even a pandemic should undermine these basic fundamentals that govern our state and country.

Across the board rent forgiveness/permanent eviction moratorium due to COVID-19 could cause many property owners, particularly small "mom-and-pops," to go bankrupt, causing a significant reduction in the amount of available housing inventory in San Francisco and worsening an already bad housing crisis. Many owners are retired and/or barely getting by each month: they have expenses that are not magically going away or being reduced, such as mortgages, property tax, insurance, maintenance costs, etc. This ordinance potentially wipes out all COVID-19 related rent for tenants at the expense of San Francisco housing providers, who are experiencing just as much distress as renters, if not more; many property owners have also lost their jobs. With Mayor Breed's and Governor Newsom's moratoriums forcing housing providers to work out forbearance agreements with renters, the combined effect of this and #200375 will push many housing providers deeper underwater, causing many to drown, financially. Many have spent their entire lives working and saving for their property and could now find themselves in financial ruin by not being able to collect rental income for most of 2020. This loss during their golden years will cause many to be unable to sustain basic needs such as food, medical expenses and, ironically, a roof over their heads.

#200375 encourages tenants without financial distress to decide to stop paying rent just to take advantage of the situation. With multiple government orders in place to stop evictions, nothing can happen to them, even if an unlawful detainer is filed. The devastating combination of reduced rental income combined with steady but most likely increased ownership expenses down the road will cause foreclosures and property owner bankruptcies to skyrocket.

Housing providers are not responsible for this pandemic. Even though we are sympathetic, we are also negatively affected, and, in many cases, barely hanging on as is. We are not all wealthy and many are not strong enough financially to not have any rental income for most of this year; many of us are small "mom and pops" providers who are unable to carry this financial burden. The City should take responsibility for this and follow Los Angeles' lead with their $100M renter relief fund for those facing difficulties paying rent due to COVID-19.

I respectfully and very strongly request that you VOTE NO ON #200375. Please consider the effects on us as well. The ordinance mentions that "tenants may find themselves in an ever-deepening financial hole." What about housing providers?

Thank you.

Sincerely,

A hardworking housing provider who has been hit hard by the pandemic while striving to provide quality housing for myself, my family and my renters.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Amaya Guillen, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Amaya Guillen

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Yakira Teitel, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions carried out by our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most acutely by our Black neighbors displaced by gentrification. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Yakira Teitel, MD, MPH

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Rebecca Wolfe and I live in San Francisco.

Black communities across the nation are mourning the deaths of George Floyd, tortured to death by Minneapolis police, Ahmaud Arbery, a jogger who was killed while running in a residential neighborhood in Brunswick, Georgia, Breonna Taylor an EMT killed while asleep in her bed in Louisville, KY, Dreasjon Reed in Indianapolis and Tony McDade in Tallahassee. Their names are added to a devastatingly long list of Black people who have been killed at the hands of vigilantes or law enforcement. Not to mention the others whose names we don't yet know, and may never know since they were killed without a camera recording it.

At the same time, the United States leads the world in COVID-19 cases. So far, more than 100,000 people -- enough to fill a football stadium-- have perished from the virus, with over one million cases confirmed, and those numbers don't reflect all the people dying from virus-related illnesses. Black people are suffering disproportionately from COVID-19, four times more likely to die than their white neighbors.

It is important to state this within the context of the scourge of anti-Black police terror and the resulting uprisings taking place across the U.S. The COVID-19 deaths and the deaths caused by police terror are connected and consequential to each other. The United States does not have a national healthcare system. Instead, we have the largest military budget in the world, and some of the most well-funded and militarized police departments in the world, too. Policing and militarization overwhelmingly dominate the bulk of national and local budgets. In fact, police and military funding has increased every single year since 1973, and at the same time, funding for public health decreased every year, crystallized most recently when the Trump administration eliminated the US Pandemic Response Team in 2018, citing "costs".

The time has come to defund the police.

Black communities are living in persistent fear of being killed by state authorities like police, immigration agents or even white vigilantes who are emboldened by state actors. According to the Urban Institute, in 1977, state and local governments spent $60 billion on police and corrections. In 2017, they spent $194 billion. A 220 percent increase. Despite continued profiling, harassment, terror and killing of Black communities, local and federal decision-makers continue to invest in the police, which leaves Black people vulnerable and our communities no safer.

Our city of San Francisco has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that our own budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

Where could that money go? It could go towards building healthy communities, to the health of our elders and children, to neighborhood infrastructure, to education, to childcare, to support a vibrant Black future. The possibilities are endless.

We join in solidarity with the freedom fighters in Minneapolis, Louisville, and across the United States. And we call for the end to police terror.

We call for defunding of police and for those dollars to be rerouted to create a public national healthcare system.

PLEASE:

Vote no on all increases to police budgets

Vote yes to decrease police spending and budgets

Vote yes to increase spending on Health care, Education, and Community programs that keep us safe.

Best,

Rebecca Wolfe

Subject: Divest from the SFPD

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Sarah Mitchell. I am a resident of the Inner Sunset, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).)

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Sarah

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Julia Leeman, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Julia Leeman

Subject: Divest from the SFPD

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Edward Uribe. I am a resident of the Sunset, and I request a divestment of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know San Francisco's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).)

I request that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestment is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Thank for your time and attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Edward Uribe

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Siena, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Siena Choy

Subject: Reallocation of SFPD funding

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Taylor Oliva, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Taylor N. Oliva

Hello Mayor Breed and all,

My name is Erik Islo and I live in the Castro (shoutout to Rafael). Over the past ~2 weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for meaningful, rapid change to our policing and justice systems. I have been part of these, and add my voice to the call for actionable and measurable commitments to ending racism and particularly anti-blackness. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. It is timely that the city is currently planning its 2021 budget is being planned in the context of these protests.

I am writing today to request that SFPD's budget be substantially cut in favor of community support and broader work at the city level against inequality. 2020's SFPD budget of $611,701,869 only allows the enforcement of the status quo. As a bastion of progressive values in the country that elected Donald Trump, it is our responsibility to set an example in restructuring our city to fight racism and injustice in all its forms. Most immediately, this means cutting the extraordinary amounts spent on policing, and reinvesting in community safety efforts, homelessness, mental health, and housing affordability in our city. Specifically, I want to see our city train citizens in deescalation, crisis and harm mitigation, and pursuing these with the most disadvantaged voices of our city at the center.

I call on you to substantially slash the SFPD budget and instead use that extraordinary funding in solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. It is long past time, particularly given the cashflow our city hosts between technology and finance sectors, to provide all those in our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. I say that as someone who was only able to move here because of a tech job, and who is still in tech.

By taking substantial action now, we can be a role model for the rest of the country. I would be even prouder to call San Francisco home if we take these steps.

Until there is justice for all,

Erik Islo

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Victoriya Bugrimenko, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Victoriya Bugrimenko

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Angel Baten, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Angel Baten

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Trevor. I am a resident of North Beach and I am emailing today to demand a divestment of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).)

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestment is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Trevor

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Juliana and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action.

Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Juliana Banuelos

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is CoCo, and I live with my partner and two young children in San Francisco's Mission District. Last week, we've seen an amazing movement as people across the country have taken to the streets to demand change with regard to police behavior and an end to the racism and anti-blackness rooted in our nation. It's our responsibility to do what we can to make these changes in our city. As the budget for 2021 is being decided, I urge you to keep these ideas at the forefront of the decision-making process.

SFPD is a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869. While we spend extraordinary amounts on policing, we do not see significant improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. As our city's leaders, you are responsible for taking care ALL residents and at the very least not causing any communities harm. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans, and supporting low and middle income families that are being pushed out of San Francisco.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

CoCo Robinson

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Trevor Rydahl, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Trevor Rydahl

My name is Claire Milligan, and I have been a resident of the Castro neighborhood in San Francisco since 2006. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

Last week, Mayor Breed, you announced a fund redirection from the police to African American community assistance but at the same time quietly released a budget providing a full $43 million dollar budget increase, all while departments across the city slashed their budgets. This is unacceptable in any time and certainly not in this climate.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Claire Rudolph. I am a resident of the Hayes Valley neighborhood, and I am emailing today to demand a divestment of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestment is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,

Claire Rudolph

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Board of Supervisors Budget Committee:

My name is Laura Goldin, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action.

It is my understanding that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and to use those extraordinary resources towards creating jobs and solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Laura Goldin

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

It is beyond time that we use our public money for public good. Current police funding has not accomplished public good. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to significantly reduce the SFPD budget and reduce the kinds of calls that police respond to. Instead these funds, and our collective money, should be used in effective efforts to solve homelessness, affordable housing and mental health concerns, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We live in an intensely wealthy city, and it is not ok to spend money for the sake of police traditions and unions that do not meet our needs. We must do better; it is time to evolve. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

I have personally seen several counts of police harassing homeless people with little to no cause. They target black homeless people, will detain them or relocate them, and if a homeless person is ill, there are very little resources to help them. We can call the non-emergency police and when called they are supposed to do a "wellness check". Are you kidding me? In what universe does the police know anything checking wellness? They are trained for less time than beauty school. Get rid of police and hire social workers, counselors; funnel money into affordable housing and none of this SFPD bullshit. The last time my stuff was stolen out of a car I filed a police report for the insurance and that's it, knowing full well that the police wasn't going to do jack shit.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Taylor Hope, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Taylor Hope

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Dennise and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Dennise Garcia

My name is Natasha, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Natasha

Years from now, when I look back on the events of this past week, I want to be able to say that my city actually did something to make real change. I want to be able to say that my city listened to the thousands of people taking to the streets, listened to the people crying out for help, listened to the communities whose members who have been victimized and murdered by the police for years, and did something about it. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Isabella, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Isabella Elmore

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers:

My name is Claire and I am a resident of San Francisco, employee at Pinterest, and transplant from Texas. While I love living in S.F., the ways in which we've failed our most vulnerable communities is heartbreaking and inexcusable.

Did you know that as police budgets increase (divesting resources away from public schools, mental health, and homelessness), infrastructure in poor communities deteriorates and police are called to "solve" every social problem instead of addressing the root cause? Redirected and reinvested public funds can uplift these communities while reducing crime and increasing safety. Research shows that crime is a response to social conditions, so by defunding police and redirecting money into communities, violent crime is reduced and these vulnerable communities are uplifted.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers
My name is Crystal Hermann, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Crystal Hermann

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

My name is Alicia Deschamps, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action.

Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen satisfactory improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Imri Larsen, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

imri larsen

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

My name is Zoya, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

Hello Board of Supervisors,

Good afternoon, Supervisors, my name is Fred Rey, and I live & work in San Francisco.

George Floyd. Breonna Taylor. Ahmaud Arbery. This month has been a powerful reminder of what happens without police accountability.

I oppose Nancy Tung and Geoffrey Gordon-Creed for Police Commission because now, more than ever, we need independent commissioners who will hold police officers accountable, who do not have a long-standing cozy relationship with the police, who will advocate for policies that will protect all vulnerable communities and decrease use of force, not drive it up further.

Nancy Tung supports giving tasers to San Francisco police officers if she deems there to be enough "trust restored".

Tasers would worsen relations with communities of color and vulnerable groups such as the homeless and mentally ill, upon whom tasers would be disproportionately used.

One UCSF study of California police and sheriff departments found the rate of in-custody sudden deaths involving non-lethal force increased 640% in the first full year of Taser deployment compared with the previous year.

I oppose Nancy Tung for the Police Commission because her priorities run contrary to our community's values: just two years ago, San Franciscans voted overwhelmingly against Proposition H, which would have given police tasers.

Nancy Tung is also on the Board of Directors of "Stop Crime SF," a group with close relationships to the SFPD that pushes for stricter laws and harsher criminal punishments.

Geoffrey Gordon-Creed is unqualified for the position given his history of defending officers and his lack of experience engaging with criminal justice issues or representing communities impacted by policing.

Please vote NO on Nancy Tung and Geoffrey Gordon-Creed.

Thank you for your consideration.

Fred

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Alexandra Williams, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I work in disability services for adults with intellectual disabilities. Many of the clients and families I work with face racism AND ableism daily, both of which are compounded by the current global pandemic we're in. This past week I have protested, calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America.

It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources and have repeatedly committed harmful and deadly acts against our Black and POC community members. We've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing and have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Disability services have been struggling for YEARS to stay afloat and are now facing state funding cuts that will set us back to 1980's rates. This could mean closures of these vital services and MORE people out of work.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards services -in particular re-housing- that provide REAL help to our community in an extremely critical time, PRIORITIZING black communities as we do so.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Ayomide Odumosu, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Ayomide

Dear Board of Supervisors,

My name is Maya Redlinger. I am a San Francisco resident and voter from the 94110 zip code.

I am writing to ask you to please vote no on Police Commission nominees Nancy Tung and Geoffrey Gordon-Creed. I ask this of you because they are not dedicated to deep police reforms. Neither of them has a history of working with any organization that advocates for police reform.

The past few weeks have highlighted just how deeply we need systemic reforms, including a dramatic rethinking of our community safety systems. We need to consider large reductions in the police budget in order to support other social services which are essential to lasting and just community safety. Mayor Breed's nominees are not appropriate candidates to meet our needs.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

My name is Anna Pitkin, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Anna Pitkin

My name is Alexia Reditis, and I am a resident of San Francisco. The police have never done anything for me or my community. My friends' rapists go unpunished. Abusive partners and family members unchanged. Alcoholics still alcoholics. Mentally ill friends still untreated.

We could be using the money and resources given to SFPD, the group that's abusing homeless people, black people, brown people, LGBTQ+ people, mentally ill people, disabled people, poor people, immigrants, and others, and use that money and those resources to PROVIDE PEOPLE WITH THE GOODS AND SERVICES THEY NEED!
What is controversial about this?

yo To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is [name]. I am a resident of [SF neighborhood], and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>)).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
[name]

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Dora Hamilton, and I am disturbed by the budget of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. We need to invest in restorative justice.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

There is not just a need for police reform, but police defunding and abolition, because the entire structure of the police force is inherently corrupt and ineffective. The average police recruit spends 58 hours learning how to shoot and only 8 hours learning how to de-escalate (Source: Campaign Zero). They are not trained or equipped to react to the vast majority of crises. Phillip McHarris (doctoral candidate focusing on race), argues that we must work towards a reality in which healthcare workers and emergency response teams handle substance abuse, domestic violence, homelessness, or mental health cases. Policies to "improve the police" are not enough, as there's no evidence that implicit bias training or community relations initiatives help with reducing the abuses of policing (The Nation). We need to reimagine public safety to prioritize alternatives to conflict rather than defaulting to violence. Restorative justice is proven to be more effective at lowering recidivism rates and PTSD in survivors of violent crimes. Imagine an experienced professional mental health professional being called when someone is experiencing a dangerous mental health crisis. The perfect alternative to police intervention which our police department had proven to be completely incompetent at deescalation. Or an experienced professional with family therapy and de-escalation experience being called in cases of domestic violence.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Dora Hamilton

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Megan, and I am a resident of South San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Megan Bailey

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Thank you for taking time to listen to the people.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Wan-Yin, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. SFBOS and SF Planning Commissioners

Amazingly nobody has looked above the weeds and seen the simple connect the dots of the transit changes needed in the west side.

Recall that ocean beach masterplanning and changes showed options for the L to cross sloat... it's not hard to imagine LRVs and trolleys running up sloat blvd again...

Link The L -taraval back up sloat 1.8 miles per google maps to st Francis circle K/M links with a stop at sunset blvd or lakeshore mall and stern grove. (Concert pumpkin patch across from stern Grove to a hybrid use site with undergrounded access to a tunnel under 19th avoid the construction mess of 19th and turn it south on 20th to stonestown and a re-envisionment of stonestowns density of parking lots a revitalized YMCA annex and new office and housing buildings on the west side...

There can be much better wholistic planning if we don't look at each parcel being boosted and pumped up like an inflatable bouncy house...

Focus on the LRV links that can be made so less traffic is the result when more dominos fall in terms of westside redevelopments...

Parkmerced's M-line has gone nowhere and SFSU-CSU gets off Scott-free...

70 million and nothing done to date...

Focus on the links loops and transfers to make a 30x30 network and public access from D10/D11/D7 from bayshore across town to the beach it's not rocket science get outta the downtown morass and look at how the city overall needs a transit network.

I begin to wonder who really is thinking of Significant transit links/loops and networks that will reduce auto use and provide a city system... 20 min from India basin to the beach... north south east and west...

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

I am writing to demand that you adopt a People's Budget that prioritizes community wellbeing and redirects funding away from the police. I am a longtime educator who feels strongly about this issue.

We are in the midst of widespread upheaval over the systemic violence of policing, embodied by the LAPD's well documented history of murdering Black people. We will no longer accept empty gestures and suggestions of "reform." This includes Mayor Garcetti's paltry 5% proposed cut with no clarity as to where these funds will be redirected, if at all. We are demanding that our voices be heard now, and that real change be made to the way this city allocates its resources.

We are in the midst of a pandemic with severe economic consequences. Over 50% of Angelenos are unemployed, and we can expect 42% lasting unemployment. Over 50% of those in this city are renters. When people are unemployed, they cannot pay rent. Prior to the pandemic, 60k people were unhoused; the evictions and economic insecurity caused by COVID-19 will bring that number even higher.

We demand that the City Council meaningfully defund the LAPD. We join the calls of those across the country to #DefundThePolice. We demand a budget that adequately and effectively meets the needs of at-risk Angelenos during this trying and uncertain time, when livelihoods are on the line. We demand a budget that supports community wellbeing, rather than empowers the police forces that tear them apart.

Although City Council has avoided voting or revising Mayor Garcetti's draconian budget proposal, the document is back in your hands. It is your duty to represent your constituents. I am urging you to completely revise the LA budget for 2020-2021 fiscal year, and to fund #CareNotCops. You need to adopt a People's Budget. Public opinion is with me.

Thank you for your time,

Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I personally am impacted by the ineffectiveness of the very police force who's salary I pay. When I am in a life threatening situation I am not able to act on what's best for my safety because in my experience calling police leads to escalation of conflict and often people getting hurt and loosing their lives.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans as well as give funding back to the community to employ our own first responders. Mayor Breed, SF Board of Supervisors, and other Elected Officers. My name is Brianna Lister, and I am a resident of Noe Valley in San Francisco.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to aggressively cut the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and queer youth. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Brianna Lister

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Johanna Kessler

My name is Allison, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Dr. Joanne Scott, and I am a long time resident of San Francisco. These past two weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of some of this action. Recently it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, and the starting salary for a police officer nearly $90,000. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, education, or affordability in our city (starting salary for a SF school teacher was under $40,000) In the face of the wasteful and harmful actions of our police this spending inequity seems profoundly dangerous to the future of the city. Paying those shepherding the education and mental health of our future less than half what we pay those militarizing our streets does not reflect the values of the caring, just society we in San Francisco like to hold ourselves up to be.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans, a universal basic income for those most profoundly affected by the pandemic, and toward bring our teachers closer to a living wage so their sole focus can be on their job and not on their ability to survive in this city.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Dr. Joanne Scott

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Yoshiko Niemann, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Yoshiko Niemann

Subject: Oppose Supervisor Preston's Ordinance #200375
Date: Monday, June 8, 2020 7:25:50 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Board of Supervisors,

Thank you for your work during this pandemic on behalf of your constituents. During this unprecedented crisis, housing providers as well as tenants are facing tremendous economic pressures. Because of these, we strongly oppose Supervisor Preston's Ordinance #200375 "COVID-19 Tenant Protections" on a number of legal and ethical grounds.

First, #200375 is unconstitutional. It forces courts to interfere with existing private contracts in violation of both the California and U.S. Constitutions. Not even a pandemic should undermine these basic fundamentals that govern our state and country.

Across the board rent forgiveness/permanent eviction moratorium due to COVID-19 could cause many property owners, particularly small "mom-and-pops," to go bankrupt, causing a significant reduction in the amount of available housing inventory in San Francisco and worsening an already bad housing crisis. Many owners are retired and/or barely getting by each month: they have expenses that are not magically going away or being reduced, such as mortgages, property tax, insurance, maintenance costs, etc. This ordinance potentially wipes out all COVID-19 related rent for tenants at the expense of San Francisco housing providers, who are experiencing just as much distress as renters, if not more; many property owners have also lost their jobs. With Mayor Breed's and Governor Newsom's moratoriums forcing housing providers to work out forbearance agreements with renters, the combined effect of this and #200375 will push many housing providers deeper underwater, causing many to drown, financially. Many have spent their entire lives working and saving for their property and could now find themselves in financial ruin by not being able to collect rental income for most of 2020. This loss during their golden years will cause many to be unable to sustain basic needs such as food, medical expenses and, ironically, a roof over their heads.

#200375 encourages tenants without financial distress to decide to stop paying rent just to take advantage of the situation. With multiple government orders in place to stop evictions, nothing can happen to them, even if an unlawful detainer is filed. The devastating combination of reduced rental income combined with steady but most likely increased ownership expenses down the road will cause foreclosures and property owner bankruptcies to skyrocket.

Housing providers are not responsible for this pandemic. Even though we are sympathetic, we are also negatively affected, and, in many cases, barely hanging on as is. We are not all wealthy and many are not strong enough financially to not have any rental income for most of this year; many of us are small "mom and pops" providers who are unable to carry this financial burden. The City should take responsibility for this and follow Los Angeles' lead with their $100M renter relief fund for those facing difficulties paying rent due to COVID-19.

I respectfully and very strongly request that you VOTE NO ON #200375. Please consider the effects on us as well. The ordinance mentions that "tenants may find themselves in an ever-deepening financial hole." What about housing providers?

Thank you.

Sincerely,

A hardworking housing provider who has been hit hard by the pandemic while striving to provide quality housing for myself, my family and my renters.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Mallory Albright, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Mallory Albright

Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Lauren

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Anuraag Jhavar, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Anuraag Jhavar

SFPD has misused our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Elizabeth Chu, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Chu

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Jordan McDonald, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I am a medical student at UCSF. Police brutality and police killing are a public health crisis. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the legislative and executive support.

JORDAN MCDONALD

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Lindsey Smith, and I am a resident of San Francisco's Outer Richmond. For several weeks, our city's and nation have been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. With this extraordinary amount of money, we could have made meaningful progress on affordable housing, homelessness, mental health services, harm reduction for people who use drugs, or improving teacher pay. Instead, it funded the wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to defund and dismantle the SFPD. Use those extraordinary resources instead to create a revolutionary community-led safety program that works towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans, providing meaningful and safe crisis intervention, and addressing the inequities that plague our city.

San Francisco has often been at the vanguard of change. I call on you all to once again be on the right side of history and be a beacon for other cities to follow.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Tawnee Kendall, and I am a resident of San Francisco.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change. Sincerely,

Tawnee Kendall

My name is Ryan Eliason and I am a resident of San Francisco. Yes, the rest of this message is canned from a BLM template, but I wanted to remind you the impact that sf's homelessness has on anyone seeing it with fresh eyes.

When I first moved here in Nov 2019, I lived on Alamo square and worked on Sansome and Sacramento. I would walk down McAllister and take market up to Sansome.

That commute was one of the most heartbreaking things I've ever had to witness in my life. I saw groups selling drugs. I saw people in their early twenties shooting up on the sidewalk. I walked past bodies that I didn't know whether or not they were alive. I saw people with nothing except a blanket - not even SHOES in the middle of winter. I cried every day on the walk to and from work that first week. Meanwhile, everyone else during rush hour isn't looking or thinking twice. Now I too am desensitized. How sad is that?

TELL ME, HOW CAN ONE OF THE WEALTHIEST AND "PROGRESSIVE" CITIES IN THE WORLD HAVE A HOMELESS PROBLEM LIKE THIS, YET THE POLICE WERE GIVEN ALMOST $612M LAST YEAR? HOW CAN YOU LET THIS COEXIST IN OUR CITY?

YOU NEED TO DO SOMETHING TO FIX THIS PROBLEM, OR WE WILL VOTE YOU OUT.

Proceeding with canned message:

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

Subject: SHIFT BUDGET FUNDS FROM LAW ENFORCEMENT TO HOMELESSNESS RESOURCES

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Olivia, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Olivia Gee

To Mayor Breed, the SF Board of Supervisors, and SF Elected Officers

My name is Emilie Winfield, and I am a resident of San Francisco. I want meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how people are treated in our city. I have attended peaceful actions in the past week and I know much of the city feels that change is necessary. I understand that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a massive waste of our resources and I do not feel safer because of their presence. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see disgusting and harmful actions from our police.

I call on you to cut the SFPD budget and instead use those resources towards solving homelessness. I implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. This city is supposed to be a shining example of progress and equity and it is not. Although I like living here, I am embarrassed by the state of our city and disregard for those who need help.

I will continue to push for this, the effort does not stop here. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Emilie Winfield

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Sara Weed, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Sara Weed

I previously worked in Jerry McNerney's congressional office (district 9) and volunteered in his re-election campaign "McNerney for Congress".
In both positions, I supported the congressman with outreach to communities and facilitated initiatives to support veterans and youth groups.

Subject: I support redirecting SFPD funding to the Black community

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Jenna Perelman, and I am a resident of San Francisco. These past two weeks, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-Blackness, and immediate reform in how Black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our Black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. I support the effort that was recently announced by Supervisor Walton and Mayor Breed to redirect SFPD funding to the Black community.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Jenna Perelman

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Cali Gold, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Cali Gold

I'm incredibly proud to live in San Francisco, and I value that we often set an exceedingly high bar for what it means for a city government to respect and protect its citizens. I consider us to often be a model for how other American cities can do so as well. We can once again be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Cameron Rusin, and I live in the Bay Area. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,
Cameron Rusin

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Purva Dandona

My name is my name is Crystal Mason, I live in the Weastern Addition and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is [YOUR NAME], and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

[YOUR NAME]lucy Boylen

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Joe Benoit, and I am a proud resident of San Francisco.

Further, I am grateful and humbled to be a part of such a strong force for good as the people of San Francisco. This past week - as our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America - our city has been at the forefront of much of this action, showing up in overwhelming numbers to bring the voices of countless black victims like George Floyd forward and gain the attention and support of people, like yourselves, who are in a position to help.

Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

As I'm sure you're well aware at this point, the FY18-19 SFPD budget was $611,701,869, which I calculated to represent approximately 1/5 of the total $3.2B in SF's discretionary general fund. I believe this is too significant an amount to spend on policing when there are likely other ways address our city's most pressing issues related to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability of living in our city.

I, like many others, call on you to reduce the SFPD budget and instead explore ways to divert those resources towards the issues mentioned previously more directly.

Sincerely,

Joe Benoit

Dear Mayor Breed,
San Francisco Board of Supervisors,
San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Amber, a resident of San Francisco for almost 35 years. Right now, we have a chance to make history.

Worldwide protests have been calling for an end to racism and anti-Blackness. We have a chance to make changes in this regard.

The budget for 2021 is being decided, and that is what decided policies that can have results that are anti-Black or pro-justice.

SFPD has drained communities of our resources. With $611,701,869 being spent, we still haven't seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city.

Giving money to these programs will take the load off the police. We need to fund programs that will work.

Please understand that SFPD's treatment of communities of color, in particular Black residents, and the failure to bring justice to the families of those killed by SFPD, has caused the public tremendous harm and inability to trust officers. We need a different way.

Sincerely,

Amber Yada

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Watiri Boylen, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Watiri Boylen

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Connor Geraghty, and I am a resident of district 3 in San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. We have a potent blend here of problems that need addressing, and none need be done so by police forces. Our homeless population needs help now more than ever, our public transportation infrastructure is an embarrassing joke compared to any other developed city of our size in the world, the costs of living have skyrocketed due largely to conditions that YOU created by giving tax breaks and incentives to big tech, and local small businesses are suffocating because you haven't been able to mount a comprehensive COVID-19 testing program. Just to name a few.

The police are a band-aid for our social ills that does not address the underlying causes, and as has now been shown buying a more expensive band-aid doesn't make it work any better. I have had my vehicle vandalized multiple times (window smashed, catalytic converter stolen twice), and a bicycle stolen, all incidents with police reports filed, and the response from SFPD: nothing, complete silence. The last time a cop gave me the time of day was to give me a $560 ticket for starting across an empty intersection before the light had turned green. On a bicycle. The police have failed to address the everyday problems citizen of SF face and instead function as a tool of oppression to keep down the working class, which it's high time you realized and acknowledged. Our streets are no "safer" and life no easier for us your constituents. In my 7 years living in SF I have never been helped by SFPD, only hindered. My experience is mild compared to that experienced by the communities of color and immigrant communities on a daily basis.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. At the very least you should consider changing the way police are involved in the community by requiring that officers live in the areas they patrol, they should have to live in the same or adjacent zip codes to the stations they are based in. They should have to know the people they are trying to control as neighbors and humans first and foremost, not as subjects.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Connor Geraghty

It is unacceptable to spend 611 million on police while our schools suffer. I am also calling on you to reallocate SFPD Budget to SFUSD and fund our schools.

Mayor Breed I voted for you last November. I find you to be a refreshingly inspiring person in SF politics. I hope you will do what is morally right and I hope to vote for you again in 2023.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers
My name is Melanie Zelaya and I am a resident of San Francisco.

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Melanie Zelaya

This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. The People no longer believe the lie that a better world isn't possible, and we will only elect leaders who serve the People.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Eli Johnson

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers,

My name is Kellen Wohl and I am a resident of San Francisco in D9. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue. SFPD has a misconstrued allocation of our taxpayer and city budget resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to reform the SFPD practices in policing to be anti-racists and lower the SFPD budget. Instead, I call you to use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness and guided pathways to residence, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Jessica Mijnsen, and I am a registered voter of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Jessica Mijnsen

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Lynsey Chediak, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action.

It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue, and I call on you to reconsider the previously high funding volume allocated to the SFPD.

SFPD has wasted our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. Every member of our community experiencing homelessness needs a place to call home and the treatment they need—now, with action, and not another empty press release.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

PS Please immediately release our city data on testing capacity and contact tracing capacity. Our plan as a city to re-open must be based on the data, not on an arbitrary 'wait two weeks and see how it goes each phase' strategy. You're hurting black-owned businesses and small businesses across the city, which are already tremendously hurting. You're not fooling anyone, and your constituency is closely following leadership in other cities, which are by contrast basing their reopening strategy on such data.

Sincerely,
Lynsey

In our city today, good, brave people, who want to help others and make a positive impact, will be unable to do so. They will be unable to do so because people are dying in our streets, because they don't have homes. We are asking them to solve massive, systemic problems with none of the knowledge, equipment, or resources they actually need. Why is it alright with us that they are the only ones out there, on the ground, with people who are suffering, who are in desperate need of help? The irresponsibility, the childishness, of passing off these problems to our cops when we know there are no solutions to be found, is staggering.

We CAN fight homelessness. We CAN help our friends and loved ones recover from addiction. We CAN overthrow the big shitty colossus of institutional racism. Most importantly we can work much harder to ensure that we raise children who are healthy, who are protected from these terrible dangers— racism, violence, poverty, and addiction — by their own strong, joyful minds.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Fiona Therese McGarry

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is francis Strietmann, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Francis Strietmann

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police. This disparity has become increasingly clear in light of COVID-19 crisis and the city's failure to provide adequate care for our unhoused neighbors in the wake of the pandemic's spread.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Good morning,

In addition to our regular COVID-19 updates, we are providing information about how San Francisco and the tech industry have responded to widespread calls for reform around racial justice.

Voting is one of the most powerful ways to make your voice heard and demand change. In light of recent protests against racism and police violence, we believe voting is more important than ever. Join sf.citi and California Secretary of State, Alex Padilla, on June 9th to learn how COVID-19 will make voting in the 2020 Presidential election look different than in years past. We'll discuss how COVID-19 has forced election officials to rethink the way people vote, candidates to behave more like Instagram influencers, and campaigns to stall altogether.

Register for Our COVID-19 Election Discussion

It's been three months since we started sending our weekly COVID-19 updates to keep our community connected and informed throughout the COVID-19 crisis. More recently, we've begun adding some timely San Francisco community updates that are not strictly related to COVID-19. Let us know what you think of our weekly digest and what content you would like to see in the future by completing a quick poll below.

UPDATES FROM THE TECH COMMUNITY

This week, we are sharing the latest COVID-19 tech resources, as well as actions taken by our members to support our Black community and promote racial justice here in San Francisco and beyond.

- Airbnb committed to donating \$500,000, as well as matching employee donations, to the NAACP and Black Lives Matter.
- AT&T extended its commitment not to terminate service or charge late fees through June 30th for customers unable to pay their bills due to COVID-19. Customers can submit a waiver to notify AT&T of their inability to pay here. The company is also automatically increasing mobile hotspot data by 15GB a month for each line on an unlimited plan and keeping public Wi-Fi hotspots open through June 30th.
- Dropbox CEO Drew Houston donated $500,000 to Black Lives Matter. The company will also match employee donations throughout the month of the June to the following organizations: Black Lives Matter, the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, and the National Urban League.
- Funding Circle has a growing list of COVID-19 resources to help small businesses navigate the pandemic, including important and updated information about the Paycheck Protection Program (you can still apply for a loan).
- Google.org made a \$12 million commitment to fund organizations working to address racial inequity, starting with $1 million grants to the Center for Policing Equity and the Equal Justice Initiative.
- Lyft is providing \$500,000 in ride credit to national civil rights organizations working to facilitate “essential transportation and equitable access during the recent crises,” including the National Urban League, the NAACP, the National Action Network, and the National Bail Fund Network.
- Optimizely CEO Jay Larson encouraged Optimizely employees to donate to organizations fighting for racial justice and equality, as well as call upon their city leaders to implement the #8cantwait policies to decrease police killings.
- Pinterest is using its platform to elevate content and resources about racial justice and represent people from diverse backgrounds. The company is also donating 25,000 shares of stock and $750,000 in paid media to organizations that support racial justice.
- Salesforce’s Black Employee Resource Group led Leading Through Change, a conversation about how to take action against racial injustice.
- Twitter curated a list of mental health resources for those fighting for justice, particularly among the Black community.
- Uber UK launched a Work Hub to connect drivers with other temporary work opportunities to supplement their Uber earnings, which have been hard hit by COVID-19. The Work Hub already exists in the United States, which presents drivers with work opportunities across Uber platforms, as well as with other companies.
- Verizon Foundation has committed \$10 million to seven social justice organizations.

UPDATES FROM THE CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO

- On June 5, Mayor Breed, Board President Norman Yee, and District 11 Supervisor Ahsha Safai announced the creation of a new grant program to support Family Child Care (FCC) educators. Recognizing that many family child care educators have suffered financially from COVID-19, the Office of Early Care and Education (OECE) will use $1 million in funding from Give2SF to create a Family Child Care Emergency Operating Grant program. More information about the program and how to apply will be available here.
- On June 5, Mayor Breed and Director of Health Dr. Grant Colfax issued new public health guidance for safe social interactions amid the ongoing COVID-19 crisis. San Francisco's Stay At Home order is still in place, and City leaders maintain that staying home is the best way to prevent people from getting/spreading COVID-19. For those that are expanding their social interactions, however, here are some guidelines—meet outside, wear face coverings, and minimize contact.
- On June 5, Mayor Breed and the San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency (SFMTA) announced the City will resume street cleaning enforcement beginning Monday, June 15.
- On June 4, Mayor Breed and District 10 Supervisor Shamann Walton announced plans to redirect resources from the San Francisco Police Department to support our Black community in the upcoming budget. The process will be guided by input from the local community and the San Francisco Human Rights Commission.
- On June 4, Mayor Breed and the Office of Economic and Workforce Development announced additional financial support for San Francisco small businesses. Small businesses can now apply for $6.5 million in funds from San Francisco's Small Business Resiliency Fund and the Hardship Emergency Loan Program (SF HELP). Over 300 local businesses will receive support in the form of grants and zero percent interest loans.
- On June 3, Mayor Breed announced the curfew on San Francisco would be lifted at 5:00am on June 4 to “facilitate any and all peaceful demonstrations.”

To stay up to date with all City of San Francisco updates, follow the Mayor's updates here.

UPDATES FROM THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

- On June 5, Governor Newsom announced his support for new policing and criminal justice reforms. After a week of demonstrations demanding justice for George Floyd and others killed by law enforcement, Governor Newsom called for the creation of new standards for crowd control and use of force in protests. He is also working with the state legislature to ban the carotid hold and other similar techniques in California.
- On June 3, Governor Newsom signed an executive order to ensure safe in-person voting opportunities for the General Election on November 3, 2020. This comes in addition to an executive order signed earlier this month requiring mail-in ballots to be sent to all California voters ahead of the election.

To stay up to date with all State of California updates, follow the California Department of Health's updates here.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Pablo Roachat, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Sebastian Daly

My name is Kathryn Murray, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, specifically the Budget & Finance Committee of Supervisors Sandra Fewer, Shamann Walton, and Rafael Mandelman,

My name is Colleen Donovan. I am a resident of Oakland, CA, and I am emailing today to demand a divestation of funds from San Francisco's police department and redistribution towards social services focused on community safety and health. These include: San Francisco Human Services Agency, Adult Protective Services, SF Dept of Emergency Preparedness and Assistance, Medi-Cal, CalWORKS, County Adult Assistance Programs, JobsNOW!, Families Rising, Family and Children's Services, and SF Dept of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, to name a few.

As you are reviewing Mayor London Breed's proposed city budget for the next two years, I know SF's financial outlook has changed drastically as a result of COVID-19 and many social services are up for budget cuts. I also know that the SFPD has a history of fatal police shootings (the murders of Alex Nieto, Amilcar Perez-Lopez, Mario Woods, Luis Gongora Pat, Jessica Williams, the list goes on), and countless reports of officer misconduct and brutality that continue to persist despite efforts by the District Attorney and public defenders to press charges, and despite implementation of additional bias trainings and other reforms from both a local and federal level. These harmful issues persist and something needs to change.

(With funds that are directed to the police department I ask that additional efforts towards ending police violence be made, outlined in Campaign Zero (<https://www.joincampaignzero.org/solutions#solutionsoverview>).

I am demanding that you remove funds from this institution that violently responds to community concerns and move these vital funds to services that work to de-escalate crime before it has the chance to emerge. These services, initiatives such as affordable housing, youth programs, social worker support, mental health support, and crisis intervention and hotlines, are better equipped to protect our communities both now and long-term than police departments that have a consistent and inexcusable history of violence and excessive force, specifically against communities of color, as we are seeing at a local and national level from police departments around the country. Social services also play a vital role in providing support and resources for marginalized communities during a global pandemic. This divestation is crucial and urgent to ensure the flourishing of all communities and an end to systemic racism and oppression.

Sincerely,
Colleen Donovan

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Jared DeLoof, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Jared DeLoof

My name is Emily Law, I am a resident of San Francisco and a public school teacher in the city for the last 10 years. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards public education. Just a few months ago a massive budget deficit was announced in SFUSD and sites have been forced to make hard decisions cutting essential personnel like family liaison's, social workers, para educators, school nurses and more. If we invest in more social services for the youngest most vulnerable members of our community then less crime and policing would ultimately be needed. Please consider redirecting funds from policing towards educating the next generation.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Dear Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Rishabh Kumar, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action.

It has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue, and I call on you to reconsider the previously high funding volume allocated to the SFPD.

SFPD has wasted our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund.

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. Every member of our community experiencing homelessness needs a place to call home and the treatment they need—now, with action, and not another empty press release.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

PS Please immediately release our city data on testing capacity and contact tracing capacity. Our plan as a city to re-open must be based on the data, not on an arbitrary 'wait two weeks and see how it goes each phase' strategy. You're hurting black-owned businesses and small businesses across the city, which are already tremendously hurting. At the very least, a daily report card update on our status is necessary to instill trust in the reopening process.

Sincerely,
Rishabh

While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, education, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need. I currently work as a street nurse providing care to our unhoused on the street and I know how much support they need. Though San Francisco's black community accounts for only 5.2% of the population, a 2019 survey found 37% of unhoused San Franciscans self-identify as black.

Additionally, I implore you to divest funds from the SFPD to invest in education, and work with schools to implement restorative justice programs in place of the current punitive systems of suspension and detentions that lead to the early criminalization of youth of color through the school to prison pipeline.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

To Mayor Breed, the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and San Francisco Elected Officers

My name is Emilia Huneus, and I am a resident of San Francisco. This past week, our nation has been gripped by protests calling for rapid and meaningful change with regard to police behavior, an end to racism and anti-blackness, and immediate reform in how black people are treated in America. Our city has been at the forefront of much of this action. Accordingly, it has come to my attention that the budget for 2021 is being decided as these protests continue.

SFPD has been a waste of our resources. Last year, the SFPD budget was $611,701,869, the majority of which comes from the San Francisco general fund. While we've been spending extraordinary amounts on policing, we have not seen improvements to safety, homelessness, mental health, or affordability in our city. Instead, we see wasteful and harmful actions of our police.

I call on you to slash the SFPD budget and instead use those extraordinary resources towards solving homelessness, which is felt most by our black neighbors and veterans. We implore you to give every member of our community experiencing homelessness a place to call home and the treatment they need.

We can be a beacon for other cities to follow if only we have the courage to change.

Sincerely,

Emilia Huneus
