

1 [Week of the Young Child]

2 PROCLAIMING APRIL 9 - APRIL 15, 2000 THE WEEK OF THE YOUNG CHILD IN 3 RECOGNITION OF THE IMPORTANCE OF CHILDREN'S EARLIEST YEARS IN SHAPING
4 THEIR LEARNING AND DEVELOPMENT AND THE NEED TO SUPPORT EARLY
5 CHILDHOOD PROGRAMS AND SERVICES.

6
7 WHEREAS, We know now, more than ever before, the importance of 8 children's earliest years (birth through age 8) in shaping their 9 learning and development and laying the foundation for their success 10 in school and later life; and,

11 WHEREAS, It is increasingly clear that an adverse early 12 environment can compromise brain function and place children at 13 greater risk of developing a variety of cognitive, behavioral and 14 physical difficulties; and,

15 WHEREAS, A significant number of children confront one or more
16 major risk factors including inadequate health care, isolated parents 17 who lack adequate family and community supports, substandard child
18 care and education, poverty, or insufficient attention by parents 19 because of workplace or other pressures; and

20 WHEREAS, The Week of the Young Child is a celebration sponsored 21 each April by the National Association for the Education of Young 22 Children (NAEYC), the nation's largest organization of early 23 childhood professionals; and

24 WHEREAS, First established in 1971, the purpose of the Week of 25 the Young Child is to focus public attention on the needs of young

1 children and their families and to support the early childhood
2 programs and services that meet those needs; and

3 WHEREAS, The Week of the Child promotes various goals and 4 strategies including healthy development of young children, adequate 5 child care options for families, and good-quality programs that 6 promote children's active learning and development in child care,
7 preschools, kindergartens and primary grades; now, therefore, be it

8 RESOLVED, That the Board of Supervisors of the City and County 9 of San Francisco proclaims April 9 - April 15, 2000 the Week of the 10 Young Child in recognition of the importance of children's earliest 11 years in shaping their learning and development and the need to 12 support early childhood programs and services.
