I have lived in San Francisco, CA continuously since 1965 (and for two years prior) and at my present address since 1974. I am married, white, Jewish, with two adult children, my son living within one mile and my daughter in Berkeley, CA. I was born April 8, 1935, in New York, NY, and am within one month of my 83rd birthday. I am in good health but have some minor mobility activities; and am very conscious of sidewalks, traffic hazards, difficulties with buses, housing not suited to aging bodies and other issues aging people and some people with disabilities must deal with. My husband, Larry Lurie, 83, is a retired psychiatrist who also worked with the elderly and was President of Aquatic Park Senior Center at one time. I'm a gerontologist, so we both share a professional as well as very personal interests in aging and aging issues.

Business and/or professional experience:

I began my career in gerontology in 1961-63, interviewing people in the community, including what was then skid row (now SOMA.) I received my Ph.D. in sociology, specializing in gerontology, from Columbia University in 1970. I continued to do research in aging, primarily in services for the aging, at the University of California, the Jewish Home for the Aged, and On Lok (now Lifeways.) I did a needs assessment survey for Planning for Elders in the Central City, a parent organization to the Community Living Campaign. I also worked for the Department of Mental Health Services on a survey of board and care homes for the elderly. I've published on services to the elderly, mental health and aging and on nurse practitioners. I still make presentations on aging and caregiving at professional meetings. I retired about 1996, although I worked part time afterwards for awhile.

Civic Activities:

I served on the Boards of Suicide Prevention, on Planning for Elders in the Central City, where I also served as President and director of research; and on the Board of the Community Living Campaign, where I was President for two years. I'm currently a founding member and on the Advisory Board to San Francisco Village, which helps elders make and maintain community and helping connections. As a member of the Advisory Council to the Commission on Aging, and Advisory Council to the Commission on Aging representative to the Advisory Council to the Dignity Fund, I'm particularly interested in establishing the Dignity Fund on firm footing; and making sure we meet the needs of older adults, veterans, and persons with disabilities with needed services additional to those funded by the Department of Aging and Adult Services.

I am a 37-year resident of San Francisco, a 10-year resident of District 8; a 64-year-old disabled cis-gender gay man and a 28-year long-term survivor of HIV (diagnosed in 1989). Thus, I am particularly interested in and conversant in the issues of aging in this ever-more-expensive city, particularly but not exclusively those of us aging with HIV. I currently live at the epicenter of Bernal Heights, Glen Park, and Noe Valley, and I am familiar with the issues faced by residents of District 8, especially those of us who are aging here. In my writing, I often address those issues. I would be honored to help address those issues on the Commission.

Business and/or professional experience:

I worked as a legal secretary in San Francisco for nearly 23 years before becoming disabled by HIV in 1999. Since becoming disabled, I have turned to my writing. I am currently an Editor-at-Large for A&U: America's AIDS Magazine, where I write a bi-monthly column that addresses issues faced by long-term survivors of HIV; I have also written several features for A&U, including a January 2017 cover story on Cleve Jones and a later article on new Supervisor Jeff Sheehy. I can provide links to those articles and other examples of my work if requested.

Civic Activities:

For some years now, I have been an active member of the Elizabeth Taylor 50-Plus Network (a program of the San Francisco AIDS Foundation) and Honoring Our Experience (a program of Shanti). I have attended and spoken at meetings of the Getting to Zero Consortium and the SFAF "Tribute" gala. I have helped to organize activities, such as "Revival," a quarterly dance sponsored by H.O.E., and other activities at ET50+.

Serving on this Commission would be my first opportunity to serve the City in such a manner, and I would eagerly welcome the opportunity to bring my experience and understanding of aging in San Francisco to the Commission.
