Jingkun Yang endorses and supports the Board of Supervisor's Resolution Condemning Use of the Term "Chinese Virus." The President, his administration, and Republican GOP Senators and Representatives have used the terms "Chinese Virus," "Kung Flu," and "Wuhan Virus" when referring to the COVID-19 virus. Use of these terms are racist and xenophobic. The Chinese for Affirmative Action has partnered with the Asian Pacific and Planning Policy Council in collecting data on incidents of coronavirus-related aggressions, bullying, harassment, hate speech, and violence against Asian Americans. As today, there are over 450 reported incidents. Words matter, particularly the words of our political leaders, and these words are intended to incite bigotry and have fueled violence against Asian Americans. (#WashTheHate)

In these times that call for an urgent and collective response to a global health crisis, there is no room for hate (#StopAAPIHate). Let us not divide our communities. Let us all come together, share knowledge and resources, and act globally to beat the Coronavirus (#ComeTogether).

Best,
Jingkun Yang

I support the resolution to condemn the use of the slur “chinese virus “ by President Trump. We’ve seen enough violent racist incidents already because some people associate Asians with the virus. We cannot afford to have this assault on innocent Asian people.

SANFRANCISCO must take a stand against racism and xenophobia. I cannot think of a better example than what president is doing to provoke more racist acts.

Thank you

I personally endorse and support the San Francisco Board of Supervisor's Resolution Condemning Use of the Term "Chinese Virus." President Trump, his administration, and Republican GOP Senators and Representatives have used the terms "Chinese Virus," "Kung Flu," and "Wuhan Virus" when referring to the COVID-19 virus. Use of these terms are unneeded, inaccurate, racist, and xenophobic. The Chinese for Affirmative Action has partnered with the Asian Pacific and Planning Policy Council in collecting data on incidents of coronavirus-related aggressions, bullying, harassment, hate speech, and violence against Asian Americans. As today, there are over 450 reported incidents. Words matter, particularly the words of our political leaders, and these words are intended to incite bigotry and have fueled needless and hate violence against all Asian Americans, not just Chinese-Americans. As a Korean-American husband and father to three Korean-American daughters of school-age, we have seen and heard of such incidents in our own local community in San Diego as well.

In these times that call for an urgent and collective response to a global health crisis, there is no room for hate. Let us not divide our communities. Let us all come together, share knowledge and resources, and act globally to beat the Coronavirus.

Sincerely,
James Hurt

To the Board of Supervisors:

I am writing in regards to the Board of Supervisors Resolution Condemning Use of the Term "Chinese Virus." The current POTUS, his administration, and certain Republican Senators and Representatives have used terms such as "Chinese Virus" and "Kung Flu," when referring to the COVID-19 virus. The use of racist and xenophobic terminology to tie disease to particular racial or ethnic groups represents not only despicable and hateful tactics for cheap political gain, but this poses a clear and present danger to members of the Chinese American community and anyone who is mistakenly identified as such.

I can attest personally that words matter, particularly the words of our public officials. Last weekend, I was confronted at bus stop at the corner of Cabrillo and La Playa Streets by an inebriated individual who called me out as Chinese in connection with the coronavirus. The cynical use of ethnic identifiers by the White House have incited bigotry and enabled hate speech and harassment on the streets of San Francisco and other US cities.

Words matter, and they have also fueled violence. (#WashTheHate). Chinese for Affirmative Action has partnered with the Asian Pacific and Planning Policy Council in collecting data on coronavirus-related aggressions, bullying, and actual violence against Asian Americans. More than 450 reported incidents have been reported to date.

The times call for an urgent and collective response to an international health crisis for which there is no room for hate (#StopAAPIHate). We should all come together, share knowledge and resources, and act globally to beat COVID-19 (#ComeTogether).

For all of the above reasons, I urge your speedy approval of the above-referenced resolution.

Sincerely,
Doug Chan
