Dear Supervisor Campos, Supervisor Farrell, Supervisor Tang and Supervisor Yee,

Please Re-Appoint Commissioner Kathleen Dooley.

Commissioner Dooley has been an excellent supporter of all small businesses in San Francisco. I believe San Francisco is fortunate to have such a dedicated, intelligent, hard working and welcoming Commissioner.

Most importantly, Commissioner Dooley has been a mentor and guiding light to many of our hard working small businesses in San Francisco. Her passion for San Francisco, our diversity and creativity are qualities I hope the San Francisco Rules Committee will respect and cherish by her Re-Appointment to the San Francisco Small Business Commission.

I truly appreciate your consideration.

Sincerely,

Pamela Habel

Subject: Letter of Support Kathleen Dooley - SBC

Dear Rules Committee,

I am writing you as the co-owner of a small business, and on behalf of the staff at B&B Pet Supplies located on Geary Ave. As you may know, small business in San Francisco has been under siege in the last few years from the threat, and in many cases, the success of formula retail stores that are constantly trying to invade and poach the business's in our neighborhood corridors. Our store has been involved in many fights opposing the infiltration of these big box chain stores on our streets. In these cases, and there have been several over the years, I along with a coalition of other small business have turned for help to the Small Business Commission of San Francisco, and primarily to Small Business Commissioner Kathleen Dooley. It was Commissioner Dooley that has guided, advised and stood up and fought for our small business's. We could not have won several of our clashes with formula chain retail if not for her belief in our plight, in her belief in small business existing in San Francisco, and her steadfast belief in preserving the character of our streets from becoming strip malls for big box formula retail outlets. Commissioner Dooley is the strongest advocate for any small business in San Francisco, and I believe the strongest advocate for this issue on the Commission itself. Her work and advocacy on the commission is vital to the survival of small business and to the neighborhoods throughout our city. This has been demonstrated by the several stores (and jobs) that have been saved {from invading formula retail giants} through push back from Commissioner Dooley's efforts. The Small Business Commission was created to hear the concerns of small business and have representation at City Hall. That determined representation comes on our behalf through the voice and actions of Commissioner Kathleen Dooley.

I strongly advise and urge Commissioner Dooley's reappointment to the Small Business Commission. Her work there is not only of vital importance to small business's in our great city, but to the people of San Francisco who may not know her name, but benefit from her tireless efforts to keep their neighborhoods quaint and full of character and free of imposing big box formula retail stores.

Sincerely,

John Todgya

Subject: Small Business Commission appointment: Kathleen Dooley

Dear members of the Rules Committee,

It is my pleasure to recommend Kathleen Dooley for re-appointment to the Small Business Commission.

I became acquainted with Kathleen through my participation in collaborative community efforts to compel a variety of improvements in North Beach area. I have found Kathleen to be a champion of the ultimate success and preservation of our small businesses, while advocating for both improved business vitality and a healthy, mutually beneficial relationship between businesses and the community at large. This is no easy feat, as North Beach is a very dense community, with many varied interests. Kathleen lives and owns a business in North Beach, and understands not only the importance of dialogue between area stakeholders, but also the positive impact of a healthy business climate on the entire community.

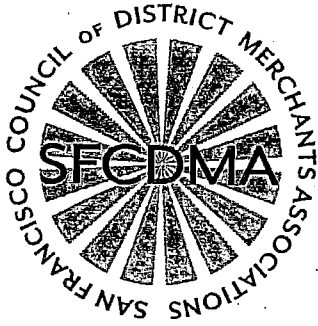

I urge you to consider the following with respect to Kathleen's qualifications for serving on the Small Business Commission:

- First and foremost, Kathleen has been a small business owner in our community for more than 2 decades. She understands not only the importance of small businesses to the local and City-wide communities, but also the many needs and challenges faced by small businesses.
- Kathleen is a leader in our North Beach business community. She was co-founder of the North Beach Business Association (local merchants association), and currently serves as President of this organization. This organization is fully representative of the diverse businesses and commercial corridors in the District.
- Kathleen represents North Beach at the San Francisco Council of District Merchants.
- Kathleen supports and consults with our many small businesses, assisting them with such important functions as interacting with City Hall (zoning, permitting etc); and advises them on opportunities and resources available to them.
- Kathleen is active in the development and promotion of much-needed changes to City, State and Federal building codes to negate "drive by" lawsuits, by enabling SF small businesses to comply with ADA requirements.

I hope the Rules Committee will agree that Kathleen should be re-appointed to the Small Business Commission.

Best regards,

Stephanie Greenburg

Dear President Chiu,

The Council of District Merchants voted at our December Board meeting to endorse Kathleen Dooley for reappointment to The Small Business Commission.

As a commissioner and also the President of the North Beach Business Association, Kathleen understands the challenges faced by our small businesses in our neighborhood corridors. She makes herself available to merchants throughout the City who need to understand permitting, zoning, licensing and any other aspects involving City government to make their interactions less difficult and stressful. We are particularly happy that Kathleen has taken it upon herself to co-ordinate, through Supervisor Tang's office, ongoing meetings between City, State and Federal stakeholders to work on resolving discrepancies between them that are allowing local businesses to be targeted by ADA lawsuits.

The Council urges you to reappoint Kathleen to the Small Business Commission so she may continue her work supporting small business in San Francisco.

Sincerely,

Henry Karnilowicz

Dear Ms. Wong,

The purpose of writing this letter is to support the reappointment of Kathleen Dooley to the San Francisco Small Business Commission.

Women Impacting Public Policy (WIPP)/Small Business Saturday has had the privilege of working with Kathleen for the past three years. We met her initially when WIPP was asked by American Express to build a coalition of small business associations throughout San Francisco, including the North Beach Merchants Association, for Small Business Saturday. We were appreciative of Kathleen's voice on the Small Business Commission, when it came to being supportive of the efforts to place emphasis on shopping at small businesses during the Small Business Saturday campaigns. Kathleen was also instrumental in carrying the Small Business Saturday shop small message to her colleagues in other merchant associations in the City.

RE: Kathleen Dooley – Small Business Commission

To Whom It May Concern:

I write in support of Kathleen Dooley's reappointment to the San Francisco Small Business Commission.

I had the pleasure of working with Ms. Dooley when I was President of the San Francisco Planning Commission. We met regarding several difficult and involved matters of joint concern to our city. Her calm and considered approach was of immense assistance in reaching consensus as to the positive actions we would institute for the benefit of small business development. This was particularly true in streamlining the permitting process for non-controversial projects, thus saving both time and expense when opening new small businesses.

Her hands-on experience and background as President of the North Beach Business Association – currently and also in 2008-2010 – is evidence of the respect she has within the small business community.

On a personal note: I experienced a totally unnecessary ADA legal action on a restaurant property owned by my family; so fully understand that her efforts in this area with city, state, and federal representatives, as well as with San Francisco's Office of Small Business, is both needed and appreciated. Her meaningful advocacy, together with Supervisor Katy Tang, is invaluable to the viability of our Neighborhood Commercial Districts.

Sincerely,

Ron Miguel

Subject: Small Business Commission Appointment - Kathleen Dooley

Dear Esteemed Supervisors,

I am writing to request your support for the re-appointment of Kathleen Dooley to the Small Business Commission.

Ms. Dooley has been a stalwart supporter for small businesses in San Francisco, both as a Commissioner and as a small business advocate in our communities. She also brings real life experience and knowledge to the SBC as a small business owner herself, and over the years the decrease in actual small business owners on the SBC has received some criticism.

Please help keep the SBC not only dedicated to supporting small business, but also made up of small business owners who are the backbone of the City's economy.

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Marsha,

Thank you very much for your application for membership in the NBBA. Unfortunately, the NBBA by-laws prohibit membership to expeditors or lobbyists as the organization feels it is inappropriate for such people to have access to discussions of sensitive issues regarding business in North Beach. Please find enclosed your membership check.

Of course, you are always welcome to attend a meeting to give a presentation regarding businesses you are representing.

Best,

Hi Rodney,

I wanted to write and express how strongly I feel this request should be denied. As a member of the North Beach Business Association Board of Directors, I have personally tried to work with the present owners on numerous occasions and have found them to be deceitful and unwilling to play by the rules. What they have been engaging in is trying to violate the NBNCD by sequential permitting requests. When they purchased the business, it was 100% bookstore and a longtime fixture in our community. They then reached out to us for support for an accessory use as a retail coffee store which was limited to only a few table and chairs. From the beginning of using this permit, they have violated virtually every condition incumbent on this accessory use: adding more than triple the chairs and tables permitted, advertising and serving full meals, and illegally allowing customers to bring in alcohol. The last thing these folks should be allowed is to be rewarded for the bad behavior. Please don't let Supervisor Weiner's changes in restaurant definitions to allow them to set a very negative precedent of getting around the NBNCD. We are working with Supervisor Chiu's office to slightly amend the NBNCD so as to prevent this sort of activity in the future in our neighborhood.

Yours,

Kathleen Dooley

After investing $160,000 in a small cafe in San Francisco's North Beach, Santo Esposito says he isn't making a dime.

Not because his espressos aren't selling, and not because his customers don't like his pastries. Cavalli Cafe is languishing, Esposito said, due to the city's maze of convoluted restaurant laws.

San Francisco Supervisor Scott Wiener feels Esposito's pain. Wiener has introduced legislation that he said would simplify the city's permitting process for restaurants, cafes, bakeries and bars. If his proposal passes - it could go to the board for a final vote as early as Tuesday - Wiener said it would make it easier for small food ventures to do business in the city.

"It's been exceedingly difficult and unnecessarily complex for small businesses," he said. "Basically, 30 years of well-intentioned planning got turned into a Frankenstein monster."

For example, Esposito can sell bagels, but he can't toast them. His permit doesn't allow for him to keep a toaster on the premises - or a panini press. As a result he's so limited in what he can sell that he's trying to live off the sales of coffee and Danish, he said.

"We can't do nothing," said the Italian cafe owner, who recently became an American citizen and hoped to find success here. "I make pasta that my customers love. The city says I can't do it. I make sandwiches, the city says no. I put a couple of tables outside and I'm fined $500."

The city has 13 categories of food establishments. Wiener said they're so complicated- he points to the one that would allow a proprietor to serve ice cream in a cup, but not in a cone - that they've become ridiculous. The rules limit everything, from the types of foods a restaurateur can serve to the number of chairs in a cafe.

Under the proposal, unanimously recommended by both the Planning Commission and the Small Business Commission, there would only be three restaurant categories: full-service, limited restaurants and bars. The primary distinction between full-service and limited restaurants would be a liquor license, Wiener said. For a bar designation, liquor sales would have to account for the majority of revenue.

"We're a foodie city," Wiener said. "Right now the categories are way too rigid. We have to stop micromanaging."

The legislation, which as of now has little to no opposition, would likely go into effect by the end of May. For Esposito it would mean that he could toast bagels, make pasta, serve sandwiches and have as many chairs inside his restaurant as he wants. He wouldn't even have to reapply, Wiener said.

"It opens an opportunity for restaurants to be innovative," said Rob Black, executive director of the Golden Gate Restaurant Association, a San Francisco trade group in favor of the legislation. "It will help further the city's reputation of being leaders in culinary innovation."

The new laws would not, however, change formula retail controls or undo neighborhood caps on how many restaurants and bars it will allow. And neighborhood commercial districts will still typically require a conditional use permit for new full-service restaurants.

"It's definitely a step in the right direction," Black said.

The End of the "Made-in-China" Era

The 21st century industrial revolution has already begun. All because of an incredible invention that's made in America.

Business Insider calls it "the next trillion dollar industry." The Economist compares its impact to the steam engine and the printing press. And technology experts -- like the guys who brought you the BMW 3-series, the F-35 fighter jet, and Amazon.com -- think it could be "bigger than the internet."

A new investment video reveals the impossible (but real) technology that could make you impossibly rich. Watch it now, before the skeptics on Wall Street wise up and start looking for their piece of the action. Just enter your email:

RE: 1337 Grant Avenue

Dear Mr. Kernan,

On behalf of the Telegraph Hill Dwellers (THD), a non-profit community group founded in 1954 to represent the residents of Telegraph Hill and North Beach, thank you for attending the THD Planning and Zoning Committee meeting on September 8, 2011 to discuss your proposed new business at 1337 Grant Avenue.

I am writing on behalf of THD to join with the North Beach Merchants Association and our neighborhood police to echo their serious concerns regarding the proposed operation of your new business at 1337 Grant, which appears to be a recipe for failure. As you know, 1337 Grant in the historic neighborhood of North Beach is subject to a San Francisco Planning Commission conditional use authorization for a full service restaurant with a Type 47 ABC license. This requires that the premises be operated and maintained at all times as a bona fide eating place, and not as a bar or nightclub. The purpose of these conditions is to maintain the balance between vibrant and exciting social activity and a place where small businesses operate and people and families live. The provisions of the San Francisco Planning Code governing a "bona fide eating place," which mirror the requirements for a Type 47 ABC license, state:

"A minimum of 51 percent of the restaurant's gross receipts shall be from food sales prepared and sold to guests on the premises. Records of the restaurant's gross receipts shall be provided to the Department upon request." (SF Planning Code Section 790.142(e).)
