Section 1. Environmental and Land Use Findings.

(a) The Planning Department has determined that the actions contemplated in this ordinance comply with the California Environmental Quality Act (California Public Resources Code Sections 21000 et seq.). Said determination is on file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors in File No. ____ and is incorporated herein by reference. The Board affirms this determination.

1 (b) On November 13, 2025, the Planning Commission, in Resolution No. 21869,
2 adopted findings that the actions contemplated in this ordinance are consistent, on balance, 3 with the City's General Plan and eight priority policies of Planning Code Section 101.1. The 4 Board adopts these findings as its own. A copy of said Resolution is on file with the Clerk of 5 the Board of Supervisors in File No. 250719, and is incorporated herein by reference.

6 (c) Pursuant to Planning Code Section 302, this Board finds that this ordinance will 7 serve the public necessity, convenience, and welfare for the reasons set forth in Planning
8 Commission Resolution No. 21869, and incorporates such reasons by this reference thereto.
9 A copy of said resolution is on file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors in File 10 No. 250719.

11
12 Section 2. Background and General Findings.

13 (a) Under the Planning Code, a Dwelling Unit can only be occupied by a Family, as 14 defined in the Planning Code. Groups that do not constitute a Family can occupy Group
15 Housing. Generally, Group Housing is a type of residential use with limited cooking facilities 16 and larger common areas. Group Housing includes boardinghouses, communes, and 17 fraternity or sorority houses.

18 (b) Currently, the Planning Code defines Family to exclude groups of more than five 19 unrelated people, unless the group prepares and consumes meals together, controls its 20 membership, and determines its own use of the residential space. Related family members 21 with more than five people do not need to satisfy these criteria. Before 1978, the Planning
22 Code did not distinguish between related and unrelated people for the purposes of defining a 23 Family. For example, the 1957 Planning Code defined a Family as "one or more persons 24 occupying the premises as a single and separate housekeeping unit."

1 (c) Many older homes and apartments in San Francisco are occupied by several 2 unrelated individuals who do not prepare meals together. Living with housemates is often 3 more affordable than living in smaller units and provides important community ties, particularly 4 for young adults. Like related families, housemate households can live together for many 5 years, particularly in high-cost cities like San Francisco.

6 (d) The current “Family” definition subjects housemates to a stringent numeric
7 requirement unless they can satisfy certain parameters around kitchen use. If more than five 8 housemates desire to live together without preparing meals together, their unit must meet 9 Group Housing standards. Often these older houses and apartments cannot satisfy the 10 requirements for Group Housing, which include 0.5 gross square feet of common space for 11 each gross square foot of private space.

12 (e) Group Housing developments, while designed for permanent residents, are tailored 13 to residents who are in a transitional stage in their lives, either as a function of their 14 employment situation or their student status. Group Housing is characterized by smaller 15 individual unit sizes and scaled-back private amenities. These typologies differ from the 16 single-family homes or large apartments occupied by housemates.

17 (f) This ordinance would redefine a “Family” as a “Household” that shares living 18 expenses and maintains no more than nine leases for all the members of the Household. This 19 definition embraces both unrelated and related households. The nine lease threshold allows 20 housemates to occupy older houses and apartments without triggering a change in use to 21 Group Housing, while still preserving an objective distinction between Group Housing and 22 Dwelling Units for ground-up new Group Housing construction, where typically an individual
23 lessee occupies a single Group Housing bedroom. Maintaining a distinction between Group
24 Housing and Dwelling Units is important to ensure that new developments satisfy applicable 25 development requirements, including inclusionary housing. The nine lease threshold also

1 allows for flexibility where housemates may be under separate leases or maintain various 2 subleasing agreements for the household. This ordinance does not modify any definitions
3 applicable to the Inclusionary Housing Ordinance, Section 415 et seq., including but not 4 limited to "Household" as defined in Planning Code Section 401.

5 (g) This ordinance would also make certain groups of six or fewer individuals, as 6 defined in the Health and Safety Code, a "Household" regardless of whether they otherwise 7 satisfy the definition.

8 (h) This ordinance implements Policy 7.2.6 of the City's Housing Element, which 9 included a short-term goal that the City modify the definition of "Family" to "ensure that it
10 provides zoning code occupancy standards specific to unrelated adults and complies with fair 11 housing law."
