My name is Vicente Padilla and I would like to be considered for the advisory work group committee.

I currently teach social studies and career education at Woodside Learning Center, at the Juvenile Justice Center scheduled to close in 2021. I have been teaching youth within the San Francisco Court School system for 25 years. I spent 12 years at the Real Alternatives Program and 13 years at Woodside Learning Center. My life has been dedicated to helping at risk youth learn the importance of education and realize there are better paths and opportunities in life than the streets. I fell into this work because I too grew up in the Mission District and struggled in my youth, the same as the kids I serve. I experienced first-hand the power of community programs, which helped me turn my life around and I saw we could all make a difference in young people's lives and decided to follow that path in education.

I am applying to be on this advisory work group committee because I really care about what type of program services will be offered to our youth. I most likely will teach at one of these locations and would love to be involved with creating a successful, effective program. I have spent the last 30 years working with at risk youth and teaching within a variety of educational designs and models. I taught at the Real Alternatives Program (RAP) from 1993 to 2006 and RAP was an alternative to incarceration for youth. RAP's youth case managers would come up to YGC to represent youth and present RAP as an alternative plan to being locked up. We provided wrap around services for the "identified" needs of the youth and it was evident how community programs, working together, could turn around many young people's lives. Many of our RAP youths went on to become community organizers, founded HOMEYS and became successful working adults. This was 25 years ago and RAP was leading the way in its design and model across the country. I learned many things from being at RAP. However, in 2006 with protest and objections from myself, many of the staff, youth and families, our school was shut down. The idea was to send these students to one location (Civic Center) and we knew our students would not go. As a result, many youths ended up in the streets. I was then transferred to Woodside Learning Center where I saw many of these same youths come there, which was very sad and frustrating. The experience with RAP helped me realize how important it is to have a collaboration of programs servicing the needs of the youth with their input. This was the best way to create an effective program.

My experience at Woodside and Juvenile Justice Center has been a very positive one. The school staff and counselors have worked well over the years and have done an amazing job in helping our youth, with many success stories to speak of. In spite of this success, it is my belief that incarceration is not the best action. The most effective structure for at risk youth, is to remain in a community strongly supported by effectively run community programs. I have seen this work better.

Therefore, I am very supportive of the move to bring the schools back to the communities. I support this move and feel our youth will have a better chance for effective change. I would love to have the opportunity to be directly involved with this process. I have vast years of experience working with this student population, collaborating with community programs and I've seen many types of programs work and fail. For example, I've learned a school program designed for at-risk youth, must have most services on site. Years of experience has shown me that expecting our youth to travel from one place to another, for services, may not work best. Also, it is important to consider that many youths will not go into certain neighborhoods because of turf issues. In my years I've learned, that youth should "check in first" to a mental health service or activity in order to get ready for an academic class, as opposed to walking into 4 straight academic courses, upset from a traumatic event the night before. I know that state education codes for court schools offer creative ways in achieving credits for graduating high school, something I feel many folks aren't aware of. We also have to create services for the student's families too! Some student's parents need help and without it, some youth will not be able to move forward. Last, the youth themselves should be a part of the whole planning process because they know best what types of art, job, mental health programs will engage them the most and we need that input. For all these reasons and more, I feel I would be a great fit and an asset to this committee. I hope you will consider adding me to your team. Thank you for your consideration.

Pursuant to Charter section 4.101 (a)1, please state how your qualifications represent the communities of interest, neighborhoods, and the diversity in ethnicity, race, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, types of disabilities, and any other relevant demographic qualities of the City and County of San Francisco:

I have been developing relationships with and serving our vulnerable youth since 1992. While I do not personally represent a diverse demographic, my undersatnding and love of neighborhoods within the city does provide me with a unique perspective. We intentionally located our agency outside of the traditionally under resourced neighborhoods so that we would be able to be neutral and develop relationships with youth from all neighborhoods. Most of our youth come from neighborhoods in the Fillmore, Bayview Hunter's Point and the Sunnysdale area, and I know and have been accepted by many families therein. I spend a considerable amount of time in the homes of youth who live in different (often battling) areas of SF. I have spent a considerable Eamduocunatiofnti:me in Juvenile Court and Juvenile Hall, and I understand the connected nature of this conversation to equity, SFUSD, SFPD, and other systems and areas that affect the lives of these youth. One of my most important qualifications is my training in Philosophy. This has taught me to ask the right questions and see different perspectives. It is a central part of true coalition building.

Business and/or professional experience:

I co-founded Sunset Youth Services in 1992, and have been working closely with both the Juvenile Justice System and the adult. During the past 26 years, I have become intimately familiar with all of the systems that affect the lives of our most vulnerable youth and their families. I have also developed a respectful relationship with most of the Probation Officers within JPD, as well as defense attorneys, Judges, District Attorneys and other people involved in this system. I currently also work closely with Young Adult Court, and am interested in incorporating some of the ideas we utilize in there to the juvenile system. I have been a member of the JJPA since 2004, and was chair for several years. I piloted a program at Log Cabin Ranch that combined music production and workforce development with the youth there (most with whom I still have a relationship). I also negotiated this same program (as well as other programs) to work inside Juvenile Hall.

Civic Activities:

I sat on the JDAI committee to redesign the JDAI program at JPD. I sat on the committee (with police commissioners) to redesign SFPD DGO 7.0.1 (police procedures surrounding interrogating juveniles). I currently am on the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council. I also sat on the SFPD Chief's juvenile advisory council and forum under two different chiefs. I sat on the state-mandated committee for the evaluation of Juvenile Hall. I was placed on the committee to redesign Log Cabin Ranch before that process was dissolved. I have a long history of working collaboratively with most CBOs in San Francisco that also work with young people in the system, and am intimately familiar with most other agencies who work in this area. I co-wrote a paper entitled "Smart Compassion: Why We Must Invest in Attachment Communities". Based on best personal experience, as well as research, I do believe that this concept of healing attachments and connectivity has more to offer youth than any punitive system we could develop.

I am a native San Franciscan, raised in the Haight/Ashbury, where we lived for over 50 years. I grew up in a home where domestic violence was a normal state of being, my Mother was an alcoholic and my Father was a workaholic. We had a big family, there were five of us. My oldest sister died from a heroin overdose when she was 21, she had a son, who is developmentally delayed, that I take care of. When my parents passed away, I was no longer able to sustain the home and gentrification moved us out of the neighborhood. I attended Gratten Elementary, Herbert Hoover Middle, and St. Marys Cathedral High School. As an African American female growing up here, I've learned some of my most valuable lessons on these streets. I've been addicted to drugs (crack), homeless, sexually abused and exploited, a domestic violence survivor, and crossed paths with the criminal justice system. After several years in Delancey Street, I regained my sense of self and was able to turn my life around. I went back to school, earned a graduate degree, MSW, so I could continue my life's work of championing, advocating and supporting the youth and families of this great city. For the past 20 years I have been inspired by the youth, families, and colleagues who continue to fight for equity, diversity and inclusion. My experiences, both professionally and personally, have equipped me to be the ideal candidate for this work group.

RE: Letter of support for Ms. Denise Coleman

Dear Rules Committee Members:

It is with immense pride, and the highest respect that I take this opportunity to write a letter of reference, and provide my enthusiastic support for Ms. Denise Coleman. I have known Denise for over 18 years, as a Huckleberry Youth Board member, Colleague, Friend, Community Advocate, and Educator. Denise is the Director of Juvenile Justice Programs for Huckleberry Youth Programs, San Francisco, CA. As Director she manages/coordinates relationships and provide oversight with system collaborative, for SFPD, SF Sheriffs, Dept., SF Juvenile Probation Department, District Attorney, and Public Defenders. Denise has also served in other positions and capacities at Huckleberry Youth: She worked as a Program Director from 2003-2008. In that capacity she was responsibility for the overall day-to-day operations of the program, she supervised Lead Case Manger interns and ensured they received appropriate training. From July 1999-January 2003, she worked as the Program Supervisor, she conducted assessments and data analysis on adolescents ages 11-17, that were arrested by SFPD. She also identified needs made referrals, and coordinated services to appropriate community based organizations. I am confident that if Denise is selected to serve as a member on the community she will continue to make major contributions toward the city of San Francisco steadily decline of youth crimes. Denise is a leader and major player in the juvenile justice reform program, as shown by the community service work that she is involved in. She is an advocate for non-punishment and incarceration to support and care for young people-this is reflected in her day to day work at Huckleberry and aw as the contributions that she make in in religion organizations. Denise believes that we should invest in young people not incarcerate them-she has participated-in several mentorship workshops and worked with churches in the bay area-that advised on trouble youth, and changing the way we help and educate them. The expertise's that Denise have will allow her to be able to address the rehabilitation of trouble youths, as well as safety measures that is needed for them, and the community. Denise will be able to advise on educational programs that can be implemented to help youths that are detained in the Juvenile System-this is a process that she is very familiar with. As a trained social worker, she will also be able to write programs that will link youth to services that have experienced abuse, neglect, trauma, mental health problems and family crisis. I am confident that Denise will be a major facilitator, which will help the working group to create plans for the close of Juvenile Hall. She will be helpful in making contributions to strengthen and expand community-based alternatives to detention, provide a rehabilitation plan for non-institutional place of detention per approved by the Court. Denise has worked with Youth and their Families in many capacities as it relates to the juvenile system. Denise has applied to be a member of the 13 member working group, Seats 1 and 2, which will be held by representative of community-based non-profit that serve juvenile justice-involved youth and are members of the Juvenile Justice Providers Association. Denise surely qualifies for Seat 1 and 2 because of her affiliation with Huckleberry Youth Programs and other community programs that she is involved with. Denise is a team player, and a hard working citizen and employee in San Francisco; Denise is a native of San Francisco and has been serving the community all of her adult life. I highly recommend Ms. Coleman to be a member of the working group, Seat 1 and 2. If you need additional information please feel free to contact me if the information below.

To Whom it May Concern,

Please accept my letter of Support for Ms. Denise L. Coleman. I very much recommend Ms. Coleman to be a part of the working group that will be rethinking the existence of Juvenile Hall and the current Juvenile Justice System.

Ms. Coleman demonstrates exemplary work in the field of the Juvenile justice for over 20 years. Denise has been a leader among leaders in juvenile justice reform efforts. Denise is a native San Franciscan and has exhibited an unparalleled investment in the health and well-being of our youth and our Juvenile Justice programs.

Ms. Coleman oversees San Francisco's most successful diversion program for arrested youth, CARC, and has a deep investment in being involved in the next envisioning of Juvenile Hall. Denise has worked tirelessly to ensure youth are treated fairly and respectfully when arrested and represents a humanization model of the juvenile justice system.

The Huckleberry Community Assessment and Resource Center (CARC) is a single point of entry for crisis intervention, assessment, service integration and referral of arrested youth. Staff from juvenile probation, public health, the sheriff's department, the police department, and community-based organizations work together in the same space to assess and case manage youth who are arrested for a variety of offenses, both felony and misdemeanor.

Please accept my utmost recommendation of Ms. Denise L. Coleman for participation in the San Francisco working groups for the re-envisionment of San Francisco's Juvenile Hall.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Respectfully,

Gail L. Jackson-McCray, Esq.

October 21, 2019

Dear Supervisors:

I am writing a letter of support for Denise Coleman who has applied to be appointed to Seat 1 or 2 of the Close Juvenile Hall Working Group.

I am the Executive Director and CEO of the Life Learning Academy High School on Treasure Island. Many of our students have been incarcerated in Juvenile Hall and/or have been on probation so I have an intense interest in the work of the committee that will address the closure of the Hall. I cannot think of a person I would recommend more highly than Denise Coleman because of her vast juvenile justice experience and personal commitment to the youth of San Francisco.

I have known Denise Coleman for more than 20 years. We worked together on implementing the programs that were developed out of the Local Action Plan that remains a blueprint for juvenile justice reform in San Francisco. The initial study required extensive analysis of information about youth in the justice system and what programs (that did not currently exist) would best serve them. It also required working with a vast array of city agencies, community-based organizations and families and young people affected by the justice system.

As you know, the Community Assessment and Referral Center, designed to fill the most critical gaps in San Francisco's juvenile justice system and provide intensive services to high-risk youths, was one of the recommended programs that Ms. Coleman has supervised for years. To work successfully on this project required the highest order of academic and interpersonal skills. Ms. Coleman was able to share her immense talents in developing the type of program where adolescents from backgrounds of homelessness, delinquency, abuse, and substance abuse could become engaged and have the opportunity to transform their lives.

She is a keen observer of the juvenile justice, health and educational systems and the existing policies that assist or hinder the capability of these systems to be effective. For example, she worked tirelessly to make sure that all eligible youths were continuously brought into CARC by police officers. She worked with the San Francisco Unified School District and principals to reduce the number times the police are called to school campuses. She worked with public health to make sure services were available and appropriate for her clients.

I continue to see Ms. Coleman in various meetings related to juvenile justice issues in San Francisco. Her leadership qualities and great communication skills are always recognized. She is usually selected by groups she participates in to be the spokesperson. For example, she was chosen to be the co-chair of the Juvenile Justice Provider's Association. We asked her to serve on the Life Learning Academy Board of Directors.

Ms. Coleman grew up in San Francisco. In her professional career she has not only seen the many changes in juvenile justice over the last several decades but also participated in those changes.

I recommend Ms. Coleman for the above stated reasons but also because I know she has given serious thought to the issues this committee will need to address. Most importantly to me is that Ms. Coleman understands the strengths of the youth that get caught up in the justice system and seeks to build on those strengths while also understanding the need for accountability and community safety. I recommend her highly and without reservation.

Sincerely,

After losing my father at an early age, my single-mom worked extremely hard to make ends meet after migrating with my brother and I from India to fulfill my father's dream for us to live the American life. Having a unique name, being bilingual in Gujarati, and having a prominent British accent when first migrating, my experiences attending San Francisco's public schools made me vulnerable to ridicule and confusion, but particularly memorable were the adults that ridiculed me as I thought they should have known better than to mock a young person. As a victim of violence, profiling, sexism, and racism while living in San Francisco, I can still recognize this city as one of the best places for a diverse family to flourish in California. I reside in the Richmond District and work in the Mission, and have worked at my current community-based non-profit agency, the Center on Juvenile and Criminal Justice (CJCJ), for over 15 years. CJCJ serves justice-involved youth, adults, and families and as the Deputy Director I supervise and support direct service programs throughout our San Francisco community.

Business and/or professional experience:

As CJCJ's Deputy Director and Director of our Children's Waiting Rooms and Juvenile Collaborative Reentry Unit programs, I oversee all aspects of the agency's programs, including operational, fiscal, and contractual processes. I am proficient in analyzing budgets and associated funding streams, and identifying solutions for varying financial challenges given my experiences in non-profit management. I am the co-chair of the San Francisco Juvenile Justice Providers Association (JJPA) and an active member of Mayor London Breed's Juvenile Justice Reform Blue Ribbon Panel. I am also a member of the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council (JJCC) and a member of the San Francisco Children of Incarcerated Parents Partnership (SFCIPP). In 2011, I co-authored Renewing Juvenile Justice, which formed the foundation for the statewide Positive Youth Justice Initiative, offering model designs for juvenile justice reform. Prior to the initiative, with the support of the Sierra Health Foundation, I organized and facilitated visits to model programs and juvenile halls to identify healthy components of various existing systems. I was CJCJ's lead technical assistance contact and provided support to counties regarding strategies to build a local sustainable delivery of wraparound services for justice-involved youth through partnerships and by maximizing available funding streams. I co-presented a poster session in Washington, DC at the national Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) conference.

Civic Activities:

Being a naturalized citizen and having earned the right to vote, I take my civic duty seriously and have never missed the opportunity to vote in a San Francisco election. After graduating with my Master's degree in Public Administration and Bachelor's degrees in Criminal Justice and Child and Adolescent Development from San Francisco State University and having worked in the field and building my reputation as a hard-working community-member, I was invited to be a member of the San Francisco State University MPA Advisory Board. I am regularly advocating for the well-being and safety of children and families involved in the justice system and for our local community and provide public comment at Juvenile Probation Commission meetings and while attending varying Board of Supervisors hearings. Currently I volunteer at my niece and nephew's elementary school and am a volunteer with the San Francisco Friends of the Public Library. I have previously spent over a decade volunteering in my community in and out of the field to include my time with the AIDS Emergency Fund, Edgewood - Center for Children and Families, Prisoner Legal Services in the San Francisco County Jail, the San Francisco Police Department, the Animal Resource Center in the education department in the San Francisco Zoological Gardens, and the Police Activities League Law Enforcement Cadet Program. I have previously received training from the San Francisco Fire Department's Neighborhood Emergency Response Team and am passionate about community safety and well-being.

To Whom it May Concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Kandy Kalani Iofopo (KI) to be appointed to Vacant Seat 5 of the Close Juvenile Hall Working Group. I have known KI for three years as their mentor and co-worker, and have witnessed KI do quite remarkable work as an educator, advocate, and counselor with young women (and men) who have been involved with the juvenile justice system.

KI brings multiple assets to the task: an understanding of juvenile justice from the inside out- not only the experience of incarceration- but a contextual understanding of the correctional system, the root causes of juvenile offenses, and the psychological and cultural impact incarceration can have on young people. This has made KI a solid contributor to the city's recent discourses and debates.

KI's cultural origins also compliment a sensibility and sensitivity about issues involving social behavior and responsibility. The Samoan heritage may be a key factor in KI's own personal rehabilitation and success as a community leader and scholar. It is imbued with a powerful demand for accountability while at the same time believing deeply in forgiveness and redemption. It is also inherently collective, requiring that the village take care of all children.

If selected, KI will bring a maturity, critical awareness, logic, and affability to this working group. I have worked with KI as both a student and co-facilitator and delight in KI's deep commitment and knowledge.

I had a neighborhood "auntie" in the Fillmore District who worked at the Youth Guidance Center many years ago, long before sensible and forward-looking alternatives to incarceration were being considered. She often lamented that so many children of color seemed to be trapped in a "cycle-" she was intimating what some now call the 'school-to-prison' pipeline. I personally escaped the minefields of poverty and structural oppression, but lost many friends to those realities. To know KI is to know that thoughtful, critical programs such as the Young Women's Freedom Center (KI's organization) are indeed essential to our development of new, progressive policies and projects that respond not only to the need to reform juvenile justice, but the root causes of the distress that traumatizes young people, distress that is particularly devastating to young working class women of color.

KI can be a major asset to this group. I'm happy to see another native San Franciscan step up to represent the best spirit of this City.

Peace

Michael D James

It has been a pleasure for me to live in San Francisco (15 years) and work all over the Bay Area (20 years). My neighborhood, Excelsior has the streets with South-West direction named after countries from all over the world and the crossing ones after capitals of these countries mirroring the diversity of the population of our city and area. My children are fluent on three languages, studied in SF public schools, and were active participants in many sport and cultural activities. My daughter and I are regular audience of the SF symphony and opera, members of museums and Academy of science, etc... because my son was incarcerated at JJC for 15 months and is currently detained at DJJ. In witnessing him endure and navigate the challenges of his detention, I believe I have gained a unique insight into the criminal justice system as it pertains to youth. I hope to have the opportunity to participate in this conversation so that together we can reconsider the possibilities will empower and uplift our youth.

Business and/or professional experience:

As an immigrant, I understand the variety of people's origin and the differences in their cultures, despite the common we all have - we are all Americans. It starts with a mutual respect and appreciation to what each one of us brings to enrich our every day environment, it depends on us to make better. Aside of experience working in a multi-lingual, dynamic and diverse in every aspect field, my construction knowledge includes residential and commercial ADA code requirements.

Civic Activities:

My participation has been limited to local needs - schools and neighborhood, but since the children freed my time I can be of a help to the society.

 San Francisco, CA United States 08/1997 - 11/2009

Former Director of Community Services, SF Juvenile Probation Department
 As Director of Community Services my duties included the development of up to 70 non-profit contract program services with over a budget of 5 million dollar annually that served 3000 youth involved in the Juvenile Justice System each year, specifically alternative to detention programs. Some of these services included Home Detention, Intensive Home Based Supervision, Status Offenders and other intervention and prevention programs for pre/post adjudicated youth. My staff and I worked with the City Attorney to finalize contract development and approval. Included in the process was the development of a scope of service, budget approval, negotiating terms of the agreement, reviewing agreements for mandatory legal documents, and compliance with the rule and regulations of the City & County of SF. Additionally, some of the agreements required preparation of resolutions for the San Francisco Board of Supervisor, and the Juvenile Probation Commission for approval. I would then make oral presentations to explain the Department's position or clarify any recommendations or issues in specific public meetings. Annual program audit reports to assess fiscal solvency and inquire about compliance with the Sunshine Ordinance under previous agreements if any. We monitored and conducted site visits to ensure compliance with any said agreement. Utilization reports and meeting were held weekly. Under my stint as Director, a utilization rate of 90 per cent was achieved yearly.

I investigated all complaints coming into my Division; Reviewing all factual information presented from juvenile probationers, parents, probation officers and contractors was a very integral part of my duties and responsibilities. The first step in this process was to ensure there was or was not a criminal violation; secondarily identify who is involved in the matter, coupled with interviews to formulate a sequence of events in a report form to forward to the Chief Probation Officer for review and action based on my recommendations.

As Division Director I conducted and coordinated numerous training for contract service providers and probation staff on how to conduct site visits for youth on probation as well as case management content for JPD staff and the courts. These trainings were very intensive and

In my career as a justice architect I have served the interests of clients across the country in responding to the needs of a diverse population. I approach my work with an understanding that first and foremost we must approach facility planning with an emphasis on the dignity of each individual. Recently when asked to contribute to a discussion about the design implications of PREA, my response is that we need to go beyond the standards and plan and design with the dignity of the individual first in mind, and then correct decisions will follow.

Recently I was elevated to Fellowship in the AIA based on my contributions to elevating the living standard and enhancing the dignity of those who come in contact with the justice system through planning and design. As noted at my investiture: "He has crusaded for the dignity of those in the justice system through advocacy, expert planning, and design, all of which benefit both individuals and society at large." . . .and I continue in all that I do every day.

Business and/or professional experience:

I have a 30 Year plus career in the design of justice facilities, with a focus on the importance of creating environments supportive of residents and staff alike. I have worked and am currently working with clients across the country to develop trauma responsive environments. Notable projects include the New Beginnings Youth Center in Laurel MD for the District of Columbia, Campus Kilpatrick the beacon of the new "Culture of Care" for Los Angeles County, and current work with the Colorado, Nebraska and Ohio Youth Services systems to rights size both the system and facilities for improved outcomes for youth, staff and their communities.

I would offer the following as references regarding my advocacy by design for improved conditions for youth: Vincent Shiraldi, Former Director DC DYS, 212.851.2493vshiraldi@columbia.edu; David Muhammed, Juvenile Justice Advocate, 510.746.6111 dmuhammad@hotmail.com; Sheila Mitchell Los Angeles County Chief Deputy Probation Offices, Juvenile 678.480.7859 sheila.mitchell@probation.lacounty.gov

I am attaching a copy of my FAIA submission along with letters of reference for the same as illustrative of my experience, capabilities and passion for doing what is right for those who come in contact with our justice system.

Civic Activities:

I have participated in numerous panels and presentations regarding trauma responsive care and creating an appropriate environment to support better outcomes as well as pro-bono work related to my professional activities as identified in the attached FAIA submission.

Re: Sponsorship letter in support of Andrew Cupples, AIA, for elevation to Fellow

Dear Ms. Nichols:

I have known Andy Cupples since the 1980s. I met him through the AIA Committee on Architecture for Justice after starting my own firm and being intent on building a justice architecture practice. Andy helped me answer a question that worries architects who practice in this arena: are we supporting a system that is unfair or unethical by designing buildings that imprison people? Andy's wisdom helped me understand that by improving the lives of those who engage with the justice system with dignified, safe, and secure environments, we help improve outcomes for those individuals and their communities. Andy's influence helped me to become the leader I am, and I still model myself after him. It is therefore, indeed, a very special honor to be his sponsor for fellowship.

An internationally recognized expert in correctional and judicial design, Andy is among the top five in the field who has, perhaps more than any other, led the industry into a greater understanding of how the built environment affects the lives and the future prospects of the incarcerated. His influence is profound and vast in his master planning and design of courthouses, correctional facilities, and youth detention centers. He has taken a leadership role in the design and planning of more than 100 million square feet of buildings in 45 states and abroad. These projects—ranging from city, county, state, and federal projects—have touched the lives of hundreds of thousands of people who visit, work in, and live in them. His projects have won more than 50 awards, over half of which are national AIA awards, and facilities he has designed are often cited as models for the industry.

Andy has been on the front end of translating new ways of thinking into criteria upon which other architects can design. His master planning efforts have influenced the design of more than $10 billion in projects. For instance, his master planning work for the State of California court system alone led to $5 billion in projects. Over the years, he and I have passed the baton back and forth on the front- and back-ends of projects. I have worked on several projects where Andy did the preliminary studies, including the $2 billion new Los Angeles County Men's Central Jail Replacement for which I am now leading the scoping criteria and the new Orange County California Musick Jail.

Andy's thought leadership is always expressed, whether it is at industry conference presentations, in actionable master plans for owners, and in buildings for communities and individuals. His ability to stand for the interests of some of the least empowered individuals in our society is an inspiration to architects and owners alike.

As a Fellow of the AIA, I have no doubt that Andy will continue to help the AIA evolve and work toward understanding of this important practice area that is an essential part of the health and vitality of communities. Without reservation and with the greatest appreciation of his contributions, I highly recommend Andrew Cupples, AIA, for elevation to Fellow of the American Institute of Architects.

Very truly yours,

RE: Andrew Cupples, AIA

Dear Ms. Nichols:

The District of Columbia Department of Youth Rehabilitation Services (DYRS) had been under a court order for unconstitutional conditions for 19 years in 2005, when Andy Cupples became the design principal for a new youth detention facility to replace Oak Hill, a rat-infested, cellblock environment. The courts were threatening to take DYRS from the city if we didn't make progress...fast. The stakes couldn't have been higher.

Andy intrinsically understood the mission to replace a control-custody model with care-rehabilitation approach and how much resistance there would be re: this change. Yet, he was able to bring people to the table and to influence not just the physical environment, but the program to empower kids to learn how to be normal.

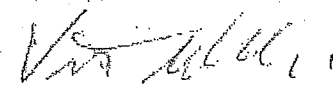

As leader of the design team, Andy was constantly pushing the envelope as much as he could to make the New Beginnings Youth Development Center embody the department's mission. His vision was reflected in both the building and the program. Walls of windows and natural light connect kids to the outdoors. At New Beginnings, kids sleep in rooms that resemble dorm rooms that they can even exit at night to use the restroom. They can open windows and move (wooden, not metal) furniture. Staff and kids wear their own clothes, not uniforms. Andy helped everyone understand that if you want your charges to be regular kids, you have to treat them like regular kids; you don't do that by treating them like criminals and robbing them of dignity.

As the director of the DYRS at the time, I found working with Andy absolutely energizing. He advocated for improvements that have allowed New Beginnings to live up to its name, in facilities and in improved operations. Before, there was a separate administration building, people in procurement and bookkeeping didn't have any contact with the kids. Andy suggested adding an administration wing to the facility, so if you are in procurement, you see the torn soles on kids playing outside. This sped up procurement. Putting staff closer to the kids paid off in many ways. We got a bill passed that allowed staff to eat with the kids in the cafeteria. This fostered mentoring. The staff started calling kids by name. They also started coming up with their own ideas, like helping kids stage plays and musical performances. The staff created internship positions, so teenagers about to be released could do office work and gain job experience.

Andy led the design part of the effort that allowed these things to happen. He was always challenging us to do more and better. People doubted you could manage kids in an environment as rehabilitative as this one, but New Beginnings proved you can. New Beginnings experienced a 19 percent drop in recidivism 2 years after opening.

Andy's passion to rehabilitate people and thought leadership in how to accomplish this make him a most deserving Fellow, and I wholeheartedly recommend his elevation to the AIA College of Fellows.

Sincerely,

Vincent Schiraldi

Being the English teacher at the SF Juvenile Justice Center for the past 13 years has been the greatest honor of my life. I am aware that for students to become successful, productive, contributing adults, society must ensure a successful transition from the inside to the outside. Without support, my students often stop attending school, turn back to the streets, and find themselves in juvenile hall for violating probation or catching a new charge. As a teacher, I know that post-traumatic stress reactions predispose my students to reoffend and are responsible for much of the recidivism we see at the Juvenile Justice Center. Their stories scream with the societal inequities responsible for our children turning to the streets in lieu of a realistic solution to their problems. My students are part of a rich cultural environment that values artistic self-expression, but all too often they are not acknowledged, respected or treasured. We ask ourselves, "What should we do to change the shameful inequities that damage our society?" Yet rarely do we ask those imprisoned in the system what they think. Because I spend every day teaching incarcerated youth, I always ask them what they think, and with time, trust, and a trauma-informed and culturally responsive curriculum, my students share many aspects of their lives with me via writing and classroom discussions. The insight I have gained from knowing and listening to my students, gives me unique knowledge regarding their needs and experiences with regard to education, group homes, street life, and probation. I am enthusiastic to contribute some of what I have learned, so it may be of value as we reimagine the possibilities for our brilliant and resilient youth.

I am a young white woman living in San Francisco's District 5. I have a stable job that allows me to live and work in our city. In many ways, I am not the right person to best represent the mental health needs of the young people involved in the justice system. However, I am deeply passionate about justice and about working to ensure all young people have quality opportunities to be safe and successful.

Business and/or professional experience:

I have been a Social Worker for 16 years; a Licensed Clinical Social Worker for the past 5 years. I have dedicated my career to young people. My first experience working with incarcerated individuals was in 1997 through a college internship at a Maximum Security Prison in NY State. Since then, I am proud to have been a therapist at the Vera Institute of Justice in NYC. There I supported incarcerated young people identified as the highest drug users in the city. I worked with these youth throughout their placement and subsequent return home to their families and communities.

For the past 10 years, I worked at Huckleberry's CARC - providing short and long term 1:1 and family therapy to young people who had been arrested. There I collaborated with staff from CBOs throughout the city, schools, JPD, SFPD, and the Sheriff's Department.

I currently work as an SFUSD School Social Worker with students in the County Satellite School sites. I provide assessment, clinical case management, and therapy to youth who have struggled in traditional educational settings and those who are suspended or pending expulsion. Many of our students have justice system experience or have behaviors that put them at risk for future justice involvement.

Civic Activities:

I currently volunteer with The SamFund - a non-profit that supports young adult cancer survivors with advocacy and financial support.

Dear Supervisor Ronen, Supervisor Walton and Supervisor Mar:

As we only have a few minutes in tomorrow's meeting, I wanted to introduce myself via email. I have applied for Close Juvenile Hall Working Group's Seat #7 - mental health expert.

I am committed to using my privilege to work to improve the lives of our San Francisco young people. For the past 11 years at Huckleberry's CARC, I have worked with young people involved in the juvenile justice system as a therapist, a mental health consultant, an ally, and an advocate. I worked with young people, their families, and collaborated with SFPD, the Sheriff's Department, Juvenile Probation, and countless CBOs that support young people.

I recently transitioned to a position as a School Social Worker at SFUSD's County Schools where I continue to provide clinical services to young people struggling in multiple systems.

Prior to San Francisco, I worked at NYC's Vera Institute of Justice with young people who were arrested and had significant substance use issues. Vera's mission is to work to fix the justice system in as many ways as possible. They are a leader in working with systems to reform from the inside out.

I have dedicated my career to helping young people find better options for themselves and their families. I would be honored to work as a team towards a solution for our city.

Thank you for taking time (last minute!) to review my resume.
Sincerely,

Sarah (Meghan) Kearney

I have been a San Francisco resident in District 8 for over ten years, and feel deeply connected to our local community and the city as a whole. I am a mother to two children, both born in San Francisco. My children both attended our neighborhood preschool, whose mission is to create an inclusive community of children and families from all backgrounds and from all across the city. My older child now attends our local public elementary school. We love playing in neighborhood parks and visiting the Eureka Valley public library. I am grateful to get to ride Muni each day to and from my office in SOMA, and often take advantage of the City's bike lanes to go on rides with my family. My personal and professional passion is to ensure that all youth have the love and opportunities that they need to grow and thrive. I believe that housing, economic opportunity, and strengths-based, culturally-relevant programs are crucial to providing meaningful support to San Francisco's families. I stand as an ally with system-impacted communities in the efforts to end criminalization and incarceration of youth, and to seek real investment in our communities that have been harmed by racism and oppression.

Business and/or professional experience:

I am a staff attorney at the Youth Law Center, and my work focuses on ending the criminalization of childhood and replacing youth incarceration with positive, developmentally-appropriate supports that are rooted in family and community. I have previously represented youth as a defense attorney in the juvenile delinquency system through the San Francisco Public Defender's Office, and I currently represent young people and families whose civil rights were violated by unlawful detention practices. My work is grounded in partnership with the Young Women's Freedom Center, and seeks to lift up the leadership and expertise of directly impacted young people and their families.

Civic Activities:

For several years, I served as a mentor for City of Dreams, a youth development program for young people residing in public housing. I volunteer with my children's schools, helping with fundraising and sports activities. In my career as a social justice attorney, I have directed two community-based legal clinics in San Francisco, one in partnership with Goodwill and the other in partnership with the West Bay Community Center in the Fillmore. I currently serve on the Advisory Board of the Pacific Juvenile Defender Center, and am a certified trainer for juvenile defense attorneys.

I am applying for the Committee on Closing San Francisco Juvenile Hall as an expert in juvenile justice reform. I have worked in San Francisco for 33 years as the founder of the Center on Juvenile and Criminal Justice (CJCJ). In that capacity I have developed innovative practices that serve youth in SF's Juvenile Justice system. In addition, throughout the past 3 decades CJCJ has continuously published reports on the disproportionate rates at which youth and adults of color are arrested and incarcerated in the SF juvenile and adult justice systems. In addition to the publishing ongoing report, I regularly engage in media strategies to confront policies that unfairly result in targeting youth of color by the justice system and to address popular misconceptions about crime and crime policies. I regularly provide reports and information to the SF BOS on various juvenile and adult justice matters. The following is select list of article I have authored in local publication on justice issues affecting SF
Macallair, Daniel, "U.S. Among Harshes for Sentencing Children" San Francisco Chronicle, January 20, 2008, Reforming Youth Corrections," San Francisco Chronicle, January 17, 2005, p.B-7 Lurid Stories Feed Hysteria About Juveniles," San Francisco Chronicle, October 21, 1997 The Sacrifice of Colleges for Prisons." San Francisco Examiner, December 19, 1996; Is Juvenile Crime Out of Control in S.F.?" San Francisco Examiner; "Vengeance In the Justice System." San Francisco Chronicle, April 25, 1996, "Politics at Juvenile Hall," San Francisco Chronicle, August 23, 1994

Business and/or professional experience:

I have spent 33 + years with the SFbased Center on Juvenile and Criminal Justice (CJCJ) developing and implementing juvenile justice reform strategies that involved closing or reducing populations in detention centers and correctional institutions throughout the country including Hawaii, the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Philadelphia. In 1995, I the Detention Diversion Advocacy Program (DDAP) in SF to reduce the population of the YGC. The program was recognized by the US Dept. of Justice as a national model detention alternative and was a finalist for a Harvard University Innovations in Government award and was subsequently replicated in five cities. I have received numerous awards for my work - in 1994, I received a leadership award from the State of Hawaii for my efforts in reforming that state's juvenile correctional system. I served as a consultant to juvenile justice systems around the country and frequently provides expert assistance on correctional practices and juvenile justice reform. I have authored two books on the subject of juvenile justice reform: Reforming Juvenile Justice: Reasons and Strategies for the 21st Century 1998/ and After the Doors were Locked: The History of Youth Corrections in California and the Origins of 21st Century Reform (2015). I have authored numerous reports over the years for the SF Board of Supervisors on the city's juvenile justice system and the state legislature on reform of the state's youth corrections system - Studies include "Restructuring Youth Corrections in California." (2005), "Aftercare as Afterthought: Reentry and the California Youth Authority" 2003). Studies I have completed specific to SF include: "An Analysis of Juvenile Justice Reform in San Francisco During the Brown Administration" (2001) and "Is San Francisco Soft on Juvenile Crime? Reality vs, Myth" (1996), "The San Francisco Industrial School and the Origins of Juvenile Justice in California" (2003) "The Failure of Good Intentions: An Analysis of Juvenile Justice Reform in San Francisco During the 1990s" (2003),

As a member of the Teachers' Union, I have taught in-custody students in San Francisco County Jails for the past 7 years. Within this realm, I have worked closely with a growing population of Transitional Age Youth, many of whom have passed through the Juvenile Justice System. My experience has afforded me an in-depth understanding of the effects of mass incarceration on young people, their families and the community; I also have a strong sense of how many of my students' lives could have been different had they been diverted to creative, restorative programs as juveniles. While working in custody at County Jail 5, I taught Restorative Justice, with a focus on Juvenile Justice and the pervasiveness of the School-to-Prison Pipeline. I have also facilitated Restorative workshops at San Quentin State Prison. I hold a strong belief in the vital role RJ will play as we move away from incarcerating our youth. For the past 1.5 years, I have also been teaching youth in the community, many of whom have prior or current involvement with the Juvenile Justice System. Prior to teaching, I did four years of research as a doctoral student-a skill that will certainly be of value in the planning and implementation of new, innovative policy. I am aware of the many structural impediments Justice System-involved individuals encounter, and the support these individuals need to succeed. Additionally, as a member of the LGBTQ community, I have an understanding of the unique needs of queer youth both in and out of carceral environments.

Business and/or professional experience:

I have been a special education teacher at Woodside Learning Center for 22 years. I consider it a privilege to work with the remarkable and talented students that come to our classrooms at WLC. I have learned from students about their personal experience with trauma and struggle.

I have seen from their stories patterns emerge that illuminate the societal inequities responsible for children finding the streets as a solution to their problem, for example: the daily stressors of poverty and racism, bias against LGBTQ and gender non-conforming youth, over-policing in their communities, losing loved ones to violence and for some, being separated from family members who are incarcerated themselves.

☐ SEC. 5.40-2. DEFINITIONS.

“City” means the City and County of San Francisco.

“Court” means the San Francisco Superior Court Juvenile Division.

“Director” means the Director of the Human Rights Commission.

“DCYF” means the Department of Children Youth and Families.

“Juvenile Hall” means the locked detention facility at 375 Woodside Avenue in the City.

(Added by Ord. 117-19, File No. 190392, App. 6/28/2019, Eff. 7/29/2019)

☐ SEC. 5.40-3. PURPOSE AND PRINCIPLES.

(a) The purpose of the Working Group is to create a plan to:

- (1) close Juvenile Hall by no later than December 31, 2021;
- (2) strengthen and expand community-based alternatives to detention;
- (3) provide a rehabilitative, non-institutional place or places of detention, in a location approved by the Court, which is available for all wards of the Court and persons alleged to come within the jurisdiction of the Court;

(4) reinvest any monies saved by the closure of Juvenile Hall in high-quality, effective, community-based alternatives to detention; an alternative, rehabilitative, non-institutional center for youth who are detained; and mental health and educational support for detained youth; and

(5) preserve, protect and aim to expand the role of the public sector in the direct provision of juvenile rehabilitation services, both in community-based alternatives to detention and in any rehabilitative, non-institutional place or places of detention.

(b) In carrying out this purpose, the Working Group shall be guided by the following principles:

(1) A juvenile justice system should balance public safety, positive youth development, family and community health, and victim restoration.

(2) Detention has a devastating impact on youth, their families, and their neighborhoods, and undermines the safety and health of both detained youth and their communities.

(3) The rehabilitative goals of the juvenile justice system can best be accomplished in family-based settings in the communities where youth live.

(4) The vast majority of young people in detention should be diverted from that system and given access to developmentally appropriate, trauma-informed programs and services that address racial and ethnic disparities.

(5) Youth in the juvenile justice system and their families should have a role in identifying what kind of support would be most helpful to them.

(6) Resources invested in Juvenile Hall should instead be invested in youth, their families, and community-based programs, including mental health and educational support.

(7) Community-based programs that serve juvenile justice-involved young people should be supported, strengthened, and where appropriate, expanded.

(8) Youth in the juvenile justice system should be referred to programs and court-ordered placements in the City whenever possible.

(9) Juvenile Hall staff should be given the opportunity, consistent with civil service rules, to transfer to other jobs with the City or the San Francisco Unified School District once Juvenile Hall is closed.

(Added by Ord. 117-19, File No. 190392, App. 6/28/2019, Eff. 7/29/2019)

☐ SEC. 5.40-4. MEMBERSHIP.

Subcommittees shall report findings and make recommendations to the full Working Group for its consideration.

(i) Meeting Frequency. The Working Group shall meet at least every two months until Juvenile Hall is closed and a substitute place or places of detention are available for youth placement.

(j) Roles of Members. In adopting this ordinance, the Board of Supervisors recognizes that each member in Seats 12-15 retains their authority and duties under State law and that where conflicts may arise out of members' dual roles, State powers and duties shall supersede the duties that this Article XL imposes on members.

(3) Submit formal requests for aggregate, de-identified statistical data regarding the children detained in Juvenile Hall from the following departments and agencies: the Juvenile Probation Department, the Department of Public Health, the San Francisco Unified School District, and the Human Services Agency. The data requested shall include, but not be limited to: race, gender, age, charged offense and level, sustained offenses and level, disposition, length of stay in custody, number of prior delinquency contacts, number of probation violations or bench warrants, child welfare system involvement, disability status, prior school records that identify educational disabilities, mental health status, and prior referrals to community-based programs and services. (6) Create plans to transition youth leaving Juvenile Hall to appropriate, local non-institutional settings.

WORK FOCUS AREA # 2: Plan and design a small, rehabilitative and education-focused center for the placement of detained youth ("Center"). In developing the plan and design, the Working Group shall:

(1) Analyze best practices for the administration and management of small rehabilitative non-institutional settings for youth, which may include consultation with designers, architects, experts in alternative models, and mental health and youth development experts. The analysis also may include examination of existing programs in other counties, states, or countries that have demonstrated rehabilitative success.

(3) Create an implementation plan for this Center.

WORK FOCUS AREA # 3: Determine the community-based residential or day-programs that need to be created, expanded, or reinstated to effectively serve wards of the Court and persons alleged to come within the jurisdiction of the Court who are not ordered detained by the Court. To make this determination, the Working Group shall:

(3) Identify new services or programs, including day services and housing options, which are needed to serve vulnerable youth populations.

The programs should include mental health services, educational services, employment opportunities, and mentoring opportunities, which are culturally-relevant, trauma-informed, strengths-based, and rooted in the local community. Where possible, these services should be available to youths' family members.

WORK FOCUS AREA # 4: The Working Group shall develop a plan to transition Juvenile Hall staff to jobs in other City departments or jobs with the San Francisco Unified School District or the alternative Center.

WORK FOCUS AREA # 5: Develop trauma-informed, culturally relevant transition plans, specialized services, and housing options for vulnerable youth exiting detention, including young women, gender non-conforming and LGBT youth, African American youth, immigrant youth,¹ foster youth, homeless youth, and mentally ill youth.

WORK FOCUS AREA # 6: Develop a reinvestment plan that redirects funds historically allocated for Juvenile Hall to community-based alternatives to detention, the Center, and additional mental health and academic support programs for juvenile justice-involved youth.

WORK FOCUS AREA # 7: Develop policy recommendations for the Police Department, the Juvenile Probation Department, and CARC, which divert youth who have been arrested from the juvenile justice system to alternative, community-based programs and support systems.

WORK FOCUS AREA # 8: Develop policy recommendations for the Juvenile Probation Department that transform the department supervision model into a strengths-based framework so that young people are not sent to detention for probation violations, including technical violations or violations for low-level offenses.

(b) In carrying out its duties, the Working Group shall: 1) collaborate with the Mayor's Juvenile Justice Reform Blue Ribbon Panel; and 2) consult with the Capital Planning Committee, Real Estate Division, Child Welfare Division of the Human Services Agency, Child Crisis Division of the Department of Public Health, the Department of Children, Youth and Their Families, Youth Commission, the Police Department, and the San Francisco Unified School District. The Working Group shall invite a representative of each entity identified in this subsection (b) to all Working Group meetings.
