File No.: 220327

Dear President Walton,

The Community Youth Center of San Francisco strongly supports the Portsmouth Square Improvement Project and the removal of the private pedestrian bridge over Kearny Street connecting the Hilton Financial District Hotel to Portsmouth Square (the "Private Kearny Street Bridge").

Portsmouth Square is often referred to as the "living room" of Chinatown. Residents and the community rely on Portsmouth Square as relief from otherwise overcrowded living conditions and as their only access to open space and meeting space.

The Portsmouth Square Improvement Project is created by, supported by, and designed for residents, park users, and the Chinatown community. This vision is the result of over 8 years of community engagement, capital needs assessments, current and projected use studies, planning and design. The San Francisco Recreation and Park Department conducted extensive outreach with stakeholders and hosted five (5) public workshops over a period of more than two (2) years. The overwhelming majority support a vision for Portsmouth Square that does not include the Private Kearny Street Bridge. The Historic Preservation Commission, the Planning Commission, and the Recreation and Parks Commission each unanimously approved the project.

The Portsmouth Square Improvement Project will greatly expand access to useable outdoor space and indoor community facilities. The project will provide over 20,000 useable additional outdoor space and over 8,000 indoor community space. The community facility will be a necessary resiliency center for Chinatown. Residents can find refuge during times of extreme cold or heat, a place to breathe clean air during days of poor air quality, a central place for food delivery as we combat food insecurity, and a community center for residents to exercise their right to vote.

Dear President Walton

Self-Help for the Elderly strongly supports the Portsmouth Square Improvement Project and the removal of the private pedestrian bridge over Kearny Street connecting the Hilton Financial District Hotel to Portsmouth Square (the “Private Kearny Street Bridge”).

Portsmouth Square is often referred to as the “living room” of Chinatown. Residents and the community rely on Portsmouth Square as relief from otherwise overcrowded living conditions and as their only access to open space and meeting space.

Self-Help for the Elderly is a community-based organization serving over 40,000 seniors annually throughout the Bay Area. We promote the independence, well-being and dignity of older adults through culturally aligned services and programs. The Chinatown community is our hub and Portsmouth Square is an integral part of our services and programs. The Clubhouse is a convenient gathering place for people who would otherwise have no place to go to receive necessary services. We use the Portsmouth Square Clubhouse extensively to provide classes and activities for the seniors in the community.

The Portsmouth Square Improvement Project is created by, supported by, and designed for residents, park users, and the Chinatown community. This vision is the result of over eight (8) years of community engagement, capital needs assessments, current and projected use studies, planning and design. The San Francisco Recreation and Parks Department conducted extensive outreach with stakeholders and hosted five (5) public workshops over a period of more than two (2) years. Dear President Walton

Ping Yuen Residents Improvement Association (PYRIA) strongly supports the Portsmouth Square Improvement Project and the removal of the private pedestrian bridge over Kearny Street connecting the Hilton Financial District Hotel to Portsmouth Square (the “Private Kearny Street Bridge”).

Founded in 1967, PYRIA is a tenant association that strives to promote positive changes at Ping Yuen through resident involvement, as well as better the living conditions for residents at Ping Yuen and the larger city through active participation and collaboration with our community. PYRIA was one of the first public housing developments in San Francisco to organize and form a tenant association with a total of 434 households.

Portsmouth Square is often referred to as the “living room” of Chinatown. Residents and the community rely on Portsmouth Square as relief from otherwise overcrowded living conditions and as their only access to open space and meeting space. Therefore, many Chinatown residents, including PYRIA members, frequently go to Portsmouth Square and attend activities.

The Portsmouth Square Improvement Project is created by, supported by, and designed for residents, park users, and the Chinatown community. File No. 220327

Dear President Walton,

The Committee for Better Parks and Recreation in Chinatown (CBPRC) strongly supports the revocation of that certain Street Encroachment Agreement (a copy of which is enclosed) (the "Encroachment Agreement"), as well as the removal of the pedestrian bridge over Kearny Street (the "Private Kearny Street Bridge"). The Private Kearny Street Bridge has outlived its public useful life and must make way for the new vision for Portsmouth Square.

Founded in 1969, Committee for Better Parks and Recreation in Chinatown (CBPRC) has advocated for open space and recreation areas in Chinatown. Because of Chinatown's high density, open space and parks are an especially important and a limited resource to our community. Our committee members have a long history of being engaged and active in the community processes in Chinatown including the renovation of many San Francisco Recreation and Park facilities and open spaces. Our members include volunteer architects, district council staff, community youth organizations, community childcare providers, and community members, as well as staff from neighborhood service providers like Chinatown Community Development Center, Community Youth Center, and Self-Help for the Elderly, Community Tenants Association, Chinatown SRO Families United Collaborative, Kai Ming Headstart.

There is a new vision for Portsmouth Square and this new vision is created by, supported by, and designed for residents, park users, and a wide majority of the Chinatown community. Enclosed is a copy of the vision for Portsmouth Square. This vision is the result of over 10 years of community engagement, capital needs assessments, current and projected use studies, planning and design. The San Francisco Recreation and Park Department conducted extensive outreach with stakeholders and hosted five (5) public workshops attended each by over 200 people over a period of more than two (2) years. The overwhelming majority support a vision for Portsmouth Square that does not include the Private Kearny Street Bridge. The removal of the Private Kearny Street Bridge has undergone extensive analysis, a certified Environmental Impact Report, and unanimous approvals by the Historic Preservation Commission, the Planning Commission, and the Recreation and Park Commission. (A copy of the new vision for Portsmouth Square is enclosed.)

The removal of the Private Kearny Street Bridge will result in the creation of over 20,000 square feet of new outdoor and park space and over 8,000 square feet of indoor community space. Chinatown is the most densely populated area west of Manhattan and has one of the lowest park and recreation space per capita in the City as well as one of the highest poverty rates in the City. Many of the Chinatown residents are elderly and live in single-room occupancy units and in very cramped living conditions. The expansion of outdoor and park space and community space is crucial for Chinatown seniors, residents, families, children and park users.

The Private Kearny Street Bridge is an ill-conceived design and its removal will vastly improve the urban landscape. The removal of the Private Kearny Street Bridge will create sunlight to public areas, will open public vistas and corridors from North Beach to the Financial District, and expand uses of public spaces. The Private Kearny Street Bridge is an outdated fixture of brutalist architecture typical of the redevelopment period savagely imposed on Chinatown and completely ignoring the culturally sensitive context in which it occupies. The removal of the Private Kearny Street Bridge will at last repair this urban scar and make way for a bold community design that is complimentary to Chinatown architectural design and uses.

The Private Kearny Street Bridge is not dedicated for a public purpose. The Private Kearny Street Bridge has been increasingly used for private purposes to the exclusion of the public (Photographs of private use are enclosed). Often, the gates to the Private Kearny Street Bridge are closed. There is no remuneration to the City or the public for the existence of the Private Kearny Street Bridge.

The Encroachment Agreement can be revoked. Paragraph 3 of the General Provisions of the Street Encroachment Agreement states:

"3. The permission granted by said resolution is merely a revocable license. The Board of Supervisors may revoke said permission at will, and, upon the revocation thereof, the undersigned Permittees, their heirs and assigns, will within 30 days after written notification of the revocation of said permission, will remove or cause to be removed the encroachment permitted by said resolution and all materials used in connection with its construction without expense to the City and County of San Francisco, and restore to a condition satisfactory to the Department of Public Works."

The permission for the Private Kearny Street Bridge can and should be revoked. Clearly, the agreement for which the Private Kearny Street Bridge requires Justice Investors to remove the Private Kearny Street Bridge at its sole cost.

The Committee for Better Parks and Recreation in Chinatown wholeheartedly supports the Petition to Revoke the Major Encroachment Agreement. The Private Kearny Street Bridge has outlived its 1970 brutalism purpose. Revoke the Encroachment Agreement and allow for a new vision for Portsmouth Square expanding open space in the densest neighborhood in the City and creating new community space and programs for Chinatown.
