9
10 WHEREAS, San Francisco continues to experience gun violence in our communities; 11 and

12 WHEREAS, Gun violence disproportionately impacts low-income Black and brown 13 communities; and

14 WHEREAS, Gun violence has deeply traumatic effects on direct victims, witnesses, 15 and nearby community members in serious and lasting ways; and

16 WHEREAS, Communities are strongest when they have resilience, self-determination, 17 and resources; and

18 WHEREAS, Community trauma can erode a community’s capacity to thrive, address 19 issues, and exercise its collective efficacy; and

20 WHEREAS, According to the Center for Disease Control (CDC), community violence 21 has wide-reaching effects and can cause significant physical injuries and mental health 22 conditions such as depression, anxiety, and post-traumatic stress disorder; and

23 WHEREAS, According to the CDC, communities experiencing violence may lead to 24 increased risk of developing chronic diseases because concerns about violence may prevent 25 them from walking, bicycling, and using parks or other recreational spaces; and

1           WHEREAS, Communities deserve to feel safe and, when an incident occurs that 2 erodes their sense of safety, deserve to be supported; and

3           WHEREAS, Mental health resources can be instrumental in healing communities that 4 experience gun violence; and

5           WHEREAS, San Francisco has practices and partnerships in place to ensure that 6 direct victims of gun violence and their immediate families can get support, services, 7 counseling, and other resources to aid in their recovery; and

8           WHEREAS, San Francisco has trauma response resources available through its 9 Comprehensive Crisis Services team and through community-based organizations serving 10 high-risk communities; and

11           WHEREAS, No protocol currently exists to ensure that the City reaches out to affected 12 community members other than immediate victim(s) or their family members to connect them 13 to available trauma counseling resources in a timely manner; and

14           WHEREAS, Community members experiencing trauma after gun violence in their 15 neighborhoods should not have to go out of their way to receive information about available 16 resources or trauma counseling services; and

17           WHEREAS, A proactive trauma response would help remove existing barriers and 18 ensure that communities that have experienced gun violence can be connected to trauma 19 counseling resources they need; and

20           WHEREAS, Studies show that trauma counseling, in connection with other community 21 resources, can help prevent further violence; and

22           WHEREAS, The city has protocols in place for community support after traumatic 23 events in other contexts, such as the San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency's 24 response after fatal traffic collisions and the San Francisco Police Department's town halls

1 after police shootings, which may offer guidance regarding coordination, outreach, and
