Dear Budget & Appropriations Supervisors -

On behalf of the San Francisco Climate Emergency Coalition, I would like to thank you all for your tremendous - and tremendously difficult - work determining how to distribute a shrinking pot of funds to a growing number of deserving recipients. Although we didn't get everything we advocated for, we are grateful for the $2.6 million you allocated to SFE to fund initial implementation of the Climate Action Plan. This is absolutely vital to address the climate crisis, which only amplifies all the other crises we face.

We also thank you for the $700,000 allotted towards creating an affordable housing electrification pilot. We need models of how things can work, to educate and spread the word about the benefits of decarbonizing our buildings and our world.

So - thank you!

Sincerely,
Joni Eisen for SF Climate Emergency Coalition

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

We are asking that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin wants more community-based safety NOT a dramatic cut!

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing in support of funding the Office of Economic and Workforce Development has requested for San Francisco's Economic Core. San Francisco's downtown is the driver of our city's entire economy - it provides jobs for our residents, demand for our small businesses, and the tax base that supports the services, arts, and resources that our communities depend on. Our neighborhoods cannot thrive if our economic engine is jeopardized.

Approximately 66% of San Francisco's GDP originates from Downtown, we need to support any efforts by the BOD and the City to support it.

We know at this point that neither tourists nor employees are expected to return to our downtown anytime soon unless we do something. We must give people new reasons to come to downtown if the service workers and the small businesses in our downtown core that depend on their business are to survive. Investing City dollars in community driven efforts that are going to help reinvent our economic core so that it continues to thrive as the economic base for the city and everyone in it - and doing so specifically with initiatives that are going to put the very artists, entrepreneurs, and cultural groups that have been hurt most by the pandemic to work - is the best way to protect our city's economic wellbeing for the future and a win for everyone.

Please don't let petty politics get in the way of doing what is right for San Francisco. Please maintain the funding OEWD requested for the economic core in their budget proposal.

Please let me know if you plan to support this, or not.

Sincerely,

The Union Square Alliance Supports the 2022 -2023 Budget Proposal for 10 Additional Park Rangers

Dear Supervisors,

During these unprecedented times, we have all realized the importance of our parks and open spaces. Keeping our open spaces and park safe and clean is critical to our recovery.

As more people enjoy our city's parks and open spaces, we must continue providing a safe experience for visitors with the support of our park rangers, who serve as community ambassadors. I am writing in support of the FY 2022 -2023 budget proposal for 10 additional park rangers for the San Francisco Recreation and Park Department.

Union Square welcomes the support of our park rangers. As community ambassadors, park rangers work to ensure all park visitors are welcome and provide support. With over 220 parks and more to come, the current number of 39 park rangers in a 24-hour shift can present challenges for park rangers to respond to all park inquiries. Their park inquiry calls can come at all times of the day involving various issues. Our city Park Rangers embrace their community ambassador role by responding to the issues in our park, the activations, and events, securing the location if crimes occur, outreaching to the unhoused community, and connecting them to city-sponsored programs, and so much more. Park Rangers are community ambassadors and more; their role is a way to ensure everyone has access to our parks and open spaces. They also ensure that the community treats the park respectfully.

We hope you will support and approve the FY 2022 -2023 budget proposal for 10 additional park rangers for the San Francisco Recreation and Park Department.

Thank you for your consideration and support of our parks and open spaces.

Dear Supervisors,

We appreciate the opportunity to share our serious concerns about the current budget discussions and proposals to limit funding for economic revitalization efforts in our downtown Economic Core.

Since its formation, Advance SF has made the revitalization of San Francisco's Economic core a central focal point of its work. San Francisco's downtown is the driver of much of the City's economy, making up 72% of its entire GDP. It provides jobs for our residents, demand for our small businesses, and the tax base that supports most of the services and resources our diverse communities depend on. We are an interconnected ecosystem. If our downtown is unhealthy, our neighborhoods will not thrive long-term.

In this light, investing City dollars in community-driven efforts that will help reinvent our downtown core so that it continues to thrive as the economic base for the City and everyone in it makes sense. We know at this point that neither tourists nor employees are expected to return to our downtown in significant numbers unless we do something. Current estimates indicate visits to San Francisco office buildings are well below pre-pandemic levels, with May 2022 visits down by 73% compared to May 2019.

We cannot understate how an absence of people is a fundamental threat to our Economic Core and the overall economic activity that allows San Francisco to be the thriving, creative, compassionate city we all expect it to be. The Economic Recovery Task Force anticipated this nearly two years ago and made recommendations, with which the Mayor's budget plans are aligned, to:

- Support cleanliness, health, and safety in our public spaces (Recommendation 3.4)
- Repurpose public space (Recommendation 4.2)
- Allow more flexible use in our ground floor retail (Recommendation 4.3)
- Pursue temporary uses (Recommendation 4.4)
- Catalyze recovery through the Arts (Recommendation 8.2)

The dollars associated with these efforts are a modest investment that, if done well, will help San Francisco recover from the devastating effects this pandemic has had on our economy. Funding initiatives that will put the local artists, entrepreneurs, and cultural groups that have been hurt most by the pandemic to work is the best way to protect our city's economic well-being for the future. We urge you to strongly consider the funding allocated for programs and projects aligned with the 2020 Task Force so San Francisco can continue on its path to recovery.

Sincerely,

Chris

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee, and Supervisor Preston:

I write today to ask that you retain the $4.5 million dollars in OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market area. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks and parks.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors, and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin desperately needs more community-based safety not a cut to a program that has made a tremendous difference in the lives of TL residents, businesses, and visitors.

UC Hastings Law has 280 residents, over 1,000 students, and almost 500 personnel in the Tenderloin on a daily basis. Bringing our community back to the Tenderloin following the pandemic shutdowns was incredibly challenging, and the transformative nature of the work that Urban Alchemy has done to calm the sidewalks made it possible. Cutting that program would have an immediate ripple effect throughout the Tenderloin eliminating progress made in improving living conditions for all in the Tenderloin and further emboldening the proliferation of the open air drug market.

I implore you not to cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin. Thank you for your time and consideration,

Message to the Board of Supervisors      Dear Supervisors,

I join residents and small businesses across the entire city who are asking for more police officers to walk beats in their neighborhoods, to respond quickly to 911 calls, and to address the break-ins, drug dealing, and violent crime in this city.

SFPD has 200 vacant budgeted positions. The Mayor has put forward a commonsense plan to recruit and retain officers to address the public safety staffing crisis in our City.

By filling these already approved positions, we can add officers to district stations all across the City. Our City leaders should be doing everything they can to fill them to get more officers on the streets.

Let's focus on getting the basics right to get our City on the right track. That means focusing on public safety and hiring more police officers. The Mayor's budget and Police Hiring Plan delivers on the basics.

The Mayor's proposal to focus on recruiting and retaining officers is good government. With over 200 vacant budgeted positions, we need to hire new officers and keep the ones we've invested in.

San Francisco needs more police officers. The Mayor's Hiring Plan will get more officers on the streets and in our neighborhoods. The Board of Supervisors should support it.

Thank you.

I join residents and small businesses across the entire city who are asking for more police officers to walk beats in their neighborhoods, to respond quickly to 911 calls, and to address the break-ins, drug dealing, and violent crime in this city.

SFPD has 200 vacant budgeted positions. The Mayor has put forward a commonsense plan to recruit and retain officers to address the public safety staffing crisis in our City.

By filling these already approved positions, we can add officers to district stations all across the City. Our City leaders should be doing everything they can to fill them to get more officers on the streets.

Let's focus on getting the basics right to get our City on the right track. That means focusing on public safety and hiring more police officers. The Mayor's budget and Police Hiring Plan delivers on the basics.

The Mayor's proposal to focus on recruiting and retaining officers is good government. With over 200 vacant budgeted positions, we need to hire new officers and keep the ones we've invested in.

San Francisco needs more police officers. The Mayor's Hiring Plan will get more officers on the streets and in our neighborhoods. The Board of Supervisors should support it.

Thank you.

Message to the Board of Supervisors      Dear Supervisors,

We have had enough. We need more police help. Stop with the crazy politics. I will not name names but you know who you are.

The city needs your help. We elected you. We recalled the DA - if that doesn't send you the right message, I don't know what will.

We need police to actually work and walk around, patrol, and actually prevent crime from happening. Not only responding to it.

The only way to accomplish that is by hiring more police. Like it or not, San Francisco will not be able to thrive as a city if it continually is labeled as unsafe. You have the power to correct this. Please do your job.

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

We are asking that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin wants more community-based safety NOT a dramatic cut!

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

Hello,

I am emailing to comment on the mayor's proposed FY budget. It is unconscionable that the proposed budget, which the mayor claims is focused on investing "...to bring our city back and deliver on the basic services that all of our residents deserve", invests over 50 million more on continuing the ineffective and harmful form of policing our city suffers through. Simultaneously, the budget fails to sufficiently fund proven social projects such as the tenderloin linkage center and accelerate investments on acquiring properties to build and maintain housing for our city's homeless population.

Over my last 5 years living and working in this city, I feel like I share a common but often unsung perspective of many of my neighbors who believe a city government that invests in its people instead of punishing them through overfunding an ineffective police state will create a more equitable and kind society.

Thank you for your time,

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing in support of funding requested by the Office of Economic and Workforce Development for San Francisco's Economic Core.

It is critical that we do everything we can to ensure the revitalization of San Francisco's downtown. We need a vibrant, energized city that provides jobs for residents, creates demand for small businesses and yields a tax base that supports the services, arts, and resources upon which our communities depend. Our neighborhoods cannot thrive if this economic engine is jeopardized. This funding will help the city propel forward to a new, energized future.

Neither tourists nor employees are expected to return to downtown in significant numbers unless something is done to inspire their return. We must give people new reasons to find their way back downtown. Investing City dollars in community-driven efforts will help reinvent our economic core so that it continues to thrive as the economic base for the city, ensuring that artists, entrepreneurs, and cultural groups begin to lead the charge to return, inspiring employees and tourists to reengage with San Francisco, and energizing a new chapter for the city.

I ask that you maintain the funding OEWD has requested for the economic core in their budget proposal. Thank you for your consideration.

With warmest wishes,

Supervisors and Budget Committee:

I am a resident of the 300 block of Golden Gate Avenue in the Tenderloin. I have lived in the TL for 22 years. My neighbors and I need your help.

I am asking that the $4 million dollars in funds dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department NOT be put on reserve.

The Tenderloin Community (residents and CBOs together) worked on a budget priority sheet that was presented to the Mayor's office and we are excited to have a budget for the community that was created by the community. We also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

The people who live and work in the Tenderloin are depending on these funds being available in next year's budget. Do not put them on reserve! The Tenderloin community is being given a chance to shape our own future. Please fund the Planning Department to meet the community with the resources that we deserve.

CC: Members of the Board of Supervisors, Mayor Breed

Dear Members of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors Budget and Finance Subcommittee:

I am writing to support funding for the Welcome Ambassador Program. San Francisco has been disproportionately impacted by the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic. One of the most impactful and positive investments that has helped us welcome back business and leisure visitors is the Welcome Ambassador Program which launched last fall.

Prior to the pandemic, tourism was San Francisco's number one industry welcoming over 26 million visitors who spent over $10 billion in our city. Tourism employs over 86,000 individuals supporting our small businesses, restaurants, accommodations, transportation and tours, attractions and arts and cultural institutions. Additionally, tourism brought in over $800 million in taxes to the City, which helps to provide essential services and employ essential workers.

Please support the funding for the Welcome Ambassadors so that this innovative program can continue to welcome back and enhance the visitor experience in San Francisco.

Dear Members of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors:

I am writing on behalf Downtown SF, the community benefit district that serves 43-blocks of the Financial District and Jackson Square, to support the Mayor's downtown recovery budget proposal through the Office of Economic and Workforce Development.

San Francisco remains last in the country in terms of the workforce returning to back to the office. During the height of the pandemic, downtown San Francisco saw a 96% decline in pedestrian traffic. This figure encompasses footfall from visitors and the workforce.

The downtown economic core needs City support and funding to combat this unprecedented situation with the loss of our small ground floor businesses, domestic and international travel, and of course the 9-to-5 workforce.

Downtown SF firmly believes that placemaking activations, such as those proposed from OEWD, by highlighting the best of what San Francisco has to offer in arts, culture, and hospitality will drive a new downtown economy. Other large cities have adopted this model too. Post-lockdown, our downtown must transform into a neighborhood that works for everyone. This includes providing inclusive opportunities for our marginalized communities to use downtown as their canvas, as their place of work, and as their community to thrive in.

Neighborhoods thrive on a healthy downtown and economic core, but none are mutually exclusive. Both are one to make a city great and vibrant.

Downtown SF strongly urges the Budget & Appropriations Committee and full Board of Supervisors to approve the proposed investments to downtown's economic core. This is our moment in time to make the right investments.

Sincerely,
Robbie Silver

Dear Supervisors --

Cops versus health care?

As you discuss priorities in the upcoming budget, I'd like to share my personal experiences. I'm a 72-year-old senior who's lived in San Francisco since 1976. In that span, the number of times I have called the police, needed the police, been helped by the police is exactly zero, zip, none. In the few encounters I have had with the SFPD, when neighbors called for another neighbor in distress, the responding officers were useless or worse: insulting and dismissive. When my car, parked right in front of my home on 22nd Street, was smashed in a high-speed chase in the middle of the night and I pointed to the crumpled fender and asked the nearest officer what the SFPD was going to do about it, he replied, "Lady, that's what you can expect when you park on the street."

Compare that dismal record with what health care has done for me, basically a healthy person. In just the last decade, I've had two hip replacement surgeries, two cataract surgeries, broken bone repairs (twice!), and treatment for a serious, sometimes life-threatening, infection. This in addition to the usual maintenance care that comes with increasing age. At all times, medical staff was competent, respectful, and essential.

So more money for cops and less for health care??? Please, no! The mayor's budget proposal is way out of whack. Please serve the actual needs of San Francisco residents and not the political needs of the mayor.

Thank you,

Dear Supervisor Stefani,

Thank you for your ongoing commitment to the veterans living within your district! Your support and dedication to ensuring those who have served have access to deeply affordable housing and needed services is one that we know you hold with high regard. As a member of your constituency and of the Dignity Fund Coalition, we are urging you to dedicate add-back funding to strengthen and expand the Department of Disability and Aging's SF Connected Programs beyond current baseline funding, so we can close the digital divide in San Francisco. The ask is for $3.5 million a year for two years, and we hope you will contribute to this citywide total as the need is great.

Many of the veterans we serve at Swords are of the Vietnam generation and often struggle with the use of technology on many fronts. This often starts with the limited access to tech devices due to being on a fixed income. While we do have a small computer lab at our housing site on the Presidio and Wi-Fi in the building, having access to training and tech support are critical missing services to ensure that our older veterans are not being left behind. For those that are able to access the internet, they are better able to reconnect with family and friends and some have had the ability to mend relationships that led to their homelessness in the first place. Access, and the ability to effectively use technology, is critical today and we ask that a generation of veterans not get left out simply because of their limited income and lack of access to training. San Francisco can do more to bridge this gap and this funding will start to lessen the current digital divide.

Older adults and people with disabilities need internet access, devices, digital literacy training, tech support, and assistive technology. Please commit to adding back this $3.5 million in vital funding to close the digital divide in San Francisco.

Thank you!

Dear Supervisor Dorsey,

Thank you for your ongoing commitment to the veterans living within District 6! Your support and dedication to ensuring those who have served have access to deeply affordable housing and needed services is one that we know you hold with high regard. As a member of your constituency and of the Dignity Fund Coalition, we are urging you to dedicate add-back funding to strengthen and expand the Department of Disability and Aging's SF Connected Programs beyond current baseline funding, so we can close the digital divide in San Francisco. The ask is for $3.5 million a year for two years, and we hope you will contribute to this citywide total as the need is great.

Many of the veterans we serve at Swords are of the Vietnam generation and often struggle with the use of technology on many fronts. This often starts with the limited access to tech devices due to being on a fixed income. District 6 holds quite a few of our housing sites: Maceo May Apts. on Treasure Island, Edwin M. Lee Apts. in Mission Bay, and Veterans Commons in SOMA. While we do have Wi-Fi in most of our buildings as well as access onsite to computers, there is still a lack of access to training and tech support which are critical missing services to ensure that our older veterans are not being left behind nor fall prey to online scams which have increased in nature with scams specifically targeting the veteran community. For those veterans that can access the internet, we have seen how their ability to reconnect with family and friends, and in some cases having the ability to mend relationships that led to their homelessness in the first place, have transformed their lives in the best way.

As you know, we are hoping to bring online a Veteran Community Center and one of the key aspects of this center will be the ability for veterans access the use of computers to aide in their search for employment, housing, and other key service needs. We hope to partner with other San Francisco non-profits for training and skills building but the need for funding is key to make any of this possible. Access to, and the ability to effectively use technology, is critical today and we ask that a generation of veterans not get left out simply because of their limited income and lack of access to training and support. San Francisco can do more to bridge this gap and this funding will start to lessen the current digital divide.

Older adults and people with disabilities need internet access, devices, digital literacy training, tech support, and assistive technology. Please commit to adding back this $3.5 million in vital funding to close the digital divide in San Francisco.

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing in support of funding the Office of Economic and Workforce Development has requested for San Francisco's Economic Core. San Francisco's downtown is the driver of our city's entire economy - it provides jobs for our residents, demand for our small businesses, and the tax base that supports the services, arts, and resources that our communities depend on. Our neighborhoods cannot thrive if our economic engine is jeopardized.

We know at this point that neither tourists nor employees are expected to return to our downtown anytime soon unless we do something. We must give people new reasons to come to downtown if the service workers and the small businesses in our downtown core that depend on their business are to survive. Investing City dollars in community driven efforts that are going to help reinvent our economic core so that it continues to thrive as the economic base for the city and everyone in it - and doing so specifically with initiatives that are going to put the very artists, entrepreneurs, and cultural groups that have been hurt most by the pandemic to work - is the best way to protect our city's economic wellbeing for the future and a win for everyone.

Please maintain the funding OEWD requested for the economic core in their budget proposal.

Sincerely,

Anthony Healy-London

Dear Supervisor Ronen, President Walton and Supervisors -

Please find attached the link for the latest report of the Street Needs Assessment Committee of the Latino Task Force, which identifies human rights violations against unhoused residents in the Mission District as well as a plan of effective and immediate corrective action in similar effective city and community-led partnerships as other Latino Task Force collaborations.

In alignment with the practices and goals of the Latino Task Force, this plan linked below includes recommendations for budget neutral policy changes. It also includes a request for $200,000 to fund and deploy two human rights monitors to act as liaisons and monitor the engagements and operations with unhoused residents of the Mission District, to ensure that these policy changes are effective. The monitors will play an essential role in the coordination between city departments and community to begin to address the Mission District community needs for health, hygiene, and healing and move us toward the implementation of Proyecto Dignidad (Project Dignity).

Based on a King Street pilot in 2012 and spearheaded in a very intentional and sensitive manner by Bevan Dufty, Mayor's former homeless director at the time, the initiative led to a 100% successful permanent relocation of this settlement. Current sweep operations constitute institutional, racialized abuse against a primarily BIPOC community. As demonstrated in the King Street model, there is a path to deconstructing encampments that is both effective and humane. El Proyecto Dignidad presents a community-centered approach where the city is truly engaged with community organizations and unhoused people and aims to meet the needs of every unhoused resident who enters the program.

The LTF's recent COVID-19 experiences and the task force's proven results obtained through operating testing sites, food hubs, and providing small business support programs, have taught us firsthand that compassion is practical, intelligent, and produces optimal results. We practice partnership with government and industry in an effective manner that is community-led, community-driven, and community-implemented. It is based on mutual respect, "helping the city get better at being better” at these critical operations, moving us all away from violence and towards a shared wholeness.

San Francisco Supervisors-

Please see the attached document with 441 signatures supporting this petition calling on you to include $11 million for the Department of the Environment over the next two budget cycles to begin implementation of the city's Climate Action Plan. This is the amount requested by SFE but ignored by the mayor in her budget, and we ask that you demonstrate the leadership we need and include the funds in your current add-back process.

San Francisco has an enormous amount of work to do to meet the goals outlined in the CAP, and we cannot afford to waste any time getting going. $11 million is the bare minimum needed and is a pittance in the $27 BILLION 2-year city budget. Failure to fund the CAP is tantamount to climate denial and will only result in a larger bill coming due in the future.

Sincerely,

Adam Klaus, San Francisco Climate Emergency Coalition, and 441 petition signers

<https://sign.moveon.org/petitions/san-francisco-supervisors-don-t-skip-funding-for-climate>

San Francisco declared a climate emergency in 2019 and approved a detailed, ambitious Climate Action Plan (CAP) at the end of 2021. To have any hope of successfully implementing it and meeting our climate goals, we need to start now.

Shockingly, when Mayor Breed released her budget for the upcoming fiscal year, she allocated none of the money that the Department of the Environment (SFE) requested for staff and programs to begin the work outlined in the CAP. It's difficult to call this anything but climate denial.

After another dry winter and with fire season looming, San Franciscans know that inaction is not an option. With the mayor ignoring the climate crisis, we desperately need the Board of Supervisors to lead on climate by funding SFE's requested budget and additional initiatives outlined in the CAP.

Why is this important?

Anybody who woke up in San Francisco under the orange sky on September 9, 2020 knows that climate change is undeniably upon us. But if we start now, there are still many things we can do to turn the tide and avoid the worst impacts. In our city that means rapidly switching our homes and vehicles off of fossil fuels and moving to cleaner, safer, electric alternatives powered by renewable energy; expanding transit; strengthening our ecosystems; and protecting and empowering the communities that will face the worst impacts.

San Franciscans are ready to step up and do our part, but we need support and help from our city's leadership. The Department of the Environment (SFE) has outlined an $11 million budget over the next years to begin tackling the biggest sources of the city's carbon emissions, doing so in a way that focuses on justice and equity for the most vulnerable communities. Community groups are calling for additional funds for clean electrification pilots, incentives for eliminating fossil fuels in homes and transportation, and better clarity and protection from the hazards of sea level rise in Hunters Point and other contaminated areas. Additionally, planting trees to capture carbon and provide protection against extreme heat – a key element of the CAP – would be especially cost-effective in a city that lags most others in the extent of its tree canopy.

Climate change won't wait for politics as usual to play itself out -- the longer we wait, the harder it gets to avoid the increasingly threatening consequences of a hotter planet. The Board of Supervisors will be reviewing the proposed budget in the month of June. We demand that they recognize the scale of the crisis by fully funding SFE's $11 million budget request and additional CAP priorities.

Dear Supervisors, I am, like 90% of San Franciscans, a recently awoken voter who has realized that I voted for all the wrong people at the local San Francisco level.

Let this serve as a warning. If ANY of you vote to reduce the city budget allocated towards public safety and protection (DA Budget, SFPD) you will NOT be elected ever again in the city of San Francisco and in the State of CA.

You all have absolutely NO idea about the numerous people like me who have woken up from their slumber and our movement has been gathering amazing momentum to fix the city. No, we are not right wing, billionaire funded whatever other terms you have been using to distance yourselves from ground realities.

Subject: Re: Please approve the proposed $ 4 million for TL

Thank you, Supervisors! My name is Lorenzo Listana, a resident who worked as a community organizer in the Tenderloin. I asked that you please fund the proposed $4 Million for the Tenderloin. This proposed budget will fund the Tenderloin Community Action Plan and ongoing investments in the neighborhood through SF Planning which are essential to restore TL's dignity.

Tenderloin has been considered a containment zone for too long, so pulling out this funding now sends a clear message to the community that the City does not care about us in the long term. Please fund a better future for the Tenderloin.

The Tenderloin Community Action Plan is a collaborative work by the Tenderloin community and the San Francisco Planning Department. I urge you, Supervisors, to please recognize this effort by the Tenderloin People's Congress, CBOs, and the thousands of Tenderloin residents who participated in this process and hundreds more who continue to participate in this work. Residents know the real solutions to Tenderloin problems, and we are here to take the lead in solving them.

Don't cut! Please Fund!

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

We are asking that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the small businesses, children, families, and seniors there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin wants more community-based safety NOT a dramatic cut!

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing in support of funding the Office of Economic and Workforce Development has requested for San Francisco's Economic Core. San Francisco's downtown is the driver of our city's entire economy - it provides jobs for our residents, demand for our small businesses, and the tax base that supports the services, arts, and resources that our communities depend on. Our neighborhoods cannot thrive if our economic engine is jeopardized.

We know at this point that neither tourists nor employees are expected to return to our downtown anytime soon unless we do something. We must give people new reasons to come to downtown if the service workers and the small businesses in our downtown core that depend on their business are to survive. Investing City dollars in community driven efforts that are going to help reinvent our economic core so that it continues to thrive as the economic base for the city and everyone in it - and doing so specifically with initiatives that are going to put the very artists, entrepreneurs, and cultural groups that have been hurt most by the pandemic to work - is the best way to protect our city's economic wellbeing for the future and a win for everyone.

Please maintain the funding OEWD requested for the economic core in their budget proposal.

Sincerely,
Nancy Do

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am inviting you to dedicate add-back funding for the Chinese Culture Center's Chinatown History and Art Tour (CHAT) to provide free out-of-school programming to serve our public school students. Our diverse communities and young people deserve to learn about the activism, arts and the stories of Chinatown and our City's diverse communities. The ask is for $175,000, and I urge you to contribute to this citywide total. This sum would go towards increasing our capacity to provide not only more tours, but to build deeper alignment with our school's core curriculum - rooted in neighborhood stories and living history.

I've attached here a letter from two teachers:

- Bonnie Tong, 4th Grade Classroom Teacher @ Jean Parker Elementary School
- Tiffany Long, 5th Grade Classroom Teacher @ Chinese American International School
- Students Reflections post tour.

Our education program's purpose is for youth to feel a sense of place and belonging. This funding will close the gap and create access for all students to have arts education and neighborhood based learning. Please commit to adding back this $175,000 in vital funding to ensure quality and neighborhood based learning in San Francisco.

in community,

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisors Preston and Dorsey:

We are asking that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin wants more community-based safety NOT a dramatic cut!

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Elena

Dear Supervisor Mar:

I am a resident of District 4 and parent of 2 school age children and I am writing to urge you to dedicate add-back funding for the Chinese Culture Center's Chinatown History and Art Tour (CHAT) to provide free out-of-school programming to serve our most vulnerable public school students. Our diverse communities and young people deserve to learn about the activism, arts and the stories of Chinatown and our diverse SF communities. The ask is for $175,000, and I urge you to contribute to this citywide total.

Coming from an immigrant family, I wish this was a program that was available when I was younger/making history and art accessible to all kids.

Our kids in San Francisco have been through a rough time during the pandemic learning via zoom, and this immersive educational experience in the community, would directly serve students, particularly those who are underserved in our schools - our low income, immigrant youth to feel a sense of place and belonging. This funding will close the gap and create access for all students that would otherwise not have the opportunity. Please commit to adding back this $175,000 in vital funding to close the access gap to quality and neighborhood based learning in San Francisco.

Thank you!

Dear President Walton and Board of Supervisors:

I am a docent-in-training at the Chinese Culture Center, and I have been leading tours for the Chinatown History and Art Tour (C.H.A.T.) program since the beginning of May. To date, I have led four tours, through which I have had the opportunity to interact with students ranging in age from second grade in elementary school to tenth grade in high school.

My time with the Chinese Culture Center, though short, has been immensely rewarding. As a docent-in-training, I have learned how to use art murals, architectural motifs, and public parks in Chinatown as points of entry into deeper conversations about culture, history, and language. For example, when I stopped at Portsmouth Square with a group of second graders, one student was able to share the Cantonese name for Portsmouth Square. He also spoke about his experience living in an SRO unit. This discussion proved to be an invaluable moment for our tour group. Because our curriculum tends to cover SRO housing from a fact-based perspective, the student's narrative empowered his classmates to form meaningful connections between their own lived experiences and the broader struggle for affordable housing. In fact, many students were able to point in the direction of their homes from where we stood, in the middle of the park. I found this incredibly special. How many of us can, in the middle of an art museum or art tour, point to the edifices that house and shelter us?

During another tour, I guided a group of fifth graders to the AAPI Community Heroes Mural, located on the corner of Grant and Jackson. The students immediately recognized the leftmost figure in the mural as Tiffany Long, one of their beloved teachers, and rushed to share anecdotes about why they loved being in her class. Their enthusiasm about an individual who had touched their lives in a tangible and remarkable way ultimately transformed the entire tour experience, such that when I began to introduce other figures on the same mural – including Wong Kim Ark, whose 1898 Supreme Court case United States v. Wong Kim Ark secured the parameters of birthright citizenship – the students were eager to participate.

In light of these experiences, I write today to communicate my support for the C.H.A.T. program and its efforts to provide free, educational programming for San Francisco Unified School District (S.F.U.S.D.) students. I believe that C.H.A.T. constitutes a critical resource for students because it furnishes students with the unique opportunity to learn about cultural, ethnic, and racial identity through the lens of everyday murals and spaces, the accessibility of which gives students the language to begin articulating their own stories.

Thank You,

Evelyn Zhong

Dear President Walton and Board of Supervisors:

My name is Rong Zhang, and I am a Docent Ambassador at the Chinese Culture Center and a teacher at the College Preparatory School.

I first encountered CCC when I took my high school students to SF Chinatown for the Chinatown History and Art Tour (C.H.A.T). It was such a powerful experience. Every student and teacher on that tour was inspired, and I personally felt a strong connection between C.H.A.T. and education for young minds. I once was a teacher who brought my students to the tour, and now becoming a docent. Simply because I believe this is the best educational program that teaches history, art and culture in a real life setting.

I support the Chinatown History and Art Tour (C.H.A.T) program with the Chinese Culture Center to provide free out-of-school educational programs for SFUSD students because it is educational and informative. It is important for the future generation to know and understand the past in order to create a better future. It is also important for today's young learners to appreciate the diverse art and culture around them in order to better support each other in this multicultural world.

As a docent, every time I re-tell students about the story of the International Hotel and 1977 eviction night when Manilatown's manongs were made homeless overnight, students are touched to learn the importance of unity and strength to not repeat injustice and inequality.

My favorite mural "Know History, Know Self" to educate students on is named after a saying that reminds people that we know about our histories, we are more rooted in ourselves to dismantle oppression. As an immigrant and teacher myself, I can quite relate to this mural. It showed me that community and arts education is important for students' development and their sense of identity in relation to the Chinatown community.

Our City needs to continue sustaining programs like the Chinese Culture Center's Chinatown History and Art Tour (C.H.A.T) so students can learn to identify and prevent racial prejudice local history's points of resistance against racial prejudice through San Francisco history.

Thank you!

Hello TL folks, This is a request coming from the Tenderloin People's Congress.
Putting this back at the top of your inbox.

We are now learning that the Board of Supervisors (the budget committee specifically) are planning to completely cut the $4 million Tenderloin community fund and also not approve the new positions at Planning Dept. to work with us on finishing the TL Plan. This is outrageous. We have spent years working on the development of a community-driven process of grassroots community planning with input from literally thousands of community members, hundreds of community meetings and countless hours of grassroots community engagement by the Tenderloin People's Congress and our community partners. Even though there is actually a budget SURPLUS! They want to cut funding for the TL Community. So.....

Today (Friday 6/24) is Public Comment at City Hall on the Budget. You can watch on www.sfgovtv.org which will include call-in information (or see bottom of this email). Or you can attend in person. . Public Comment will go on ALL DAY with in-person folks speaking first and callers being heard after so you have plenty of time. I'll be there already and have talking points on hand, but here are a few you could use:

1. The People's Congress has been working with the Planning Dept. and the Tenderloin Community on developing the TL Community Action Plan for nearly 2 years and the investment in moving toward long-term investment in the community-driven planning process is needed to finalize the plan and begin implementation.
2. The Board should invest in the resident-centered community planning process that has led to the Tenderloin Community Action Plan.
3. Literally thousands of community members, hundreds of community meetings and stakeholder meetings have gone into the development of a community-centered planning process that is grounded in ensuring that the community can determine it's own needs, priorities and solutions.

After decades of advocacy, we are finally starting to get the resources dedicated to ~~one~~ of the few places in the city that remain affordable to working families, immigrants, and communities of color.

5. The emergency response is ending, abandoning the Tenderloin now as we move to long-term, holistic solutions will undo the time and effort residents and the city has put into the neighborhood.
6. For the first time ever, city agencies are coming together to address the immense need in the Tenderloin, pulling back now signals to the community that the City does not care about our residents
7. We need more than just an emergency response, we deserve real investment in housing, jobs, and health and the resident-centered community planning process of the TL Community Action Plan.
8. Two years ago this Board passed a resolution to prioritize racial and social equity, abandoning the Tenderloin now would go against that resolution and the commitment you all made to our residents and the community.
9. The Tenderloin Emergency Initiative provided the necessary resources, coordination and attention to our neighborhood that is suffering from homelessness and decades of disinvestment, by cutting off the funding now during its transition into sustained operations, you are effectively undoing the past 6 months of work.

Hello Supervisor. I'm _____ a (more about you, are you a resident, staff, etc.)
I'm writing to ask for your continued support of the work the Tenderloin People's Congress (TPC) has been doing for the last several years. TPC has spent that time gathering community input which led to the development of the Vision 2020 Plan for the Tenderloin neighborhood. From that effort, TPC began working on a Tenderloin Community Action Plan that was based on the Vision 2020 plan. TPC engaged directly with over 1200+ residents, held dozens of community meetings and stakeholder meetings with TL CBOs and collectively have developed the TL Community Action Plan (TLCAP) in partnership with the Planning Department. TPC has been working on this plan for years. To get this recent effort started, Supervisor Haney provided money in the Addback process to the Planning Department that allowed for Planning to start working directly with TL residents to take the Vision 2020 plan and develop the TL Community Action Plan. That process has been underway for about 18 months. The People's Congress has done this work without dedicated staff or funding and is wholly a volunteer resident-led organization. I'm asking for your support for the portion of the Planning Department budget that will allow for TPC's and TL residents years of hard work to become reality. That funding will allow the community to finish Development of the Plan, Establish the Stakeholder Committee to guide the work going forward, stipends directly to residents so they can participate in the planning and begin actual implementation of the plan that was created by residents. This is a ground up, community driven plan that prioritizes resident voices in the planning, development and long term vision for our own neighborhood. Thank you so much for your leadership and hard work on the budget. I hope I can count on your support.

I support the hiring of 200 SFPD officers. End the staffing shortages now!

Message to the Board of Supervisors      Dear Supervisors,

I join residents and small businesses across the entire city who are asking for more police officers to walk beats in their neighborhoods, to respond quickly to 911 calls, and to address the break-ins, drug dealing, and violent crime in this city.

SFPD has 200 vacant budgeted positions. The Mayor has put forward a commonsense plan to recruit and retain officers to address the public safety staffing crisis in our City.

By filling these already approved positions, we can add officers to district stations all across the City. Our City leaders should be doing everything they can to fill them to get more officers on the streets.

Let's focus on getting the basics right to get our City on the right track. That means focusing on public safety and hiring more police officers. The Mayor's budget and Police Hiring Plan delivers on the basics.

The Mayor's proposal to focus on recruiting and retaining officers is good government. With over 200 vacant budgeted positions, we need to hire new officers and keep the ones we've invested in.

San Francisco needs more police officers. The Mayor's Hiring Plan will get more officers on the streets and in our neighborhoods. The Board of Supervisors should support it.

Thank you.

San Francisco has a civic organization that for 140 years has provided valuable service to the community in the absence of major controversy, scandal, malfeasance, corruption, division and/or political in-fighting. To the contrary it has brought pleasure, a respite from the ills of the world, a common multicultural experience, arts education and simply a fun time to many, many San Franciscans and visitors, free to all! The continued existence and benefits of this treasured asset are imperiled. A significant means of alleviating this threat would be quite unusual for San Francisco: spend a miniscule amount of public funds that would immediately provide positive results without controversy and division. Please help find adequate resources for the urgently needed long term funding of the GOLDEN GATE PARK BAND.

Thank you for your immediate attention.

Hello all.

I have one basic question:

While the city continues to spend money on an increasing number of so-called "services" for addicts, the mentally ill and unhoused occupying our sidewalks and streets, why is it that even more so-called "services" are dreamt up and funded while the current batch of "services" have done nothing to reduce the number of tents, bodies, needles, filth and garbage littering our streets and sidewalks?

Why do we need a new "service" when all of the previous "services" have done nothing to reduce or impact the problem?

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget! I am shocked to read that you may somehow hurt San Franciscians over political ill will or bad feelings over the recall. The timing was just wrong for the reforms presented.

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD. FULLY funded and staffed are the key words here. For the Da and the police.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office. My own mother needed their help when she was robbed and injured at her front door a few years ago. Victims of violent crimes especially need the support of the Victim Services Division. How dare you threaten in any way to take away funding for this division. What is Wrong with you? Hello? Our City takes care of its own, right?

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement. Respect ur will or face your own loss of office in the not so distant future. We are tired of the increase in car break-ins, home invasions, gun point robberies and closed stores due to out of control shop lifting. DO something about crime. Help us! Do not under fund the DA office or the Victims Division. Get real.

Thank you!

Dear Supervisors:

Today, we witnessed the Supreme Court overruling the will of the majority of Americans. Please respect the will of San Francisco resident and represent your constituents by voting to fully fund the DA's office budget.

The recall of Boudin was not a partisan issue. The majority of San Francisco residents voted to remove Chesa Boudin because he did not do his job. The increase in crime has skyrocketed and we need a strong District Attorney who will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD. Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Every District in this city is having a massive number of its citizens attacked and murdered, and yet here you are trying to defund the only body in this city and county that has the authority to prosecute all those criminals who are attacking and murdering your constituents, so it seems that all of you who want to defund the Police Department so they have no officers to arrest all the criminals you seem to be supporting and now you want to defund the D. A.'s office because you don't approve the the will of the people who elected you! You are all working to finish the job of the Ex-DA by making sure the new DA has nobody to gather the information to put the criminals in jail! Think about who you work for a). The Constituents, or b). The Criminals!

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Message to the Board of Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

The idea that San Francisco would overwhelmingly support a recall and the Board of Supervisors would respond by cutting the DA's budget boggles the mind. This is a fundamental question of democracy in action. Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Message to the Board of Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget.

My neighbors and I have been forced to endure 636 days straight now of the same few individuals terrorizing our neighborhood on Vermont / San Bruno. They throw food and trash, do drugs, make lewd comments to my neighbors daughter, threaten us, throw rocks at us, start fires, have random people coming to hang out in the street, block our sidewalks and graffiti the streets directly in front of our homes.

You simply cannot understand the toll it takes on your psyche when people are allowed do this where you live.

We are empathetic but our patience wore out a long time ago when after wasting thousands of hours trying to get a help and a resolution, the only answer we got (and still get) is sorry "there is nothing we can do". I'm sure that is not the type of city you really want to be running or would ever take pride in.

And the thing is, you can actually do something if you enforced laws, increased services and didn't let people stay in front of peoples homes for 2 years now. Prior to the arrival on Sept 26, 2020 of these few destructive individuals, we hadn't had any issues since at least before 2015 (that's as far back as my photos go). During those years we were a pretty content neighborhood, making improvements to the area along the highway and had few complaints - so much so that I made it a point to tell everyone I knew what a great job the city was doing! But now, that is all over. Everyone here just feels hopeless, depressed and unsafe. I am not pro jail, but you simply cannot allow these people to do whatever they want, wherever they want, while making our lives miserable forever. They have been offered services so many times it's a joke. They have no intention of taking them and have said as much because why would they when the city lets them do whatever they want.

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

I am urging you to put an end to the chaos and institute common sense care and law enforcement policies so San Francisco can be a world class city again. '

Thanks,
Dianne Bates
429 Vermont

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Message to the Board of

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget! Living downtown is very hard, especially for a petite woman. The nextdoor boards in our area are full daily of the most scary posts about dangerous conditions that no SF resident should have to deal with - no matter the political climate. Yesterday's subway tragedy must be fully investigated and prosecuted lest we become like New York, where one cannot even use the subway as a woman without fear of being pushed off. The crime problem is real.

Dear Supervisors:

Is this true; that there's an initiative to defund the DAs office? As someone who has been affected more than once by crime in the city, that would be a poor decision. It's easy to be indifferent about the situation if it hasn't directly affected you.

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I got a disturbing message that SFBOS is attempting to cut funds from the SFDA's office, to include elimination the the Victim's Services Division. I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

People's lives are at stake! Do not re-victimized those who have been victims of crime!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Dear Supervisors,

Please DO NOT vote to defund the DA's office.
Victims MUST have increased services.

The Public Defender s office has extensive funding. Our DA s office, representing victims and their families, should retain the funding currently allotted.

Thank you for your attention to this very important issue.

Sincerely,
Alice & Chris Xavier
D7

While you are at it can you please focus on cleaning up the streets and illegal camping and dumping? Some sidewalks are impassable so that my wheelchair bound mother can not get past and must be move into the street. Please focus on restoring clean safe streets to all neighborhoods. ### Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Sincerely,
Diane Sargent

This is a cynical ploy by the Sanders wing of the BoS to stamp their feet and further destroy this city. I'm ashamed of the mess the most beautiful city on earth has become. The fact that we're now a wholly owned subsidiary of the Bicycle Coalition hasn't helped anything, either. I'm ashamed of our useless supervisor.

Just stop this nonsense. We voted, and the majority sets the agenda, not the losers of a given election.

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Message to the Board of Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Message to the Board of Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget! Defunding is a blatant attack on democracy and is akin to voter suppression

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

Nothing says crooked elections more than a governing body declaring war on its constituency, as you will be doing if you conspire to defund the District Attorney's office because your friend Chesa Boudin was recalled. He may have been a nice guy, and no one admires Hugo Chavez more than I do, but I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Please respect the will of the voters, who you will recall voted heavily to pass an EXPANSION to his office, AT YOUR REQUEST.

Thank you for your consideration of this plea from a constituent.

Respectfully,

Don't Defund the DA's Office!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

Supervisors

Dear Supervisors:

I am emailing you today to urge you to FULLY FUND the District Attorney's office budget!

Voters have made it clear that they want significant improvements in public safety. This includes a strong District Attorney that will balance reform & public safety and work productively with a fully-funded and staffed SFPD.

Thousands of crime victims in our city need support! Please do not eliminate the Victim Services Division & open positions within the District Attorney's office.

Please respect the will of the voters - do not compromise public safety by defunding the District Attorney's office and holding back critical resources for law enforcement.

Thank you!

June 29, 2022

Budget and Appropriations Committee
San Francisco Board of Supervisors

Dear Chair Ronen and Supervisors Safai, Chan and Walton,

The Mayor's Disability Council supports specific budget items that would improve accessibility and livability in San Francisco for people with disabilities:

- Funding for a map that shows accessibility information for Golden Gate Park
- Accessibility improvements to the Conservatory of Flowers
- Funds to replace and repair SRO elevators, and
- Enhanced IT and communications infrastructure for San Francisco government to enable virtual and accessible public participation in government meetings and activities
- Additional staffing for Public Works sidewalks inspectors.

Thank you for your continuing dedication to making San Francisco a city that takes the needs of residents with disabilities seriously.

Sincerely,

Orkid Sassouni
Co-Chair

Supervisor Myrna Melgar,

Dear Supervisors,

The Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Dear Mr. Rafael Mandrlman and Supervisors,

Please fund the Department of the Environment's request for $11M over two years through the add back process. The City must start funding Climate Action now. This is a small request, only the beginning of the funds needed to implement the Climate Action Plan.

I look forward to learning that you have supported this funding.

Supervisor Connie Chan,

Dear Supervisors,

I live in the Outer Richmond District in San Francisco in District 1. I am writing to you to urge you to fund the Department of Environment in the amount of $11 million over two years.

Climate change is no longer something that will happen in the future. We are suffering its impacts now with catastrophic wildfires and extreme heat. California's economy depends on agriculture and tourism --- both of which will be hugely impacted by climate change. As one of the largest cities in the state, San Francisco must take steps to reduce its impact on the climate and transition to a cleaner, greener, healthier way of living. We must be a leader in showing the country that we can address climate change.

I urge you to fund the Department of Environment.

Thank you,

Janet McGarry

Dear Honorable Supervisors Ronen, Walton, Safai, Mar, and Chan,

Please support Mayor London Breed's full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must not only continue, but expand to include Mission Street between 6th & 9th.

As a resident of Mid Market the UA have returned a sense of personal safety to my ability to walk in my neighborhood. I hope their territory and hours can be expanded!

The current budget proposal will allow the program to not only maintain the current deployment and allow for the possibility of continuing and expanding these services into the evening hours and additional areas for businesses, community events, arts, and culture. The budget would support approximately 138, 12-hour posts per day covering 72 block faces. This provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 ambassadors who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability throughout its existence. But there is still a lot of work to do and it is critical we continue and build upon these services.

Re: Annual City Budget Public Comment - San Francisco FRC Alliance Budget Request

Dear Chair Ronen and Members of the Budget & Appropriations Committee:

Thank you for your ongoing advocacy and support of children and families in San Francisco.

As you many know, Family Connections Centers services over 1,500 children and parents/ caregivers annually in our two community centers and preschools in the Portola and Excelsior districts. Many families also travel to our programs from the Bayview, Visitacion Valley, Mission, and Chinatown. Over 90% of the children and families we serve are low or very low-income, 95% are BIPOC, and over half are English language learners.

In addition to being a part of coalitions of early childcare providers, Family Connections is part of the Family Resource Center Alliance, a citywide network of 26 FRCs committed to furthering equity and justice for all San Francisco families.

We are working in partnership with the ECE community to create one community serving the needs of families and children. Focused on truly listening to lived experiences and supporting families' greatest needs, our network of FRCs serve tens of thousands of children and their caregivers and act as the community anchor that serves as a bridge between the community and city systems.

I am writing to express our gratitude for the Mayor's commitment in the Proposed Budget to provide $7M in additional funding to FRCs over the next two years, and to emphasize that marginalized children and families need more to be able to survive, and hopefully, even thrive in San Francisco.

I can't imagine our childcare and preschools without the support our children, families and teachers receive from our family support programs and team. We see how much our children and families struggle every day, and how much help is needed to access childcare and get to preschool (i.e., transportation, hunger, legal advocacy, language barriers, parental support, etc.). It's detrimental to the children we serve if we don't support the units/ their families that they go home to for the rest of the days and their lives.

To have the capacity to be able to meet increased and more intense family and community needs, it is essential that additional funding is allocated in order to:

- Expand the FRC model to support families with school-aged children;
- Improve connections between systems through intentional cross-sector partnerships, critical to the Children & Family Recovery plan; and
- Enhance infrastructure to sustain services and stabilize organizational infrastructures

FRCs are a vital part of the city's child serving systems, working alongside educators to support child and family well-being at home and in communities. For example, FRCs, like Family Connections, also provide childcare, preschool, food pantries, diaper and formula banks, PPE distribution, afterschool programs, summer camps, vaccine information, and much more. We were also a Community Learning Hubs and Summer Together site during the essential time schools were not operating in-person. All our programs are supported by our Family Support team that represent and are from the community and speak Spanish, Cantonese, Mandarin, Vietnamese, Tagalog, and more.

Now more than ever, a two-generation approach to support both children and their families is key to improved outcomes for our children. And to truly become a family-friendly city, we must find ways to sustainably invest more in a meaningful community response to meet families' multiple needs.

We are grateful for the support of FRCs and ask that our request be fully funded so that family support organizations can be the foundation of a community-focused system that supports our most-marginalized families to recover, build back stronger, and thrive in today's San Francisco.

We appreciate your partnership in helping ALL families to recover and to rebuild our city.

With sincere appreciation,

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing in support of funding the Office of Economic and Workforce Development has requested for San Francisco's Economic Core. San Francisco's downtown is the driver of our city's entire economy - it provides jobs for our residents, demand for our small businesses, and the tax base that supports the services, arts, and resources that our communities depend on. Our neighborhoods cannot thrive if our economic engine is jeopardized.

We know at this point that neither tourists nor employees are expected to return to our downtown anytime soon unless we do something. We must give people new reasons to come to downtown if the service workers and the small businesses in our downtown core that depend on their business are to survive. Investing City dollars in community driven efforts that are going to help reinvent our economic core so that it continues to thrive as the economic base for the city and everyone in it - and doing so specifically with initiatives that are going to put the very artists, entrepreneurs, and cultural groups that have been hurt most by the pandemic to work - is the best way to protect our city's economic wellbeing for the future and a win for everyone.

Please maintain the funding OEWD requested for the economic core in their budget proposal.

Sincerely,
Nancy Do

Supervisor Connie Chan,

Dear Supervisors,

The Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

As a member of Senior and Disability Action I wish to express the need in the coming budget of monies for the repair of elevators in single room occupancy (SRO) hotels, the important need for funds to help defray expenses for senior and disabled wheelchair users and more funds to provide for new senior and disabled rental units. The cost of living in this city has become so extreme that many senior and disability residents are hanging by a thread and are in dire need of help. There seems to be plenty of money for the homeless and the restaurant industry but very little for those who have built the economy of this city and now need help in surviving.

I am writing as a member of San Francisco Taxpayers for Public Safety to ask the Board of Supervisors to save Cameo House, a program of the Center on Juvenile and Criminal Justice (CJCJ) which has been serving justice involved women and their children since the 1990's. Cameo House presently serves as home to 10 justice-involved women and their children, thereby breaking a cycle of homelessness and incarceration.

Cameo House serves homeless women, women of color, women with children. Without specific concrete action from the Board of Supervisors and the Office of the Mayor to ensure that Cameo House has access to funding to keep its' doors open, we will lose 10 more beds (plus space for children) of an already woefully inadequate supply of housing for women.

A year of bridge-funding/add-back monies will permit Cameo House a year of transition time to identify a new permanent sponsor. Cameo House has been strongly recommended for funding by OCOH, the Public Defender's Office the Office of the District Attorney, the Sheriff, San Francisco Pretrial Diversion and other justice involved community agencies. The Cameo House' funding request is for $400,000 in 2021-2022 funding for a total annual cost of $750,000.

In a City which prides itself on taking care of its' residents, San Francisco currently has less than 50 beds available to justice involved women. When we consider justice involved women with children, the number of available beds shrinks even further. We must expand the pool of available housing for women and their families, not eliminate another 10 beds from the pool of approximately 50 we currently offer to justice-involved women. The elimination of housing and services for justice-involved families will inevitably create another generation of homeless and incarcerated San Franciscans, a cycle we can start addressing by funding Cameo House.

I respectfully urge City leadership to take tangible action to support this vital community program. Save Cameo House.

Respectfully submitted,

Hello, these are my thoughts...please forward to all committee members, thank you.

Mayor Greed has once again shown her true colors. I have never in my decades as an activist witnessed a mayor who has refused to fulfill the will of the people so consistently. We vote to allot money for housing and she finds a bureaucratic loophole to put the money back in the general fund. The excellent CART program, which has been funded but not implemented, is her next target.

Remember when she was going to start defunding the police because of extreme pressure from the black community? You might have noticed there's a lot on people's minds these days, so when the public outcry died down she went back to placating the POA. Greed was going to build affordable housing on Haight St. Then it was going to be a service center for the unhoused and she killed that.

You unanimously approved and appropriated funds for hotels for the street folks during Covid. She delayed that, then too little, too late.

Keep CART funded, keep funding for low-income housing, fund social services not more cops, and stand up to this bully.

Speak Truth Be Power,

Magick

Dear President Walton, Chair Ronen, and Supervisors,

As tenant's rights, affordable housing, labor, and community-based organizations from across the City we join together to urge your support for the proposed $122 million investment in new, upgraded, and more accessible affordable housing via a Certificate of Participation (COP) ordinance as authored by Supervisor Preston.

In the midst of this precarious period of faltering recovery for working families, seniors, and communities it is essential for the present budget process to address both immediate service needs and make new investments in affordable housing. The proposed COP public investment fund is an essential step forward for such a strategy. Funding from the COP will build new affordable housing and make existing housing safer and more accessible for working families, seniors, and BIPOC communities.

These investments must not be postponed.

Without investing now in acquiring the land to build community based affordable housing, speculators and upscale developers will take over even more of this City, threatening small businesses, workplaces, and vulnerable neighborhoods. Without providing funding for the development of educator and other new housing we will see more essential workers forced out of the city. We also cannot further delay renovations of neglected public and co-operative housing or installations of upgraded elevators in SROs. These and other crucial investments cannot wait for some hypothetical better fiscal year in some undetermined future.

Fortunately, by their approval of Proposition I voters have provided the City with the capacity to make these investments. Since the passage of Proposition I in 2020, San Francisco has raised over $220 million in new revenue. Pursuant to this Board's instructions, this past March the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board released a balanced package of recommendations for allocating that revenue to strengthen existing programs and lay the groundwork for innovative, inclusive, and community-based solutions.

But without the COP this City will fall further behind in achieving any semblance of a jobs-housing balance. Market rate development has proven it cannot address the needs of everyday people. And the City's present plans for affordable housing fall far short of addressing unmet existing or future housing needs. With the COP, we can immediately break ground on deeply needed educator housing, begin essential improvements in affordable housing, and set ourselves up for faster and more feasible future projects with a land acquisition fund.

Such significant investments in preserving, protecting, and producing truly affordable housing are crucial to a more just and equitable economic recovery for our workers and communities. We urge your support for this initiative.

Hello Brent,

Please see an additional comment from a colleague.

My name is Cathy Cormier, and I am the branch manager at the Marina Branch Library, a branch which does not have Building and Grounds Patrol officer as part of our staff team. Branch managers are responsible for maintaining a safe, pleasant and welcoming environment at our branch libraries, public buildings that are open and freely accessible to all. Most library branches - like Marina - have no consistent security support, putting patrons, staff and the general public at risk. I urge you to provide the funding needed to hire additional 8207 Building and Grounds Patrol Officers. These officers are trained in de-escalation, able to assist in the enforcement of the Library Code of Conduct, helping to ensure our San Francisco Public Library branches are safe and welcoming for all. As public libraries are public buildings, open and accessible to all, the Building and Grounds Patrol Officers are an essential part of our library staff team. Thank you.

Thank you,

Cathy

I hope you can add this comment to your list of e mail responses.

Dear Honorable Supervisors,

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

I am a board member of the South Of Market Business Association and own a small business in SOMA which is one of the areas in the city most impacted by crime, graffiti, homelessness and pollution.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces that are now receiving support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors and patrons in some of the City's most challenged, central blocks would be a loss. We know that many parts of our city are not receiving this type of support, but need here has been unprecedented and there is still much work to do. Please, now is not the time to go backwards.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability in some of the city's most challenged blocks. But there is still a lot of work to do and it is critical we continue and build upon these services.

ENDOREMENT FOR TOM OSTLY as DISTRICT ATTORNEY APPOINTEE:

The 1100 Block of Market Street meeting group* addresses health and safety issues in the mid-market corridor via a monthly meeting and calls to action or advocacy. The primarily focus of the group remains around the effects of street level drug dealing, use and the associated unhealthy and/or criminal behavior. When he was an Asst. DA, Mr. Ostly attended the 1100 Block meeting and provided insight into the way city prosecutes (or does not prosecute) those cases.

As the de-facto chair of this group, I endorse Mr. Ostly to be the next District Attorney for San Francisco, and urge Mayor Breed to make that call.

Mr. Ostly was detailed by the SF District Attorney to Southern and Tenderloin in 2017 to address drug related problems in those neighborhoods. During his time as a prosecutor Tom was actively out in the community listening for and addressing the issues raised. He speaks eloquently on the topics of Harm Reduction, the obstacles law enforcement faces in dealing with dealing, and is a reasoned voice on these topics. San Franciscans would benefit greatly from his knowledge, experience, and demeanor were he appointed District Attorney.

After Mr. Ostly left the District Attorney's office he continued to attend the 1100 Block meetings -- and several other similar groups-- as a private citizen and neighbor. He offers potential solutions in an honest and straightforward manner and supports the work of SFPD, Urban Alchemy, and the Mayor. During the Mayor's recent emergency declaration, Mr. Ostly attended the SFPD Tenderloin lineups and followed up with community stakeholders over what was being accomplished. Once out of the office, he continued to care about the issues.

He has the right measures of compassion, respect for law enforcement protocols, experience with the populations that challenge the systems these days, and the ability to objectively asses how to consider and balance criminal justice needs with personal health and safety issues, and will be able to restore some sense of civility and equitability to what is now the shambled environment of justice and law enforcement.

I think Mr. Ostly would be the District Attorney San Francisco needs and am pleased that Mr. Boudin has been recalled to offer this opportunity.

Please urge the Mayor to make the right call.

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

Please do not cut $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin.

This program drastically improves conditions on the street and saves lives. It should be expanded, not cut. We need more ambassadors, covering a wider area and operating 24 hours a day.

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Supervisor Catherine Stefani,

Dear Supervisors,

The Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Dear Supervisors Ronen, Safai, Mar, Chan, and Walton,

I'm a policy coordinator at the Young Women's Freedom Center in D6, but I'm submitting this public comment on the city budget as a homeowner in D8. I strongly urge you to redirect the $52M increase to SFPD's budget that Mayor Breed has proposed to fund community resources and care.

Today's Supreme Court decision, along with other recent devastating decisions by that body, makes it more urgent than ever that San Francisco steps up as a progressive leader in California. At a time when more and more people's mere existence is being endangered across the country, it's your responsibility to make San Francisco a livable city for all.

We can't incarcerate away the deep disparities and real struggles that people are experiencing, yet the Mayor's budget places criminalization above real solutions to the root causes of our issues. So I'm asking you as the city's leaders to fight for long-lasting, progressive change instead.

We need investment in housing and tenant rights; community-led programming; harm interruption and prevention; workforce development; access to healthcare, mental health services, and other therapeutic services; food security; and more. I support fully funding community service providers such as (but not limited to) the member organizations of the Budget Justice Coalition. I support fully funding CART, which provides a street response model that prioritizes care and stability during crises.

As for how to fund these investments, I recommend starting with the parts of the SFPD budget that Supervisor Preston had identified to be held, in addition to savings from the Sheriff's Department cuts that the Budget Justice Coalition has identified. Both those departments feed into the city's criminalization and incarceration machine, which only further destabilizes communities instead of truly making them safer.

Crumbling federal protections aside, countless public comments from earlier today make it clear that many families and workers continue to struggle hard in this pandemic. Carceral institutions have failed to make life safer or better for most of San Francisco. It's imperative, and beyond time, to redirect their bloated funds and prioritize community resources and support infrastructure in our city budget.

Thank you,
Christine Wei

Dear Supervisors Ronen, Chan, Mar, Safai, and Walton:

As a San Francisco resident, I am concerned about the current apparent lack of City agencies' transparency.

The Sunshine Ordinance Task Force has been understaffed for more than a decade, with the result that it has been constrained in its efforts to protect the public's interest in open government. The Task Force must be well staffed to be effective in serving the public's need—and right—to review City operations.

Please promote and sustain open government by approving the Sunshine Ordinance Task Force budgetary requests for the coming fiscal year. Thank you for your consideration.

COALITION ON HOMELESSNESS

June 24, 2022

Dear Supervisors:

DEM is proposing to replace the $3 million allocated to CART this year for instead one-time funding to support community-based organizations (CBOs) in strengthening their outreach teams to be better integrated with the City's non-emergency and non-medical calls for service, estimated at 5,200 calls annually. The CBO teams will collaborate with the City's Street Response teams in responding to 3-1-1 calls and service requests. Funding would augment existing street outreach efforts.

As a reminder, CART is designed to be a NEW TEAM to respond to 70K to 90K existing C level 911 calls that POLICE currently respond to. CART would complement current city street outreach efforts.

Background and Details:

CART, the Compassionate Alternative Response Team, is a community-based program concept created collectively by the community, city officials, and academics to replace police response to 911 calls regarding the presence of unhoused San Franciscans. We are asking the Board of Supervisors to prioritize the necessary and needed funding to get CART up and running. To date the program has not been implemented.

This board has already funded CART at $3M from last year's budget cycle yet the most recent city budget has that $3M being moved to other street teams instead. We need the existing funds to be carried over, as well as the $3.7M added to ensure full year funding next fiscal year.

With this funding we can get CART rolling so that the community has the resources to provide a humane, dignified and compassionate response.

In January, 2020, the SFPD unanimously passed a resolution to move away from a police response to homelessness with support from Chief Scott. The BOS sponsored a stakeholders' group to design that alternative, a year later, that alternative was developed as CART. This year Mayor Breed is proposing a massive expansion to SFPD, citing retirements and raising wages, citing vacant positions. At the same time, SFPD is spending a large portion of its officer's time responding to low level homeless related calls. This number is between 70k and 90k per year. It takes the police about an hour to respond, and typically the individual in question is gone by the time they get there.

CART would turn around this practice of a police response to homelessness and instead send out highly paid, highly trained (500 hours) peer team to respond. Peer responders provide a future of care not criminalization for unhoused residents of San Francisco. When properly implemented, CART will empower and build relationships with underserved communities in San Francisco, especially those that have been impacted by responses from police and other institutionalized agents. Providing community organizations with culturally competent training and resources will help them build relationships with unhoused neighbors who they directly work with.

CART is intentionally designed to be a community response, not an institutional response. While an institutional response is important in some circumstances, such as high level medical incidents, a community response is a much better fit for C level, homeless calls. We believe CART should be placed in DPH.

Understanding that race and gender disparities exist in our city, creating a new response team that fills the missing gap with individuals who share language, cultural and racial backgrounds will effectively benefit our communities' response to homelessness. However this response cannot simply augment existing efforts as proposed by DEM. This response cannot focus on 311 calls. The vision is to replace 911 calls that are currently responded to by police, that is the impetus of the design. We are trying to decrease the reliance on police to respond to socio economic issues. This proposal will also improve outcomes for folks on the streets. A police response exacerbates homelessness by wasting resources, displacing unhoused community members away from their support system and issuing citations which destroy individuals' credit when those tickets go unpaid. A CART response would focus on moving people off the streets permanently and addressing the immediate needs of all those involved, instead of just moving homeless people around.

Think of the services and support that our unhoused community could have received if CART was already implemented. When successfully implemented, CART will provide our communities with alternatives to alleviate the stigma behind homelessness and the social issues unaddressed by our civic systems. Please fully fund CART at $6.7 using the $3m from the Mayor and adding $3.7m more.

Sincerely,

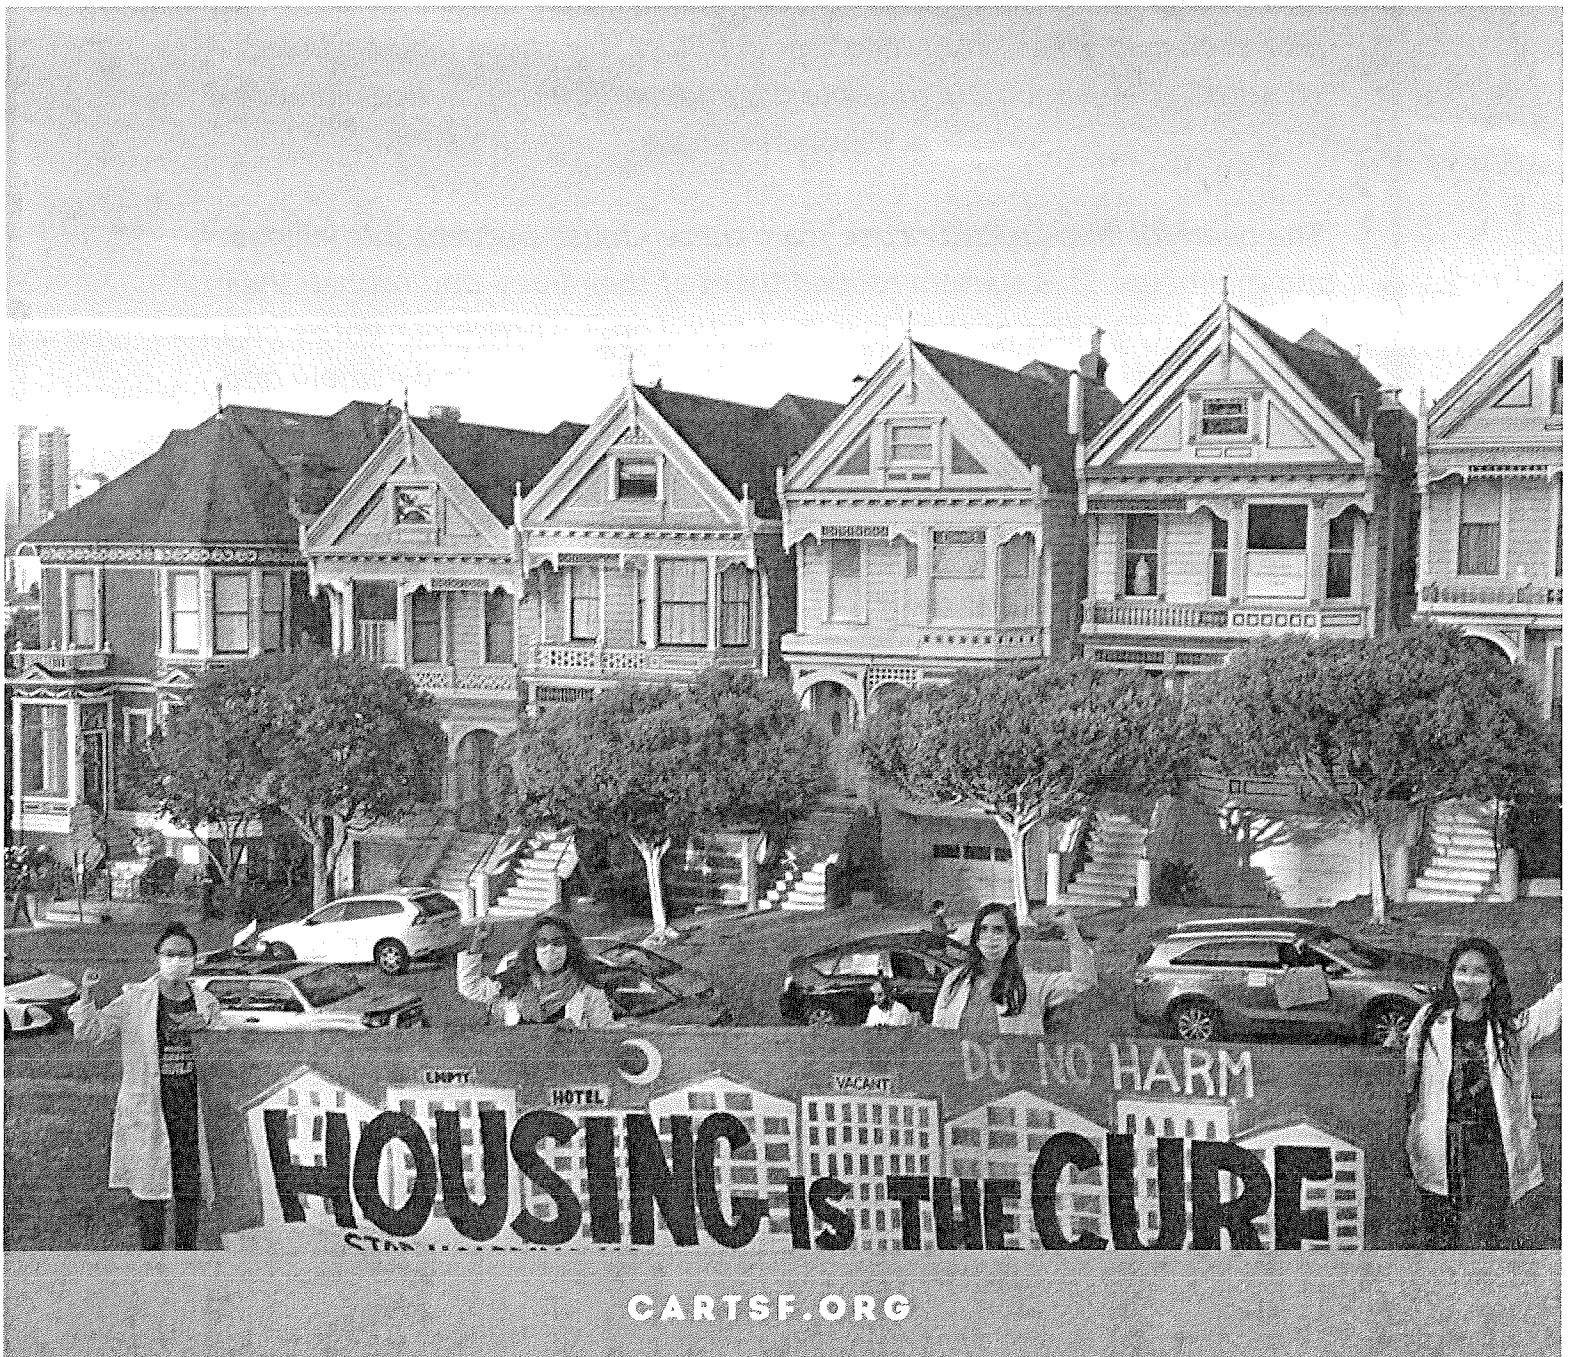

Jennifer Friedenbach
Executive Director

A COMMUNITY PLAN FOR SAN FRANCISCO

This report is dedicated to everyone who has been killed by police in San Francisco, and to the friends, family, and survivors of police violence who are healing and holding their people with love.

Phillip Randal Dunklin, Charles Blair Hill, Joshua Boling, Bernard Warren, Luis Góngora Pat, Alice Brown, Jessica Williams, Joshua Bowling, Donald Merchant and his pit Pretty Girl, and Jamaica Hampton are the names of a few individuals suffering homelessness who in the last decade have been severely abused, maimed or killed by San Francisco police.

For those who died, may they rest in power, for those who survived, may they rise above the multiple traumas inflicted by police violence and homelessness.

The need for this project arose from these unjust, preventable killings and maimings. This system robbed them of their lives, and robbed their friends and families of their precious loved ones. It robs our entire city of community members who make up the San Francisco we know and love, and that keeps us living and working here despite the high cost of living and rampant inequality.

This project asks what kind of City would be possible if unhoused neighbors were treated as worthy of life and dignity rather than as a nuisance or a threat, and if trauma-informed, unarmed civilians had been called to help rather than control the individuals named above. Many of us who have worked on this effort have personally witnessed and experienced the cruelty of the current system. Whether that be the tears of losing one's property, the trauma of displacement to nowhere, or the loss of life-saving medications, these practices have led to deaths on the streets from despair, and disconnection from key medical and housing services.

Compassionate Alternative Response Team (CART) imagines that it would be a safer, healthier, and more vital city for the Black and Brown people who live and spend time here, and ultimately for everyone.

CART SF - A Community Plan for San Francisco

was published and released to the public on January 19, 2021

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

CART SF - Executive Summary (Full CART SF Community Plan linked here).

On a typical day, San Francisco Police Department (SFPD) officers respond to 179 homelessness-related incidents, or 1,253 weekly, most often resulting in move-along orders, citations, and destruction of property; systematically limiting homeless people's access to services, housing, and jobs, while damaging their health, safety, and well-being.

In an attempt to alter the method with which housed residents reported encounters with homelessness the City established a 311 reporting system in 2007. The Healthy Streets Operation Center (HSOC) was established in January of 2018 as a proposed remedy for complaints due to tent encampments. Many members of the public did not want to have their calls diverted away from the police which resulted in a ballooning effect, increasing reports of violations of the Sit/Lie ordinance by 263%. This led to an intensification of resources to increased police presence during Department of Public Works crews coordinated through HSOC. At one point there were upwards of 52 officers working under HSOC. Due to the additional staffing, citations for Sit/Lie ordinance violations increased by 300%, nearly a third of San Francisco jail population identified as homeless, and unsheltered homeless rose by 19%.

Recognizing that additional police resources were not sufficiently exiting individuals out of homelessness, the San Francisco Police Commission unanimously passed a resolution in January of 2020 calling for a more effective response to homelessness to be developed that would eliminate the use of police officers as a first and primary response. A stakeholder group was established, forming a coalition of those impacted by police violence and community based organizations to work in partnership with representatives from the Mayor's office, staff from the Board of Supervisors, and City Agencies. Acknowledging the promise of such a program, the Board of Supervisors placed $2 million in reserve during the latest budget process to seed this yet to be determined program.

Despite being sidelined by COVID-19, the process started in July 2020 with over 50 participants working collectively. City departments and officials, community organizations, mental health consumers, people with lived experience with homelessness, service providers, advocates and academics were encouraged to envision a new way of approaching street crisis. From the start, the group was intentional about centering unhoused individuals in the design of the alternative. 95 unhoused neighbors, ages 18 to 67, were surveyed. Their responses were foundational in establishing a new response model that would eliminate police responses which have exacerbated racial disparities and disproportionately left those who are unhoused, disabled, and experiencing poverty feeling as if they are unwanted and disposable.

The new model would be called Compassionate Alternative Response Team (CART). CART reengineers emergency communications, dispatch, and response strategy to address the social and behavioral health needs occurring in public spaces while uplifting the unhoused.

CART is designed with two components:

1) CART Dispatch Response: The first provides a specialized police-alternative dispatch response to calls from and calls for unhoused neighbors in crisis, and the establishment of a new hotline to call CART directly. CART dispatch response recommendations include:

- Scope of CART Dispatch Response for C-Priority Calls involving unhoused people in the City, on the street or in temporary shelters for the following dispatch radio codes: 800, 801, 910, 915, 916, 917, 919, 920.
- Establish a new, direct CART hotline
- Establish a timeline for CART deployment phases with SFDEM
- Develop CART Dispatch process
- End the use of SFPD in DPW Encampment responses
- Eliminate HSOC
- Repeal Sit/Lie Law
- Implement CART to SFDEM Dispatch Training and add a CART-specific dispatch code
- Revise dispatcher questions format to accurately identify CART appropriate scenarios
- Establish co-trainings between SFDEM, CART, and Street Crisis Response Team (SCRT)
- Establish an ongoing process of improving 311 and 911 call evaluation by dispatch operators as well as the priority designations given to incidents in which an unhoused person is involved
- Develop a Collaborating, Learning, and Adapting Working Group (CLA) between CART, SFDEM/DEC and SCRT, and other City departments to review call-taking and dispatch incident data, no less than on a quarterly basis. CLA will monitor and evaluate alternative responses to policing, and determine necessary adaptations
- Undertake SFDEM data development project to identify how many dispatched police incidents involve unhoused persons. There currently is no disaggregated data on homelessness-related incidents for each SFDEM code.
- Establish open data portal for public (non-confidential) data collected on homelessness related incidents and alternative responses to policing by CART and SCRT

2) CART Street Response: The second component serves as a community-strengthening hub to empower housed neighbors to more "compassionately respond" directly to their unhoused neighbors. CART street response recommendations include:

- The CART program should consist of two categories of staff and primarily employ individuals with lived experience of poverty and/or homelessness
  - "CART Crisis Response Staff"
  - "CART Community Engagement Staff"
- CART program's visual street appearance should be distinguishable and contradistinctive from the appearance of law enforcement
- CART is funded and staff for 24 hours a day, seven (7) days a week
- CART team be privately run by a non-governmental organization
- CART be subject to government and community oversight, with data and ongoing analysis shared in a public venue, to allow for accountability and public feedback

The two-prong scope of the CART program will divert a significant number of homelessness-related calls away from SFPD, while building capacity within San Francisco's neighborhoods to de-escalate and compassionately resolve homelessness-related conflicts directly between neighbors, thereby reducing the total number of homelessness-related calls made to dispatch in the first place and reducing police interactions with those experiencing homelessness. CART responses focus on the well-being of the unhoused rather than the complaint of the caller, an approach that is foundational to the CAHOOTS model program. This will affirm the civil rights of those experiencing homelessness, as well as educating residents and business owners about life preserving approaches to reduce homelessness.

Measurable Outcomes of the CART Program would include:

- Reduce police dispatches to homelessness-related quality-of-life complaints
- Reduce the number of individuals transported to the emergency department for low acuity medical-related issues that could instead be addressed in a pre-hospital care setting.
- Reduce the number of behavioral health and lower acuity medical calls traditionally responded to by the Police and Fire Departments and improve outcomes for those on the streets.
- Reduce the number of homelessness-related calls to dispatch, in areas where the CART program's community-strengthening interventions have occurred.

It is recommended that CART be funded by a diversion of funds from the SFPD budget. This could be achieved by diverting funding currently spent by the SFPD responding to homelessness-related quality-of-life violations (BLA estimates this to be at $18.5 million). The annual budget for the CAHOOTS program is about $2.1 million for responding to 24,000 calls for service. In San Francisco, adjusting for higher salaries, due to higher housing costs, and adjusting for the higher number of calls (65,000 annually) to be responded to, the budget is estimated to be $6,825,000. Implementing CART will yield at least $11 million in savings annually, and interrupt cycles of harm and violence that is all too prevalent when a police response is applied to situations involving an unhoused individual.

CART holds those who are on the margins of our community at the center of proper systems of care that result in dignity – instead of neglect – from institutions, investing in solution providers that live in the community and who see the challenges daily as residents. It is a community-led, government-funded response that is intentionally less violent in approach, focused on building safety for all.

INTRODUCTION & CONTEXT

Introduction
Problem Statement
Coalition Process

INTRODUCTION

The collective inability to deliver long-term solutions to the most vulnerable residents of this city leaves everyone feeling at a loss. Over the years, utilizing police as the first point of contact to address conflicts between housed residents, business owners, and unhoused neighbors have accumulated resentments by endangering lives, exhausting community members, enraging advocacy groups, and frustrating police officers. Despite the San Francisco Police Department's (SFPD) attempts to re-engineer tactical applications of police interventions in calls for service, including a significant change in the SFPD Use of Force policies in 2016, there has not been a significant decline in the level of homelessness in San Francisco. Newly homeless residents continue to outpace the rate at which current city responses are exiting people from homelessness.

The failure of a police-led response to lead to stable housing has for too long inflicted trauma and pushed individuals deeper into poverty. Recognizing that this over-reliance on police responses to homelessness was not effective, the San Francisco Police Commission unanimously passed a resolution in January of 2020 establishing a stakeholder group, tasking it with the launch of a community-led process to develop an alternative response to the needs of people experiencing homelessness. Community meetings generated a framework for affirmative health-based approaches that we are confident will achieve healing for those traumatized by the revolving door of unnecessary involvement with police, jails, and criminality.

Homelessness must not be treated as a personal failure, and yet relying on a police response signals that these experiences are criminal and adjacent to criminogenic behavior. Though racism, ableism, and disability discrimination do not impact the lives of all who come into contact with police, they do exacerbate the racial disparities that exist among the population of San Francisco residents experiencing homelessness, and lead to an unequal distribution of resources and life chances.

COVID-19 has only further revealed the community's deep desire for a compassionate and dignified response to struggling neighbors. The pandemic's challenges will persist long after the majority of San Francisco is vaccinated. Forty-three percent of all U.S. rental households are at risk of eviction. Lethal overdoses due to fentanyl and other street-dealt drugs are three times the rate they occurred during pre-COVID times. Where government supports have fallen short or are nonexistent, community interventions have tried to catch folks. The isolation and lack of resources/services has unleashed immeasurable devastation and the heartbreak of COVID makes it more urgent to have actual pathways to service, a response that can help people get support and care, and out of the self-perpetuating cycle of desperation that often leads to cycles of trauma, crisis, and violence.

Compassionate Alternative Response Team, or CART, will create a system of care where people can ask for help before conflict escalates to violence.

The individual harms experienced by this population form a staggering cumulative disadvantage

The lack of easy access to meaningful recovery pathways is itself an escalation of violence, and mixing that with an unwanted police interaction is often traumatic to a community and potentially lethal.

While death and violence are the most severe negative outcome of a police response to the status of being destitute, there are many other shortfalls to this response. Police respond to approximately over 60,000 calls of these types (see dispatch section, page 27) – whether it be the presence of an encampment or an unhoused person in psychiatric distress. It is not only inhumane to respond to economically displaced individuals with armed officers, it is also ineffective and a poor use of resources. Typically, the outcome is that the person is no longer there, or is moved down the block or across the street. Rarely does a police response lead to ending an episode of homelessness, yet millions of dollars are spent on this same response – millions that could be used to invest in long-term solutions.

In this report, CART lays out a specific vision for a non-police response to homelessness. This alternative to a police response would decrease the workload and hours spent by police responding to homelessness and would necessitate reallocating police funding to resource the alternative.

This coalition comes together to articulate a San Francisco where CART organizes responses to vulnerable, unhoused individuals around care, decency, and dismantling systemic racism codified as barriers to healthy outcomes. The recommendations herein are informed by impacted community members. With the support of Code Tenderloin, Mission Street Neighborhood Services, Senior and Disability Action, Coalition on Homelessness, and community volunteers 95 individuals were surveyed. They were asked about needs which have long been unmet and what they wanted to see for the future. The survey results confirm what advocacy groups have acknowledged for so long – they deeply want structural responses rooted in preserving lives. A CART response will eliminate police responses that disproportionately leave those who are unhoused, disabled, and experiencing poverty feeling as if they are unwanted and disposable.

CART holds those who are on the margins of our community at the center of proper systems of care that result in dignity – instead of neglect – from institutions, investing in solution providers that live in the community and who see the challenges daily as residents. It is a community-led, government-funded response that is intentionally less violent in approach, focused on building safety for all.

The Shortfalls of San Francisco's Current Police Response to Homelessness

Policing Perpetuates Homelessness and Harms Physical and Mental Health

In 2015, the Coalition on Homelessness and sociologists from University of California, Berkeley's Human Rights Center conducted a study on the impact of anti-homeless laws on those experiencing homelessness. The study surveyed 351 unhoused San Franciscans, conducted in-depth interviews with 43, and analyzed a trove of administrative data from City departments. It found that policing nearly always resulted in move-along orders, citations, and destruction of property, which systematically limited homeless people's access to services, housing, and jobs, while damaging their health, safety, and well-being. This echoes both previous and subsequent findings of studies completed in other U.S. cities and abroad. Since the report's release, the policing of homelessness has only intensified as the City has more than doubled the number of officers dedicated to policing homelessness.

Experiences of policing due to homelessness was widespread.

- Move-along orders: 70% of respondents had been forced to move from a public space. 93% of those camping, 88% residing on the streets, 80% residing in vehicles, 72% staying with friends/families, 61% of those in shelter, and 55% of those in a residential hotel had been forced to move from public space.
- Searches: 56% of respondents reported having been searched while homeless. 21% reported that they had been searched within the month.
- Property Destruction: 46% of respondents reported having their belongings taken by City officials while homeless, and 38% reported having belongings destroyed by City officials.
- Citations: 69% of respondents were cited in the past year, and 22% of respondents received more than five citations in the past year. 90% of respondents were unable to pay the fine for their last citation. Unpaid fines create barriers to exiting homelessness, negatively affecting access to jobs, housing, and services.

Police interactions do not result in connection to services.

- SFPD is far and away the largest displacer – accounting for 84% of displacements, 204 of the 244 most recent displacements reported by respondents.
- Services or even information on services were rarely offered by SFPD. Only 24 out of the 204 respondents who reported being forced to move were offered services – most often a pamphlet, shelter bed, or sandwich.
- San Francisco's shelters consistently have a waiting list of over 1,000 people for a 90-day bed, and each night hundreds of people fall asleep in chairs waiting for a one-night bed. The city has less than 3,000 shelter beds for an unsheltered population of over 9,000 (2019 numbers).

Policing resulted in adverse effects for most of those experiencing homelessness. Most significantly was prolonging homelessness by creating barriers to housing, services, and jobs and worsening physical and mental health.

- Quality of life-enforcement amplified risks of conflict, sexual assault, and violence by forcing people to move into unfamiliar areas and straining relationships on the street. 30% of participants reported increased insecurity after being forced to move.
- Move-along orders disrupted sleep, the stability of mentally unwell people, and created challenges for social workers and health care providers to follow-up with their clients.
- Property confiscation frequently resulted in the loss of critical medications, benefit cards and important paperwork required for services, tools for work, and precious personal mementos
- Unpaid citations resulted in bench warrants, increased fines, and spoiled credit ratings creating barriers to accessing housing, services, and work. (*Significant reforms have since been made to reduce these burdens by SF Courts).

Enforcement is Costly and Ineffective

According to San Francisco's Department of Emergency Management (DEM), SFPD was dispatched to 65,333 homeless related calls in 2019. In other words, SFPD officers responded to 179 homelessness-related incidents on a typical day, or 1,253 each week. Police also responded to thousands of 311 calls as escorts to Department of Public Works (DPW) crews addressing encampments coordinated by the Healthy Street Operations Center (HSOC). Homelessness-related calls do not include all police responses to reported crimes that involve people experiencing homelessness, but rather a limited set of quality-of-life laws directly aimed at homelessness, such as violating the City's ban on tents, sitting or lying on the sidewalk, illegal lodging, panhandling, blocking a sidewalk, trespassing, etc.

What are the costs and outcomes of this police response to homelessness?

A Budget Legislative Analyst (BLA) report of the City investigated these questions in 2016 and concluded that "current enforcement measures are too expensive" and that the department had "limited results from enforcing quality-of-life laws against the homeless." The report found that the City incurred approximately $20.6 million in 2015 for sanctioning people experiencing homelessness. SFPD accounted for 90 percent of these costs, or $18.5 million. Although an estimate for more recent years is not available, the associated costs with policing in 2020 are far higher. The primary cost to policing homelessness are officer salaries. At the time of the BLA report, SFPD had anywhere between 19 – 24 officers at any given time responding primarily to homelessness complaints. In 2019, the SFPD had 52 officers working under HSOC responding to homelessness-related 911 calls and escorting DPW crews addressing encampments. The BLA report, which drew from data between 2014 – 2015, found that of the 60,491 homelessness-related incidents, police officers were unable to locate alleged violators in 26.5 percent (15,164) of these cases. At least 8.3 percent (4,711) of cases resulted in a citation directly attributable to homelessness, and only 0.2 percent (125) resulted in arrests. The majority of incidents therefore resulted in a move-along order. A subsequent analysis of citations with more comprehensive court data in 2018 found three times the rate of citation, with 14,888 citations given in 2014. Although the rate of arrest for a homeless related quality-of-life violation is low, according to the city's 2019 Point-in-Time Count survey, 25% of respondents reported spending at least one night in jail or prison in the past 12 months. Furthermore, in 2019, 472 of approximately 1,500 inmates in San Francisco jails identified as homeless at the time of their arrest on the evening of the point in time count.

One of the main goals of quality-of-life laws is to preserve public spaces in the city. However, there is no evidence that the current police response results in a reduction of visible homelessness. The BLA report noted that the number of homeless individuals increased during the period of their data analysis between 2011 and 2015 according to the City's biennial point-in-time count. Between 2017 and 2019, years that saw an intensification of resources dedicated to policing homelessness under HSOC, unsheltered homelessness increased by 19% from 4,353 to 5,180.

In the UC Berkeley and Coalition study, survey participants were asked where they relocated following their most recent move-along order from city officials. Only 9% of respondents reported moving indoors. Of these, some reported moving to drop-in centers, but the most common responses were moving to a public library or taking a ride on the bus – indoor spaces that are both public and limited to daytime hours. On the other hand, 91 percent of respondents remained on the streets or in parks, simply moving to a new outdoor location.

The primary reaction following a move-along order was simply to move down the street, around the corner, or to walk around and return after the police had left – a tactic taken by 64 percent following their last displacement.

A Police Response to Homelessness Exacerbates Racial Inequality

The policing of homelessness disproportionately exposes Black people to the criminal justice system. These laws don't include overtly racist language, so why is anti-homeless policing anti-Black? First off, African Americans experience homelessness far more often than their white counterparts. While only 13 percent of the U.S. population is African American, 41 percent of those counted as homeless are African American. In San Francisco, 37 percent of those surveyed in the city's 2019 Point-in-Time Count were Black, while Black people represent only 5% of the city's total population.

Second, not only do those who find themselves homeless face frequent policing, but Black people experiencing homelessness are also more often policed. The Coalition and UC Berkeley study found that unhoused Black San Franciscans experienced citations, searches, arrest, and having their property destroyed more frequently than their unhoused white counterparts. The effects of gentrification and urban revitalization not only exacerbate Black homelessness, but may also intensify the policing of Black bodies. Consider the trend of white callers calling on Black men that have gained prominent media attention, such as the woman who called the police after feeling threatened by a Black bird watcher in New York City's Central Park, or "BBQ Betty" who called the police on a Black family having a barbecue in an Oakland park. These and other instances highlight how a police response to homelessness contributes to exacerbating the racial inequalities of criminal justice treatment.

Due to the adverse effects of the current policing approach in San Francisco on those experiencing homelessness, its costly and ineffective ability to remove visible homelessness from public space, and its role in perpetuating racial inequality, a new strategy is needed to address street homelessness.

During the pandemic, there has been an inconsistently followed policy of allowing tents to stay if they follow basic guidelines, such as not blocking sidewalks or doorways. This was based on recommendations from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to allow unhoused people to shelter in place in tents if there are no housing alternatives to minimize spread of the virus and allow for easier contact tracing. However, in some instances, displacements of tents have occurred without adequate housing alternatives, while in other areas of the city, tents have been allowed to stay.

Coalition Process

After the Police Commission passed the resolution calling for the Board of Supervisors to create a stakeholders' group to develop an alternative, preliminary meetings were pulled together in February 2020 under the leadership of Police Commissioner John Hamasaki to design a collaborative community process. The concept was to have an informal participatory inclusive process that unified community members with key City departments and elected officials. The Departments of Public Health, Emergency Management, and Homelessness and Supportive Housing, as well as the Mayor's Office, were identified as key departments to be involved. Staff from Supervisor District offices with high numbers of unhoused residents were invited, including those of Supervisors Matt Haney, Dean Preston, Hillary Ronen, and Shamann Walton. In addition, the office of Supervisor Sandra Fewer, gave technical support. The Supervisors secured two million on reserve in the budget process for this program.

Organizations who had a stake in the creation of an alternative to a police department response were invited as well, including Code Tenderloin, United Council of Human Services, Hospitality House, Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights, Senior and Disability Action, Glide Foundation, Community Housing Partnership, and many more listed in this report.

The process planning was sidelined for a few months when the pandemic hit, but the formal process started up in July 2020. The Coalition on Homelessness hired Patrick Brown, senior consultant from the Justice Collective, to facilitate the process, and various organizations provided other forms of in-kind support.

Patrick Brown assisted the over 50 participants to collectively form a visioning and goals process, to utilize decision making to create outcomes. City officials, members of poor people's organizations, mental health consumers, people with lived experience with homelessness, service providers, advocates and academics were encouraged to dream and envision a new way of approaching street crisis. From the start, the group was intentional about centering unhoused individuals in the design of the alternative, seeking their input to form the foundation of the work.

Three subcommittees were formed: research, dispatch and communications, and collectively the committees created a response model, which effectively responds to the needs of unhoused people on the streets, while very deliberately designing a system that no longer relies on unnecessary police responses.

The group decided the new model would be called Compassionate Alternative Response Team (CART).

STREET SURVEY

Design
Methodology

Survey Design

The survey was designed to elicit a variety of responses regarding what a non-police response should entail. Survey respondents stayed anonymous but were asked to indicate their age, gender, and race they identified with, as well as which city neighborhood the survey was conducted in. The survey included general questions on what a new program should do and what a positive outcome would be, as well as questions in which survey respondents were asked to think of certain situations and whether they should be responded to and, if so, how.

The survey included the following six open-ended questions:

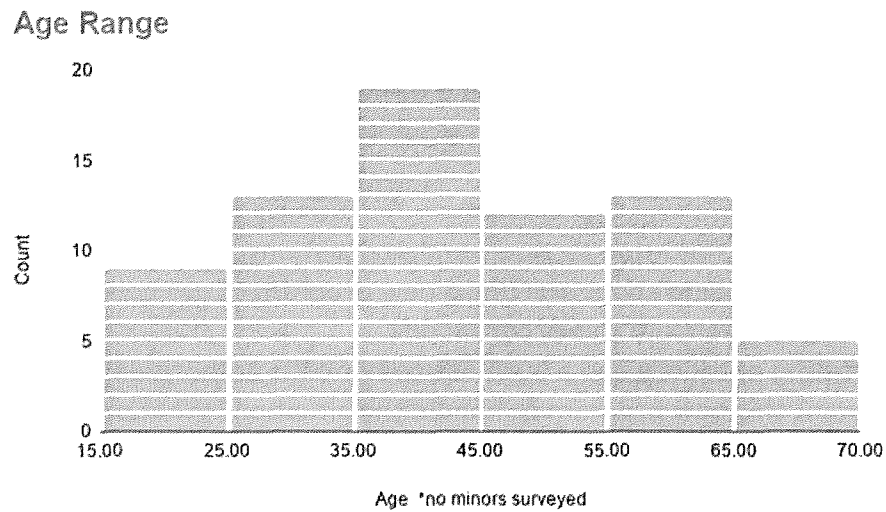

1. San Francisco is thinking about starting a new program to get police out of dealing with homelessness. What should this program do?
2. If you are resting outdoors and a business owner calls authorities to complain, how would you want this new program to handle the situation? What should the new program staff do or say to the business owner?
3. If you are living on the streets and there is a heated argument, would you want this new program to respond and if so, how?
4. If you or someone you know is having a drug or psychiatric crisis, what would you want this new program to do?
5. When you have dealt with police, if it wasn't a good experience, what would you want to have happened instead?
6. What would you consider a positive outcome from your interaction with this new program?

None of the demographic indicators, nor the qualitative questions, required a response for completion of the survey.

Methodology

To conduct the survey, unhoused San Franciscans were reached through individual street outreach as well as at drop-in centers of multiple community organizations, such as Mission Neighborhood Resource Center, Glide, Code Tenderloin and Mother Brown's. A total of 95 surveys were conducted during the months of October, November, and December 2020. Since the survey questions did not require a response, survey participants sometimes declined to answer, resulting in responses not totaling 95 for each question. The survey responses were collected on KoBoToolbox. The responses to each question were analyzed using the method of qualitative coding.

Demographics

95 people were surveyed ranging in ages from 18 to 67.

Analysis

Question 1 - San Francisco is thinking about starting a new program to get police out of dealing with homelessness. What should this program do? - 95 responses

Overwhelmingly, survey respondents described characteristics of individuals staffing a new response team of an alternative to policing. Most responses included that the staff members should be For Us By Us (FUBU), such that they are from the community or have lived experience of homelessness. Respondents said social workers or people with mental and public health backgrounds should work for this team. The people surveyed shared a desire for the response staff to have a culture of understanding – knowing and empathizing with unhoused residents about the traumas of homelessness. As one participant put it, “This new program should have a culture that has a heart for homeless people, with no bias incentive to be mean.”

Desired characteristics/capabilities of new staff

Graph 5. Question I-Distribution of desired characteristics/capabilities of the new program staff

Additionally, a majority of responses laid out what resources this team should have and deploy to folks on the street. Notably, housing and shelter was mentioned most often. Food, hygiene, medical assistance, harm reduction services, and transportation were popular responses as well. It is clear, no matter what the team looks like, it should be well-equipped with services and resources to meet folks' immediate needs.

Question 1 - San Francisco is thinking about starting a new program to get police out of dealing with homelessness. What should this program do?

Sample Responses:

"Hire more people who are felons or who have been homeless or can relate to the streets more. Please."

"The program should be staffed by homeless and formerly homeless people."

"A program that will be hands on to getting to know the community and the people who reside in the community."

"We need them but they need to have understanding and respect."

"This program should be an interdisciplinary team -one like HOT team was supposed to be- consistent of medical, mental health, and harm reduction personnel, as well as generalist advocates. By that I mean someone with a background in social work or social justice, who is passionate about the homeless population and wants to empower them. This new program should respond to people and help them with any needs related to homelessness."

"I think police shouldn't be dealing with homeless people."

"I would like for the new program to be more compassionate, ask more questions and have more resources like do you need medical attention and do you need Narcan and have some available and paper work for homeless resources."

"If the city can staff the 24 hour pitstops, then they can staff an ambassador program 24 hours a day. When the city does the budget, they pay police officers to deal with homelessness. Police need to deal with violent people and with life and death situations. This new program should have a culture that has a heart for homeless people with no bias incentive to be mean. In the past, police could do anything, be mean to people and take their stuff. People that have a heart for homeless people have no incentive to be mean, and so they should be staffed."

"They should create networks of care for trans and homeless users of drugs so they are properly taken care of."

Question 2 - If you are resting outdoors and a business owner calls authorities to complain, how would you want this new program to handle the situation? What should the new program staff do or say to the business owner? - 95 responses

The situation posed led participants to many varied responses including education, Right to Rest, and displacement of people experiencing homelessness (PEH) from public spaces. A majority of respondents who suggested "education" stated the business person should be educated about homelessness and the dearth of safe and dignified public places unhoused residents are often barred from. Few respondents replied educating the person experiencing homelessness about accessibility and blocking sidewalks.

Education response

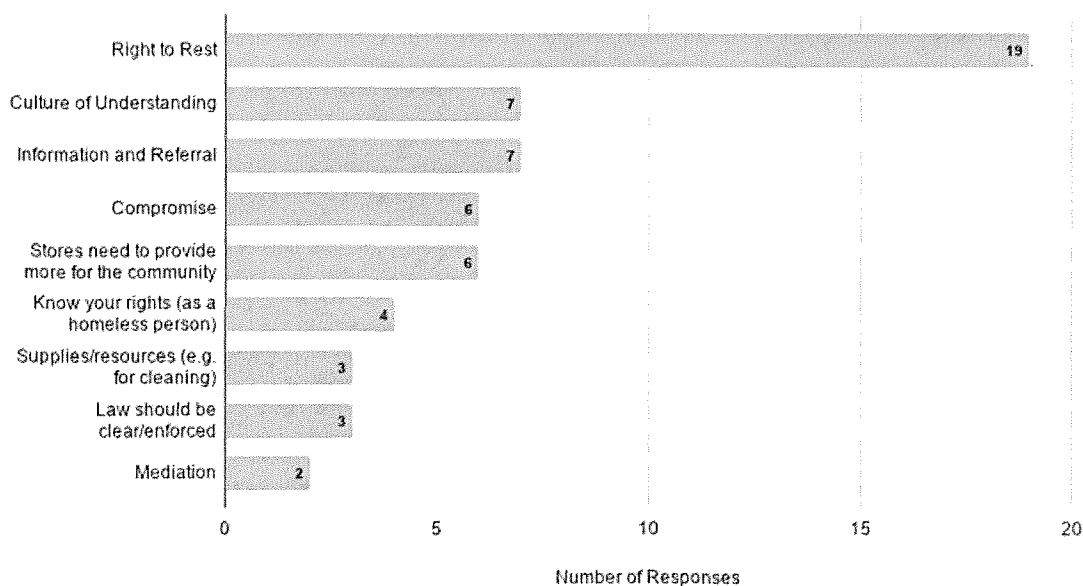

Graph 6. Question II-Distribution of responses suggesting an educational form of response

Another commonality was the Right to Rest, or decriminalizing homelessness to allow folks to sit on the sidewalk, sleep on a bench, or lodge in a tent. Twenty percent of the respondents did not think the person experiencing homelessness should move, but explicitly said that their right to rest be respected. On the other hand, there were respondents who said the person experiencing homelessness should move, with some following up to say they should be brought into housing or shelter while others did not mention where the displaced person should then go. Lastly, there were a handful of respondents who did not answer the question or plainly responded, "I don't know," which demonstrates the difficulty some had with thinking outside the cultural norm of business owners' rights superseding the rights of those on the street.

Question 2 - If you are resting outdoors and a business owner calls authorities to complain, how would you want this new program to handle the situation? What should the new program staff do or say to the business owner?

Other response components

Graph 7. Questions II-Distribution of other desired response components

Sample Responses:

I wonder why homeless people cannot just rest outdoors without causing any trouble to anyone. The new program staff should do nothing if the homeless person did nothing wrong."

"The program should help the homeless person find a spot to rest, and teach the business owner compassion for the homeless."

"New program should inform both the business owner and the person of their rights."

"I mean the new program should tell the business owner something like 'as long as the homeless person isn't bothering customers, just let them rest.'"

"The staff should tell the homeless person a few suggestions on how to avoid the complaints, like cleaning up the street. The staff should tell the business owner to be patient, and teach them to have empathy with the homeless and explain that there is a reason why they are homeless. The staff should not give instructions, but suggestions – not like the police does it."

Question 3 - If you are living on the streets and there is a heated argument, would you want this new program to respond and if so, how? - 82 responses

Similarly to previous questions, participants expressed a desire for a non-carceral, community-centered response which is multi-tiered. A few respondents did not think that the given situation should be responded to; However, the majority of people said the new program should respond. A number of people answered that the team's response should depend on the circumstances and the skill level and approach of available staff (i.e. non-punitive, patience and understanding).

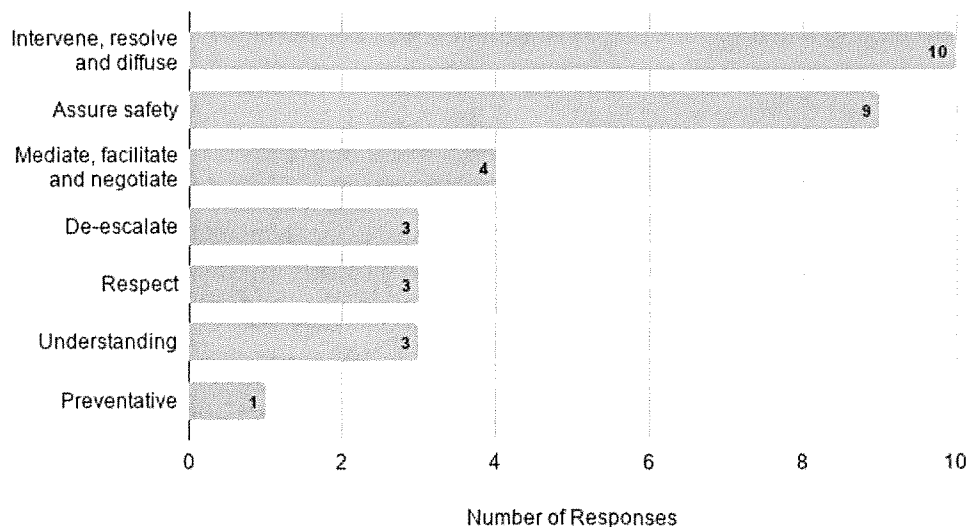

Graph 8 - Breakdown of responses to whether the given scenario should be responded to

Due to the multitude of potential outcomes that could occur within any given situation, participants suggested that the response team should be a well-equipped, diverse, and interdisciplinary team that would create the potential for more robust responses, as well as de-escalation of minor conflicts. A common theme among the responses was a non-judgemental team with a culture of understanding and active listening. It is also important to note that a majority of those favoring a team response to the above scenario stated that the responders should hear both sides of the conflict, mediate without punishment, and ensure the safety of all people involved. Lastly, a response from the team should always be a trauma informed approach which prioritizes the autonomy and agency of people experiencing homelessness.

Question 3 - If you are living on the streets and there is a heated argument, would you want this new program to respond and if so, how?

Key components of a desired response

Sample Responses:

"Diffuse the situation. Prevent violence with a caring attitude. Make sure staff are trained and knowledgeable about violence. Staff should be from/live around the neighborhood so the people will know them. Keep the staff racially balanced and culturally sensitive."

"The program should offer de-escalation advice."

"Heated arguments and situations like that, really require at least two staff people to separate both persons and get each person's side of the argument, hopefully this will lead to both parties shaking hands and no one feeling that they are the loser."

"Yes, this program should respond, because being unhoused comes with a special set of stressors and it's hard to maintain "homeostasis." So, yes, a team responding to mediate would be welcome. It could be important to check on the safety of other people involved and it could be an opportunity to do a mental health check-in. This is all assuming that you could always deny the service/interference of this new program."

"Yes, the program should make sure no one gets hurt."

"People out here are here 24/7, for sure there are arguments and there is pressure to release. Authorities are no help in those situations. There should be no response, unless they come with a lot of patience. People help each other out here, because we know each other. Strangers are of no help."

Question 4 - If you or someone you know is having a drug or psychiatric crisis, what would you want this new program to do? - 90 responses

Participants overwhelmingly responded they would want help in a given crisis from this new program, stressing the importance of resources and services for mental health, substance use, and harm reduction. It is clear this team must link or refer people to actual, on-demand treatment options with capacity to meet them where they are at in their treatment. Similar to the responses to Question III, participants suggested the use of a multi-tiered system capable of responding to a diversity of immediate needs. Many individuals also emphasized the critical need for a non-judgemental, non-punitive response to these crises that prioritizes de-escalation and preventing harm without involving law enforcement.

Samples Responses:

"The program should evaluate the condition and provide services and resources as needed. It's important to try and get at the cause of the crisis. "Small" things such as just needing someone to talk or listen or being in dire need of a shower could cause someone to act out. The program shouldn't stigmatize but act with patience and an open-mind."

"Offer interventions and suggest treatment."

"The program should be able to refer or provide a stable rehab facility, which is currently not available. I've seen people who are in the window of wanting rehab, so they request it but are told they have to wait 6 months and then something dramatic happens. It is so hard to sustain that window, so rehab needs to be there right when the person is ready."

"Understand, be curious, give them water, food, medicine and time to settle down."

Question 5 - When you have dealt with police, if it wasn't a good experience, what would you want to have happened instead? - 82 responses

While this was not specifically asked, in answering this question, 35% of respondents explicitly noted they had a negative experience with the police in the past, many of which described this bad experience in detail, ranging from lack of respect and intimidation to in-depth descriptions of horrifying and traumatic police violence. Furthermore, aggression, stigmatizing behavior, and abuse of power by police were also detailed in participants' narratives. Some respondents also described specific shortcomings they observed in police officers' behavior such as lack of respect, lack of communication, and lack of support. Only four of 82 respondents recalled a somewhat positive experience with the police. One respondent wrote: "I'd say I've had a good experience. I've been stopped though, but not arrested." A couple of people also responded that they try to avoid interactions with the police whenever they can.

The majority of the respondents (65%), shared their vision of the kind of interaction or alternative response they preferred. Because most of these responses include comparative words such as "more respect" and "less aggression, it is possible to infer these recommendations to be based on firsthand experiences of police interactions with disrespectful and belligerent officers. Essentially, rather than being met with an assumption-based, stigmatizing attitude, respondents expressed a desire for basic respect and humane treatment, better communication, less force and aggression, and increased understanding of the traumas of homelessness.

What people would have wanted instead

Graph 11 - Interaction components that respondents would have wanted instead

Question 5 - When you have dealt with police, if it wasn't a good experience, what would you want to have happened instead?

Sample Responses:

"Police should have been more understanding. Police should have been respectful. They don't respect us and make our situation worse often times. Some police are okay, but they are the ones who come with patience and understanding."

"Not be interrupted or disrespected by them; not have my life threatened by them (I've been told 3 separate times that if I didn't respond the way they wanted, they would blow my f-ing brains out)."

"Make sure new program doesn't abuse their power and authority. Have oversight. Never talk to the police. Have police go through sensitivity training to learn how to approach a person."

"During a sweep for example, the police should have shut up and helped us gather our essentials and keep track of those things. Instead they would not stop talking to you and confuse you and not help you collect your thoughts. You're being intimidated and interrogated. They should be equipped with knowing what a person's essentials are and walk you through that 'list

"We (me and my boyfriend) luckily don't have too many interactions with police. There have been, however, incidences of threats of arrest by the police. In those situations police didn't act appropriately. Instead of being quick to threaten with arrest - because they know you are vulnerable - I would have wanted a response without threats, one with appropriate warning given ahead, proper treatment of my property and with respect to my personhood. A response that mediates and is transparent about the availability of alternatives, options and services".

"I would have wanted them to be more understanding and supportive. Just don't judge."

Question 6 - What would you consider a positive outcome from your interaction with this new program? - 93 responses

Many responses to this question seemed to reflect how people are affected by their negative experiences with the police. The sentiment that any new program staffed with social workers -as opposed to police officers- would be better, appeared in multiple responses. Many people responded that a positive outcome would plainly be if an arrest and jail time were averted. A lot of respondents took this question as an opportunity to reiterate how the police mistreated them and how they prefer dealing with an alternative program. Similarly, some people did not necessarily specify what they would consider a positive outcome, but voiced that an alternative to police response itself would be a positive outcome. Respondents who did make specifications named a wide variety of things they consider positive outcomes, such as being linked to resources and services, accessing housing or shelter, receiving job assistance, as well as connecting with mental health and medical assistance, and more generally receiving help with homelessness-related problems and needs.

Positive Outcomes

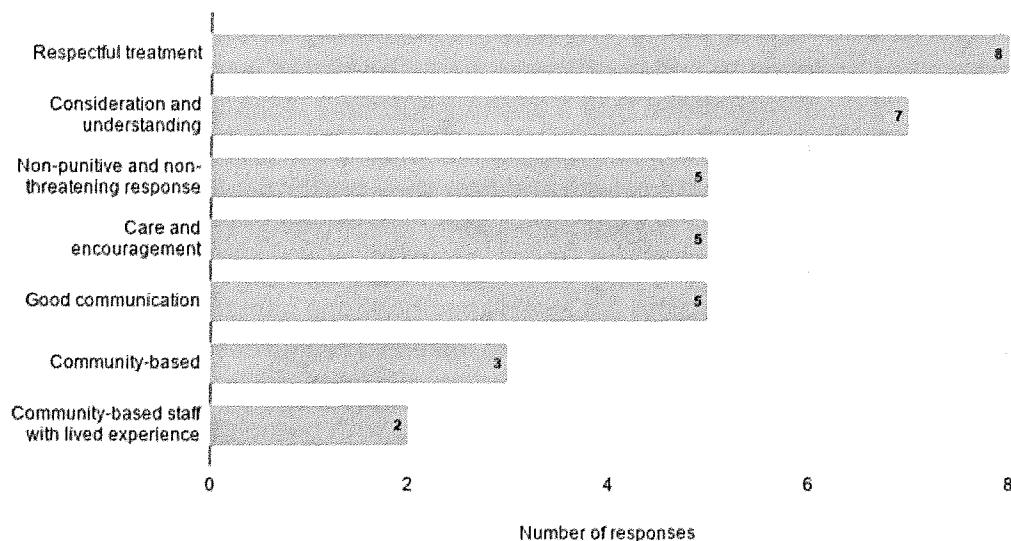

Graph 12 - Distribution of what respondents would consider positive outcomes

Many people also took this question as an opportunity to describe desired characteristics of homelessness response. Respectful and humane treatment, consideration and understanding were the most prominent elements. Additionally, a number of respondents said it would have to be a non-punitive, non-threatening and community-based response, as well as staff with lived experience.

Question 6 - What would you consider a positive outcome from your interaction with this new program?

Characteristics of a Positive Response

Graph 13 - Distribution of identified characteristics of a positive response

Sample Responses:

"Smiles on the faces of my people from dealing with the program."

"To be treated like a human being."

"Anything that provides some kind of relief to the unhoused, as encounters with the police right now only bring the opposite. Whether it's services, resources, a chat or a shower. I think, this team should be able to take any person, that wants or needs to, straight to a shower to restore this minimum sense of dignity, that helps tremendously in carrying on with your day."

"More support that is community based!"

"A response that doesn't treat us like their prey would be a positive outcome."

"Involve all people in the community to help prevent homelessness."

"A positive outcome would be if this program would stick around and not lose funding."

CART DISPATCH RESPONSE

Overview

Recommendations:

- Scope of CART Dispatch Responses
- Changes to Dispatch Training for CART Implementation
- Dispatch Monitoring & Evaluation
- The Case of Luis Góngora Pat

Overview

The Dispatch Committee reimagined an emergency communications dispatch strategy that uplifts people impacted by homelessness and addresses the social and behavioral health needs occurring in public spaces. Recommendations were developed through conversation, collaboration, data gathering, and review of emergency communications protocols with input from City officials in charge of these services and other relevant public services.

One objective is to change protocols at the public safety answering points (e.g. public calls to 911 and 311) in order to divert dispatched responses away from law enforcement officers in situations where an alternative compassionate response is better suited for addressing the needs of individuals suffering conditions of homelessness on the street or in shelters. The Committee's recommendations aim to ensure that call evaluation at the answering point more accurately identifies needs on the ground and dispatches a response from CART in those situations.

The successful implementation of alternative responses to policing requires good faith and commitment from the government of San Francisco, including the Division of Emergency Communications, the Police Department, the Sheriff's Department, the Fire Department, the Department of Public Works, the Homeless Outreach Team, the Mobile Crisis Team, the Street Crisis Response Team (SCRT) and CART in order to appropriately implement, as well as monitor and evaluate existing and new alternative responses to ensure positive outcomes for the unhoused residents of San Francisco.

Dispatch recommendations were developed in response to three basic questions:

1. Scope: What dispatch codes should CART respond to? (And, therefore, which codes will CART not respond to?)
2. Systemic Change: What changes to training and protocols to dispatch communications services are needed to dispatch a CART response?
3. Outcomes: How should CART be monitored and evaluated and other new alternative responses to ensure positive outcomes for the City's homeless population?

To facilitate an understanding of the recommendations, the Committee began by providing some basic background on radio dispatch codes and existing data on dispatched police incidents involving unhoused individuals.

Background to 911 radio dispatch codes and current law enforcement responses

The Division of Emergency Communications (DEC) within the Department of Emergency Management (SFDEM) uses an established set of radio dispatch codes to communicate with the Police Department, Sheriff's Department, Fire Department, and medical responders. There are over 130 radio dispatch codes for law enforcement and a couple hundred more for fire and medical related emergencies. Dispatch codes are used to identify a diversity of incidents. Primarily, this section reviews radio dispatch codes that require a law enforcement response. Dispatch codes are also always issued with an accompanying priority designation. The following are SFDEM descriptions for priority designations for communicating with law enforcement:

- A-priority is highest priority and demands an immediate citywide response to a high risk situation, such as crimes involving life-threatening situations or serious property crimes. A-priority calls have a target response time of 7 minutes.
- B-priority requires a district wide response to an incident, for example, with potential for bodily harm or damage to property, but without the immediacy implied by A-priority calls. This may be the case of a crime that has occurred or where the suspect may still be in an area. B-priority calls have a target response time of 20 minutes.
- C-priority requires a sector response and refers to situations without present or potential danger to life or property. For example, a crime scene has been protected and the suspect is not in the area. C-priority calls have a target response time of 60 minutes, however, response times regularly take longer. (On response times, see also London Breed, "Alternatives to Police for Responding to Non-Violent 911 Calls", Medium, Sept. 8, 2020.)
- I-Priority calls are for broadcasting information (no units dispatched). This can be because there is not a location to dispatch but when a broadcast of information is most appropriate, such as a hit-and-run in which the suspect vehicle's location is unknown but the description is broadcast.

The Fire Department and medical responders use a different prioritization designation. From highest to lowest priority, these are Code 3, Code 2 and Code 1.

According to data from the Department of Emergency Management (SFDEM), in 2019, there were 415,867 dispatched police incidents that were initiated by calls to 911 or 311. Of all dispatched police incidents, 22% were dispatched with A-priority, 36% with B-priority, and 40% with C-priority designations.

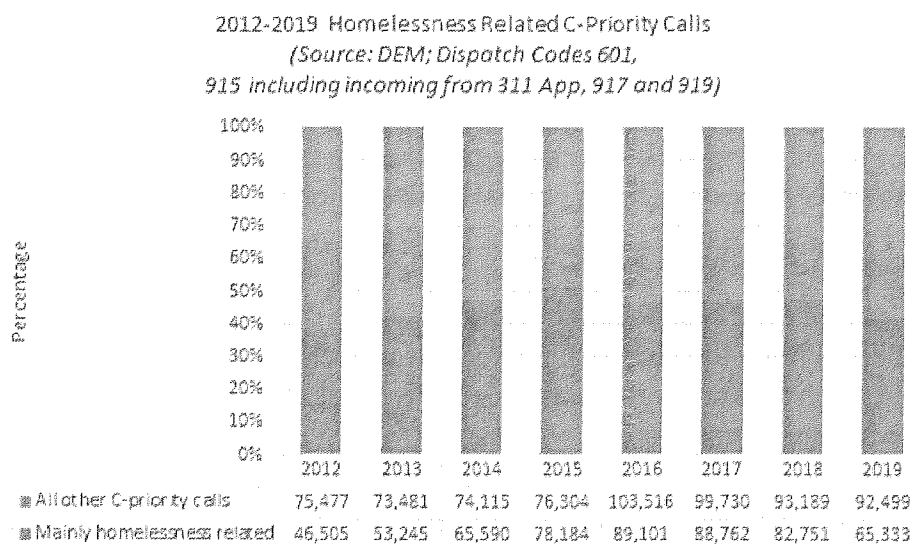

The need for urgency or expediency in responding within a specified window of time is determined by the priority code. In developing alternative responses to policing, it is important to keep in mind that alternative responses will need to be able to deploy a response that meets the priority code for an incident.

Homelessness-related incidents and dispatch codes.

The SFDEM defines "homelessness-related incidents" as violations committed by an unhoused person to "quality-of-life" ordinances such as the sit-lie law, illegal lodging, blocking sidewalks, camping, trespassing, panhandling, etc. Homelessness-related incidents are generally speaking dispatched requesting a C-priority response. The law enforcement dispatch codes most often used to describe a homelessness related incident are the following:

- 601 - trespasser
- 915 - unhoused person (this code was retired as a primary code in 2018)
- 917 - suspicious person
- 919 - sit/lie ordinance violation

A study developed by the SFDEM shows that from 2012-2019 45% of C priority calls were dispatch codes 601, 915, 917 and 919. As explained below, these are the codes most closely related to homelessness.

The SFDEM does not have a breakdown of how many calls per each dispatch code involved an unhoused person, including for the homelessness-related calls. This is because the SFDEM database functionalities cannot automatically generate information about the population characteristics of individuals who are the subjects of police-dispatched incidents. This population characteristics can be found in the message content of a 911 call. However, access to the message content of a call is restricted by law to SFDEM staff and POST-certified personnel with "need to know" authority and requires a process of laboriously redacting restricted information first in order to make this information public. Therefore, the SFDEM would need to carry out a data development project with POST-certified personnel in order to provide homelessness-related data for each code.

Despite the lack of disaggregated data on homelessness-related incidents for each code, the SFDEM provided the following information:

- Although 601 and 917 codes are not specific to homeless people, these codes often involve unhoused individuals.
  - Based on a recent sampling of the message content of 601 calls in one day, the SFDEM estimates that from one-half to two-thirds of all 601-C priority calls are homelessness-related.
  - Code 917 is commonly used by dispatchers as a catch-all code to describe a variety of potential illegal behavior, from suspecting a person of drug dealing to stealing a bicycle, which is why this code is often attached to describe a variety of homelessness-related conducts observed on the street.
- As mentioned in the introduction, the gravity of the suspected illegal behavior will also prompt the type of priority response code assigned. For example, with the same level of actionable information, depending on factors such as location (near a school for example), some 917 drug sales might be a B-priority while a 917 drug use might be a C-priority.
- The vast majority, if not all, 919 calls involve homelessness-related incidents given the subject matter of the Sit/Lie Ordinance.
- In 2018, the 915 dispatch code designating a homelessness-related incident was retired as a primary code by the SFDEM, when the Healthy Streets Operation Center (HSOC) began receiving 915 service call requests through the 311 call center and 311 App.

Homelessness related C-priority dispatch calls (2019; Source: DEM; Only dispatch codes 601, 915 including incoming from 311 App, 917 and 919)

We share the SFDEM data with the knowledge that the use of 601, 917 and 919 dispatch codes may often and unjustly criminalize the very housing status of unhoused people surviving egregious human rights violations day to day. It points also to the need to educate the public that a police response to homelessness is neither effective nor humane.

Mental and Behavioral Health Incidents

In addition to the law enforcement dispatch codes mentioned above, the following dispatch codes describe mental and behavioral health incidents that would require a police, fire or medical response. Though not specific to unhoused people, these incidents may also be relevant to people residing on the street or in a shelter:

- 800 - mentally disturbed person
- 801 - person attempting suicide
- 806 - juvenile beyond control
- 910 - well being check

SFDEM (San Francisco Department of Emergency Management) data for 2019 shows a total of 31,148 dispatched incidents involving codes 800, 801, 806, and 910, across A, B, and C priorities. While the city does not have information about how many of these dispatched incidents were homelessness related, there is information demonstrating that less than one percent (1%) of those calls were C priority, that for the most part are "report" calls not involving an active incident.

Many B-priority calls may also not involve an active incident. However, 910s are almost all dispatched as A or B priorities, meaning there is an expectation of urgency for the person's health and safety. Any response instead of police would need to have the same or better response time. 915s and 919s, by contrast, are almost always C priorities where there is not a level of urgency that an alternative response to law enforcement would need to meet.

Dispatch or police officers once on site may also designate a code 5150 - mental health detention.

Dispatch calls may also be accompanied by a suffix providing further information about the type of response required:

- CR (a police crisis intervention team dispatched, primarily when incident involves a weapon)
- DV (domestic violence/intimate partner incident)
- EA (potential elder abuse)
- CA (potential child abuse)
- 222 (person with a knife)

Street Crisis Response Team (SCRT)

On November 30, 2020, the City of San Francisco rolled out a new Street Crisis Response Team (SCRT). SCRT is a partnership between the Department of Public Health and Fire Department with significant support from the SFDEM and in a collaborative relationship with SFPD. SCRT was pushed for by the Fire Department who notes a large portion of their calls were homelessness-related and wanted additional resources with paramedics. SCRT will offer a non-police response to 800 dispatch calls involving individuals suffering from mental health and substance use issues on City streets. However, while the team has the ability to conduct 5150s, it is not responding to those who are a threat to others, and will not transport those posing physical threat.

Each SCRT team includes a community paramedic, a behavioral health clinician, and a behavioral health peer specialist. The goal of the new program is to provide an appropriate non-law enforcement response to behavioral health emergencies in San Francisco and divert individuals in crisis away from emergency rooms and criminal legal settings into behavioral health treatment. The SCRT aims to provide trauma-informed clinical interventions and care coordination for people who experience behavioral health crises on the streets of San Francisco.

That said, SCRT began as a pilot program with one team in the Tenderloin with plans to expand to at least six teams by the end of March 2021, in high-need and small geographic areas, and will for now only respond to adults in crisis. This model costs about $17 million annually, and the team will generally respond to B and C level 800 calls. In the initial rollout phase of the SCRT program, dispatchers will begin identifying dispatch calls to SCRT with a new medical dispatch code 25A0. Currently, DEM simultaneously creates a police and an SCRT call for what had been 800 B calls. SCRT responds when the call is determined to be in-scope and SCRT is available. The plan is in Phase II in April, police will no longer respond to what had been 800 B calls and they will all be SCRT or EMS responses. Eventually, SCRT will be responding to all of what had been 800 B priority law enforcement and law enforcement will not be sent. Recommendations below consider the deployment of SCRT.

311 calls and the “HSOC Balloon Effect” that Needlessly Dispatches Police Responses to Unhoused People

In January 2018, the Healthy Streets Operations Center (HSOC) initiated operations and the public was oriented to use the 311 non-emergency response number or mobile or web-based app to report homelessness-related calls. 911 dispatch operators were trained to divert any incident reports involving a homeless person that did not require a police, fire or medical response to the 311 non-emergency call center. However, SFPD became the agency lead of HSOC and policing of homelessness intensified through HSOC. An SFPD Commander directed day-to-day activities as the Operations Commander, over 50 SFPD officers were assigned to the unit, and SFPD escorts to DPW crews dramatically increased.

Calls regarding encampments are re-routed through 311, and sent to HSOC, where HSOC develops a response. As of 2018, when a private citizen calls or otherwise reports an issue related to homelessness to 311, the City's Central "Customer Service Center," requests are self-categorized by the caller as either an:

1. Encampments - Encampment Reports
2. Encampments - Encampment Items, or
3. Homeless Concerns - Individual Concerns

The 311 Dispatcher further categorizes the request details as:

1. Encampment Cleanup
2. Homeless Other
3. Wellbeing Check
4. Cart Pickup, or
5. Aggressive Behavior

Then, the request is flagged for the DPW Ops Queue, Police - Homeless Concerns Queue, or 311 Supervisor Queue.

Hyper-focused on the removal of large tent encampments, in a response to encampments HSOC may involve the SFPD, Department of Public Works (DPW), Department of Public Health (DPH) and Homeless Outreach Team (HOT Team). More often than not, the response involves SFPD, especially when DPW is sent out to clear an encampment. HSOC responses frequently occur without proper notice to unhoused people, involve illegal confiscation of property, and typically offer no housing to targeted individuals, who are displaced from one block to another. These responses also use public resources that could be better spent on root solutions to homelessness.

In addition, when resources are offered to unhoused individuals through HSOC operations, it results in inequities of resource distribution as it mostly involves a complaint-driven system as opposed to need-based response. For example, the individuals whom HSOC responds to might be those who are located in an upscale or recently gentrified area generating the greatest number of complaints, and therefore, these individuals receive scarce housing resources, while individuals in more impoverished areas continue to suffer quietly with higher levels of acuity. Occasionally, HSOC will concentrate on a geographic area where they will partner with neighborhood agencies, survey the area for where people are, and coordinate with services.

The SFDEM also noted that pushback from members of the public who did not want to have their calls diverted away from the police saw a significant increase in the report of 601 (86% increase), 917 (25% increase) and 919 (263% increase) dispatched incidents in the period from 2016 to 2019. This is often known as the “balloon effect” whereby law enforcement responses are squeezed out to other departments, but for diverse reasons, often related to implementation, remain or return to the scope of activities of the police.

Police responses to homelessness-related incidents needlessly results in the criminalization of homeless individuals, which is contrary to the Supreme Court ruling (Martin v. Boise) that upheld a decision in the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals stating that homeless persons cannot be punished for sleeping outside on public property in the absence of adequate alternatives. People experiencing unsheltered homelessness – at least according to the 9th Circuit – should sleep without facing criminal punishment for simply trying to survive on the streets. In 2019, a panel of the 9th Circuit held that “as long as there is no option of sleeping indoors, the government cannot criminalize indigent, homeless people for sleeping outdoors, on public property, on the false premise they had a choice in the matter.” The 9th Circuit court’s decision can be read here.

CDC Interim Guidance on Unsheltered Homelessness and Coronavirus Disease

In addition, in 2020 the CDC issued an interim guideline on unsheltered homeless individuals during the COVID-19 pandemic. Considerations for encampments state that if individual housing options are not available, people who are living unsheltered or in encampments should be allowed to remain where they are, since clearing encampments can cause people to disperse throughout the community and break connections with service providers. This increases the potential for infectious disease spread.

Recommendations: CART Scope of Dispatch Responses

PROPOSED SCOPE OF DISPATCH CODES FOR A CART RESPONSE
ONLY C-PRIORITY ONLY PERSONS SUFFERING CONDITIONS OF HOMELESSNESS
Dispatch Code	Description	Homeless shelters	Street or street facing incident
800 (police) / 25A0 (medical)	Mentally disturbed person, but only overflow calls from the SCRT team or paramedic first responders; will exceptionally take B-priority calls same as SCRT	YES	YES
801	Person attempting suicide	NO	YES
910	Well-being check	YES	YES
919	Sit/lie ordinance violations	N/A	YES
920	Aggressive panhandling	N/A	YES
915	Homeless encampment, currently routed to 311	N/A	YES
601	Trespassing/ unauthorized person occupying property/ premises of another	N/A	YES
916	Suspicious person in a car	N/A	YES
917	Suspicious person	N/A	YES

Considering the frequency of use of specific dispatch codes in homelessness-related calls, and in consideration of CART's goals, the Committee recommends the initial phase of the program focus on responding only to C-priority calls involving unhoused people in the City, on the street or in temporary shelters for the following dispatch radio codes:

- 800 - mentally disturbed person, but only for overflow calls from the SCRT team and paramedic first responders; exceptionally will also take B-priority calls same as SCRT.
- 801 - person attempting suicide, but only when on the street. These calls are rarely C priority as they require a speedy response, however if CART is able to have less than 7 minute response times, this would be appropriate to expand to in future.
- All 920 - aggressively panhandling

The following two codes tend to cover the presence of homeless people and do not typically contain harmful or troubling behavior or incident beyond the visible effect of government disinvestment from housing for impoverished people and structural inequities. It is key that careful screening of these calls take place by CART staff to ensure they are not the result of class or race bias, but do deserve a team response. These calls should be reviewed to see if they are meaningful and deserve a response. If they are clearly harassment calls, CART will not respond with a team, but work with the caller to educate them on the lack of shelter and housing options available. If there is no response, the police will not be dispatched either.

- Select 919 - sit/lie ordinance violations, but only when the CART team determines there is a substantive reason to respond, and there is no harassment being conducted.
- Select 915 - homeless encampment, these are currently routed to 311 (are no longer used by 911 dispatch), and will instead be routed to CART. Once at 311, they currently refer to HSOC. 311 calls of this type would go to CART instead..

In addition, it is recommended that CART be dispatched to additional incidents instead of police involving the following C-priority related to an unhoused people on the street:

- 601 - unauthorized person occupying property/ premises of another (trespasser)
- 916/917 - suspicious person in a car/suspicious person
- All 910 - well being check

If not explicitly included above, then CART will not respond to any other dispatch codes.

This working group did evaluate the possibility of responding to other codes, such as 602 (breaking and entry), but concluded that it is very important to avoid CART from becoming an “alternative policing response” rather than an alternative response to policing. This differentiation will be key to the success of the team. Critical to successful outcomes is the development of trust with unhoused community members who at best have experienced a string of broken promises from city outreach teams, and at worst have been demonized, criminalized and shamed for their very destitution. For this same reason, CART would also not want to respond to 917 calls related to drug sales, even in an encampment. CART interventions should remain true to its purpose of addressing the social and behavioral health needs of homeless individuals.

The purpose of CART is to support compassionate alternative responses to policing of unhoused peoples. However the planning body fully supports ongoing efforts for alternative responses to policing related to non homeless specific situations, including but not limited to sex work or prostitution and drug sales.

Establish a direct CART hotline. It is also recommended CART be allowed to take in calls directly from the public through a dedicated hotline number.

Establish a timeline for the CART deployment phases. In coordination with the SFDEM, establish a timeline to deploy a CART response.

Develop CART dispatch process. Similar to SCRT, the working group recommends that it should be CART's prerogative whether to accept or reject a dispatch call. On receiving a dispatch notice, CART staff will read the text of the call, verify the geographic range and determine if the call is (a) within specified dispatch codes, (b) specified geographic scope, (c) on the street or in a homeless shelter, (d) related to an unhoused or presumably unhoused individual (either adults or youth if in a condition of homelessness), and (e) whether there is a team available to respond. CART's capacity to respond will be clearly delineated in a Memorandum of Understanding with the City/ agreement/ ordinance allowing for CART. CART's recommendation is aligned to best practices found in similar programs (e.g. Eugene, Denver, Portland) run by civil society organizations.

Divert police funding to finance a CART response. Considering that CART will take on dispatch response workloads currently assigned to the Police Department, a CART response should be financed with funds diverted from the Police Department. Given the very large number of dispatch calls which are homelessness-related, this would eventually and significantly decrease police work load on C-priority calls, especially as additional A and B-priority calls are reclassified as appropriate for a CART response. Under no circumstance should a CART response be financed by Proposition C funding or other funding currently assigned to finding long-term solutions to homelessness or programming assigned to treating homelessness and unhoused individuals, because taking dollars away from long-term solutions to homelessness is a self-defeating perspective.

Never dispatch SFPD to a DPW encampment response. Where the 311 call center dispatches DPW to an encampment, it is recommended that the Police Department NEVER be dispatched with DPW as a police escort or law enforcement dispatch call. United States Interagency Council on Homelessness has developed federal guidelines which provide best practices to avoid displacement.

In addition, the HOT Team should be trained to understand alternative responses to policing, so that they never call in an armed police response if an alternative compassionate response is best suited to the needs of the individual involved.

Eliminate HSOC. HSOC was ill-conceived from the beginning as a tent and police-centered response to homelessness. Elimination of HSOC will ensure a response to homelessness based on the self-identified needs of unhoused people, and will no longer be necessary with CART responding to these calls.

Repeal Sit/Lie Law. This ordinance targets the most vulnerable residents of the city and calls for a punitive approach to homelessness, which increases police contact with and potential for abuse of unhoused individuals. We ask that the Board of Supervisors and Mayor place a measure on ballot to repeal the Sit/Lie Law and instead focus City efforts on finding long term solutions to homelessness.

Recommendations: Training Changes Needed to Implement a CART Response

Add a dispatch code or suffix that dispatches a CART response. Based on SFDEM data that shows that a significant percentage of C-priority dispatch codes for 601, 917 and 919 are homelessness-related incidents where a compassionate alternative response would be in the best interest of people suffering conditions of homelessness, the recommendation is for SFDEM to develop a non-law enforcement dispatch code that would prompt a CART response.

Update dispatch protocols. All protocols, including training bulletins, operational updates, and line announcements for dispatch codes 601, 800 (overflow), 801, 910, 916, 917, 919, and 920 will need to be revised to allow for CART to be dispatched to respond to homelessness-related C-priority incidents.

- Change dispatcher question format. Specifically, the general question format followed by dispatchers for police, fire, or medical incidents will require asking information that identifies: (a) a homelessness-related incident or homeless person as the primary subject of a call, (b) geographic scope of CART response, and (c) street or shelter location.
- Timely updates. Protocols be revised in to reflect any expanded level of CART response as the program moves through deployment stages.

Co-trainings. Co-trainings are recommended between CART and SFDEM/San Francisco Department of Emergency Communications dispatchers and SCRT, as well as other City response services as required.

Improve call evaluation and priority evaluation to enhance scope of work that may merit an alternative response to policing. CART recommends establishing an ongoing process of improving call evaluation by dispatch operators as well as the priority designations given to incidents in which an unhoused person is involved, in order to improve assessment of whether a compassionate alternative response to policing would provide a more positive outcome for the individual involved.

- Improve call evaluation of 601, 916, and 917 homelessness-related incidents. CART recommends establishing an on-going process of improving call evaluation by dispatch operators of 601, 916, and 917 calls to identify when an unhoused person is involved, and whether a compassionate alternative response to policing would provide a more positive outcome for the individual involved. The ways operators could identify housing status is by asking the caller if the individual is sleeping, sitting or laying down, and if they have bags or carts with them. In that case, calls should be classified as C-priority. For example, a 601 (trespassing) or 916 (suspicious car) call could be diverted to CART (or another City homelessness service) if the unhoused individual is simply seeking shelter on a front stoop or in a car. Similarly, CART could be dispatched to attend a 917 (suspicious person) call, when the individual involved is not a suspicious person but simply existing while homeless.

- Improve evaluation of priority response when an unhoused individual is involved.

Many dispatch calls that could potentially be an area of focus of a CART response may currently be receiving an A or B priority designation, and, therefore, CART could miss opportunities to work with unhoused individuals who would benefit from an alternative response to policing. To that end, CART recommends that the CLA group (mentioned below) or a subgroup composed of members from the SFDEM and other relevant departments be tasked with improving call evaluation in order to identify situations in which the appropriate priority designation involving an unhoused person could merit an alternative response to policing. Our hope is that all poverty-related calls will eventually receive C-priority designation. For example, if 601 squatting currently receives a B-priority, a revision could reclassify as a C-priority situation, where the situation involves an individual squatting in a vacant lot.

Similarly, in an incident involving an unhoused individual in a mental health crisis (800 call), who may be threatening to damage or damaging an inanimate object of public or private property (but where no threat of violence to a person is involved) may be considered an A or B-priority situation, but could be handled by CART, if CART is able to respond in a timely manner. The objective of CART is to attend to a person in crisis, and where no threat of violence to a person is involved, a compassionate alternative response may attend to the needs of that unhoused person best.

Related to the above, incidents involving persons with a knife (suffix code 222) or other non-firearm weapon (e.g. metal bar or other blunt object) may immediately increase the level of priority of a call. However, it is well known that unhoused people carry knives and other tools for utilitarian purposes for living on the street. CART therefore recommends that the working group established with the SFDEM assess situations that currently are given an A- or B-priority designation due to the presence of a knife or potential weapon, but to which a CART response could be deployed if the dispatcher identifies the presence of a nonviolent unhoused individual as the primary subject of the call. For example, assessing if the weapon is being used to threaten an actual individual, if the person is sitting down, and so forth. This would imply changes to protocols and training as well.

Our recommendations also refer only to dispatched incidents versus incidents which are initiated directly by police officers in the field. However, CART hopes that as the program evolves, police officers in the field will also identify situations for which CART is better suited to respond.

- Improve call evaluation of 915 and 919 dispatch calls entering through 311 (or 911).

We have recommended above the repeal of the Sit/Lie ordinance and elimination of HSOC. However, until such time as this happens, we recommend an ongoing process of improving call evaluation by 311 dispatch operators (and 911, if necessary) to ensure a response from CART or City workers that is in the best interest of unhoused peoples.

The case of Luis Góngora Pat

Luis's Story

Luis Demetrio Góngora Pat arrived in San Francisco in 2002 from his hometown of Teabo, Yucatán. Like so many thousands of other Mayan Yucatecans in the Bay Area before him, he began working in the restaurant industry, as a dishwasher at Mel's Diner. He was first and foremost a family man, a primary provider for his wife Carmen, his two sons Luis Jr. and Ángel, and his daughter Rossana, as well as his elderly parents Demetrio and Estela. For a long decade, he had a stable life working, sending remittances back home and living in a rental apartment in the Mission District with his brother José and another Mayan friend. Their friend helped them with the logistics of managing rent until the day he departed back to the Yucatan.

In the fall of 2013, during the peak period of gentrification in the Mission, Luis arrived back home one day to find his belongings in the garbage dump. The circumstances of his abrupt eviction are not clear. His brother José was out of town at the time, but suspects that Luis had language and literacy barriers that complicated his relationship with the landlord. Luis began living on the streets, spiralling into deep disappointment. José also suffered homelessness, but was taken in by his cousin Luis Poot Pat. Back on his feet, José and his cousin made a plan to help Luis, but they would not get that chance.

A 311 call, an SFHOT team, and a failed non-emergency call led to a dispatch code 222 A-priority and an unnecessary, brutal, and fatal encounter with police.

On the morning of April 7, 2016, two SFHOT members responded to a 311 call about a baby crying in an encampment on Shotwell Street near the corner of 19th Street in the Mission District. No baby was present, but the SFHOT members interacted with a pregnant resident of the encampment. As they were leaving, they saw Luis wielding a knife, stabbing at some trash. Luis was not threatening anyone, nor did anyone in the encampment feel threatened. However, the SFHOT members decided to report Luis and the knife to the non-emergency police number. After several unsuccessful calls, they chose to call 911 from their car to report a man "waving a large kitchen knife." Police were dispatched with a code 222 (man with a knife) and the highest Priority-A response. It was 10:04 a.m. and by 10:08 a.m. Luis would be fatally shot on the ground a few paces away from the safety of his tent and his encampment community, unjustifiably killed by two SFPD police officers.

By all eyewitness accounts, both housed and unhoused people, Luis was simply sitting on the ground with his back against a garage roll-up gate, minding his own business, at the time when the police arrived. Officer Michael Mellone and Sergeant Nate Steger exited their patrol car, and within 28 seconds Mellone yelled commands in English, shot five rifle bean bag rounds into Luis's back as he crouched away, and Sgt. Steger backed him up by shooting his firearm. Luis was first propelled to his feet, and then immediately fell wounded to the ground. Michael Mellone then took out his firearm, and still holding the bean bag rifle in his other hand, executed Luis with a shot to the head when he lay helpless on the ground. It was the only fatal wound on Luis's body according to the Medical Examiner's report.

Luis's killers were found by the Department of Police Accountability and the SFPD Internal Affairs Department to have violated every SFPD rule in the book on use of force when they breached time and distance policies without justification, and fired two different types of lethal weapons that resulted in Luis's death. And yet, their only consequence was a suspension. Luis's family has requested Chesa Boudin, the recently elected District Attorney, to open a criminal case against his killers.

Since the day Luis died, his family of courageous working class Mayan warriors have led and sustained his justice cause, on two sides of the border. They will not rest until Luis's life is honored and justice is found. In honor of his brother, José specifically requests that funds from SFPD be diverted towards homelessness solutions.

Recommendation to the San Francisco Police Commission

Impose severe disciplinary sanctions to officers who breach Use of Force Time and Distance policies. CART recommends that the Police Commission revise the Use of Force Department General Order that mandates the observance and enforcement of time and distance policies to state that breach of this policy will result in immediate termination of an officer given the unnecessary endangerment of an individual, when this policy is breached. The continued breach of time and distance policies by police officers impedes the employment of alternative de-escalation responses, and endangers lives.

Recommendations: Dispatch Monitoring Evaluation to Ensure Positive Outcomes

Develop a Collaborating, Learning and Adapting (CLA) Working Group. CART recommends that a Collaborating, Learning, and Adapting (CLA) working group between CART, SFDEM/ DEC and SCRT, and other City departments be developed to review call-taking and dispatch incident data on a periodic basis, as determined by the parties but not less than on a quarterly basis, in order to monitor and evaluate alternative responses to policing, and determine necessary adaptations and requirements to ensure positive outcomes for unhoused individuals. The objective of the CLA working group will be to prioritize the well-being of homeless persons over their criminalization by improving the functioning of new alternative responses to policing.

To that end, the CLA working group will develop outcome and output indicators to track ongoing deployment of alternative responses to policing. The CLA will also determine the specific data to be collected and shared by parties, including on behalf of SFDEM, the number of homelessness-related calls requiring an alternative response to policing that were left unmet. Data to be tracked should include basic information about the person, critical medical information, follow-up appointments, services provided to them, and what referrals and attempts at linkage were done. This information could also be used by individuals providing continuing care.

In order for the CLA working group to properly function, the SFDEM, SCRT, and other City departments, as appropriate, will share dispatch and response data for 911 and 311 calls related to the universe of calls that CART responds to in a timely manner with CART, including sharing population characteristics where available.

An SFDEM data development project is needed to identify how many dispatched police incidents involve unhoused persons. Given the lack of disaggregated data on homelessness-related incidents for each code, and that the SFDEM can only grant access to the 911 call center data to POST-certified individuals with a "need-to-know" authority, the SFDEM will need to carry out a data development project to identify how many dispatched police incidents involve unhoused persons in order to generate more accurate and useful public information that can be used to expand alternative responses to policing when homeless individuals are involved.

Open data portal. CART also recommends that the public (and non-confidential) data collected on homelessness-related incidents and alternative responses to policing from CART and SCRT be shared through the City's open data portal <https://datasf.org/opendata/> with useful information summaries in order to provide the public at large with information about these ongoing efforts in order to promote journalistic and community investigation into these new programs.

Overview - Research Recommendations for a Compassionate Street Response

In order to inform the recommendations of an alternative street response, a literature review was carried out to understand the current landscape of police-alternative programs that would be relevant to San Francisco's homelessness situation. This literature review included over 30 programs, ranging from U.S.-based programs to international programs, in an attempt to draw inspiration from a wide range of experiences. In order to learn from programs that are contextually similar to San Francisco, the literature review included many programs from the West Coast of the U.S., many specific to California, and a few specific to the Bay Area.

Many similarities existed between the model programs. In effect, all of the programs fell within one of three broad groupings:

1. Police-alternative dispatch response;
2. Police-supplemental dispatch response; and
3. Police-alternative community strengthening response.

Police-alternative dispatch responses involve rerouting 911 and 311 calls that had previously been dispatched to police to teams of other professionals with absolutely no police officer involvement. Police-supplemental dispatch responses involve pairing police officers in interdisciplinary teams with social workers, medics, mental health professionals, and sanitation teams.

San Francisco has already attempted the police-supplemental dispatch to some degree with HSOC that has increased the coordination between SFPD and the HSH's HOT team. Unfortunately this has resulted in the intensification of policing in terms of property confiscation, increased police resources, and increased distrust among San Francisco's unhoused not only towards police, but also HOT team workers according to our survey interviews and outreach.

Based on San Francisco's past experiences of utilizing supplemental police responses, coupled with the city's commitment to develop a true police alternative to non-violent homeless response, the recommendations herein draw upon the model programs implementing police-alternative programming. Furthermore, the recommendations herein highlight best practices across the police-alternative model programs, tailoring them to San Francisco's context.

CAHOOTS Model Explained
Crisis Assistance Helping Out On The Streets

CAHOOTS is a community-based mobile crisis response program operating in the City of Eugene, Oregon. CAHOOTS was launched by the non-governmental Health Center White Bird Clinic in 1989. The CAHOOTS program dispatches two-person teams consisting of a medic (a nurse, paramedic, or EMT) and a crisis worker to address mental health crises, as well as other conflicts or crisis situations including situations related to homelessness, substance use, and basic medical needs. The teams rely on trauma-informed de-escalation and harm reduction techniques to provide a non-violent resolution of crisis situations. Incoming calls come through Eugene's 911 system or the police non-emergency number. At dispatch, staff is trained to recognize non-violent, behavioral-health-related situations and route those calls to CAHOOTS. CAHOOTS is funded through Eugene's Public Safety Budget and is estimated to save the city of Eugene around $8.5 million in public safety spending annually.

Scope of CART : A Police-Alternative Response & Community-Strengthening Hub

The scope of the CART program includes two components. The first provides a specialized police-alternative response to calls from and calls for unhoused neighbors in crisis. This component draws upon best practices across various CAHOOTS-based model programs (e.g. Eugene, Denver, Dallas, Portland).

The second component serves as a community-strengthening hub to empower housed neighbors to more “compassionately respond” directly to their unhoused neighbors, drawing upon various community-based model programs (e.g. Oakland, New York City, Sacramento, Durham, Montreal, South Africa). The two-prong scope of the CART program will divert a significant number of homelessness-related calls away from SFPD, while building capacity within San Francisco's neighborhoods to de-escalate and compassionately resolve homelessness-related conflicts directly between neighbors, thereby reducing the total number of homelessness-related calls made to dispatch in the first place.

The CART program's scope therefore addresses the excessive cost and proven ineffectiveness of policing San Francisco's homelessness community with its two-prong approach (BLA report). The geographic scope of the CART program is the City and County of San Francisco.

Core Values of the CART Program

The CART program embodies five core values in order to successfully implement its scope.

1. demonstrate compassion toward San Francisco's unhoused community.
2. provide a direct source of support and help for unhoused community members.
3. build trust and uphold the dignity of all members of the community.
4. provide services to the community that are free of charge, confidential, voluntary, non-threatening, non-punitive, life-affirming, decriminalizing, and participant-centered.
5. increase community resiliency by empowering community members with resources to resolve their conflicts directly, rather than believing that their only choice is to outsource their interpersonal conflicts to the city, i.e. calling dispatch.

These values reflect the responses from the survey among San Franciscans currently experiencing homelessness, as covered in the Street Survey section of this report. These core values are also embedded across various model programs: Eugene, Denver, Dallas, Portland, Montreal, South Africa, Oakland, New York City, Sacramento, Durham.

Services of the CART Program

The CART program will offer a variety of services to fulfill its two-prong scope. These services broadly fall within "Persons-in-crisis" services and "Community-strengthening" services. The "Persons-in-crisis" services will include: first aid and non-emergency medical services, substance/addiction referrals/resources, acute/subacute transportation services (e.g. hospitals, service providers, etc.), de-escalation intervention and interpersonal conflict resolution, street counseling and mental wellness referrals/resources, suicide prevention, housing referrals/resources, as well as referrals/resources for other homelessness-related issues present in the community. The "Community-strengthening" services will include: identifying, networking, and supporting neighborhood-based "compassionate responders" (e.g. non-government organizations, civil society organizations, faith communities, businesses, natural leaders within the community), offer trainings to these "compassionate responders" to educate them on the systemic causes of homelessness and to equip them with the relevant "Persons-in-crisis" skills and referrals/resources. The CART program will also document and disseminate lessons learned related to San Francisco's compassionate response to its unhoused community to inspire and catalyze a greater level of compassionate responses across the community.

Skills of the CART Program

The essential skills required to successfully implement the CART program fall into four categories:

1. crisis-response skills
2. community-development skills
3. interpersonal skills; and
4. language skills.

Crisis-response skills are vital to help stabilize distressed persons, in order to provide additional support. These skills include trauma-informed care, de-escalation techniques, suicide prevention, street-level counseling, and first-aid and non-emergency street medicine expertise. These crisis-response skills are present in the various CAHOOTS-based model programs and have proven to be effective in existing San Francisco-based programs (e.g. CARE Ambassadors).

Community-development skills are necessary to increase resiliency through community strengthening. These skills include the ability to educate the public on the systemic roots of chronic homelessness, community engagement, and negotiation skills, as well as a knowledge of relevant referral resources. Interpersonal skills are essential to positive interactions with community members and include: listening, caring, empathy, understanding, patience, and the use of people-first language. These community-development and interpersonal skills are present throughout the CAHOOTS-based and community-strengthening model programs. Additionally, language skills (e.g., English, Spanish, Chinese, etc.) will help overcome potential language barriers in the multilingual setting of San Francisco.

Staff, Recipients, and Partners of the CART program

The core staff of the CART program should be of an implementing non-government organization (NGO). This separation from a government body is in line with the model programs in Eugene (CAHOOTS), Sacramento and Oakland. The CART program should primarily employ people with lived experience (e.g. formerly homeless people, with priority for Black, Latinx, and trans staff). This priority reflects the responses from the CART survey among San Franciscans currently experiencing homelessness, as covered in the Street Survey section of this report. People with lived experience are equipped with a wealth of knowledge and understanding that is indispensable to the work demanded from CART staff and therefore central to the response effectiveness, as confirmed by the model programs in Sacramento and Oakland. Those with lived experience should be paid no less than those with professional training, and both must be paid solid living wages to ensure continuity in the work.

The CART program should consist of two general categories of staff:

1. "CART Response Staff" equipped with crisis-response skills and
2. "CART Community Engagement Staff" who will be tasked to work on community engagement and education, and will be equipped with the necessary community-development skills.

These two categories of staff are in line with the combination of the model programs that inspire the scope of CART: CAHOOTS-based model programs (e.g. Eugene, Denver, Dallas, Portland) and community-based model programs (e.g. Montreal, South Africa, Oakland, New York City, Sacramento).

The primary recipients of the CART program's services are unhoused residents of San Francisco. Other recipients are also housed residents of San Francisco via education about the context and hardships of homelessness and via training to empower them to compassionately respond to their unhoused neighbors.

Key partners of the CART program should be service providers throughout the city, such as harm reduction centers, SF Suicide Prevention, Mental Health Association, and shelter providers. Other partners include neighborhood associations (e.g. Rad Mission Neighbors, Cole Valley Haight Allies), advocacy and activist groups (e.g. Coalition on Homelessness, Copwatch, Shelter Grievance Advocates), as well as faith communities and local businesses. The CART program should also be in coordination with city agencies (e.g. Board of Supervisors, HSH, DPH, DPW, SFPD, SFFD, HSOC).

Staff Training of the CART Program

Training of CART staff will deliberately be much more intensive than a typical street outreach team training. Key to the success with the CAHOOTS program in Eugene is the 500 hours of field training that occurs for staff, as well as 20 hours of classroom training and regular follow-up training sessions. For CART, this will be even more key, as CAHOOTS relies on professional level staff, often those with EMT certificates and other formal training. For San Francisco, CART is prioritizing hiring those who have lived experience with poverty and homelessness; Black and Indigenous people of color (BIPOC); and transgender individuals to do this work. Part of the training of those who don't have it already, would be getting EMT certification by working with City College and sending staff through those classes.

The general training for all CART staff would include a deep-rooted vision centering on the difference between policing and supporting, dispatch protocol training, de-escalation training, conflict mediation training, education on a framework on how to approach situations, mindfulness training on power dynamics, mental health education, as well as an education on substance use and harm reduction practices. The training would also include an education on all the services CART provides including the homeless service and behavioral health system in San Francisco and access points, coordinated entry, overdose prevention, first aid and CPR. In regards to community engagement, the curriculum would include training on community engagement, consensus building, negotiation, and community-based education. Finally, CART staff would be trained in active listening, gender and race, cultural competency and homeless culture competency, including discussions on intersectionality.

The training would also include an education on all the services CART provides including the homeless service and behavioral health system in San Francisco and access points, coordinated entry, overdose prevention, first aid and CPR. In regards to community engagement, the curriculum would include training on community engagement, consensus building, negotiation, and community-based education. Finally, CART staff would be trained in active listening, gender and race, cultural competency and homeless culture competency, including discussions on intersectionality. The training would include group training curriculum as well as specific practice hours in the field where daily debriefs and evaluation would occur with team members to ensure growth. Group training sessions when possible will be open to other street based services such as SCRT members. In numbers, CART staff training would encompass 500 hours of field training as well as at least 40 classroom hours, a requirement that CART based off the CAHOOTS training hours curriculum.

Street appearance of the CART program

Generally, the CART program's visual street appearance should be distinguishable and contradistinctive from the appearance of law enforcement. This is proven to be a constructive and effective feature of the CAHOOTS model program as it lowers the level of intimidation and threat perceived by recipients of the response service and helps in building trust. CART vehicles should have the CART logo clearly visible and have no sirens. CART staff's appearance should resemble that of an outreach worker or medical professional with the CART logo visible and their name and area of expertise on their ID.

The CART Program's Response - 24/7, Citywide, and Community Invitation

The CART program staff will work in pairs, providing a homeless-centered response, focusing on the well-being of the unhoused person rather than the complaint of the caller, an approach that is also endorsed by the CAHOOTS model program. The CART program should respond to all level C-priority homelessness-related calls, as detailed in the previous section on Dispatch. Ideally CART should be able to respond 24 hours a day, seven (7) days a week, as done in the CAHOOTS program in Eugene, Oregon. If hours are limited for any reason, or in a roll-out pilot phase, it is still important that police never respond to any level-C homelessness-related calls during off hours. As Portland, Oregon and other cities are piloting the programs with limited hours, there is concern in these cities that an uneven roll-out may undermine public confidence among both the housed and unhoused communities. Having police available and still responding to homelessness-related calls during some hours, or in some neighborhoods rather than others could create a number of conflicts. Some callers who desire a harsher police response may wait for particular hours to file their complaints. Some callers who assume that they will be receiving a CART response may lose trust in the program if they call 911 and police respond due to CART's limited hours or in specific neighborhoods. If CART and the SFPD respond to the same site on the same day or week during different hours, the SFPD could easily undermine the work of CART.

The CART program staff will listen to and encourage communication between conflicting parties, and give referrals to appropriate services and suggestions for actions and resolutions, an approach that the Social Mediators program in Montreal is based on. CART community engagement staff should also respond more broadly through targeted community outreach in situations of neighborhood outrage or frustration. CAHOOTS has stated that it would be beneficial if they had more staff and time to attend community forums, district and neighborhood meetings, merchant association meetings, etc. to educate residents and the business groups about homeless services, their limitations, and their response.

The CART Program's Relation to Government

Existing police-alternative programs generally operate under two models. One are those privately-run by nonprofits, but publicly funded such as CAHOOTS in Eugene, Oregon. Others are run directly through government agencies, such as the pilots in Portland, Denver, and Dallas. CART recommends to follow CAHOOTS in Eugene in a public-private partnership model for a number of reasons.

First, a core recommendation from our survey respondents was creating an outreach team that included those with lived experiences of homelessness. Due to various restrictions and limitations of government hiring, this may prove a significant barrier, as has been the case in Portland's pilot program.

Second, there is always the danger that a government agency, given how politicized the issue is, may stray from its original core principles and function when directed by their executive branch bosses. CART has seen this with San Francisco's HOT team, which has, depending on mayoral control, coordinated more or less closely with the police and distributed resources such as shelter and rehab placements based on political power struggles and business complaints rather than the needs of unhoused individuals.

Third, an independent organization would help overcome the distrust of existing government agencies that was expressed by a number of those unhoused surveyed.

The CART Program's Relation to other Programs and Agencies

This program would be created within a system that already exists. It is important to understand with the creation of CART, how this would be differentiated from other services, how this fits into the current landscape of street-based services, and ways they could shift. This is not meant to be a comprehensive list of street based services, but captures the main effort:

DIRECT CITY STAFF
Street Medicine Team	People experiencing homelessness with medical, mental health, and substance use needs	No Direct Call Response. Mostly scheduled outreach.	1,200 encounters/mo. Annually, 3,000 unduplicated patients with 15,000 encounters.	8 FTE, including 0.5 Behavioral Health Clinician and 2 RNs	Provides outreach with SFHOT and special outreach on an urgent basis. Outreach teams work in small, neighborhood-based teams.  Provides assessment of need for emergency care; episodic care for acute medical conditions and exacerbations of chronic conditions to the extent that care can be delivered safely in the outreach setting.
EMS6	people on the streets who are high users of emergency medical services	(1) Requested by first responder units (2) Initiates outreach with individuals who meet their criteria 311 or 911 Only. No Proactive Outreach 6am-2pm daily	6,413 encounters in 2020 with 1,681 unique individuals 162 interactions in Sep 2019 - 58 unique individuals	$2.3m for FY20-21. Data not available	Immediate stabilization of medical emergencies and behavioral health crises, Sobering Center, Shelter, Joe Healy Detox, Psychiatric Services, Substance/Dual Diagnosis Treatment Consult, Outreach, Case Conference, Housing Assessments
Comprehensive Crisis Services (including Mobile Crisis)	individuals experiencing an acute behavioral health crisis and (*not limited to PEH)	(1) Hotline (2) Respond to calls from SFPD to assist CIT officers needed (3) No Proactive Outreach. Availability: 24/7	400 adults and 330 children per year	33 FTE	Referral to Case Management; AOT; 5150 to PES; Emergency crisis assessment/intervention services conducted in the field; Early intervention; Assistance with linkage to outpatient mental health services; 5150 evaluation capacity; Short-term medication services may be available  CCS also includes Child Crisis 5585 response
HSOC - COVID Response	resolving encampments not meeting safe sleeping guidelines	311 and 911 Only	HSOC made over 700 placements from June 10 – August 15, 2020	Data not available	*Note: HSOC role has shifted during COVID.  Makes offers of sleeping alternatives, including congregate shelters, safe sleep sites, Shelter In Place hotels, etc. When safe sleeping alternatives are not available, HSOC does outreach, education and cleaning.

CITY-CONTRACTED
CART (Compassionate Alternative Response Team) - PROPOSED	Homeless people on streets and in shelter	911, 311 and direct dial 24/7	TBD/respond to 65k calls	TBD	First aid and non-emergency medical services, substance/addiction referrals/resources, acute/subacute transportation services (e.g. hospitals, service providers, etc.), de-escalation intervention and interpersonal conflict resolution, street counseling and mental wellness referrals/resources, suicide prevention, housing referrals/resources, as well as referrals/resources for other homelessness-related issues present in the community, identifying, networking, and supporting neighborhood-based "compassionate responders"
HOT (Homeless Outreach Team)	homeless people living on the streets	(1) 311 (2) Direct outreach to HSH (3) Proactive Outreach  No weekend hours Note: Until 2020, HOT could be contacted directly.	2,054 in Sep 2019 1,450 in Dec 2019	Data not available	Shelter Placement, Coordinated Entry Assessment, Problem Solving Conversation, Homeward Bound, Resource Or Drop-in Center, Shelter Services, Navigation Services, Mental Health Services, Benefits Services, Substance Abuse, Medical Services, General Services (Shirts/ Pants, Socks, Shoes, Food/ Snacks, Water, Hygiene Kits, Emergency Blankets, Face Masks
Street Crisis Response Team	Adults in nonviolent crisis on the streets	911 Only Plans for 24/7 coverage in 2021	Estimated ability to respond to 11,000 – 17,000 calls for service per year with six teams	Full rollout by March 31, 2021 will be 6 teams. Each team has 3 staff.	Trauma-informed clinical interventions and care coordination
Felton Institute - Felton Engagement Specialist Team	chronically homeless, substance use disorder, behavioral health issues, & justice impacted	311 Only, No Proactive Outreach FEST responds to dispatches directly from HSOC and 311.	10-15 per day	5.0 FTE	Link and refer clients to external agencies that offer temporary and sustainable housing, and support for substance use, mental health, and physical health needs.

Homeless Outreach Team (HOT)

The Homeless Outreach Team is operated by non-profit Heluna Health and contracted by HSH. Currently, HOT does a mix of ongoing case management style support for individuals on the streets and responding to complaints. They typically have access to some level of housing options for those on the streets, which varies depending on availability. These include shelter and navigation beds, stabilization rooms, and during COVID, Shelter-In-Place (SIP) hotel rooms. They also are able to do mobile Coordinated Entry assessments and placements, which is the primary avenue for permanent housing in San Francisco. Until late 2019, HOT could be contacted directly by members of the public or people in need of services, but that is no longer an option. In December 2019, HOT reported 1,450 encounters with unhoused people, 84% of whom were not part of an encampment.

Over time, HOT has been used by various political administrations to respond to complaints, assist with sweeps and engage in activities that have diminished trust among the unhoused community. During Mayor Ed Lee's administration, for example, the workers had lined up individuals for beds in navigation centers based on need, when the Mayor's office had them switch gears and instead offer those beds to residents residing in the Embarcadero area where the Super Bowl parties were being hosted. Homeless people and their supporters expressed deep frustration with this move and it led to mass protest. With the creation of CART, HOT could focus exclusively on case management-style support, and separate the offering of services from complaints. Our system which currently distributes resources based on complaints leads to great inequities –gentrifying neighbors tend to be the squeaky wheels and get a response from the City, leading to the offering of services to homeless people in those areas over homeless people residing in more impoverished areas such as the Bayview. HOT and CART would be in communication with each other, as CART could handle the front-end work addressing the immediate issues on the streets, while HOT could provide any ongoing support to the individual needed.

Healthy Street Operations Center (HSOC)

HSOC was developed to be a multi-department collaborative to address tent encampments, and more specifically the response to complaints about large encampments and the removal of them. It grew out of the Police Department, which led the unit until recently, when the Department of Emergency Management (DEM) took over. The focus on tents has been criticized, because resources have been prioritized for those "lucky" enough to own a tent over others quietly suffering without. In addition, in many HSOC operations tents have been removed without adequate provision of alternative housing arrangements, and have been accompanied by illegal property confiscation and improper noticing. The same inequities of a complaint-based system take place. Lastly, in a 2019 evaluation of HSOC's success, management reported that of the HSOC encounters, only 2.4% of police encounters and 17% of HOT Team encounters resulted in service connections. And of the clients placed into HSOC shelter beds, 619 (95.2%) returned to the street, based on HSH data.

In early 2020 before the COVID-19 emergency, HSOC management planned to refresh the HSOC charter and operations plans. Although the HSOC model has shifted to respond to the ongoing health emergency, that "refresh" has not happened formally and the future of HSOC is in limbo. With the creation of CART, HSOC would no longer be necessary. CART would shift from a politically driven response to encampment removal to a humane community-driven approach. CART would work with both housed and unhoused neighbors to mitigate harm, address conflict, and of course work with folks on the streets to connect them with services. In contrast to HSOC, unhoused people would have agency alongside housed neighbors. There would not be a decrease in the number of people moved from the streets into housing – that would occur at the same rate, as that is entirely determined by resources that are available. Those resources, however, would be distributed more equitably based on need.

Street Crisis Response Team (SCRT)

The Street Crisis Response Team as described earlier in this report, is a three-person team made up of a paramedic, peer and clinician, with overall management from the SF Fire Department. This team is expected to respond to 600 calls per year in particular geographic areas of the city, for those in psychiatric distress. CART would respond to overflow 600 calls, along with other homelessness-related calls. The two teams would work in close collaboration, with co-training occurring.

EMS6

This body was the precursor to SCRT, and is essentially a paramedic team devoted to responding to dispatches regarding high users in the system. CART does not anticipate any changes to the operations of this team with the arrival of CART, however there does need to be tight coordination to ensure the teams are not duplicating each other's efforts.

Other Street Outreach Teams

There are a variety of street outreach teams, such as Glide's, Code Tenderloin, Night Ministries, At the Crossroads, Larkin, Homeless Youth Alliance, St. James Infirmary, and many more who provide a variety of services from harm reduction, spiritual support, service offering, and more. These teams would likely not be impacted by CART, but collaboration could occur with individual cases.

Overwhelmingly, the City does not coordinate with these nonprofit-operated street outreach teams, and these teams do not have access to the City's Homelessness Response System (shelter and housing referrals, the ability to conduct Coordinated Entry primary assessments, or the ability to leverage data systems like RTZ, a comprehensive information system that coordinates, tracks, and manages adult service referral and utilization of City funded services). As a result of this lack of integration, most street outreach teams have to rely on their personal relationships with City staff to gain access to City shelters or housing, or outreach staff have to jump through hoops to connect clients to City services. This is a weakness of the City's current system of homeless response, as thousands of interactions every month cannot lead directly to connection to City services. Further, various City departments fund these organizations at different levels and with different intended outcomes, making street response even more disjointed.

Street Medicine Team

This is one of the key services that the City and County of San Francisco provides to those residing on the streets, by bringing medical and behavioral health medicine directly to those on the streets. The Street Medicine Team is overseen by the Department of Public Health and its Health Commission. The creation of CART would not impact this work directly, however, it will be key for CART to work closely with Street Medicine as they identify those in medical distress on the streets, especially those with chronic conditions outside of care.

Mobile Crisis Team

Mobile Crisis is a team out of the Department of Public Health made up of a diverse, multidisciplinary staff providing psychiatric crisis intervention services for adults located in the City and County of San Francisco. The team provides crisis assessments and interventions including 5150 evaluation and determination of appropriate level of care. They can also medicate on site. Because SCRT is handling 800 calls, CART suggests that Mobile Crisis respond to 5150 calls and continue responding to addressing trauma in the immediate aftermath of gun violence and similar situations. It would help to limit their scope as currently they do not have near the capacity to respond to the calls they get currently.

San Francisco Police Department (SFPD)

As noted in this report, currently SFPD is the primary response to street homelessness. CART will significantly decrease these police responses, as they will no longer be dispatched to homeless related C priority calls. CART will handle most of these calls, but those that are superfluous will not be responded to at all as determined by the CART team. For example, racist or other hate-based calls, often referred to as "Karen/Karl" calls would not be responded to. If CART does not respond, SFPD will not be brought back in to respond.

Of all the non-SFPD agencies surveyed and researched as part of this report, only one that is supported by the City responds to direct calls from people needing services or the public (as opposed to being routed from 311 or 911), and the target population for that program is people experiencing mental health crises (Department of Public Health's Mobile Crisis Team).

The CART Program Empowers Neighbors to More Compassionately Respond

In line with the program's scope, the CART program will serve as a community-strengthening hub to empower housed and unhoused neighbors to more 'compassionately respond' directly to their unhoused neighbors. This will be done by identifying and training "Compassionate Response Community-Extension Volunteers" to be a compassionate presence in their neighborhood and to promote the use of the CART program to housed and unhoused neighbors. In many cases, the "Compassionate Response Community-Extension Volunteers" will consist of community members who are already supporting their unhoused neighbors (e.g., non-government organizations, civil-society organizations, faith communities, businesses, natural leaders within the community), as well as interested community members who are well positioned to compassionately respond to their unhoused neighbors.

The CART program will thereby support these "Compassionate Response Community-Extension Volunteers" in creating or amplifying existing practices that effectively respond to community street conflicts without relying on the police or calling dispatch. These volunteers will use their personal relationships, social networks, and knowledge of their communities to resolve neighborhood conflicts involving unhoused neighbors, thereby providing a neighborhood-based, public health-oriented approach to conflict reduction.

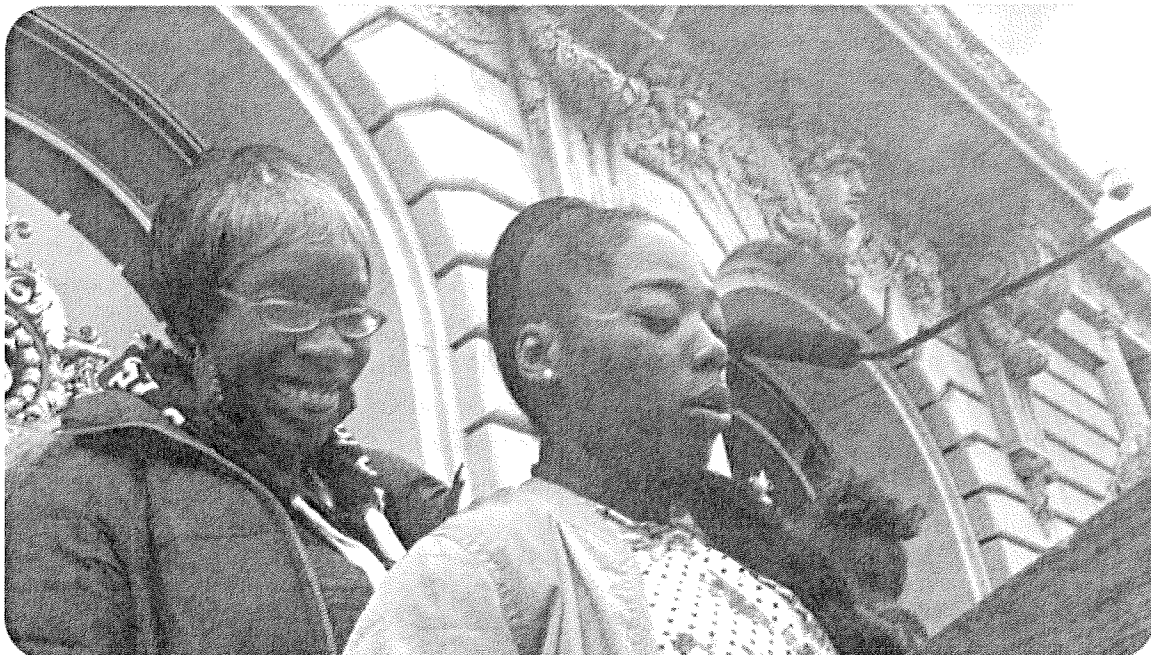

The CART program will work to de-stigmatize a person's housing status (e.g. homelessness) through the use of social media, relevant materials, and highlighting real voices of persons experiencing homelessness, as opposed to stereotypes (e.g. elevating voices of those who are unhoused in community spaces). The CART program will also facilitate conversations between housed and unhoused neighbors in confrontational (crisis/short-term) and community-strengthening (mid to long-term) situations. In confrontational situations, CART staff will mediate conversations between unhoused neighbors and the business owners or housed residents who called in a complaint to dispatch, drawing upon the example of CAHOOTS in Eugene. In community-strengthening situations, the CART program will build trust with service providers, neighborhood groups, and local neighbor leaders (housed and unhoused) by equipping them with updated information and resources, and encourage them to directly call the CART program, as needed. The CAHOOTS program in Eugene has stated that their program would be strengthened if they had a stronger link to the community more broadly, resulting in community members reaching out to the CAHOOTS program directly, as opposed to calling dispatch.

Oversight and Evaluation of the CART Program

Although it's recommended that CART be managed by a non-governmental entity, its funding through public funds should not put it outside of government and community oversight. Just as San Francisco's Local Homeless Coordinating Board currently receives quarterly updates on HSOC and regular reports on other aspects of the Homeless Response System, it should also receive regular reports about CART.

As CART is rolled out it will also be important to collect and analyze data on a regular basis. This could be done by the Controller's Office. There are two examples of reporting by the Controller's Office that were reviewed for this report: (1) The Controller Office's independent 6-month and 1-year evaluation of the Navigation Centers, which relied on intensive data collection, various reports, and a partnership with UC Berkeley's School of Social Work could serve as a model; and (2) Until December of 2019, the Controller's Office was also responsible for maintaining a public HSOC dashboard that was updated monthly and could serve as an alternate reporting model. Other partnerships with local universities such as the UCSF Benioff Initiative, SF State, or the University of San Francisco may also be considered. Portland, Oregon is currently partnered with an interdisciplinary team of researchers at Portland State University to evaluate its program.

The data and ongoing analysis should be shared in a public venue, like the Local Homeless Coordinating Board, to allow for public feedback. It is recommended that the data also be shared alongside data on the proposed outcomes of the CART Program, as well as data for other City-funded street outreach programs.

Measurable Outcomes of the CART Program

Beyond meeting the core values and providing the services outlined above, the CART program will be focused on accomplishing the following measurable outcomes:

1. Reduce the number of police dispatches to homelessness-related quality-of-life complaints where other criminal activity is not present. The Police Commission passed a unanimous resolution that the SFPD should not be the first-responders to homelessness in San Francisco. This past summer's uprisings against the over-policing of people of color included widespread calls to defund or disaggregate the police, especially in response to mental health crises and homelessness related quality of life complaints where other criminal activity is not present.
2. Reduce the number of individuals transported to the emergency department for low acuity medical-related issues that could instead be addressed in a pre-hospital care setting.
3. Reduce the number of behavioral health and lower acuity medical calls traditionally responded to by the Police and Fire Departments.
4. Reduce the number of homelessness-related calls to dispatch, in areas where the CART program's community-strengthening interventions have occurred.

CAHOOTS and other stakeholders in pilot programs across the country have stressed the importance in communicating to the public that such police-alternative responses are not designed to solely end homelessness or reduce visible homelessness. Such outcomes require broader system-wide investment in making such housing, shelter, and services available. Nor are such responses aimed at getting people to move or be removed from public spaces. The CART program outcomes are aimed at reducing police interactions with those experiencing homelessness, and in the process deescalate conflicts, provide immediate medical and counseling assistance, connect people to available services, educating those experiencing homelessness about their rights, as well as residents and business owners about homelessness and the city's homeless response.

Impact if the CART Program is Not Implemented

If the CART program is not implemented, unhoused San Franciscans will further be entrapped into a life of chronic homelessness as increased numbers of interactions with law enforcement are highly correlated to prolonged homelessness. Unhoused, vulnerable San Franciscans will likely not receive the compassionate care they need to survive homelessness, and instead be further criminalized and stigmatized for their housing status. Furthermore, if not implemented, people experiencing homelessness will continue to lack a direct line of contact to call when there is an immediate issue or when they feel unsafe. Finally, many of San Francisco's neighborhoods will continue to have low levels of community resilience in the face of homelessness, if the CART program is not implemented.

CART Deployment Timeline With Phases

What	When
Budget and Finance Committee release $2 million on reserve	February 2021
Lay out program budget including program and training costs	February 2021
DPH craft and release RFP $2 million based on this proposal	Started in January, RFP ready to be released by time Budget and Finance releases funds in February.
DEM assigned working group to rework Dispatch training and start differentiating housing status and instructions to route dispatches to CART	January 2021
DPH awards RFP	March 2021
Set up working tables with parallel groups such as SCRT, Mobile Crisis, EMS6	March 2021 as soon as funding is awarded
Budget Process: move budget dollars from SFPD to CART	Included in Mayor's Budget, June 1 2021
Program awarded funding designs training curriculum with technical assistance from CAHOOTS	March - April 2021
Program awarded fundings designs job descriptions, and starts recruitment and hiring	April and May 2021
Program is operational	May 2021

Narrative change

Over time, due to the consistent and vociferous scapegoating of unhoused people, something important has been lost in the collective consciousness of many San Franciscans. Homelessness has systemic causes – racism, disablism, classism, and greed are drivers of the defunding of housing and neglect of the very poorest members of our society. Yet, that narrative is buried deep beneath the easier belief that people are homeless because of their personal faults and shortcomings, and, even more absurd, by personal choice. These beliefs run thick and are difficult to shift. Just as according to a Fox news poll, 36% of Americans believe that Trump had the election stolen from him because some of our leaders and elements of our traditional and social media seeded and reinforced this belief, San Franciscans have had this personal blame belief seeded and reinforced over many years. This belief has created obstacles to opening new housing and shelter programs for unhoused people as neighbors attempt to block developments based on the belief that they will create safety issues or lower their property values. It has also meant that some San Franciscans believe police will be able to address homelessness – by making it uncomfortable for those on the streets, they will leave this lifestyle and choose another. This has led to increases in complaints, and even exaggerating descriptions of behavior to ensure a police response when conversing with 911 operators. Changing this narrative must occur deliberately and thoughtfully.

In the rolling out of CART, a public education campaign should happen simultaneously that explains why a police response is ineffective, inappropriate and inhumane. In addition, the successes of the new team should be amplified. City websites that give conflicting messages, such as the before and after photos of tent encampments on the DPW website should be redesigned to stop communicating that displacing tents is acceptable and instead that relocation to housing is the goal. Policy makers should be mindful of how they talk about homelessness and reflect on whether their messaging is reinforcing negative stereotypes and halting progress on addressing homelessness. Operators at 911 and 311 should be trained on how to talk about these systemic issues and let people know that until housing is available for everyone, we will have impoverished people on the streets. Lastly, these conversations can happen directly with housed neighbors as CART is deployed. CAHOOTS in Oregon has many of these conversations, managing expectations and trying to address the key issues that are presented.

New number to call CART

When CAHOOTS was asked “If you did anything different when you created this program, what would it be?”, they responded that they would have had a separate line from the start. We recommend such a phone number for CART as well. CART would take calls from dispatch and also take direct referrals. This would allow unhoused people and housed people who are uncomfortable calling the city, fearing that it will lead to a police response, to call without risk. Many in San Francisco, for a variety of reasons – fear of City interactions because of immigration status, lack of faith in government entities, distrust of police and more – would prefer to be able to call a program for help directly.

Funding should come from additional cuts to the police budget

After a nationwide uprising began this summer calling to defund the police, Mayor Breed proposed a mere 2.6% cut to the SFPD's 2020-2021 budget, which Supervisor Hillary Ronen referred to as "a slap in the face." [8] At an SFPD budget hearing in August, supervisors questioned why SFPD based their anticipated funding needs for SFO International Airport on data from 2018, when the pandemic has seen a drastic reduction in the number of people flying in and out of SFO. Supervisors also questioned the need for mounted officers on horseback, which the department justifies as good for morale and public relations. When most SF government departments are expected to continue functioning with a 10% budget cut in 2020-2021 despite the increased needs resulting from the pandemic, why should the police department continue to monopolize 10% of the city's budget?[9]

As of now, CAHOOTS in Eugene, Oregon is the only citywide police-alternative in operation. While it is the goal of Portland, Denver, Dallas, and other cities to expand their programs, they have each started or are starting as smaller pilot projects. Although an initial pilot may be useful in scoping and budgeting a citywide program It is our hope that the political and popular momentum of the current moment, the Mayor's call to end the policing of mental health and homeless emergencies, and San Francisco's long standing leadership in pioneering progressive social policy would be able to immediately commit to long-term budgeting in rolling out a comprehensive citywide initiative to end the policing of homelessness.

The CART program will need to be funded by a diversion of funds from the SFPD budget in order for it to be a success. This could be achieved by diverting funding currently spent by the SFPD responding to homelessness-related quality-of-life violations as a baseline for CART's budget. While a 2015 analysis by the Budget and Legislative Analyst's office showed this to amount to $18.5 million a year, the recent expansion of police resources dedicated to homelessness through HSOC suggest that this amount is now significantly higher. A more up-to-date analysis should be done while the first phase of CART teams is rolled out in a number of neighborhoods. This would provide more accurate estimates on the costs of scaling up.

It is morally imperative that San Francisco reduces reliance on policing to respond to homelessness when it so often leads to physical or psychic injury or death, and when other services are desperately needed. Through the process of researching and writing this report, we've considered what would be possible with a response to conflict on the streets or complaints about homeless people if police were not the first responders. In order to make this possible, CART needs to redirect funding from SFPD's nearly $700 million budget to the CART response. The annual budget for Street Response in Portland Oregon, a city with one-third of the number of unsheltered homeless has secured an annual budget of $4.8 million. The annual budget for the CAHOOTS program is about $2.1 million for responding to 24,000 calls for service. In San Francisco, adjusting for higher salaries, due to higher housing costs, and adjusting for the higher number of calls (65,000 annually) to be responded to, the budget is estimated to be $6,825,000. This is already partially funded with $2 million on reserve. If this funding is released this fiscal year, to be used in full for the last two months, CART would need to annualize an additional $4.825 million to fund this program for a total annual budget of $6.825 million (assuming a 20% higher per call cost than CAHOOTS). In addition to being morally just, the CART response will redirect calls from the police department, leading to less work for officers to do. In other city departments, reduction in work leads to reduction in funding, and it should be no different for the police department.

How to share and use this report

We consider this report to not only be an educational resource for those interested in alternatives to police response to homelessness, but also an advocacy tool. We believe the more people who become familiar with our recommendations, the more we raise public awareness of the need to restructure the city's policing system, the homelessness response policies, and the concrete ways in which this can be achieved. As members of the public and concerned San Francisco residents learn from the CART report, they will become empowered to raise their concerns and advocate for changes from the City's leadership. Anyone can use this resource to have conversations about reducing police involvement in homelessness issues and how we can respond in a more compassionate, less dangerous, and more effective way to calls and complaints about people who are without homes.

We hope that with this tool, citizens will be more equipped to make the case to their neighbors, colleagues, family, etc. that as a City we must and we can conduct a wholesale redesign of our response to concerns about and needs of the houseless in our community. Thus we encourage readers to share this far and wide –perhaps incorporate it into teaching curriculums or bring it to your congregations and social action groups. If you are part of a community-based organization, you can link to the report on your website, post it on social media, write about it in your newsletters, and distribute it to your member lists. It is easily available to share digitally at www.cartsf.org.

There is also an opportunity with this report to advocate directly with elected officials who have the power to implement the CART program model. We highly encourage people to use information or excerpts from the report when engaging with those decision makers. Set up meetings with Board of Supervisors members in your district, for instance, to review the report and explain why you think CART should become a reality in San Francisco. Send emails to the Mayor or the Police Commission endorsing the CART recommendations. Provide public comment at pertinent city hearings (for instance, budget items) armed with the justifications and recommendations from the CART report.

CART will more likely be adopted by the City if there is a greater groundswell crying for it. Communications about the report will help greatly in creating that groundswell. Please feel free to share it on social media, send letters to the editor about it, talk to reporters and news outlets, and otherwise push it out in any ways you see fit.

Additional resources

As a companion to this report, CART has created a website with additional resources and information about the proposed program. Please visit the website www.cartsf.org to learn about CART and alternatives to police research and programs in general.

Appreciations

We would like to give our greatest appreciation to all of the many community-based organizations, service providers and City Departments who gave many hours of staff time to help create this report and to the individuals who volunteered their time to research, plan, coordinate and write the recommendations.

Special thanks to the following city officials and department staff who provided technical assistance and resources to the CART working group:

Police Commissioner John Hamasaki
Robin Candler, SFDPH
Robert Smuts, DEM
Courtney McDonald, Supervisor Matt Haney's office
Amy Sawyer, Office of the Mayor

Appendix A - SF Police Commission Resolution For Effective Response to Homelessness and Complaints Regarding Presence of Homeless People

RESOLUTION FOR EFFECTIVE RESPONSE TO HOMELESSNESS AND COMPLAINTS REGARDING PRESENCE OF HOMELESS PEOPLE

WHEREAS, the roots of our local homelessness crisis can be traced, in part, to federal divestment from the funding of affordable housing, and local municipalities have been left to manage the problem without the tax base the federal government enjoys,

WHEREAS, local police departments have been placed by default at the front lines of the homelessness response. As homelessness continues to grow across the country, communities are increasingly turning to police to address the issue. Instead of helping people escape life on the streets, this creates a costly revolving door that circulates individuals experiencing homelessness from corner to corner,

WHEREAS, the United States Interagency Council on Homelessness issued (USIAC) issued a report in August of 2015 outlining best practices for addressing the presence of encampments entitled "Ending Homelessness for People Living in Encampments: Advancing the Dialogue". This report includes guidelines on how to address homelessness and recommends that the linking of homeless people with an appropriate level of housing is the only lasting solution,

WHEREAS, the City of County of San Francisco received last year more than $44 million in federal McKinney-Vento funding for projects addressing homelessness, and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has created funding incentives for communities to ensure that persons experiencing homelessness are not deemed criminals because of their use of public space for survival,

WHEREAS, The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals rejected an en banc petition by the City of Boise in Martin v. Boise (formerly Bell v. Boise), upholding its September 2018 ruling that homeless persons may not be punished for sleeping outside on public property in the absence of adequate alternatives,

WHEREAS, the 2019 San Francisco Homeless Count and Survey found 5,180 unsheltered individuals,

WHEREAS, the number of individuals experiencing homelessness in San Francisco far exceeds the number of available shelter beds,

WHEREAS, the number of police officers devoted to responding to homelessness has increased from 24 in 2017 to over 80 in 2019,

Appendix A - SF Police Commission Resolution For Effective Response to Homelessness and Complaints Regarding Presence of Homeless People

WHEREAS, when calls are made to the city expressing concern for unhoused people, SFPD remains the primary agency dispatched in response,

WHEREAS, a report issued by the Budget and Legislative Analyst's Office in May, 2016 found that police officers dispatched to incidents related to quality of life laws produced limited results given the increase in homelessness on the streets and recommended that the Board of Supervisors should consider implementing a new strategy to address these issues that shifts response to quality of life incidents from the Police Department to other City agencies, including the Department of Homelessness and Supportive Housing,

WHEREAS alternative models exist such as Crisis Assistance Helping Out on the Streets or "CAHOOTS," a mobile crisis intervention response and support team located in Eugene, Oregon, in which health workers, instead of police, act as first responders,

RESOLVED, that the San Francisco Police Commission calls on the Board of Supervisors and the Mayor's Office to convene a current or new stakeholder group that should include the departments of Homelessness and Supportive Housing, Public Health, the Police Department, other related departments, community organizations and those personally impacted by homelessness tasked with developing alternatives to a police response to homelessness.

RESOLVED, that this stakeholders group explore alternatives to a police response that exist in the United States and other Countries and weigh the feasibility of implementation of such programs locally.

RESOLVED, that this stakeholders' group should identify funding sources, appropriate dispatch protocol, necessary system changes and appropriate service model to move from a police response to a more effective health and human services response to homelessness.

RESOLVED, that this stakeholders group should meet for a time limited period, and make recommendations to the Board of Supervisors, Mayor's Office, and appropriate commissions on how to transform our response to homelessness from one led by law enforcement into one led by trained health and human services workers.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors:

This year, please make young people experiencing homelessness a budget priority! What do young people need most?

- FOOD – Because when you're hungry, you can't focus on your future
- YOUTH WAGES – Because young people experiencing homelessness need money to make ends meet when they participate in education and employment training programs
- STAFF WAGES – Because the services young people need depend on nonprofit workers who can afford to live and work in the Bay Area

Hello, my name is Kelsey, and I am a nonprofit worker at Larkin Street Youth Services. I genuinely love my job, but living and working in San Francisco is tough. Period. Rent, transportation, and particularly grocery prices have increased significantly this past year. I live mostly paycheck to paycheck - financially, I am constantly in survival mode and I am reminded weekly that I am not far from homelessness. That is unacceptable, as a social service provider working in San Francisco's homeless response system. I worry all the time about the ability of nonprofit workers like myself to be able to continue living in San Francisco and the greater Bay Area. We need to remember that nonprofit workers are our city's educators, healers, and advocates, and are core to what makes San Francisco a special place. We promote the health & wellness of the community, but we are not compensated enough for the value we contribute.

We know that it can be difficult to make decisions for a demographic of youth that you don't directly work with, or know personally. We have full faith that you try to take the time to understand our clients/youth to make the best decisions for them. They continue to express their needs. We only hope you are able to support their needs. Thank you for all that you do.

To the powers that be,

There are many problems that could have fixed or addressed if the world was not dictated by capitalism's principles. The status quo of social workers getting low wages for working our people problem is not sustainable, when those workers are a check away from needing the services they help to provide. So much wealth and excess for those who do nothing to make our world a better place. When it is time to decide how or if to fix the problem, please do it with empathy & compassion. Otherwise, the problem will not be solved. Please support increasing the wages of folks working to end homelessness and improve the living conditions in this city. Hello, my name is Isa Weiskopf, and I am a nonprofit worker at Larkin Street Youth Services. I grew up in San Francisco, but have since moved elsewhere because of the skyrocketing cost of living. This year, I am asking San Francisco's Board of Supervisors to make transitional-aged youth experiencing homelessness a budget priority. The most pressing needs are the following:

1. Food - because when you're hungry, you can't focus on your future
2. Youth Wages - because young people experiencing homelessness need money to make ends meet while they participate in education and employment training programs
3. Staff Wages - because the services young people need depend on nonprofit workers who can afford to live and work in the Bay Area

Furthermore, in order to contribute more financial support to these needs, and to better secure the safety, dignity, and wellbeing of all San Franciscans experiencing homelessness, it is imperative to divest from police. The police have a long history of persecuting the most vulnerable and marginalized members of society - the poor, homeless, disabled, mentally ill, BIPOC, and LGBTQ. In order to truly serve these members of our society, we must prioritize the

Please do not stop program

this food supply is extremely important to me because food is extremely expensive and
I do not have enough to buy food & this place is very close where I live

We know there are enough resources to go around. We know there's enough food to feed everyone. But inequality is bad for all of us.

市府,大家好!我叫阿瑜,我有三個孩子是三藩市校區家長,也是華促會(Chinese for Affirmative Action)的外展員。我在2017年參加華促會的社區領袖的培訓班後,加入華促會工作。在我參與工作同培訓,了解到家長參與校區的會議是對孩子的學業非常重要。華促會舉辦三藩市校區教育委員會候選人論壇,樣我們家長可以通過論壇了解到每個候選人政綱、背景、理念及對小朋友教育的觀點,就能選一位接近自己的理念可以幫到我哋小朋友在學校的教育,令到小朋友在學校可以得智體全面發展。

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors and staff,

I am the coordinating attorney at the Cooperative Restraining Order Clinic, an organization funded by the Department on the Status of Women to provide free emergency legal services to domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking survivors. I am asking the Supervisors to support the request for a 15% increase in funding for DOSW's gender-based violence programs.

I cannot let today of all days pass without pointing out that reproductive freedoms are inextricably linked to domestic violence and sexual assault, whether that is someone who forces their pregnant partner to terminate a pregnancy or conversely someone who sabotages their partner's birth control to force them to become and remain pregnant. Many people are surprised to learn that domestic violence often does not begin until a woman is pregnant, when she may find it more difficult to escape from an abusive relationship.

It is no coincidence that at this moment when we are seeing an unprecedented erosion of reproductive freedoms, we at CROC and the other gender-based violence programs are seeing a tremendous increase in the number of survivors reaching out to us for emergency services to escape the abuse.

We appreciate your support of gender-based violence programs in the past, and urge your continued support moving forward.

I would be remiss if I did not note that I watched this meeting on SFGOV.tv and was deeply disappointed to see that while I was speaking about the desperate needs of the survivors served by my agency, three of the supervisors appeared to be paying no attention to public comment as they talked and laughed with each other.

Best,

Supervisor Catherine Stefani,

Dear Supervisor Stefani,

As you know, the Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's extremely modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this, I implore you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

San Francisco has done so little to address the climate crisis! The actions that are outlined in the CAP are only a start, but we cannot continue to do virtually nothing beyond generating a document. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Hi Supervisor Chan,

I'm writing in to show my support for the Shared Schoolyard Program. I urge a complete and full restoration of funds, baselined at $600,000/year, to ensure equitable access to clean and safe recreational spaces for all San Francisco children and families. In the last year, the Shared Schoolyard Program has provided FREE outdoor programming to more than 2600 children, opened 36 acres of play space to San Francisco residents, and provided access to 24 playgrounds for our children. The loss of the Shared Schoolyard Program would hurt our neighborhoods, families, and children.

Re: OEWD Funding for Community Safety Program in the Tenderloin & Mid-Market

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee, & Supervisor Preston,

I write today on a matter of utmost concern, which is the potential $4.5 million reduction in OEWD funding for the community-based safety program in the Tenderloin and Mid-Market neighborhoods. This proposed cut would remove up to 50 Urban Alchemy practitioners from sidewalks and parks in the neighborhood. With continued funding, safety improvements that benefit our community, merchants and residents as well as students, faculty and staff, can be maintained and hard-won gains preserved. The Mayor's State of Emergency proclamation greatly benefited the Tenderloin. We also appreciate Supervisor Preston's leadership and commitment to continue the program showing fidelity with the needs of the Tenderloin, now included in his district.

Please do not undo the community-led progress we have made in the Tenderloin. I ask that you retain OEWD funding for the community-based safety program in the Tenderloin and Mid-Market neighborhoods.

Very truly yours,

We are asking that the $4 million dollars in funds dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department NOT be put on reserve.

The Tenderloin Community (residents and CBOs together) worked on a budget priority sheet that was presented to the Mayor's office and we are excited to have a budget for the community that was created by the community. We also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

The people who live and work in the Tenderloin are depending on these funds being available in next year's budget. Do not put them on reserve! The Tenderloin community is being given a chance to shape our own future. Please fund the Planning Department to meet the community with the resources that we deserve.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am submitting written public comment in support of the Budget Justice Coalitions' list of asks that were not funded in the Mayor's budget or those that were underfunded. Specifically, I am making public comment to recommend the following:

- Please invest an additional $10MM for the Supportive Housing Providers Network Wage Equity Ask (#191) to ensure that all San Francisco workers in permanent supportive housing, regardless of the properties funding source, have equitable wages. We are grateful to the Mayor for including $30MM over two years and ongoing for this effort and the additional funds will ensure that the intention to raise the salaries of all PSH workers across the city are addressed and implemented.
- Please fund meals within supportive housing.
  - Ask 189: Enhancing food security in PSH, the pilot with La Cocina entrepreneurs and supportive housing sites was not funded in the budget. This will mean the loss of a meal program that supports 570 vulnerable adults with a daily meal and has sustained multiple businesses from La Cocina that are still struggling with the impacts of the pandemic. The budget here is for 2million per year for 2 years which would sustain the existing pilot and allow for expansion to a number of other PSH sites that lack adequate cooking facilities.
- Please fund adequate overdose prevention beyond the Mayor's commitment of $0.2MM!
  - Ask 190: For Overdose prevention in PSH—The community-based pilot that was in the BJC/SHPN ask includes a deeper investment in overdose prevention that includes resident overdose specialists, overdose detection devices, Narcan saturation and training. It will save lives!
- Please include funding to support the Swords to Plowshares ask for $208K to fund the first year of a new Veterans Community Center located in District 6 but open to all veterans. This ask will support the needs expressed by veterans to have a space to build community amongst other veterans in a place that was created by and for them. We have 80% of the funding needed to get this center up and running and are asking the city and county of San Francisco to support veterans by funding this small amount that is needed for year one.

RE: API Council budget ask for continuation of BEC
Supplemental Grocery Program

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee Members,

My name is Joy Ng and I have served the South of Market and API community for the last 6 years. During the pandemic, hunger and food access became exacerbated for low-income households, particularly the elderly, frail, homebound, disabled, immigrant, and non-English speaking. This is a letter of support for the API Council's ask to continue funding for the Bayanihan Equity Center's Supplemental Grocery Program.

The Bayanihan Equity Center's low-barrier Supplemental Grocery Program (SGP) fills a gap in food access for hard-to-reach Filipino and API families with children, older adults, and adults with disabilities, who are unable to go out due to the risk of contracting communicable diseases, and/or are API older adults who fear being assaulted on the streets, among other reasons.

The trend of unemployment, loss of income, targeted violence, and food insecurity are still prevalent, and our SGP remains a staple source of food for 200 households, namely in D6 and D11.

Our SGP provides culturally relevant shelf stable groceries and some perishables twice per month to households in the program. Please continue our funding, so that Bayanihan Equity Center may continue providing food to these households in our community, and to continue combating food insecurity during these tumultuous times.

Sincerely,

SUBJECT: Support SF OEWD full funding-no cuts-Mid-Market/Tenderloin Community Based Safety Program with ambassador

Dear Honorable Supervisors,

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a

I have been working in my studio, as a Fine Artist in this neighborhood for the last 33 years in the Odd Fellows temple on seventh and market Street. Over the years the neighborhood has been deteriorating and it became significant within the last 2 to 3 years because of all the dope dealing and blatant drug use on the corner of seventh and market. It has impacted me as well as other tenants in the building and other people that come to visit the building.

Since Urban alchemy has been present it's completely changed. They are excellent and an extreme benefit to the area they keep it clean and drug addict and drug dealer free during the time that they hear from 7 AM to 7 PM... (it would be nice if they could stay here longer). I strongly suggest and insist that they be maintained in this area and in addition to that you should find other ways to make sure that the problem doesn't persist or expand.

It is extremely important that we still maintain a prominent presence to help avoid any future problems with these individuals

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces that are now receiving support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors and patrons in some of the City's most challenged, central blocks would be a loss. We know that many parts of our city are not receiving this type of support, but need here has been unprecedented and there is still much work to do. Please, now is not the time to go backwards.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability in some of the city's most challenged blocks. But there is still a lot of work to do and it is critical we continue and build upon these services.

Any positive action in this direction would be greatly appreciated...

Richard L. Perri

Supervisor Shamann Walton,

Dear Supervisors,

The Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Dear Honorable Members of the Board of Supervisors,

Please maintain the funding for staffing the playgrounds in the Tenderloin.

At least once a week, I take my two-year-old grandchild to the Sergeant John McCauley Playground and/or the Turk-Hyde Mini Park. We both love these playgrounds, and in no small part because of the wonderful staff.

Many years ago, when I was a kid, all San Francisco playgrounds were staffed, and it would be great to see that happen again, at least where it already exists in the Tenderloin.

Because of the attentive staff, the Tenderloin playgrounds are clean, fun, and safe for children and their families. Please preserve this important program.

Thank you,

To the Budget Appropriations Committee,

The TAJA Coalition is one of the few nonprofit organizations in the country led by transgender women of color. Founded in February 2015 in response to the brutal murder of Taja Gabrielle de Jesus, a transgender woman of color and beloved community member in San Francisco, our mission is to stop violence against trans women of color. Our vision is safety for trans women and gender nonconforming (GNC) individuals in a world free of the prison industrial complex and state violence, an economy centered on the needs of people, and arrangements of power and space that centers interdependence.

The TAJA Coalition is composed of community stakeholders and community based service providers who identify service gaps to improve the quality of life of society's most marginalized community. We provide rental assistance, workforce development, and we bring awareness to violence for Trans and Gender Non-Binary Community Members.

We are requesting funds to support Transgender youth attending school in the SFUSD, in efforts to increase graduation outcomes and support Trans and Gender Non-binary high school students to achieve higher education; to support Trans and Gender Non-binary Housing Taskforce to provide technical assistance in data integrity that will track where services are being accessed and how to balance trans and GNB access across partner organizations. We are also requesting funds to support our workforce development project to help trans and GNB community members obtain professional development skills and connect them to employment opportunities.

The following are current funding requests:

- OEWD (SFLGBT x TAJA's Collaboration) Beyond Tomorrow WorkForce Development - FY22-23 ($100,000) and FY23-24 ($100,000) Ask ID - D081
- HSH Transgender and Gender Non-Binary Housing TaskForce - FY22-23

($50,000) and FY23-24 ($50,000) Ask ID - D433

- SFDCYF SF Unified School District Case Management (Transgender Students)
- FY22-23 ($250,000) and FY23-24 ($300,000) Ask ID - D432

Considering the nature of the initiative, our team has concluded that the SF Unified School District Case Management project may be better suited under San Francisco Department of Youth and Their Families (DCYF) rather than the SFMOHCD.

Please see the updated itemized budget request attached and our resolution of support from the United Educators of San Francisco.

Resolution to Support Transgender and Non-Binary Students in SFUSD

Whereas, in San Francisco, one of the most accepting cities in the United States, 42% of Transgender women in San Francisco are HIV-positive, 60% of Transgender women in San Francisco have been homeless in the past year, and 79% of Transgender women in San Francisco have experienced sexual or physical violence, with 92% of Transgender women of color reporting that they have experienced sexual or physical violence<sup>1</sup>; and

Whereas, through data from the CDC Youth Risk Behavior Survey, we see that 24% of Transgender youth are forced to have sex (twice the rate of cisgender girls), 35% of Transgender youth have attempted suicide (5 times the rate of cisgender peers), and 15% have had sex prior to age 13<sup>2</sup> (5 times the rate of cisgender peers); and

Whereas, in schools, we see how widespread societal bias and discrimination against Transgender women and girls affects them, but have no data on student achievement, literacy levels, rates of transfers/ dropouts, or graduation outcomes specific to Transgender students; and

Whereas, in San Francisco, as of 2017, 46% of Black Transgender girls and 66% of Latina Transgender girls do not receive a high school diploma or GED<sup>3</sup>; and

Whereas, nationwide, there is a climate of hostility towards Transgender youth, and in several states doctors and families are no longer legally allowed to seek or provide gender affirming care to Transgender youth; and

Whereas, TAJA's Coalition, a Black Transgender led non-profit dedicated to ending violence against Transgender women of color, is proposing to initiate a partnership with San Francisco Unified to create a program supporting the academic achievement, safety, and transition to college and career for Transgender students in high school through case management, weekly group meetings, linkages to community-based services, and community mentorship; and

Whereas, TAJA's Coalition is seeking funding to do so through the Mayor's Office and other avenues that will not reduce funding towards other students;

Therefore let it be resolved that UESF will support TAJA's Coalition efforts in creating an academic achievement and case management program for Transgender high school students in SFUSD, providing Transgender students with greater supports given the widespread societal bias and discrimination these students face now and will continue to face after graduation;

and

Final resolved, it is time to create equity in our schools for Transgender and non-binary students by supporting TAJA's Coalition in partnering with SFUSD to provide school-based services for Transgender students in order to:

1) Improve graduation outcomes and successful transitions to college and career for Transgender high school students.

2) Ensure Transgender high school students have gender-specific education on violence prevention, transition-related health care, rights in the workplace, and more.

3) Provide community mentorship so that Transgender high school students can have possibility models, and learn on a personal level from successful transgender adults.

4) Empower Transgender high school students to become community leaders.

To the Board of Supervisors

You have, I'm certain, seen the words below in many of the emails you've already received about the budget. I ask, on behalf of the Human Services Network (HSN), the staff at the agencies that HSN represents, and in particular, the many clients that all of these agencies are serving, that you honor and respect our work by reviewing and acting upon our requests for fair and equitable pay, along with an inflation based increase for other organizational expenses, as follows:

In May 2022, the Controller's Office issued a report addressing the inflationary pressures impacting nonprofit service providers that contract with San Francisco to serve our most vulnerable residents – particularly the urgent post-pandemic crisis in hiring and retention that undermines services and destabilizes organizations. The report, “Findings and Recommendations for Addressing Nonprofit Wage Pressures” is the result of a City/nonprofit policy working group, interviews, focus groups and data compilation.

Nonprofit frontline workers, who have been the backbone of our service delivery system prior to and throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, are among the lowest wage workers in San Francisco. These below-market wages expose our City's deep income inequity among a substantially-BIPOC workforce that more closely represents the demographics of its client base than of the City as a whole.

The report makes clear the direct connections between underfunded nonprofit contracts, inability to recruit workers, and the quality and level of services. To address these issues, the report recommends that the City identify strategies above a standard inflationary cost-of-doing-business increase (CODB), plan for a significant multi-year investment to address wage constraints, and transition to multi-year contracts with embedded escalators. In the immediate budget, the report recommends a COLA in addition to the CODB allocation, as well as targeted wage investments in key service areas.

HSN presented two budget requests to address these issues in the upcoming budget:

- 7% CODB increase for worker raises and inflationary cost pressures at $7.3 million per 1% increase.
  - The Mayor funded a 5.25% COLA on compensation but no CODB on other expenses. The proposed budget allocates $21 million at $4 million per 1%.
  - We ask the Board to allocate $10 million for a 3% CODB on the non-compensation portion of nonprofit contracts at $3.3 million per 1% increase.
- An additional investment to address nonprofit staffing challenges and reduce the wage gap with the public sector.
  - The Mayor provided funding for targeted wage investments in permanent supportive housing and early childhood education.

Thank you for giving this your serious consideration.

Clerk of SF Budget Committee,

Mr. Jalipa,

As a member of Senior and Disability Action I wish to express the need in the coming budget of monies for the repair of elevators in single room occupancy (SRO) hotels, the important need for funds to help defray expenses for senior and disabled wheelchair users and more funds to provide for new senior and disabled rental units. The cost of living in this city has become so extreme that many senior and disability residents are hanging by a thread and are in dire need of help. There seems to be plenty of money for the homeless and the restaurant industry but very little for those who have built the economy of this city and now need help in surviving.

Hello, I am writing in support of funding the graffiti abatement pilot project that Supervisor Melgar proposed this year. While passing the ordinance is helpful, we need to fund it! Taggers unfortunately have been defacing private and public property. We must make citizens feel safe and graffiti threatens citizens when they are in the merchant corridors. The city should support the projects that will allow citizens to be empowered to fight the crime of graffiti. Please support small businesses and beautiful neighborhoods fund this important graffiti abatement pilot project!!

To the Budget Appropriations Committee,

In our liberal progressive city, transgender girls and women still face educational inequity- 46% of Black Transgender girls and 66% of Latina Transgender girls do not receive a high school diploma or GED- this is compared to 88% graduation rates within SFUSD. It is clear that this community needs more support! TAJA's Coalition is a Black trans led non-profit that is focused on ending violence against trans women of color, and educational outcomes are one of the protective factors that empower trans women of color. TAJA's is ready to collaborate with San Francisco Unified to support trans and non-binary students, and is seeking increased funding and support from the city of San Francisco to do so.

Please fund an academic achievement and case management program for Transgender and non-binary students to support students in achieving successful educational outcomes in the comprehensive high school settings. Transgender girls, especially transgender girls of color, face many barriers to successful educational outcomes in San Francisco and nation-wide, including stigma, bullying, harrassment, gender discrimination, violence, and family rejection, harms that result in trauma, struggles with mental health, self-esteem, body and gender dysphoria, struggles with drug and alcohol use, increased level of suicidality. It is no wonder this group would then struggle to complete HS diplomas, or be unable to be successful in a comprehensive high school setting. Despite the myriad challenges this group faces, there is virtually no support for these students within the school system other than a weekly support group. Thus I would argue that the district is not adequately serving these students.

From 2008- 2011, I was a direct service provider to young transgender women of color affiliated with Trans Thrive, the organization formerly known as the API Wellness Center, and AIDS Healthcare Foundation. I can think of so many transgender girls who have been failed by San Francisco Unified. For example, Vanessa Warri, current Point Scholar, has earned a Master's in Social Work and is pursuing her PhD at UCLA, one of the finest universities in the United States, yet could not graduate from Abraham Lincoln High School. She has clearly proven her potential and her academic abilities, and clearly has not been held back by her high school experiences. But there are many other Vanessa's in our schools currently, who may not have the same drive, or experience the same level of community support, who also deserve to graduate from high school, and attend college or embark on a career where there are opportunities beyond dead-end, minimum-wage jobs. In my own experience as an outside service provider, only one of the 20+ young trans women of color that I worked with was able to obtain a HS diploma. Services for this extremely vulnerable population need to be provided in schools in order for these students to be successful in school. .

In order to support the success and achievement of transgender high school students, I am proposing a case management program that is a collaboration between the district and TAJA's Coalition, a community-based trans-serving agency that focused on creating safety and economic empowerment for transgender women of color. This collaboration would regularly support transgender students through weekly check-ins to look at their grades and attendance, identify any issues or barriers, refer to community based services, and provide regular contact with a supportive teacher who is familiar with their high school, the transition to college and career process, as well as culturally competent to address the specific needs of students who are transitioning. This program would also feature weekly group meetings or sessions to address topics of importance to transgender youth, with a focus on safety, body positivity, empowerment, harm reduction, health, aspects of gender presentation/ transition, and transition to college/ career. This teacher and case manager would work with 5-8 different school sites on a weekly to biweekly basis, providing supportive case management and weekly group meetings, as well as providing technical assistance to school staff on how to serve the unique needs of transgender girls of color and trans, non-binary, and gender variant students in general.

Approximate Program Costs

- an MOU with TAJA's Coalition and San Francisco Unified, outlining roles, responsibilities, and funding. TAJA's is applying for funds through the Mayor's Office and through SAMSHA.
- Salary: $75,000
- Fringe Benefits: $3,000
- Workforce Development Consultant: $59,200
- Other- $98,243

Indirect- $14,556

- Total: $250,000

While this program has costs, not engaging these youth also has costs. Transgender girls of color have some of the highest risk of any community of dropping out of high school, facing unemployment and underemployment, facing violence, family rejection, harm, substance abuse, depression, suicide, HIV, and other adverse outcomes. San Francisco can continue to be leaders in equity for underserved student populations by addressing the needs of transgender girls of color.

UESF supports this work and unanimously passed this resolution of support. Please support this work by granting funds to TAJA's Coalition to do this work within San Francisco Unified.

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee:

Thank you for your leadership and efforts to keep our neighbors safe and secure through the COVID pandemic. I'm proud of the way our City responded to the pandemic – particularly in the area of supporting community food programs.

While the immediacy of the COVID crisis has waned, food insecurity has not. In fact, pressures have increased. San Francisco-Marin Food Bank's Food Locator is seeing 4x the number of visits of people looking for food, in addition to the Food Bank seeing a 40% increase in CalFresh signups, 21% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) signups, and 45% increase in meals provided to seniors and adults with disabilities.

Demand for community food security programs is increasing as inflation surges. Soaring inflation is not only impacting demand for service, it is significantly increasing the cost to community organizations in delivering food security programs. This has an impact not only on the demand for services but the cost of providing that service. From February 2021-February 2022, grocery prices rose 12.1% overall, and an average of 50% increased cost for eggs and a 35% hike for flour.

Other funding from federal sources (FEMA, Federal COVID relief bills) has ended, leaving organizations with little choice but to wind down operations just as community need is spiking.

Our food system was already in an emergency pre-pandemic with one in four San Franciscans experiencing food insecurity, disproportionately impacting communities of color. COVID just magnified a deeply rooted problem, exacerbating inequities, making it unconscionable to continue to ignore the crisis in front of us.

Supporting continued food security programs will have a positive impact on an estimated 70,000 households (not unduplicated) served by community programs about to be cut. I urge you to provide full funding at current levels for community food programming for the next 2 years - $12M in FY 23 and $30M in FY24.

In community,

Eric

Dear Chair Ronen, Vice- Chair Safai, and Supervisors Chan, Mar and Walton,

I am Jennifer Bielstein, Executive Director of American Conservatory Theater (A.C.T.) and I am part of the leadership team of the SF Arts Alliance representing arts organizations of all disciplines and cultural centers throughout San Francisco.

I am writing to express our support for the complete backfill of the Hotel Tax for the arts, cultural centers and cultural districts for FY 22-24.

A.C.T. has been a part of the San Francisco community for 55 years serving almost 200,000 people annually through live theater performances in our Mid-Market and Union Square theaters, training programs and work in the schools.

The pandemic has been devastating to our ability to deliver on our mission. In early 2020 we shifted all that we do to the virtual realm to continue serving our audiences and students. We have been slowly returning to in person programming since August of last year to do the same.

Pre-COVID we employed 650 people annually. We are building back up to that level and will employ more than 350 people over this next season. We work with nine unions and about half of our employees are union members including my co-leader Pam MacKinnon, A.C.T.'s Artistic Director.

We focus on being an inclusive organization where everyone feels welcome and can be their true selves, and on representing the diversity of the Bay Area in all that we do – from the stories we tell on our stages to who we hire and who is on our board of trustees.

It has been very tough to survive through COVID. The support of our local, state and federal government is a huge part of the reason we are still standing. Thank you. We hope we can count on your support for backfilling the critical Prop E funds in this budget cycle.

We look forward to contributing to the San Francisco's economy and the City's recovery effort by bringing people to the Mid-Market and Union Square neighborhoods who will support related businesses, and by contributing to the character and soul of this community. Just recently we were pleased to provide broad access to our work by providing more than 15,000 tickets to the community for free or for only $5 to our first in-person production since COVID began. This brought about 1,000 people per night to the area thus stimulating business for restaurants, retail and parking garages.

Thank you again for your support backing filling the Prop E Arts funds last year. We look forward to your continued support in next year's budget to maintain critical funding in San Francisco to stabilize arts and culture in what continues to be an unprecedented and unimaginable decline in hotel tax revenues.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide input.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Bielstein

Dear Supervisors,

My name is Nadia, I live in the mission district, and I am an advocate. I urge you to support the Women's Housing Coalition's budget proposal to maintain and progress our city's efforts to address the shortage of viable living spaces for unhoused women in San Francisco.

In San Francisco today, the trends of homelessness, COVID-19 pandemic, and the displacement and the lack of services for women coming out of the criminal justice system has increased the number of women who find themselves homeless on the streets of San Francisco. Studies have shown that women and men experience homelessness in different ways and women are at increased vulnerability for violence. 40% of homeless people in San Francisco are women/trans/or non-binary. Males make up for 85% of the population in shelters. Women are more likely to experience 106x more violence in a shelter than on a street. Currently, the community-based organizations providing housing for women experiencing homelessness in San Francisco do not have the capacity or resources to meet the growing demand for their services.

Unhoused San Franciscan women are facing multiple crises and barriers. Please, support the Women's Housing Coalition budget proposal to address the shortage of viable living spaces for the women of San Francisco.

Sincerely,

Nadia

My name is Tim Kingston and I am an investigator at the San Francisco Public Defenders office.

I'm sure that you have heard plenty from the lawyers at our office. I would like to present a different perspective, that of the support staff. We are the clerks, the paralegals, the social workers and investigators without whom the Public Defender's office would grind to a halt.

I urge you to redirect the $50 million of funding that the Mayor wants to jam into the SF Police Department to instead go to city health services, education, mental health and housing assistance, among other things, where it is really needed. Crime is a social and economic issue and not one the police can solve.

The police are not trained to deal with mental health crises. Not infrequently their response worsens a fraught situation. The police cannot help people find housing. Social Workers can do that. A determination to build affordable housing can do that. The police cannot educate young people, a proven way to improve multi-generational economic success.

The police cannot address the economic inequality that is destroying the quality of life in San Francisco. They merely guard the wealthy and move the homeless around. That $50 million could go to hungry and homeless San Franciscans. It could go to job training and small businesses.

Yes, there is an increase in some property crimes, it's because people are hungry and desperate. If they had housing, work and mental health services they might very well not commit those crimes. Who is in jail? The poor, people of color and those with mental health issues. Throwing money at an ever more militarized police force ultimately does nothing to address why they are there.

I would strongly urge a redirection of that money to where it can do the most good, which is NOT in the hands of the police! It wouldn't be a bad idea to send some of the cash to the public defenders office for the line workers like me who keep the place running.

Thank you.

My name is Shara Orquiza. I am a staff member from the Filipino Community Center in the Excelsior District.

I urge the Budget committee to consider adding budget towards food insecurity. It is disappointing to know that there are no budget allocated towards food insecurity when we are seeing that this is an issue throughout the city.

In Excelsior alone we see the increase of food insecurity rise in our community. The excelsior district have the highest rate of unemployment so it comes to no surprise that food insecurity is also one of the heightening issues in the neighborhood. Imagine how much people are facing hunger in San Francisco.

So please consider this and actually allocate a budget towards food insecurity in the city. Thank you

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisor Ronen, President Walton and Supervisors -

Please find attached the link for the latest report of the Street Needs Assessment Committee of the Latino Task Force, which identifies human rights violations against unhoused residents in the Mission District as well as a plan of effective and immediate corrective action in similar effective city and community-led partnerships as other Latino Task Force collaborations.

In alignment with the practices and goals of the Latino Task Force, this plan linked below includes recommendations for budget neutral policy changes. It also includes a request for $200,000 to fund and deploy two human rights monitors to act as liaisons and monitor the engagements and operations with unhoused residents of the Mission District, to ensure that these policy changes are effective. The monitors will play an essential role in the coordination between city departments and community to begin to address the Mission District community needs for health, hygiene, and healing and move us toward the implementation of Proyecto Dignidad (Project Dignity).

Based on a King Street pilot in 2012 and spearheaded in a very intentional and sensitive manner by Bevan Dufty, Mayor's former homeless director at the time, the initiative led to a 100% successful permanent relocation of this settlement. Current sweep operations constitute institutional, racialized abuse against a primarily BIPOC community. As demonstrated in the King Street model, there is a path to deconstructing encampments that is both effective and humane. El Proyecto Dignidad presents a community-centered approach where the city is truly engaged with community organizations and unhoused people and aims to meet the needs of every unhoused resident who enters the program.

The LTF's recent COVID-19 experiences and the task force's proven results obtained through operating testing sites, food hubs, and providing small business support programs, have taught us firsthand that compassion is practical, intelligent, and produces optimal results. We practice partnership with government and industry in an effective manner that is community-led, community-driven, and community-implemented. It is based on mutual respect, "helping the city get better at being better" at these critical operations, moving us all away from violence and towards a shared wholeness.

To the Mayor and Board of Supervisors:

My name is Virginia Cheung, and I live in District 9 and work citywide with Wu Yee Children's Services. We are a member of CPAC.

Wu Yee has 12 child care centers as well as a Family Resource Center. We are grateful to the Mayor for allocating $7 million to Family Resource Centers, a necessary yet underfunded essential program in San Francisco. We however urge the Mayor and Board of Supervisors to find an alternative source outside of Baby C to fund these essential services.

We agree we want FRCs to get $3.5 million annually. CPAC's first choice would be to find this funding outside Prop C if possible. We believe there are other places that could fund this. Currently, more than 33% of ECE programs do not have enough teachers/staff to enroll as many children as desired. Prop C needs to go to this to expand capacity.

We have classrooms that are empty because we don't have enough teachers. We have open child care placement slots because the existing funds aren't enough to fully support the broken infrastructure. We urge you to be intentional about how we allocate funds from Baby Prop C so that it can fulfill its intended impact - to ensure that every child in San Francisco has their basic needs met and a place in a quality early care and education setting. Child care programs in the city provide a safe environment, education and meals for young children as well as support to our parent workforce during the most critical time of a family's foundational development.

We urge you to continue to allocate $7 million to FRC's but find a new funding source.
Thank you.

Kind regards,
Virginia

Good morning Supervisors,

My name is Katrina Liwanag from the Filipino Community Center, born and raised in Bernal Heights - now a resident in the Excelsior. I'm a service provider from the Filipino Community Center, SF.

I am writing in support of continued budget allocation for food access programs like the Supplemental Grocery Program (SGP) because hundreds of our Filipino elderly, disabled, families, and especially our migrant women in precarious living/working conditions still continue to suffer under immense pressure to meet basic needs. Our food delivery program in partnership with the Bayanihan Equity Center, SOMCAN, and Galing Bata provides culturally relevant foods to hundreds of community members who have NO other tangible certainties aside from this food access in a time of continued joblessness and houselessness. These programs that activate these mere recipients into volunteers and community leaders MUST be encouraged and strengthened rather than cut.

To further support YOUR constituents, I humbly ask that you please invest in Equitable Workforce Development and increase the City's investment in "Economic Recovery and Equity" workforce development that really sheds light on workers' barriers to employment — especially for Black, Brown, and non-English speaking immigrants.

Thank you!

To the Budget Appropriations Committee,

In our liberal progressive city, transgender girls and women still face educational inequity- 46% of Black Transgender girls and 66% of Latina Transgender girls do not receive a high school diploma or GED- this is compared to 88% graduation rates within SFUSD. It is clear that this community needs more support! TAJA's Coalition is a Black trans led non-profit that is focused on ending violence against trans women of color, and educational outcomes are one of the protective factors that empower trans women of color. TAJA's is ready to collaborate with San Francisco Unified to support trans and non-binary students, and is seeking increased funding and support from the city of San Francisco to do so.

Please fund an academic achievement and case management program for Transgender and non-binary students to support students in achieving successful educational outcomes in the comprehensive high school settings. Transgender girls, especially transgender girls of color, face many barriers to successful educational outcomes in San Francisco and nation-wide, including stigma, bullying, harrassment, gender discrimination, violence, and family rejection, harms that result in trauma, struggles with mental health, self-esteem, body and gender dysphoria, struggles with drug and alcohol use, increased level of suicidality. It is no wonder this group would then struggle to complete HS diplomas, or be unable to be successful in a comprehensive high school setting. Despite the myriad challenges this group faces, there is virtually no support for these students within the school system other than a weekly support group. Thus I would argue that the district is not adequately serving these students.

From 2008- 2011, I was a direct service provider to young transgender women of color affiliated with Trans Thrive, the organization formerly known as the API Wellness Center, and AIDS Healthcare Foundation. I can think of so many transgender girls who have been failed by San Francisco Unified. For example, Vanessa Warri, current Point Scholar, has earned a Master's in Social Work and is pursuing her PhD at UCLA, one of the finest universities in the United States, yet could not graduate from Abraham Lincoln High School. She has clearly proven her potential and her academic abilities, and clearly has not been held back by her high school experiences. But there are many other Vanessa's in our schools currently, who may not have the same drive, or experience the same level of community support, who also deserve to graduate from high school, and attend college or embark on a career where there are opportunities beyond dead-end, minimum-wage jobs. In my own experience as an outside service provider, only one of the 20+ young trans women of color that I worked with was able to obtain a HS diploma. Services for this extremely vulnerable population need to be provided in schools in order for these students to be successful in school. .

In order to support the success and achievement of transgender high school students, I am proposing a case management program that is a collaboration between the district and TAJA's Coalition, a community-based trans-serving agency that focused on creating safety and economic empowerment for transgender women of color. This collaboration would regularly support transgender students through weekly check-ins to look at their grades and attendance, identify any issues or barriers, refer to community based services, and provide regular contact with a supportive teacher who is familiar with their high school, the transition to college and career process, as well as culturally competent to address the specific needs of students who are transitioning. This program would also feature weekly group meetings or sessions to address topics of importance to transgender youth, with a focus on safety, body positivity, empowerment, harm reduction, health, aspects of gender presentation/ transition, and transition to college/ career. This teacher and case manager would work with 5-8 different school sites on a weekly to biweekly basis, providing supportive case management and weekly group meetings, as well as providing technical assistance to school staff on how to serve the unique needs of transgender girls of color and trans, non-binary, and gender variant students in general.

Approximate Program Costs

- an MOU with TAJA's Coalition and San Francisco Unified, outlining roles, responsibilities, and funding. TAJA's is applying for funds through the Mayor's Office and through SAMSHA.
- A TSA (Teacher on Special Assignment) to serve as case manager and program lead- $120k
- Funds for space rentals & transportation to community providers- $15k
- Equipment (laptop, cell phone for case manager, and other tech needs)- 10K
- Emergency participant needs (clothing, food, transportation) - 10k

Administrative costs- 20k

- Program evaluation by consultant- 10k

While this program has costs, not engaging these youth also has costs. Transgender girls of color have some of the highest risk of any community of dropping out of high school, facing unemployment and underemployment, facing violence, family rejection, harm, substance abuse, depression, suicide, HIV, and other adverse outcomes. San Francisco can continue to be leaders in equity for underserved student populations by addressing the needs of transgender girls of color.

UESF supports this work and unanimously passed this resolution of support. Please support this work by granting funds to TAJA's Coalition to do this work within San Francisco Unified.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing in support of funding the Office of Economic and Workforce Development has requested for San Francisco's Economic Core. San Francisco's downtown is the driver of our city's entire economy - it provides jobs for our residents, demand for our small businesses, and the tax base that supports the services, arts, and resources that our communities depend on. Our neighborhoods cannot thrive if our economic engine is jeopardized.

We know at this point that neither tourists nor employees are expected to return to our downtown anytime soon unless we do something. We must give people new reasons to come to downtown if the service workers and the small businesses in our downtown core that depend on their business are to survive. Investing City dollars in community driven efforts that are going to help reinvent our economic core so that it continues to thrive as the economic base for the city and everyone in it - and doing so specifically with initiatives that are going to put the very artists, entrepreneurs, and cultural groups that have been hurt most by the pandemic to work - is the best way to protect our city's economic wellbeing for the future and a win for everyone.

Please maintain the funding OEWD requested for the economic core in their budget proposal.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

I am writing this email in support of the Bay Area Essential Workers Agenda and its proposed budgetary items to enforce workers' rights and invest in equitable workforce development. The past few years have seen the exacerbation of existing inequalities along the lines of race and class. Many working class San Franciscans struggled with job loss, and in many cases were unable to access unemployment insurance. Others went to work in unfair/unsafe conditions despite existing protections, risking their and their families' health. I urge the Board of Supervisors to:

Increase Workers Rights Outreach and Enforcement ($1 million annually):

- Increase funding by $550k annually for the Office of Labor Standards Enforcement (OLSE) outreach and education contract with the Workers Rights Community Collaborative, to a total of $1.25 million annually
- $500k to support adding two new investigators to staff up OLSE
- The SF Labor Council also requested $2 million to support the coordination and pursuit of worker protection enforcement across city agencies, so after OLSE, I support $1.5 million other than money going towards the District Attorney and City Attorneys office.

Invest in Equitable Workforce Development ($16.3 million / 2 years):

- Triple the city's investment in "economic Recovery and Equity" workforce development programs that prioritize workers with Barriers to employment, including non-English speaking immigrants ($7.2 million)
- Establish an "Earn and Learn" pilot program targeting SRO families and residents for entry into unionized private and public sector employment ($1.5 million)
- Continue new demonstration projects through HESPA to address the intersection of housing, homelessness and jobs, e.g. housing specialist at neighborhood job centers and "earn and Learn" programs for adults and Transitional Age Youth transitioning from homelessness ($7.6 million)

On behalf of Bay Area Essential Workers Agenda, WRCC, and SOMCAN, we urge you to please support the proposed budgetary items to enforce workers' rights and invest in equitable workforce development.

Best,

Good morning,

I write to you to advocate on behalf of our most vulnerable populations in San Francisco. Please we need help serving the people who make this city great.

The Community Health program was created as a response to address the spread of COVID19 to the Latino Community that was most impacted by COVID19 due to lack of health care and overcrowded living arrangements. Budget needed for Mission site is $771,000 and 0 is committed. Need $771,000 to be made whole. Budget needed for Excelsior site is $1.6 million and 0 is committed. Need $ 1.6 million to be made whole

The Mission Food Hub was created as an immediate response to the COVID19 crisis and since inception has served over 12,000 community members seeing up to 3,000 people in line weekly. Packages are delivered to various seniors unable to stand in line. Budget needed is 9 million and only 5 million is committed. Need 4 million to be made whole

The Essential Services Hub was created to respond to the number of residents in financial need and without access to assistance to apply for assistance. In person offered during the pandemic in areas of financial relief, family relief, assistance with job applications, providing parents with help to enroll in student hubs and getting computer technology. Hubs provide essential and basic needs. Budget needed to serve Mission, Excelsior Visitation Valley and Bayview is 6 million and only 3 million is committed. Need at least 2 million to continue to provide services

The Education Hub was created to address learning loss and serves 60 students in the summer and winter during the time schools are closed. Budget needed $200,000 and $90,000 is committed by outside sources. Need $100,000 to be made whole. Summer program starts June 13. Hub $200,000 supports. Budget needed is $200,000 to support education

The Employment services are important to bring employment connections. Shortfall for OEWD is $885,000 to keep agencies whole the mayor's office committed $500k the difference would be $385,000

Small Businesses have worked hard to survive the pandemic. With the support of our LTF Small Business Committee we have been working hard to provide technical support to our local businesses. OEWD needs to continue it's investment in Technical Support! Our Technical Support Agencies provide vital support and guidance to business in the Mission and Excelsior
Keep this small business support safetynet whole!

Thank you,

Luis Garcia

Subject: Letter of Support for Cameo House, Center on Juvenile and Criminal Justice

The Department on the Status of Women (DOSW) respectfully encourages you to support Cameo House with $775,000 annually in the City's FY 23 and FY 24 budgets. This is a vital, long-standing program in our community that specifically supports women and their children. Investing in Cameo House is a proven, cost-effective investment in the safety of some of San Francisco's most vulnerable, justice-involved cis and trans women.

Cameo House is an alternative sentencing residential program for homeless, justice-impacted women and their children. Of the clients served, 100% would otherwise be homeless; 100% of clients with substance use disorders show a decreased use at Cameo House; 100% are justice-impacted; over 90% of them are women of color; 77% gained and sustained employment; 72% returned to education; and 78% of graduating participants moved into permanent housing. Cameo House provides real and impactful pathways to opportunities for those most impacted by the justice system and interrupts the intergenerational cycle of incarceration while also advancing gender and racial equity.

Few programs cater specifically to women, let alone provide residential programming to homeless, justice-involved cis and trans women and their children. Cameo House recognizes the matriarch's role in her/their family and works to prevent the system from breaking up this vital unit. The program has a direct impact on the homeless female population. Families can stay in the program for up to two-years, which affords women the needed and necessary time to establish goals so they can achieve positive outcomes. Of their program graduates, 78% moved into permanent and stable housing. Cameo House is an 11-unit program, and in FY 22, seven (7) women graduated the program and moved into permanent stable housing. This is the very definition of success.

The Department on the Status of Women recently received a grant through the statewide Women's Recovery Program sponsored by the California Commission on the Status of Women and Girls. Cameo House is partnering with DOSW to launch a Guaranteed Income Pilot Program for justice-impacted mothers. Cameo House is a key collaborator with DOSW, and the continuation of this program is necessary to ensure women's health, safety, wellness and economic security, stability, and mobility.

Cameo House also supports up to 20 children, ranging in age from newborn to 14 years old (both boys and girls). During FY 22 alone, the program has served a total of 23 families. There are additional women on the waiting list and the program continues to see a substantial increase in referrals.

Cameo House has broad community support and Sheriff Paul Miyamoto strongly supports this budget request. Cameo House is a long-standing and well-respected program that provides women with a community alternative to sentencing, while also ensuring their children have a safe nurturing place to call home while they heal and build skills to grow together. We strongly urge the Board of Supervisors to support Cameo House with $775,000 annually. Thank you for your consideration, and please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Ellis

For the past two years, entrepreneurs like me at "La Cocina" have been preparing meals for residents at "DISH".

My business continues to be in a hard situation with the pandemic. Working with "DISH" has given me income to keep my business going.

I love this program because it helps me give back . It's like cooking for my family. I am proud to serve food from my culture to my neighbours.

This program is a win- win for supporting housing residents and small business owners like me. I am asking the Board of Supervisors to fund the "La Cocina" meal program at "DISH".

Thank you and have a wonderful day.

Dear Supervisors,
Thank you for your time taking public comment today.

My name is Matthew Shilvock and I am General Director of San Francisco Opera, an employer of some 1,000 artists, technicians and administrators, the majority of whom are members of our eight union partners. I am also Co-Chair of the San Francisco Arts Alliance, a consortium of arts and culture organizations of all sizes and focuses across the city.

I wanted to express the support of the Arts Alliance and the Opera for the complete backfill of the Hotel Tax for arts organizations, cultural centers and cultural districts, honoring the transformative intent of Prop E and the overwhelming public support for more stable civic arts funding.

San Francisco is home to one of the most extraordinary arts communities in the world. It is part of the magnetic pull of this city that draws people here from across the region and the globe.

San Francisco has almost 30,000 jobs connected to the arts, with a local economic impact of a billion dollars each year. Yet this is still an incredibly fragile time for the arts as we emerge from the pandemic – a time when civic funding has never been more needed.

The backfill is essential to maintaining the infrastructure of the arts in this great city, employment for so many talented artists and technicians, and cultural experiences that allow all San Franciscans to connect, heal, and find in-person community once again. Ensuring the continued health of arts and culture organizations will help rebuild the economic infrastructure of the city, re-fill our hotels, and build back the tax base that comes from regional and global tourism.

Thank you Supervisors for your support of this hotel tax backfill once again this year.

With warmest wishes,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

Please hear our plea!

Last Tuesday at the deYoung museum, we hosted over 1,000 visitors without a security officer posted at the garage entrance, due to our short staffing crisis.

In Uvalde, Texas there was an open door at the school where an armed gunman shot and killed 19 children and 2 teachers. The officials there did not know/perform their jobs with tragic results. There are similarities at the museums. Accountants are in charge of security. Take officers off the payroll and you save money. As a civil servant security officer in Dept . 61 for over 20 years, I am more interested in saving lives.

Our intention is PREVENTION. We need to restore ALL 10 full time security positions in Dept. 61 immediately!

Thank you for listening.

Be safe!

Be well!

To whom it may concern,

I am writing on behalf of childcare teachers in San Francisco. While it is rewarding to be apart of children learning and developing skills it is also hard to sustain economically in San Francisco. With the Baby prop C it will allow for teacher to be paid what's deserving. This is a field that will always be needed much like doctors. It's time that the leaders began to realize how important it is to invest more

Into our young and youth and it takes money to do just that. Taking away from the growth and development of the Early Child Education funding will be detrimental and will affect hundreds of children, families and especially teachers. If there is no teachers how can we serve children and families. SAVE OUR TEACHERS by showing them you APPRECIATE AND VALUE THIER HARD WORK and show the families in San Francisco you are here to support their need of childcare in order for them to work and help the continue flow of revenue in San Francisco. Thank you for your time and consideration

Hi, my name is Nancy Huerta and I live in District 11 and work in District 3, with Wu Yee Children's services. I am a member of CPAC.

- As ECE advocates we are working in partnership with the FRC's to create one community serving the needs of children and families.
- We want to thank the Mayor for allocating $7 million to Family Resource Centers, a necessary yet underfunded essential program in San Francisco. We however urge the Mayor and Board of Supervisors to find an alternative source outside of Baby C to fund these essential services.
- Baby Prop C, passed by the voters of San Francisco, has defined parameters for how the funds should be spent.

Currently, ECE services can only provide for only 15% of San Francisco's infants and toddlers whose families have indicated need. Prop C needs to go to expand this capacity.

- Currently, more than 33% of ECE programs do not have enough teachers/staff to enroll as many children as desired. Prop C needs to go to this to expand capacity.
- We agree we want FRCs to get $3.5 million annually. CPAC's first choice would be to find this funding outside Prop C if possible. We believe there are other places that could fund this.
- We all believe in a collaborative approach where we fund holistic, 2-Gen programming and we will not be divided as a community serving high-needs families. Prop C is our pathway to high-quality ECE and making SF the best place to be an early childhood educator. We can't start using Prop C as a way to fill budget gaps that should be filled by other dedicated funds.
- Educators I work with are passionate and dedicated—yet struggle to stay in the field and do the work they love. We need more funding for ECE, not less.

As a parent here in San Francisco with a 2 year old child in an amazing family child care here in San Francisco. I urge you to continue to allocate $7 million to FRC's but find a new funding source. Thank you.

Dear Members of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors:

I am writing on behalf Downtown SF, the community benefit district that serves 43-blocks of the Financial District and Jackson Square, to support the Mayor's downtown recovery budget proposal through the Office of Economic and Workforce Development.

San Francisco remains last in the country in terms of the workforce returning to back to the office. During the height of the pandemic, downtown San Francisco saw a 96% decline in pedestrian traffic. This figure encompasses footfall from visitors and the workforce.

The downtown economic core needs City support and funding to combat this unprecedented situation with the loss of our small ground floor businesses, domestic and international travel, and of course the 9-to-5 workforce.

Downtown SF firmly believes that placemaking activations, such as those proposed from OEWD, by highlighting the best of what San Francisco has to offer in arts, culture, and hospitality will drive a new downtown economy. Other large cities have adopted this model too. Post-lockdown, our downtown must transform into a neighborhood that works for everyone. This includes providing inclusive opportunities for our marginalized communities to use downtown as their canvas, as their place of work, and as their community to thrive in.

Neighborhoods thrive on a healthy downtown and economic core, but none are mutually exclusive. Both are one to make a city great and vibrant.

Downtown SF strongly urges the Budget & Appropriations Committee and full Board of Supervisors to approve the proposed investments to downtown's economic core. This is our moment in time to make the right investments.

Sincerely,
Robbie Silver

Subject: Oppose Additional Law Enforcement Funding

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

San Francisco Board of Supervisors:
My name is Michelle Lavonier, and I live in San Francisco's District 1.

I am writing to oppose Mayor Breed's proposed police budget, which gives an additional $50 million funding to SFPD. We remain in the wake of the largest uprisings in U.S. history, sparked by police violence and bloated police budgets. We are witnessing the deadly impacts of a failure to invest in robust mental health, housing, and other community-based support services, and non-carceral interventions.

I respectfully ask that you oppose the Mayor's proposed police budget because SFPD is an agency marked by controversy and extreme violence. In the last six months, we witnessed three SFPD officers face charges of destroying evidence, SFPD using DNA from a rape exam to link a woman to a crime, and SFPD officers shooting and killing two men on the ground, including the victim of an assault. The police do not deliver safety or deter violence.

The best way to reduce violence and increase safety is to increase access to non-police crisis response teams, housing, healthcare, community mental health services, education, living wage jobs, and youth programs. In particular, I strongly urge the board to fully fund the Compassionate Alternative Response Team (CART), which is a practical, community-based program that moves away from police response to 911 calls involving the unhoused. CART will ensure that unhoused individuals in crisis receive care, not criminalization. This year, the Mayor is diverting $3 million set aside in last year's budget for CART for other uses. Those funds must be returned to CART, and the Board should fund the program further. CART needs only $6.7 million in funding to launch—a small fraction of the $50 million the Mayor has allocated to the police.

This additional police funding should also be shifted to Cameo House as the only women's alternative sentencing program in San Francisco for unhoused, system-impacted mothers and their children. They are in need of $775,000 annually to keep this critical program running.

Additionally, the SF Public Defender is in a unique position to make significant contributions to community safety. The Public Defender's indigent clients – the majority of whom are Black (51%), people of color (76%), often experiencing homelessness (40% of the jail population), substance use, and/or mental illness (over 75% of people in jail have serious mental illness and/or a history of substance use) -- are often already in crisis at the point when they are arrested or charged.

With additional funding, the San Francisco Public Defender can (1) end cycles of recidivism by providing support and connecting clients in crisis to resources like stable housing, safety net programs, substance abuse treatment, and healthcare services, and (2) ensure that indigent clients have the highest quality representation and are not criminalized or incarcerated because of their race or class.

In conclusion, oppose the Mayor's bloated budget for law enforcement. Instead, fund programs that will support communities and end cycles of recidivism and harm—in particular, CART, CAMEO House and the San Francisco Public Defender's Office.

Sincerely,

Michelle Lavier

RE: Annual Budget for FYs 2022-2023 and 2023-2024 for all Departments

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee Members,

The Bayanihan Equity Center (BEC) is a nonprofit organization serving the San Francisco community since 1999. During the pandemic, when the demand for food access services exponentially grew, and clients seeking immediate assistance from the SF-Marin Food Bank were experiencing delays or were ineligible for the services provided at that time, BEC created the Supplemental Grocery Program (SGP), a culturally-appropriate grocery distribution program for food-insecure households. We serve a minimum of 200 households per distribution, which occurs every first and third Thursday of the month.

The current proposed annual budget has depleted the funding for the program, and I am writing to urge you to protect and champion the basic needs of the community. This pandemic has brought on many challenges for the clients that we serve; and all too often, they must unfortunately decide whether to pay their rent or to feed their family. The City must prioritize the needs of its marginalized communities. Food is a major pillar to wellness, and it is imperative that food programs throughout the City continue to get funding so that its people not only survive, but thrive.

I thank you for all your hard work and dedication!

Sincerely,

Date: Friday, June 24, 2022 9:58:02 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Chair Ronen and Members of the Budget & Appropriations Committee:

Thank you for your ongoing support of children and families in San Francisco.

We are writing from the Joy Lok Family Resource Center, as part of the Family Resource Center Alliance, a citywide network of 26 FRCs committed to furthering equity and justice for all San Francisco families. The Joy Lok FRC is located in Supervisor District 3 and is committed to serving the low-income monolingual immigrant community.

We are writing to express our gratitude for the Mayor's commitment in the Proposed Budget to provide $7M in additional funding to FRCs over the next two years, and to emphasize that children and families need more to be able to survive in San Francisco.

In order to have the capacity to be able to meet increased and more intense family and community need, it is essential that additional funding is allocated in order to:

- Expand the FRC model to support families with school aged children - much of current funding is limited to ages 0-5;
- Improve connections between systems through intentional cross-sector partnerships, critical to the Children & Family Recovery plan; and
- Enhance infrastructure to sustain services and stabilize organizational infrastructures

FRCs are particularly a vital part of the city's child serving systems, working alongside educators to support child and family well-being at home and in communities. For example, all of the FRCs quickly responded to the pandemic and provided hundreds of families with basic needs, such as food, diapers, and hygiene products and thousands of dollars of emergency relief. When families found themselves sheltered in place, the FRCs stepped up to offer learning materials and virtual learning opportunities for families. FRCs also became a vital resource assisting families facing sudden job loss and loss of income to apply for EDD, CalFresh, and Medi-Cal in order to make ends meet.

Now more than ever family support is a key ingredient in improved outcomes for our children. Investing these dollars to support the whole-family through family support organizations will help ensure families get connected to key programs and greatly enhance their effectiveness.

And to truly become a family-friendly city, we must find ways to sustainably invest more in a meaningful community response to meet families' multiple needs.

We are grateful for the support of FRCs and ask that our request be fully funded so that family support organizations can be the foundation of a community-focused system that supports our most-marginalized families to recover, build back stronger, and thrive in today's San Francisco. We appreciate your partnership in helping ALL families to recover and to rebuild our city.

Gratefully,

Joy Lok Family Resource Center

Hi Brent,

My name is Lundi Lennon and I am the Program Manager at City Hope SF. I'm a part of the SF Food Provider Coalition. The cuts to the Community Food Coordination Group at HSA would take food off the table in 70,000 households, all of whom are your constituents. Our coalition of 30 SF food provider nonprofits are urging the Board of Supervisors and Mayor's Office to take immediate action to fill the funding gap of $12 million in food security funding in FY 22-23, and the gap of $30 million in FY 23-24.

City Hope receives a grant through the Curry Senior Center that affords us the opportunity to serve 1200 meals a month to our vulnerable Tenderloin residents. We are a small organization however, we build and create relationships around a dignified meal two to three times a week. These budget cuts would not only affect our organization but other smaller organizations and create a trickle-down effect to the larger organizations, overwhelming them even more. Please assist us in informing the Board of Supervisors and the Mayor's Office of how detrimental these budget cuts will be to our city.

Thank you for your time.

Best,

Hello Budget and Appropriations Committee,

I am writing to you today as part of the Bayanihan Equity Center to ask that you include the center's request in regards to food security. Since the start of the pandemic, we have started our Supplemental Grocery Program (SGP) to serve un/underemployed, unable to go out due to the risk of contracting communicable diseases, API older adults who fear being assaulted on the streets among other reasons. We provide culturally relevant shelf stable groceries and some perishables twice per month to consumer households served under the program.

Our program has partnered up with multiple organizations (Filipino Educational Center's Galing Bata, Filipino Community Center, & Bindlestiff, the Lao Seri community) in D6 and D11 to reach as many clients as possible and to also deliver grocery bags to seniors who are afraid to leave their homes due to fear of being assaulted.

Thank you.

All the best,

Dear Honorable Supervisors,

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

My name is Lindsay Goldstone and I am the property manager for 1355 Market and 875 Stevenson Streets and it is incredibly important for the safe passage of my tenants coming to and from the buildings to have the ambassadors throughout the neighborhood. I personally feel more comfortable walking on Market Street seeing these ambassadors.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassadors positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and like skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces that are now receiving support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors and patrons in some of the City's most challenged, central blocks would be a loss. We know that many parts of our city are not receiving this type of support, but need here has been unprecedented and there is still much work to do. Please, now is not the time to go backwards.

Hello,

I am writing today to urge the Board of Supervisors to accept Mayor Breed's budget allocation to the SFPD. The voters in San Francisco have made it very clear that we are concerned about public safety and believe that the SFPD has an important role to play. My name is Dolly Marie Ramos, a Community Service Worker for the Bayanihan Equity Center (BEC), a non profit serving seniors and adults with disabilities in San Francisco located at the South of Market Neighborhood in District 6. I have been working at the SoMa for more than 6 years now and have been a resident of D6 for more than 2 years.

I am writing to ask for your support and for you to include the budget ask under the API Council for the Bayanihan Equity Center's Supplemental Grocery Program, a program we launched during the height of the COVID-19 pandemic to provide much needed food support to hundreds of individuals who were severely affected financially by the pandemic. Since March of 2020, when the shelter in place happened, up to today, BEC provided thousands of grocery bags to seniors, adults with disabilities, low income individuals and families all throughout San Francisco with majority being D6 (30%) and D11 (40%) residents and workers.

As a front line worker during the height of the pandemic, I saw first hand the struggles that the seniors and low income individuals had to go through in order to alleviate food insecurity. Seniors, despite of being the most vulnerable to the virus, had to choose between staying safe at their home and lining up at the grocery stores to be able to buy something to eat. Low income families with most parents losing their jobs and kids having to stay at home, who used to get meals from schools, struggled with limited budget for groceries. And many other stories of individuals struggling to make ends meet.

With the pandemic still ongoing and most of the clients we serve still struggling to recover from the aftermath of the pandemic and the "new normal", BEC's SGP continues to provide the much needed support. But we need your help to be able to continue this work and to provide food security to hundreds of San Franciscans. We ask that you make it possible for us to continue the work that we do.

Sincerely,

Dolly Marie Ramos

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

We are asking that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin wants more community-based safety NOT a dramatic cut!

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

To Whom It May Concern at the Budget and Appropriations Committee,

Good morning. I hope all is well.

I am writing in support of the food access funding and the significant importance it has helping community members/residents. The food access funding supports families needing food access, including addressing several needs in terms of protecting elderly and those who are immunocompromised, and those needing food services while understanding the culture and social needs. Working in San Francisco as well as volunteering my time to help, this is a valuable service that greatly contributes to the food security for numerous households especially those affected economically by the pandemic and are still in need of these critical services.

Please continue to support programs such as these and I appreciate your time reading/listening to this e-mail.

sincerely,

Charles Ramilo

I am a resident of the 300 block of Golden Gate Avenue in the Tenderloin. I have lived in the TL for 22 years. My neighbors and I need your help.

I am asking that the $4 million dollars in funds dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department NOT be put on reserve.

The Tenderloin Community (residents and CBOs together) worked on a budget priority sheet that was presented to the Mayor's office and we are excited to have a budget for the community that was created by the community. We also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

The people who live and work in the Tenderloin are depending on these funds being available in next year's budget. Do not put them on reserve! The Tenderloin community is being given a chance to shape our own future. Please fund the Planning Department to meet the community with the resources that we deserve.

Dear Chair Ronen and Supervisors Mar, Chan, Safai and Walton:

As the Co-Chair of the SF Arts Alliance and the Executive Director of the Children's Creativity Museum, I am writing to express my appreciation for your support of SF arts last year—and to request that Prop E funding be backfilled again for FY22-24. Our vibrant arts and culture ecosystem continues to face significant challenges as a result of the pandemic and supplemental funding will allow nonprofit organizations and associated artists to survive and thrive in the years to come.

My organization, the Children's Creativity Museum in Yerba Buena Gardens, was unable to fully re-open for 23 months but we remained an active contributor to the lives of San Francisco families and engaged thousands by providing free outdoor programming with hands-on art-and-science activities, distributing art kits, and creating free online tutorials for nature journaling and family art activities. While we were able to enrich the lives of thousands of children, these activities did not provide any revenue and we depended on grants, donations, and loans to support our work. Since reopening in February 2022, our recent impact includes:

- Our mission is to "nurture creativity and collaboration in all children and families." This has become even more important as children have suffered learning loss and mental health challenges over the past two years.
- CCM was the first museum to commit to SF Museums for All and now, 34% of our guests visit for free through our low-income access initiatives. All SFUSD Title 1 schools can come for free guided field trips.
- Pre-pandemic, our visitorship was 63% non-white and over 10% of families included a child with learning differences and/or special needs.
- Since our founding in 1998, CCM has always been led by an Executive Director of color including Black, Chinese-American, Japanese-American, and Filipino-American. In addition, CCM is one of the few non-culturally-focused museums where both the staff and Board of Directors are 50% BIPOC.
- In 2019, one family visited over 220 times—virtually every day we were open to the public! Currently, many families visit weekly to participate in our early childhood, art, and science programming and to allow their children to socialize with others.

- Our current exhibition XOXO about love and community is being featured nationally by the Association of Children's Museum as a way to help families heal after Uvalde and other gun violence tragedies.
- Our outdoor family programming has included partners from Museum of African Diaspora, Mexican Museum, Yerba Buena Gardens Festival, SOMA Community Action Network (SOMCAN), Kirikitan Filipino Dance Troupe, Galing Bata (Filipino language afterschool program) and SOMA Childcare Center.

As the Co-Chair of the SF Arts Alliance, I know that other arts and culture organizations have just as many success stories and impacts on their own audiences and communities. Together, we have and can continue to create a vibrant, dynamic, diverse and cutting-edge arts scene in all corners of San Francisco. This arts ecosystem serves long-time SF residents but also attracts tourists, conventioners, new residents, new nonprofits, new businesses, and new investors into this city. Prop E had been passed to provide consistent funding that would allow for stability and growth—who could have foreseen that a pandemic would alter our world and disturb this model? By backfilling Prop E funds from FY22-24, we would be supporting arts organizations through this interval so that we can find new sustainable business models while keeping our staff employed and serving our audiences when they need us most.

Thank you again for your support and your commitment to the resilience and vitality of our beautiful City. Please do not hesitate to contact me if there are ways I can be of assistance.

Sincerely,

Carol Tang

June 23, 2022

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee,

We, the FEC Galing Bata Program, are writing this letter to express our support for Bayanihan Equity Center's Supplemental Grocery Program (BEC SGP) that has been actively operating since the pandemic started more than 2 years ago to address the issue behind food access and food security, which has been exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic.

FEC Galing Bata Program provides quality guidance, care and protection to Kindergarten through 8th grade students during the school day, after school and summer. For over 20 years, we provided linguistically sensitive and culturally responsive programming to San Francisco youth, with a focus on historically impacted communities, primarily Filipino immigrants and Filipino Americans who are low-income, English language learners, underperforming or disconnected from school, experiencing homelessness, and exposed to violence, abuse, or trauma; and their families.

Prior to the Covid-19 pandemic, most of our clients were heavily reliant on food stamps, food banks, and food assistance programs provided by city agencies like CalFresh, etc and currently we see that being needed even more. The services offered by BEC through SGP have been crucial in giving more certainty to families having culturally relevant food on their table consistently. The issue of food access and food security itself is not an isolated occurrence, but is in fact a long standing public health crisis for the City and County of San Francisco itself.

Through our feedback survey from our families conducted last April 2022, 89.7% of them said that they feel less worried about getting enough food to meet their needs through this program, 100% of them said that they are satisfied with the food provided, 96.6% of them said that the food provided are culturally appropriate and 97 % of them thought that this program was very much helpful to their families. In the survey, our families expressed their gratitude for BEC's Supplemental Grocery Program as it played a critical role in helping them in their daily lives.

BEC has been a very valuable and generous partner to our program by allowing our eligible clients to enroll in SGP, since this kind of service has greatly impacted our clients' lives. In the years to come, as our families recover from the hardship brought by the pandemic, it is still necessary to have the SGP, and we ask you to recognize its importance, its role in reducing the food access crisis in San Francisco, and voice your support for it, as well as advocate for the lives of our youth, families, and seniors who will be most affected by this. When unique and vital essential services like BEC SGP are not adequately funded, youth, families, seniors and all the other communities in need suffer. Moreover, with more funding, their SGP services can be expanded and continue to help low-income families in San Francisco. Furthermore, BEC is a worthy recipient of the funding necessary to ensure BEC SGP's sustainability, since the money goes directly to benefit the youth, families, seniors, and communities they serve. Bayanihan Equity Center is highly capable of handling their finances efficiently and has the cultural sensitivity to understand the key needs of their clients and maintain positive relationships with both their clients and partners.

We urge you to support BEC SGP's continued growth, as an investment to vital services like this program is also a direct investment to the betterment and improvement of the lives of people and communities of San Francisco. We hope to hear about your decision to continue funding BEC's Supplemental Grocery Program.

In community,

FEC Galing Bata Program

Re: Support for Mid-Market and Tenderloin Community Safety Program

Dear Supervisors Chan, Mar, Ronen, Safai and Walton,

On behalf of the Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) San Francisco, I write to ask that you please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in the Mid-Market/Tenderloin neighborhoods.

BOMA members benefit greatly from this program. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result. Our members truly value the support they receive from this program, particularly as other forms of assistance are constrained by lack of funding availability or staffing.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces that are now receiving support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors and patrons in some of the City's most challenged, central blocks would be a loss.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability in some of the city's most challenged blocks. There is still a lot of work to do, and it is critical we continue and build upon these services. We ask that you please preserve the full funding for this program.

Sincerely,

John R. Bryant

Re: Support for Economic Core Budget Funding

Dear Supervisors Chan, Mar, Ronen, Safai and Walton,

On behalf of the Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) San Francisco, I write in support of the funding requested by the Office of Economic and Workforce Development for San Francisco's Economic Core.

Our city's economic core is in critical need of support. The current absence of tourists and office workers has extremely negative connotations for San Francisco's tax base. San Francisco's downtown is the driver of our city's entire economy - it provides jobs for our residents, demand for our small businesses, and the tax base that supports the services, arts, and resources that our communities depend on. Our neighborhoods cannot thrive if our economic engine is jeopardized.

We must give people new reasons to come to downtown. Doing so will require addressing public safety through ambassador programs, and supporting small businesses and our cultural institutions downtown. This help will be critical if the service workers and the small businesses in our downtown core that depend on their business are to survive. We must invest in San Francisco's economic wellbeing for the future and a win for everyone. Please maintain the funding OEWD requested for the economic core in their budget proposal.

Sincerely,

John R. Bryant

Re: Support for SFPD Budget Request

Dear Supervisors Chan, Mar, Ronen, Safai and Walton,

On behalf of the Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) San Francisco, I write to request the approval of the San Francisco Police Department's (SFPD) budget requests to allow appropriate resources for the department to recruit new officers and meet sufficient staffing levels. We understand that Chief Scott, the Board Legislative Analyst, and the committee are negotiating a compromise to the department's initial request. We respectfully urge that you not cut further resources beyond this compromise.

Proper police staffing levels are critical to the City's public safety efforts. BOMA has significant concerns that the current inability to meet these staffing levels, combined with future departures and retirements from the department, will seriously impact public safety in our economic core and across the city. Our association supports non-police interventions such as ambassadors and crisis response teams, but without the proper resources to recruit and retain the officers that supplement these efforts, our collective public safety suffers. Unfortunately, it is our residents, office workers, and local businesses that bear the brunt of these challenges.

The inability to meet service demand doesn't just undermine preventative measures such as foot beat patrols and community policing. It directly jeopardizes the recovery of our city's economy. We must continue to address negative perceptions around public safety in San Francisco and doing so requires a fully staffed SFPD. If we cannot address this issue, we risk losing the future of our downtown core as a center for culture, innovation, and business. In closing, I ask you again to support the resources that the department needs. It is imperative for the recovery of our industry that the City of San Francisco is safe, and that our residents, office workers, and commercial real estate professionals feel protected.

Sincerely,

John R. Bryant
CEO, BOMA San Francisco

Dear Chair Ronen and Members of the Budget and Appropriations Committee,

On behalf of GLIDE, I write in strong support of a series of investments that are intended to provide urgently needed resources for San Francisco's most vulnerable communities. We appreciate the diligent and thoughtful work that has gone into balancing all of the competing budget priorities, including those that support the GLIDE community. We are, however, concerned that many of San Francisco's most pressing issues — food security, community health, housing and homelessness, intergenerational support for women and families of color, and racial justice and reconciliation — are not adequately addressed. The budget does not reflect vital community requests in these areas and instead prioritizes an expansion of policing and criminalization. As we move into the next phase of the COVID-19 pandemic, now is the time to reinvigorate efforts to address these persistent, interconnected challenges and we urge you to support the inclusion of the below requests in the final budget agreement.

FOOD SECURITY

GLIDE believes in food for all — no exceptions, no exclusions. Our Daily Free Meals program has no eligibility requirements, providing three nutritious meals a day, 364 days a year. The economic consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic have only made it harder for low-income San Franciscans to meet their basic needs, and we are proud of our longstanding, collaborative partnership with the City and County of San Francisco to help meet the true need of missing meals. We are deeply appreciative of the $1,200,000 ongoing investment in GLIDE's Daily Free Meals Program and the seven-month contract extension for our Zero-Waste Food Pantry — these will help ensure culturally appropriate options are available for all who come to GLIDE's door. Despite GLIDE's ability to continue to reach more people, we are worried that many other meal providers are experiencing significant cuts.

Pre-pandemic, our food system was already in peril, and one in four San Franciscans were experiencing food insecurity. COVID-19 magnified a deeply rooted problem and made it unconscionable to continue to ignore the crisis in front of us. We are now confronted by a worsening drought, food costs increases, inflation, and a predicted recession. The reality of hunger is much deeper and the lowest income families we providers collectively serve will be hit hardest. Food insecurity disproportionately impacts communities of color and exacerbates existing inequities. We recommend that you continue full funding to the Human Services Agency (HSA) Community Food Coordination grantees.

As providers, we offer reliable access to healthy food that so many have come to depend on, with a particular focus on reaching those experiencing the greatest economic and social needs. We ask that the HSA food coordination group be retained, along with continuing funding of $45,000,000 toward San Francisco food security efforts for at least the next two budget years. This spending is the only food security funding specifically to support people of color in San Francisco. This urgent need directly supports at least 70,000 households who are otherwise underserved, ineligible, or too dispersed to utilize other overburdened food security access points. San Francisco needs community-led solutions grounded in health equity, racial justice, sustainability, and economic justice. The HSA Community Food Coordination grantees represent these issues through a food justice lens driven by the people we serve.

COMMUNITY HEALTH

GLIDE has implemented harm reduction strategies since the beginning of the AIDS epidemic to curtail the spread of disease and reduce stigma. Our associated harm reduction services are also an entry point for many of our other holistic, evidence-based programs.

Vaccine and Testing Equity

We are heartened that GLIDE's vaccination clinic is slated to continue; however, if other sites are closed, as appears to be the case, our clinic will almost certainly see larger numbers of patients. This would require shifts in operations, and residents from neighborhoods that are experiencing site closures may not be able to travel to our site and might therefore forgo testing or vaccination. This stands to further exacerbate racial disparities in health outcomes. Vaccination needs to be as simple and accessible as possible. People should not have to travel far to get vaccinated — those most at risk may be people who are older, with disabilities, or lower-income and more likely to have transportation difficulties. We request that existing vaccination sites in vulnerable communities remain open.

HIV Advocacy Network

Communities most impacted by overdose and HIV — including survivors, Black and brown communities, LGBTQ+ individuals, and people who use drugs — are among the hardest hit by COVID-19. Further barriers, too, are impacting our ability to achieve the City's goals of reducing stigma and getting to zero new HIV transmissions and AIDS-related deaths. We recommend that you include the HIV Advocacy Network's request to end fatal overdose and the HIV epidemic and ensure housing and healthcare for people living with HIV in the budget. This includes a combined $10,500,000 in funding for overdose prevention programs, housing subsidies, intensive case management, and mental health services for people living with HIV, and funding for essential organizations that comprise the HIV safety net.

HOUSING AND HOMELESSNESS

Each day at GLIDE, we address the physical, mental, and emotional effects of living on the street and the toll it takes on our clients. Nearly 70 percent of those we serve identify as people of color, well over half of whom are currently experiencing homelessness and are disproportionately burdened by poverty, displacement, and systemic racism and violence. At GLIDE, we have worked for decades to break cycles of poverty and marginalization for low-income San Franciscans, and we know that people thrive not by punishment but through education, opportunity, supportive services, empathy, and respect. GLIDE has worked in coalition to help elevate many community-based needs identified by those with local expertise and lived experience, but the budget does not include several of their recommendations.

Homeless Emergency Service Providers Association (HESPA)

GLIDE is a member of HESPA, and we recognize that bold action is needed more than ever to combat homelessness. We must not content ourselves with piecemeal, smaller scale, temporary, transitional initiatives — we must prioritize permanent exits from homelessness for vulnerable San Franciscans.

Housing subsidies and acquisitions are among the most cost-effective, long-term interventions to address homelessness in San Francisco, but key vouchers, subsidies, and programs that offer permanent solutions to homelessness are missing from the proposed budget. GLIDE asks that you fund the HESPA-identified subsidies for women, housing and food security for transition age youth, a basic income pilot program for Black and undocumented families, behavioral health support for targeted populations, rental assistance and legal services for seniors and people with disabilities, and workforce development services for unhoused people seeking employment.

Our City, Our Home Oversight Committee (OCOH)

GLIDE was one of the original co-sponsors of Prop C. When the courts upheld the voter-approved Prop C, necessary housing initiatives became more attainable. Prop C was a people's initiative, and we incorporated the Oversight Committee to ensure that people experiencing homelessness and their needs were centered. The Oversight Committee's panel of experts on homelessness and its attendant issues have worked to help fulfill the promise of the proposition and demonstrated a standard of excellence in their efforts to conduct outreach to stakeholders and people who are impacted, researching and generating proposals, and compiling recommendations. Two critical investments they identified are $3,500,000 for 50 beds to support women in a dual diagnosis program in the Bayview and $1,000,000 to support preventative benefits advocacy, and these should be included in the budget.

The Board must also guarantee that people who experience homelessness continue to guide OCOH investments. Lived expertise and leadership should be sought out, fostered, and fairly compensated. An investment in bolstering the voice of people who have experienced homelessness will ensure that the fund meets their needs with meaningful solutions in a comprehensive, equitable, city-wide approach. As such, we request $1,000,000 for peer researchers in the OCOH needs assessment.

Nonprofit Wages

Harm reduction, homeless, and mental health service providers have undeniably been at the frontlines throughout the pandemic, and staff have borne the brunt of the vicarious trauma. We are grateful that the budget includes a 5.25 percent increase on compensation, which is an important step to address the issues of recruitment, retention, wage equity, and parity with comparable City workers. Yet, because the budget includes no inflation-based increase for other organizational expenses, this leaves a shortfall in nonprofit budgets that will impact services, compensation for non-contract staff, and organizational stability. In solidarity with the Human Services Network request, we urge you to mitigate contract underfunding by allocating $10,000,000 for a cost-of-doing-business increase to nonprofits providing health and human services under City contracts. This request is aligned with the recommendations in the May 4, 2022, report by the Office of the City Controller, "Findings and Recommendations for Addressing Nonprofit Wage Pressures," and it will help address cost pressures from inflation.

INTERGENERATIONAL SUPPORT FOR WOMEN AND FAMILIES OF COLOR

There has been a growing national trend of women and families of color falling into poverty – 93 percent of the families GLIDE serves have experienced income loss as a result of COVID-19. Programs like our Family,

Youth and Childcare Center and Women's Center make a critical difference in the lives of so many of our community members. Through these programs, GLIDE creates pathways to economic independence, family resilience, and healthy child development, and we know intimately how difficult achieving stability can be for families who have minimal resources.

Family Resource Center Alliance

GLIDE is a member of the Family Resource Center (FRC) Alliance, a citywide network of 26 FRCs committed to furthering equity and justice for all San Francisco families. FRCs serve tens of thousands of children and their caregivers and act as the bridge between the community and city systems. We wish to both express our gratitude for the Mayor's commitment in the proposed budget to provide $7,000,000 in additional funding to FRCs over the next two years, and to emphasize that children and families need more to be able to survive in San Francisco.

In order to have the capacity to be able to meet increased and more intense family and community needs, it is essential that additional funding is allocated to expand the FRC model to support families with school aged children; improve connections between systems through intentional cross-sector partnerships; and enhance infrastructure to sustain services and stabilize organizations. Family support is a key ingredient in improved outcomes for our children, and investing in FRCs will help ensure families get connected to key programs and greatly enhance their effectiveness.

A Woman's Place Drop-In Center

GLIDE supports Community Forward SF's request of $2,200,000 for a Woman's Place Drop-In Center, which will provide meals, showers, and basic services to 3,000 women each year, with space for 90 overnight crisis guests. On any given night, there are more than 2,700 unhoused women in San Francisco. Yet there are just 99 beds of women's only shelter per night, and 157 housing units dedicated to female-identified clients. Unhoused women experience homelessness differently than their male counterparts, with 90 percent reporting severe physical and sexual abuse in their lifetime. This population is aging with 58 percent of unhoused women over 50 years old, and the average mortality age for chronically homeless women is 48 versus 83 years of age for housed women.

Cameo House

In solidarity with the San Francisco Jail Justice Coalition, we request support for Cameo House with $775,000 in the FY 2022-23 and FY 2023-24 Budget. Investing in Cameo House would be a powerful, proven, and cost-effective investment in the safety of some of San Francisco's most vulnerable justice-involved cis and trans women. Cameo House needs stable, annual funding to provide women and their children with safe and holistic supportive transitional housing at the moment of their re-entry.

All of the women at Cameo House have been involved with the criminal-legal system and most of the clients there are Black and brown. Cameo House has an inspiring, decades-long track record of providing support services. According to a January 2021 external program evaluation, of the 22 women and 18 children Cameo House worked with from September 2019 to September 2020: 100 percent of participants with substance issues showed decreased use at Cameo House; 85 percent of participants reported that they felt safe at Cameo House; 77 percent of participants gained and sustained employment; 72 percent of participants returned to education; and 78 percent of graduating participants moved into permanent and stable housing.

RACIAL JUSTICE AND RECONCILIATION

GLIDE is committed to seeing the Compassionate Alternate Response Team (CART) realized, which the Board has already funded at $3,000,000 from last year's budget cycle. We believe CART is a critical, well-researched intervention that would build resilience in the community to respond to homelessness while helping people to get off the streets. The existing funds should be carried over to ensure the program can be launched next fiscal year. Funding CART is in alignment with Mayor Breed's effort to shift from a police response to non-criminal activity, and offers a practical, realistic, and community-informed solution. Additional funding, too, should be redirected toward reparations for communities that have been most targeted by policing and imprisonment.

CART would move San Francisco away from utilizing police in response to homelessness by changing the dispatch protocol and crafting a new program modeled after other community alternative responses to policing, which have been successfully piloted in other jurisdictions. In many instances, involvement by law enforcement officers increases the threat of feeling unsafe, risk of arrest or deportation, harm to the individual in crisis, and unnecessary costs — including the time spent by the responding officers. The presence of armed officers can quickly escalate a crisis. In worst case scenarios, officers use force in response to a person in crisis, resulting in unnecessary and unjust deaths and serious bodily injury to those who simply need the care and support of trained professionals. Especially for vulnerable populations, the presence of trained professionals from community-oriented organizations with a track-record of service can prove more beneficial than engagement from law enforcement officers.

As you evaluate the budget for the law enforcement, we ask that funding be redirected to CART and other community programs that provide life-affirming and restorative resources for all San Franciscans, including those that provide child care and dependent care, education, food security, harm reduction, housing security, job development, mental health and physical health care, parenting resources, transportation assistance, and other interventions and supportive services.

On behalf of GLIDE, thank you for your consideration of these urgent priorities. With a surplus, we have an opportunity to demonstrate San Francisco's commitment to our most vulnerable neighbors and loved ones. For questions about the organization's position, please write to me at wsaver@glide.org.

Sincerely,

Wesley Saver

Dear Supervisors Chan, Mar, Ronen, Safai and Walton,

On behalf of the Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) San Francisco, I write to ask that you please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in the Mid-Market/Tenderloin neighborhoods.

BOMA members benefit greatly from this program. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result. Our members truly value the support they receive from this program, particularly as other forms of assistance are constrained by lack of funding availability or staffing.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces that are now receiving support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors and patrons in some of the City's most challenged, central blocks would be a loss.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability in some of the city's most challenged blocks. There is still a lot of work to do, and it is critical we continue and build upon these services. We ask that you please preserve the full funding for this program.

Sincerely,

John R. Bryant

Re: Support for Economic Core Budget Funding

Dear Supervisors Chan, Mar, Ronen, Safai and Walton,

On behalf of the Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) San Francisco, I write in support of the funding requested by the Office of Economic and Workforce Development for San Francisco's Economic Core.

Our city's economic core is in critical need of support. The current absence of tourists and office workers has extremely negative connotations for San Francisco's tax base. San Francisco's downtown is the driver of our city's entire economy - it provides jobs for our residents, demand for our small businesses, and the tax base that supports the services, arts, and resources that our communities depend on. Our neighborhoods cannot thrive if our economic engine is jeopardized.

We must give people new reasons to come to downtown. Doing so will require addressing public safety through ambassador programs, and supporting small businesses and our cultural institutions downtown. This help will be critical if the service workers and the small businesses in our downtown core that depend on their business are to survive. We must invest in San Francisco's economic wellbeing for the future and a win for everyone. Please maintain the funding OEWD requested for the economic core in their budget proposal.

Sincerely,

John R. Bryant
CEO, BOMA San Francisco

Dear Supervisors Chan, Mar, Ronen, Safai and Walton,

On behalf of the Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) San Francisco, I write to request the approval of the San Francisco Police Department's (SFPD) budget requests to allow appropriate resources for the department to recruit new officers and meet sufficient staffing levels. We understand that Chief Scott, the Board Legislative Analyst, and the committee are negotiating a compromise to the department's initial request. We respectfully urge that you not cut further resources beyond this compromise.

Proper police staffing levels are critical to the City's public safety efforts. BOMA has significant concerns that the current inability to meet these staffing levels, combined with future departures and retirements from the department, will seriously impact public safety in our economic core and across the city. Our association supports non-police interventions such as ambassadors and crisis response teams, but without the proper resources to recruit and retain the officers that supplement these efforts, our collective public safety suffers. Unfortunately, it is our residents, office workers, and local businesses that bear the brunt of these challenges.

The inability to meet service demand doesn't just undermine preventative measures such as foot beat patrols and community policing. It directly jeopardizes the recovery of our city's economy. We must continue to address negative perceptions around public safety in San Francisco and doing so requires a fully staffed SFPD. If we cannot address this issue, we risk losing the future of our downtown core as a center for culture, innovation, and business. In closing, I ask you again to support the resources that the department needs. It is imperative for the recovery of our industry that the City of San Francisco is safe, and that our residents, office workers, and commercial real estate professionals feel protected.

Sincerely,

John R. Bryant
CEO, BOMA San Francisco

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisors Preston and Dorsey:

We are asking that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin wants more community-based safety NOT a dramatic cut!

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Olivia Lampl
community member of the TL

Openhouse, and over 600 of our supporters, is proposing funding mental health services program for LGBTQI elders in San Francisco in the amount of $125,000. This program will provide mental health services to seniors who are often invisible in our city. The community has experienced higher levels of mental health needs and self-reported depression and isolation due to the pandemic. Openhouse is uniquely positioned to provide this mental health service.

Additionally, our program will bring new seniors into the Openhouse community with deep outreach to senior centers, churches and community organizations that offer services to seniors. An additional benefit is linking those in need to our new housing interest list a new LGBTQI welcoming affordable housing at Duboce and Market Street (110-187 units of housing) with additional linkage to our Laguna Campus including our Community Day Services Program, Care and Housing Navigation and socialization, enrichment and educational programming.

Openhouse is entering its 25th year of service to the LGBTQI community in San Francisco. Our programs and services have been proven to reduce isolation and improve mental health outcomes for LGBTQI seniors, and our existing 109 units of affordable housing offer a sense of community and belonging to our residents in an LGBTQI welcoming and affirming space.

Impact of pandemic on older LGBTQI San Franciscans

- San Franciscans age 60 and older who are LGBTQI report higher levels of depression due to the pandemic. Self-reported symptoms of depression increased by 13.5%.
- During COVID, nearly 65% of older adults reported they felt lonelier than before the pandemic began. Over 80% felt isolated from others and close to 40% said they often felt isolated.
- LGBTQI people with disabilities had highest rate of PTSD symptoms (52%) with HIV+ respondents having the second highest percentage (50%).
- 40% of LGBTQI older adults report having memory difficulty with 1/3 report it was a severe or moderate problem for them.
- Mental health support and counseling is highest unmet need for all respondents (17%) with POC respondents reporting higher unmet need for mental health support (26%).

openhouse

We support the city of San Francisco funding Openhouse in the development of mental health services for LGBTQ older adults in all of San Francisco's neighborhoods. LGBTQ older adults in San Francisco suffered more mental health challenges due to the pandemic, in particular BIPOC, transgender and long-term survivors of HIV/AIDS. We call on the Board of Supervisors and the Mayor to support and fund the Openhouse mental health services program in the city budget this year.

openhouse

We support the city of San Francisco funding Openhouse in the development of mental health services for LGBTQ older adults in all of San Francisco's neighborhoods. LGBTQ older adults in San Francisco suffered more mental health challenges due to the pandemic, in particular BIPOC, transgender and long-term survivors of HIV/AIDS. We call on the Board of Supervisors and the Mayor to support and fund the Openhouse mental health services program in the city budget this year.

Respectively,

Dear Supervisor Jalipa:

I am asking that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin wants more community-based safety NOT a dramatic cut!

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Hi All-

I wanted to re-iterate Sara's email and ask you not to cut any of the allocation to Urban Alchemy. I encourage you to look at the photo's that she attached (and I re-attach). This has been our and the region's life before and after Urban Alchemy.

What is occurring in Mid-Market is no longer specific to this micro-location. This is impacting ALL of San Francisco. Lenders DO NOT want to lend towards ANY buildings in San Francisco. Investors do not want to invest in San Francisco. Businesses do not want to relocate to San Francisco. Residents are moving out of the area and creating a vacuum for a continuation of the awful behavior. Office buildings are turning into ghost buildings, with tenants vacating and leaving, retailers are closing shop as the cost of security is wiping them out.

We do not have time to wait anymore. This area has been torn up and negatively impacted for THREE years. It is IMPERATIVE that we clean this area up for people to have confidence and feel comfortable to come back to this area, to come back to San Francisco, to know that their City cares about creating a safe and clean environment.

Short of that, is irresponsible and a travesty to what once was a great City.

Please do not cut the budget.

Subject: No Cut to Safety Program!

Dear Honorable Supervisors,

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

Urban Alchemy's presence and most recent expansion to the corner of 7th and Market has been beyond significant. The attached pictures which show the area outside BART and along the first steps into UN Plaza, reflect "Before UA" and "After UA". This area has been transformed by the efforts of Urban Alchemy in recent months and we hope that by just these few pictures you can see the same. We have investors (both domestic and international) who would otherwise invest in San Francisco but have decided to blacklist ALL of the City because of what is happening to Mid-Market. ALL of San Francisco is being negatively impacted. WE NEED URBAN ALCHEMY TO REMAIN UNDER THEIR CURRENT DEPLOYMENT.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces that are now receiving support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors and patrons in some of the City's most challenged, central blocks would be a loss. We know that many parts of our city are not receiving this type of support, but need here has been unprecedented and there is still much work to do. Please, now is not the time to go backwards.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability in some of the city's most challenged blocks. But there is still a lot of work to do and it is critical we continue and build upon these services.

Dear Honorable Supervisors,

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result. What's more, cuts like this one are penny wise and pound foolish. If you cut funding for the ambassadors program, you'll end up having to spend far more on other, more expensive programs, such as policing, street cleanup, etc.

I am a blind employee of the LightHouse for the Blind and Visually Impaired. As it is, the well-known social problems going on in the Mid-Market and Tenderloin neighborhoods make this area of the city an unpleasant place to work, and I believe many blind and visually impaired people are scared away from receiving services at our marvelous, beautiful facility because of the unwelcoming atmosphere of the neighborhood. We need more funding for programs like the Ambassadors, not less.

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee,

I am writing on behalf of the Fillmore Merchants Association.
I am also past president of the San Francisco Council of District Merchants.
I operate two small businesses (Pacific Heights Chevron and Castro Street Chevron).
I also live in the Marina District on Francisco Street. I say this because we need to improve our quality of life for our residents, our children, our visitors and our business corridors. Small businesses have suffered for the last 3 years of Covid. Graffiti abatement is crucial to living and working in San Francisco and improving our quality of life.

The Fillmore Merchants Association is requesting your support in funding the annual budget in the graffiti abatement pilot that Supervisor Melgar proposed this year. We need to have the City to pro-actively clean up graffiti immediately and efficiently. Please include these funds in the Board's budget.

Thank you, David Sahagun

This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

I am a 15+ year San Francisco resident. My husband and I both work in SF. Our daughter attends preschool in SF. I manage a high rise building in SoMa. I live adjacent to the tenderloin. We love the SF community but have had some bad experiences that our city needs to do better at preventing. It's unacceptable to that our child has to ask us why a person is sleeping on the sidewalk or for us to find a needle on the sidewalk outside their school or to have a homeless person expose their genitals to our child at the playground. Urban Alchemy is making a positive impact and their work ought to be encouraged.

As a San Franciscan residing in District 1, member of the San Francisco Food Security Task Force, and Children's Council advocate, I am writing to thank the Budget & Appropriations Committee for taking the time to consider how the proposed budget will impact our youngest children and families here in San Francisco. Baby Prop C, passed by the voters of San Francisco, has defined parameters for how the funds it collects should be spent. We must ensure Baby Prop C funds are spent in line with what voters approved, while finding additional funds for other important family and child services.

I am also writing to reinforce the importance of financial support for the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP). The program is significantly underfunded and children are going hungry. I have worked for eight years supporting child care programs in their efforts to serve nutritious foods to our community's youngest residents, and CACFP has consistently fallen short of their financial needs, especially considering the high cost of living and very high food costs in San Francisco.

CACFP is a federal nutrition program that partially reimburses early care & education providers for healthy meals and snacks served to the children in their care. CACFP supports healthy growth and development in children and is recognized as a strategy for combating and preventing childhood obesity and food insecurity. Despite benefits, 75% of child care centers and only 44% of Family Child Care (FCC) providers in San Francisco participate in CACFP. According to the 2019 report, "Exploring the Potential to Improve Food Security Among Low-Income Families in San Francisco Through the CACFP," low participation is due, in part, to low meal reimbursement rates that do not cover the entire cost of the healthy meals provided. Even at the highest CACFP reimbursement rate for one lunch or supper meal, providers are only reimbursed for about 54% of the meal cost per child. At the lower rate, providers are reimbursed only about 33%.

According to the same report, if there was a 25% increase in FCC CACFP participation due to increased reimbursement rates (i.e. covering the gap between Tier II and Tier I rates) 696 more low-income children would receive healthy meals and snacks every day.

I urge you to include $1,000,000 in the add-back process to allow for maximum reimbursement and also account for expansion in order to allow more participation in CACFP by child care educators.

Thank you.

Date: Thursday, June 23, 2022 5:02:02 PM

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee, and Supervisor Preston:

I write today to ask that you retain the $4.5 million dollars in OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market area. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks and parks.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors, and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin desperately needs more community-based safety not a cut to a program that has made a tremendous difference in the lives of TL residents, businesses, and visitors.

UC Hastings Law has 280 residents, over 1,000 students, and almost 500 personnel in the Tenderloin on a daily basis. Bringing our community back to the Tenderloin following the pandemic shutdowns was incredibly challenging, and the transformative nature of the work that Urban Alchemy has done to calm the sidewalks made it possible. Cutting that program would have an immediate ripple effect throughout the Tenderloin eliminating progress made in improving living conditions for all in the Tenderloin and further emboldening the proliferation of the open air drug market.

I implore you not to cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin. Thank you for your time and consideration,

Dear Supervisors,

We appreciate the opportunity to share our serious concerns about the current budget discussions and proposals to limit funding for economic revitalization efforts in our downtown Economic Core.

Since its formation, Advance SF has made the revitalization of San Francisco's Economic core a central focal point of its work. San Francisco's downtown is the driver of much of the City's economy, making up 72% of its entire GDP. It provides jobs for our residents, demand for our small businesses, and the tax base that supports most of the services and resources our diverse communities depend on. We are an interconnected ecosystem. If our downtown is unhealthy, our neighborhoods will not thrive long-term.

In this light, investing City dollars in community-driven efforts that will help reinvent our downtown core so that it continues to thrive as the economic base for the City and everyone in it makes sense. We know at this point that neither tourists nor employees are expected to return to our downtown in significant numbers unless we do something. Current estimates indicate visits to San Francisco office buildings are well below pre-pandemic levels, with May 2022 visits down by 73% compared to May 2019.

We cannot understate how an absence of people is a fundamental threat to our Economic Core and the overall economic activity that allows San Francisco to be the thriving, creative, compassionate city we all expect it to be. The Economic Recovery Task Force anticipated this nearly two years ago and made recommendations, with which the Mayor's budget plans are aligned, to:

- Support cleanliness, health, and safety in our public spaces (Recommendation 3.4)
- Repurpose public space (Recommendation 4.2)
- Allow more flexible use in our ground floor retail (Recommendation 4.3)
- Pursue temporary uses (Recommendation 4.4)
- Catalyze recovery through the Arts (Recommendation 8.2)

The dollars associated with these efforts are a modest investment that, if done well, will help San Francisco recover from the devastating effects this pandemic has had on our economy. Funding initiatives that will put the local artists, entrepreneurs, and cultural groups that have been hurt most by the pandemic to work is the best way to protect our city's economic well-being for the future. We urge you to strongly consider the funding allocated for programs and projects aligned with the 2020 Task Force so San Francisco can continue on its path to recovery.

Sincerely,

Chris

Dear Budget & Appropriations Committee,

The current hearings in Washington, D.C. highlight the tremendous need for more transparency in the workings of our government - at every level.

The Sunshine Ordinance Task Force (SOTF) has been severely understaffed for over a decade. Because of the City Attorney's Office's recent cut in services that it provides to the SOTF and a restriction from effectively applying technological solutions, the SOTF's ability to protect the public's interest in open government has been seriously diminished.

We must ensure that City operations are open to the public's review, and the public's partnership with the SOTF is one of the only avenues that we as citizens have to help safeguard this.

Please approve the SOTF's budgetary requests to help enable this important body's work in continuing open government practices, making their processes both more effective and efficient, and protecting the public's right to open government.

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisors Preston and Dorsey:

We are asking that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors and small businesses there. Dear Honorable Supervisors,

We are requesting for you to support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

We are the owner/operator of 1035 Market Street where Urban Alchemy is a tenant. We leased to them the space at zero profit in effort to assist with cleaning up the area that is in dire need. As I am sure you are aware, the tenderloin and mid-market area is in a steep decline with little to no demand for office or retail spaces due to the state of the streets and submarket. We fully support the progress that Urban Alchemy is making and has made in the area with their very visible presence.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces that are now receiving support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors and patrons in some of the City's most challenged, central blocks would be a loss. We know that many parts of our city are not receiving this type of support, but need here has been unprecedented and there is still much work to do. Please, now is not the time to go backwards.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability in some of the city's most challenged blocks. But there is still a lot of work to do and it is critical we continue and build upon these services.

Thank you for considering our urgent request.

Dear Chair Ronen and Supervisors Mar, Chan, Safai and Walton:

On behalf of the San Francisco Symphony, I would like to express my thanks for your support in funding the supplemental to backfill Prop E arts funding last year. As you enter this round of budgeting, I ask that you fully fund the Prop E backfill for fiscal years 22-24. The Symphony is looking forward to our summer concerts and a full season beginning in the fall, which would not be possible without leaders like you. Because of the supplemental funding you ensured, the arts and culture sector can continue myriad programming and community activities, even amid an unprecedented and unimaginable decline in hotel tax revenues.

Though the past couple of years have been tremendously challenging, the dedication of everyone in the SF Symphony family – from our unionized orchestra, stage crew and box office employees, to our full time and part time staff, to our board members and volunteers – allowed us to continue to fulfil our organizational priorities. The Symphony has remained committed to not only producing a wide array of musical performances, but to continuing our education and community programs and to expanding our diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives. Some highlights include:

- Officially re-opening the doors of Davies Symphony Hall with two joyous Opening Week concerts: the All San Francisco Concert and the Re-Opening Night Gala.
- Continuing to provide five consecutive years of music education to every SFUSD student in grades 1-5 via the Adventures in Music (AIM) program. The AIM program resumed in-school ensemble performances while continuing to provide digital content, video performances, lesson plans, and classroom resources throughout the 2021-22 school year. The program presented six ensembles that showcased a range of cultural traditions found throughout the world. Students and teachers were thrilled to have ensembles back on campus!
- Creating Musical Heroes, a 60-minute educational video for middle school to college-level students, which explores the remarkable lives of three African-American composers: William Grant Still, Florence Price, and George Walker.
- Continuing to aid every instrumental music program in San Francisco's public middle schools and high schools, grades 6–12, free of charge to schools and students via the Music and Mentors program.
- Presenting several small-ensemble chamber concerts – free of charge – in community spaces located in over half of San Francisco's districts.
- Ensuring equitable access to concerts through our Community Ticket Program, through which we have distributed thousands of free tickets to essential workers and community members since its inception in May 2021.
- Continuing the Music in the Wards program – monthly virtual performances for the patients, families, and staff at UCSF Benioff Children's Hospital.
- Creating and distributing a specially designed video performance of the SF Symphony entitled

Music of San Francisco, Music of the World! for classrooms throughout San Francisco. This was accompanied by a classroom study guide to develop students' understanding and appreciation of music.

In 2018, the Symphony joined a broad coalition of individuals, arts organizations and culture districts, working together to put Prop E on the ballot. The passage of Prop E ensured a stable source of funding to support one of the deepest and most diverse artistic communities in the nation. This stability was tested during the pandemic, but remains essential to the ongoing recovery of the arts and culture sector, and by extension, the critical recovery of many other San Francisco businesses and industries.

Thank you again for your support backing filling the Prop E Arts funds last year. We look forward to your continued support in next year's budget to maintain critical funding for arts and culture in San Francisco. As we prepare for a new Symphony season come September, we join our coalition partners, neighbors, and the city to back the recovery effort. Thank you again for your support this year, and for your continued efforts in next year's budget to maintain critical funding for arts and culture in our City.

Sincerely,

Greetings:

Greetings:

I am writing in support of funding the graffiti abatement pilot that Supervisor Melgar proposed this year. As you may know, passing the ordinance is helpful--and I hope you vote for it. However, without $4.5 million in funding in this year's annual budget, the pilot program cannot be implemented.

I am a long time resident (30+ years) of Glen Park, a small business owner and a new member of the Glen Park Merchants Association. As a local, small business consultant and business educator, I have been active in small communities and have seen how difficult it is to be a successful small business owner – in the best of times. Since March 2020, I have seen clients struggle with the pandemic – to “keep doors open” and/or to provide professional services. As you know there has been a rash of vandalism that really impacts everyone business. All clients, customers and residents feel this. It is obvious that we need continued city help. I think it is a good idea to have the city pro-actively clean up graffiti as they see it rather than issuing citations and waiting for owners to paint over it while it attracts copycat taggers. Hopefully, with this program we can get a handle on this problem we have all seen take over our neighborhoods.

Please support small businesses and our Glen Park neighborhood fund this important pilot.

Thank you for your attention to this issue. Your help and attention are so appreciated.

Dear all:

I am writing in support of funding the graffiti abatement pilot that supervisor Melgar proposed this year. While passing the ordinance is helpful, without funding it, the program cannot be implemented.

I am the President of the West Portal Merchants Association. Our business corridor along West Portal has been decimated by graffiti over the past several months. It is unprecedented, it is appalling, it must be stopped, and urgently, it must be CLEANED UP. Our small business communities have been ravaged throughout the pandemic, and this latest insult to injury is just a step too far. Please help keep our neighborhood safer and cleaner by funding this critical abatement program.

Kindly,

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee, and Supervisor Preston:

We are asking that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde, and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors, and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store, or going to the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. The Tenderloin wants more community-based safety NOT a dramatic cut!

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

RE: Annual City Budget Public Comment - San Francisco FRC Alliance Budget Request

Dear Chair Ronen and Members of the Budget & Appropriations Committee:

Thank you for your ongoing support of children and families in San Francisco.

We are writing from Safe & Sound, on behalf of the San Francisco FRC Alliance, a citywide network of 26 FRCs committed to furthering equity and justice for all San Francisco families. Focused on truly listening to lived experiences and supporting families' greatest needs, our network of FRCs serve tens of thousands children and caregivers and act as the community anchor that serves as a bridge between the community and city systems. Safe & Sound's facilities are located in both Districts 5 and 10, and through our programming and collaboratives serve families citywide.

We are writing to express our gratitude for the Mayor's commitment in the Proposed Budget to provide $7M in additional funding to FRCs over the next two years, and to emphasize that children and families need more to be able to survive in San Francisco.

In order to have the capacity to be able to meet increased and more intense family and community need, it is essential that additional funding is allocated to:

- Expand the FRC model to support families with school aged children - much of current funding is limited to ages 0-5;
- Improve connections between systems through intentional cross-sector partnerships, critical to the Children & Family Recovery plan; and
- Enhance infrastructure to sustain services and stabilize organizations

FRCs are particularly a vital part of the city's child serving systems, working alongside educators to support child and family well-being at home and in communities. Now more than ever family support is a key ingredient in improved outcomes for our children. Investing these dollars to support the whole-family through family support organizations will help ensure families get connected to key programs and greatly enhance their effectiveness.

We are grateful for the support of FRCs. However, to truly become a family-friendly city, we must find ways to sustainably invest more in a meaningful community response to meet families' multiple needs. We ask that our request be fully funded so that family support organizations can be the foundation of a community-focused system that supports our most-marginalized families to recover, build back stronger, and thrive in today's San Francisco. We appreciate your partnership in helping ALL families to recover and to rebuild our city.

Dear Honorable Supervisors,

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

I have over 2000 apartments full of residents between D5 and D6 along with many employees who many times only feel safe when and where Urban Alchemy is active, including myself. The thought of even more crime, open air drug sales, and unsafe blocked streets is untenable.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces that are now receiving support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors, and patrons in some of the City's most challenged, central blocks would be a loss. We know that many parts of our city are not receiving this type of support but need here has been unprecedented and there is still much work to do. Please, now is not the time to go backwards.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability in some of the city's most challenged blocks. But there is still a lot of work to do, and it is critical we continue and build upon these services. I hope to see the expansion of the program, not reduction.

Dear Honorable Supervisors,

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

I am Mark Murano, HR Manager, Trinity Management Services. Trinity's corporate office is located at 1145 Market, and I have been employed by them for over 6 years. The area has improved because of the Tenderloin Community Based Safety Program. No doubt, there is a way to go, and it is a start. Although there are still dealers who frequent our area, there are less used needles and trash in the area. Crime also appears to be lessening.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. Public Comment of the Justice & Diversity Center of the Bar Association of San Francisco to the Budget and Appropriations Committee on Proposed funding cuts to Tenderloin/Mid-Market Safety Program.

We are writing to express our opposition to the proposed cuts in the funding for the Tenderloin/Mid-Market Safety Program and the Urban Alchemy community ambassadors that it supports.

Our Homeless Advocacy Project (HAP) is located at 125 Hyde Street. HAP provides legal and supporting social services to people who are homeless or at imminent risk of homelessness. HAP's programs are funded in large part by numerous City departments. Prior to the initiation of the Urban Alchemy coverage on our block, every day our staff and clients were forced to negotiate a daunting gauntlet of drug dealers, drug users, and crowds just to get to and from our front door. Many times, our staff had to walk in the street because the sidewalk was unpassable. Clients who were struggling to overcome addiction had no choice but to pass directly through and over people engaging in activities that were very triggering.

Since the initiation of the Urban Alchemy program, things have changed drastically on our block, and on the surrounding blocks. Our staff and clients can easily and safely get to and from our office. The sidewalks are clear and clean. The transformation has been dramatic, and has made a huge difference in the quality of life for residents and tenants of the block, and the communities that we serve.

We understand that the program has, to some extent, only moved the problems to other blocks. For that reason, we believe that the program should be expanded, rather than contracted, to help make more of the Tenderloin safe and accessible for its residents, businesses, nonprofits and visitors.

We strongly urge Mayor Breed and the Board of Supervisors to continue, and in fact expand, funding for the Tenderloin/Mid-Market Safety Program.

Sincerely,

Yolanda Jackson
Executive Director, Bar Association of San Francisco and Justice & Diversity Center of the Bar Association of San Francisco

Dear Honorable Supervisors,

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

Urban Alchemy has done a terrific job in helping direct people to the help that they so desperately need. Market Street is a cleaner and safer place due to the positive impact of Urban Alchemy. I started working at Trinity off of Market Street in October of 2021. At that time, walking to work was a sad and scary street to walk. Today with the help of Urban Alchemy, it has become a safer place for those who live and work here. I enjoy walking to work down Market Street now. Please, whatever you do, do not cut this funding for Urban Alchemy. We want to continue in the positive direction I have seen Urban Alchemy take us, and I hope we can continue to see improvement in the community we call home.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The complete program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces now receiving the support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors, and patrons in some of the City's most challenged and central blocks would be a loss. We know that many parts of our City are not receiving this type of support, but the need here has been unprecedented, and there is still much work to do. Please, now is not the time to go backward.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability in some of the City's most challenging blocks. But there is still a lot of work to do, and we must continue and build upon these services.

Thank you

Stephen Smulan

Greetings Budget Chair Ronen, President Walton, Supervisors Dorsey, Mandelman and Safai, Mayor Breed, Legislative Aides, Mayor's Office Staff, and Respective Department Heads:

Below is a budget request from From The Heart for $240,000 in add back ask request funds, HRC grant funds, and district specific addback funds for the following budget priority:

Coordinated Tenant Advocacy for Black Communities: providing case management, counseling, and attorney referrals to African Americans facing eviction; provide emergency funds for tenants; establishing a citywide Tenants Union organization with directly elected tenant representatives.

FROM THE HEART FY 2022-2024 FUNDING REQUEST

On Friday, June 24, the Board of Supervisors will consider approval of the FY 2022-2023 budget, which will amount to nearly $14 billion. From The Heart is graciously requesting from Mayor London N. Breed and the Board of Supervisors your consideration for the following in operating funds for FY 2022-2024:

- $60,000 in continuing operating funds from Human Rights Commission funds
- $30,000 in general citywide add back funds
- $150,000 in District specific add back funds from Districts 5, 6, 8, 10 and 11 ($30,000 per district)

- Any additional unassigned funds from HRC Dreamkeeper Initiative Funds

This totals $240,000 per fiscal year or $480,000 for the entire two year budgeting period ending June 30, 2024. It will provide for 1.125 FTE in new staff, which totals approximately $110,000 in salaries to approximately 5 part-time staff and stipends for 20 tenant union representatives. Supplies for these effort will cost just under $130,000.

FROM THE HEART REACHES 16,000 RESIDENTS IN DISTRICT 10

In FY 2021-2022, From The Heart, based in Bayview Hunters Point, served over 16,000 families through providing food boxes, emergency food provisions and COVID 19 personal protective equipment. FTH led 10 community beautification events and performed mediation and advocacy for tenants facing eviction. FTH held two town halls and three rallies to bring awareness to street violence and build a community movement to stop it. Nearly 40 volunteer opportunities were created, with stipends provided to 9 regular employees, gift cards amounting to less than $100 were provided to 27 regular volunteers, and another 6 volunteers performed activities without any compensation.

FROM THE HEART ALIGNS WITH MAYORAL BUDGETING PRIORTIES

For the upcoming fiscal year, The Mayor has prioritized workforce, public safety, neighborhood revitalization, and addressing mental health and housing insecurity on the streets of San Francisco. From The Heart has instituted the following five program service areas for FY 2022-2023 that are aligned with Mayoral Budget priorities:

1. Food Security – Access and Distribution
2. Community Beautification
3. Violence Prevention
4. Community Town Hall Series
5. Tenant Advocacy, Case Management and Counseling

FTH is grateful for the generous initial grant funding from the Human Rights Commission in the amount of $62,000. With the $30,000 in add back funding under consideration from the FY 2022-2024 budgeting process, FTH will be able to scale up the following tenant advocacy services that were funded with minimal funding this year:

- Eviction Defense Case Management and Counseling
- Support with Back Rent Financial Assistance
- Tenant Rent Recertification
- Housing Choice Voucher Application Support
- Rent Subsidy Qualification
- Utility Payment Resources
  - Petitioning the Board of Supervisors and other regulatory bodies to change laws and policies to support lower income residents who suffer from housing instability

FTH WILL REDUCE DISPLACEMENT OF BLACK SAN FRANCISCANS

Full funding will allow for our Coordinated Tenant Advocacy for Black Communities, a targeted initiative in partnership with the districts that contain the largest population of Black tenants in San Francisco, who are often at the most risk of eviction or displacement over the past 60 years. We have received consultation from Housing Rights Committee and Open Door Legal. We anticipate that our request if fully funded at $240,000 would help FTH to provide the following services:

- o Developing tenant assistance programs to better support residents with more challenging landlord-tenant disputes unique to Bayview Hunters Point
- o Developing an intake form within a customer relationship management software suite that will better track the services provided
- o Setting a regular drop in time for tenant counseling to ensure that residents know when, where and how to access tenant services
- o Developing case management services to protect communities at higher risk of eviction or displacement (i.e. Black and African American residents)
- o Piloting a tenants union program in District 10 for tenants housed in HOPE SF, HUD entitled nonprofit, cooperative member-owned not-for-profit, and other privately managed public housing
- o Collaborating with Housing Rights Committee and other tenant organizations to develop a citywide tenants union with direct representation from publicly and privately held apartment complexes throughout San Francisco

We thank you for considering our grant proposal.

Kind regards,

Maika Pinkston, Executive Director

Budget Chair Ronen, Mayor London Breed, and Members of the Board of Supervisors:

We hope this letter finds you well. We appreciate the support received from the Human Rights Commission that supported the work of From The Heart (FTH) during this last fiscal year. The support was greatly appreciated and allowed FTH to execute several programs which uplift the Bayview Hunters Point community and served over 16,000 residents during the most serious health emergency in over a century. FTH is dedicated to educating our community about healthy lifestyles and providing access to the resources and knowledge that support healthy living. To that end FTH has able to refocus some of our youth, engaging, employing, and compensating them via various activities which in turn has uplifted each participating youth and BVHP as a whole.

A very highly utilized program area that was not previously funded was the tenant advocacy services, where FTH was able to serve 25 families with case management services. Although several organizations in San Francisco serve tenants in need of advocacy, mediation or eviction defense, none of these programs has been able to stem the tide of Blacks and African Americans that have been displaced over the past fifty years. In 1970, San Francisco was 14 percent Black. In 2020, the city was only comprised of 5 percent African Americans, a loss of over 50,000 Black residents.

From The Heart has provided tenant advocacy for a number of tenants who have experienced threats of eviction and displacement in District 10, primarily apartment complexes and public housing developments in Bayview and Hunter's Point. We developed a grant proposal with which we have solicited funds from a number of foundations that asks that our five prong approach -- food security, tenant advocacy, community beautification, violence prevention and community engagement/town halls -- be funded to increase the self-sufficiency of D10 residents. The long term goal of our tenant advocacy is to link together organizing from historically Black housing developments in San Francisco to help these communities retain their right to the City, with support to other ethnic groups as well, but prioritizing Black San Francisco in our outreach and providing services to all that require it.

A summary of FTH's accomplishments, outcomes and lessons learned during this past fiscal year is attached. Given our performance humbly ask for the appropriation of new funds to the tenant advocacy. Our budget has increased by 900 percent to provide paid opportunities to nearly 40 employees in San Francisco, primarily in the Bayview Hunters Point, a neighborhood with more than 40 percent residents of Black or African American descent. Thank you for your consideration and we look forward to hearing from you soon.

Peace and Love,

Maika Pinkston

From The Heart (FTH) FY2021 -2022 Summary report

FROM THE HEART

FTH began as an organization committed to supporting the needs of diverse, low-income families in the Bayview Hunters Point (BVHP) community. Since 2018, FTH has provided food security, holiday toy drives, neighborhood beautification, and tenant advocacy for BVHP, a neighborhood that has been disinvested since its inception.

The purpose of FTH is to:

- Clean and beautify the Bayview Hunters' Point neighborhood
- Educate and compensate youth and transitional-age youth (TAY) ranging in age from 14 years to 24 years old for participating in neighborhood beautification, food distribution and personal protective equipment distribution activities
- Increase access to organic meats, fruits and vegetables for Southeast neighbors
- Unite and build solidarity between communities consistent with the mission of FTH: "It takes us to save us!"

SUMMARY OF ACTIVITIES, OUTCOMES AND LESSONS LEARNED

FTH has focused on, planned and executed five (5) specific programs:

1. Food Security – Access and Distribution
2. Community Beautification
3. Violence Prevention
4. Community Town Hall Series
5. Tenant Advocacy, Case Management and Counseling

The following provides a summary of each program to include FY 2021-2022 Goals, Outcomes, and Key Lessons Learned.

1. Food Access, Distribution and Security Programs

FY 21-22 Goals

- Increase access to organic meats, fruits and vegetables for Southeast residents

- Provide access to healthy food for all Bayview Hunters Point residents
- Provide neighborhood residents with transferable skills to find employment or develop their own business in Bayview Hunters Point

FY 21-22 Outcomes

- Provided 16,000 families with fresh food throughout Southeast San Francisco
- Provided over 2,000 hours of employment for residents in the highest unemployment

2. Community Beautification Efforts

FY 21-22 Goals

- Provide residents with an opportunity to beautify their own community
- Develop bonds with neighbors within the community and with partners throughout neighborhoods across San Francisco

FY 21-22 Outcomes

- Identified three sites where community members from BVHP performed neighborhood cleanup and beautification activities
- Provided youth with opportunities to become stewards of their own community

3. Violence Prevention Programs

FY 21-22 Goals

- Provide youth with job opportunities that will allow for them to feel part of the community as an alternative to being idle and tempted to participate in unproductive and sometimes violent activities.
- Establish programs that address and heal divisions between different parts of the community.
- Support the implement the Bayview Hunters Point Violence Prevention Safety Plan

FY 21-22 Outcomes

- Created a sense of community ownership, thereby reducing the incidence of violence
- Established a youth clean up zone on Quesada Street between Third St and Lane St
- Recruited youth to participate in clean-up program as a partnership with merchants
- Reduced tensions between SFPD, merchants and youth that hang out along Quesada
- Build solidarity across racial, ethnic and socioeconomic lines
- Determine innovative practices to transform how San Francisco prevents violence.

4. Community Town Hall Series

FY 21-22 Goals

- Provide a platform and space for residents to discuss concerns
- Worked directly with community and provided information about available resources.

FY 21-22 Outcomes

- Served 75 residents
- Distributed personal protective equipment to reduce and prevent spread of coronavirus
- Documented incidents of neglect, mismanagement, rodent and vermin infestation, poor maintenance and redevelopment concerns with residents

5. Tenant Advocacy, Case Management and Counseling Services

FY 21-22 Goals

- Provide solutions for residents facing eviction or other issues with their property management company and/or landlord
- Develop community leaders within each apartment community to voice concerns about living conditions and advocate for better conditions
- Provide opportunities for neighborhood residents to advocate for better living conditions within their apartment communities within Bayview Hunters Point
- Introduce residents to programs that provide support to residents at risk of being displaced or evicted [i.e. emergency rental assistance, San Francisco Rent Board, Housing Rights Committee of San Francisco, Tenants Union, Housing Choice Voucher Program (formerly Section 8), down payment assistance loan program, DreamKeeperSF]

FY 21-22 Outcomes

- 25 families were assisted monthly, for a total of 300 families.
- Residents are able to express in their own words concerns about their tenancy to property management and regulatory agencies
- Captures the needs and voices of residents through direct engagement, town hall meetings and survey tools
- Provided residents with Eviction Defense Case Management and Counseling
- Provided residents support with Back Rent Financial Assistance
- Educated residents on how to qualify for a rent subsidy Rent Subsidy Qualification

PROPOSED FY2022-2023 and FY2023-2024 Budget

From The Heart will continue to expand into new communities within the Bayview Hunters Point. We plan to rely upon regular employees rather than volunteers to ensure that the minimum labor force needed to accomplish tasks in all five mission areas can be accomplished. Positions are only funded at 50 percent for the first budget year ending June 30, 2023. Beginning July 1, 2024, positions will be funded at the 100 percent level. For the past fiscal year, we have relied upon generous funding from the San Francisco Human Rights Commission. At the current funding level, we only can achieve about 12 percent of the program we budgeted for the next fiscal year. We intend to reach out to the following organizations for additional grant funding:

We thank you for considering our proposal. Please feel free to contact us with any further questions or concerns.

Dear Honorable Supervisors,

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

My name is Brenda Schneegans, I live and work in San Francisco, I work on 1145 Market, it is very important to keep the present of the ambassadors as the drug dealers and consumers of such substances respect them and are forced to move out of the area. I walk to a second job in the afternoon and safety is very important for me for obvious reasons.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. This would mean eliminating coverage on up to 18 block faces that are now receiving support of this transformative program. It could mean the deserved quality of life that has increased for residents, businesses, youth, seniors and patrons in some of the City's most challenged, central blocks would be a loss. We know that many parts of our city are not receiving this type of support, but need here has been unprecedented and there is still much work to do. Please, now is not the time to go backwards.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability in some of the city's most challenged blocks. But there is still a lot of work to do and it is critical we continue and build upon these services.

Thank you for considering our opinions.

Supervisor Catherine Stefani,

Dear Supervisors,

The Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Dear Board of Supervisors:

On behalf of the Chinatown Merchants Association, I support the funding the graffiti abatement pilot that Supervisor Melgar proposed this year.

We appreciate the City taking a proactive approach and initiate the clean up of the graffiti instead of issuing citations and waiting for the owners to paint over it. This would be one less burden for small business owners who has faced many challenges due to the pandemic.

In this effort, I hope that the City would contact larger landlords who have closed e.g. Walgreen's (9th & Clement), Bank of America (Geary & Masonic) who have closed the businesses leaving large spaces tagged with graffiti. I hope that these big businesses will do their fair share and remove the graffiti from their closed properties on a regular spaces since it would be impossible for the City to fund all the graffiti throughout the City. These large areas of graffiti have been a blight on the neighborhoods.

We appreciate your supporting small businesses and beautiful neighborhoods by funding this important pilot.

Best regards,

Eva Lee

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee, and Supervisor Preston,

I hope you all are doing well. I am reaching out on behalf of La Cocina, which operates a non-profit foodhall in the Tenderloin at the corner of Golden Gate and Hyde, to ask that you not cut the $4.5 million dollars from OEWD's budget that funds the innovative community-based safety program in the Tenderloin/Mid-Market. These cuts would immediately remove 40-50 Urban Alchemy Practitioners from Tenderloin sidewalks, as well as some of the Park Captains at Boeddeker, Turk-Hyde and Macaulay and other community ambassadors on Larkin Street.

We host space for 7+ small business owners, and their economic success is directly tied to the safety in and around our building. While we've noticed an immensely positive shift while our space is activated, we spend hours every morning cleaning up from overnight usage, and are experiencing real challenges opening up for dinner and late-afternoon or evening events because people don't feel safe coming to us after dark. Urban Alchemy's presence contributes to a feeling of safety among our staff, businesses and customers, and allows us to continue supporting small businesses and offering a vibrant community space to the Tenderloin. If anything we need an extension of hours by community-based safety services, not a cut.

The Tenderloin relies on these ambassadors to calm the sidewalks and parks for the children, families, seniors and small businesses there. Where the TL has these ambassadors, people are able to go about their daily lives - walking their children to school, commuting to work, visiting the corner store or going the park with their families - without the constant threat of violence created by the concentration of the City's deadly drug market in the Tenderloin. We heard overwhelming resonance with this at the recent community safety conversation we hosted, in which folks expressed the relief they feel seeing a uniformed Urban Alchemy practitioner on the street.

Please do not cut OEWD's budget for community-based safety in the Tenderloin.

Thank you for your time and consideration,
Naomi Maisel

I am a resident in the mid-market/SoMa neighborhood, and I have seen the immense impact Urban Alchemy has had on this neighborhood.

For the first time since I moved here, I feel safe walking down the street. If the funding cuts are allowed, and we return to the way things were before, I will move out of this neighborhood. I have spoken to at least two dozen other people that feel the same way.

I know you don't want to lose good residents in the community and active voters. Please think before you vote to cut funding. It's NOT a good idea.

Please support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

I reside in West SOMA and work in Mid-Market at TrinitySF. Last night I was walking from Market/6th to Trinity Place around 10:30pm and there was a notable SFPD and UA presence in the area. UN Plaza had about the same amount of drug activity that I see during the day, which is a substantial improvement from what I've seen in the past where there have been 100+ people actively engaged in the open-air drug market. This improvement cannot be sustained without the support of Urban Alchemy.

The current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. The full program provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 Urban Alchemy Practitioners who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment. Dear Honorable Supervisors,

I urge you to support the full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to MY neighborhood and community. Any proposed cut would significantly reverse the improvements that have been made as a result.

I live at the edge of the Tenderloin on Post Street and the ambassadors have brought noticeable improvements, especially noticeable are the cleanliness and safety for me over these past two years. I pass these ambassadors multiple times each week and they are a welcome addition on my walk to the main library, the weekly Civic Center farmer's market, BART or the neighborhoods many great restaurants. This transformative program has ripple effects and is helping so many people.

The am dishearted to learn that the current cut of $4.5M would eliminate approximately 40 to 50 ambassador positions. Dear Brent,

I'm writing to support funding the graffiti abatement pilot proposed by Supervisor Melgar. Without proper funding, the pilot cannot be implemented.

Last year, I co-founded a new business council for Lakeside Village (Ocean between Junipero Serra and 19th) because it was clear that the commercial corridor needed help, and small businesses were struggling.

There is vandalism all the way along Ocean on both public and private property -- on walls, doors, and windows of buildings, on street signs, on bus shelters. Graffiti is a persistent, ongoing blight in our neighborhood. Just yesterday, I found one of the property owners, Deborah Mitchell, painting the screen door of the now closed Walgreens that is persistently hit with graffiti.

As a volunteer for the business council, I would far rather see the city clean up graffiti immediately. We are constantly sending photos of graffiti to building owners or via 311. In the time it takes for the building owners to remove the graffiti, the tagged walls (doors, windows) attract more and more graffiti. It's a vicious circle.

Please support small businesses and residents in their efforts to make their neighborhoods beautiful by funding the pilot.

Many thanks,

Kath Tsakalakis

Dear Supervisors and Budget Committee Members:

On behalf of North East Medical Services (NEMS), which is a member of the Tenderloin People's Congress, we respectfully ask the Budget Committee to approve $4M for the Tenderloin Community Action Plan in the Planning Department budget. NEMS operates a clinic located in the Tenderloin at 650 Polk Street, and we serve over 67,000 in the SF Bay Area annually. Most of our patients qualify for Medi-Cal, have immigrated here from another country, and prefer to be served in a language other than English.

The Tenderloin Community (residents and CBOs together) worked on a budget priority sheet that was presented to the Mayor's office and we are excited to have a budget for the community that was created by the community. We also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

While it is important to have sufficient funds in the Reserve, the people who live and work in the Tenderloin are depending on these funds being available in next year's budget. The Tenderloin community is being given a chance to shape our own future. Please fund the Planning Department to meet the community with the resources that we deserve.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Jessica Ho

Supervisor Connie Chan,

Dear Supervisors,

The Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee, and Supervisor Preston:

As a long time resident of San Francisco, small business owner of a Legacy Business, and member of the MOCAC Committee and Hayes Valley Merchant and Neighborhood Associations, I stand with members of the Tenderloin community in asking that the $4 million dollars in funds dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department NOT be put on reserve.

The Tenderloin Community (residents and CBOs together) worked on a budget priority sheet that was presented to the Mayor's office and they are excited to have a budget for the community that was created by the community. They also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

The people who live and work in the Tenderloin are depending on these funds being available in next year's budget. Do not put them on reserve! The Tenderloin community is being given a chance to shape their own future. Please fund the Planning Department to meet the community with the resources that they deserve.

Thank you for your time and consideration

I feel that it would be a great loss for the program to close because it gives people a safe place to use and prevent overdose. It also is a place that is used to get services that they wouldn't be able to receive due to lack of ability to get there. Another thing is that it is a safe place for people to get help if they want to change their life.

Honorable Board of Supervisors,

I write today to ask that the $4 million dollars dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department not be held in reserve and instead go into immediate deployment and action. The ability of people to safely live and work in the Tenderloin depends on these funds being made available in next year's budget. The Tenderloin community, represented by residents and CBOs working together, presented a budget priority sheet to the Mayor's office. And, the Planning Department committed to work with the Tenderloin community to bring these resources to bear on the community's priorities as set forth in that budget priority sheet.

UC Hastings Law has 250+ residents as well as over 1,000 students and approximately 475 personnel that utilize our campus and live, work, and study in the Tenderloin. It has proven challenging to bring all of our community back to the campus following the pandemic, not out of COVID-19 fears, but out of concern for safety in the neighborhood. The deployment of Urban Alchemy practitioners has been absolutely transformative, but we must do more for this vulnerable neighborhood. We absolutely support these efforts to ensure the safety and wellbeing of all in the Tenderloin.

To that end, please fund the Planning Department now to meet the Tenderloin community with the resources needed to create a safe, livable Tenderloin community for all.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

From: Delivering Innovation in Supportive Housing (DISH) and La Cocina
Date: June 24, 2022
Subject: Budget Add Back Ask 189—Enhancing Food Security in Supportive Housing

Food Scarcity in Permanent Supportive Housing, particularly in SROs, is well documented, yet there is not a targeted program or investment to address this dire need. This letter is in support of continued flexible, accessible meals for DISH supportive housing residents living in Districts 5 and 6 through an innovative partnership with La Cocina that provides meals from small, women-owned, immigrant-owned, and BIPOC-owned businesses. With proper nutrition, residents can focus on important things such as their health and wellness, live more harmoniously together, and be treated with dignity—critical supports that ripple out to make supportive housing a long-term, stable home. Current private funding for the program ends November 2022; $2 million in City funding would allow for the continuation and expansion of the successful pilot for two years.

The hunger problem: In San Francisco, supportive housing helps community members get off the streets and rebuild their lives. Unfortunately, once in supportive housing, many residents still lack basic access to food. In 2022, a participatory food security study led by DISH supportive housing residents* found that four out of five residents (78%) run out of food each month. While shelter-in-place hotels offer three meals a day, in permanent supportive housing residents are responsible for paying rent and have less access to meal programs. Traditional supports such as food stamps don't last as long for residents without adequate cooking facilities, and many are not eligible for other meal programs despite their chronic homelessness. Here's what PSH residents had to say about food security

- “When you're on a budget, when you're on food stamps, it's really easy to go through $200 in food stamps in a week or two. [La Cocina meals] really help stretch that out, space that out.”
- “We have a number of people who are shut-ins or for medical reasons aren't ambulatory.”
- “A lot of times food programs tend to shy away from flavor. With other programs, I haven't been happy because they've been very bland. I see a lot of that food get thrown away.”

The solution: During the pandemic, private funding allowed DISH to partner with La Cocina, a San Francisco-based nonprofit that supports low-income food entrepreneurs, to provide meals to residents across its housing sites in SF Districts 5 and 6. The program has been a win-win for participants, creating flexible access to high-quality food for 570 DISH residents and an important income stream for 28 La Cocina entrepreneurs that has allowed them to sustain their businesses and grow their skills during the pandemic. Ninety percent of DISH residents surveyed* said they eat La Cocina meals, with 42% participating most days each month. According to residents, La Cocina meals:

- Decrease hunger (89% agree): “It's so nice that La Cocina is here, so many people are in need of food. I love how nobody has to go hungry.”
- Help residents live in community (84% agree), such as improving morale and decreasing conflicts: “The building has a different feel when people are fed.”
- Allow residents to focus on other important things (80% agree), like taking care of themselves, going to appointments, or running errands: “I have many things I need to do but for many things my sickness holds me up. At that time La Cocina meals helped save time.”
- Offer a sense of dignity in supportive housing (80% agree): “[Without La Cocina,] I don't get hot meals, family meals, any of that. Ever. Bless y'all.”
- Decrease the need for other food programs (70% agree): “The food is of a higher quality than most other food bank services.”

Support for small, women-owned businesses: At the same time, this partnership helps support 28 small, San Francisco

*In 2022, program participants worked with Engage R+D, a learning and evaluation firm, to document and measure the impact of the partnership on both residents and entrepreneurs. Through this participatory evaluation, an advisory committee composed of DISH residents and La Cocina entrepreneurs worked with Engage R+D to refine the research questions, develop the evaluation methods, and field and interpret program data together. Data collection included conversations with entrepreneurs and a survey of 180 DISH residents representing a third of La Cocina meal program participants.

businesses owned predominantly by women of color and immigrant women who are often excluded from the city's restaurant industry. During the continued effects of the pandemic, supply chain issues, and rising inflation, the program provides La Cocina entrepreneurs with access to a stable income: "It's a lifesaver in the darkness of the pandemic. There was no other income," noted one entrepreneur. As part of La Cocina's mission to incubate these small businesses, the partnership with DISH allows entrepreneurs to build skills while cooking culturally-relevant food: "We develop skills through this project," said another entrepreneur. "We need to think about quantities and how to work on a larger scale." The result is support for small business owners and their families that contribute toward a thriving economy in San Francisco.

The DISH-La Cocina partnership is a successful, cost-efficient solution for improving the health and well-being of vulnerable populations while supporting the economic recovery and sustainability of BIPOC women-owned businesses. This privately-funded innovation is aligned with multiple City Department priorities (including the Food Security Task Force), ensures food access for many of San Francisco's most vulnerable utilizing existing staffing and infrastructure, and supports small food business owners, particularly low-income women of color. For this reason, we ask that you support Budget Ask 189 to continue flexible, accessible meals for DISH supportive housing residents through the innovative partnership with La Cocina. This $2 million investment would allow for the continuation and expansion of a successful pilot that addresses food insecurity and supports small business in the Tenderloin for two years. The evaluation of this program will provide critical insights to policy makers on developing a successful food security system for adults living in SRO's that lack cooking facilities and are unable to access current programs such as DAS' congregate meal program.

Supervisor Shamann Walton,

Dear Supervisor Walton,

The Mayors complete omission of funding for the Climate Action Plan (CAP) in her budget was extremely disappointing and scary. How can our City begin to combat climate change and its devastating effects, especially on people who are most vulnerable, without the resources to do so?

The Department of the Environment (SFE) needs the support to give teeth to their comprehensive climate action recommendations, which are now just sitting there as a Plan. Now - and it must be now, we can't push it down the road another year - I am counting on you and your colleagues to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process.

Thank you.

Supervisor Connie Chan,

Dear Supervisors,

I am extremely concerned that the Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Twenty years ago, I studied climate change in graduate school. Scientists and researchers predicted impacts of climate change that we are now experiencing in California and around the world. We cannot afford to postpone making changes that will reduce San Francisco's impact on climate change.

Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote to fund all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal (such as Certificates of Participation).

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the $136 million in recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding -- through add-backs and all other means at your disposal -- the ignored recommendations. In particular, Supervisor Preston has proposed a $100 million Certificate of Participation to fund social housing acquisition, construction, and repairs. The remaining $36 million in Prop I spending recommendations can partly be covered through add-backs.

The recommendations I am asking you to approve include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Thank you,

Dear Supervisor Stefani,

Please support SF Environment's budget requests to fund Buildings/Climate, Transportation, Equity and Healthy Ecosystems programs. SFE must ramp up its planning and outreach to delivering the objectives of the Climate Action Plan.

With your extensive knowledge about climate change and our city, you understand that delivering a plan is only the first part of the job. We need to pull the City's resources and experts together to work according to an integrated strategy that can, for example, achieve the decarbonization of San Francisco as efficiently and cost-effectively as possible. This bold and careful management can bring City residents not only increased resilience, lower energy costs and safer streets, but also a more pleasant environment.

SFE and other departments in San Francisco have many dedicated, courageous and skilled officials who can and want to do this work. The Climate Action Plan lays out a roadmap to begin. But as you know, without necessary resources there can be no planning and that leads to waste, contention, and failure to achieve results. The Mayor's budget sets us up for a failing performance.

I look forward to hearing of your support for the add back to fund SFE's request.

Dear Supervisor Stephani:

I was extremely disappointed that Mayor Breed failed to fund San Francisco Environment's May 20 budget request (copy attached). I ask that you actively support funding the SFE request via the add back process.

Yes, San Francisco's reduction of GHG emissions from 1990 levels is significant. It has also been a relatively transparent process, as it did not require San Franciscan's to make significant changes and investments. Some of these reductions occurred because of excellent SFE proposals, such as the San Francisco Green Building Ordinance and the composting program. Much of the reduction came through state level action, such as the Renewable Portfolio Standard and SB100, and not thorough actions by San Francisco.

We now face the difficult phase - mapping an integrated strategy that deals with the decarbonization of San Francisco as the complex system problem that it is. If we do it well, San Francisco will deliver increased resilience, lower energy costs, safer streets and a more pleasant environment. If we do it badly, costs will be higher, and the results far less pleasing.

SFE's proposed budget requests funding for Buildings/Climate, Transportation, Equity and Healthy Ecosystems programs. Delivering the CAP objectives will take far more outreach and planning than SFE's budget to date has allowed.

I have had the privilege of engaging with, and learning from, SFE over the past 15 years, and have high regard for their abilities. But abilities denied necessary resources cannot yield results. The Mayor's budget sets the CAP up for a failing performance, by not funding key actions that SFE can and must deliver.

Please support the ad back to fund SFE's request.

Sincerely,
Paul

A Department of the City and County of San Francisco

Climate & Equity Proposal – Overview

In 2021, the Board passed an update to Chapter 9 of the City's Environmental Code, which set new climate goals for the City and led to the release of the 2021 Climate Action Plan (CAP). Containing 31 strategies and 159 supporting actions to get us to net-zero emissions, the CAP was developed through a multi-year community input process resulting in a plan that advances racial and social equity, reduces illness and healthcare costs, provides jobs, and promotes community resilience.

The next step is implementation. 150,000 buildings must be electrified. 1,361,467 registered vehicles must be electrified. All other fossil fuels in the City must be switched to clean renewable energy. And the deadline is 2040. Implementing these complex, multifaceted strategies requires additional funding and resources that SFE does not have. To do our part and build an inclusive, all-electric zero-emission City of the future, San Francisco will need to consider increasing investments in climate.

This request is updated from an earlier version and takes a longer-term, accelerated approach. It accounts for short and medium-term steps the Department will undertake to implement the CAP. The proposal also includes resources needed to promote climate equity, apply for and issue grants, backfill reduced department work orders, and implement adopted ordinances with no dedicated funding. The increase in professional services largely will be used to fund grants that will be reinvested in communities to promote equitable outcomes.

Total New Request: FY 22-23 – $4.7M & FY 23-24 – $6.3M

Budget Request by Department Focus Area

1. Eliminating Fossil-Fuels in Buildings & Climate Planning

FY 22-23 – $3.3M & FY 23-24 – $3.9M

- Develop, pass, and implement new ordinances to eliminate natural gas usage in existing municipal, commercial, and residential structures.
- Provide seed funding for the “Climate Equity Hub” that will offer technical assistance to residential contractors and homeowners, develop rebates/incentive structures for electrification, and provide rebate/incentives (starting with low-income communities).
- Begin and accelerate commercial building retrofits with technical assistance and rebates.
- Fund environmental justice grants and build local workforce capacity.
- Outreach to and engagement with diverse communities, neighborhoods, businesses, and City Departments to facilitate CAP implementation.
- Inclusive contracting and procurement of appliances to support local businesses and mitigate costs to low-income communities.

2. Eliminating Fossil-Fuels in the Transportation Sector

FY 22-23 – $289K & FY 23-24 – $732K

- Oversee and implement the City's Electric Vehicle (EV) Roadmap.
- Alleviate technical/financial barriers to EV adoption and charging installations (focusing on disadvantaged communities).
- Electrify medium and heavy-duty (trucks) fleets.

3. Capturing Carbon through Healthy Ecosystems

FY 22-23 – $343K & FY 23-24 – $673K

- Establish new community grants to jumpstart ecosystem demonstration projects.
- Better utilize available lands by engaging municipal and private sector partners to promote ecosystem restoration, maximize carbon sequestration, and enhance native biodiversity.
- Develop tools and new policies to quantify and promote carbon sequestration.

4. Delivering Equity-Centered Environment Solutions

FY 22-23 – $414K & FY 23-24 – $478K

- Fulfill promise of CAP to lead with equity and use climate action to lift up communities.
- Implement externally facing racial equity commitments and internal racial equity commitments focusing on hiring, staff diversity, training, and racial equity analysis of potential Department programs and policies.

5. Scaling Administrative Support for Climate Action

FY 22-23 – $363K & FY 23-24 – $477K

- Provide appropriate support so the Department can implement the CAP.

Dear Supervisors and Budget Committee,

Please accept the attached letter regarding the request to allocate the $4M funding to support improvements to the Tenderloin on behalf of the residents, small businesses, and CBOs.

We offer our full support of this request from the entire community.

June 18, 2022

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

We are asking that the $4 million dollars in funds dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department NOT be put on reserve.

The Tenderloin Community (residents, businesses and CBOs together) worked on a budget priority sheet that was presented to the Mayor's office and we are excited to have a budget for the community that was created by the community. We also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

The Cova Hotel has been serving thousands of visitors and tourists worldwide for many years. We have been proud to call the Tenderloin our place of business, bringing so many here to have a comfortable stay during their business or vacation travel. Yet, in the last few years, even prior to the pandemic, we've been experiencing more and more troubling and illegal behavior near and around our business. This makes operating a tourist hotel extremely challenging. Many of our client ratings of the past few years show many comments of visitor issues with the conditions in the neighborhood and that they experienced distressed, unsafe, or uncomfortable situations. We want to make sure visitors have a first-rate experience. We have been deeply involved in the community for years and will do all we can to support the improvement of the neighborhood for all – but we need the City's support as well.

The people who live, work and run businesses in the Tenderloin are depending on these funds being available in next year's budget. Do not put them on reserve! The Tenderloin community is being given a chance to shape our own future. Please fund the Planning Department to meet the community with the resources that we deserve.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Simon Sin

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee:

Thank you for your leadership and efforts to keep our neighbors safe and secure through the COVID pandemic. As an SF resident, I'm proud of the way our City responded in the pandemic – particularly in the area of supporting community food programs.

I feel very strongly about all of my neighbors having access to healthy food. As a mother of two, it especially breaks my heart to think about the parents out there who aren't able to feed their little ones and the negative downstream effects this causes.

It feels like SF is eager to put COVID in the rear view mirror and move forward. While COVID is a waning threat to our community, food insecurity is not. The SF Marin Food Bank is still seeing record numbers of signups and families needing their assistance. Inflation is making the problem of affordability even worse for families on the margin.

With all that said, I strongly urge you to provide full funding at current levels for community food programming for the next 2 years - $12M in FY 23 and $30M in FY24. Supporting continued food security programs will have a positive impact to an estimated 70,000 households (not unduplicated) served by community programs about to be cut.

Thank you for your consideration.

Best,

Meg Gray

Supervisor Rafael Mandelman,

Dear Supervisors,

San Francisco declared a Climate Emergency in 2019, and updated its Climate Action Plan in 2021. Merely publishing the plan does not accomplish the goals. Now, we must begin to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP, and we must do that NOW. Time is running out. It will require planning, courage and money.

I ask you first to fund the Department of the Environment's request for $11M over two years. And to fund the other requests that community groups have outlined in budget requests which will provide additional funds for street tree planting, clean electrification pilots and incentives for eliminating fossil fuels in buildings and transportation.

I ask you to finally resolve the long-standing issues in Hunter's Point/Bayview with toxic and radioactive contamination which will become even more dangerous with sea level rise, as pointed out in the just-published Civil Grand Jury report.

It is time to act. We must do this work. You must provide the funding. Thank you.

Supervisors and Budget Committee:

I write to request that the $4 million dollars in funds dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department NOT be put on reserve.

The Tenderloin Community including families that I work with and serve at Tenderloin Community School, created a budget priority sheet that was presented to the Mayor's office. We are all excited to have a budget for the community, informed by the community. We also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

The people who live and work in the Tenderloin are depending on these funds being available in next year's budget. Do not put them on reserve! The Tenderloin community is being given a chance to shape our own future. Please fund the Planning Department to provide our families and residents with the resources they need and deserve.

Thank you for your time and consideration,
Kara Wright

Supervisor Catherine Stefani,

Dear Supervisors,

The Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Dear Matt Dorsey, Hillary Ronan, and other Supervisors,

I'm a 12-year San Francisco resident, a mother, and a climate-centric voter. Twelve years from now, the year will be 2034, and where will your leadership have led us in climate response?

I'm calling on you to fund the Department of the Environment - $11 million over two years to ramp up our resiliency as we forge ahead into the formative climate response decade.

Dear Supervisors,

San Francisco declared a Climate Emergency in 2019, and updated its Climate Action Plan in 2021. Merely publishing the plan does not accomplish the goals. Now, we must begin to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP, and we must do that NOW. Time is running out. It will require planning, courage and money.

I ask you first to fund the Department of the Environment's request for $11M over two years. And to fund the other requests that community groups have outlined in budget proposals to provide additional funds for street tree planting, clean electrification pilots and incentives for eliminating fossil fuels in buildings and transportation.

I also ask you to finally work on the long-standing issues in Bayview Hunters Point with toxic and radioactive contamination becoming even more dangerous with sea level rise, as detailed in the Civil Grand Jury's just-published report .

It is time to act. We must do this work. You must provide the funding. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Date: Monday, June 20, 2022 6:40:20 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal (such as Certificates of Participation).

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the $136 million in recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding -- through add-backs and all other means at your disposal -- the ignored recommendations. In particular, Supervisor Preston has proposed a $100 million Certificate of Participation to fund social housing acquisition, construction, and repairs. The remaining $36 million in Prop I spending recommendations can partly be covered through add-backs.

The recommendations I am asking you to approve include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Thank you,

Supervisor Matt Dorsey,

Dear Supervisor Dorsey,

I live in District 6 and combating climate change is a high-priority issue for me. Our city has done the hard work of developing an ambitious and comprehensive Climate Action Plan (CAP) that will be the bellwether of such plans for other cities. To my dismay, the Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing CAP. Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future perils of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted. A well-constructed CAP on paper is useless if we can't implement it.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Supervisor Dean Preston,

Dear Supervisors,

San Francisco declared a Climate Emergency in 2019, and updated its Climate Action Plan in 2021. Merely publishing the plan does not accomplish the goals. Now, we must begin to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP, and we must do that NOW. Time is running out. It will require planning, courage and money.

I ask you first to fund the Department of the Environment's request for $11M over two years. And to fund the other requests that community groups have outlined in budget requests which will provide additional funds for street tree planting, clean electrification pilots and incentives for eliminating fossil fuels in buildings and transportation.

I ask you to finally resolve the long-standing issues in Hunter's Point/Bayview with toxic and radioactive contamination which will become even more dangerous with sea level rise, as pointed out in the just-published Civil Grand Jury report.

It is time to act. We must do this work. You must provide the funding. Thank you.

Supervisor Catherine Stefani,

Dear Supervisors,

As you know, Mayor Breed ignored the Department of the Environment's extremely modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP).

Despite declaring a climate emergency three years ago, Mayor Breed and the City government have done almost nothing to address the climate crisis - except to develop a lengthy and mostly aspirational plan with timelines that we frankly do not have time for. We must at least start doing something, and the $11 million request is at least a start.

Im writing to implore you to make sure the City budget provides this funding through the add-back process.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Dear Supervisors,

My worries about the very real and very present dangers of climate change keep me up at night. They are also the reason I got involved in my local neighborhood organization, to organize with others and make our voices heard for the changes we want to see.

I'm concerned that as a City, we are not making changes quickly enough to have an impact. The time to act is yesterday.

I admit, I don't know the first thing about planning a city's budget, let alone running one. But I do know that declaring a climate emergency without funding climate change actions is counterproductive.

If we are going to succeed at transforming our city for a just and sustainable future, we need funding for climate change action. And we need it now, in this year's budget.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Supervisor Matt Dorsey,

Dear Supervisors,

The Mayor, amazingly and without any excuse or rationale, failed to add any funding for fighting climate change to her proposed City budget, which, incredibly, ignored climate change, allocating zero dollars of the modest $11 million the Department of the Environment (SFE) requested over 2 years - in a two-year city budget of $27 billion.

That's less than one thousandth of the City's overall budget - and it's urgently needed, to begin to staff and implement the City's newly-updated Climate Action plan (CAP). The Mayor's decision is dangerous. Because of this serious mayoral failure, I am counting on you to ramp up pressure to get the City budget to add back that requested funding. YOU can do it via the add-back process. Please do so would be to ignore the threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

NOW is the time to act on the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions avoid climate chaos and bring us to climate safety. Thank you. And my grandsons will thank you.

Supervisor Connie Chan,

Dear Supervisors,

It is incomprehensible that San Francisco, a city that is tied to the ocean and climate change and fires, received no monies by the mayor. We are the ones who are supposed to LEAD while others put their head in the sand and their cities sink.

The Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

To the Board of Supervisors,

I am sending a message today in support of funding for our public safety. Given the recent staff shortages, plus the urgent funding proposed by the mayor and passed by the board in March for overtime allocation, it is imperative for our city not to skimp on financial resources.

The attrition rate has been well documented for both the police and fire departments. The remaining personnel have had an undue burden placed upon them. What is needed now is a long-term plan to recruit, retrain and retain quality people for our Police, Fire and EMT.

Constraining funding at this time is not appropriate.

Thank you for reading,

Rick Alvarez

Subject: Full Funding for Community Food Programming
Date: Monday, June 20, 2022 8:54:28 AM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee:

Thank you for your leadership and efforts to keep our neighbors safe and secure through the COVID pandemic. I'm proud of the way our City responded in the pandemic – particularly in the area of supporting community food programs.

Funding food programs is essential to supporting the most vulnerable of our neighbors. In a city and country as wealthy as ours, no one should go hungry. Access to food is a fundamental right and must be protected. Organizations like San Francisco-Marin Food Bank have done an exceptional job feeding individuals and families in need of quality, nourishing food -- and bringing those of us fortunate enough to be food secure together in a true community effort to support one another.

While the immediacy of the COVID crisis has waned, food insecurity has not. In fact, pressures have increased. San Francisco-Marin Food Bank's Food Locator is seeing 4x the number of visits of people looking for food, in addition to the Food Bank seeing a 40% increase in CalFresh signups, 21% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) signups, and 45% increase in meals provided to seniors and adults with disabilities.

Demand for community food security programs is increasing as inflation surges. Soaring inflation is not only impacting demand for service, it is significantly increasing the cost to community organizations in delivering food security programs. This has an impact not only on demand for services, but the cost of providing that service. From February 2021-February 2022, grocery prices rose 12.1% overall, and an average of 50% increased cost for eggs and a 35% hike for flour.

Other funding from federal sources (FEMA, Federal COVID relief bills) have ended, leaving organizations with little choice but to wind down operations just as community need is spiking.

Our food system was already in an emergency pre-pandemic with one if four San Franciscans experiencing food insecurity, disproportionately impacting communities of color. COVID just magnified a deeply rooted problem, exacerbating inequities, making it unconscionable to continue to ignore the crisis in front of us.

Supporting continued food security programs will have a positive impact to an estimated 70,000 households (not unduplicated) served by community programs about to be cut. I urge you to provide full funding at current levels for community food programming for the next 2 years - $12M in FY 23 and $30M in FY24.

In community,

Melissa Manson

Supervisor Hillary Ronen,

Dear Supervisors And espe3cdially Sup Ronen of District 9),

Our environmental catastrophe leaves us no time to waste. The Mayor ignored the Department of the Environment's modest two-year request for $11 million to begin implementing its updated Climate Action Plan (CAP). Because of this shocking omission, I am counting on you to make sure the City budget provides this crucial funding through the add-back process. Not to do so would be to ignore the present and future threat of climate change, especially to those vulnerable communities already most impacted.

Time is running out. We must begin now to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP. Please vote, and encourage your colleagues to vote, to make this small downpayment on funding all the actions necessary to reduce our emissions and bring us to climate safety. Thank you.

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee:

Thank you for your leadership and efforts to keep our neighbors safe and secure through the COVID pandemic. I'm proud of the way our City responded in the pandemic – particularly in the area of supporting community food programs.

I care deeply about food security and ensuring people have access to nutritious food. Food is a foundational part of all of our lives--eating well is a fundamental component of not just survival, but also of taking steps towards growth and self-improvement.

While the immediacy of the COVID crisis has waned, food insecurity has not. In fact, pressures have increased. San Francisco-Marin Food Bank's Food Locator is seeing 4x the number of visits of people looking for food, in addition to the Food Bank seeing a 40% increase in CalFresh signups, 21% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) signups, and 45% increase in meals provided to seniors and adults with disabilities.

Demand for community food security programs is increasing as inflation surges. Soaring inflation is not only impacting demand for service, it is significantly increasing the cost to community organizations in delivering food security programs. This has an impact not only on demand for services, but the cost of providing that service. From February 2021-February 2022, grocery prices rose 12.1% overall, and an average of 50% increased cost for eggs and a 35% hike for flour.

Other funding from federal sources (FEMA, Federal COVID relief bills) have ended, leaving organizations with little choice but to wind down operations just as community need is spiking.

Our food system was already in an emergency pre-pandemic with one if four San Franciscans experiencing food insecurity, disproportionately impacting communities of color. COVID just magnified a deeply rooted problem, exacerbating inequities, making it unconscionable to continue to ignore the crisis in front of us.

Supporting continued food security programs will have a positive impact to an estimated 70,000 households (not unduplicated) served by community programs about to be cut. I humbly urge you to provide full funding at current levels for community food programming for the next 2 years - $12M in FY 23 and $30M in FY24.

In community,
Matt

Hello,

I am a mother, resident and home owner in the Tenderloin. If our neighborhood was given $4 million to do all the things we've been working on with the planning department and our community organizations, then please DO NOT move monies to a reserve account. We worked hard to get approval for this money in the first place. Please do not disturb our momentum or progress. Let us continue to create our own solutions and responses in partnership with the planning department, so that we may break out of the cycle of civic and humanitarian trauma that plagues our streets.

Please let us recover!

Supervisor Dean Preston,

Dear Supervisors Preston and Melgar,

I'm not quite sure which one of you I'm currently represented by, given the recent redistricting, but I do hope this reaches the correct person.

As you know, San Francisco declared a Climate Emergency in 2019, and updated its Climate Action Plan in 2021. What good is stating that there is a climate emergency if we are not willing to solve it?

I ask you first to fund the Department of the Environment's request for $11M over two years. And to fund the other requests that community groups have outlined in budget requests which will provide additional funds for street tree planting, clean electrification pilots and incentives for eliminating fossil fuels in buildings and transportation.

I ask you to finally resolve the long-standing issues in Hunter's Point/Bayview with toxic and radioactive contamination which will become even more dangerous with sea level rise, as pointed out in the just-published Civil Grand Jury report. I used to live in the Bayview, and it hurts my heart to imagine my former neighbors continuing to suffer when that could have been prevented.

It is time to act. We must do this work. You must provide the funding. Thank you.

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

We are asking that the $4 million dollars in funds dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department NOT be put on reserve.

The Tenderloin Community (residents and CBOs together) worked on a budget priority sheet that was presented to the Mayor's office and we are excited to have a budget for the community that was created by the community. We also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

The people who live and work in the Tenderloin are depending on these funds being available in next year's budget. Do not put them on reserve! Hello Supervisors and Budget Committee. I'm Christina Tucker from the Tenderloin People's Congress and long-time TL resident. I'm writing today to ask that the Budget Committee approve the $4m for the Tenderloin Community Action Plan in the Planning Department budget and not put the money on Reserve. The Planning Dept. budget finally includes money for working with the Tenderloin community and finishing/implementing the TL Community Action Plan that we, residents and members of the Tenderloin People's Congress, have been working on for several years that is based on the Vision 2020 People's Plan and created with direct input from over 1200 residents as well as dozens of community stakeholder meetings with Tenderloin CBOs. Years of hard work and advocacy by the Tenderloin People's Congress, original "seed" funding from Haney's office in the add backs for Planning Dept. to start the process with us 2 years ago, and engagement by hundreds of residents has gone into getting us here. I'm asking that your office please support the Planning Department and ask for the funding in the budget that will bring this unrepresented work into reality. This means so much to so many of our TL residents and community and offers a first ever from the ground up planning process that is rooted in community guided planning by and for our own neighborhood and the long range vision of a healthy and thriving TL community. I hope I can count on your support for the hard work of the Tenderloin residents.

Thanks so much,

Christina Tucker

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

We are asking that the $4 million dollars in funds dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department NOT be put on reserve.

In 2022, the TLCBD worked with several other community partners (St. Anthony's, La Cocina, Tenderloin Museum, Weekend Adventures, Kroc Center, La Voz Latina, and Boys & Girls Club) to present a Tenderloin Community Budget to the Mayor's Office. This was a community-led effort that reflects many of our priorities and hopes for the future of the Tenderloin, and we are excited to have a budget for the community that was created by the community. We also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal (such as Certificates of Participation).

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the $136 million in recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding -- through add-backs and all other means at your disposal -- the ignored recommendations. In particular, Supervisor Preston has proposed a $100 million Certificate of Participation to fund social housing acquisition, construction, and repairs. The remaining $36 million in Prop I spending recommendations can partly be covered through add-backs.

The recommendations I am asking you to approve include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Dear Board of Supervisors, Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

We are asking that the $4 million dollars in funds dedicated to the Tenderloin through the Planning Department NOT be put on reserve.

The Tenderloin Community (residents and CBOs together) worked on a budget priority sheet that was presented to the Mayor's office and we are excited to have a budget for the community that was created by the community. We also have a commitment from the Planning Department to work with the Tenderloin community to bring the resources to implement these priorities.

The people who live and work in the Tenderloin are depending on these funds being available in next year's budget. Do not put them on reserve! The Tenderloin community is being given a chance to shape our own future. Please fund the Planning Department to meet the community with the resources that we deserve.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

IL

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

My name is Joey Lusterman and I live in District 1. Every year is a struggle with affording rent for my family and yet, the Mayor is only funding the cops.

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal (such as Certificates of Participation).

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the $136 million in recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding -- through add-backs and all other means at your disposal -- the ignored recommendations. In particular, Supervisor Preston has proposed a $100 million Certificate of Participation to fund social housing acquisition, construction, and repairs. The remaining $36 million in Prop I spending recommendations can partly be covered through add-backs.

The recommendations I am asking you to approve include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Thank you,

San Francisco Named the "World's Best City" by Time Out Magazine

June 16, 2022

Dear Members of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

I am writing on behalf of the San Francisco Travel Association. We are a not for profit organization that promotes San Francisco as a global destination. San Francisco has been disproportionately impacted by the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic. One of the most impactful and positive investments that has helped us welcome back business and leisure visitors is the Welcome Ambassador Program which launched last fall.

Prior to the pandemic, tourism was San Francisco's number one economy welcoming over 26 million visitors who spent over $10 billion in our city. Tourism employs over 86,000 individuals supporting our small businesses, restaurants, accommodations, attractions and arts and cultural institutions. Additionally, tourism brought in over $800 million in taxes to the City, which helps to provide essential services and employ essential workers.

Since the launch of the Welcome Ambassadors program, we have been able to employ over 100 ambassadors at any given time and deploy up to 50 ambassadors on the street daily. These ambassadors are strategically stationed at the busiest transit stations in the economic core as well as highly trafficked visitor destinations such as Chinatown, Fisherman's Wharf and around Moscone Center. We receive daily feedback from the public about how the ambassadors have made them feel safer, helped them navigate San Francisco, provide a restaurant recommendation, or give a recommended itinerary for their day. In fact, an independent survey found that nearly 80% of visitors said the Welcome Ambassadors made them feel more welcome in San Francisco and more than 90% of visitors indicated that they were likely or certain to recommend San Francisco as a place to visit because of their interaction with an Ambassador.

Additionally, the group meeting attendees that have gathered to meet at Moscone Center since the launch of this program have had only positive experiences with the Welcome Ambassadors. In discussions with our group meeting clients, we are told time and time again that the Welcome Ambassador program is giving San Francisco the competitive edge in retaining and booking new business. This is an essential tool to continue to build back business at Moscone Center which brings in billions of dollars annually.

Please support the funding to allow for events and activations in the city's core as well as for the Welcome Ambassadors so we can continue this important programming which is greatly improving the visitor experience to San Francisco. This investment will more than pay for itself with repeat leisure and business visitors in years to come.

Sincerely,

Joe D'Alessandro

I have worked day shift security at the De Young for over 6 years. I have never seen the museums be so short staffed for security. This poses a risk to the safety of the visitors, staff and priceless art collection. Much of the art and artifacts has no barriers, or glass over the artwork and can easily be damaged by children or people who are unfamiliar with the fragility and cultural value of the pieces. This happens regularly and the galleries need attendants which are not there. We have been asked to patrol the Osher gallery with one person, this area is 7 individual waller rooms with approximately 60 works of art inside, no velvet ropes, glass, or other barriers exist between the art and the visitors. Additionally there is no one staffed at the exit of the cafe into the museum to check for food, so it is constantly brought into the galleries.

Most concerning to me is that there are absolutely not enough security staff to evacuate the galleries in the event of a fire alarm. Twice I have seen fire alarms where doors were left open on the buildings exterior and there were not enough guards to evacuate correctly. All guards are required to clock out for lunch for an hour a day this leaves us extremely at risk for harm of the visitors in the event of a real evacuation. The fire panel is currently out of order to security control, it has been for weeks and we are required to check it only once an hour manually. This is incredibly irresponsible, there needs to be a guard standing by the panel at all times. We are regularly forced to work extended hours and off hour shifts due to the short staffing. Please provide us with the security officers required to create a reasonably safe experience for the visitors and the cultural value of the art.

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee:

Thank you for your leadership and efforts to keep our neighbors safe and secure through the COVID pandemic. I'm proud of the way our City responded in the pandemic – particularly in the area of supporting community food programs.

While the immediacy of the COVID crisis has waned, food insecurity has not. In fact, pressures have increased. San Francisco-Marin Food Bank's Food Locator is seeing 4x the number of visits of people looking for food, in addition to the Food Bank seeing a 40% increase in CalFresh signups, 21% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) signups, and 45% increase in meals provided to seniors and adults with disabilities.

Demand for community food security programs is increasing as inflation surges. Soaring inflation is not only impacting demand for service, it is significantly increasing the cost to community organizations in delivering food security programs. This has an impact not only on demand for services, but the cost of providing that service. From February 2021-February 2022, grocery prices rose 12.1% overall, and an average of 50% increased cost for eggs and a 35% hike for flour.

Other funding from federal sources (FEMA, Federal COVID relief bills) have ended, leaving organizations with little choice but to wind down operations just as community need is spiking.

Our food system was already in an emergency pre-pandemic with one if four San Franciscans experiencing food insecurity, disproportionately impacting communities of color. COVID just magnified a deeply rooted problem, exacerbating inequities, making it unconscionable to continue to ignore the crisis in front of us.

Supporting continued food security programs will have a positive impact on an estimated 70,000 households (not unduplicated) served by community programs about to be cut. I urge you to provide full funding at current levels for community food programming for the next 2 years - $12M in FY 23 and $30M in FY24.

Dear Honorable Supervisors Ronen, Walton, Safai, Mar, and Chan,

Please support Mayor London Breed's full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue.

The current budget proposal will allow the program to not only maintain the current deployment and allow for the possibility of continuing and expanding these services into the evening hours and additional areas for businesses, community events, arts, and culture. The budget would support approximately 138, 12-hour posts per day covering 72 block faces. This provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 ambassadors who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability throughout its existence. But there is still a lot of work to do and it is critical we continue and build upon these services.

We at Hyde Street Studios are very pleased and encouraged by the progress being made in the Tenderloin through this program and its partnership with Urban Alchemy. It's a program that's clearly starting from a place of compassion and is making the streets safer for all Tenderloin residents. We've seen Hyde Street in front of our business go from a dangerous open-air drug marketplace to a much safer and more inviting environment. Continuation and expansion of this program is very needed and has our utmost support.

Thank you for your time.

NEIGHBORHOOD CENTERS TOGETHER

San Francisco Neighborhood Centers Call for Community Convener Funding to Advance Children & Family Recovery

Our Members

SAN FRANCISCO - May 17, 2022

Bernal Heights
Neighborhood Center

TO: Mayor London N. Breed & Department of Children, Youth & Their Families (DCYF)

Booker T. Washington
Community Services
Center

San Francisco Neighborhood Centers Together (SFNCT) is a collaborative of eight neighborhood centers throughout the city that collectively serve more than 9,000 residents every year. Our largest single client population is youth. Our centers, from Chinatown to the Richmond, from the Fillmore to the Mission, have been on the front lines serving youth and families throughout the COVID-19 pandemic.

Cameron House

Good Samaritan
Family Resource Center

Given this, we have great interest in the "Mayor's Children & Family Recovery Plan," which charts a much needed 3-5 year citywide strategy to help children and families recover from the impacts of COVID-19. We ask that you prioritize the recommendations of this plan in the upcoming budget. In particular, we believe that our neighborhood centers can be a key partner in achieving the following goals:

I.T. Bookman
Community Center

Potrero Hill Neighborhood House

Richmond
Neighborhood Center

TEL HI Neighborhood
Center

- Access/Navigation & Systems Change: Strategy 1b calls for the co-location of services by utilizing "trusted places," and further calls to shift the paradigm from "come to us" to "be where the families are." San Francisco's Neighborhood Centers are this place. Our centers have built a deep history of trust through decades of service tailored to the specific needs of our respective communities.
- Safety & Healing: Strategy 2a emphasizes the need to create neighborhood cohesion and belonging. It calls for spaces for neighbors to come together, for community volunteering, and culturally relevant neighborhood events. These programs all have a common need: space. Our neighborhood centers offer an incredible resource that, with the right resources, can be activated to offer badly needed space for community events to be held.

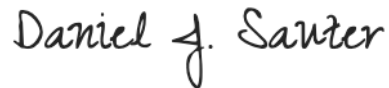

To help DCYF achieve these strategies that are instrumental to children & family recovery, we are requesting $150,000 in funding from DCYF to restore the Community Convener program for our neighborhood centers. With this funding, our eight neighborhood centers could fund hours for a staff person to host community groups at our centers and cover additional insurance for these events. This would enable community meetings, safety workshops, and town halls to be held at our neighborhood centers and bring communities together to build resilience and unity. This was last funded by DCYF in 2008, leaving a decade-plus gap in which our neighborhood centers have not been able to serve their communities to the fullest extent possible.

We look forward to continued engagement with DCYF to ensure that our neighborhood centers are partners in the critical work of recovery for our city's children and families.

Our hotel located on Market and 7th street. The community ambassadors really make a big difference. We had guests wanted to cancel reservation and leave right the way because of the street condition at night. You can easily find comments about the evening safety concern and comments around drug use in the area. Our guests and employee safety are our top priority. The city needs business and tax money to run. And we need city to help with these issues.

The current budget proposal will allow the program to not only maintain the current deployment and allow for the possibility of continuing and expanding these services into the evening hours and additional areas for businesses, community events, arts, and culture. The budget would support approximately 138, 12-hour posts per day covering 72 block faces. This provides meaningful employment and life skills to more than 250 ambassadors who may otherwise have extreme barriers to employment.

Thank you for your consideration.

Best,

Michelle

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding through add-backs and all other means at your disposal the ignored recommendations, which include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Thank you,

Harlo Pippenger

Dear Honorable Supervisors Ronen, Walton, Safai, Mar, and Chan,

Root Division has been a part of San Francisco's cultural fabric for 20 years through our education and community services. Our attendance, public safety and programming has been greatly impacted by the challenges that we face on 1131 Mission street.

Please support Mayor London Breed's full budget proposal for community ambassadors through SF OEWD's Community Based Safety Program in Mid-Market/Tenderloin. This program has been a tremendous support to our community and must continue.

The program has dramatically improved the safety, cleanliness, and general livability throughout its existence. But there is still a lot of work to do and it is critical we continue and build upon these services.

The current budget proposal will allow the program to not only maintain the current deployment and allow for the possibility of continuing and expanding these services into the evening hours and additional areas for businesses, community events, arts, and culture. I wish I could be there in person but I am at work. I would like to direct your attention to the woefully inadequate staffing levels we are experiencing at the de Young museum. And this moment I am on my ninth hour of a sixteen hour double shift. I work three double shifts per week.

Working long hours is bad for the museum. People make mistakes when they are fatigued, and I am no exception. As I am responsible for responding to emergencies, any mistakes I make may impact the lives of others and you can well imagine the liabilities that may result.

Please give some consideration to hiring people to bring our staffing levels up to adequate levels.

Thank you.

Dear Budget and Appropriations Committee:

Thank you for your leadership and efforts to keep our neighbors safe and secure through the COVID pandemic. I'm proud of the way our City responded in the pandemic – particularly in the area of supporting community food programs.

While the immediacy of the COVID crisis has waned, food insecurity has not. In fact, pressures have increased. San Francisco-Marin Food Bank's Food Locator is seeing 4x the number of visits of people looking for food, in addition to the Food Bank seeing a 40% increase in CalFresh signups, 21% increase in Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) signups, and 45% increase in meals provided to seniors and adults with disabilities.

1 in 5 neighbors was at risk of hunger before the pandemic. The San Francisco-Marin Food Bank is currently distributing food to around 55,000 households every week, up from an average of 50,000 last year and 32,000 before the pandemic.

Demand for community food security programs is increasing as inflation surges. Soaring inflation is not only impacting demand for service, it is significantly increasing the cost to community organizations in delivering food security programs. This has an impact not only on demand for services, but the cost of providing that service. From February 2021-February 2022, grocery prices rose 12.1% overall, and an average of 50% increased cost for eggs and a 35% hike for flour.

Other funding from federal sources (FEMA, Federal COVID relief bills) have ended, leaving organizations with little choice but to wind down operations just as community need is spiking.

Our food system was already in an emergency pre-pandemic with one if four San Franciscans experiencing food insecurity, disproportionately impacting communities of color. COVID just magnified a deeply rooted problem, exacerbating inequities, making it unconscionable to continue to ignore the crisis in front of us.

Supporting continued food security programs will have a positive impact to an estimated 70,000 households (not unduplicated) served by community programs about to be cut. I urge you to provide full funding at current levels for community food programming for the next 2 years - $12M in FY 23 and $30M in FY24.

In community,

Marchon

- Supervisors,

My name is Stephanie and I am calling in to urge you to approve the budget of Mayor Breed's critical plan to provide adequate funding to hire and keep law enforcement. As you know, the police department currently needs to add more than 500 officers to meet the recommended level of staffing. As a resident living here since 1996, I can tell you from experience that the streets have become less safe. In the last year, my car was stolen from in front of my home and my neighbor was held up at gun point in front of her home while walking her dog at 6am. We need more police and we need to support them. In fact, a poll by the chamber of commerce reveals that 80% of San Franciscans want an increase in the number of police in high crime areas, and 75% want an increase of police in busy areas. San Franciscans value their police officers and so should this Board.

Volume of police required for public safety is a separate and distinct issue from police reform and I sincerely hope that when considering this comprehensive plan, the two concepts will not be conflated by this Board. I cannot imagine asking any professional to take a job where they get no support, no funding and no respect. I am sure this Board would not think it correct to hire teachers, for example, without adequate pay, staffing or supplies and our police deserve the same level of respect and support as any other professionals, so they can do their best work. I expect The Board of Supervisors to focus on delivering the many public safety needs in Mayor Breed's plan. Incentives to recruit and retain officers are smart and worthwhile policies that will help us continue to build a diverse and well trained police department. Recruitment and retainment is important in any profession, but none more so than in a profession where we ask people to put their lives on the line every day. It is incumbent upon us to make sure that our officers have everything they need to return safely after their shifts to their homes and to their own families. Our police officers are completely vital to the community at large, and should have everything they need to be successful at their jobs.

If this Board wants its constituents to believe it cares even a little about keeping the City safe to residents, tourists and businesses you will vote to approve the Mayor's budget for this important plan to provide adequate funding to hire and retain law enforcement.

Sincerely,
Stephanie Lehman (Delegate AD19)

RE: San Francisco Providers Call for Funding to Sustain Citywide Food Security Effort

Dear Members of the Budget & Appropriations Committee,

Fresh Approach is writing this letter to strongly request that your Committee, the Office of Mayor London Breed, and the full Board of Supervisors prioritize the basic human needs of San Franciscans by continuing full funding to the community-based food providers funded through Human Services Agency Community Food Coordination Group.

We ask that the Board and Mayor's Office take action to fill the funding gap of $12 million in food security funding in FY 22-23, as well as funding the gap in $30 million in FY 23-24. To support this work, we also ask that the HSA Community Food Coordination group be retained.

As a recipient of this funding for this past year, we've supported more than 300 families and 800 individual San Franciscans with healthy food resources every week. In particular, the food we provide is sourced exclusively from regional BIPOC farms and supports the ongoing work of two farmers market associations within the city (Agricultural Institute of Marin and Pacific Coast Farmers' Market Association.) This project equally supports the nutrition security of low-income communities of color, but also the economic resiliency of our local farmers, therefore strengthening our entire food system.

This spending is the only food security funding specifically to support people of color in San Francisco. We estimate that these grants directly support at least 70,000 households that are otherwise underserved, ineligible, or too dispersed to utilize other overburdened food security access points. All of our coalition member organizations have reported either steady demand for services or an increase in demand.

Thank you

Dear Supervisor Ronen, Chair of Budget & Appropriations and Budget & Finance Committee:

Please find attached a letter Supporting the Sheriff budget request for new case management system for incarcerated in SF.

Modernizing the Sheriff's case management system's need is a key public investment and has been strongly recommended for almost a decade. I have been in support since I was a Co-Chair of Work Group to Re-Envision the Jail Replacement Project (JRP), 2016.

Thank you for your consideration and bringing forth this critical function to improvements in transparency and accountability of Criminal Justice System.

Hello Brent,

Thank you for accepting Public Comment with regard to the proposed Budget. Below (and attached if preferred) is the Public Comment of the SF Food Security Providers Coalition. Please let me know if there is anything else you need from our group to ensure our Comment is recorded in the ledger.

Dear Members of the Budget & Appropriations Committee,

We are submitting this Public Comment to strongly request that your Committee, the Office of Mayor London Breed, and the full Board of Supervisors prioritize the basic human needs of San Franciscans by continuing full funding of the community-based food providers funded through Human Services Agency Community Food Coordination Group.

We ask that the Board and Mayor's Office take action to fill the funding gap of $12 million in food security funding in FY 22-23, as well as funding the gap of $30 million in FY 23-24.

To support this work, we also ask that the HSA Community Food Coordination group be retained. We are grateful for the partnership of HSA and the Mayor's Office in allowing the Agency to repurpose savings from their budget to continue these programs for an additional seven months, but this is not sufficient to meet the burgeoning need for food across the city. Combined with cuts in food security funding across other departments and decreases in Federal support, we are facing a funding cliff. With little warning and despite surging need, providers are being asked to wind down this life-sustaining work.

This amount of funding, $12 million in FY 22-23 and $30 million in FY 23-24, is not "addbackable," so we respectfully request the full support of this Committee and the entire Board of Supervisors to work with the Mayor's Budget Office to creatively make this funding whole on behalf of our clients in every zip code in the city.

This spending is the only food security funding specifically to support people of color in San Francisco. We estimate that these grants directly support at least 70,000 households that are otherwise underserved, ineligible, or too dispersed to utilize other overburdened food security access points. All of our coalition member organizations have reported either steady demand for services or an increase in demand.

Our food system is in peril – a worsening drought, food costs increasing by an average 7% and an inflation rate at 8.3% are just small signs of what could be exacerbated if the predicted recession happens over the next year. The reality of hunger is much deeper than this fourth wave of the pandemic, and the lowest income families we collectively serve will be hit hardest. One in four San Franciscans were experiencing food insecurity before the pandemic. We have used the last two years to elevate more community-based food access solutions, building solidarity and efficiency to meet a need that is clearer now than ever.

In the absence of a centralized food security department, you wisely made the investment in the grantees of HSA's Community Food Coordination team. Community organizations involved include:

- Chinatown Community Development Center
- SF New Deal
- The San Francisco African American Faith Based Coalition
- CANA
- Farming Hope
- HOMEY
- La Raza Community Resource Center
- TNDC
- EatSF Grocery Voucher Program
- Bayanihan Equity Center
- Bayview Hunters Point Community Advocates
- Bayview Hunters Point Foundation
- United Council of Human Services
- Booker T. Washington Community Service Center
- Excelsior Works! (fiscally sponsored by Chinese Progressive Association)
- Curry Senior Center
- City Hope
- HealingWELL
- Tenderloin Community Benefit District
- Dolores Street Community Services
- Fresh Approach
- Glide Foundation
- San Francisco-Marin Food Bank
- Food as Medicine Collaborative
- Mission Meals Coalition

We have coalesced into a dedicated and expert group building toward more affordable, efficient, non-duplicative, and coordinated systems. This working group serves San Franciscans across the entire city, from Excelsior to Treasure Island. Through this particular funding, we supported food security that was not funded before but was deeply needed in the community, particularly in this more community-informed and neighborhood-based way.

We have piloted incredible work, and learned during the last two years how to promote more resilient and effective food security – now is not the time to scale back to a few overburdened food sites. Because of these critical funds, we have built relationships with community partners and the people we serve, creating safe and vibrant environments for folks facing food insecurity to be treated with dignity and care. Some of the infrastructure that existed pre-pandemic no longer exists or has had to reduce service, particularly smaller distributed sites at churches and community centers. Through these new programs, millions of dollars have been disbursed to over 100 small businesses and their workers, providing recurring revenue and an opportunity for neighborhood scale solutions. Cutting this funding will further the hardship on small businesses and their workers who continue to feel the tremendous impact of the pandemic.

Economic turbulence and skyrocketing costs contribute to continued heightened food insecurity, even as we try to move forward from the immediate crisis of Covid. According to research from the city's Food Security Task Force, since the beginning of the pandemic we have seen a 40% increase in CalFresh signups, 21% increase in WIC signups, and 45% increase in meals provided to seniors and adults with disabilities.

We ask for your help in championing this work of more coordinated and effective food security. We believe this is a humble ask – food prices in San Francisco have skyrocketed, with an average 50% increased cost for eggs and 35% hike for flour, just this year. Pandemic EBT for families with children is temporary. To make matters worse, the Federal CalFresh emergency allotments are scheduled to lapse as soon as the Federal Public Health Emergency ends in mid-July. This convergence spells a future perfect storm that we are not prepared to weather.

We need community-led solutions grounded in health equity, racial justice, environmental sustainability, and economic justice. The HSA Community Food Coordination grantees represent all of these issues through a food justice lens driven by the people we serve.

We are excited to continue building out your initial vision for a stronger, more equitable, livable, and resilient San Francisco. We hope to continue making you proud in supporting all San Franciscans. We strongly encourage you to continue to fund HSA's Community Food Coordination grantees at the current level.

Dear Board of Supervisors, the Budget Committee and Supervisor Preston:

In March and April of 2022, the TLCBD worked with several other community partners (St. Anthony's, La Cocina, Tenderloin Museum, Weekend Adventures, Kroc Center, La Voz Latina, and Boys & Girls Club) to present a Tenderloin Community Budget to the Mayor's Office. This was a community-led effort that reflects many of our priorities and hopes for the future of the Tenderloin.

We shared our community budget priorities with the Planning Department as soon as we heard they would be leading sustained operations in the neighborhood. We recently learned that the Mayor's office has allocated about $4 million to the Planning Department for safe passage, community activations, cultural parties, open space, and other events in the Tenderloin and we are confident in and excited about partnership with them.

We are asking that money NOT be put in a reserve as recommended by the Budget and Legislative Analyst. It is imperative to our community and to sustained operations in the Tenderloin that these funds are easily accessible.

If you have any questions about the priorities or would like more information about who we worked with to develop them, please don't hesitate to call.

Yours,

Subject: Hold Over Problem In Fine Art Security Department
Date: Thursday, June 16, 2022 6:54:13 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Managers,

I, Ken Sitou, Fine Art Department, Security Guard, am filing a complaint on June 16, 2022, in regarding to holding me, Dayshift Officer, over to work Swing shift with only 30 minutes notice before my Day shift ends. At 1700, Supervisor Smithwick notifies me that I need to be hold over to work Swing Shift because the supervisors couldn't find anyone to work. The problem is I only have 30 minutes notice from the supervisor that I am force to stay and work. I have a family and 3 years old child that I need to take care of. This department cannot function properly when Supervisors and the management only gave me 30 minutes notice of force hold over.

In addition, 30 minutes notice is not enough for me to plan accordingly for my family. I was stressful to find alternative of who and how to pick up my son from the day care. If the management has better planning of staffing such as "Hires More Officers" I wouldn't be having this unnecessary stress.

Moreover, this security department does not have enough staffs to work. Instead of holding the officers to work on another shifts which he or she did not sign up for it, the department has empty positions that should be hire for additional Permanent Officers to fill in. The reasons the Supervisors couldn't find people to work is because 1/3 of our Security Officers are on leave. The department hires per diem but they are not permanent officers to safe guard the city building and city arts. In addition, Fine Arts needs permanent officers to safe guard the museum. Therefore, if the security department is well staff then there should not be a 30 minutes notice of force hold over and causes me to have unnecessary stress to take care of my own personal obligations and commitments.

Thank you for reading the concerns and complaint. Director Tabari Shannon, please response this email with inputs of how to make this department better especially on low staffing issues. I can't wait to hear your response.

Sincerely,

Ken Sitou

I am writing to inform you about the continuing short-staffing issues at the Security Department of the Fine Arts Museum of San Francisco.

In April 17, 2022 we have a total of 21 Security Officers out of the much needed 32 at the de Young Museum. The staffing we only have that day are as follows, on the second floor galleries both McEvoy Wing, Africa, and Oceania galleries which totals to 12 galleries, only 2 per diem Museum Guards were posted. If one of them goes to break that leaves with only 1 available officer on the floor to patrol 12 galleries. Imagine one of many scenarios that if there is a person who has a medical emergency and that one Officer could not respond right away and time is of the essence? Imagine there was a fire or earthquake, who will evacuate those second floor galleries with multiple fire doors and emergency exits. Who will make sure no one is left behind or no one will go back and be in danger. That is only on the second floor galleries.

The First floor galleries have some similar staffing of only 2 Officers for 12 galleries(5 in Wattis galleries and 7 in Osher galleries). The remaining positions are in Special galleries and our control center which is also short staffed.

This is one of many days that we are short staffed which is almost everyday.

With short staffing we clearly cannot protect properly the public and the city properties.

Protection of City owned Permanent Collections worth millions of dollars is paramount but more importantly is the Public Safety of our people.

We are in dire need our staffing levels.

Sincerely,
Dennis Tamboong
8202 Public Safety Officer FAMSF

Dear Supervisors,

I have been sending emails, like the one below, to the management of the Fine Arts Museums (Dept. #61) in order to bring attention to our short-staffing crisis. The answer I receive is always, "The City won't let us hire". How can this be true? I will not accept that the City does not wish to sufficiently protect museum staff, visitors, artworks, etc.... Please conduct an audit of budgeted #8226, #8202 and #8228 positions in Dept. 61 in order to understand why attention to this critical security shortage is being ignored.

Thank you for listening to my concerns. I wish I could speak at this meeting in person but I must attend to my civil service obligations at the deYoung museum. The Obama Portraits Tour will open to the public this weekend and we are expecting thousands of visitors. Hopefully, you will come see them sometime in the next two months. You are more than welcome to visit and Happy Juneteenth!

Truly,

Good afternoon Tabari,

Today is Free Saturday and we are severely short-staffed at the deYoung. For instance, while officers are on their unpaid lunch hour, there is only one officer to watch 10 galleries in the McEvoy wing. I am posted in Africa, Oceania and New Guinea today. When I take my unpaid lunch, there is no officer coverage for that hour.

Visitor services is also short-staffed today. The public must pay to see the Patrick Kelly exhibit if they enter through the front of the gallery or they can simply help themselves without tickets through the back gallery because there is no security or VEX personnel posted.

Our Free Saturday attendance is usually 2,000 visitors throughout the day. The deYoung was initially budgeted for 30 officers daily and now tries to run on less than 20. ( Not counting Herbst Galleries ).

How does Security begin to safeguard the public, staff, art and building with only one third of it's workforce? Where are the updated evacuation procedures scaled down to the present staffing? With more visitors with disabilities attending the museum, where are the additional officers who can assist them?

We are continuing to ask these health & safety questions but have not received answers. That is the reason for my email today. We anticipate higher visitorship with Guo Pei opening next week at the Legion, not to mention Bouquets To Art and the Obama Portraits coming around the corner at the deYoung. We do not wish to be left in the dark. We wish to be prepared.

We are working on site daily and feel the responsibility for the safety of everyone who enters the museums. We believe that there are approximately 29 individuals who passed the #8202 exam and have anticipated welcoming new hires to the department, yet we are shorter staffed now than pre-pandemic days.

Through our SEIU 1021 Union, we believe in "STAFFING-UP" at Dept. #61 : Fine Arts Museums Of San Francisco. Please give us the necessary, budgeted permanent security personnel to maintain our Health & Safety commitment to the City, our Staff and to the Public.

Thank you for listening to our concerns.

Truly,
Rebecca

Sent from my iPhone

We, the undersigned Public Safety Museum Officers, attest that it is imperative that Dept. #61 be fully staffed and trained to meet the needs of our world class institutions: the deYoung Museum and the Palace of the Legion of Honor.

We are privileged with the honor to and the responsibility for safeguarding the staff, public, art works and buildings on a 24/7 basis. Since the opening of the new deYoung museum in Golden Gate Park in 2005, visitorship has increased dramatically through social outreach programs and mayoral proclaimed "free access days" while the security force has been dramatically reduced. The pandemic was responsible for weakening our safety standards even more. We need to grow our Security Dept., not shrink it.

Our mission is to increase the City Security presence in the Museums now and to meet the demands of the future. We can only achieve our goals with consistent, mandatory safe-staffing levels and continuous training in our Museums.

Thank you.

Dear Representative,

I would like to personally thank the following public safety officers for their dedication and commitment to the City of Houston. Please help to provide public safety to our City tomorrow. Thank you.

Very,
[redacted]
City of Houston
2022-11-05

We, the undersigned Public Safety Museum Officers, attend must it is to the City of Houston, and for fully officers and trained to meet the needs of our world class institutions, the remaining Museum and the Palace of the Legation of Honor.

We are privileged with the honor to and the responsibility for safeguarding the city's public art works and buildings on a 24/7 basis. Since the opening of the new museum, we have been working hard to ensure that the museum is safe and dramatically through social distancing, the museum has been dramatically reduced. The pandemic was responsible for weakening our safety standards even more. We need to grow our Security Dept., not shrink it.

Our mission is to increase the City Security presence in the Museums now and to meet the demands of the future. We can only achieve our goals with consistent, mandatory safety training in our Museums.
continuous training in our Museums.

Thank you.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I live in district 5. I moved to San Francisco 5 years ago. My husband and I are just about able to scrape by to pay for one of the cheapest condos in the city. While I've lived here I've seen friends struggle with housing. People I care about have left the city and their community to move to places where it's cheaper to live. I want to live in a city where all kinds of people can afford to make a life: artists, teachers, health workers, drag queens. We urgently need to increase the supply of housing at all income levels to ease the housing crisis in San Francisco.

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding through add-backs and all other means at your disposal the ignored recommendations, which include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Thank you,

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

My name is Stephanie Ellis. I live in District 8. I bought my condo in 2004. I became an owner for the first time. Most of my life, as a single parent and professor, I rented. I had help from my family to make the downpayment. I was lucky to have the support. When I moved in, my mortgage was higher than comparable apartment rent. Now my mortgage is 1/4 of what a comparable SF apartment would be. I believe that a city will be more vibrant and diverse if there is housing that is not subject to speculative real estate.

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding through add-backs and all other means at your disposal the ignored recommendations, which include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the

FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding through add-backs and all other means at your disposal the ignored recommendations, which include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models

Good Morning Mayor, Breed and Mr. Jalipa,

I write to both of you to urge you to please to reconsider the budget cuts that will affect our community hubs. Community hubs that provide so many essential services to our most vulnerable population that include but is not limited to covid testing, and food pantry. Again, for the sake of our city, please add to LTF and LPEC budget.

Thank you so much,

Supervisor Hillary Ronen,

Dear Supervisors,

San Francisco declared a Climate Emergency in 2019, and updated its Climate Action Plan in 2021. Merely publishing the plan does not accomplish the goals. Now, we must begin to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP, and we must do that NOW. Time is running out. It will require planning, courage and money.

I ask you first to fund the Department of the Environment's request for $11M over two years. And to fund the other requests that community groups have outlined in budget requests which will provide additional funds for street tree planting, clean electrification pilots and incentives for eliminating fossil fuels in buildings and transportation.

I ask you to finally resolve the long-standing issues in Hunter's Point/Bayview with toxic and radioactive contamination which will become even more dangerous with sea level rise, as pointed out in the just-published Civil Grand Jury report.

It is time to act. We must do this work. You must provide the funding. Thank you.

Hi,

I'm a San Francisco resident and member of SURJ SF writing in support of CART in the SF budget. I strongly support a non-police response to homelessness for non-emergency calls to 311 & 911. We should allocate money to Department of Public Health (DPH) to create a new team that follows the CART model - a well paid, well trained, peer-based team that responds to 911 / 311 non-emergency homeless-related calls (for C level calls for service).

This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding through add-backs and all other means at your disposal the ignored recommendations, which include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the

FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding through add-backs and all other means at your disposal the ignored recommendations, which include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

Hi there. I'm Laura Fraenza and I live in District 9.

Affording rent in San Francisco is a struggle for most of us, especially in these times (and even moreso if one is not fortunate enough to have lived in a rent-controlled apartment for many years) and we all fear getting priced out of the community we've lived in for over 30 years.

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

It is distressing, especially in these difficult times for those suffering in the streets.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

My name is Leticia and I'm a newly redistricted member of District 9, previously of District 8. I've lived in the city for years and I've seen the housing situation get progressively worse. It's clear to me the market is incapable of building housing at the speed and affordability levels required to make a significant impact on our housing crisis. We need to make a public investment in housing if we're to have any hope of getting out of this mess.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

It is impossible to reach our affordable housing goals without government sponsored social housing. Real estate developers would have you think that a mix of 30% "affordable" and 70% market rate will solve our problem. They are lying. Don't be deceived.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people. I am one of those working people. I have been living in my home as a renter for just about 44 years. The landlord is selling the house and I cannot afford to buy it. I can't afford to move into any house or apartment in San Francisco. It's just now pandering to rich people. People who are not middle class workers, but upper middle and beyond.

Now our Mayor has refused to fund most of the recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

As a City College teacher, I have watched while many students, often with young families, have been priced out of San Francisco. If not for social housing, renowned artists, the late Yolanda Lopez and Rene Yanez, who both contributed so much to the cultural life of our city, would have been forced out of San Francisco.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding through add-backs and all other means at your disposal the ignored recommendations, which include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Thank you,

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

As a born and raised San Franciscan who has committed to calling this city home as an adult, my heart breaks daily to see the disconnect between our city's values and reputation as a compassionate, radical, and innovated national leader in social policy, and the material reality of so many residents currently living on the street. I am tired of seeing the Board of Supervisors and our mayor continue to fail the people of our city—housed and unhoused—by refusing to leverage tech-based capital and actualize ALREADY APPROVED propositions and funding into tangible initiatives and developments to address our city's public health and human rights crisis.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am a UCSF Medical Student, and I see every day how housing is a crisis for our collective health.

I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved November 2020's Prop K to authorize 10,000 units of Public Housing for All, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.

However, the Mayor refused to fund most of the recommendations produced by the Housing Stability Fund Oversight Board (HSFOB). Her proposal also cuts MOHCD's budget by $52 million, while increasing spending on the Police and Sheriff by $51 million and $30 million respectively. This is despite us living through an affordable housing crisis that will require BILLIONS of dollars a year in funding for SF to hit its RHNA goals.

I urge you to deliver on the will of the voters, by funding through add-backs and all other means at your disposal the ignored recommendations, which include:

1. $300,000 to study a new agency to create Public Housing for All. This is add-back request E085 in the Budget Justice Coalition's list.
2. City staffing, feasibility analyses, and NOFAs to study and support innovative social housing models
3. The acquisition of land to build social housing
4. Construction of new social housing
5. Expansion of the Small Sites Program

This would be the second budget cycle in a row where the Mayor has refused to seriously fund social housing. MOHCD has failed to partner meaningfully with the HSFOB on supporting the community's vision for social housing. And it's not for a lack of trying; the HSFOB spent months developing spending recommendations, with community input from grassroots organizations, labor unions, and non-profit housing developers.

I urge you to ensure all unfunded social housing recommendations are incorporated into the FY 2022-23 budget. The voters have spoken, and it's time to deliver on the mandate promised by Props I and K two years ago.

Thank you,

Supervisor Ahsha Safai,

Dear Supervisors,

San Francisco declared a Climate Emergency in 2019, and updated its Climate Action Plan in 2021. Merely publishing the plan does not accomplish the goals. Now, we must begin to take the actions that are outlined in the CAP, and we must do that NOW. Time is running out. It will require planning, courage and money.

I ask you first to fund the Department of the Environment's request for $11M over two years. And to fund the other requests that community groups have outlined in budget requests which will provide additional funds for street tree planting, clean electrification pilots and incentives for eliminating fossil fuels in buildings and transportation.

I ask you to finally resolve the long-standing issues in Hunter's Point/Bayview with toxic and radioactive contamination which will become even more dangerous with sea level rise, as pointed out in the just-published Civil Grand Jury report.

It is time to act. We must do this work. You must provide the funding. Thank you.

Brent Jalipa,

Dear Board of Supervisors,

My name is Laksh Bhasin and I was a coauthor of November 2020's Proposition K, which authorized 10,000 units of Public Housing for All. I am writing to urge you to fund the social housing recommendations that Mayor Breed refused to include in her proposed budget, through both the add-back process and other financing tools at your disposal.

As you know, voters resoundingly approved Prop K with 74% of the vote, and passed Prop I to raise around $140 million this upcoming year for social housing. Taken together, Props I and K represent a clear expression from the voters to fund and create social housing: affordable housing for everyone that is focused on working people.
