LEGISLATIVE DIGEST

[Business and Tax Regulations Code - Early Care and Education Commercial Rents Tax Sublessor Deduction]

Ordinance amending the Business and Tax Regulations Code to allow a sublessor to deduct rent for commercial space the sublessor pays up to the amount of rent the sublessor receives for that space when determining its Early Care and Education Commercial Rents Tax for the tax years 2023 through and including 2029.

Existing Law

Persons that receive gross receipts from the lease of commercial space in properties in the City pay the Early Care and Education Commercial Rents Tax ("Commercial Rents Tax") at a rate of 1% or 3.5% of those receipts, depending on the type of property. The Commercial Rents Tax generally does not apply to persons exempt from the Gross Receipts Tax and provides for certain other exemptions and exclusions. This tax is dedicated 15% to the General Fund and 85% to fund early care and education for young children.

Amendments to Current Law

This ordinance would allow a sublessor to deduct from the amount it receives from the sublease of all or a portion of commercial space the amount of any rent the sublessor pays for the lease of the entire commercial space during the tax year. The deduction would be limited to the amount of otherwise taxable rent the sublessor receives for the subleased commercial space. A person that leases commercial space from a related entity and subleases that space to another person would not be considered a sublessor and would not be entitled to the deduction for any rent paid to the related entity for that space. The deduction would be an annual deduction for the tax years 2023 through and including 2029. The deduction would be retroactive to January 1, 2023 and would expire on December 31, 2029.

Item 16File 23-0660(Continued from 6/15/21 meeting)Department:

Early Childhood (DEC)

EXECUTIVE SUMMARYLegislative Objectives

- The proposed ordinance would amend the Commercial Rents Tax provisions to allow a sublessor of commercial space to deduct the rent paid to its lessor from the rent received from its sublessee when calculating its commercial rents tax liability for the tax years 2023 through 2029.

Key Points

- The Early Care and Education Commercial Rents Tax applies to businesses leasing commercial space that are subject to the City's gross receipts tax and is in addition to gross receipts or payroll taxes paid by businesses in the City. The tax equals (a) 1 percent of lease revenues from the lease or sublease of warehouse space, and (b) 3.5 percent of lease revenues from the lease or sublease of other commercial spaces in the City. Currently, commercial landlords with less than $2.09 million in gross receipts, and rents paid from non-profit, government, arts, industrial use, and non-formula retail tenants are exempt from the tax.
- According to the Mayor's Office, the intent of this proposed ordinance is to suspend the duplicative tax on the same commercial space, as well as to stimulate commercial leasing, especially in the downtown corridor.
- The proposed ordinance would reduce the tax liability of an estimated 250-350 taxpayers.

Fiscal Impact

- The proposed ordinance would reduce Commercial Rents Tax proceeds by an estimated $17.0 million annually, of which $14.45 million would have otherwise been appropriated for early childcare and education programs and $2.55 million would have been allocated to the General Fund for discretionary use.

Recommendation

- Approval of the proposed ordinance is a policy matter for the Board of Supervisors.

MANDATE STATEMENT

Charter Section 2.105 requires that legislative acts in San Francisco be by ordinance, subject to approval by a majority of the Board of Supervisors.

Business and Tax Regulations Code Section 2113 states that amendments to or repeal of Article 21 of the Business and Tax Regulations Code are subject to Board of Supervisors approval by ordinance without voter approval.

BACKGROUND

The Early Care and Education Commercial Rents Tax was authorized by the voters in June 2018 with the passage of Proposition C and went into effect on January 1, 2019. According to the Proposition's provisions, 85% of the proceeds from the tax are to be used for early childcare and education programs and 15% are to be allocated to the General Fund for discretionary use.

The tax applies to businesses leasing commercial space that are subject to the City's gross receipts tax and is in addition to gross receipts or payroll taxes paid by businesses in the City. The tax equals (a) 1 percent of lease revenues from the lease or sublease of warehouse space, and (b) 3.5 percent of lease revenues from the lease or sublease of other commercial spaces in the City. For 2022, commercial landlords with less than $2,090,000 in San Francisco gross receipts, and rents paid from non-profit tenants, government tenants, arts, industrial uses, and non-formula retail uses are exempt from the tax.

DETAILS OF PROPOSED LEGISLATION

The proposed ordinance would amend the Commercial Rents Tax provisions to allow a sublessor of commercial space to deduct the rent paid to its lessor from the rent received from its sublessee when calculating its commercial rents tax liability for the tax years 2023 through 2029.

The proposed ordinance also requires the Controller to provide a report to the Board of Supervisors detailing the number of taxpayers that took the deduction and the amount of the resulting forgone tax proceeds.

FISCAL IMPACT

The Controller has estimated the proposed ordinance would reduce Commercial Rents Tax proceeds by $17.0 million annually. Of this amount, 85% or $14.45 million would otherwise be appropriated for early childcare and education programs and 15% or $2.55 million would otherwise be allocated to General Fund uses.

This reduction has been factored into the commercial rent tax revenues included in the Mayor's Proposed Budget of $172.0 million for FY 2023-34 and $194.1 million for FY 2024-25, representing a 9.0% and an 8.0% decrease.

According to the Treasurer-Tax Collector, these deductions are estimated to impact 250 to 350 taxpayers. According to the Mayor's Office, the intent of this proposed ordinance is to suspend the duplicative tax on the same commercial space, as well as to stimulate commercial leasing, especially in the downtown corridor.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Approval of the proposed ordinance is a policy matter for the Board of Supervisors.

Sublessor Deduction for the Commercial Rents Tax: Economic Impact Report

CITY & COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO

Office of the Controller
Office of Economic Analysis

June 15, 2023

- The proposed legislation would reduce the tax liability of sublessors of commercial real estate in San Francisco, in certain situations.
- The City levies a 3.5% Commercial Rents Tax on rent from most non-residential buildings in San Francisco. The tax is imposed on both lessors and sub-lessors. Rent from a single location could be taxed multiple times, if it was both leased, and sub-leased.
- The proposal would allow a sub-lessor to deduct, from taxable rents, the lesser of the amount it receives in sub-leased rent, and the amount it pays in rent to its landlord. The deduction would be available for tax years 2023 through 2029.
- At present, office vacancy in San Francisco has remained at record-high levels for more than two years, and a significant share of the vacancy is in the sub-lease market.
- The Commercial Rents Tax is a dedicated tax, deposited in the Babies and Families First fund. 85% of revenues are pledged to fund early childhood care and education programs. The remaining 15% is deposited in the City's General Fund and may be spent on any governmental purpose.
- The Office of Economic Analysis has prepared this report after determining that the proposed legislation could have a material effect on the San Francisco economy.

Office Vacancy and the Broader City Economy

- In San Francisco, and across the country, office vacancy rates have risen since 2020, owing to the continuing prevalence of remote work among office workers.
- According to JLL, office vacancy in San Francisco reached 26.4% in the first quarter of 2023, the highest rate on record. 8.2 million square feet was available for sub-lease in the quarter, which is approximately one-third of all vacant space.
- However, according to CompStak data, relatively little subleasing is occurring. In the past four quarters, an average of 240,000 square feet was sub-leased in the city, or about 3% of the total sublease availability identified by JLL.
- Office-based industries contributed 80% of the city's GDP in 2021. Given their importance, high office vacancy has had a variety of negative economic impacts, particularly downtown.
- Sales tax collections in certain downtown neighborhoods, including the Financial District, South of Market, and Union Square, are still well below 2019 levels.
- BART ridership to downtown San Francisco stations is less than 40% of 2019 levels, while MUNI metro ridership is slightly above 50%.
- The City has also experienced a loss of business tax revenue from office industries, due to remote work and the high office vacancy rate.

Commercial Rents Tax Revenue and Expenditures

4

- The Commercial Rents Tax has generated an average of $210 million annually during its first three years of collection, 2019-2021.
- Because of litigation against the City that was not resolved until 2021, spending has trailed collections, and the Babies and Families First Fund currently has a balance of approximately $400 million.
- In Fiscal Year 2021-22, spending from the Fund was $68 million, or approximately 35% of collections.
- Sub-lessors paid an average of $17 million annually in Commercial Rent Tax, over the 2019-2022 period. Thus, if the proposed legislation is adopted, revenue would be reduced by that amount.
- In the short term, the large fund balance may prevent a decline in spending on early childhood care and education programs.

Economic Impact Factors

- The proposed legislation is projected to have both positive and negative effects on the economy.
- As a positive impact, the legislation should make it more likely that vacant office space on the sub-lease market will be occupied in the short term. Unlike building owners, sub-lessors have the option to retain the space for future use as a tenant. The more a sub-lessor can receive from sub-leasing, the less likely they are to retain the space, and keep it vacant until they need it for their own use in the future.
- To the downside, the proposed deduction would reduce revenues available for early childhood care, and the General Fund. As noted earlier, the large fund balance in the Babies and Families First fund may mitigate the decline in its revenue, at least in the short term.
- However, because 15% of Fund's the revenue is distributed to the General Fund, the City would face that loss of revenue immediately.

Economic Impact Assessment

6

- Based on CompStak data on San Francisco Class A office subleases over the 1989-2022 period, our analysis suggests that office subleasing is significantly more sensitive to rent and tax changes than the overall office market.
- This suggests that, unlike the Commercial Rents Tax as a whole, whose burden falls primarily on property owners, the benefits of the proposed deduction for sublessors would disproportionately flow to potential office tenants, who would see lower rents in the market.
- We estimate that the deduction could stimulate an additional 50,000 – 100,000 square feet of subleasing annually.
- We estimate this amount of new leasing could stimulate approximate $3.8 million in new rent payment, $1.5 - $2.5 million in downtown spending by new office employees, $0.5 - $1 million in additional business tax revenue for the City, and $0.3- $0.7 million in transit fares.
- On the other hand, as noted earlier the proposal would reduce revenue by $17 million annually. Even if spending on early childhood care and education programs were not reduced in the short term, because of the large fund balance, the City's economy would still lose $2.5 million in General Fund spending in the first year (15% of $17 million).

Conclusions

- The proposed legislation likely would be somewhat effective at encouraging new subleasing activity, reducing the city's high office vacancy, and stimulating economic activity downtown.
- However, the proposal is quite broad – allowing all sublessors, even those with existing leases, to claim the deduction. There is essentially no broader benefit associated with reducing the tax on those leases.
- As a result, the economic benefits of the proposal would be largely outweighed by the lost spending from the General Fund, before considering the longer-term impact on early childhood care and education funding.
- If the proposal were to only allow a deduction for new subleases, the benefits would be essentially the same as the current proposal, while the costs to the City would be far lower in the early years, as shown below.

	2023	2024	2025	2026	2027	2028	2029
Total Cost ($m)	$5.6	$9.4	$11.9	$13.6	$14.7	$15.5	$16.0
General Fund Impact ($m)	$0.8	$1.4	$1.8	$2.0	$2.2	$2.3	$2.4

- The proposal could be further tailored by limiting the number of years that it applied, or was open to new leases, which could maximize the near-term benefits while minimizing the City's costs.
