5 the Workforce Community Advisory Committee.

6
7 MOVED, That the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco does
8 hereby appoint the hereinafter designated persons to serve as members of the Workforce

11 Elizabeth Jackson-Simpson, seat 1, new appointment, must be, at the time of their
12 appointment, employed by a nonprofit corporation that provides workforce development
13 services and must be the executive director or chief executive officer, or an employee of the 14 nonprofit corporation designated by such person; shall have demonstrated experience in

18 Debra Gore-Mann (residency requirement waived), seat 2, new appointment, must be,
19 at the time of their appointment, employed by a nonprofit corporation that provides workforce
20 development services and must be the executive director or chief executive officer, or an 21 employee of the nonprofit corporation designated by such person; shall have demonstrated 22 experience in leadership roles in workforce development, as well as expertise (preferably at

7 FURTHER MOVED, That the Board of Supervisors makes the following findings:

- 8 1. The membership of the Workforce Community Advisory Committee has a goal to be 9 representative of the diversity of the City and County of San Francisco.
- 10 2. Applicant Debra Gore-Mann, who is not a resident of San Francisco, is a person with 11 experience that uniquely qualifies her to serve on the Workforce Community Advisory 12 Committee.
- 13 3. The Workforce Community Advisory Committee has attempted to fill the position, for 14 which Jennifer Garcia was nominated, with an individual who is a City resident and who 15 has the specific experience, skills, and qualifications, but has been unable to do so at 16 this time. The Rules Committee has certified that Jennifer Garcia is qualified to serve
17 on the Workforce Community Advisory Committee.
- 18 4. After exercising due diligence, the Board of Supervisors concludes that there is no
19 other possible representative, who is a resident of San Francisco, and who has the 20 specific experience, skills, or qualifications possessed by this applicant, and who is 21 willing to serve on the Workforce Community Advisory Committee at this time; and, be 22 it

23 FURTHER MOVED, That the Board of Supervisors waives the residency requirement
24 for Debra Gore-Mann, as allowed in cases where no qualified City resident, willing to serve,
25 can be found, pursuant to Charter, Section 4.101(a)(2), that requires person(s) appointed to

1 boards, commissions, and advisory bodies established by legislative act of the Board of
2 Supervisors to be resident(s) of the City and County of San Francisco.

It is with great enthusiasm that I submit my application for consideration for the Workforce Community Advisory Committee (WCAC).

I am the current Executive Director of the San Francisco Conservation Corps (SFCC), a nonprofit environmental impact organization established in 1983, as the first urban Conservation Corps in the nation -- founded by then-Mayor Dianne Feinstein and Judge Anthony Klein. I oversee the SFCC's comprehensive work readiness model that supports job readiness, training, and educational development for a target population of at-risk young adults (16-26 years old) living in San Francisco, who participate as students and Corpsmembers (CMS) in a 12 month program. 76% of participants arrive without a High School diploma, with an average 5th grade level of education in Math and English, and 93% are extremely low to very low income by federal poverty standards. 13% are former foster youth and at least 35% have had some exposure to the criminal justice system. I manage an organization of approximately 25 employees who help over 120 young adults each year. My qualifications include managing a charter school that educates those who have dropped out of the SF Unified School District; oversight of service projects throughout the City and County of San Francisco including landscaping, recycling and outreach awareness to all communities; and career development and job placements for full time jobs to careers for the opportunity challenged young people from the lowest economic communities. I serve a diverse community that includes 61% African Americans, 28% Latino/a Americans, and 8% Pacific Island/Asian Americans.

My leadership at SFCC allows me to bring a depth and breadth of skills from over three decades of successful experience recruiting and providing employment, education, and barrier remediation services for high risk San Francisco transitional-age youth and young adults, including those with current or previous criminal justice system involvement. My work supports primarily low- to very-low income young people who have multi-generational histories of poverty. I can bring the voice of community participants who face multiple severe barriers to employment; including those who most lack basic academic, life skills, and job readiness assets, and have legal, housing and/or substance abuse problems and other issues that make it difficult for them to enter and succeed in the workforce or further education. SFCC's program emphasizes the development of essential foundational competencies needed to become job-ready, self-sufficient and productive young adults. Through education, career development, life skills, case management and paid job-training services, SFCC program participants acquire skills required by employers: High School Diploma attainment, literacy/numeracy remediation, transferable soft skills, technical training and industry-recognized certifications. In summary, my work stretches broadly across a wide range of interests, neighborhoods with a large diversity of people.

Business and/or professional experience:

I have over 13 years of leadership in non-profit academic-based organizations & 15 years private sector business development expertise. I am a highly qualified candidate for consideration based on my comprehensive skills set and the specific responsibilities and duties throughout my 34 years of professional experience.

I have served in several leadership positions where I have directly supervise a wide range of sector specific industries from sports teams, to administrative areas in finance and strategic plans; and I have lead strategic initiatives, especially in the following areas of Title IX and gender equity.

In many ways, my path embodies an inter-disciplinary perspective of academics, workplace, community and environment. Since receiving my academic credentials, I have worked comprehensively in the academic sector, the nonprofit and the private sectors which have developed in me a breadth and depth of experience in the areas of philanthropy, business and management expertise that is needed in today's workforce marketplace to identify the myriad of shifting resources that are available.

My private and public work experiences have allowed me to better understand the financial structures, funding resources and the related business transactions needed to secure financial resources and achieve lasting relationships with the community, corporations, civic engagements, and city/county agencies and State government alike.

Also, I have served in a leadership capacity working locally, regionally and nationally to achieve mission-based goals and built strong administrative teams and processes. I have worked closely with emerging technologies that are affecting the way community-based organizations engage their communities; as well, I have demonstrated the ability to apply best business practices from my private sector experiences as an investment banker and comprehensive project manager to the Academy.

I believe I would be a true asset to the WCAC due to both my breadth and depth of experiences in areas of labor force development, talent administration, compliance and academic achievement, transparency and oversight of policies and procedures, and comprehensive resource development and management.

I operate with unbridled enthusiasm and energy. At my essence, I have an entrepreneurial spirit and enjoy working diligently with people who like to work hard and be part of a successful team that puts education, economic viability and sustainability goals and aspirations first.

Civic Activities:

Over my professional career I have consistently served on nonprofit boards and participated in civic events in service to my community. Please see the list of boards and councils I have served since 2000.

In the late 1980's I played intercollegiate basketball at Stanford University and I was fortunate to be part of the "first generation of Title IX" basketball scholarship recipient for women basketball student-athletes - representing a pioneering generation. During my undergraduate experience, I majored in what was then Industrial Engineering that in turn was later changed its name to Management Science in Engineering. I then returned to the Graduate School of Business at Stanford to earn my MBA. In a unique set of circumstances, I ended up as the only black woman in my MBA class at Stanford which has informed my perspective for women of color in the workplace.

While at Stanford Athletics, I had the good fortune to work directly with the Board of Trustees of Stanford University and its Committee on Athletics, key development officers, and other administrative offices throughout Stanford. Over the last fourteen years I have mentored many women and men who were students across many disciplines (liberal arts, engineering, economics, political sciences and more) and I have created pathways for a better life through education and workplace for many young people. As an African American native of San Francisco, born and raised in the Western Addition, now residing in District 10 community, I have seen the out migration of not just African Americans, but middle class families from our great City. In an attempt to reverse this phenomena, I have spent the past 35 years working in the non profit and government sectors focused on moving some of our most vulnerable citizens (youth, justice and foster care involved, and other marginalized residents into our alternative education and workforce training and job placement programs and services.
