Agenda Items 10 and 11 – $600 Million Affordable Housing Bond

Page 2

The data in Figure 1 combines the actual spending to date from the $310 million Affordable Housing Bond passed by voters in November 2015, and proposed spending categories for the November 2019 $600 million Affordable Housing Bond. Shown in more detail in Table 1, below.

3. Change Spending of Bond to Fund Middle-Income Rental Housing

Mayor Ed Lee observed in Time magazine in January 2014 that San Francisco has done a terrible job investing in anything other than low-income and public housing, indicating the City has done next to nothing to produce middle-income housing:

“Our city did pretty good in investing in low-income housing and trying to do as much as we could for the homeless. That was where our sentiments were. I don’t think we paid any attention to the middle class. I think everybody assumed the middle class was moving out.”

As Table 1 further illustrates, when the 2015 Bond uses are combined with the proposed November 2019 Bond uses, only $12 million — 1.3% of the total $910 million in housing bond spending — has been allocated for middle-income rental households earning between 120% and 175% of AMI, and that was only in the 2015 Affordable Housing Bond.

* $42 million for Middle-Income Rental and Expiring Regulations Preservation rental programs deleted July 2016, following Prop. “C” passage June 2016. Yellow Highlighting: 2019 Affordable Housing Bond documents indicate an “estimated” — not a guaranteed — funding amount.

Source: MOHCD quarterly report to CGOBC March 2019, and updated MOHCD Bond Use Report to Board of Supervisors June 13, 2019.

In July 2016 MOHCD abruptly eliminated $42 million from planned spending of the $310 million November 2015 Affordable Housing Bond that had been set aside for a Middle-Income Rental category and an Expiring Regulations Preservation category.

Given the temporal proximity in time, some observers wondered whether MOHCD may have decided that after voters passed Proposition “C” in June 2016 that MOHCD could remove the Middle-Income Rental program from the Affordable Housing Bond a month later in July 2016. That was patently ridiculous, because Prop. “C” only dealt with setting the inclusionary percentages of affordable units available in market-rate development projects, including both ownership units for purchase and rental units. It’s ludicrous to believe the inclusionary aspects of Prop. “C” in any way solved or achieved affordable rents designed to be addressed through the bond’s Middle-Income Rental program.

Then there’s the need for rental units demonstrated by the affordable housing lotteries MOHCD conducted during Fiscal Year 2017–2018. MOHCD’s Annual Progress Report 2017–2018 reports MOHCD conducted 101 housing lotteries for 490 “affordable” homes, including 399 rental units for very-low to low-income households earning less than 80% of AMI. The other 91 homes were for low- to moderate-income ownership (not rental) units.

There were 42,364 applications for the 399 rental units — averaging 106 applications per unit — despite the City’s focus on funding low-income housing. Unfortunately, MOHCD did not indicate whether any of its 101 housing lotteries were for middle-income units to help estimate the need.

4. Require Stronger Compliance by MOHCD

Given MOHCD's track record of having unilaterally re-allocated planned uses of the 2015 Affordable Housing Bond, the Board of Supervisors needs to strengthen oversight of MOHCD on the proposed 2019 housing bond.

In particular, before MOHCD is allowed to 1) Re-allocate any portion of the $15 million in Senior Housing funding category reserved for neighborhoods with limited affordable housing production or units removed from protected status if that $15 million isn't allocated within four years, and before MOHCD is 2) Allowed to re-allocate up to 50% of the $20 million of the Educator Housing funding category set-aside to the Low-Income Housing category if it is not allocated within four years, the Board of Supervisors should mandate that MOHCD be required to obtain Board of Supervisors approval during a public hearing before it is allowed to re-allocate that approximate $25 million in funding.

I submit these recommendations as someone who earns approximately 54% of AMI.

Respectfully submitted,

Patrick Monette-Shaw, Columnist, Westside Observer Newspaper
