

1 [Opposing California State Proposition 20 - Criminal Sentencing, Parole, and DNA Collection
2 Initiative - November 3, 2020, Ballot]

3 Resolution opposing California State Proposition 20, Criminal Sentencing, Parole, and 4 DNA Collection Initiative, on the November 3, 2020, ballot.

5
6 WHEREAS, Safety for all Californians is the highest priority for the San Francisco 7 Board of Supervisors; and

8 WHEREAS, Once a bellwether for mass incarceration, in the past decade, California 9 reduced incarceration more than any state in the nation and has fueled a national movement 10 that is leading the country away from the ineffective status quo of mass incarceration and 11 toward a new approach that prioritizes prevention and addressing the root causes of crime; 12 and

13 WHEREAS, California’s California voters’ overwhelming support for two criminal reform
14 ballot measures – Proposition 47, which in 2014 reclassified some low-level nonviolent crimes 15 from felonies to misdemeanors; and Proposition 57, which in 2016 gave inmates convicted of 16 certain non-violent offenses an opportunity to earn early release; led to a 25 percent drop in 17 incarceration, while statewide crime rates remain at historic lows and new crime prevention 18 programs launched as a result of these reforms are showing promise; and

19 WHEREAS, Proposition 47 was the hallmark ballot initiative that officially ushered in an 20 era of reform and shifted investments from ineffective mass incarceration programs to 21 services that better meet community needs and prevent crime from occurring in the first place 22 -- mental health services, trauma recovery and addiction services; and

23 WHEREAS, According to the Center on Juvenile and Criminal Justice, Proposition 47 24 is projected to save a record $122.5 million in the 2020- 2021 fiscal year; and

25

1           WHEREAS, The nonpartisan Public Policy Institute of California reported in 2018 the 2 Proposition 47 had also closed racial disparities in arrests and bookings; and

3           WHEREAS, Despite a decisive body of research that has shown that zeroing in on 4 community health, not incarceration, more effectively prevents crime, thousands of 5 Californians currently struggle with untreated mental health, substance abuse and trauma –
6 some of the well-known drivers of crime as well as drivers of health vulnerabilities and less 7 than 10 percent of people struggling with substance abuse and only 1 out of 6 people 8 struggling with mental illness attain treatment; and

9           WHEREAS, Prevention should be the focus of our justice resources and attention – for 10 both public health and public safety, California still spends more than $11 billion annually on 11 prisons, a 500 percent increase over 30 years and one that dwarfs other critical public 12 investments and over the past 20 years, for example, prison spending has grown 65 percent 13 faster than spending on hospitals; and

14           WHEREAS, Proposition 20 on California’s November 3, 2020, ballot is an effort to turn 15 back the clock, is funded by special interests that want to spend tens of millions of taxpayer 16 dollars on prisons while rolling back effective criminal justice reforms overwhelmingly 17 supported by California voters; and

18           WHEREAS, Proposition 20 would reduce California’s threshold for felony theft to one of 19 the lowest in the nation and waste taxpayer dollars incarcerating people for nonviolent crimes 20 while causing draconian cuts to proven crime-reduction programs; and

21           WHEREAS, Passage of Proposition 20 would mean as many as 10,000 more people
22 could end up in California prisons and jails, undermining the key pathway California 23 lawmakers have used to reallocate resources from incarceration to local safety solutions; and

24           WHEREAS, Black and Latinx people are disproportionately impacted in the criminal 25 justice system, as nationally, Black men comprise about 13 percent of the male population,

1 but about 35 percent of those incarcerated; and one in three Black men born today can expect
2 to be incarcerated in his lifetime, compared to one in six Latino men and one in 17 white men;
3 further, Black women are similarly impacted: one in 18 Black women born in 2001 is likely to 4 be incarcerated sometime in her life, compared to one in 111 white women; and

5 WHEREAS, Passage of Proposition 20 would also defund Trauma Recovery Centers, 6 which primarily serve people of color and are critical lifelines for survivors of violence; and

7 WHEREAS, According to a ballot analysis, the fiscal impacts of Proposition 20 would 8 include an increase to state and local correctional costs in the tens of millions of dollars
9 annually, and increase by several millions of dollars annual state and local court-related costs
10 and with state and local governments already reeling from COVID-19 fiscal impacts, voters 11 should not support a proposal to once again balloon prison populations and increase costs;
12 and

13 WHEREAS, Proposition 20 would also remove the incentives for inmates to modify 14 their behavior and seek rehabilitation by limiting opportunities for early release; now, 15 therefore, be it
