PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

ST. IGNATIUS COLLEGE PREPARATORY, San Francisco, California, 1982 – Present

Teacher, 1982 – Present

Social Science Department, 1984 – Present

Currently Teaching: United States Government: San Francisco Case Studies (Regular and Honors)

Combines the study of the history of San Francisco with a study of the United States Constitution using events in San Francisco history as cases in point. Two examples: A study of the First Amendment includes the sit-ins at Mel's Diner, the Palace Hotel, and Auto Row in the early 1960s, the controversy over the cross on Mount Davidson, and the demonstrations at the House Un-American Activities Committee hearings at City Hall in 1960. A study of the Fourteenth Amendment includes an exploration of the various conflicts over fair housing, including the discrimination against Willie Mays when he moved to the City with the Giants, the lawsuit against the Olympic Club regarding the admission of women as members, and the same-sex marriage movement beginning with Mayor Newsom's first same-sex marriages in 2004.

United States Histories and Cultures (Regular and Honors)

The social, political, and economic history of the United States from the establishment of the colonies to the present. Emphasis on the development of the current political parties, the constant societal tension between "rugged individualism" and care for the group, and the degree to which American society at various points in history has lived up to the values on which the American experiment is based.
