Approval Process for In-Person Activities

- Updated Directive from SFPDH for Higher Ed – November 28
 - Can finish current in-person Fall 2020 classes
 - Can continue in-person activities in support of remote instruction (registration, contactless distribution)
 - However, expansion of in-person instruction limited to “essential functions or services relating to the protection of public health or safety or Essential Governmental Functions”
- Approval Process
 - SFPDH requires that we have a COVID-19 Prevention Plan, but does not require separate application/approval (aside from Athletics)
 - CCSF approval process includes development of a site-specific plan, identification and training of personnel, physical setup of space, walk-through with personnel
- Continuing with Local Approval Process so that we’re ready for in-person activities when public health situation allows

A Safe Workspace

- Promoting Hygiene, Preventing Spread
 - Individual classrooms and offices have access to disposable gloves to clean and disinfect workspaces
- Floor Directional Signage and Flow of Traffic
 - Building floors clearly outline direction for moving inside a building for flow of traffic to limit physical contact
- Staggered Schedules/Modified Office Spaces
 - Staff and Faculty alternate days coming on campus to limit number of people inside buildings and to maintain stable cohorts
 - Faculty/Staff use remote meeting technology tools whenever possible to conduct meetings
 - In-person meetings limited to a few individuals and allow for 6-foot distancing and wearing masks at all times
