Subject: Fwd: A parklet and parking policy for the benefit of all locally owned businesses in our neighborhoods
Date: Friday, June 4, 2021 12:54:36 PM

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Madame Mayor, Honorable Supervisors, Senator Weiner, and Small Business

Commission members,

I am writing you wearing two hats: as an owner of Cole Hardware, and as the Executive Director of the San Francisco Locally Owned Merchant Alliance (SFLOMA). Cole Hardware has five locations in the City, and SFLOMA is an alliance of approximately 300 brick and mortar stores in our neighborhoods.

While the pandemic has been difficult for all of us, we are certainly in agreement with you regarding the dire circumstances faced by our local bars, cafes, and restaurants. The City's generous parklet policy has been a lifeline and a means of keeping these businesses afloat. Understandably, parklets have proliferated exponentially throughout all of our neighborhood shopping districts. In many areas, the parklets have added charm to the neighborhoods, and maintaining their presence to a degree is understandable. But there have been unintended consequences for non-food and beverage establishments due to the near-total elimination of parking spaces.

Certainly, we all desire neighborhoods filled with vibrant neighborhood-serving businesses. Those businesses that do not serve food and beverages are at risk as a result of the near-total elimination of parking in deference to parklets. This is a detriment to our locally-owned businesses, a boon to Amazon and other e-commerce sites, a threat to our neighborhood shopping districts, and I would argue a long-term detriment to our eateries as well. Think about the following examples:

- A contractor working in a neighborhood needs to purchase supplies (paint, pipe, concrete, etc) from the local hardware store. The tradesperson circles and circles the area, looking for parking, then ultimately drives away in frustration down to Lowe's or other big-box suppliers.
- A resident wishes to pick up their accumulated cleaning from the dry cleaners. Rather than navigating the hills to walk home with a heavy load, they choose to drive, but alas, they can't park even in a green zone. As a consequence, they turn to a pick-up and delivery app as an alternative to their local dry cleaner.
- A homeowner needs a barbecue and charcoal or propane, some soil, and flower pots for their garden. They can't park to pick these items up, and they surely can't double park in our city. Off to Lowe's, another big box, or to Amazon they go.
- A family wishes to go out to dinner at a restaurant out of their own neighborhood. Where do they park allowing them to enjoy an afternoon or night on the town away from home?
- Groceries need to be purchased from a local grocery store that is too heavy to carry home. Without parking, they turn to an online source or drive to a chain grocer with parking.

I could cite many more examples, but you get the picture. Parking is critical to the well-being of the many businesses in our neighborhoods. Advocacy for permanent parklets neglects the needs of our locally owned retail community, and in spite of what the Treasurer's office might say, our retail stores are suffering as a result of the loss of parking in our neighborhoods. On behalf of the 300+ SFLOMA members, as well as the many other small businesses in the City, I ask you to consider a balanced approach to parklets that doesn't do long-term harm to our neighborhood businesses. Please consider the issue of permanent parklets holistically, creating a win/win for all.

Thank you very much.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors:

I would like to voice my opinion to the issue of parklets in San Francisco.

Parklets have been very important to the survival of many restaurants and bars during the pandemic however they have also taken away necessary parking crucial to all types of local small businesses. Like it or not, many people still need to access our local businesses with a car. With proper State and Federal incentives those vehicles will become smaller and more eco-friendly however for now, we need to face the reality that less parking means less access to our ailing small local businesses. Big box stores can afford their own parking lots. We small businesses cannot.

As I ride my bicycle through the city, I observe that some parklets are under utilized and some have never even been used at all. My next-door neighbor at "We Be Sushi" recently obtained the permission to take over parking spaces in front of his restaurant close to 22nd Street. He chose to wait and see if indoor dining will return before erecting a parklet. He recognized that in his case at least, a parklet may not be needed or even cost-effective.

My wife and I have owned and operated our bike shop, Valencia Cyclery, for 36 years. A good percentage of our repair customers drive their broken bicycles over in their car to have them repaired and need access to parking. Almost all families buying children's bikes (one of our store's specialties) need a car to carry away their new bike purchase. It is hard to compete with Dick's Sporting Goods, Target, Decathlon and other big-box establishments with their large free parking lots.

Parklets are here to stay in San Francisco however they need to be limited to businesses that use them year-around and maintain them well. It is important that they are effectively regulated. We must avoid the elimination of our dwindling parking spaces in our city's small business districts. This pandemic has forced us to face a new reality in so many ways.

Thank you.

RE: Permanent Shared Spaces - Disability and Equity Outcomes
File # 210284 - Permanent Shared Spaces - Legistar

Dear Supervisors,

We appreciate the consideration of disability and equity issues at your recent Land Use hearing and the time and diligence you are spending with this issue. We are also very appreciative of the focused attention Director Abad has spent in recent weeks working with our communities to ensure that we make the Shared Spaces program safer, more accessible, and more equitable as we roll it out as a permanent program. There have been some meaningful adjustments to the program proposal in the last several months including a 50% reduction in fees for low-income businesses and improved accessibility guidelines.

Additionally, there are many other fruitful ideas in discussion that we would like to see worked through and formalized before the program is made permanent, including adding specific equity language to the measure specifically directing its support of equity outcomes, working out the extent to which we want to privatize these public spaces, and improving education and enforcement mechanisms for small business owners, especially immigrant and LEP businesses.

We are strong supporters of small business in our neighborhoods and want to see this program thrive for all parties. We are writing to ask you to please adopt a simple two-step process towards launching the permanent program now that we are no longer in the same urgent crisis and have the time to work through the remaining critical issues in a way that all parties can be fully supported by this program:

1. Immediately begin to address the most pressing disability-related needs including:
  - a. Require that when adjacent Curbside and Sidewalk Shared Spaces are proposed, the sidewalk Shared Space should consist only of stationary elements on the side next to the sidewalk clearance.
  - b. Institute clear plans for traffic calming as appropriate for each Shared Space.
  - c. Require 8 feet clearance on sidewalks that are at least 12 feet.
  - d. Require publicly posted notices on all Shared Spaces, to be reviewed and approved by the community, that include basic rules in multiple languages and how to file a complaint by phone and internet (if this is 311, they must be knowledgeable and prepared, and respond to complainants).
  - e. Enact a schedule of regular inspections on a clear timeframe.
  - f. Create a stronger bonus/fine plan to ensure compliance.
2. Continue the existing program without any new fees or substantial changes for our merchants for 12 months and allow them a year of surety while they reassess their outdoor needs in this fully reopened environment, and while we work through remaining disability and equity issues including:

- a. Ensure that our cultural districts and communities across the city are comfortable with how the permanent changes will interact with cultural events and support the needs of our neighborhoods. Implement Design Guidelines for Cultural Districts and those in process who desire this program be tailored for their district.
- b. Create a reimbursement program for low-income business owners who are being asked to tear down and rebuild their parklets for code reasons or infrastructure work. Identify programmatic and funding mechanisms to assist low-income businesses participating in the program with upkeep and mitigating the current graffiti problems. Otherwise, it is likely that only high-end, well-resourced businesses will be able to benefit from the program in the long run.
- c. Conduct a socioeconomic impact study of this program proposal complete with specific recommendations to ensure that any forecasted inequitable impacts are mitigated through resourcing and targeted programs that meet unique neighborhood needs. Include an explicit statement of race and equity goals into this legislation to be used to direct future changes to the program based on yearly reports.
- d. Explore ideas for mitigating this program's potential impacts on retail and personal service spaces (salons, etc.). Some concerns we have heard include reduced visibility behind structures, loss of parking and loading, etc. We want to ensure that all businesses can share in the prosperity and recover from the pandemic. We would also like to work with the city to explore opportunities to create supportive localized programs for these endangered businesses that have been largely closed for the past 14+ months without the benefit of a parklet. Many are just now reopening and face large amounts of debt.

Please consider these recommendations for a simple two-step path forward that we hope will ensure a healthy long-term program for all parties.

Sincerely,

Senior and Disability Action

RE: YBCBD Supports the Shared Space Legislation to Make the Program Permanent

Dear Board of Supervisors,

The Yerba Buena Community Benefit District Board of Directors supports transitioning the Shared Spaces program into a permanent program. The YBCBD is dedicated to improving the quality of life in the Yerba Buena district with a range of services to make it cleaner, safer and more inviting. Yerba Buena businesses and nonprofits have been hit hard by the COVID-19 pandemic without the symbiotic relationship between office workers and guests and patrons of the convention center, museums, hotels, restaurants, and shops. The Shared Spaces in our district are critical to its economic recovery and long-term vibrancy.

The Shared Spaces program is alignment with our Yerba Buena Street Life Plan, created with the community, which serves as a vision and guide to improve public spaces for district projects. The goal of the Yerba Buena Street Life Plan guidelines is to enhance livability, safety, vitality, inclusiveness and sustainability. We believe that the legislation will create places with lasting community value.

The revenue resulting from Shared Spaces has kept several district's businesses afloat and encouraged others think creatively about activating dormant and unused alleys. In Yerba Buena, we have nearly a dozen shared spaces and others under consideration, including restaurants with parklets, expanded outdoor seating and new shared alleys. In addition to eight parklets, a partnership by Westfield San Francisco Centre, Hotel Zetta, The Cavalier and Executive Order Bar & Lounge will activate Jessie Street West, an area that has long-needed added vibrancy. Also, 111 Minna Gallery intends to enliven Minna Street between New Montgomery and Second streets with arts and cultural programming. The gallery is still recovering from a fire set in this alleyway that closed its businesses and would benefit from the activity generated by repurposed outdoor space.

We believe the Shared Spaces program will have lasting positive economic, health and social ramifications for our district and its cultural backbone. In alignment with the Yerba Buena Street Life plan, we support the following:

- Phasing the implementation of the program so that businesses have time to adapt to the new permit process.
- Encouraging arts, culture and entertainment activities by carrying forward the Just Add Music (JAM) permit and allow for arts and culture activities to be the primary use of the space, not just a secondary use.
- Balancing the needs of the curb by ensuring our Transit First and Vision Zero policies remain priorities, balance Shared Spaces occupancies with loading, short-term parking, micro-mobility needs, and other curbside functions; and encourage sharing of Shared Spaces amongst merchants on the same block.

- Maintaining public access by ensuring every Shared Space provides public access when not in commercial use and providing a seating opportunity during daytime hours, including business, operating hours.
- Clear Public Input Procedures to encourage collaboration between neighbors and merchants.
- Ensure that the needs of the disabled community are accommodated and access to sidewalks and other public spaces remain accessible.

The YCBCD is dedicated to improving the quality of life in our district. The Share Spaces program is a critical part of the City's crisis response strategy to sustain locally-owned small businesses. We support its continuation on a permanent basis.

Sincerely,

Cathy Maupin
Executive Director
Yerba Buena Community Benefit District

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Supervisors,

I oppose the proposed measures for transitioning shared spaces and simplifying restrictions on small businesses.

We need to protect the unique small businesses that make San Francisco special. Family-owned shops cannot pay the same rent as chain stores. Opening the door for the proliferation of chain stores will lead to the loss of the wonderful variety of small businesses that are vital to the unique character of San Francisco's neighborhood business districts.

The prospect of our neighborhoods becoming full of the same stores is depressing. I am reminded of the classic New Yorker cartoon of a couple sitting in a coffee shop. One coffee drinker turns to the other and says, "Are we in this Starbucks or the one down the street?"

Opening up rooftops to nighttime entertainment is going to be a nightmare for residents. San Francisco City government talks a lot about having mixed uses in commercial districts, with families living above commercial units. Are families really going to want to live near bars and restaurants that play loud music all the time? The sound will carry a lot further than when on the street. In fact, the newly expanded outdoor seating in many neighborhoods already has loud music that is played constantly – it must be very difficult for families who live above commercial in rent-controlled apartments and don't have the financial ability to move to a quieter area.

The same concerns apply to late-night entertainment.

The outdoor seating on the street is a benefit to restaurants, who suddenly have free increased square footage. But I wonder - are bars and restaurants the only businesses that we are going to support in San Francisco? People do still drive for errands and shopping, often to neighborhoods that are not near where they live. How can a hardware store, for example, attract customers from more than a few blocks away when most of the street parking is taken up for restaurants? Is the City providing one more incentive for people to drive to the big box stores, that already tempt shoppers with lower prices and easy parking?

We all hope that COVID is going away. A longer-term plan for protecting ALL neighborhood businesses, business district character, and the rights of the residents who live in those neighborhoods should be drawn up and evaluated with stakeholders from all of those groups.

Thank you for your consideration.

One does not need special training in access requirements too many pix for me to cite all that need to be inspected for possible citations.

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors - The article in the Chronicle about this techie cafe proposed for 1801 Mission st. isn't from the standpoint of people who've seen and experienced gentrification in the Mission from up close and personal, the devastation of many Latinx and Black families as well as seniors and people with disabilities as they were displaced from their long-time homes. Many of us on the ground tried to fight back as our neighbors, friends, and families were evicted, or tragically displaced by fires (like the tenants of 2588 Mission st at 22nd st, in 2015. As Twitter moved in, Google buses took over MUNI bus stops, AirBnbs, Uber and Lyft took over the streets. Do you remember the shocking statistic that about 70% of seniors and people with disabilities that had been evicted (for no cause) lived within 4 blocks of Google bus stops? And the small businesses that were and are still struggling, owned by people of color, right around Mission and 14th, 15th 16th streets. And the struggle against Monster in the Mission for mostly luxury housing at 16th and Mission? I don't know whatever happened to the plan for the nuns' bakery/soup kitchen on that block. I haven't seen it. There's some real affordable housing going up right there, too, certainly steps in the right direction to respond to the needs of people on the street.

I speak as an old lady, an old nurse, who's seen the step-by-step process that led to more hardship, more people living on the streets (now being swept from their tent encampments), now having fewer toilets to use for a little dignity, now being once again fearful of a new tsunami of evictions, more people being sick.

Please don't let it happen again.

Thank you - Iris Biblowitz, RN, senior, tenant in the Mission for close to 50 years

Greetings Supervisors,

My name is Jade Arellano, and I am the organizing director at the Western Regional Advocacy Project. We are long-time tenants of the Redstone Building, a historic hub for organizing and activism located on 16th street.

I am writing to ask the Supervisors to accept the appeal by rejecting the conversion of the 1801 Mission site to convert their retail space to a high-end cafe.

- I am not opposed to new businesses trying to open in the neighborhood; but I am opposed to new projects that take business from already existing establishments and cater to a wealthier clientele, especially without the city having even done a proper environmental evaluation of the proposal.
- The illusion of the Creamery being a humble cafe is ludicrous. The Creamery prides itself as a gathering place for tech entrepreneurs and venture capitalists to converse and execute lucrative deals over cups of coffee. The owner brags about this.
- I want businesses who come into our community that fit the needs of working class residents and enhance the unique cultural heritage of our neighborhood. There are plenty of needed retail uses for this space that can benefit the community - not a new cafe.
- Small businesses in the corridor have struggled to stay afloat during the pandemic. Approval of the 1801 Mission Street proposal will put legacy neighborhood cafes in further financial jeopardy to compete for customers and put upward price pressure on their commercial leases.
- Our community is in solidarity with our legacy small businesses during these hard economic times because they are an integral piece of the Mission's social fabric. They have always been here to provide us affordable food and services, and especially during this pandemic.

- This project is in the heart of the American Indian Cultural District, who were not notified about the project, nor were the potential CEQA impacts on the District studied -- it wasn't even mentioned in the City's Case Report.
- Approval of the Creamery opening on 1801 Mission St will be the tipping point of gentrification in the North Mission and hasten displacement of businesses in the neighborhood.
- Courts have ruled that these well-resourced businesses negatively impacting existing small businesses are CEQA (environmental) impacts that need to be studied - and the City of Bakersfield case ruled against the new business, referring to their potential impacts as a "gentrification bomb."

I ask the Board of Supervisors to deny the 1801 Mission Street project CEQA exemption and have it sent back to the Planning Department for a proper environmental study. Thank you for considering my concerns.

RE: Plans for 1801 Mission St., SF

Am contacting you with concerns regarding plans for an upscale tech café at 1801 Mission St. This is NOT needed in the Mission District and would contribute more to the destruction of the Mission and its culture. Many small businesses in the Mission and elsewhere have had to shut down this past year. This plan will force more small immigrant businesses to close and affect the livelihoods of families and many people in the Mission.

- I am opposed to new projects that take business from already existing establishments and cater to a wealthier clientele, especially without the city having even done a proper environmental evaluation of the proposal.

If the project at 1801 is approved it would further continue the colonialization of American Indians. I don't think that you as supervisors want to be part of this.

Thank you for your time.

Hello All,

I am a former mission resident of 7 years, both in the upper and lower mission, (current resident in the lower haight for over 10 years) and a current business owner in the mission for the past 6 years writing to express my full support of the project at 1801 Mission St.

I understand there is some current opposition to the project on the basis that it will be a "Tech Cafe" whatever that means. Having watched the corner lot over the past 6 years it is my belief that an active business will enrich the neighborhood. There is nothing being planned that is outside of the zoning for the space and I think it's absolutely imperative to avoid extended vacancies in the mission. It seems relatively ridiculous that this project can be delayed on false accusations.

Please consider supporting this project and allowing work to proceed. A business that meets the requirements for zoning and whose plans have been approved by the city should be allowed to proceed in a timely manner.

Thanks for your consideration.

Hello, I am writing to express my approval of the proposed Coffee Shop at 1801 Mission St.

I live down the street between 13th and 14th and think it would be great to have one so close...i understand there are some concerns expressed but believe this business would fit in nicely in the neighborhood..

The Coffee Shop at 1801 Mission is a POSITIVE business for Mission Street! As a property owner, and former business owner on 14 th Street., this Coffee Shop would have been a perfect place for our employees, And customers. Immediately adjacent to this location is a Senior Citizen Complex, and is a perfect opportunity for the residents to have a clean And safe place to eat.

There are more new residential buildings in the immediate area....and would have a nice clientele. New jobs, tax revenue to support San Francisco....

What better platform to begin the economy start moving forward.

The permit application is in total compliance with the permit guidelines...

Looks like a challenge to deny is a waste of tax dollars, and positive Growth for the area.

People who reside in the area are begging for local, safe new eating establishments.

Let's keep San Francisco a city to enjoy!

Hello,

I am writing to you as a resident of the Mission for almost twenty years, a business owner in the Mission for the last ten years, and the VP of the Mission Merchants Association regarding the project at 1801 Mission St. I am in FULL SUPPORT of this project going through. The proposed coffee shop will be a great addition to the Mission and specifically to the corner of 14th and Mission. The space it will inhabit had been a vacant lot for years, and now that there is a building there it will bring great vibrancy to the corner. It has come to my attention that this project is once again being held up by a group who is concerned that the project will displace legacy businesses, and their main objective (per the group's own FaceBook page) is to stop the project calling it a "Tech Cafe." This to me is utter nonsense. There is nothing in the project that is out of the scope of use for the location, nor has it been advertised as anything but a cafe. The opposition has done no outreach to the business owner of the new project, but rather is using their platform that new business=tech/gentrification, and as a result is delaying yet another business from opening in a vacant storefront. The Mission does not need more vacancies, and it certainly does not need projects delayed because of false perception surrounding what they believe the business is.

Please support this project and let it proceed.

Thank you,
Mark DeVito

This email is to SUPPORT the efforts of Ivor Bradley, owner of the Creamery, who wants to open a cafe at 14th & Mission.

I am the owner of a home at 229 14th St. and have been trying for years to make this part of the Mission cleaner and more pedestrian friendly. A cafe is most welcome here! To: SF Board of Supervisors, @

The rideshare community particularly the third-party food delivery services such as DoorDash and similar, in my opinion, rely on cheap gasoline.

To avoid protests, food fights and mayhem, putting it nicely, I urge you to reconsider the permanent regulations on delivery service fees. These proposed CAPS, Shaha, would hurt food delivery workers and the restaurants we help.

Personally, I've maintained great momentum delivering for doordash and blessing the state of CA w/ free coke! #coca-cola what happened to all that series A-Z funding!

Instead of capping try asking their management

The investors are outraged and private sector jobs are disappearing.

STOP CAPPING!

Dear Board Member,

I wish to provide my analysis of the impact of imposing a permanent fee cap on third-party food service deliveries operating in San Francisco. I do not believe it will help restaurants, drivers, or customers in the slightest.

In the last year such caps have been justified in cities across the country as a way to help restaurants struggling with survival in the midst of a pandemic that limited their ability to open their dining rooms. Several cities concluded that the fee charged by delivery companies unfairly reduces restaurant profits, and capped that fee at around fifteen percent of the cost of the meal. They concluded that capping fees would boost restaurant profits without negative consequences elsewhere.

However, I submit that this perspective is mistaken. In communities that have imposed such caps the response of the market has negated much of the intended impact. For instance, delivery companies faced with a cap have seen fit to add a flat fee of between $1 and $3 to the delivery in places like Washington, DC where I live.

The added fee charged in most markets with a restaurant price cap reduces demand for food delivery, and takeout sales have fallen in places where these fees are imposed. The platform companies often reduce their service areas for restaurants as well in order to make deliveries more economical, further diminishing sales.

Such caps also disrupt the fragile 3-sided food delivery service marketplace, resulting in fewer opportunities for work for these drivers and lower earnings for those who rely on the gig economy for income.

These caps in no way help restaurants: ephemerally increasing their net margins while reducing demand is not a tradeoff that benefits them, and they don't need a government to do this for them--they could do it themselves by merely raising their prices on takeout food.

There can be a rationale for a price cap in a monopsonistic market, but there are multiple competitors in the food delivery market in most places: Four different companies compete for market share across the country and none of them appear to be earning a profit at present.

Also, restaurants are not forced to participate in the food delivery market: they can easily decline to participate, and many choose to do so, or only contract with the one that gives them the best deal. Others provide their own delivery service and eschew the platforms. They choose to contract with delivery platforms because it boosts sales.

Progressive governments have competing goals at stake here: they want to make sure that drivers are paid enough, that restaurants are not charged too much for these services and that consumers continue to frequent their establishments. Those are worthy goals, but the idea that imposing a fee cap would improve upon the status quo for workers is predicated upon consumers being willing to pay significantly more for their delivered food, and that's typically where this calculus breaks down.

I find it hard to identify a public rationale for capping the fees that food delivery companies charge, and the actions by the app companies and restaurants obviate much of the impact of a price cap anyway. These caps are little more than a costly and counterproductive exercise meant to show compassion. I hope you consider allowing them to expire.

[Police Code - Third-Party Food Delivery Services] Ordinance amending the Police Code to remove the sunset clause from the article imposing a fee cap and other regulations on Third-Party Food Delivery Services.

Bill Sponsor – Supervisor Aaron Peskin

Dear Supervisors,

I write this letter to express my criticism for the proposed price controls on food delivery services. Delivery drivers cannot afford a permanent disruption in their income.

I am grateful to be working part-time as a food delivery driver for DoorDash. As the pandemic hit, I was furloughed at my bartending job. I decided to go to work for DoorDash. As a dasher, I have been able to pay my bills, and have become my own boss.

I recently found out that San Francisco may pass a bill that may have unintended consequences for Dashers like me. Although the Board of Supervisors wants to keep restaurants open and running, the price controls in the proposed bill will dampen the economic outlook for myself and my coworkers.

The Board of Supervisors needs to take a stand against this law, which will make it harder for me to earn money. DoorDash drivers need a reliable source of income. If dashing becomes economically inviable, we will not be able to receive orders from restaurants as often, which will affect not only our customers but restaurants as well. Please reconsider the legislation put before you so that Dashers can stay afloat.

Sincerely,

Mario Escalante

[Police Code - Third-Party Food Delivery Services] Ordinance amending the Police Code to remove the sunset clause from the article imposing a fee cap and other regulations on Third-Party Food Delivery Services.

Bill Sponsor – Supervisor Aaron Peskin

Dear Supervisors,

I have been a Dasher since DoorDash was established as a company. Because of that commitment, I am writing to urge you to oppose the implementation of a permanent price control on food delivery services in the city of San Francisco. It will create further harm to the industries that have struggled throughout this pandemic.

Working for DoorDash gave me the opportunity and, more importantly, the flexibility to work on my own schedule. Throughout this time I have been working to manage my chronic pain issues. DoorDash lets me work on a flexible schedule as I take care of my health. I would not have been able to do that working a standard 9-5 job.

Not only will this threaten my way of life, but will harm the very restaurants and consumers they're meant to help. It will limit the options available to restaurants, the Dashers, and the delivery community applications. This bill would negatively impact businesses that are just starting to recover from the pandemic. It has been a tough year enduring through this pandemic and DoorDash has been an opportunity for me to pay the bills and take care of loved ones.

I urge you not to approve this legislation. The bill would not only hurt my income as a Dasher as well as other Dashers but the restaurants that have struggled throughout this pandemic to stay open and provide to our local community.

Sincerely,

Re: File #210492 [Police Code - Third Party Delivery Services] Ordinance amending the Police Code to remove the sunset clause from the article imposing a fee cap and other regulations on Third-Party Food Delivery Services. -- Bill Sponsor – Supervisor Aaron Peskin -- OPPOSE

To the Public Safety and Neighborhood Services Committee:

On behalf of some of San Francisco's leading faith-based organizations, we write to respectfully register our opposition to File #210492 [Police Code - Third Party Delivery Services]. The ordinance seeks to remove the sunset clause on San Francisco's emergency ordinance placing price controls on commissions restaurants may choose to pay food delivery platforms in San Francisco. While well intended, we believe this is the wrong approach to assist struggling restaurants. We are deeply concerned that price controls in this highly competitive market will hamstring its ability to continue helping keep restaurants open, their workers employed, communities safe, and offering accessible part-time work throughout the state.

As leaders of congregations in San Francisco, we have seen the effect flexible work opportunities such as those offered by food delivery services have had -- uplifting good, hard working people. For low-income communities of color, low barrier-to-entry earning opportunities are vehicles to help earn an education, support their families, save for a rainy day, and achieve a better quality of life.

In addition to providing flexible, good paying work that fits around their schedules, food delivery services are helping keep Black-owned businesses afloat during a time of extraordinary pressure on the restaurant industry. Stifling the food delivery platforms during unprecedented demand for such services hurts our communities.

The negative impact of price control policies on businesses and consumers are made clear throughout history (i.e., gas lines in the 1970s, meat packing in the 1940s, etc.) and in cities in California and across the country today -- higher prices on consumers, reduced demand for delivery, fewer orders at restaurants, and more livelihoods unnecessarily lost.

Interfering with prices in competitive markets may appear like a no-cost solution to the very real struggles our restaurant industry is experiencing. In practice, it takes little time to begin weakening the market on all sides, including an already reeling population of consumers, workers and restaurant owners. As costs of operation shift to consumers, especially low-income consumers where even a dollar or two increase can be cost prohibitive, demand inevitably falls.

This is not only a detriment to the food delivery platforms; it hurts workers and restaurants themselves. Most importantly, it puts the health and safety of our communities at risk -- the same communities that have experienced a disproportionate share of COVID-19 positivity rates, hospitalizations and deaths and often live in food deserts without easy access to healthy foods. Should they now be unable to safely order food to their homes as well?

Arbitrary caps on the commission food delivery platforms may charge are misguided and shortsighted, poised to unintentionally add unnecessary strain on the entire restaurant industry and their workers, food delivery platforms and their workers, and Californians trying to make every dollar stretch while staying safe in their homes. We must refocus our efforts and double down on ways to directly aid struggling restaurants and workers, not manipulating markets in a way that will actually hurt them. Civil rights and faith groups ask you to oppose File #210492 when it is heard in committee.

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing to voice my opposition to commission caps both I limit my financial freedoms as a food delivery Dasher at DoorDash, and harm the entire delivery sector.

I moved to San Francisco five months ago in the middle of the pandemic. I struggled to find steady employment and had many expenses due to my recent move. As a Dasher, I safely earned consistent income on my own schedule.

Now, these regulations threaten my employment with DoorDash. Price controls such as these would reduce the hours I could work or even eliminate my livelihood. My story is common in this part of the country. Workers across Northern California have similarly relied on food delivery jobs to support themselves and their families during uncertain economic times of the pandemic. That is why it is important that we do not limit opportunities, as many Californians still have a hard time finding steady sources of income.

I urge you to think about those of us that have worked hard to serve customers who have been stuck at home or unable to shop in person. Our services this past year have proven essential to our communities and remain an important economic asset that we must maintain. Thank you for your consideration on this important matter.

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

I write to you today in opposition to the proposed permanent cap on delivery fees. My name is Ray Ali and I own Food and Liquor World, a grocery store and restaurant located in the heart of San Francisco. The last year has been one of the toughest I've ever had the 8 years I've been in business. The countless stay at home orders and COVID in-person dining restrictions, while necessary, were a big blow to my business. Thankfully over the last year I've had delivery to help make ends meet and keep my doors open.

I'm concerned that a permanent cap will change this. Having the City dictate what sort of business relationships I can and cannot enter into is both intrusive and unnecessary. Online delivery companies like UberEats and DoorDash have helped keep restaurants like mine going throughout this last year. If a permanent cap passes, the price controls they impose will mean higher prices for customers and lower orders for me. Fewer orders could mean the difference between keeping my doors open and having to close down for good like so many other establishments have in California in the past year.

Delivery remains a lifeline for restaurants like mine while COVID restrictions remain in place. Anything that jeopardizes delivery jeopardizes my business. Take it from a restaurant owner: price controls are not the answer. We appreciate the legislature's interest in supporting small businesses owners in this difficult time but a permanent cap is not the answer.

Thank you for taking the time to listen and I welcome any questions the committee may have.

Sincerely,

Rahim Ali

Re: CA AB 286

Dear Chairman Chau:

As the nation's leading business organizations representing the economic interests of diverse AAPI, Black, Latino, LGBTQ+, and disability communities, we write to express our concerns about California Assembly Bill 286, Food delivery: fees and tips, authored by Assembly Members Lorena Gonzalez and Alex Lee.

During COVID-19, food delivery platforms have served as a lifeline for local economies that have struggled during the transition away from indoor dining. They contribute to our member businesses' economic vitality in the state of California and generate critical tax revenues that help Californians weather the economic fallout from the public health crisis. These platforms' services are not only limited to food delivery from point A to point B. They also provide services that raise restaurants' visibility on their platforms through marketing and promotions and offer consumer protection safeguards like background checks for the couriers bringing them their orders. Job opportunities on food delivery platforms also represent critical, accessible, supplemental earning opportunities for food delivery couriers; many of whom were laid off during the pandemic.

The best thing we can provide the state's food delivery couriers is stability—not disruption—as we near the end of the pandemic and brace ourselves for a new normal. Unfortunately, the proposed permanent price control regulations on food delivery platforms threaten to disrupt the three-sided marketplace's delicate balance and limit options for business.

The legislative proposal raises significant concerns for many of our community businesses that implement commission-based business models. These price controls are anti-competitive and pose harm to diverse couriers who have experienced much-needed financial stabilization during these trying times. This legislation threatens the economic vitality of the couriers that identify with the communities we represent.

Permanent commission caps are not sustainable for a food delivery ecosystem that supports the three-sided marketplace of consumers, food delivery couriers, and merchants. Enacting this bill would make it harder, if not wholly untenable, for customers to access food delivery when it's the safest mode of patronage at this time and needed the most. Through increased customer prices, this legislation has the possibility of leading to regressive taxation on low-income communities who have been hard hit by the pandemic and rely on affordable delivery services now more than ever.

National LGBT
Chamber of Commerce

ASIAN/PACIFIC ISLANDER AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP

We encourage the Committee to work with diverse community organizations to identify alternative options to protect and support California restaurants. Tax relief and grants have long been successful tools in achieving such goals. Through the CARES Act and the American Rescue Plan's $28 billion Restaurant Revitalization Fund, federal legislation disseminates much-needed funding to state and local governments to help with the restaurant industry's recovery. Let's work together to sustain the economic vitality of all the beneficiaries of the food delivery ecosystem, including merchants, couriers, and consumers.

RE: Opposition to permanent extension of fee caps on delivery services

To the Public Safety and Neighborhood Services Committee:

Our coalition of community organizations, equity advocates, small businesses, restaurants, merchants, and app-based drivers strongly opposes the proposal to permanently cap fees on app-based food delivery services in the City of San Francisco.

These arbitrary fee caps increase costs for consumers, result in less business for restaurants, and reduce earning opportunities for app-based drivers.

Based on experience with San Francisco's temporary ordinance, we estimate that app-based drivers will lose out on millions of dollars of earnings every year if the fee cap becomes permanent and raises the prices for these critical services.

Making this harmful fee cap permanent would impose a permanent "hidden tax" on consumers and hurt the very small businesses they are intended to protect.

App-based delivery fees are carefully balanced to reflect the mutual benefits to each party. Commissions on restaurants help pay for restaurant marketing, payment, and insurance for drivers, customer service, and other services that help local restaurants attract new customers and grow business. Fees on customers reflect the convenience and value of the delivery service while also ensuring fair payment to drivers.

A 15% cap on a typical $20 food order leaves only $3 to pay for necessary services and drivers. This is an insufficient amount to pay for the delivery driver, insurance, promotion and marketing for the restaurant and services, credit card processing fees, customer support, technology, and costs of operating the platform.

As a result, experience has shown that fee caps wind up increasing costs for customers in order to keep services viable. Higher consumer prices reduce demand. Several cities have seen demand decrease by as much as 30% following the implementation of fee caps, taking away customers and business from restaurants that are struggling to stay afloat. Caps are particularly harmful to small independent restaurants trying to compete with larger chains that can afford their own marketing and delivery services.

Restaurants voluntarily work with app-based delivery platforms, and restaurants have choices between delivery platforms and also in the amount they are willing to pay. California law requires app-based platforms to have agreements with any restaurant before listing them on the app. And recent changes on some platforms allow restaurants to choose the specific services they want and need that correspond with the pricing level that fits their businesses.

Delivery services have been the difference between restaurants remaining in business or having to close permanently during the pandemic. A new report found that, between March 2020 and February 2021, (the first year of the pandemic) app-based platforms generated more than $9 billion in revenue to more than 117,000 restaurants, grocers, retailers, and small businesses in California.

Now is not the time to extend policies that harm restaurants, customers, and app-based drivers.

We respectfully urge you to reject the proposal to impose hidden costs and forcibly increasing prices on San Francisco customers and small businesses.

Dear Supervisors,

As an expectant mother, losing my only source of income to the pandemic , I needed to find flexible work immediately. Dashing on the DoorDash platform was the perfect way to begin making money to support my growing family.

As a dasher, I can choose my own schedule, even when my availability unexpectedly changes. This was extremely beneficial to me throughout the pandemic. With my baby now being 7 months old, ensuring we are both healthy is a top priority. DoorDash provided me with an opportunity to work while protecting my health.

Dashing is the best option for me and my family – however, my fellow

San Francisco Dashers and I have had to deal with the consequences of price caps. To make up for this loss of revenue, third party services are often forced to increase consumer fees leading to fewer orders for both Dashers and restaurants throughout the SF community. In short – price caps put both Dashers and restaurant owners/employees in a lose-lose situation.

By implementing price controls, San Francisco fails to recognize the valuable role we've played throughout the pandemic. Dashers helped keep businesses a float, as in person dining and capacity restrictions were detrimental to their well-being – despite being necessary. Please strongly consider how price controls impact those who rely on Dashing as a primary source of income.

Sincerely,

To the San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

My name is Refaee Alrefaee with Friends Liquor. I am opposed to setting a permanent cap for delivery.

Online delivery companies have helped keep businesses going throughout this last year. These companies offer various price points and pricing models for different services which include more than just delivery, but marketing and advertising too. I rely on these services and having the City dictate the business models I opt in to for my business is invasive.

Price controls are not the answer. I respectfully request that you vote no on permanent delivery caps. Thank you for your consideration and if you have any questions, please let me know.

Thank you,

Bill Sponsor – Supervisor Aaron Peskin

Dear Supervisors,

I am grateful to have the opportunity to be a dasher. Without DoorDash, I would have struggled to make it through the pandemic. Pre-COVID, I worked in event production and security. When everything shut down, the entertainment industry took a major hit and my sources of income disappeared. This is when I started to dash part-time. I really enjoyed that DoorDash allowed me to choose my own schedule, especially during the pandemic.

It has recently come to my attention that San Francisco is proposing a new law to cut the fees that drivers, like me, collect from restaurants. I believe this new proposal is unfair to Dashers who have been such an essential part to our communities over the past year delivering food and groceries across the Bay Area. I understand that officials may believe that this will benefit restaurants, but I personally think that this action will damage the industry as a whole. These fee reductions could force DoorDash to cut service with many restaurants that I frequently pick up from. This would leave both me, my fellow Dashers, and restaurants with less orders to fill, and could force restaurants to close and put us Dashers out of work.

As we start opening back up, now is not the time to create additional barriers that limit the ability of Dashers to make a living. Dashers have played an important role in helping the citizens of the Bay Area over the past year and helping keep many restaurants afloat. There are other ways for the Board of Supervisors to help restaurants, such as tax breaks or loan programs. But we don't need the government to come in and add more regulations that will end up hurting us all. I appreciate your consideration and hope that you vote to reject any proposal that will negatively affect Dashers like me.

Sincerely,

Mike Gilgoff

Dear Supervisors:

Dashing has become an important aspect of my life. I am so grateful to be a vaccinated worker and am especially proud to serve my community on the DoorDash platform. For these reasons, I donated my first $1,000 earnings to deliver food to hospitals and front-line workers in countries that are still battling high COVID-19 infection rates.

The pandemic has not been easy for anyone – including restaurants. I understand that price controls were created to support restaurants during these extremely trying times, but it also has an effect on my ability to earn.

As more and more people become vaccinated, it is reassuring to see life return to normal businesses, both large and small, are opening up – yet, these price controls remain in place, negatively affecting Dashers like me. If price controls persist, San Francisco Dashers, such as myself, could lose Dashing opportunities and receive lower earnings.

As a San Francisco resident, I want what is best for my fellow Dashers and my community. It is time we adjust this policy, so it benefits both restaurants and Dashers.

Dear Supervisors,

My name is David and I have been a Dasher for over six years. I am writing to you to express my disagreement with this permanent price control bill as it will affect dashers, restaurants, and the community.

I became a Dasher six years ago because I learned I was going to lose my job because management was retiring. Becoming a Dasher helped me make money to pay the bills and the flexibility to pursue my other interests. I would spend time travelling and providing community service to help others. I would never have had that opportunity had I stayed at my previous job.

We have all struggled whether it has been through work, our family and managing to get through the pandemic. Dashers have been essential to our communities, as we have delivered food and essentials to the community while they were at home during the pandemic. It has brought new opportunities for those who have been laid off and needed the money to pay the bills and serve an important role in this pandemic.

While lawmakers might have good intentions with this proposed law, it will unfortunately harm Dashers and further limit our earnings because it will cause prices for customers to go up and the number of deliveries are likely to go down. As we start to recover from the pandemic lawmakers should look to better solutions to protect and support restaurants and delivery people who provide a valued service on the frontlines.

I know this job has helped others like me through these difficult times and found that flexibility and motivation to move forward. I am asking you to please reconsider this proposal. It will harm Dashers like me, the restaurants we deliver for, and, most importantly, our community.

Sincerely,

David Lewis

Dear Supervisors:

As someone who depends on it, I urge you to not implement a permanent price control on food delivery services. Here in San Francisco, there are so many of us on this for our own personal financial freedom. DoorDash has enabled me to be independent in ways I didn't know were possible.

As a traveling musician, I signed up to be a part-time DoorDash driver in the earlier term of 2020. However, the pandemic soon hit, and I started driving for DoorDash full-time for income. Making money through DoorDash was my only hope in a time when I was unsure of what was around the corner.

This proposed policy does not stand for people like me. In the wake of this unprecedented COVID-era, policymakers must push policies that both support the economy and increase job opportunities for those in need.

I will never side with this tactic of placing a detrimental price control on California businesses. The Board of Supervisors should oppose permanent price controls - please do not move forward with the proposed controls.

Dear Supervisors,

After gaining experience with other delivery services, I started driving for DoorDash and fell in love with the independence it gives me. As a Dasher, I can choose my own hours and fit driving into my busy schedule. Since I started dashing two years ago, I've completed more than 4,200 deliveries!

I've heard about the proposed price control legislation and fear that it would significantly reduce my earnings. If it passes, countless drivers would encounter hardship as a result of lower incomes. With fewer drivers and longer wait times, the entire industry will suffer.

In the wake of the pandemic, I understand that the Board of Supervisors wants to help restaurants and keep delivery services, such as DoorDash, affordable to consumers. But with my experience as a San Francisco Dasher, I know how the unintended consequences of price controls would hurt everyone involved. While Dashers lose jobs and earnings, restaurants lose an outlet to reach consumers, and consumer choice rapidly decreases.

With the world just starting to open up, I urge you not to interfere with the delivery of food and other necessities to San Francisco residents. By opposing proposals that call for price control, you are supporting Dashers, restaurants, and our community.

Dear Supervisors:

There is no chance that I would be able to make a living for myself here in San Francisco if it wasn't for DoorDash. If permanent price controls took place in San Francisco, you would take away everything DoorDash driving has become for so many of us.

As the story goes for many others as well, I lost my job at a local theater due to the global pandemic. I was lucky to get a temporary job at Kaiser Permanente, but it's not enough to sustain me. Because of the flexible nature of DoorDash driving, I was able to make supplemental income that allowed me to stay in San Francisco.

While you may believe you are benefitting our beloved city by imposing price controls, I am confident that it will hurt us far more than it helps. DoorDash drivers like myself have seemingly become essential workers in a time when so many people are homebound. It's a two-way street of mutual benefit. Price controls could cause consumer fees to go up, which in turn may lead to fewer orders and fewer earning opportunities for me.

For these reasons, I oppose proposals that call for restricting delivery service fees, and encourage anyone who uses delivery apps as a customer, restaurant owner, or driver to do the same.

Re: File # 210492 Third-Party Food Delivery Services (Peskin) - OPPOSE

Dear Supervisor Peskin,

The undersigned organizations must respectfully take an opposed position to Ordinance # 210492 Third-Party Food Delivery Services (Peskin), which would rewrite private contracts between third-party delivery platforms and restaurants by extending an arbitrary cap on the fees restaurants pay to access delivery services. While this ordinance is framed as a pandemic-relief measure, in reality the ordinance is a permanent price control that would have significant unintended consequences for consumers, delivery drivers, and restaurants in San Francisco. Moreover, because delivery platforms are not public utilities, the price control imposed by this ordinance is unconstitutional.

The pandemic does not justify a permanent price control on delivery fees.

This ordinance purports to be a response to restrictions placed on restaurants during the pandemic. But it would impose a permanent price control that would override private contracts well after restaurants are permitted to fully reopen and the state of emergency ends. Put simply, this ordinance is not a pandemic-relief measure--it's a targeted attack on the economics of a single industry.

This ordinance will harm consumers, delivery drivers, and restaurants. In theory, this ordinance's arbitrary cap on fees will help restaurants. However, the rest of the community will pay the price if it is enacted, especially consumers and delivery drivers. According to the Progressive Policy Institute (PPI), restaurant fee caps result in "higher consumer fees"; "longer wait times"; "lower quality service," and "reduced restaurant and delivery zone coverage."<sup>1</sup>

In other locations that have passed similar laws during the pandemic, prices paid by consumers have increased to ensure that delivery platforms can continue to provide the high level service that consumers, delivery drivers, and restaurants have come to expect. This means that this ordinance could result in a hidden "tax" on consumers who use delivery platforms to order food from local restaurants, and such taxes hit consumers in low-income communities the hardest.

In addition, consumer price increases will decrease overall demand for orders placed through delivery platforms. Each lost order is one fewer income-earning opportunity for delivery drivers who rely on delivery platforms to supplement income and pay the bills.

Finally, this ordinance will hurt the very restaurants the ordinance purports to help. Fees paid by restaurants help to cover a wide range of operational costs, such as:

- Onboarding new delivery drivers, including background checks
- Ensuring that delivery drivers are paid fairly
- Maintaining safety, including insurance costs and providing personal protective equipment to protect delivery drivers
- Marketing services to diners, including advertising and promotions to drive demand to local restaurants
- Technology services including payment processing, order management, application maintenance, and dispatching technology
- Teams of dedicated customer service specialists to provide support to restaurants, customers, and workers for orders placed through our platforms

Arbitrarily limiting revenue from restaurants will make it harder for delivery platforms to invest in these services and future innovations, and could put the continued viability of third-party delivery at risk in certain locations.

Restaurants that choose to offer delivery or pickup have never had more choice. Some restaurants choose to offer delivery using their own staff, while others choose to partner with delivery platforms or a similar service. Those that do choose to partner with a delivery platform have a wide variety of platforms to choose from, and each platform offers products that are tailor-made to meet the needs of restaurants, from the largest chains to the local mom-and-pops. Interfering with private, voluntary agreements--as this ordinance would--overrides the choices these restaurants have made regarding the services that work best for them. And while some restaurants may have turned to delivery platforms as a result of the pandemic, that does not justify imposing a permanent price control.

Third-party delivery platforms invested heavily in restaurants throughout the pandemic. Since COVID-19 began impacting our communities, delivery platforms have provided tens of millions of dollars in direct restaurant support and have spent millions more providing free meals to healthcare workers, seniors, school children, and other vulnerable groups. And many delivery platforms also temporarily froze or reduced commission rates in response to the pandemic, in some cases by as much as 50 percent. The pandemic has made it more clear than ever that delivery platforms and restaurants depend on each other, and that is reflected in the private contracts they mutually agree to.

While many have argued that temporary price controls on delivery fees were justified by the pandemic, no such justification can be made for a permanent price control. Delivery platforms are not comparable to those businesses that are typically subjected to price controls; namely, public utilities providing essential services like electricity, gas, and water:

- Unlike a public utility, which is often the only provider of the essential service for a given market, restaurants have choice. Restaurants can choose whether to facilitate delivery themselves, and restaurants can choose which or how many delivery platforms to contract with, and what services to contract for.
- The government is only taking. When price controls have survived constitutional scrutiny -- again, typically, in the public utilities context -- the government entity gives to the utility before it takes: it gives the utility a monopoly over a market, and then it controls pricing as a necessary restraint of that monopolistic power.
- No assurance of profitability. Price controls for regulated utilities are set to ensure profitability. In contrast, this ordinance only takes away and interferes with delivery platforms' contracted for and constitutionally protected rights, and does nothing to ensure tech platforms remain profitable.

The arbitrary price control imposed by this ordinance is unconstitutional. If enacted, this ordinance would infringe on the constitutional rights of local restaurants and delivery platforms by:

- Rewriting and interfering with existing contracts between restaurants and delivery platforms in violation of the Contract Clause.
- Depriving restaurants and delivery platforms of their right to contract in violation of the Due Process Clause.
- Depriving delivery platforms of their contracted for property interests without any compensation in violation of the Takings Clause.
- Favoring one industry (restaurants) without any legitimate justification and to the likely detriment of local consumers and local delivery persons in violation of the Equal Protection Clause.
- Prohibiting restaurants from purchasing additional services from delivery platforms (such as advertising and marketing) in violation of the First Amendment.
- Compelling commercial speech in violation of the First Amendment by requiring delivery platforms to disclose an itemized cost breakdown to consumers and restaurants.

For these reasons, we respectfully oppose Ordinance # 210492 Third-Party Food Delivery Services (Peskin). Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Supervisors,

I am grateful to have the opportunity to be a dasher. Without DoorDash, I would have struggled to make it through the pandemic. Pre-COVID, I worked in event production and security. When everything shut down, the entertainment industry took a major hit and my sources of income disappeared. This is when I started to dash part-time. I really enjoyed that DoorDash allowed me to choose my own schedule, especially during the pandemic.

It has recently come to my attention that San Francisco is proposing a new law to cut the fees that drivers, like me, collect from restaurants. I believe this new proposal is unfair to Dashers who have been such an essential part to our communities over the past year delivering food and groceries across the Bay Area. I understand that officials may believe that this will benefit restaurants, but I personally think that this action will damage the industry as a whole. These fee reductions could force DoorDash to cut service with many restaurants that I frequently pick up from. This would leave both me, my fellow Dashers, and restaurants with less orders to fill, and could force restaurants to close and put us Dashers out of work.

As we start opening back up, now is not the time to create additional barriers that limit the ability of Dashers to make a living. Dashers have played an important role in helping the citizens of the Bay Area over the past year and helping keep many restaurants afloat. There are other ways for the Board of Supervisors to help restaurants, such as tax breaks or loan programs. But we don't need the government to come in and add more regulations that will end up hurting us all. I appreciate your consideration and hope that you vote to reject any proposal that will negatively affect Dashers like me.

Sincerely,

[Police Code - Third-Party Food Delivery Services] Ordinance amending the Police Code to remove the sunset clause from the article imposing a fee cap and other regulations on Third-Party Food Delivery Services.

Bill Sponsor – Supervisor Aaron Peskin

Dear Supervisors,

I write this letter to express my criticism for the proposed price controls on food delivery services. Delivery drivers cannot afford a permanent disruption in their income.

I am grateful to be working part-time as a food delivery driver for DoorDash. As the pandemic hit, I was furloughed at my bartending job. I decided to go to work for DoorDash. As a dasher, I have been able to pay my bills, and have become my own boss.

I recently found out that San Francisco may pass a bill that may have unintended consequences for Dashers like me. Although the Board of Supervisors wants to keep restaurants open and running, the price controls in the proposed bill will dampen the economic outlook for myself and my coworkers.

The Board of Supervisors needs to take a stand against this law, which will make it harder for me to earn money. DoorDash drivers need a reliable source of income. If dashing becomes economically inviable, we will not be able to receive orders from restaurants as often, which will affect not only our customers but restaurants as well. Please reconsider the legislation put before you so that Dashers can stay afloat.

Sincerely,

Mario Escalante

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing to voice my opposition to commission caps both I limit my financial freedoms as a food delivery Dasher at DoorDash, and harm the entire delivery sector.

I moved to San Francisco five months ago in the middle of the pandemic. I struggled to find steady employment and had many expenses due to my recent move. As a Dasher, I safely earned consistent income on my own schedule.

Now, these regulations threaten my employment with DoorDash. Price controls such as these would reduce the hours I could work or even eliminate my livelihood. My story is common in this part of the country. Workers across Northern California have similarly relied on food delivery jobs to support themselves and their families during uncertain economic times of the pandemic. That is why it is important that we do not limit opportunities, as many Californians still have a hard time finding steady sources of income.

I urge you to think about those of us that have worked hard to serve customers who have been stuck at home or unable to shop in person. Our services this past year have proven essential to our communities and remain an important economic asset that we must maintain. Thank you for your consideration on this important matter.

Dear Supervisors:

Dashing has become an important aspect of my life. I am so grateful to be a vaccinated worker and am especially proud to serve my community on the DoorDash platform. For these reasons, I donated my first $1,000 earnings to deliver food to hospitals and front-line workers in countries that are still battling high COVID-19 infection rates.

The pandemic has not been easy for anyone – including restaurants. I understand that price controls were created to support restaurants during these extremely trying times, but it also has an effect on my ability to earn.

As more and more people become vaccinated, it is reassuring to see life return to normal businesses, both large and small, are opening up – yet, these price controls remain in place, negatively affecting Dashers like me. If price controls persist, San Francisco Dashers, such as myself, could lose Dashing opportunities and receive lower earnings.

As a San Francisco resident, I want what is best for my fellow Dashers and my community. It is time we adjust this policy, so it benefits both restaurants and Dashers.

Dear Supervisors,

My name is David and I have been a Dasher for over six years. I am writing to you to express my disagreement with this permanent price control bill as it will affect dashers, restaurants, and the community.

I became a Dasher six years ago because I learned I was going to lose my job because management was retiring. Becoming a Dasher helped me make money to pay the bills and the flexibility to pursue my other interests. I would spend time travelling and providing community service to help others. I would never have had that opportunity had I stayed at my previous job.

We have all struggled whether it has been through work, our family and managing to get through the pandemic. Dashers have been essential to our communities, as we have delivered food and essentials to the community while they were at home during the pandemic. It has brought new opportunities for those who have been laid off and needed the money to pay the bills and serve an important role in this pandemic.

While lawmakers might have good intentions with this proposed law, it will unfortunately harm Dashers and further limit our earnings because it will cause prices for customers to go up and the number of deliveries are likely to go down. As we start to recover from the pandemic lawmakers should look to better solutions to protect and support restaurants and delivery people who provide a valued service on the frontlines.

I know this job has helped others like me through these difficult times and found that flexibility and motivation to move forward. I am asking you to please reconsider this proposal. It will harm Dashers like me, the restaurants we deliver for, and, most importantly, our community.

Sincerely,

David Lewis

Dear Supervisors:

As someone who depends on it, I urge you to not implement a permanent price control on food delivery services. Here in San Francisco, there are so many of us on this for our own personal financial freedom. DoorDash has enabled me to be independent in ways I didn't know were possible.

As a traveling musician, I signed up to be a part-time DoorDash driver in the earlier term of 2020. However, the pandemic soon hit, and I started driving for DoorDash full-time for income. Making money through DoorDash was my only hope in a time when I was unsure of what was around the corner.

This proposed policy does not stand for people like me. In the wake of this unprecedented COVID-era, policymakers must push policies that both support the economy and increase job opportunities for those in need.

I will never side with this tactic of placing a detrimental price control on California businesses. The Board of Supervisors should oppose permanent price controls - please do not move forward with the proposed controls.

Dear Supervisors,

After gaining experience with other delivery services, I started driving for DoorDash and fell in love with the independence it gives me. As a Dasher, I can choose my own hours and fit driving into my busy schedule. Since I started dashing two years ago, I've completed more than 4,200 deliveries!

I've heard about the proposed price control legislation and fear that it would significantly reduce my earnings. If it passes, countless drivers would encounter hardship as a result of lower incomes. With fewer drivers and longer wait times, the entire industry will suffer.

In the wake of the pandemic, I understand that the Board of Supervisors wants to help restaurants and keep delivery services, such as DoorDash, affordable to consumers. But with my experience as a San Francisco Dasher, I know how the unintended consequences of price controls would hurt everyone involved. While Dashers lose jobs and earnings, restaurants lose an outlet to reach consumers, and consumer choice rapidly decreases.

With the world just starting to open up, I urge you not to interfere with the delivery of food and other necessities to San Francisco residents. By opposing proposals that call for price control, you are supporting Dashers, restaurants, and our community.

Sincerely,

Re: File # 210492 Third-Party Food Delivery Services (Peskin) - OPPOSE

Dear Supervisor Peskin,

The undersigned organizations must respectfully take an opposed position to Ordinance # 210492 Third-Party Food Delivery Services (Peskin), which would rewrite private contracts between third-party delivery platforms and restaurants by extending an arbitrary cap on the fees restaurants pay to access delivery services. While this ordinance is framed as a pandemic-relief measure, in reality the ordinance is a permanent price control that would have significant unintended consequences for consumers, delivery drivers, and restaurants in San Francisco. Moreover, because delivery platforms are not public utilities, the price control imposed by this ordinance is unconstitutional.

The pandemic does not justify a permanent price control on delivery fees.

This ordinance purports to be a response to restrictions placed on restaurants during the pandemic. But it would impose a permanent price control that would override private contracts well after restaurants are permitted to fully reopen and the state of emergency ends. Put simply, this ordinance is not a pandemic-relief measure--it's a targeted attack on the economics of a single industry.

This ordinance will harm consumers, delivery drivers, and restaurants. In theory, this ordinance's arbitrary cap on fees will help restaurants. However, the rest of the community will pay the price if it is enacted, especially consumers and delivery drivers. According to the Progressive Policy Institute (PPI), restaurant fee caps result in "higher consumer fees"; "longer wait times"; "lower quality service," and "reduced restaurant and delivery zone coverage."<sup>1</sup>

In other locations that have passed similar laws during the pandemic, prices paid by consumers have increased to ensure that delivery platforms can continue to provide the high level service that consumers, delivery drivers, and restaurants have come to expect. This means that this ordinance could result in a hidden "tax" on consumers who use delivery platforms to order food from local restaurants, and such taxes hit consumers in low-income communities the hardest.

In addition, consumer price increases will decrease overall demand for orders placed through delivery platforms. Each lost order is one fewer income-earning opportunity for delivery drivers who rely on delivery platforms to supplement income and pay the bills.

Finally, this ordinance will hurt the very restaurants the ordinance purports to help. Fees paid by restaurants help to cover a wide range of operational costs, such as:

- Onboarding new delivery drivers, including background checks
- Ensuring that delivery drivers are paid fairly
- Maintaining safety, including insurance costs and providing personal protective equipment to protect delivery drivers
- Marketing services to diners, including advertising and promotions to drive demand to local restaurants
- Technology services including payment processing, order management, application maintenance, and dispatching technology
- Teams of dedicated customer service specialists to provide support to restaurants, customers, and workers for orders placed through our platforms

Arbitrarily limiting revenue from restaurants will make it harder for delivery platforms to invest in these services and future innovations, and could put the continued viability of third-party delivery at risk in certain locations.

Restaurants that choose to offer delivery or pickup have never had more choice. Some restaurants choose to offer delivery using their own staff, while others choose to partner with delivery platforms or a similar service. Those that do choose to partner with a delivery platform have a wide variety of platforms to choose from, and each platform offers products that are tailor-made to meet the needs of restaurants, from the largest chains to the local mom-and-pops. Interfering with private, voluntary agreements--as this ordinance would--overrides the choices these restaurants have made regarding the services that work best for them. And while some restaurants may have turned to delivery platforms as a result of the pandemic, that does not justify imposing a permanent price control.

Third-party delivery platforms invested heavily in restaurants throughout the pandemic. Since COVID-19 began impacting our communities, delivery platforms have provided tens of millions of dollars in direct restaurant support and have spent millions more providing free meals to healthcare workers, seniors, school children, and other vulnerable groups. And many delivery platforms also temporarily froze or reduced commission rates in response to the pandemic, in some cases by as much as 50 percent. The pandemic has made it more clear than ever that delivery platforms and restaurants depend on each other, and that is reflected in the private contracts they mutually agree to.

While many have argued that temporary price controls on delivery fees were justified by the pandemic, no such justification can be made for a permanent price control. Delivery platforms are not comparable to those businesses that are typically subjected to price controls; namely, public utilities providing essential services like electricity, gas, and water:

- Unlike a public utility, which is often the only provider of the essential service for a given market, restaurants have choice. Restaurants can choose whether to facilitate delivery themselves, and restaurants can choose which or how many delivery platforms to contract with, and what services to contract for.
- The government is only taking. When price controls have survived constitutional scrutiny -- again, typically, in the public utilities context -- the government entity gives to the utility before it takes: it gives the utility a monopoly over a market, and then it controls pricing as a necessary restraint of that monopolistic power.
- No assurance of profitability. Price controls for regulated utilities are set to ensure profitability. In contrast, this ordinance only takes away and interferes with delivery platforms' contracted for and constitutionally protected rights, and does nothing to ensure tech platforms remain profitable.

The arbitrary price control imposed by this ordinance is unconstitutional. If enacted, this ordinance would infringe on the constitutional rights of local restaurants and delivery platforms by:

- Rewriting and interfering with existing contracts between restaurants and delivery platforms in violation of the Contract Clause.
- Depriving restaurants and delivery platforms of their right to contract in violation of the Due Process Clause.
- Depriving delivery platforms of their contracted for property interests without any compensation in violation of the Takings Clause.
- Favoring one industry (restaurants) without any legitimate justification and to the likely detriment of local consumers and local delivery persons in violation of the Equal Protection Clause.
- Prohibiting restaurants from purchasing additional services from delivery platforms (such as advertising and marketing) in violation of the First Amendment.
- Compelling commercial speech in violation of the First Amendment by requiring delivery platforms to disclose an itemized cost breakdown to consumers and restaurants.

For these reasons, we respectfully oppose Ordinance # 210492 Third-Party Food Delivery Services (Peskin). Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Internet Association
TechNet

To whom it may concern,

We are very concerned with the potential repercussions on consumers and restaurants of the proposed San Francisco Ordinance to impose a fee cap and other regulations on third-party food delivery services (File #210492). The proposal, which permanently caps the fees third-party platforms can charge restaurants for deliveries, although intended to benefit small businesses, would backfire on the very same it is intended to help – restaurants.

Due to the loss of dine-in service, delivery apps have been a lifeline to isolated customers during the COVID-19 pandemic, and modifying what is already working would increase only uncertainty during a time when restaurants are fighting for their survival.

The proposal would essentially make the temporary price controls on the idea of food delivery permanent. We believe this is a very aggressive action by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors to get involved in how companies set their prices as it could ultimately lead to increased costs to the City's small business owners and customers, and lower pay for company delivery drivers due to decreased order volume. Since the costs will have to get recuperated somehow, customer fees would go up and worker pay would suffer. Additionally, the added cost of having to hire and manage their own delivery would be just as, if not more, expensive than using third-party platforms.

Many restaurants would probably not have been able to be in business during the pandemic if it wasn't for the delivery platforms to offer their products. The Board of Supervisors should prioritize ensuring that restaurants are able to stay afloat and NOT jeopardizing their sales and survival at a time when they already do not have enough revenue coming in the door.

Hello SF Supervisors,

I'm Markose Butler, the State and Local Outreach director at the Progressive Policy Institute, I'm writing to you today to share the research we have conducted regarding the plan to remove the Sunset Provision on the Delivery Price Cap. Highlighted by our research is the potential to negatively impact consumers, delivery drivers, and the small businesses who rely on the revenue from deliveries to get by during the pandemic. I've attached a research study we've conducted which details the negative externalities of using price controls specifically with regards to the restaurant sector. The key takeaway from the paper is laid out below:

In general, most economists view price controls as an ineffective and inefficient means of achieving lower costs for underserved groups...There is a narrow range of circumstances when price controls can be beneficial for social welfare. [But none] of these exceptions applies to the food delivery market in this crisis...Instead, we can expect price controls on food delivery to have the usual negative effect. And based on early data from the cities that have capped commissions, that's exactly what's happening. Companies are shifting the costs from restaurants to consumers in the form of higher fees, and because consumers are generally more sensitive to price increases, this is leading to a reduction in output in these markets. Fewer orders means less business for restaurants and less income for drivers.

Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions regarding our position on this matter, I'd be happy to answer any questions you may have.

Best Regards,

Markose Butler

Supervisor Peskin,

Grubhub values San Francisco's commitment to its restaurants, a commitment Grubhub shares that has been at the heart of our work since we were founded in 2004. We have been proud to partner with California in advocating for important legislation like AB 2149, ensuring that web-based food delivery services have contracts with the restaurants that appear on their platforms.

However, Grubhub opposes your recent measure to remove the sunset date on San Francisco's commission cap, legislation that would place a permanent cap on the fees negotiated between restaurants and third-party delivery platforms - imposing damaging price controls. These limits would hurt San Francisco's restaurants' ability to grow profitably, generate revenue and recover from the pandemic. San Francisco's restaurants need long-term solutions from the Board of Supervisors, not punitive measures singling out online food ordering and delivery platforms.

Grubhub provides much more than delivery for our restaurant partners. We primarily act as a marketing and advertising partner that generates increased sales for independent restaurants. Marketing services can include search engine marketing and optimization, loyalty and rewards programs, point of sale integration and other programs. These aggregated services have associated hard costs that restaurants would otherwise have to incur themselves. By providing these discounted by scale, Grubhub allows independent restaurants to compete against large chains with massive marketing budgets. If passed, this legislation would limit San Francisco's independent restaurants' ability to utilize these services, hurting them in both the short- and long-term.

Further, the U.S. and California Constitutions prohibit the enactment of any law that targets a handful of companies, prevents them from entering into voluntary contracts with their business partners, and forces them to operate unprofitably in order to bestow economic benefit on local businesses. The proposed fee cap does exactly that, and in our view is unconstitutional under a variety of overlapping provisions, including the Due Process, Equal Protection, Commerce, Contract and Takings Clauses.

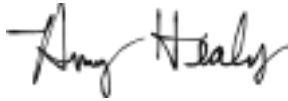

It's also important to note we have heard from the experts on what is needed next. The National Restaurant Association's recent Blueprint for State and Local Restaurant Recovery includes detailed steps lawmakers can take to support restaurants. Specifically they recommend safeguarding tax treatment to prevent unforeseen liability of federal relief funds, establishing grants to save restaurants, providing property tax relief and making alcohol to-go permanent.

What you will not find on that list is any argument for fee caps or private contract disclosure as policies that effectively support restaurants and their emergence from the pandemic.

The services we provide that let restaurants market themselves are being clouded by a misguided policy approach. Fee caps are harmful to the very restaurants that want to grow, differentiate and market themselves to the more than 30 million active diners on Grubhub's platform.

That's why we urge you to work with us and restaurants to find solutions that deliver the support restaurants need.

Dear Supervisors,

At today's meeting, please pause the litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

There is no risk in this action.

Even with unimpaired flows in the Tuolumne River, the service area will have sufficient water supply.

The biggest user of this water source is the upper end of the wholesale purchase area (San Mateo County). It recently recognized that it must reduce dependence on Hetch Hetchy water.

At the same time, the state will either accept the SFPUC's staff's proposed "voluntary plan" (Tuolumne River Voluntary Agreement or TRVA) or reject it on the basis of its poor modeling. Note that the SFPUC commissioners appear to doubt the basis of the TRVA. The current litigation will not influence this, so it is unnecessary.

The City can also reduce its unnecessary costs associated with this litigation.

Thanks.

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Honorable Supervisors,

I support this resolution urging the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause its litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

Water is life. It's a political slogan, but it's true. All living things - ourselves, the plants and animals we raise, the plants and animals in the wild - we all need water to survive. We're in a drought, so there's less water to go around. I was very disappointed to see that the SFPUC's first reaction to the California State Water Resource Board's proposed allocation was to file suit demanding more water for San Francisco. Less water flowing down the rivers has a particularly bad impact on species, salmon, for instance, who live part of their lives in the rivers, and part in the ocean, and that impacts the diverse groups, including us, that depend on those species, upstream in the river, and downstream in the ocean. I'm sure I'm not alone in saying I'm willing to settle for fewer showers if it helps make for healthier rivers, filled with more abundant life.

This sensible resolution urges the SFPUC to consider the input of the diverse group of stakeholders on this matter, and come to a decision based on credible science.

I urge you to adopt it.

This message is from outside the City email system. Do not open links or attachments from untrusted sources.

Dear Supervisors:

Today you received a letter from the CEO of the Bay Area Water Supply and Conservation Agency (BAWSCA) regarding the Tuolumne River Voluntary Agreement (TRVA). BAWSCA and the SFPUC are misleading others about the potential efficacy of the TRVA. Attached is a letter we sent to BAWSCA in response to a presentation the CEO gave to her Board. BAWSCA was unable to respond to our comments. The National Marine Fisheries Service commissioned a peer review that debunked the “science” behind the TRVA, yet the water agencies continue to claim it would produce more fish with less water. In fact, it would likely lead to the extinction of Central Valley salmon.

I point this out to encourage you to hear from both sides of the issue. The SFPUC continues to inflate the potential impact of the Bay Delta Plan on our water supply. For example, a few months ago the SFPUC provided information to the BAWSCA agencies to help them prepare their Urban Water Management Plans. That information used contractual obligations to represent current and future demand, inflating it by 25%. We caught them trying to cook the books, and they were forced to correct the information using actual demand projections. This simple, honest change reduced potential future rationing by 27%.

There are a number of other ways the SFPUC and BAWSCA mislead leaders like you. We would welcome the opportunity to address these issues alongside the SFPUC and allow you to serve as judges. You won't be disappointed.

In the meantime, I invite you to view a presentation I gave to Sustainable Silicon Valley. It's posted at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NkY5alrIEQo&feature=youtu.be&t=1> (I start at 31:55).

I look forward to continuing this conversation, and encourage you to support Supervisor Peskin's resolution.

Thank you.

Hello,

My name is Jessie Rodriguez, I am writing on behalf of the American Indian Cultural District on Agenda Item #40, 210577 [Urging the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to Pause Litigation Against the State Water Resources Control Board] from today's Board Of Supervisors Regular Meeting.

We need to prioritize clean water in San Francisco and the protection of our California Salmon. The May 13th lawsuit filed by the SFPUC and SF City Attorney Dennis Herrera has a disproportionate negative impact on American Indian people who rely on salmon as a traditional food source and medicine for their people, including Tribes from the SF Bay and Bay Delta, along with millions of Californians that get their water below San Francisco's diversion. This lawsuit and Mr. Herrera's views do not reflect the environmental values of the American Indian community or the San Francisco Bay Area. These positions directly undermine needed reform of the SFPUC regarding environmental protections, use of credible science including Indigenous knowledge, and diversifying San Francisco's water supply.

Thank you,

Dear San Francisco Supervisors,

I'm a resident of District 6 and the litigation by the against the State Water Control Board. This litigation has not been well thought out and alternatives have not been well studied. What's more disturbing is the fact that the SFPUC's alternative plan, the TRVA, is based on unproven models. Given the recent move by Mayor Breed to nominate Dennis Herrera, in the wake of the corruption scandal, to head the SFPUC, someone who has no experience in this field, I worry that politics are taking precedent over the critical environmental concerns that impact all of us in the City and State. Please pause the litigation so that the policy is guided by science and environment, not politics.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Sincerely,

In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Sincerely,

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Sincerely,

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

Dear Friends,

As I am sure you are aware, we are playing a long-game in California with the availability of water. Thanks to the eloquent SF Chronicle editorial by Peter Drekmeyer, we have a terse summary of where we have arrived. It is discouraging that we tend to rely on unsubstantiated opinions, rather than facts when dealing with water, which is necessary for all plants, animals, and people--namely, for the planetary ecosystem as we have known it. If a jet fighter pilot did this, they would lose skirmishes and crash, at terrific expense. We are not protecting our own population in California with our current over-drafting of our Sierra streams, though we have a number of skillful and effective other paths to follow. To be frank, it is a blatant lie to claim that we provide "water security" when we threaten the ecosystem, by both causing and reacting half-heartedly to the climate effects of global warming. I cannot suggest strongly enough that we follow the proven science as Peter Drekmeyer has outlined in detail many times, and to add my own wish: start (way) offshore wind-powered desalination of seawater NOW as our security blanket until we climb out of our deepening global climate catastrophe.

Sincerely,

Supervisors,

Please protect our rivers and stop Dennis Herrera's lawsuit.

We cannot continue to satisfy our needs by pillaging the natural environment.

The bills for previous pillaging are coming due. Continuing this short sighted behavior will certainly destroy our land for our future selves and our children.

A healthy environmental system is crucial to our future. This is true globally, but is even more true locally! One of the major reasons that our city is one of the most desirable places to live in the world is because of the beautiful surrounding environment.

Mismanagement of these resources in the short term will surely undermine the long term value of living in the bay area.

As a community, we must learn to live with the water resources we have. Robbing the helpless natural environment to satisfy our short term needs is the path to disaster.

Sincerely,

Bill Gray

Peter Drekmeier's article in today's Chronicle illustrates the need for change to address climate change and prepare for future droughts. We must start recycling our water supplies and follow the State's Water Policy to become self reliant and develop locally sustainable water supplies, including potable reuse. We have the technology, local support, and the reservoir at Crystal Springs to fill with purified water. Southern California had no choice. We have a choice now to do the right thing and reduce our unnecessary pressure on the environment. As former chair of the State Water Board, Felicia Marcus said so eloquently, let's start with a 50:50 split on water and share this increasingly scarce resource with the environment before it's too late. Doing less is carelessly short sighted and an unnecessary abuse of power.

Dennis Herrera's editorial in the SF Chronicle discusses how "SFPUC modeling" predicts a near-total depletion of SF water supplies in 2021. What he fails to explain is that the model has been shown to be outdated and erroneous. Anyone can create a doomsday model with a spreadsheet, but the model is only as useful as the veracity of the data. His editorial would carry more weight if based on fact rather than being used to stoke irrational fear in support of political gain.

The damage California's existing water policies have done to the environment are so severe that it's now become cliché to talk about "tipping points". But still the old, tired policies are seldom scientifically reviewed. The Tuolumne River Trust has pursued an independent study, which has arrived at verifiable and opposing conclusions to Mr. Herrera's.

Mr. Herrera points to San Francisco's gradual adoption of conservation measures. Though change comes at a snail's pace, indeed, SF requires less water from the Tuolumne than in years past, and this is despite its growing population. The current drought could extend multiple years into the future before his dire predictions would come to pass. Even then, measures exist to maintain a viable supply for Bay Area cities.

The steps most urgently needed are in support of new policies aimed at reuse and conservation. Don't allow our environment to pay the price for lazy thinking and out-dated models.

It is imperative to the future of California's environment and water management that the SF Board of Supervisors support Supervisor Peskin's resolution to pause the lawsuit filed by Mr. Herrera.

The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Dear Supervisors:

It is time for California to be innovative about water management, and for San Francisco to show leadership to do so. Suing the State Water Board to get more water for San Francisco at the detriment of the environment is not demonstrating such leadership. Please support Supervisor Peskin's resolution (FILE NO.210577) to pause the suit.

"Instead of litigating, The City should show its environmental leadership by expanding alternative water resources. It's possible to keep our taps and our salmon running, even during droughts." (Robyn Purchia, SF Examiner) The engineers at the UC systems, for instance, have many innovative solutions for alternative water sources from both technology and policy perspectives, and San Francisco should be taking note and making use of this research.

Please do not allow San Francisco to move backwards. Support Supervisor Peskin's resolution and show that San Francisco is still a technical, policy and environmental leader.

Thank you.

Dear Board of Supervisors,

As a forty-year resident of the Bay Area, I write to urge you to support Supervisor Peskin's resolution encouraging the City to pause the lawsuit against the State Water Board. I follow the issue, and I was greatly moved by the recent editorial in the SF Chronicle on the issue, authored by Peter Dreke, a man extremely well-informed on the subject. This passage from the editorial struck me as particularly relevant, and you should consider it when asking the city to pause the lawsuit:

"The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission, meanwhile, wants a "voluntary agreement" for the Tuolumne River. Instead of providing the river with desperately needed flow, the city is proposing power-washing spawning gravel, building a fish barrier that would somehow block undesired fish, but allow "good" fish to pass unmolested, and restoring a small amount of floodplain habitat for baby fish. These half-measures are doomed to fail. Floodplains without enough water to inundate them are useless. ..."

Please do all you can to stop this lawsuit against the State Water Board.

Dear SF Board of Supervisors:

I am writing to you today in support of the resolution by Supervisor Peskin,

(FILE NO. 210577 Supervisors Peskin; Mandelman BOARD OF SUPERVISORS [Urging the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to Pause Litigation Against the State Water Resources Control Board])

asking the SFPUC to pause its lawsuit against the State Water Resources Control Board which mandated minimum flows on the Tuolumne River. Recent expert testimony at SFPUC workshops on the issue have unequivocally shown that the Voluntary Agreements by themselves are no substitute for the minimum flows needed to support viable chinook salmon habitat. The SFPUC has generated a false sense of alarm by proposing an 8 year "design drought" that has never happened in recorded history, which would require unprecedented high levels of rationing. This falsehood was recently demonstrated, when in 2017, the SFPUC had captured up to 12 years of water consumption and then had to dump 88% of it because the reservoirs were too full. As a result, many chinook salmon died over the preceding years with NO benefit to humans. The SFPUC must re-focus its efforts towards advanced water treatment and re-use and less on reservoir storage as California will likely be facing regular droughts followed by a few monsoon years in our climate damaged future.

As customers of the SFPUC, we have willingly complied with past requests for rationing in the expectation that the Commission would act in the interests of the environment as well. Their current lawsuit shows them to be out of touch with their constituency. The recent resignation of the executive director under charges of corruption further tarnishes their image. The Board of Supervisors needs to exercise their power to bring the SFPUC to its senses.

Honorable Supervisors,

I write today urging you to support Supervisor Peskin's resolution encouraging the City to pause the lawsuit against the State Water Board.

With climate change, we will increasingly be facing drought conditions statewide. Instead of litigation and protection of what should be obsolete rights based on brass knuckle tactics in the past, the City should be follow the lead of other large state municipalities and employ more conservation, alternative resources, and water recycling technologies.

San Francisco likes to call itself the "greenest" city, but the SFPUC is a glaring example of going in the exact opposite direction. This has been going on for way too long. It's time for the City to drop the regressive approaches and show some real leadership in solving the challenges ahead.

Thanks for your consideration.

Opposing Dennis Herrera for GM of the SFPUC

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

Dennis Herrera's SF Chronicle editorial (5/28/2021) reads like another uninformed PR exercise by the SFPUC as he pursues the well-paid job of SFPUC-GM. A position he is eminently unqualified to hold.

The SFPUC's Regional water system has seen a decline in demand. From 1985 to 2014, its sales averaged 246 million gallons a day (MGD). From 2014 to 2020, this average was down to 189 MGD. The reason being that wholesale or city-gate rates have increased at an annualized rate of 8 percent. Since 2009 wholesale rates have increased at an annualized rate of 12 percent. These escalating rates have primarily caused demand decreases. Demand decreases will continue unless the SFPUC mitigates these rate increases through cost-cutting and the implementation of an efficient business model.

City Attorney Herrera disqualified himself as a manager of scarce water resource issues when the city signed the Water Supply Agreement in 2009 (updating the 1984 Agreement) with BAWSCA (peninsula wholesalers). The 2009 agreement gave BAWSCA an ad infinitum guarantee of 184 MGD and San Francisco 81 MGD (including possibly 4 MGD from aquifer water) from the Hetch Hetchy Regional Water system. San Francisco averaged approximately 88 MGD and BAWSCA customers 162 MGD from pristine Hetch Hetchy supplies between the two agreements (1985 to 2008). This 2009 allocation makes no statistical or economic sense.

Before the 2009 Agreement, debt-service costs were embedded in water rates using the traditional utility method. The utility method made it easy to identify rates and current delivery costs. The 2009 Agreement switched to the cash method. A technique wherein determining debt-service costs with current rates is near impossible. The passage of the 1996 Proposition mandates only costs for current deliveries can be in the rates. A rate challenge under Proposition 218 (also California Constitution XIII c and d) would have a high probability of success.

When I represented the BoS on the RBOC (2003-2012), I worked long and hard to get a truly independent audit. UCLA and UCB put forward a great proposal. After months of intense negotiations, UCB-UCLA (professor and PhD. students) presented an outstanding proposal. When the signing arrived, it was "disappeared" by the chair and vice-chair and with committee assent. I could not get an answer as to why? The chair substituted an innocuous and hitherto not seen before alternative. Shortly after that, the RBOC entered into a pay-for-play MOU contract with the Controller. As an aside I personally had to write UCB-UCLA

Professors for wasting their valuable time and giving expectations to their brilliant PhD. students. A blot for CCSF. My own supervisor remained aloof and would not help.

I requested the RBOC hire an independent lawyer to check the legal validity of this MOU before entering into such. Not one member would second my motion for an independent review of the MOU. The attorney representing Dennis Herrera said nothing. The Controller has a voting seat on the RBOC, and I believe he voted for the MOU with the Controller. I thought this an insult to the independent clauses of 2002 Proposition P (I proposed and coauthored P) and a possible conflict of interest.

Not only did this MOU ignore the independent mandates of its enabling legislation (Proposition P 2002/November), the Controller had a voting seat on the RBOC. This fact seemed to me to be a possible conflict of interest? My experience on the nullified RBOC representing the BoS made me lose confidence in the City Attorney. The Board must oppose Dennis Herrera from being GM of the SFPUC. This one episode is just the tip of the iceberg in those nightmare years of enduring member nullification.

Deceased City resident and Nobel Prize winner Milton Friedman said there are no free lunches even in Paris. This no-free lunch concept applies even more so to San Francisco. But do not tell anyone in our government system. The SFPUC requires a suitably skilled and qualified person.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Dear Board of Supervisors Members,

As an environmentalist who had watched the water policies affecting the Bay Area play out for the last 25 years, I feel strongly that San Franciscans deserve a water policy plan that represents their environmental values, and the city's suit against the state Water Board undermines that goal.

Supervisor Aaron Peskin has introduced a resolution encouraging the city to pause its suit against SFPUC and to follow the science. It doesn't take much of your time to review and see where and how the city's lawsuit and voluntary agreement proposal misses the mark. The problem is that the suit, if successful: would seriously jeopardize critical fish species that undergird the health of the entire Tuolumne River ecosystem; would continue unsustainable water diversions whose negative impacts would ripple throughout the Bay-Delta; increase the likelihood we will experience a mass extinction in the not too distant future; increases the risk that the commercial salmon fishing industry at Fisherman's Wharf will be relegated to the history books and makes it increasingly likely that delta communities will continue to suffer from toxic algae blooms tied to insufficient river flows.

Ridiculous!

Please do the right thing and side with science and sustainability goals to protect this water system responsibly. Support Peskin's resolution.

Sincerely,
EM Wilkinson

Dear Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to urge you to support Supervisor Peskin's resolution to pause SF's lawsuit against the CA Water Resources Control Board. Climate change is real and we are seeing its effects. It is way past the time for antiquated environment-killing bandaids to systemic water problems that require both conservation measures and technology upgrades — NOT draining every last drop out of our streams and rivers as the SFPUC seems to want to do. Thank you.

Dear Board Members:

This is just a quick note to urge you to support Supervisor Peskin's resolution encouraging the City to pause its pending legislation against the State Water Resources Control Board. I feel certain you are familiar with this proposed resolution, but I have linked here, just to be clear:

<https://sfgov.legistar.com/View.ashx?M=F&ID=9420698&GUID=FF54FE51-0746-4395-AE02-93E8A93956BF>

The recent opinion editorial by Peter Drekmeier, attached, makes a very convincing case for what Supervisor Peskin is urging, and I hope you will take heed!

I am a San Francisco native, visit the City frequently, and still read the Chronicle every morning. The entire state, not just current residents, have a huge stake in how the state's water resources are managed. I am convinced that there is an approach that protects city water users while providing much better protection to the natural environment on which we all rely.

Thank you for taking my views seriously.

I'm a physician trained at University of California San Francisco. There are myriad alternative solutions to San Francisco PUC's build dams and hoard water strategy. I hope you will support Supervisor Peskin's resolution to halt/pause your lawsuit and follow the science. SF should urgently adopt a credible and science-based water supply strategy based on conservation as well as purification of waste and sewage water (as Orange County does).

This is the path forward versus hoarding water behind dams and destroying our environment. How can 21st century and progressive-minded city rely on late 19th century dam-building mentality?

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing in support of Supervisor Peskin's resolution to drop the lawsuit against California's Water Board. The measures outlined in the State's plan will help protect salmon, wildlife and the State's natural resources. Resiliency for San Franciscans comes from striking a balance and the science shows that the State's plan is a step in the right direction.

Instead of fighting the State, San Francisco should expand incentives for graywater reuse and other conservation measures and lead the State in environmental protection.

I am proud of San Francisco's track record of taking thoughtful, science-driven, lead-the-nation positions on matters of public health, the environment, and well-being — throughout the three decades I've lived in our city, from the AIDS crisis right through the current pandemic.

This lawsuit, however, is simply a retrograde "I've got mine" reaction to a reasonable, science-driven directive from the State of California.

Please put the lawsuit on hold, and hear out the scientific community on this one.

As a concerned citizen of Menlo Park and SFPUC water user I am concerned with the SF city attorneys lawsuit against the State Water Board. Ignoring available scientific reports and unwillingness to discuss water use issues, the SFPUC seems to have hidden agenda that needs to be addressed in a public forum.

Mayor Breed has appointed Dennis Herrera as the new SFPUC. SFPUC has also failed to discuss in an open meeting the logic of these decisions. Other very well qualified candidates that are willing to look at the available water availability science were overlooked for the new SFPUC manager position.

I ask you to reconsider the choice of Dennis Herrera as SFPUC chief and consider into Supervisor Peskin's resolution into this matter.

I encourage you to support Supervisor Perkins' Resolution to pause the lawsuit against the SW Board.

There is an adequate supply of water for San Francisco and the Peninsula from current sources. To the Board of Supervisors:

Please support the Resolution urging the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause its litigation against the California State Water Resources Control Board and instead heed the beneficial input of a diverse and inclusive group of stakeholders, including subject matter experts in environmental protection, habitat restoration, and the diversification of water supplies based on credible science.

Here are three reasons:

1. It's important to base decisions on the best science available, and avoid being swayed by fearful exaggerations or political gain. Trump tried to show the nation that science can't be trusted. Please show us otherwise: Trust the best science available and it's sensible and logical conclusions.
2. The SFPUC has overestimated the demand for water, and clearly underestimated their customers' ability and desire to prove themselves capable of further conservation and reuse. The SFPUC lawsuit is an insult to their customers but it is dressed up as a gift.
3. Please don't doubt that Salmon are the "canary in the coalmine". We can't foresee the full impact of environmental collapse until we're in it, until all modes of survival require an engineered response. Who would take the risk of Californians ultimately living in an engineered world where critical responses in nature must be continuously fabricated? The SFPUC lawsuit wants to take us in that direction.

An ordinary SFPUC customer,

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

I support Supervisor Peskin's resolution to pause on the lawsuit against the State Water Board. I read an editorial by Peter Dreckmeier that states that our reservoirs on the Tuolumne River currently have enough water for around 4 years, and one year the SF Public Utilities, which can take out more than it needs, had to release 88% of the water because the reservoirs were already too full to receive new water. Not good.

Thanks for your consideration.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

Dennis Herrera's SF Chronicle editorial (5/28/2021) reads like another uninformed PR exercise by the SFPUC as he pursues the well-paid job of SFPUC-GM. A position he is eminently unqualified to hold.

The SFPUC's Regional water system has seen a decline in demand. From 1985 to 2014, its sales averaged 246 million gallons a day (MGD). From 2014 to 2020, this average was down to 189 MGD. The reason being that wholesale or city-gate rates have increased at an annualized rate of 8 percent. Since 2009 wholesale rates have increased at an annualized rate of 12 percent. These escalating rates have primarily caused demand decreases. Demand decreases will continue unless the SFPUC mitigates these rate increases through cost-cutting and the implementation of an efficient business model.

City Attorney Herrera disqualified himself as a manager of scarce water resource issues when the city signed the Water Supply Agreement in 2009 (updating the 1984 Agreement) with BAWSCA (peninsula wholesalers). The 2009 agreement gave BAWSCA an ad infinitum guarantee of 184 MGD and San Francisco 81 MGD (including possibly 4 MGD from aquifer water) from the Hetch Hetchy Regional Water system. San Francisco averaged approximately 88 MGD and BAWSCA customers 162 MGD from pristine Hetch Hetchy supplies between the two agreements (1985 to 2008). This 2009 allocation makes no statistical or economic sense.

Before the 2009 Agreement, debt-service costs were embedded in water rates using the traditional utility method. The utility method made it easy to identify rates and current delivery costs. The 2009 Agreement switched to the cash method. A technique wherein determining debt-service costs with current rates is near impossible. The passage of the 1996 Proposition mandates only costs for current deliveries can be in the rates. A rate challenge under Proposition 218 (also California Constitution XIII c and d) would have a high probability of success.

When I represented the BoS on the RBOC (2003-2012), I worked long and hard to get a truly independent audit. UCLA and UCB put forward a great proposal. After months of intense negotiations, UCB-UCLA (professor and PhD. students) presented an outstanding proposal. When the signing arrived, it was “disappeared” by the chair and vice-chair and with committee assent. I could not get an answer as to why? The chair substituted an innocuous and hitherto not seen before alternative. Shortly after that, the RBOC entered into a pay-for-play MOU contract with the Controller. As an aside I personally had to write UCB-UCLA Professors for wasting their valuable time and giving expectations to their brilliant PhD. students. A blot for CCSF. My own supervisor remained aloof and would not help.

I requested the RBOC hire an independent lawyer to check the legal validity of this MOU before entering into such. Not one member would second my motion for an independent review of the MOU. The attorney representing Dennis Herrera said nothing. The Controller has a voting seat on the RBOC, and I believe he voted for the MOU with the Controller. I thought this an insult to the independent clauses of 2002 Proposition P (I proposed and coauthored P) and a possible conflict of interest.

Not only did this MOU ignore the independent mandates of its enabling legislation (Proposition P 2002/November), the Controller had a voting seat on the RBOC. This fact seemed to me to be a possible conflict of interest? My experience on the nullified RBOC representing the BoS made me lose confidence in the City Attorney. The Board must oppose Dennis Herrera from being GM of the SFPUC. This one episode is just the tip of the iceberg in those nightmare years of enduring member nullification.

Deceased City resident and Nobel Prize winner Milton Friedman said there are no free lunches even in Paris. This no-free lunch concept applies even more so to San Francisco. But do not tell anyone in our government system. The SFPUC requires a suitably skilled and qualified person.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The SF PUC is suing the State of California to overturn the Bay-Delta Plan. That Plan supports everything dependent on the waters of the Bay and Delta from people to salmon.

It has a good and sufficient scientific basis.

I urge that you support Supervisor Peskin's resolution to protect the full range of necessary uses of our water and allow for "deliberate public engagement on the underlying issues and negotiation among the interested parties."

Hello,

I want to begin by acknowledging that I am not a resident of San Francisco, but I am a resident of the Bay Area and am impacted by the ongoing legal debate between SFPUC and the State Water Board. I have been reading the recent news coverage and editorials about this conflict and the impacts on the Tuolumne River and the greater Bay-Delta.

I support Supervisor Peskin's resolution and hope that it will be adopted. Thorough research, including consulting with diverse stakeholders, went into the state's requirements. I hope that San Francisco will look beyond its own borders and unnecessary fears of avoiding scarcity at all costs to the environment and external stakeholders.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Re: Please pause Herrera's litigation against the California State Water Board and support the Bay Delta Plan

The SFPUC still doesn't understand the water issues that will affect the City and the entire SF Bay. San Francisco will still have plenty of water after more water is released this year into the Tuolumne River. Please follow the science and not scare tactics.

If this Board is serious about saving water, and, at the same time tax payers dollars, do some simple things like repairing the leaky water supply system throughout the City. Just this year the sewer lines were replaced on our street but not the 1917 water supply pipes that have so deteriorated the workers replacing the sewer lines have to take extra time to work around these pipes for fear of breakage. After the sewer replacement, the street was filled with concrete and paved with macadam. When the City finally decides to replace the water supply lines the streets will be dug up yet again, the debris hauled away, and the streets once again paved. This is a terrible misuse of City funds not to coordinate these kinds of repairs - not to mention the overuse of the Earth's dwindling resources like concrete.

I further hope you will oppose Mayor Breed's intention to appoint Dennis Herrera as General Manager of the SFPUC. He does not understand the issues and is backing a Trump-era rule that is likely to be changed by the Biden administration.

I am not a scientist. I am retired and almost 70 years old. I live in Modesto and spent my childhood around and in the Tuolumne. I spent many summers with my siblings and friends swimming, catching tadpoles and frogs in the Tuolumne. And if any of you have spent any time in Modesto during the summer you know how hot it gets and the Tuolumne was where we underserved kids of Modesto went to cool off.

Beginning in 2019, I started taking my two granddaughters, now 4 and 6, to the Tuolumne River Regional Parks in Modesto. They loved hearing my stories of my adventures of the river. And they loved the river. In 2020 we sheltered in place due to the pandemic until my daughter's family dog of 8 year died very suddenly. They were all very depressed including their dog who lost her partner. One day my daughter asked me about going down to the part of the TRRP that is the airport area. We started going there almost every week and I could see all of them getting better. There are many different kinds of birds, squirrels and we even saw a grey fox. I have continued to take my granddaughters to the river this year.

What they didn't realize is the condition of the river and the surrounding parks. The water is so shallow in some parts you couldn't swim much less get a canoe down the river. The water was very warm. There were very few living species of any kind in the river. We saw a few ducks and geese. We also visit Dry Creek which is part of the river. My heart ached at the number of very old dying trees. I think about the river often with a heavy heart and fear that the river I am teaching my grandchildren about may be a dry bed when they grow up.

I have joined the Tuolumne River Trust. I attended the 12/2018 meeting of the water board. I have spoken at SFPUC meetings and follow the politics of the "water wars" closely. I have seen the statistics and believe the city and County of San Francisco don't need as much water as they claim they do. I strongly urge the Mayor to withdraw her support for Dennis Herrera as the General Manager of the SFPUC. I also urge her to have him remove his lawsuits regarding the state's authority to oversee the water rights of CA. We don't need more litigation. We need more cooperation to find resolutions to very complicated water issues. The Mayor claims that she will address climate change. This can't be done without reducing San Francisco's water levels and improving the flows to the Tuolumne. Instead of appointing Dennis Herrera she should let the SFPUC continue to search for a GM who is more closely aligned to the problems of climate change and the restoration of our beloved Tuolumne River. Our lives depend on it. So does the life of the salmon and the myriad of animals and birds whose lives depend on the return of the salmon and the water of "OUR" river.

Thank you,
Libby Higgs

Dear Board of Supervisors,

San Franciscans can be proud of the fact that they use less water per capita than many other cities in California, yet San Francisco does have a more sustainable path: Continue your decades-long trend of using less water, invest much more in alternative water supplies such as recycled water, and partner with the San Joaquin Valley irrigation districts to bring agriculture into the 21st Century.

San Francisco can meet the state's co-equal goals of restoring the Bay-Delta and Tuolumne River ecosystems while ensuring a reliable water supply well into the future. LA and Orange County turned in this direction years ago and it's time now for the SFPUC to catch up.

We are the state with strong environmental values. Supervisor Aaron Peskin has introduced a resolution encouraging the city to pause its suit and to follow the science. Please drop the lawsuit. We must protect our delicately balanced ecosystems. Humans aren't the only beings who depend on and deserve adequate water.

San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

I urge you to support the Resolution urging the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause its litigation against the California State Water Resources Control Board.

As a lifelong resident of the Bay Area and current resident of Palo Alto I have watched our area grow and flourish and as a retired computer software project manager I benefited from that growth. It's important to me to be a part of the Bay Area's continuing success and now that means taking care of our whole environment. There are multiple groups, cities and counties working towards a truly livable Bay Area and the health of our Bay Delta ecosystem is a very important part of our future.

The science behind the recommendations of the Bay Delta Water Quality Plan are clear. We need to increase the water flow in the rivers during the winter months to benefit the keystone salmon species and to slow increasing invasion of salt water into the delta.

Studies also show that careful water management by the City of San Francisco is a win-win - for the environment and for the City. I worry the SFPUC is afraid they can't move successfully to the future of water management. I say have courage and do it. As a water user I support increased flow and I support all of San Francisco's work to conserve water, use recycled water and other measures you are doing to ensure a steady water supply and save our local environment. San Francisco has a huge amount of power over the water supply. Please set a positive example for the Bay Area and the world. You are "influencers".

Thank you.

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Dear Board,

I am writing to ask that you join Supervisor Peskin in trying to halt San Francisco's lawsuit against the state water board. The rivers draining into the San Francisco Bay are crucial ecosystem corridors, sustaining life from the Bay, through the Central Valley, and into the Sierra Nevada. Without sufficient flows, these ecosystems, already threatened, may fail entirely.

In terms of water efficiency, the Bay Area is far behind southern California. Please support the natural resources of our beautiful state by allowing the state water board to continue to protect our river ecosystems.

Thanks for your time,
Kathleen

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors:

I'm writing to urge you to pass Resolution 210577, introduced by Supervisor Peskin, which calls on the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board.

This resolution is needed because the SFPUC staff and the City Attorney, without informing the Board of Supervisors, or even seeking the approval of the SFPUC Commissioners, challenged state-required protections for the Tuolumne River, San Francisco's drinking water source. The lawsuit relies on a highly flawed interpretation of the Clean Water Act forced on the nation by the Trump administration.

The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera claim that allowing the state to protect the Tuolumne River would threaten the City's drinking water supplies. Together, San Francisco and the two big agricultural water districts on the Tuolumne River divert more than 90 percent of the river's water in some years. That unsustainable water pumping has had a devastating effect on the river and its salmon runs which the state rightly says needs addressing. San Francisco should be supporting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River and salmon – not fighting them.

San Francisco has a vast network of large reservoirs that store enough water to weather years of drought. In fact, we use less water today than a decade ago and are likely to use even less in future, thanks to technology and population trends. San Francisco could use even less of the Tuolumne River's water if it followed the example of communities like Los Angeles and Orange County, which are far ahead in water recycling and reuse technologies.

The City's lawsuit stands in stark contrast to actions taken by former State Attorney General Xavier Becerra who sued the Trump administration over its attempts to weaken the Clean Water Act. The Attorney General's actions were based on the belief that California should have the ability to keep its rivers and lakes clean and healthy. The SFPUC and City Attorney Dennis Herrera disagree and argues that Trump was right when it comes to stripping protections for the environment.

No doubt the SFPUC and City Attorney's office will present you with arguments about how the sky will fall if the City is forced to withdraw its anti-environmental lawsuit. Some of the biggest air polluters in the state would have presented similar arguments when AG Becerra fought off Trump administration efforts to weaken California's air pollution laws. Fortunately, Becerra won that fight. If he were still here, he'd probably win this fight too.

Sincerely,

Jack Yee

Dear SF BOS,

The City of San Francisco's litigation against clean water and the bay delta ecosystem must stop. It is anathema to what we stand for as a green city, and it is contrary to the interests of its residents who, like me, deeply value the Tuolumne River and clean water in the Bay. We need water to use in the city, but killing rivers isn't the only option. San Francisco must think creatively about innovative water solutions rather than sticking to the old trope of taking water from threatened ecosystems. I am ashamed of my city's litigating position on the Bay Delta Plan and demand change.

Please stop this backwards lawsuit and support Supervisor Peskin's resolution.

Thank you.

Dear SF Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to ask that you support Supervisor Peskin's resolution, "Urging the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to Pause Litigation Against the State Water Resources Control Board".

I lived most of my life in Palo Alto, worked in the City of Palo Alto Water Quality Lab and at Stanford University managing water quality including drinking water and waste water. I was born, raised, and lived on the spectacular water from the Hetch Hetchy system and know it quite well by profession: it is literally in my bones. I am also an avid fisher and have learned a great deal about how California and federal water and power policy and practice have all but extirpated the once world renowned salmon fishery that thrived inland in California for millennia. The cause of this great tragedy is that our water engineering has focused on up-scaling 5000 year old technology: an elevated bucket (reservoir), a ditch or hose (plumbing), and sometimes, fortunately now, a closed valve at the end. That, sadly, is the state of our 'art' and water engineering. Do you think it is possible to do better? I do.

But by suing the State Water Resources Control Board the SFPUC seems to think that doubling down on ancient thinking and indulging the hubris of more and more human intervention in our natural systems will somehow turn out well. News flash: it hasn't and it won't. It's long past time to move on to something new.

As much effort as has been put into water conservation, and congratulations to the SFPUC and all of us for doing our part in that regard, it is time to face the facts about our unsustainable use of water in California and the west. Until very recently there have been almost no actual innovations in the sourcing or use of water in either agricultural, commercial/industrial, or domestic use. Only recently have appliances actually been re-designed, and a low flow shower head, toilet, and drip irrigation are still just modern vestiges of that 5000 year old system (fortunately we did manage to add rudimentary waste water treatment after poisoning bays, rivers and each other for centuries).

It's tough with 40 million people, but the time has past for continuing down the same canal. We are in the midst of redesigning our lives in many ways, so why not with water? Is it possible to change how our homes are designed so that our supply of water is used multiple times? Yes. We spend lots of money cleaning water to drinking standards, then we poop in it. Our largest use of domestic water is to convey our human solid waste by gravity in a pipe to a distant treatment plant where ungodly amounts of money and energy are used to... wait for it... turn it back into a solid that still has to be dealt with! We shower in drinking water, but is it possible to treat wash water and heat so you could take an endless shower? Yes. Flush the toilet with it? Yes. Not flush a toilet at all? Yes. Could warm compressed air be injected into a faucet or shower to drastically reduce the water used and be more enjoyable and effective? Yes. On and on and on with the innovations.

Could we design our agriculture to be adaptable to our ever changing environment? Yes. Could we choose to plant crops that are water efficient? Yes. Could we grow food generally more efficiently? Yes. Could we stop exporting huge amounts of precious California water in the form of exported food? Yes. Choices, choices, more choices.

Could we allow the environment to thrive on its own terms and get out of its way so it will actually support us into the future? Yes. Could we have comfortable homes, a thriving economy, abundant food, a beautiful place to live, and bring back our nearly lost salmon heritage? Yes.

There are so many water innovations that could be imagined, created, and brought into a truly sustainable water strategy if only we would think anew about water. Come on silicon valley, enough already with the social-media and advertising-mind-control businesses: how about getting back to solving some real world problems again instead of creating them?

It's long past time to stop chasing and suing each other for the last drops of 'paper water' and do something differently. That starts with bold thinking and action by you and the SFPUC by taking the lead in imagining and creating an entirely new way of using our precious water.

As with most new ways of thinking and living, I'm pretty sure no one else is going to step up to the plate, so you're it, San Francisco. And Palo Alto. And Silicon Valley.

Truly Yours,

Honorable Members of the Board of Supervisors

The City of San Francisco on the existential issue of water management now finds itself on a precipice.

This situation is due to the recent action of the City's own attorney and the decades-long mismanagement and incompetence of the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission, and is thoroughly described in the letter of Peter Drekmeier to the San Francisco Chronicle of May 29, 2021. Mr. Drekmeier is the policy director of the Tuolumne River Trust.

Here is the link to that letter: <https://www.sfchronicle.com/opinion/openforum/article/Opinion-San-Francisco-doesn-t-have-a-16211308.php>

The State Water Board is moving to force San Francisco to release more water from its Tuolumne River dams into the river. There is universal support in the scientific and recreational and commercial fisheries industries to support this action on the part of the State Board. The universal position is that the river is endangered at its current flow levels and requires immediate corrective action, which equates to that of the State Water Board. San Francisco City Attorney Dennis Herrera is leading a lawsuit to prevent this action.

Given the truly dire circumstances that could result if attorney Herrera and the City are successful in their suit it is fortunate that members of the Board of Supervisors Peskin and Mandelman have moved to invoke a pause on attorney Herrera's lawsuit.

Their proposal for a pause is referenced here: <https://sfgov.legistar.com/View.ashx?M=F&ID=9420698&GUID=FF54FE51-0746-4395-AE02-93E8A93956BF>

I am writing to support these Supervisors' proposal for a pause at this urgent moment. I also support the continued, conservative and pragmatic positions of the Tuolumne River Trust and the Bay Delta Plan for management of the river's resources and maintenance of its health.

Dear Mayor Breed,

I urge you to withdraw the City's litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board and direct SFPUC to start investing aggressively in water recycling today.

I am writing to you in the early days of yet another punishing drought. While San Franciscans are doing their part to save water at the household level, SFPUC is mismanaging San Francisco's main water source, the Tuolumne River, and it isn't doing nearly enough to prepare for drought this year—or in the decades to come.

Other cities have learned the lessons of California's unpredictable climate and are quickly adopting water recycling to reduce their burden on rivers, while increasing the reliability of their supply. Orange County gets more than 75 percent of its water through its water reuse program. Las Vegas recycles nearly all of its water used indoors. And Los Angeles is on the path to reusing 100 percent of its wastewater by 2035.

But, as SFPUC's draft Urban Water Management Plan recently revealed, San Francisco currently has no plans to make recycled water widely available in the next 25 years. Instead, the city is pursuing multiple expensive and misguided lawsuits so that it can continue to rely, almost exclusively, on the Tuolumne River—one of the state's most overtapped rivers—for the next several decades. San Francisco and large agribusiness water districts divert four out of every five gallons of water that flow in the Tuolumne River during a typical year.

This overuse has caused the river's once mighty Chinook Salmon populations to crash. Meanwhile, low river flows from the Tuolumne contribute to deteriorating water quality—including toxic algae blooms—downstream, in the Delta and San Francisco Bay.

It's unacceptable for the city with the nation's greenest reputation to shirk its responsibilities to preserve California's precious and unpredictable water supply. We support increasing river flows to uphold San Francisco Bay's fisheries, water quality, and recreation. San Franciscans want the city to do its part to protect the Bay and its rivers—water recycling is a common-sense way to limit the city's water use, increase the reliability of its supply, and protect the Bay from harmful wastewater treatment plant effluent.

Dear Mayor Breed,

As a long time resident and ratepayer of San Francisco I urge you to protect San Francisco Bay and withdraw the City's litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board and direct SFPUC to start investing aggressively in water recycling today. San Franciscans are doing their part to save water at the household level, while SFPUC is mismanaging San Francisco's main water source, the Tuolumne River. I am Cindy Charles, San Francisco native and property owner. I am a long time fly fisher and have participated for over 20 years in issues related to the Tuolumne River including attending countless SFPUC meetings, and have standing with many years on the FERC relicensing of Don Pedro & La Grange dams. I have a zoology degree from UC Berkeley and have had a career in finance. I am on the Board of Directors of the Tuolumne River Trust, the Golden West Women Flyfishers and the California Sportfishing Protection Alliance.

I am writing to urge you to definitely support Supervisor Peskin's resolution:

"urging the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause its litigation against the California State Water Resources Control Board and instead heed the beneficial input of a diverse and inclusive group of stakeholders, including subject matter experts in environmental protection, habitat restoration, and the diversification of water supplies based on credible science."

I am extremely appalled at the new lows the SFPUC is going in fighting the science which indicates we will lose our native salmon and steelhead from the Tuolumne River. It needs to have flows restored in order to bring back the few fish that struggle there.

I have fished the Tuolumne River all my life, and have seen how degraded the fishery in both the lower and upper river have become. In the lower Tuolumne, the biggest negative impact is the loss of flows, in the upper river, is the unnatural daily up and down flows due to the HH power operations.

Furthermore, what the SFPUC is doing is against the environmental values of the citizens of the City. If the citizens were better informed, they would understand what is being lost on the Tuolumne and there truly be an outcry of the terrible treatment of the Tuolumne River for some many years.

The SFPUC has been dragging its feet on developing other sources of water so that more water can be kept in the river. They are not progressive at all. I find it very wrong that the SFPUC is now continually aligned with the Turlock and Modesto Irrigation Districts who never give an inch when it comes to a more balance approach to how the Tuolumne River water is used.

You should all take a drive out to the lower river, if you can find it buried in the almond orchards, to see where the bulk of the Tuolumne water is going. You probably won't see any fish though.....

San Francisco PUC should drop the lawsuit over releasing Tuolumne River water. Voluntary agreements lead to dead fish and crashed ecosystems and you haven't got time to re-learn that lesson. Save the delta. Follow the science. Drop the lawsuit.

I am not from San Francisco but live a few miles from the Tuolumne River near Groveland. It is incredibly disturbing to see leaders that we thought we're knowledgeable and enlightened, such as Mayor Breed, fall for fake science and trumpian ridiculousness. San Francisco should be better than that.

Sincerely,

Dear San Francisco Board of Supervisors,

The League of Women Voters of San Francisco encourages the Board of Supervisors to take steps to pass the resolution urging the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to pause its litigation against the California State Water Resources Control Board and instead heed the beneficial input of a diverse and inclusive group of stakeholders, including subject matter experts in environmental protection, habitat restoration, and the diversification of water supplies based on credible science (File # 210577 and 210595) with all appropriate speed.

Attached to this email is a copy of the League of Women Voters of California's letter to the Commissioners of the SFPUC regarding our request to increase flows in the Tuolumne River. The letter is very much in line with the resolution (File # 210577 and 210595). In this year of drought and changes in the climate regime in California, it is imperative that San Francisco joins other diverters in the Tuolumne River basin to increase flows that will reach the Bay-Delta.

Sincerely,

Alison Goh

RE: Request to Increase Flows in the Tuolumne River

Dear President Maxwell and Commissioners:

The League of Women Voters of California urges you to work with the State Water Board (SWB) to increase flows in the Tuolumne River. The League believes that increasing flows in the tributaries of the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers is critical to protecting the Bay-Delta Estuary.

As background, the League supports the efforts of the State Water Board to adopt scientifically based instream flow standards that will increase unimpaired flow in the San Joaquin River and its tributaries. We support high water quality standards and protection of fisheries, habitat, and instream uses without enabling continued unsustainable levels of reliance on exports from the Delta.

We believe increased flow is necessary for the survival of salmon and other species in the San Joaquin and Sacramento River ecosystems. Further, we believe all diverters from the San Francisco/Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta Estuary should contribute to the flows necessary to sustain the health of the Estuary.

We make these comments in the hope that stakeholders will be encouraged to work together to reach agreements to increase unimpaired flows. We also encourage the staff of the SWB to continue working with local entities to fashion a standard that will protect all beneficial uses in the watershed. We note that the unimpaired flow proposal has an adaptive management approach so that the standard does not require rigid adherence to a fixed percent of unimpaired flow. This flexibility is necessary, especially as tributary watersheds struggle to meet requirements of the Sustainable Groundwater Management Act. Implementation of non-flow measures could reduce the flows needed. Such measures could include restoring gravel-spawning beds, improving native fish habitat, and suppressing predatory fish habitat.

Because the Tuolumne River is the most impacted, leaving only 21% of unimpaired flow in the river from February through June, we specifically encourage the San Francisco Public Utility Commission (SFPUC) to study various options in partnership with the Modesto and Turlock Irrigation Districts to increase flows in the river. Exploring groundwater banking, enhanced conservation projects, and other innovative approaches to water management could benefit all and lessen the economic impacts to both agricultural and urban users. Leadership, a strong commitment, and financial resources are required.

We recognize that San Francisco's main water supply comes from the Tuolumne River. However, the League believes San Francisco can reduce water diversions and still sustain its local economy by increased investments in local and regional water supply projects, such as water recycling and improved conservation projects. In this year of drought and changes in the climate regime in California, it is imperative that San Francisco joins other diverters in the Tuolumne River basin to increase flows that will reach the Bay-Delta.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

I am writing to ask that you support Supervisor Peskin's resolution, "Urging the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission to Pause Litigation Against the State Water Resources Control Board".

I write on behalf of the Northern California Council, Fly Fishers International, our 23 member fly fishing clubs and our shared 6,000+ members. It's important to know that all of these clubs & members reside within the S.F. Bay-Delta watershed, and several of them (14) are directly impacted by decisions the SFPUC makes on how to manage the Tuolumne River water. Several of our clubs are located in your service area - San Mateo, San Francisco & Santa Clara County. They all have been very clear with me to ask the SFPUC to make decisions that will improve the health of the S.F. Bay-Delta, including the San Francisco Bay. I have participated in SFPUC meetings to express their concern and suggestions. Their current disappointment with SFPUC over the litigation against the State Water Board is voiced to me daily. They want you to support Supervisor Peskin's resolution immediately, and join the State Water Board in improving the biggest watershed on the west coast of the Americas.

I lived 50 years of my life in either Redwood City or Portola Valley, enjoying water service through customers of SFPUC. It was always felt by residents that San Francisco was a city on the leading edge of environmental fairness, and caring for the health of the S.F. Bay-Delta watershed. Our members who live there no longer feel this way. They are realizing that instead of responding to Climate Change with a caring attitude, SFPUC has shifted to a “take care of us, forget the rest” attitude. It certainly does not make decisions to protect the salmon the City is known for, and the fisherman connected to them. Fisherman’s Wharf is an historical place, visited by 10’s of thousands annually. You are throwing away this legacy by not being part of the solution in the Bay-Delta, and helping salmon recover to their historical greatness.

It’s important to realize that the water in the Tuolumne River belongs to all Californians, and San Francisco is allowed to use it based upon the reality that downstream users can live in a healthy watershed. That is not the case in the Stockton region and elsewhere. Polluted and toxic water now exists from agrochemicals & blue-green algae problems. It is clear from the science done by the State Water Board that flows into and through the Delta need to increase to benefit all inhabitants - people, fish, birds & wildlife. Reducing SFPUC water diversions to meet the Water Board’s regulatory change is the appropriate action, not suing them to block it. This is not the San Francisco we all love & know. It’s not consistent with your customer's desires, nor is it consistent with the biological needs of the Bay-Delta.

Lastly, it's clear that San Francisco has enough storage to get through almost any drought with only limited restrictions on water users. It's also clear that SFPUC has let fear of drought distort planning by using data that is not consistent with past droughts nor consistent with historical water use and impacts of moderate restrictions. Mr. Drekmeier of the Tuolumne River Trust has shared that in SFPUC meetings I have attended. Simply stated, they use data in a way to prove their pre-existing conclusion - "we can't afford to increase flows in the Tuolumne without disaster". That is simply not the case. Mr. Drekmeier has offered several options on how to work with other diverters on the Tuolumne to make the new flows possible, and there are more accurate data sets he's recommended to show more valid outcomes. Instead of SFPUC suing the Water Board you need to look inward and be determined to help the Bay-Delta watershed and manage your water better. It can be done.

So, for the sake of your customers, the wonderful salmon fishery San Francisco is known for, and the people in the central valley negatively impacted today, support Supervisor Peskin's resolution. Additionally, SFPUC should invest in the future by working with Mr. Drekmeier & others on the Tuolumne River to meet the Water Board's regulatory flow standard. You can do it!

Sincerely,

It is our duty. The Bay Delta needs a minimum of water flow to sustain its ecology. NOT a lawsuit. And definitely not human interference such as power washing spawning gravel and building unnatural fish barriers.

Thank you, Supervisor Peskin, for introducing a resolution to pause the lawsuit and follow the science on water flow and water needs, and I am writing to urge your fellow supervisors to support his clear minded and practical resolution.

Re: Resolution 210577 - SFPUC's Litigation Against Environmental Protections

Dear Supervisor Peskin:

We are writing to express our support for your resolution urging the SFPUC to pause their litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board. That litigation is another step in the SFPUC's ongoing efforts to prevent the State of California from adopting stronger protections for the Tuolumne River, the Bay-Delta and the communities that are affected directly by pollution and the decline of this ecosystem.

Our organization represents the Delta, which has suffered enormously from the lack of freshwater inflow and the lack of scientifically driven State Board flow standards. This is a primary cause of the dramatic increase in harmful algae blooms (HAB) in the Delta. Those HAB outbreaks represent a significant threat to public health. During these blooms, merely swimming in Delta waterways can be harmful to public health, and they potentially threaten drinking water supplies. Those blooms have become so intense that they also result in the degradation of air quality - in a community that already has among the highest asthma rates in the nation. Recently, HABs have also been linked with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, also known as Lou Gehrig's disease.

The HAB problem has been growing worse for years and has become a public health crisis. In addition to threatening public health, this crisis also undermines efforts to rebuild the economy in our communities. This crisis represents a particular threat to economically disadvantaged communities of color.

Unfortunately, for years, the SFPUC has been fighting against science-based new flow standards to improve this situation. They have developed a proposed "voluntary agreement" that would fail to significantly improve flows that a NMFS peer review has revealed to be without a credible scientific foundation. That proposal offers nothing to improve the crisis facing our communities. The SFPUC has now sued the State Board twice in an effort to block desperately needed new flow standards. The SFPUC's positions completely ignore the HAB crisis and its impacts on our communities.

Their latest litigation, challenging the State Board's 401 certification for the Tuolumne River FERC licensing process, ignores the solid scientific foundation for the State Board's action. It also embraces a Trump era interpretation of Section 401 of the Clean Water Act in an effort to muzzle State efforts to protect State rivers in this federal process. The suit even claims that the State Board's efforts violate the state constitution. These claims are not merely incorrect, they undermine San Francisco's reputation as a leader in protecting the environment and disadvantaged communities.

The SFPUC has, for years, worked to block the adoption of environmental protections that are needed to protect public health, as well as the economic health of our communities. Their current litigation against the State Board is a clear example of this pattern. We urge the Board of Supervisors to support your resolution and encourage the SFPUC to change direction.

Thank you for introducing this resolution. We look forward to continuing to work with you to ensure that the SFPUC changes direction and supports water policies that reflect San Francisco's values.

Hi SF Supervisors,

I urge you to support Supervisor Peskin's Resolution, FILE NO. 210577, urging the SFPUC to withdraw its lawsuit against the State Water Resources Control Board.

The SWRCB spent more than a decade drafting and vetting its Bay Delta Conservation Plan. Scientists said we need up to 60% unimpaired flows along the Tuolumne River to save iconic species like salmon from going extinct and to save entire ecosystems from collapsing. The Plan is already a compromise at 40%, halfway between what scientists say is needed and our historic 20%.

SF must let the SWRCB do its job to ensure healthy ecosystems, which are a benefit to San Franciscans. The Voluntary Agreements proposed by the SFPUC have not, cannot and will not yield desired results. The SFPUC is blocking the SWRCB from doing its job, in direct opposition to San Franciscans, who care about the environment. Staff have provided the commission with unending, obfuscating reports not based on science, history or objective review.

SF is named for St. Francis, patron saint of ecology. It is our moral and ethical duty to care for species other than our own and to wisely steward our resources.

Meanwhile, SF is allowing more development, which increases water demand. UCSF, for example, is planning a huge expansion at Parnassus, even after we've allowed their huge development at Mission Bay. At a May 18, 2021 community outreach Zoom meeting, I asked UCSF's architects whether they will incorporate water conservation, water recycling and rooftop rainwater capture. No answer. The City must reduce and limit development and freshwater demand. Rooftop rainwater capture, recycling and conservation must be applied, in my opinion.

During the pandemic, my average household water use has been 10-14 gallons per day per person. 25 GPD is excellent, but my household savings shows how much we want more water directed to fish. You can do your part by at least supporting Supervisor Peskin's Resolution.

Thanks in advance for your attention and

Dear SF Board of Supervisors:

As a lifelong environmentalist and lover of Yosemite, Hetch Hetchy and the Rivers that flow from them, I would strongly encourage you to not side with Trumpian anti-environmental half-measures to protect the fish that need this water to survive. Following the science is vital, and with a peer review commissioned by the National Marine Fisheries Service debunking the science behind the SFPUC's proposal, it is

The SF PUC has shown great leadership in the design of their water-conserving main office building, in managing recycled water for irrigation in Golden Gate Park vs using the city's underground aquifer for that purpose and many other visionary approaches to conserve city stormwater and prevent sewage overflows.

It is time for that Vision to extend upstream, and protect and enhance the critically important flows that are needed for fish and wildlife survival that we all depend upon.

Dear Mayor Breed,

I urge you to withdraw the City's litigation against the State Water Resources Control Board and direct SFPUC to start investing aggressively in water recycling today.

I am writing to you in the early days of yet another punishing drought. While San Franciscans are doing their part to save water at the household level, SFPUC is mismanaging San Francisco's main water source, the Tuolumne River, and it isn't doing nearly enough to prepare for drought this year—or in the decades to come.

Other cities have learned the lessons of California's unpredictable climate and are quickly adopting water recycling to reduce their burden on rivers, while increasing the reliability of their supply. Orange County gets more than 75 percent of its water through its water reuse program. Las Vegas recycles nearly all of its water used indoors. And Los Angeles is on the path to reusing 100 percent of its wastewater by 2035.

But, as SFPUC's draft Urban Water Management Plan recently revealed, San Francisco currently has no plans to make recycled water widely available in the next 25 years. Instead, the city is pursuing multiple expensive and misguided lawsuits so that it can continue to rely, almost exclusively, on the Tuolumne River—one of the state's most overapped rivers—for the next several decades. San Francisco and large agribusiness water districts divert four out of every five gallons of water that flow in the Tuolumne River during a typical year.

This overuse has caused the river's once mighty Chinook Salmon populations to crash. Meanwhile, low river flows from the Tuolumne contribute to deteriorating water quality—including toxic algae blooms—downstream, in the Delta and San Francisco Bay.

It's unacceptable for the city with the nation's greenest reputation to shirk its responsibilities to preserve California's precious and unpredictable water supply. We support increasing river flows to uphold San Francisco Bay's fisheries, water quality, and recreation. San Franciscans want the city to do its part to protect the Bay and its rivers—water recycling is a common-sense way to limit the city's water use, increase the reliability of its supply, and protect the Bay from harmful wastewater treatment plant effluent.

Thank you,

Rita Rodriguez

Supervisors Board of Supervisors,

Dear Supervisors,

I am a resident of San Francisco District ___6_ and I am writing to urge you to fund rental subsidies for seniors and people with disabilities in the city budget for the upcoming fiscal year.

I am part of the senior and disability communities and I see the great need for housing that we can afford. What is called “affordable” housing in the city is not affordable for those of us living on Social Security, SSI, or other extremely low incomes.

Portable rental subsidies and Senior Operating Subsidies have made it possible for hundreds of seniors and people with disabilities to stay in their homes, but thousands more see our rents rising but our incomes staying the same.

You have the chance to expand subsidies and keep us in our homes and off the streets! Please include in the upcoming budget an additional $3 million for portable rental subsidies for seniors and people with disabilities and an additional $3 million for Senior Operating Subsidies.

Our communities are counting on you.

RE: Support ordinance convening the Redistricting Task Force (File #210606)

Dear Supervisors,

On behalf of the League of Women Voters of San Francisco and San Francisco Rising, we thank Supervisor Shamann Walton for introducing the ordinance that will convene the 2021–2022 Redistricting Task Force and amend the Campaign and Governmental Conduct Code to require Redistricting Task Force members to file Statements of Economic Interests (File #210606), and Supervisor Aaron Peskin for sponsoring the ordinance on the Rules Committee.

The importance of the Redistricting Task Force cannot be understated. We encourage the Board of Supervisors to take steps to pass this ordinance (File #210606) with all appropriate speed. We also request the Board of Supervisors share a timeline with the public that includes the steps involved in passing the ordinance as well as the anticipated application process for the Board's three appointed seats on the Redistricting Task Force (with dates listed as "to be announced" as appropriate) to support a more transparent redistricting process.

Local redistricting is a once-in-a-decade opportunity to redraw the city's supervisor districts to ensure our city has fair maps. Convening the Redistricting Task Force as soon as possible will allow for a more fair, equitable, transparent, and accessible redistricting process. Redistricting is an especially important opportunity for people of color and low-income communities to have a fair chance at representation in their local government.

San Francisco's redistricting process and the important work of the Redistricting Task Force should not be compromised by the delay in Census redistricting data. We strongly encourage the Board of Supervisors to make every effort to create a transparent process to enable maximum public participation in the most diverse, inclusive, and equitable manner possible.

Thank you for your attention on this matter and for hearing our recommendations to maintain the integrity of our democracy and ensure that San Franciscans are able to engage in this once-in-a-decade opportunity.

Subject: Please save the Great Walkway, and approve a pilot to extend the promenade's life...

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Please keep the Page Street and the Great Walkway safe for families and kids to walk, run, bike and skate in!

I find this fact compelling:

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. If that's not possible, I think that a 2-lane walkway and 2-lane road would still be so valuable for San Franciscans.

And Page Street lets so many of us get to GG Park safely, without driving. Outdoor exercise is important for all of us, and slow streets makes that possible! I'm excited to see Page Street in the design phase for a permanently slow street. I'm watching that process closely and will energetically support all of the city managers, directors and elected officials who help move that cause forward.

Thank you,
Kristen

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city).

Thanks to the stimulus check I got a mobility scooter that makes it possible for me to get around again. But I had to learn to ride it. San Francisco hills were not the best place to start. It was on the Great Walkway that I discovered I can have my life back again. I'll not bore you with stories of the sheer joy I felt rolling along amongst kids, skateboarders, bicyclists. But I was sharing the joy with many other San Franciscans, in this very San Francisco place.

The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

This year of covid-19 has been hard. But one silver lining is the Great Highway being open to people walking/biking/playing instead of drivers. I live across the city, in the Mission, but I have still biked out there frequently to enjoy it - the community and views are amazing.

I understand a small but loud minority wants to get cars back on the road and turn this beautiful coastal land into a highway again. We learned this with the Embarcadero: the coastline is best used for people, not drivers.

I can't be at the daytime meeting for public comment, so I want to send my comment here: Please keep the great highway open to people, not cars. In the immediate term, please support the pilot project that would do this.

Thank you, and please take care.
Dan

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I moved to San Francisco with my family because it's one of the only places in the US that we can feasibly live without a car. My son deserves a world with ample places to play, away from the noise, pollution, and risk of random death (RIP Lovisa Svallingson) that cars bring. If San Francisco is serious about being a place for everyone, and if it's serious about our climate crisis, we need to do more to support people who walk and bike, and less to subsidize and reward driving. The Great Walkway is a small step in that direction. We, as a city, need to show courage to change the status quo.

I've read the below statement from Kid Safe SF and I agree with every word. Please think of the future, think of my son, and do the right thing on the Great Walkway.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I write as a resident of Ocean View in SF D11.

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). There aren't that many safe places to stroll and bike in the city, especially in the SW corner, and this route has helped me piece together a biking loop, also including the new car-free spine of Golden Gate Park, that has allowed me a respite from long days working from home.

The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic an diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Kirk W. Kelsen

Please keep the walkway open to pedestrians, kids, bicyclists, rollerskaters, strollers, tourists, grandmas, grandpas, families, surfers, birds, dogs, etc... There are many different ways of enjoying this space as it is now, open to all and to the community. All Great Walkway advocates are asking is to keep it closed to just one category, the cars.

This is the most stunning new park in San Francisco in over 100 years.

Many of the initial traffic and safety issues in outer sunset have been addressed with positive impact. Extending the pilot would provide more time to resolve the remaining issues.

Please save the great walkway for us and future generations!

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic an diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

The faster you accept that the OPEN Pacific Ocean shoreline has its own plans, the better off we all will be with a sustainable plan (to divert motor traffic off our beautiful beach coastline). It is sand today. Before you know it, it will be ocean water. Sea levels are rising! Climate reality.

Thank you, and please take care during fire season.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I'm writing to you today as a San Francisco parent and homeowner who wants to see our city brought back better after Covid. My family has enjoyed walking and scooting and playing on the Great Walkway this year and hope to do so long into the future!

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

In my opinion, there should never have been a four-lane highway separating our city from one of its greatest resources: the waterfront at Ocean Beach. Most other great cities in the world are in the process of removing transportation or other infrastructure that cut their waterfronts off from their cities and citizens, and we should put ourselves in that in Their company, and follow the progressive path towards making cities for people not cars.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Connie,

Reaching out again to demand the reopening of the Great Highway. As residents of the western side of San Francisco, our mobility options are constrained. 19th Ave is under constant construction. The Chain of Lakes is bumper to bumper traffic. MUNI is operating at severely reduced capacity. My partner works at Stanford on COVID vaccine distribution program and she uses 280 to get to work. She is now facing an extra 30 minutes plus daily to get to and from work. Enough is enough!

If people want to walk along the beach let them WALK ALONG THE BEACH, not close a major thoroughfare to cars! It's akin to closing Fell/Oak so people can jog instead of using the Panhandle or the Park. That's literally why it was built....for those seeking leisure.

I am second generation San Franciscan and D1 resident who is considering leaving the city all together. it is becoming a place that is no longer hospitable to regular people who just want to work and live their lives without being infringed upon by special interests. I have parklets in front of my house, slow streets closed my cross street and due to shortage of parking people regular park in front of the garage I rent next door. All I want to do is live in peace without being asked to jump through hoops and sit in traffic to get in and out of my neighborhood.

I don't know how many letters I have left in me or what else to do but I am reaching a breaking point. San Francisco it seems will always break your heart. Please stand up for the forgotten working-class residents who have jobs and use cars to get there.

Sincerely,

Charles Hurbert, D1

SF Pols,

Below is the posted email from this movement. But I'll add that every time I've walked on the Great Walkway, I've counted more people walking than cars driving North/South. If more people use this as a walkway, isn't that as clear a signal as any we should keep it that way?

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

THE GREAT WALKWAY has made all the difference in the past year--and I do hope we can continue to use it this way!!

Best,

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

Dear Mayor Breed and Members of the Board of Supervisors:

My name is Jamie Kendall and I'm a native San Franciscan, having lived in the Outer Richmond for more than 60 years. San Francisco has done a great job of staying safe during Covid and is now moving forward. Residents are returning to their lives, jobs, schools, errands and more. People have less time to recreate and more places to be. Accordingly, it's time to open the Great Highway as soon as possible but no later than 120 days after the Emergency Order is lifted. The Great Highway was designed for the purpose of vehicle transportation. The adjacent pathway was designed for pedestrians. Throughout SF, all public streets are open to bikes.

The Great Highway, as designed, is very safe for cars insofar as there are traffic lights and no through traffic. It's almost impossible to have a vehicle collision yet alone a vehicle/pedestrian collision. This is in line with Vision Zero. Rerouting cars to neighborhood streets definitely creates a less safe environment for pedestrians.

I am retired, after working 30 years at the Bay Area Air Quality Management District. There is no question that idling vehicles are a cause of increased air pollution, emitting components of smog, particulate matter, CO2 and toxic air contaminants. This is minimized by vehicles traveling efficiently, as they would on an open Great Highway vs stop and go on alternate routes. There would be fewer vehicle miles traveled and less idling in place.

Outer Sunset and Richmond residents are primarily impacted by the current closure. It has become a traffic and parking nightmare for the Outer Sunset residents and a major north/south thoroughfare has been eliminated, forcing people to reroute while trying to go to about their business. In addition, the closure has created serious access problems for emergency responders. This is serious and perhaps life threatening to area residents and ocean rescues.

The City has attempted to create traffic mitigation measures but they are a joke. Officers from Taraval Station have stated that there are insufficient resources to enforce the mitigation measures. An expression comes to mind - it's not illegal unless you're caught. A few minutes of observation clearly indicates that the current measures are in no way a deterrent.

Prior to the pandemic, the Great Highway was a route I often used, to assist my 93 year old father, to get to neighborhoods and cities south of the Richmond. With construction on 19th Ave, increased traffic on Sunset, gridlock on Chain of Lakes, slowdowns on Sanyan and Masonic and the never ending construction on Van Ness, it is increasingly difficult to go north or south through the city. Open the Great Highway!

Jamie Kendall

Dear commissioners,

I support the idea of a Great Walkway with one caveat.

THE NEEDS OF DISABLED PEOPLE MUST BE MET.

My wheelchair using husband has NOT been able to use the Great Walkway easily because there is so little handicap access to the street from neighboring streets and there is insufficient blue zone parking.

PLEASE ADD HANDICAP ACCESS AND PARKING to plans for the Great Walkway.

Thank you.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

My family uses the Great Walkway at Ocean beach almost daily (we live on Taraval and 43rd) and it has improved our quality of life immensely.

We have a baby and 2 year old and it is an amazing and safe place for them to bike, walk, and for us to push the stroller and enjoy the ocean views.

Please prioritize pedestrians, families, and our community over more cars.

This is a natural space that never should have had a road in the first place. It should be kept open for pedestrians, cyclists and families only, forever!

Passionately yours,
Toby Kersh Sage and Baby August Branz (a 2-mom queer family in the Outer Sunset!)

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I write to as a parent, as a person who grew up and went to public school in San Francisco, as a cyclist who also owns a car, and as a citizen who works and lives in San Francisco.

I have used the "Great Walkway" myself and with my wife and child many, many times. My child is 4 and a half, and there are extremely few places where I can safely teach him to ride a bike. You need space to wobble and fall and not go in a straight line ...and cars must be completely out of the picture because you cannot expect a 4 year old learner to follow traffic laws and move in a predictable manner.

When I was a child there was less traffic congestion in my neighborhood and kids used to play in the street. We could play sports games and only occasionally had to move out of the street to let a car go slowly by.

Now we have Uber and Lyft drivers who are not local and AI cars and drivers using apps to direct them, and families and children playing in their neighborhoods have been left out of all of those algorithms and plans. Now the only safe play is in small containers like parks, and many don't have enough space to move around or have specific activities for their use like organized sports.

The Great Walkway has given me and my child a feeling like the streets belong to us too, like we can have open space for free play, to be able to learn and be together safely without concern about cars speeding through a residential area.

Please seriously consider keeping the Great Walkway. The "slow streets" and Golden Gate Park have been great too, but since the Great Walkway has no cross traffic, it has been a truly safe oasis - as all of those others still have cross traffic or cars (that are supposed to be) going slowly.

Here is Kid Safe SF's message, which I support:

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). Let's keep the great walkway. How did Amsterdam become the most bike friendly city in the world? They decided they wanted to be. Now they are.

Let's take this step towards a more walking and bike friendly city.

Thanks,

Let's make a better future for our kids!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin, The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements. I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order. The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive. Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity. Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city. Good morning, I am commenting on the following items regarding traffic mitigation at Lincoln Way and the Great Highway.

1. Items # 16A, 16B, 16C, 17 would not be need if you would just open up the great highway.
2. Keeping the Great Highway closed is creating unsafe condition in the Sunset and other parts of West San Francisco.
3. With the current failures of Muni we need this through fare opened so we can get back to normal and ease traffic on other routes that are now seeing traffic increases.
4. Traffic mitigations so far have done just the opposite and more mitigation is going to make traffic worse. The changes that you have made so far have made that area a disaster. Just look at what has happened to the Chain of Lakes and other "alternate routes".
5. Closing the highway and slow streets has increased emergency response times endangering all residents. I see that you recently unlocked the gate on Sloat to attempt to mitigate the slow response times. Too little too late
6. Let's not pretend that this is about a place for children to play. I certainly would not teach my grand children to play in the street. It gives them a false sense of security. This is a land grab by Park and Rec I can't help but wonder who is behind it. Politics in SF is a dirty business.
7. Close it proponents are denying the increased traffic and I can tell you I have seen it firsthand. As we open up more it is going to get worse. Just recently it took 3 lights to get across Fulton to Cross over drive. I have been stuck in the traffic on Chain of Lakes Drive and 19th Ave is getting more and more traffic.
8. The COST of these traffic mitigation and the study that you are contemplating is a total waste of tax payers dollars.
9. This is not a Sunset problem, it is not a City problem, this is a regional problem and common sense needs to prevail.
10. I am tired of the 12,000 members of the bike coalition dictating to the 900,000 residences of SF. All of us are not able to ride bikes to travel in San Francisco.
12. The increased amount of pollution created by all these cars stuck in traffic is not only detrimental to our health but it is the complete opposite of what your department is entrusted to mitigate.

11. I have read the D4 mobility study and find that it is full of false statements, half truths and seems to be a propaganda piece for Park and Rec.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin, The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements. I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order. The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive. Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity. Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city. It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space. I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order. Thank you, and please take care.

Please stop destroying the Sunset district's quiet neighborhood with your continued attempts at traffic mitigation. All you are doing is making things worse. The real solution to this problem is to REOPEN THE GREAT HIGHWAY to vehicles. It's apparent that the director of SFMTA is working with/for the bike coalition to further the bike coalition's goals. The current attempts at traffic mitigation have done just the opposite, making things unbearable in the City. The pylons are horrible to look at and need to be removed. The speed bumps that were installed only makes vehicles drive into oncoming traffic to avoid them, making these streets more dangerous. The haphazard attempts to redirect traffic have FAILED miserably. They have only succeeded in BURDENING the citizens of the Bay Area. The increased driving time has been unnecessary and has created a BURDEN on people who actually have to drive to conduct their daily activities. The increased drive times only increases the pollution in the City. What has been allowed in the City by SFMTA is unconscionable. The Great Highway was one of the SAFEST ways to get from Sunset to Richmond Districts. Why in the world would the closure of this safe road be allowed to make other streets more dangerous? Close to 20,000 cars a day used the Great Highway, they are now trying to navigate the dangerous maze imposed by SFMTA. The City will be held accountable for any and all accidents that occur over the short sighted unnecessary maze that has occurred due to the closing of the Great Highway. Stop making matters worse with these so-called mitigating attempts they are making things worse!!

COPY OF FEEDBACK SENT TO SFMTA & PARKS & RECREATION FOR HEARING ON JUNE 10th, 2021

To whom it may concern,

Our family is opposed to turning the Great Highway into another walking/biking path. There are extremely limited North/South travel routes as is, and funneling the pre-pandemic level of traffic that used the Great Highway onto neighboring roads, Sunset Ave. and 19th Avenue (which is under construction for the next 2 years!) is irresponsible and just plain STUPID.

There multiple obvious problems with the plan to close the highway to vehicular traffic, here are just a few of our favorites:

- 1) The existing beach park is managed by the GGNRA, and sand is spilling over into the road, yet no cohesive recent work between the GGNRA and city appears in the public record
- 2) The fact that these entities, and several others, previously collaborated on a comprehensive long-term master plan for Ocean Beach
- 3) The fact that the D4 mobility study – which was purportedly designed to analyze usage of the area – completely omits any discussion about the existing public pathway right next to UGH (which just needs a bit of care, such as repaving and widening)
- 4) The fact that the same study labels the existing highway as “high risk” with ABSOLUTLEY NO DATA provided to support that conclusion
- 5) The fact that the city has not put a BUDGET in front of local residents for their review before making decisions or designing pilots
- 6) The fact that elected public servant BART commissioner Janice Li is paid a 2nd salary by the bicycle coalition for an advocacy position (documented in public records).
- 7) And finally, the fact that is is MOSTLY EMPTY and goes unused while taxpaying SF Residents suffer in environmentally unfriendly traffic jams trying to get to work, school, etc. There are weeks worth of photo and video evidence of the lack of public use on www.openthegreathighway.com It would behoove you to study that for awhile before you decide to shut it down to vehicular traffic. Using real, hard data and facts.....not wishful thinking, please.

The above items are based on established facts, not opinions. Many of us would like to see more consideration of those facts before so-called public servants issue their development and planning opinions about what is “best” for us in the outer Sunset and Richmond districts. It smells fishy like a chomped seal carcass rotting in the sand, and I can’t wait to vote . . .I smell a giant lawsuit coming....

OPEN THE GREAT HIGHWAY TO CAR TRAFFIC, NOW!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). I am a resident in the Sunset, and a car owner, and despite this the great walkway has been so incredible to see. There is no more joy than seeing ALL community members safely utilizing a space, kids, the elderly, disabled people, and other community members. Losing this space would be a tremendous loss for our city, so I beg that you keep it.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

In addition to the message below I would like to say that I take my granddaughter twice a day on the Great Walkway and the fact that she doesn't breathe car exhaust on a good portion of our commute is such a bonus and the safety of not having cross streets where people want to barely slowdown at stop signs makes it a much safer commute. Please keep it closed for the benefit of our community and our children.

I run Ortega Street from 16th Ave to the Great Walkway, then run the Great Walkway, then run back up Ortega to 16th Ave at least once a week every week this year. It's so much safer than before when it was full of dangerous cars & trucks.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

As a D1 resident I fully support the pilot or permanent closure of the great highway to cars. There is significant and demonstrated park and quality of life benefit and opportunity here for all SF residents. Letting a minority of panicked car advocates prevail in returning this space to speeding vehicles will be a failure of leadership.

Frankly this is not even a close call. I look forward to discussion about making the great walkway even better or more activated as part of the important car free route from the zoo to the ferry building. What a resource for SF.

As an aside isn't it surprising to observe how many otherwise progressive neighbors are so resistant to Transportation engineering and curb management changes that make complete sense for the community if they may impinge on their personal driving interests. It's time for this high tide of car privilege to recede.

Best regards.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Being able to walk the Great Highway has been one of the few joys of the pandemic. Being able to enjoy this long, quiet, protected walkway and bikeway feels like a tiny miracle – similar to how the Embarcadero felt when it reopened after the earthquake and we could see and access the beauty of the Bay, the piers, and the Ferry Plaza.

It's a joy to see people on bikes and scooters, kids on skates or just running safely, and for there to be plenty of space for everyone. I met a friend at Sloat earlier this week and we walked the length of the Highway and all the way to the Polo Fields in the park, reveling in being able to take such a long and beautiful walk almost entirely away from traffic.

I do understand the traffic concerns of residents. My kids live part time with their dad near the lower Great Highway, so I travel that way frequently. It does seem to me that traffic has slowed on that street and other surrounding streets as speed bumps have gone in and drivers slowly change their habits, as I have, to take Sunset Boulevard instead. (Doing more to time the lights on Sunset and perhaps add a few west-bound left turn lanes at a couple intersections would improve use of that road.)

Thank you for reading!
Kristen Tate

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Annie Hovsepian

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

On a personal note, I am a resident of the sunset. Specifically on 42nd between ulloa and Vicente. As you may know, 42nd is the first avenue that cuts through the entire sunset beyond 38th. With the closure of the highway we have seen a marked rise in traffic on our street.

I say this to call out that even with this rise in traffic I still support the great highway staying closed. It's a great resource for the neighborhood and community. It's bring San Franciscans to the sunset and helping our local economy.

Thanks
Dain Charette

I live on 44th avenue and taking my young kids down to Great Highway for biking and skateboarding has been one of the few silver linings of this pandemic. I run a preschool in the outer sunset and the great walkway makes the beach so much more accessible (and safe) for all our local kids and families. We often will ride bikes/scooters, spend time in the dunes, and just enjoy the beach now that we can do so safely. Most of our families are within 10 blocks of great highway (and several on LGH!) and all of them favor keeping it closed and all the benefits that come from that. We can't wait to see how it will evolve- all the local art, small businesses, and play/recreational space.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Look what taking down the Embarcadero freeway did for that waterfront!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Please keep it as a walkway/park and do not return it to cars. We love it car free! Walk on in it every evening and don't have to worry about our kids or dogs getting run over. We don't need a freeway where kids are trying to cross and get to the beach.

The Great Walkway must be maintained as a permanent car free mecca.

Having this thoroughfare devoid of cars speeding along the Pacific has been one of the biggest improvements to life in San Francisco.

San Francisco needs to be a leader in promoting an environment where pedestrians and cyclists have a safe environmentally clean venue for its citizens.

Don't let yourselves be swayed by the motorists who claim they're being inconvenienced.

Motorists need to accommodate the move to an environmentally healthy planet and realize cars are not the priority of policy makers in San Francisco.

When I read from a motorist that she/he enjoys the freedom of motoring down The Great Walkway, I am repulsed and cringe.

The Great Walkway is for humans.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use. It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience. Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Raphael Mauro

I'm a SF Native. I have lived in the Sunset District most of my life. I have seen happy families, elderly people, dogs on leashes, bikers, skating, skateboarding and many other activities take place on this street since the pandemic hit. I love that this is a safe space, for people of all ages, to just be pedestrians and enjoy the beach area without having to worry about traffic. I personally don't love always going down to the sand. I have enjoyed being close to the beach, without having to be too near the water. The joy on everyone's faces and safety that this barrier has given us has been phenomenal. It would be a shame to take this away! Let's not go backwards and let us enjoy the view, unabated in safety. It has brought our community closer together and it truly has been wonderful to witness. There are enough roads open to car traffic, and plenty of space to navigate the City, as a vehicle driver. Balance is important for quality of life. We all in support of this measure, appreciate your consideration.

Thank you, from a long time resident.

Sincerely,
Akilah Washington

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

This stretch of road is a very special place to take my family for a stroll, teach my son to scooter and how to ride his bike. It's saved my mental health this past year plus. It is a world class destination. I've traveled all over the world and this car-free space is second to none. We must keep it that way! But as a neighbor with a small child, I appreciate the concern of families that live nearby. We must make the surrounding perimeter safer for vehicle traffic.

Thanks so much for considering this request!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I live on 48th ave near Santiago with my children. We LOVE running, walking, biking, and scooting on Great Highway daily. The speed bumps and additional stop signs and crosswalks have made our street safer and allow us easy access to the Great Highway Park and the beach. Please keep upper great highway car free so my family and our neighbors can continue to use it for bike commutes as things reopen.

I am living to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. I have written on this Great Highway since 1980 and I've never understood why there was a thoroughfare right on a magnificent stretch of beach.

Lately, more people from throughout the city have started to come to the beach and to appreciate it. Children, school classes, people with dogs, cyclists, runners. It is wonderful. It is their beach. They can be restored. People can learn new habits. The future is moving away from cars and San Francisco should be a leader, not a holdout.

Closing the upper Great Highway to cars was a gift to us all to come out of this nightmare pandemic. Please keep it.

In any case, the Highway was impractical as a through way, only two miles long and often closed due to wind and sand. It better serves our citizens and animals.

Thank you!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway open to people and closed to cars.

I live in the outer Richmond and like others face delays when driving south. These minor delays pale compared to the benefits of safe recreation on the Great Highway - enjoyed by diverse people of all ages. Sharing this beautiful oceanfront with families is especially joyful. It is only possible without car noise and exhaust fumes.

Of course it's also essential to continue to invest in street safety and alternative transit throughout our city. Let's find creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks. For example, 41st Avenue as a slow street doesn't make a lot of sense, adding to driving delays on Chain of Lakes.

This moment calls for visionary leadership that can guide San Franciscans to meet the moment, with creativity, resilience, and courage. Cities throughout the world are innovating to provide options beyond sole dependence on cars. We can too.

Age and disabilities require support. The aggrieved entitlement of people who consider it their birthright to drive along the ocean does not. Please make the Great Walkway a permanent world-class recreational and community space along Ocean Beach—a green commuting site for all who are mobile. Please also collaborate to support people who need to drive to find/use other space not adjacent to the Pacific Ocean. San Francisco is a treasure and deserves this vision and care. History will thank you.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening

I have lived in the Ocean Beach community for the last four years, and the Great Highway walkway is my new favorite part of the neighborhood. Seeing it filled with people walking, biking, skating, laughing, and enjoying the view has filled me up in this time that has left so many of us feeling empty. The section of beach that is currently the walkway has no walkway close to the beach, and the one we have on the other side of the street is pretty narrow. This space doesn't only easily invite in walkers but bikers to ride more safely.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and let's show our city and the world that we can adapt to the needs of our denizens and maintain yet another world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. I will say, however, that changes need to be made in order to keep the great highway car free. I was born in sf and now reside in the inner richmond and the car free great highway has felt like this amazing addition for bike and pedestrian options even though i also own a car and see the impacts to drivers as being a challenge while alternatives are worked out.

One example... opening mlk from the beach to sloat would be wide. Funnelling residents across chain of lakes is great, but to force folks out to lincoln from there really stifles traffic. I'd love to see creative solutions there. A big part of the issue right now is the 19th ave construction... but all that daid, the great highway car free has been such a joy! I'd love to find a way to keep it car free!!

Subject: Please save the Great Walkway, and approve a pilot to extend the promenade's life...

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Daniel Hayes

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Please keep upper great Hwy for the people. We live on the Great Hwy near Ulloa and have 2.5 year old twins and a dog who have been able to enjoy the upper great Hwy every day since it's been closed to cars! We have loved how safe it is for our boys and dog to roam around, get exercise and have fun on the beach and the Hwy itself. We have not found the traffic on the lower great Hwy or broadly across other nearby street to be much different than it was before. Part of this is definitely the terrific work that's been done by the city to keep the streets safe with stop signs and speed bumps.

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. We live on Cutler Ave., a one block street between Lower Great Highway and 47th Ave. So my family and I use the Great Highway everyday. I run along the GH early in the morning. I drop my kids off at preschool on Lawton by riding our bike along the GH. I walk my dog along the Great Highway, the sand dunes, and the beach. My kids (ages 4 and 2) ride their bikes and scooters along the GH after school and on the weekends. One of the wonderful things about the Great Highway's closure is the safety that the closure has given us. Once we cross the Lower Great Highway, we are free to roam, walk, run, bike, scoot safely.

Much like anything these days, it's not perfect and there are things that can be improved. But not by re-opening the Great Highway to car traffic.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. Making Sunset Blvd and the surrounding main usage streets such as Sloat more ergonomic and better maintained should be the main priority here. Adding stop signs and speed bumps is mostly useless and only exasperates the issue presented by those wishing to open the great highway to cars again. If the use of these streets surrounding were more efficient then people would use them plain and simple. It may cost more but people have always complained about sunset Blvd which is why great highway is the ticket. Sloat is a wreck as well, turning lanes blocked, horrible intersections, and littered with pot holes. The surrounding community needs to be improved upon and repaired for everyone to feel like they won this fight.

Thank you,

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

My husband and I bought our forever home on La Playa @ Kirkham in July 2018. We had our daughter on Christmas Day 2019. While I understand the closure of the Great Highway has caused an increase in parking issues - boy do we know that as we actually live on La Playa, the benefits of the closure FAR outweigh the costs. The of the great highway has helped us in more ways than we can count but let me tell you about a few briefly:

- 1) it was my refuge, my escape, my safe space following childbirth. I would go out there with my daughter in the carrier or stroller during the early months to walk her to sleep. It was the only physical exercise I could manage at the time
- 2) I had a major knee surgery and walking along the great highway has been an amazing part of my recovery and return to running
- 3) as my daughter learns how to walk, run, and scoot - the Great Highway is the perfect safe space for her to push her own boundaries and explore her physical limits without the danger of road traffic or getting in the way of sidewalk pedestrians.

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco.

The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

Before it's closure, we would walk the upper path, (which was not at all maintained) and felt assaulted by the many cars and ridiculous packs of motorcycles who would engulf it with wheelies and choke on the exhaust they spewed as their deafening roar and dangerous driving put everyone at risk.

As a family of cyclists, riding on the Great Highway was terrifying, as cars raced past you as you negotiated the narrow and unprotected shoulder, often covered in sand; posing treacherous risk if your bike tire slid out and you fell into traffic.

During the Pandemic closure, I am certain that my family and I walked the Great Highway more than a hundred times - occasionally TWICE a day, to have the chance to fully enjoy the truly special space that the roadway offers to pedestrians, skaters and cyclists.

My fondest memories of the roadway being car-free is seeing all of the very young children riding their tiny bikes - or parents teaching their kids to ride bikes - on an open safe and FLAT area, which frankly doesn't exist anywhere else in San Francisco. When we taught my child to ride a bike, we had to sneak into school playgrounds or use public tennis courts as they are the only place in the city that offers flat, safe space to learn to ride.

The joy of a child riding along that road, fast and free - and the relief for parents, who can walk along and watch their child doing so, without concern for cars, or other risks a city presents - is truly priceless.

And as taxpayers here in San Francisco, we deserve this open space to use now and for generations to come!

By closing Great Highway to cars - you have given SO MANY the lifetime GIFT of learning how to ride a bike, skateboard, roller skate, who would never have had that opportunity presented without tremendous effort in a congested and hilly city.

I watched neighbors, old and young, walk west on the other closed streets, down to watch the evening sunsets, when that would have NEVER happened before. Picnics on the dunes, kids rolling down the sand embankments with utter abandon into the street where parents cheered them as they scrambled to race to the top to do it all over again. Taking a friend who has lived in San Francisco for 25 years on a walk there and on to the beach to stop and appreciate every sand dollar we encountered... so many special memories that having access to Ocean Beach has given me during a very dark year in life.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through one of the most expansive and beautiful urban beaches in California.

I grew up in San Diego, where our beaches and coastline are the JEWELS of our city, and are treated and planned as such, bringing residents from all over the county and tourists alike to enjoy the incredible California coastline. Please keep San Francisco's jewel accessible to all - we deserve this!

This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening. I know you will vote to do the right thing for San Francisco residents, local visitors and tourists from all over the world.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

I'm a D1 constituent of Connie Chan's, and every time I visit from the Outer Richmond, I'm delighted by the number and diversity of people walking, scooting, biking, and roller blading. Some are out enjoying family time, or visiting with friends, but it's not just about recreation. Many are clearly commuting and on their way somewhere -- taking advantage of an extremely rare route in San Francisco that is flat, safe, and car-free, to get to a job, a grocery store, a restaurant, a friend's house, etc -- in any mode other than a vehicle. It's even inspired me to get back into cycling. I hadn't been on a bike in over 10 years, partly because it doesn't feel fun or safe for a new cyclist to learn on San Francisco roads. The "Great Walkway" has changed all of that.

I know a small but vocal group of my neighbors complain loudly about traffic on Chain of Lakes getting across the park, but frankly I think they are overreacting. I drive that way too, and while it is slower than it used to be (there was virtually no traffic before), it adds at most a few minutes to my travel time. If it was regularly as bad as they say, I would be using Crossover instead.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Sincerely,
Kristen Dybala

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Radmila Stolle

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Lovisa Svallingson is the eighth pedestrian to be killed by traffic violence in San Francisco this year and we are not even halfway through the year yet. Her only crime was crossing the street in a crosswalk with a walk light.

Crossing the street here can definitely feel like a crime, as can walking down a city sidewalk littered with illegally-parked cars and trucks, being on a stalled Muni bus stuck in traffic, walking down a "slow street" filled with speeding vehicles and reckless drivers furious about the few barriers the city has placed to driving however and wherever they wish, or riding a bike on our increasingly dangerous and crowded streets.

These conditions are out there for anyone who takes a look, and they seem to all be getting worse. But despite the horrifying statistics of 20,000 serious injuries and over 200 deaths from traffic violence in the last 6 years — and despite horrifying and heartbreaking stories like Lovisa Svallingson and her critically-injured boyfriend Daniel Ramos's — what I don't see is any kind of plan to actually do something to change these conditions or the political will to make stories like Lovisa's no longer possible.

Without these changes — real changes, not just window-dressing — the injustice of ripping promising lives away from innocent people will continue, and our hearts will continue to be broken, just as my heart is now.

If these people were being killed by gun violence I know here in S.F. we would take action to stop it. But because the weapon of choice is a motor vehicle, we somehow find it acceptable — or at least acceptable enough that we are not willing to change the status quo to ensure that vehicular homicides like these will never again happen on our city streets.

I am writing this specifically because I know a hearing about Highway 1 is coming up, and I know debates are being held about re-opening Highway 1 and JFK Drive to cars. I say this in all seriousness: please stop debating about whether or not San Francisco is too safe for pedestrians, when clearly, it is not. Please stop debating about whether you should make it even more unsafe by destroying the precious few public spaces where pedestrians and bicyclists don't have to fear for their lives, and where the number of traffic fatalities is zero.

Please turn your attention to all the other parts of the city — the whole rest of the city besides these 2 tiny stretches of roadway — where neither of those things are true, and where beautiful young people like Lovisa Svallingson have to lose their lives as a result. This is the power and the responsibility that is vested in you as public officials. It is literally the power of life and death. I beg you to start using it responsibly, and start transforming San Francisco into a city where we have more places, not fewer, where people like Lovisa Svallingson don't have to lose their lives for the terrible mistake of crossing the street.

Sincerely,
Katherine Roberts

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars. The space and the views should be enjoyed by the community and not used as a major thoroughfare for cars.

Please continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco! The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Hannah

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

As a resident on lower Great Highway, I haven't seen traffic increase.

On a personal note, I am a resident of the sunset. Specifically on 42nd between ulloa and Vicente. As you may know, 42nd is the first avenue that cuts through the entire sunset beyond 38th. With the closure of the highway we have seen a marked rise in traffic on our street.

I say this to call out that even with this rise in traffic I still support the great highway staying closed. It's a great resource for the neighborhood and community. It's bring San Franciscans to the sunset and helping our local economy.

Thanks
Dain Charette

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. I live on 44th avenue and taking my young kids down to Great Highway for biking and skateboarding has been one of the few silver linings of this pandemic. It has become one of our favorite open spaces in the city. Please don't reopen it to cars.

Thank you.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

I run a preschool in the outer sunset and the great walkway makes the beach so much more accessible (and safe) for all our local kids and families. We often will ride bikes/scooters, spend time in the dunes, and just enjoy the beach now that we can do so safely. Most of our families are within 10 blocks of great highway (and several on LGH!) and all of them favor keeping it closed and all the benefits that come from that. We can't wait to see how it will evolve- all the local art, small businesses, and play/recreational space.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Please keep it as a walkway/park and do not return it to cars. We love it car free! Walk on in it every evening and don't have to worry about our kids or dogs getting run over. We don't need a freeway where kids are trying to cross and get to the beach.

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am a user of the Great Highway Park and regularly enjoy biking, walking, and exploring on it with friends and family. It is a fantastic resource that I hope we can all enjoy for years to come.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

This stretch of road is a very special place to take my family for a stroll, teach my son to scooter and how to ride his bike. It's saved my mental health this past year plus. It is a world class destination. I've traveled all over the world and this car-free space is second to none. We must keep it that way! But as a neighbor with a small child, I appreciate the concern of families that live nearby. We must make the surrounding perimeter safer for vehicle traffic.

Thanks so much for considering this request!

Best,
Camille A Laturno, Esq.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I live on 48th ave near Santiago with my children. We LOVE running, walking, biking, and scooting on Great Highway daily. The speed bumps and additional stop signs and crosswalks have made our street safer and allow us easy access to the Great Highway Park and the beach. Please keep upper great highway car free so my family and our neighbors can continue to use it for bike commutes as things reopen.

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Best,
Lily

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco.

I have lived on the Great Highway since 1980 and I've never understood why there was a thoroughfare right on a magnificent stretch of beach.

Lately, more people from throughout the city have started to come to the beach and to appreciate it. Children, school classes, people with dogs, cyclists, runners. It is wonderful. It is their beach.

Traffic can be rerouted. People can learn new habits. The future is moving away from cars and San Francisco should be a leader, not a holdout.

Closing the Upper Great Highway to cars was a gift to us all to come out of this nightmarish pandemic. Please keep it.

In any case, the Highway was impractical as a through way, only two miles long and often closed due to wind and sand. It better serves our citizens and animals.

Thank you!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway open to people and closed to cars.

I live in the outer Richmond and like others face delays when driving south. These minor delays pale compared to the benefits of safe recreation on the Great Highway - enjoyed by diverse people of all ages. Sharing this beautiful oceanfront with families is especially joyful. It is only possible without car noise and exhaust fumes.

Of course it's also essential to continue to invest in street safety and alternative transit throughout our city. Let's find creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks. For example, 41st Avenue as a slow street doesn't make a lot of sense, adding to driving delays on Chain of Lakes.

This moment calls for visionary leadership that can guide San Franciscans to meet the moment, with creativity, resilience, and courage. Cities throughout the world are innovating to provide options beyond sole dependence on cars. We can too.

Age and disabilities require support. The aggrieved entitlement of people who consider it their birthright to drive along the ocean does not. Please make the Great Walkway a permanent world-class recreational and community space along Ocean Beach—a green commuting site for all who are mobile. Please also collaborate to support people who need to drive to find/use other space not adjacent to the Pacific Ocean. San Francisco is a treasure and deserves this vision and care. History will thank you.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!
Eleanor Coffelt

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. I will say, however, that changes need to be made in order to keep the great highway car free. I was born in sf and now reside in the inner richmond and the car free great highway has felt like this amazing addition for bike and pedestrian options even though i also own a car and see the impacts to drivers as being a challenge while alternatives are worked out.

One example... opening mlk from the beach to sloat would be wide. Funnelling residents across chain of lakes is great, but to force folks out to lincoln from there really stifles traffic. I'd love to see creative solutions there. A big part of the issue right now is the 19th ave construction... but all that daid, the great highway car free has been such a joy! I'd love to find a way to keep it car free!!

The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Please take the time to visit the area and see how much it is bring used! Also, the alternate route via Sunset looks like it can hold even more cars! All is well in the outer Sunset as it currently is!
Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Please keep upper great Hwy for the people. We live on the Great Hwy near Ulloa and have 2.5 year old twins and a dog who have been able to enjoy the upper great Hwy every day since it's been closed to cars! We have loved how safe it is for our boys and dog to roam around, get exercise and have fun on the beach and the Hwy itself. We have not found the traffic on the lower great Hwy or broadly across other nearby street to be much different than it was before. Part of this is definitely the terrific work that's been done by the city to keep the streets safe with stop signs and speed bumps.

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

We live on Cutler Ave., a one block street between Lower Great Highway and 47th Ave. So my family and I use the Great Highway everyday. I run along the GH early in the morning. I drop my kids off at preschool on Lawton by riding our bike along the GH. I walk my dog along the Great Highway, the sand dunes, and the beach. My kids (ages 4 and 2) ride their bikes and scooters along the GH after school and on the weekends. One of the wonderful things about the Great Highway's closure is the safety that the closure has given us. Once we cross the Lower Great Highway, we are free to roam, walk, run, bike, scoot safely.

Much like anything these days, it's not perfect and there are things that can be improved. But not by re-opening the Great Highway to car traffic.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Thanks so much for listening!

Making Sunset Blvd and the surrounding main usage streets such as Sloat more ergonomic and better maintained should be the main priority here. Adding stop signs and speed bumps is mostly useless and only exasperates the issue presented by those wishing to open the great highway to cars again. If the use of these streets surrounding were more efficient then people would use them plain and simple. It may cost more but people have always complained about sunset Blvd which is why great highway is the ticket. Sloat is a wreck as well, turning lanes blocked, horrible intersections, and littered with pot holes. The surrounding community needs to be improved upon and repaired for everyone to feel like they won this fight.

Thank you,
Harrison Kelchlin

Please keep the Great Highway as a park!!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

My husband and I bought our forever home on La Playa @ Kirkham in July 2018. We had our daughter on Christmas Day 2019. While I understand the closure of the Great Highway has caused an increase in parking issues - boy do we know that as we actually live on La Playa, the benefits of the closure FAR outweigh the costs. The of the great highway has helped us in more ways than we can count but let me tell you about a few briefly:

- 1) it was my refuge, my escape, my safe space following childbirth. I would go out there with my daughter in the carrier or stroller during the early months to walk her to sleep. It was the only physical exercise I could manage at the time
- 2) I had a major knee surgery and walking along the great highway has been an amazing part of my recovery and return to running
- 3) as my daughter learns how to walk, run, and scoot - the Great Highway is the perfect safe space for her to push her own boundaries and explore her physical limits without the danger of road traffic or getting in the way of sidewalk pedestrians.

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco.

The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

Before it's closure, we would walk the upper path, (which was not at all maintained) and felt assaulted by the many cars and ridiculous packs of motorcycles who would engulf it with wheelies and choke on the exhaust they spewed as their deafening roar and dangerous driving put everyone at risk.

As a family of cyclists, riding on the Great Highway was terrifying, as cars raced past you as you negotiated the narrow and unprotected shoulder, often covered in sand; posing treacherous risk if your bike tire slid out and you fell into traffic.

During the Pandemic closure, I am certain that my family and I walked the Great Highway more than a hundred times - occasionally TWICE a day, to have the chance to fully enjoy the truly special space that the roadway offers to pedestrians, skaters and cyclists.

My fondest memories of the roadway being car-free is seeing all of the very young children riding their tiny bikes - or parents teaching their kids to ride bikes - on an open safe and FLAT area, which frankly doesn't exist anywhere else in San Francisco. When we taught my child to ride a bike, we had to sneak into school playgrounds or use public tennis courts as they are the only place in the city that offers flat, safe space to learn to ride.

The joy of a child riding along that road, fast and free - and the relief for parents, who can walk along and watch their child doing so, without concern for cars, or other risks a city presents - is truly priceless.

And as taxpayers here in San Francisco, we deserve this open space to use now and for generations to come!

By closing Great Highway to cars - you have given SO MANY the lifetime GIFT of learning how to ride a bike, skateboard, roller skate, who would never have had that opportunity presented without tremendous effort in a congested and hilly city.

I watched neighbors, old and young, walk west on the other closed streets, down to watch the evening sunsets, when that would have NEVER happened before. Picnics on the dunes, kids rolling down the sand embankments with utter abandon into the street where parents cheered them as they scrambled to race to the top to do it all over again. Taking a friend who has lived in San Francisco for 25 years on a walk there and on to the beach to stop and appreciate every sand dollar we encountered... so many special memories that having access to Ocean Beach has given me during a very dark year in life.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through one of the most expansive and beautiful urban beaches in California.

I grew up in San Diego, where our beaches and coastline are the JEWELS of our city, and are treated and planned as such, bringing residents from all over the county and tourists alike to enjoy the incredible California coastline. Please keep San Francisco's jewel accessible to all - we deserve this!

This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening. I know you will vote to do the right thing for San Francisco residents, local visitors and tourists from all over the world.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

— Marc Maniez.

Thanks so much for listening!

I'm a SF Native. I have lived in the Sunset District most of my life. I have seen happy families, elderly people, dogs on leashes, bikers, skating, skateboarding and many other activities take place on this street since the pandemic hit. I love that this is a safe space, for people of all ages, to just be pedestrians and enjoy the beach area without having to worry about traffic. I personally don't love always going down to the sand. I have enjoyed being close to the beach, without having to be too near the water. The joy on everyone's faces and safety that this barrier has given us has been phenomenal. It would be a shame to take this away! Let's not go backwards and let us enjoy the view, unabated in safety. It has brought our community closer together and it truly has been wonderful to witness. There are enough roads open to car traffic, and plenty of space to navigate the City, as a vehicle driver. Balance is important for quality of life. We all in support of this measure, appreciate your consideration. Thank you, from a long time resident.

Sincerely,
Akilah Washington

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Justin Murray

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin, I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use. It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience. Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all. Thanks so much for listening!

Subject: Please save the Great Walkway, and approve a pilot to extend the promenade's life...

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I live a couple blocks away from Great Highway on 45th Ave and Kirkham. Before the closure of the highway, it felt unsafe and unpleasant to walk the beach trail along the roadside. Since the closure, it's been amazing to see the community and the rest of San Francisco rediscover this beautiful coastal walkway, exercising in all manner of ways, young and old.

The highway did not serve the neighborhood, but simply drove through it without stopping, and we have Sunset Boulevard nearby for that. I understand that we need to address traffic issues stemming from closing the road, but I am confident that we can do this with the full ingenuity of our city workers and residents.

I am so excited to see what thoughtful urban planners can do with this space. I envision our own version of the High Line in NYC, which would both bring energy and business to our neighborhood, and open up the coast to rest of the city in new and exciting ways.

Please keep the Great Highway as a park!

Thank you for your time and consideration,
Matt Wright

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park Car-free and available for neighbors and all San Franciscans to enjoy on foot, on bike, by stroller or skateboard!

I live on Lower Great Highway between Vicente and Ulloa and I can confirm that the car traffic is much better now and is totally manageable on the side streets.

Let's keep sharing Upper Great Highway as a park for everyone to use!

We appreciate your support. Thanks so much for listening.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

As a pedestrian and a parent, I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset, a civic commons, a green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city and the region, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 and the climate crisis is a looming catastrophe, the consideration of which should supersede petty debates about the "right" to drive anywhere.

Let's prioritize people and our precious ecosystem: invest in creative mobility and transit solutions, address pedestrian/bike hazards at the motor vehicle choke points that exist, and not revert to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park.

This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience. Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach. Move San Francisco to a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for taking this seriously.

It's a no brained to keep this roadway closed to cars and open to bike and walkers, especially since the drifting sands are a challenge for cars anyway in its current condition. This kind of open space makes our city more livable and inspires fitness and mental Heath.

I use this road for waking and am so sad to be without the car-free Twin Peaks. Please don't steal this back from us as well.

Thanks for your consideration.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

To the Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin;

As a +20 year San Francisco resident and small biz owner, I beg you to please keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars!

Vision Zero requires a change in how we design San Francisco for street safety. We need to create traffic and transit solutions to address bottlenecks, not reverting to a polluting, dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. If there are equity concerns, work with communities to ensure that negative impacts are addressed. Don't just do what was there before because old complaints about the Great Highway are less vocal in this moment.

Have you ever heard that when you create more space for cars, you get more cars? When you make great space for pedestrians, bikes, roller skates, scooters and other transportation, you get more of those.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Since the pandemic began, I have walked the Great Highway at least 3-4 times each week. I am grateful for a safe, flat surface that allows me to run without risk of cars or uneven surfaces. It has been vital to my health.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is an asset to the neighborhood and tourists alike. My family enjoys it daily for fun and bike commuting but it also is a point of pride for a fairly run down and neglected neighborhood and a place to invite friends. I hope that we can make this permanent and then restart the ocean beach master plan (SPUR) to rehabilitate the sunset. So much potential!!

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. This should never have happen the first place so let's not revert back to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park that actually connects no major arteries and never had many cars except joyriders and VERY loud muscle cars or motorcycles. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Please please please make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. I've lived in San Francisco since 1998 and have really enjoyed the highway's recent incarnation as a pedestrian-friendly park. I drive, bike, and walk in the city and really appreciate the few areas that we have that are designated as friendly to pedestrians, especially as we try to reduce the number of traffic accidents by 2024 as part of Vision Zero SF.

Please make the "Great Walkway" a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin, I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway open to people and closed to cars. I live in the outer Richmond. I walk about 4 miles every day and also drive a car. Like other drivers, I experience delays because of the closed Great Highway and slow streets. The delays are minor inconveniences compared to the vast benefits of being able to walk or bike without car noise, fumes, etc. The joy of experiencing people of all ages from all neighborhoods, including many families, is a great bonding experience. The physical and mental health benefits of this open space are profound. Outraged drivers say that there is a walking path next to the Great Highway, as well as a beach. There is no way that these substitute for a wide space that accommodates wheelchairs, scooters, bikes, roller skates, and feet. These outraged drivers seldom acknowledge that there are other streets for driving.

The car-free Great Highway is a city-wide treasure that offers a green commute option for mobile for residents. It is also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city and beyond.

Of course, it's also essential to continue to invest in street safety and improved transit, especially to ensure transport for people with disabilities and limited mobility. Let's also invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous four-lane highway through a national park. For example, designating 41st Avenue as a slow street adds to traffic delays on Chain of Lakes Drive.

This moment calls for creative and courageous leadership that can help San Franciscans innovate with creativity and resilience. The future will celebrate the a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green health, commuting, recreation, and community space for all. Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

To the Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin;

As a +20 year San Francisco resident and small biz owner, I beg you to please keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars!

Vision Zero requires a change in how we design San Francisco for street safety. We need to create traffic and transit solutions to address bottlenecks, not reverting to a polluting, dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. If there are equity concerns, work with communities to ensure that negative impacts are addressed. Don't just do what was there before because old complaints about the Great Highway are less vocal in this moment.

Have you ever heard that when you create more space for cars, you get more cars? When you make great space for pedestrians, bikes, roller skates, scooters and other transportation, you get more of those.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Since the pandemic began, I have walked the Great Highway at least 3-4 times each week. I am grateful for a safe, flat surface that allows me to run without risk of cars or uneven surfaces. It has been vital to my health.

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. I've lived in San Francisco since 1998 and have really enjoyed the highway's recent incarnation as a pedestrian-friendly park. I drive, bike, and walk in the city and really appreciate the few areas that we have that are designated as friendly to pedestrians, especially as we try to reduce the number of traffic accidents by 2024 as part of Vision Zero SF.

Please make the "Great Walkway" a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach!

Dave Lamacchia

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is an asset to the neighborhood and tourists alike. My family enjoys it daily for fun and bike commuting but it also is a point of pride for a fairly run down and neglected neighborhood and a place to invite friends. I hope that we can make this permanent and then restart the ocean beach master plan (SPUR) to rehabilitate the sunset. So much potential!!

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. This should never have happen the first place so let's not revert back to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park that actually connects no major arteries and never had many cars except joyriders and VERY loud muscle cars or motorcycles. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Please please please make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

It was confusing to get the actual email addresses. I think I did, but it wasn't easy or obvious. Feel free to re-send on my behalf if that seems appropriate. But I think it went through to the following people.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin, I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway open to people and closed to cars. The car-free Great Highway is a city-wide treasure that offers unparalleled recreation and a green commute option for mobile residents. It is also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city and beyond.

I live in the outer Richmond. I walk about 4 miles every day and also drive a car. Like other drivers, I experience delays because of the closed Great Highway and slow streets. The delays are minor inconveniences compared to the vast benefits of being able to walk or bike without car noise, fumes, etc. The joy of experiencing people of all ages from all neighborhoods exercising and enjoying San Francisco's beauty, including many families, is a great community bonding experience. The physical and mental health benefits of this open space are profound.

Outraged drivers say that there is a walking path next to the Great Highway, as well as a beach and a park. There is no way that these precious assets substitute for a wide space with ocean sound and view that accommodates wheelchairs, scooters, bikes, roller skates, skateboards, and feet. These outraged drivers seldom acknowledge that there are other streets for driving. Of course, it's also essential to continue to invest in street safety and improved transit, especially to ensure transport for people with disabilities and limited mobility. Let's also invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous four-lane highway through a national park. For example, designating 41st Avenue as a slow street adds to traffic delays on Chain of Lakes Drive.

This moment calls for visionary, creative, and courageous leadership that can support San Franciscans to innovate with creativity and resilience. Now and in the future we will celebrate a beautiful promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green space that supports health, commuting, recreation, and community for all. Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco.

The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now.

Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

I have been a resident of San Francisco for 35 years. Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I support the idea to keep the Great Highway Park pathway open to humans and wildlife and closed to cars. This investment will improve street safety and promote transit in SF. The "Great Walkway" is a vision for the future that needs to be kept for generations. It is for locals and tourists. People can be safe and not worry about collisions with drivers. We need more community spaces in SF.

Golden Gate Park was a vision for a central park. Now it is time for another GGP in SF. The Great Hwy Park is adjacent to GGP. We need safety measures for climate change and the "Great Walkway" is a great example of buffering, when sea levels rise. We cannot promote unsustainable habits with air pollutions and isolating communities. Climate change is here. Gasoline prices are going up. The pandemic has shown us that access to nature and the outdoors are essential.

This is the opportunity to make a change and have a positive impact for generations to come.

Thank you,

Kristal Caidoy

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

First, thank you for all the slow streets that you've set up for the neighborhoods.

I'm asking that you keep the Great Highway open for people to use. I understand that there are traffic issues to resolve, but this outdoor space has been vital to the spirit of many SF residents.

I live in the Castro, but I bike to the highway almost daily to meet friends for distanced walks. Warm or cold, still or windy, people head there for the beauty and the outdoors, and a chance to be with people in a safe way.

I'd love to see this become a permanent feature of SF. Just like the old Embarcadero Freeway cut off SF's beautiful waterfront, the highway segregates Ocean Beach from the rest of the city. Without the cars whizzing down it, it's become a still refuge where you can actually hear the ocean.

I recall a vocal opposition to removing the Embarcadero Freeway, too; those who said traffic would be a nightmare without the ugly double decker structure. I'm glad SF had the vision to realize we could make traffic work AND make the city a joy for residents.

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I support the idea to keep the Great Highway Park pathway open to humans and wildlife and closed to cars. This investment will improve street safety and promote transit in SF. The "Great Walkway" is a vision for the future that needs to be kept for generations. It is for locals and tourists. People can be safe and not worry about collisions with drivers. We need more community spaces in SF.

Golden Gate Park was a vision for a central park. Now it is time for another GGP in SF. The Great Hwy Park is adjacent to GGP. We need safety measures for climate change and the "Great Walkway" is a great example of buffering, when sea levels rise. We cannot promote unsustainable habits with air pollutions and isolating communities. Climate change is here. Gasoline prices are going up. The pandemic has shown us that access to nature and the outdoors are essential.

This is the opportunity to make a change and have a positive impact for generations to come.

Thank you,

Kristal Caidoy

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

First, thank you for all the slow streets that you've set up for the neighborhoods.

I'm asking that you keep the Great Highway open for people to use. I understand that there are traffic issues to resolve, but this outdoor space has been vital to the spirit of many SF residents.

I live in the Castro, but I bike to the highway almost daily to meet friends for distanced walks. Warm or cold, still or windy, people head there for the beauty and the outdoors, and a chance to be with people in a safe way.

I'd love to see this become a permanent feature of SF. Just like the old Embarcadero Freeway cut off SF's beautiful waterfront, the highway segregates Ocean Beach from the rest of the city. Without the cars whizzing down it, it's become a still refuge where you can actually hear the ocean.

I recall a vocal opposition to removing the Embarcadero Freeway, too; those who said traffic would be a nightmare without the ugly double decker structure. I'm glad SF had the vision to realize we could make traffic work AND make the city a joy for residents.

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Wm.

Subject: Please save the Great Walkway, and approve a pilot to extend the promenade's life...

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

The pandemic had countless negative impacts, but one of the few silver linings was the creation of the Great Walkway (and other people-first spaces in our city). The Great Walkway has given countless residents a safe place to walk, roll, and connect, and we must save it by approving a pilot to extend the promenade's life while continuing to do studies, outreach, and traffic-calming improvements.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

The SFCTA's survey showed that about 80% of San Franciscans support a promenade in some form, with a majority of San Franciscans supporting a four-lane promenade 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. SFMTA's data shows that at least 6,000 people are using The Great Walkway daily. It's clear that the majority of San Franciscans love The Great Walkway and want it to be kept alive.

Concerns about car traffic in the Sunset are valid, and SFMTA's work with Supervisor Mar has had a positive effect on calming car-traffic and diverting it to the arterials (Sunset Blvd. and 19th Ave.), and traffic-calming efforts should continue to ensure Sunset residents are safe. With that said, data shows that collisions in the Sunset are down more than 30% from before the pandemic — traffic-calming measures are working, and will continue to have positive impacts on the Sunset. Furthermore, Director Maguire has publicly stated that Sunset Boulevard and 19th Avenue can both take more car-traffic capacity.

Concerns about north-south traffic to/from the Richmond are valid, and there are a number of things that can be done to address these concerns and improve north-south access to/from the Richmond. These include, but are not limited to, diverting car-traffic from Chain of Lakes to Crossover Drive and Great Highway, improving/increasing north-south bus service, and optimizing traffic-signal timing on Sunset Boulevard. Solutions to these concerns are feasible and effective — we don't need to give in to demands of a small but vocal mob of car drivers who think the only solution is to use more public space for car traffic throughout our city.

It's important to address concerns about the Great Highway closure, but the answer is not to kill the Great Walkway and put cars back on that public space.

I join Kid Safe SF and countless other organizations and residents in urging you to approve a pilot that extends the Walkway's life beyond the emergency health order.

Thank you, and please take care.

Sincerely,
Zach

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Hello, My name is Diane Wallis and I am a resident of SF. I live in the Outer Richmond neighborhood. Since the Great Highway has been opened as a biking and pedestrian path, I use it 3-4 times a week. It seems like a perfect use of this roadway. It would be very sad to see cars using this road again now since so many have started to enjoy walking and biking there.

There are plenty of other roads drivers can use. There are not many places where the public can walk along the ocean.

Please keep the Great Highway open as a green space we can all enjoy.

Thank you !

Diane Wallis

This is going out to numerous public employees in decision making capacities, so-
Dear You,

I'm writing to ask you to make permanent the pedestrian-only conversion of the Great Highway. I use it near-daily, and join hundreds and hundreds of others that I see on those occasions. It's obviously a great success.

I'm also an auto driver, and am in no way inconvenienced by the closure. Sunset Blvd works just fine for the same trip.

The utilization of "Slow Streets" in SF (and elsewhere) has been one of the bright lights in a very dark time. The future of urban life is moving away from fossil fuel vehicles. Great Highway as a wonderful multi-use pedestrian/bicycling is a no brainer; it's in effect now and needs very little to make permanent. Rarely is "the right thing" such a simple thing to do. I urge you to take this opportunity.

Sincerely,
Jonathan Hess

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Please KEEP GREAT HWY OPEN TO PEOPLE AND CLOSED TO CARS.

I live on the lower great HWY. I am a local neighborhood watch captain.

This closure to cars has been a godsend. Similar to when the Earthquake removed the embarcadero.... This past year proves it works!

It's not just the marginal utility of "traffic throughput" vs "quality of life for all Sf residents". (Which is vastly in favor of benefiting all of SF rather than mainly commuters who need to speed through our city.)

It's the positive change in the whole vibe, the whole demeanor of the outer sunset, the world class amenity it has added to our city.

Our country has become a vast strip mall. We provide "free parking" and "free roads".... But it's not free. It represents a direct wealth transfer and subsidy to drivers, big oil, and car manufacturers.

I know as a former planning commissioner myself that it will take courage. Please make the great HWY a great WALKway and keep it closed to cars permanently.

Thank you!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

I am writing to ask you to keep the Great Highway Park open to people and closed to cars, and to continue to invest in street safety & alternative transit throughout San Francisco. The "Great Walkway" is a city-wide asset that is a civic commons and green commute-way for residents, and also a huge draw for visitors from all over the city, bringing customers to D4 merchants and creating community around an equitable, accessible, beautiful and safe space for all to use.

It's 2021 - nearly 100 years since the first roadway was built along the ocean. Things look different now. Let's invest in creative traffic and transit solutions to address the few bottlenecks that exist, rather than reverting to a polluting and dangerous 4 lane highway through a national park. This moment calls for forward looking leadership that can help San Franciscans boldly meet the moment, with creativity and resilience.

Take a leap on a legacy and make the Great Walkway a permanent promenade along Ocean Beach, and a world-class green commuting, recreation, and community space for all.

Thanks so much for listening!

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Hello, My name is Diane Wallis and I am a resident of SF. I live in the Outer Richmond neighborhood. Since the Great Highway has been opened as a biking and pedestrian path, I use it 3-4 times a week. It seems like a perfect use of this roadway. It would be very sad to see cars using this road again now since so many have started to enjoy walking and biking there.

There are plenty of other roads drivers can use. There are not many places where the public can walk along the ocean.

Please keep the Great Highway open as a green space we can all enjoy.

Thank you !

Diane Wallis

Dear You,

I'm writing to ask you to make permanent the pedestrian-only conversion of the Great Highway. I use it near-daily, and join hundreds and hundreds of others that I see on those occasions. It's obviously a great success.

I'm also an auto driver, and am in no way inconvenienced by the closure. Sunset Blvd works just fine for the same trip.

The utilization of "Slow Streets" in SF (and elsewhere) has been one of the bright lights in a very dark time. The future of urban life is moving away from fossil fuel vehicles. Great Highway as a wonderful multi-use pedestrian/bicycling is a no brainer; it's in effect now and needs very little to make permanent. Rarely is "the right thing" such a simple thing to do. I urge you to take this opportunity.

Sincerely,
Jonathan Hess

Dear Commissioners, Directors, General Manager Ginsburg, and Director Tumlin,

Please KEEP GREAT HWY OPEN TO PEOPLE AND CLOSED TO CARS.

I live on the lower great HWY. I am a local neighborhood watch captain.

This closure to cars has been a godsend. Similar to when the Earthquake removed the embarcadero.... This past year proves it works!

It's not just the marginal utility of "traffic throughput" vs "quality of life for all Sf residents". (Which is vastly in favor of benefiting all of SF rather than mainly commuters who need to speed through our city.)

It's the positive change in the whole vibe, the whole demeanor of the outer sunset, the world class amenity it has added to our city.
